Eastern's Important Publications

	Rs	A
K. M Bhattachary's Opium Act 2nd Ed 1935	2	8
[illegible] M Ghosh's Indian Companies Act, 3rd Ed, 1937 with Supplement	10	0
[illegible] B[illegible]aumik's Hindu Women's Right to Property Act 1938	0	8
[illegible] [illegible]haumik's Law & Procedure af Execution, 1937	2	8
[illegible] N [illegible] Patni & Revenue Sale Laws 1935	5	0
K N Bhaum[illegible] s Indian Limitation Act 1937	5	0
K N Bhaumik's Bengal Agricultural Debtor's Relief Act, 3rd Ed 1938	1	4
K N Bhaumik's Case noted Bengal Tenancy Act (Amended) 1938	1	8
Dr Krishnamachariar's Succession Certificates and Curators 1934	3	0
Do Provincial Small Cause Courts 1935	3	0
Do Trial By Jury, 1937	6	0
M K Mukherji s Law of Unlawful Assembly & Rioting, 2nd Ed 1936	4	0
Sir M N Mukherji's Trial by Jury & Misdirection 1937	10	0
M N. Ganguli's Law of Abetment & Conspiracy, Oct. 1926	6	0
M N Basu's Court Fees & Suits Valuation Acts, new 6th Ed 1935	4	8
M N Basu's Indian Stamp Act, 5th Enlarged Ed 1938 (Just Out)	5	0
N D Basu's Law of Injunctions in India 1934	7	0
N D Basu's Law of Evidence in B I, 2nd Ed with Supplement to 1935	12	0
N D Basu's Annotated Indian Civil Court Handbook 5th Ed, 1936	12	8
N D Basu's Annotated Indian Criminal Court Handbook 4th Ed 1935	10	0
N D Basu's Law of Receivers 1937	7	0
N D Basu's Indian Companies (Amended) Act 1937	4	0
N D Basu's Principles of Law of Insurance in B I (In the Press)	8	0
N K Bhattacharjee's Cattle Trespass Act 2nd (Enlarged) Ed 1932	1	8
P C Mogha's Law of Pleadings in B I, 5th Enlarged Ed 1936	10	0
P C Mogha's The Indian Conveyancer, 2nd Ed 1939 (In the Press)	10	0
R L. Anand s Law of Bails in Criminal Matters 1938	5	0
R L Banerji's Surveying & Relaying, 3rd Ed 1934	8	0
Serajul Islam's Public Demands Recovery Acts in Bengal, Behar & Orissa 2nd Ed 1938	2	8
S C Chatterji's Law of Evidence in Criminal Cases, 2nd Enlarged Ed 1934	4	0
S C Manchanda's Law & Practice of Divorce, 1938,	12	0
S C Mukherji s Law of Usury 1934	1	8
S M Dasgupta s Indian Income Tax (Amend) Act, 2nd Enlarged Ed 1934 with supplement to end of 1935	6	0
S M Lahiri's Law of Carriers & Railways in B I, 2nd Enlarged Ed with supplement up-to February 1935	8	0
S [illegible] Lahiri s Specific Relief (Amended) Act, 4th Enlarged Ed 1936	7	8
S M Lahiri's Transfer of Property (Amended) Act, 4th Ed 1937	4	0
S M Lahiri's Indian Partnership Act, new 2nd Ed 1934	4	0
[illegible] 1937	4	8
[illegible]	6	0
[illegible] [illegible]te Offences 4th Enlarged Ed 1930	6	0
T Dutt's Law of Provident Funds in India 1934	2	8

ORDER THE PUBLISHERS—

EASTERN LAW HOUSE, 15, COLLEGE SQ CALCUTTA

Eastern's Important Publications.

	Rs	A.
A. C. Dutt's Indian Contract Act, 1936	7	0
A. C Dutt's Commentaries on Indian Succession Act, 1933 ...	10	0
A. C Ganguli's Civil Court Practice & Procedure, 5th Ed 1936 ..	5	0
A C. Ganguli's Practical Guide to Criminal Court Practice, 1937 ..	4	0
A Ghosh's Provincial Insolvency (Amended) Act, 10th Ed Reprinted 1936	4	0
A. Ghosh's Land Acquisition Acts, with L. A. (Mines) Acts &c. 3rd Ed 1935	5	0
A Ghosh's Law of Endowments (Hindu & Mahomedan) 2nd Ed 1938 (Just out)	10	0
B B Mitra's Criminal Procedure Code, 9th Ed 1937	12	0
B B Mitra's Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 7th Ed 1935	3	0
B B Mitra's Transfer of Property Act, As Amended to 1934, 8th Ed 1934	7	8
B. B Mitra's Guardian & Wards Act, 7th Ed 1937	2	8
B B Mitra's Indian Succession Act, 4th Ed. 1938 (Just out)	5	0
Bhashyam & Adiga's Negotiable Instruments Act, 7th Ed 1938 (In the press)	12	0
B K. Pal's Civil Reference, 1836—1937 6th Ed 1938	8	0
B K. Pal's Up to-date Criminal Reference, 1836—1933 4th Ed. 1933 .	7	0
B C De's Law of Impartible Estates, 1934	7	8
Major Cox's Medico Legal Court Companion, 3rd Ed 1938 (In the Press)	7	8
De Souza's Indian Conveyancing Forms & Precedents, 2nd Ed 1936	2	8
D C Banerji's Law of Arbitration & Award in B I, 4th Ed 1933 .	10	0
D. N Guha's Law of Defamation & Malicious Prosecution 1934 ..	2	0
Sir D. F Mulla's Civil Procedure Code, 10th Ed 1934 with Supplement upto May 1938	22	0
Sir D F Mulla's Indian Registration Act, 4th Ed 1938 (In the press) ...	10	0
Sir D F Mulla's Hindu Law, 8th (Enlarged) Ed 1936 ..	14	0
Sir D F. Mulla's Transfer of Property Act, 2nd (Enlarged) Ed. 1936 .	18	0
Sir D F Mulla's Mahomedan Law, 11th Enlarged Ed 1938	6	0
Sir D F. Mulla's Law of Insolvency in India T. L L 1929—1934	8	0
Sir Mulla & Pratt's Indian Stamp Act, 3rd Enlarged Ed 1935	7	0
Sir Pollock & Mulla's Indian Contract & Specific Relief Acts, 6th Ed 1931 . . . . 16 0 } Sir Pollock & Mulla's Indian Sale of Goods Act, 1933 .. 7 0 } Together Rs 28 Sir Pollock & Mulla's Indian Partnership Act, 1934 . 7 0 }
E C Ormond's Law of Patents in B I. 1936 .	12	8
F. C Brewester's Fingerprints, fully illustrated 1936	5	0
G K Roy's Indian Arms Act Manual 9th Ed 1935	6	12
G. K Roy's Indian Press Laws, 4th Ed 1938 (In the Press)	3	0
G K Roy's Rules Relating to Public Servants, 9th Ed 1938	2	11
H C Mitra's Indian Limitation Act, 12th Enlarged Ed 1938	7	8
H C Mital's Statute Law of Divorce in B I 1936 .	7	0
H C Mital's Statute Law of Marriage in India, 1936	4	0
J L Kapur's Law of Adoption in India 1933 with Supplement upto 1935	10	0
Jethabhai 100 year's Indian Calendar, 1845-1944 .	6	0
Jagat Narain's Indian Election Petitions, 1920 33 (in 4 Vols)	30	0
Do Law of Elections & Election Petitions in India & Burma, 1937	18	0
K C Chakrabarti's Criminal Pleadings, Evidence & Practice in B I, 3rd Ed 1936	3	0
K J Aiyar's Manual of Law Terms & Phrases, 2nd En Ed. 1934	5	0

For Immediate Despatch Write to—

EASTERN LAW HOUSE, POST BOX 7810, CALCUTTA.

THE

LAW OF EVIDENCE

IN BRITISH INDIA

AS AMENDED UP TO DATE.

The only Exhaustive and up-to-date work

N. D. Basu's Law of Injunctions

Principles and Practice In 1,200 pages Royal 8vo.

The author with his remarkable industry has consulted every available literature on the subject, English, American and Indian, and every decision, English, American and Indian in their original, with the result that it is not a cheap digest work, but a mine of all possible information on the subject —with which no other work can stand comparison.

Bound to take its rank as the foremost work on Injunctions —just look into this work before you buy any other.

In 1,200 pp. Royal Octavo 1934 Ed. Price Rs. 7.

N. D. BASU'S

I. THE UNREPEALED ACTS OF THE G.-G IN COUNCIL (1834-1933)

In 9 Vols! Price Rs. 33-8

	Rs.	As.		Rs.	As.
Volume I 1834-1874 ...	7	8	Volume IV 1900-1910 ...	4	0
" II 1875-1882 ...not sold separately			" V 1911-1921 ...	5	8
			" VI 1922-1927 ...	6	8
" III 1883-1899 ...	5	8	" VII 1928-1933 ...	5	0

	Rs.	As.
Acts of the Indian Legislature for 1922, 1924, 1925, 1927, 1929, 1930, 1932, each	1	8
Acts of the Indian Legislature for 1923...	2	8
" " " .. for 1926, 1928, 1931, 1933, each ...	1	0

In 2 Vols Price Rs. 16

II. THE BENGAL COUNCIL ACTS (1862-1932)

	Rs	As.
Volume I (1862-1912) for use of Behar and Orissa lawyers also.	12	0
Volume II (1913-32)	5	0
Acts of the Bengal Council for 1927-30 and 1931-1932, each ...	1	0

One Volume! Indispensible to Bihar and Orissa lawyers! Price Rs. 6

III. ACTS OF THE BIHAR AND ORISSA COUNCIL (1913 32.)

	Rs.	As.
The Bihar and Orissa Acts for 1924-1930	0	12
" " " for 1931 and 1932	0	4

(1931-34) 2nd Ed. Price Rs 3.

IV. THE INDIAN PENAL CODE

Exhaustive annotations—Up-to-date amendments and Case-law—Sections printed in bold types—Printed on best paper—Excellent Get-up.

A marvel of ... reliable Edition fo... he only ... tioners in the Cou... practi-

In 1,000 pages. With latest case law and amendments upto 1934

THE

LAW OF EVIDENCE

IN BRITISH INDIA

SECOND EDITION

BY

NRISINHA DAS BASU B.L.
ADVOCATE HIGH COURT, CALCUTTA.
AUTHOR OF THE INDIAN SUCCESSION ACT, SUBJECT-NOTED INDEX OF CASES, THE PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF INJUNCTION ETC.

EASTERN LAW HOUSE
LAW BOOK SELLERS AND PUBLISHERS.
15, COLLEGE SQUARE
CALCUTTA
1936

Preface to the First edition.

The Indian Evidence Act, unlike all other enactments consists of a number of abstract and abstruse rules, which are by no means easy to understand According to Lord Erskine the rules of evidence "are founded in the charities of religion—in the philosophy of nature—in the truth of history—and in the experience of common life"* To understand the truth of the observation some knowledge as regards the origin and growth of the rules of evidence is absolutely necessary So the historical treatment of a particular rule is not altogether out of place I have tried my best in these pages to trace the origin and show the development of each and every particular rule of law, in order to enable the reader to have a firm grasp of the principle underlying it "Our law" observed Serjent Plowden, "like all others, consists of two parts, namely of body and soul The letter of the law is the body of the law, and the sense and reason of it is the soul, 'quia ratio legis est anima legis' And the law may be resembled to a nut, which has a shell, and a kernel within, the letter of the law represents the shell, and the sense of it the kernel So you will receive no benefit by the law if you rely upon the letter"†

It is well known that the Indian Evidence Act in the main is based on the English law of Evidence According to Sir James Fitzjames Stephen, the great jurist and the framer of the Indian Evidence Act "every principle applicable to the circumstances of British India which is contained in 1598 royal octavo pages of Taylor on Evidence, is contained in the 167 sections of the Act To understand such an enactment a thorough knowledge of the English law on the subject is sine qua non Keeping that point in view, I have stated under each section the English law on the subject either in the ipsima verba of the great Judges who have shaped and moulded the law of evidence in its present form or in the language of those text-writers whose statements of law the great Judges themselves felt bound to follow But as the Indian Evidence Act is not a servile copy of the English law of Evidence, it differs in some places from the law to which it owes its origin Whenever such divergence occurs, it is clearly indicated in the book, and the difference between English and Indian law has been stated in full

* 21 How St Tr 966

† Eyston v Studd Plowd Rep 465, Wigmore Vol I p VI

Under each section I have given the principle underlying that section bearing in mind the following observation of Joseph Chitty 'We all confess, but few adequately perceive, why it is so difficult to recollect a dry rule of practice, and we incorrectly impute to a defect of memory what in reality is attributable to our never having adequately known the subject The simple truth is that reason or principle is the appropriate food of the mind, and it follows that no position is received with adequate appetite unless it be associated with the reason upon which it is founded *' This also I offer as an apology for the large number of pages occupied in elucidating the principle underlying the section It is very difficult to remember isolated decisions now-a-days when three dozen of reports (official and non-official) are vying with each other in reporting larger number of cases But the necessity of remembering the majority of these cases will be obviated if once the trouble is taken of mastering the principles thoroughly, because 'the law does not consist in particular instances, though it is explained by particular instances and rules, but the law consists of principles, which govern specific and individual cases as they happen to arise †' Moreover the thorough knowledge of the principle underlying the section will enable the reader to discard cases laying down the wrong law In going through the book it will be seen that some cases decided even by the highest tribunal are not well founded in law

---

* Joseph Chitty Practice of the Law Second Edition Preface to Part II cited in Wigmore Vol I p VI

† Per Lord Mansfield in R v Bembridge 22 How St Tr 155 Wigmore Vol I p VI

a particular section of the same by citing passages from Dr Greenleaf which have been drawn from by Justice Pitt Taylor himself These rules are explained by Prof Wigmore more fully and comprehensively

Moreover the hands of the commentator are by no means tied by the prejudices of certain Courts because in expounding the rational system of judicial evidence reason is equally welcome —whether it comes from the great Judges of England or the great Jurists on the other side of the Atlantic In this connection it would not be out of place to recall to mind the following passage of Lord Cockburn C J in Scaramanga v Stamp, 5 C P D 295 at p 303, where he said ' Although the decisions of the American Courts are of course not binding on us yet the sound and enlightened views of the American lawyers in the adminisration and development of law—a law so far as altered by statutory enactment derived from a common source with our own—entitle their decisions to the utmost respect and confidence in our part' In Macmillan Co Limited v K & J Cooper, 28 C W N 61[?] (P C) at page 620, Lord Atkinson after quoting from a judgement of Story reported in the United States Report also said "This decision is, of course not binding on this tribunal, but it is in the opinion of the Board sound able convincing and helpful' Similar observations were made in India by Sir Lawrence Peel in Braddon v Abbot, Taylor & Bells Reports, 342, 359 360 and in Malcolm v Smith ibid, 283 288 and cited by Woodroffe J in the Preface of his Evidence Act with approval The only reasonable objection which can be legitimately urged against citing American decisions is thus forcefully put by Lord Halsbury L C in In Re Missouri Steam Ship Co, 42 Ch D 321 (330) ' We should treat with great respect the opinion of eminent American lawyers on points which arise before us, but the practice which seems to be increasing, of quoting American decisions as authorities, in the same way as if they were decisions, of our own Courts, is wrong Among other things, it involves an inquiry, which often is not an easy one, whether the law of America on the subject in which the point arises is the same as our own." So this objection loses much of its force where it is demonstrated that the English, American and Indian Laws on a particular subject are the same. This, in my humble opinion, is a fit scope of the work of a commentator. A busy judiciary may be unintentionally misled by a still more busy practitioner, but on a subject where a jurist like Prof. Wigmore, whose systematised knowledge in the domain of the Law of Evidence is second to none either in the old world or in the new, undertakes to show similarity and dissimilarity of the English and the American Laws, there is scarcely any reason for the apprehension expressed by His Lordship. Moreover, the advice given by His Lordship is not applicable in the case of commentators, whose duty it is in the first place to establish the similarity of law in both the systems and then to cite cases from the other system.

As the English law of evidence has its own peculiarities and as it is very difficult to have a complete grasp of the same without some knowledge of its origin and growth, I have given a history of the English law of Evidence in the introduction

The book is replete with quotations from the judgments of the great Judges both of India and elsewhere. The quotations from English and American cases are given purposely in as much as the majority of the Indian lawyers have not got English or American Law Reports in their library. Even to the busy lawyers practising in the Presidency towns, these excerpts will be helpful to a certain extent as they will save them much time

In the Appendix I have given the various reports which led to the passing of the Indian Evidence Act and the objects and reasons of subsequent amending Acts as well as Act II of 1855. I have also added in the Appendix the Indian Oaths Act and the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, fully annotated, as these two Acts may well be considered as forming part and parcel of the Indian Evidence Act.

I am conscious of the various shortcomings which will be found in the book But my only apology is that these are unavoidable in the first edition of a book of this size

I shall deem my trouble amply rewarded if the book be of any help to the members of the Bench and the Bar

Konnagar
1st November 1930

N D Basu

CONTENTS OF THE BOOK.

—— o ——

The Indian Evidence Act.

CONTENTS.

PART I.

RELEVANCY OF FACTS

CHAPTER I

PRELIMINARY

CHAPTER II

OF THE RELEVANCY OF FACTS.

ADMISSIONS

SECTIONS PAGE

STATEMENTS MADE UNDER SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES

HOW MUCH OF A STATEMENT IS TO BE PROVED

JUDGMENTS OF COURTS OF JUSTICE WHEN RELEVANT

OPINIONS OF THIRD PERSONS WHEN RELEVANT

CHARACTER WHEN RELEVANT

PART II.

ON PROOF

CHAPTER III

Facts which need not be proved

CHAPTER IV

Of Oral Evidence

CHAPTER V

Of Documentary Evidence

Public Documents

PRESUMPTIONS AS TO DOCUMENTS

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE EXCLUSION OF ORAL BY DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

Part III.

PRODUCTION AND EFFECT OF EVIDENCE

CHAPTER VII

OF THE BURDEN OF PROOF

CHAPTER VIII

ESTOPPEL

CHAPTER IX

OF WITNESSES

CHAPTER X.

OF THE EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES

SECTIONS PAGE

CHAPTER XI

OF IMPROPER ADMISSION AND REJECTION OF EVIDENCE

TABLE OF CASES.

B

C

D

E

F

G

G

I

M

M

N

R

M

T.

INTRODUCTION.

When we speak of the law of any subject, we are taken to mean those rules by which its consideration is to be governed The laws of honour are the general rules of honourable conduct; the laws of thought are the fundamental principles of thought; the laws of war are the rules and usages recognised and accepted among civilized nations for regulating the conduct of the billigerents, the law of nature is the uniform occurrence of natural phenomena in the same way or order under the same conditions so far as human knowledge goes The law of evidence, and by "evidence," is always to be understood 'legal evidence', consists of those rules statutory or otherwise which regulate the acceptance or rejection of that information to a legal tribunal which will justify a conclusion or judgment upon the matter in issue before it Those rules have been adopted from the experience of ages, not only to regulate what evidence shall be admitted and what excluded, but the way in which it shall be presented or objected to—the mode and order, which its component parts shall assume—what shall be the extent of its recognition and cogency—what quantity and quality of proof, if any, shall be called for with respect to any particular matter submitted Such are broadly the rules of evidence which taken together, are called the 'law of evidence' A rule of evidence is defined by Barker P J, in Lapham v Marshall, 51 Hun (N Y) 561=3 N Y Supp 601, 603, to be the mode and manner of proving the competent facts and circum stances upon which a party relies to establish the fact in dispute in judicial procedure

Meaning of the word "law"

Meaning of "evidence" and "law of evidence".

In Sir James Stephen's monumental Digest of the Law of Evidence, he named the great artery of law which defines rights, duties and liabilities, the substantive, and the next in importance by which that substantive law is applied to particular cases, the law of procedure

Division of law into substantive and adjective

Wherever the human race has existed, and under whatever conditions,—whether as some savage tribe in the heart of Africa, or as the most enlightened community of modern times,—the distinct personality of its members has always been prominent Man is, above everything, an individual. However much he may combine for protective, social or commercial purposes it is the distinct personality of the individual which is seen in all the relations which are established In this fact that man is an individual complete in himself and not a component part of some larger personality, lies the idea which distinguishes between mine" and 'yours"—the idea of ownership This idea, implanted in man as a part of his nature is at the basis of all law—upon it the whole system rests Rules which have from the inception of the human race governed human action are developments of this idea These rules made up a large part of the law of the primitive peoples They were rules which expressed general

Beginnings of the Substantive Law

that means exist by which B can enforce his rights in respect to his person and property So too a piece of property—a horse for example——claimed by both A and B, might go to the stranger, though not the one rightfully entitled to it were it not for such means In fact the rules defining the rights and obligations of men however complete and perfect they might be, would be of little use to mankind unless there existed the means of compelling men to conform their actions to them or of inflicting punishment upon them for failure to do so So it happens that, with the growth of the substantive law, another kind of law has been established which relates not to the rights and obligations of men directly, but to the means of enforcing them This is the law which defines the nature and powers of judicial tribunals and then prescribes the methods of procedure therein This is known as the adjective law

Division of law into separate branches

The rules both of substantive and adjective law have attained such vast proportions that for convenience in explaining and discussing them they are generally grouped into classes according to the nature of the subject matter to which they relate Each class is then spoken of by itself, as the law of the particular subject to which it relates, as the law of torts the law of contracts, the law of evidence ' and the like What each subject includes is dependent largely upon the conception of the particular writer handling it for there is no well defined dividing line between many of the subjects

Evidence in its relation to the Adjective law

The adjective law includes all the laws which have built up the judicial system whether they have had their origin in the constitution the legislature or the Courts It embraces too the laws which have fixed the practice in the Courts —the methods of carrying on the work by Judge and jury, the laws prescribing the manner in which litigants might seek relief and carry on their cases are also included, and finally certain rules have grown up as a part of this law which relate not to the machinery of the system but having regard to the imperfections of the machinery are concerned with sorting out and selecting the materials which are supplied to it These last mentioned rules make up the law of evidence

Law of Evidence as defined by Sir James Fitzames Stephens

The law of evidence' says Sir James Fitzjames Stephens is that part of the law of procedure which with a view to ascertain individual rights and liabilities in particular cases decides, (1) what facts may and what may not be proved in such cases, (2) what sort of evidence must be given of a fact which may be proved, (3) by whom and in what manner the evidence must be produced by which any fact is to be proved

Thus before the law of evidence can be understood or applied to any particular case it is necessary to know so much of the substantive law as determines what under given states of facts would be the rights of the parties and so much of the law of procedure as is sufficient to determine what questions it is open to them to raise in the particular proceeding

"Thus in general terms the law of evidence consists of provisions upon the following subjects:—

(1) The relevancy of facts.

(2) The proof of facts.

(3) The production of proof of relevant facts.

"The foregoing observations show that this account of the matter is exhaustive. For if we assume that a fact is known to be relevant, and that its existence is duly proved, the Court is in a position to go on to say how it affects the existence, nature, or extent of the right or liability, the ascertainment of which is the ultimate object of the enquiry, and this is all that the Court has to do.

The matter must, however, be carried further. The three general heads may be distributed more particularly as follows:—

"I. The Relevancy of Facts. Facts may be related to rights and liabilities in one of two ways,—

Facts in issue.

(1) They may by themselves, or in connection with other facts, constitute such a state of things that the existence of the disputed right or liability would be a legal inference from them. From the fact that A is the eldest son of B there arises of necessity the inference that A is by the law of England the heir at law of B, and that he has such rights as that status involves. From the fact that A caused the death of B under certain circumstances, and with a certain intention or knowledge there arises of necessity the inference that A murdered B, and is liable to the punishment provided by law for murder.

"Facts thus related to a proceeding may be called facts in issue, unless their existence is undisputed.

Relevant facts.

"(2) Facts which are not themselves in issue in the sense above explained may affect the probability of the existence of facts in issue, and be used as the foundation of inferences respecting them: such facts are described in the Evidence Act as relevant facts.

"All the facts with which it can in any event be necessary for Courts of Justice to concern themselves, are included in these two classes.

"The first great question, therefore which the law of evidence should decide is, what facts are relevant. The answer to this question is to be learnt from the general theory of judicial evidence in chapter II of the Evidence Act.

"What facts are in issue in particular cases is a question to be determined by the substantive law, or in some instances by that branch of the law of procedure which regulates the forms of pleading, Civil or Criminal.

Proof of relevant facts.

"II Proof of Relevant Facts. Whether any alleged fact is a fact in issue or a relevant fact, the Court can draw no inference from its existence till it believes it to exist; and it is obvious that the belief of the Court in the existence of a given fact ought to proceed upon grounds altogether independent of the relation of the fact to the object and nature of the proceeding in which its existence is to be determined. The question is whether A wrote a letter. The letter may have contained the terms of a contract. It may have been a libel. It may have constituted the motive for the commission of a crime by B It may supply proof of an alibi in favour of A It may be an admission or a confession of crime, but whatever may be the relation of the fact to the proceeding, the Court cannot act upon it unless it believes that A did write the letter, and that belief must obviously be produced, in each of the cases mentioned, by the same or similar means If the Court requires the production of the original when the writing of the letter is a crime, there can be no reason why it should be satisfied with a copy when the writing of the letter is a motive for a crime In short, the way in which a fact should be proved depends on the nature of the fact, and not on the relation of the fact to the proceeding

"Some facts are too notorious to require any proof at all and of these the Court will take judicial notice; but if a fact does require proof the instrument by which the Court must be convinced of it is evidence, by which I mean the actual words uttered, or documents or other things actually produced in Court, and not the facts which the Court considers to be proved by those words and documents Evidence in this sense of the word must be either (1) oral or (2) documentary A third class might be formed of things produced in Court, not being documents, such as the instruments with which a crime was committed or the property to which damage had been done, but this division would introduce needless intricacy into the matter The reason for distinguishing between oral and documentary evidence is that in many cases the existence of the latter excludes the employment of the former, but the condition of material things, other than documents, is usually proved by oral evidence, so that there is no occasion to distinguish between oral and material evidence

1 Judicial notice 2 Oral evidence 3 Documentary evidence

"III The production of Proof This includes the subject of the burden of proof the rules upon which answer the question by whom is proof to be given The subject of witnesses the rules upon which answer the question, who is to give evidence and under what conditions ? The subject of the examination of witnesses the rules upon which answer the question, how are the witnesses to be examined, and how is their evidence to be tested ? Lastly, the effect upon the subsequent proceedings, of mistakes in the reception and rejection of evidence, may be included under this head "*

Production of proof

The word relevancy is more fully defined in sections 6 11 of the Evidence Act These sections enumerate specifically the different instances of the connection between cause and effect which occur most frequently in judicial proceedings They are designedly worded very widely, and in such a way as to overlap each other Thus a motive for a fact in issue (s 8) is part of its cause (s 7) Subsequent conduct influenced by it (s 8) is part of its effect (s 7) Facts relevant under section 11 would in most cases be relevant under other sections The object of drawing up the Act in this manner was that the general ground on

Obscurity of the definition

*Stephens' Introduction to the Evidence Act pp 11—15

'Thus in general terms the law of evidence consists of provisions upon the following subjects —

(1) The relevancy of facts

(2) The proof of facts

(3) The production of proof of relevant facts

'The foregoing observations show that this account of the matter is exhaustive For if we assume that a fact is known to be relevant, and that its existence is duly proved, the Court is in a position to go on to say how it affects the existence, nature, or extent of the right or liability, the ascertainment of which is the ultimate object of the enquiry and this is all that the Court has to do

The matter must, however, be carried further The three general heads may be distributed more particularly as follows —

I The Relevancy of Facts Facts may be related to rights and liabilities in one of two ways,—

(1) They may by themselves or in connection with other facts, constitute such a state of things that the existence of the disputed right or liability would be a legal inference from them From the fact that A is the eldest son of B there arises of necessity the inference that A is by the law of England the heir at law of B, and that he has such rights as that status involves From the fact that A caused the death of B under certain circumstances, and with a certain intention or knowledge there arises of necessity the inference that A murdered B and is liable to the punishment provided by law for murder

Facts in issue

"Facts thus related to a proceeding may be called facts in issue, unless their existence is undisputed

'(2) Facts which are not themselves in issue in the sense above explained may affect the probability of the existence of facts in issue and be used as the foundation of inferences respecting them such facts are described in the Evidence Act as relevant facts

Relevant facts

'All the facts with which it can in any event be necessary for Courts of Justice to concern themselves, are included in these two classes

'The first great question therefore which the law of evidence should decide is, what facts are relevant The answer to this question is to be learnt from the general theory of judicial evidence in chapter II of the Evidence Act

"What facts are in issue in particular cases is a question to be determined by the substantive law, or in some instances by that branch of the law of procedure which regulates the forms of pleading, Civil or Criminal

II Proof of Relevant Facts Whether any alleged fact is a fact in issue or a relevant fact, the Court can draw no inference from its existence till it believes it to exist, and it is obvious that the belief of the Court in the existence of a given fact ought to proceed upon grounds altogether independent of the relation of the fact to the object and nature of the proceeding in which its existence is to be determined The question is whether A wrote a letter The letter may have contained the terms of a contract It may have been a libel. It may have

Proof of relevant facts

constituted the motive for the commission of a crime by B It may supply proof of an alibi in favour of A It may be an admission or a confession of crime, but whatever may be the relation of the fact to the proceeding, the Court cannot act upon it unless it believes that A did write the letter, and that belief must obviously be produced in each of the cases mentioned, by the same or similar means If the Court requires the production of the original when the writing of the letter is a crime, there can be no reason why it should be satisfied with a copy when the writing of the letter is a motive for a crime In short, the way in which a fact should be proved depends on the nature of the fact and not on the relation of the fact to the proceeding

1 Judicial notice, 2 Oral evidence 3 Documentary evidence

"Some facts are too notorious to require any proof at all and of these the Court will take judicial notice; but if a fact does require proof the instrument by which the Court must be convinced of it is evidence, by which I mean the actual words uttered, or documents, or other things actually produced in Court, and not the facts which the Court considers to be proved by those words and documents Evidence in this sense of the word must be either (1) oral or (2) documentary A third class might be formed of things produced in Court, not being documents, such as the instruments with which a crime was committed or the property to which damage had been done, but this division would introduce needless intricacy into the matter The reason for distinguishing between oral and documentary evidence is that in many cases the existence of the latter excludes the employment of the former, but the condition of material things, other than documents, is usually proved by oral evidence so that there is no occasion to distinguish between oral and material evidence

Production of proof

"III The production of Proof This includes the subject of the burden of proof the rules upon which answer the question, by whom is proof to be given The subject of witnesses the rules upon which answer the question, who is to give evidence and under what conditions? The subject of the examination of witnesses the rules upon which answer the question, how are the witnesses to be examined, and how is their evidence to be tested? Lastly, the effect upon the subsequent proceedings, of mistakes in the reception and rejection of evidence, may be included under this head"*

Obscurity of the definition

The word relevancy is "more fully defined in sections 6 11 of the Evidence Act These sections enumerate specifically the different instances of the connection between cause and effect which occur most frequently in judicial proceedings They are designedly worded very widely and in such a way as to overlap each other Thus a motive for a fact in issue (s 8) is part of its cause (s 7) Subsequent conduct influenced by it (s 8) is part of its effect (s 7) Facts relevant under section 11 would, in most cases be relevant under other sections The object of drawing up the Act in this manner was that the general ground on which facts are relevant might be stated in as many and as popular forms as possible, so that if a fact is relevant, its relevancy may be easily ascertained These sections are by far the most important, as they are the most original part of the Evidence Act, as they affirm positively what facts may be proved, whereas the English law assumes this to be known, and merely declares negatively that certain facts shall not be proved *

*Stephens' Introduction to the Evidence Act pp 11—15

Definition of logical relevancy

The definition given in sections 6 11 is that of logical relevancy Logical relevancy plays a certain part, in the law of evidence in that no evidence is admissible unless it is logically relevant It does not follow that all evidence which is logically relevant is admissible and in fact much that is logically relevant is excluded Certain rules are laid down founded on various considerations, by which many matters which are logically relevant are declared inadmissible The modern system of Evidence says Prof Wigmore, ' rests upon two axioms These underlie its whole structure Implicitly but nevertheless actually and positively, recognised in the practice of Courts and in the utterances of the Judges they were first distinctly formulated by the great master and expounder of the history of our law of Evidence The first is this None but facts having rational probative value are admissible This principle is indeed axiomatic, for any system of Evidence purporting to be rational It assumes no particular doctrine as to the kind of ratiocination implied,—whether practical or scientific, coarse and ready or refined and systematic It prescribes merely that whatever is presented as evidence shall be presented on the hypothesis, that it is calculated according to the prevailing standard of reasoning, to effect rational persuasion The second axiom on which our law of Evidence rests is this All facts having rational probative value are admissible, unless some specific rule forbids '

Two axioms underlying the law of evidence

Law of evidence consists of negative rules

'The great bulk of the Law of Evidence' says Sir James Fitzjames Stephens consists of negative rules declaring what, as the expression runs, is not evidence The doctrine that all facts in issue and relevant to the issue, and no others, may be proved is the unexpressed principle, which forms the centre of and gives unity to all these express negative rules The law has been worked out by degrees by many generation of Judges who perceived more or less distinctly the principle on which it ought to be founded The rules established by them no doubt treat as relevant some facts which cannot perhaps be said to be so More frequently they treat as is relevant facts which really relevant, but exceptions excepted, all their rules are reducible to the principle that facts in issue or relevant to the issue, and no others, may be proved '

"Four classes of facts, which in common life would usually be regarded as falling in with this definition of relevancy are excluded from it by the Law of Evidence except in certain cases

"1 Facts familiar to but not specifically connected with each other (Res inter alios acta)

*Stephens' Introduction p 72

"2 The fact that a person not called as a witness has asserted the existence of any fact (Hearsay)

"3 The fact that any person is of opinion that a fact exists (Opinion)

"4 The fact that a person's character is such as to render the conduct imputed to him probable or improbable (Character)

"To each of those four exclusive rules there are, however important exceptions which are defined by the Law of Evidence"

"The rejection on one or another practical ground of what is really probative is the characteristic thing in the English common law of Evidence, stamping it out as the child of the jury system In the shape it has taken, it is not at all a necessary development of the rational method of proof, so that, where people did not have the jury, or having once had it did not keep it (as on the continent of Europe, although they, no less than we, worked out a rational system), they developed under the head of Evidence no separate and systematized branch of law . The greatest and most remarkable offshoot of the jury was that body of excluding rules which chiefly constitute the English 'Law of Evidence' This judicial oversight and control of the process of introducing evidence to the jury was what gave our system birth, and he who would understand it must keep this fact constantly in mind"*

Characteristic of English common law of evidence

The growth and the characteristic of the English Law of Evidence is thus described by an author of great eminence —"At once, when a man raises his eyes from the common law system of evidence, and looks at foreign methods, he is struck with the fact that English system is radically peculiar Here a great mass of evidential matter, logically important and probative, is shut out from the view of the judicial tribunals by an imperative rule, while the same matter is not thus excluded anywhere else English speaking countries have what we call a 'Law of Evidence' but no other country has it, we alone have generated and evolved this large, elaborate, and difficult doctrine We have done it, not by direct legislation, but, almost wholly, by the slow accumulated rulings of Judge's made in the trying of causes, during the last two or three centuries,—rulings which at first were not preserved in print, but in the practice and tradition of the trial Courts, and only during the last half or two thirds of this period have they been revised, reasoned upon, and generalized by the Courts in banc When one has come to perceive these striking facts he is not long in finding the reason for them Indeed the very structure of the system thus produced points to the reason, when we observe its constant, anxious, and over anxious endeavour to prevent the tribunal to which the evidence is principally addressed from being confused and misled and from dealing with questions which it has no right to deal with It might seem strange and not worthwhile to keep alive so long a tribunal which has needed so much watching and so many safeguards, if one did not recall the immense persistence of legal institutions and usages, as well as the deep political significance of the jury and its relation to what is most valued in the national history and traditions of the English race It is this institution of the jury which accounts for the common law system of evidence,—an institution which English speaking people have had and used, in one or another department of their public affairs, ever since the Conquest Other peoples have had it only in quite recent times, unless, indeed, they may belong to those who began with it centuries ago, and then allowed it to become obsolete and forgotten England alone kept it, and, in a strange fashion, has developed it

Peculiarity of English Law of evidence depends on jury system

*Thayer's Pre Treat on Evidence pp 180, 207, 266 500

This institution the jury, which is thus the occasion of our law of Evidence, and which is also at the bottom of our system of pleading and procedure, and of very much in all branches of the substantive common law, has a peculiar interest for us

"A system of evidence, like ours, thus worked out at the forge of daily experience in the trial of causes not created, or greatly changed, until lately, by legislation, not the fruit of any man's systematic reflection or forecast, is sure to exhibit at every step the marks of its origin It is not concerned with the nice definitions or the exacter academic operations of the logical faculty It is attending to practical ends Its rules originate in the instinctive suggestions of good sense, legal experience, and a sound practical understanding; and they are seeking to determine, not what is or is not, in its nature, probative, but rather, passing by that enquiry, what, among really probative matters, shall, nevertheless, for this or that practical reason, be excluded, and not even heard by the jury From the diversity and multitude of the casual rulings by the Judges,—rulings often hastily made, ill considered, and wrong,—from the endeavour to follow these as precedents and to generalize and theorize upon them from the forgetting by some Courts, in making this attempt, of the accidental and empirical nature of much in these determinations, and the remembering of this fact by others there has resulted plenty of confusion The pressure under which a ruling must be made is often unfavourable to clear thinking and the law of evidence largely shaped at nisi prius, took on a general aspect which was vague, confused and unintelligible One thing in particular added greatly to the confusion, namely, the habit of assuming, whenever evidential matter was rejected or received, that the result was attributable to some principle of the law of evidence, while very often indeed, the reason lay wholly in the rules of pleading, procedure or substantive law which happened to control the case In this way the law of evidence came to be monstrously overloaded, and was made to swallow up into itself much which belonged to other branches of law, or to the wide regions of logic and legal reasoning Thus, not only were many of these other subjects clouded and thrown out of focus, but the law of evidence itself was intolerably perplexed"*

A learned author has with infinite pains tabulated a complete survey of the historical development of the English rules of evidence† He separates it into some marked divisions—from the primitive times to the twelfth century, thence

Gradual development of the law of evidence

*Thayer's Pre. Treat on Evidence p 4.

† Wigmore § 8

to the sixteenth, thence to the seventeenth thence to A D 1700, thence to 1830 thence to 1860, and thence to the present time. (1) From the section quoted we gather that up to the year 1200 we have no reliable data, although to the formalities of the earliest tribunals there can be traced the sources of our present rules for the summoning of witnesses, the effect of an oath, and the necessary production of original documents

(2) The next three centuries marked the establishment of the trial by jury In this period, no new specific rules seem to have sprung up The practice for attesting witnesses, oaths, documentary originals is developed The rule for the conclusion of a sealed writing is definitely established But during these three centuries the general process of pleading and procedure is only gradually differentiated from that of proof,—chiefly because the jurors are as yet relied upon to furnish in themselves both knowledge and decision, for they are not commonly caused to be informed by witnesses, in the modern sense

(3) Between 1500 and 1700 the foundation of the present English system was laid In that period we find the regulation of the competency of witnesses, the rules of privilege and privileged communications, the rules for attorneys, the compulsory attendance of witnesses, the privilege against self incrimination, the "parol evidence' rule, and the enactment of the Statute of Frauds The "parol evidence" enlarged its scope and came to include all writings and not merely sealed documents The mark of the new period is seen at the Restoration Justice, on all hands, then begins to mend Crudities which Mathew Hale permitted, under the Commonwealth, Scroggs refused under James II The privilege against self incrimination, the rule for two witnesses in treason, and the character rule—three landmarks of our law of Evidence—find their first full recognition in the last days of the Stuarts

(4) The fourth period of ninety years saw the final establishment of cross examination by counsel, the rule for impeachment and corroboration of witnesses, the 'best evidence' doctrine and the publication of the first treatise on the Law of Evidence by Chief Baron Gilbert in 1726 About the same time the abridgments of Bacon and Comeyns gave many pages to the title of Evidence, but no other treaties appeared for a quarter of a century when the notes of Mr J Bathurst (later Lord Chancellor) were printed, under the significant title of the 'Theory of Evidence Blackstone's commentaries were published in 1768 In this period, besides the rules for impeachment and corroboration of witnesses (which were due chiefly to the development of cross examination), are to be reckoned also the origins of the rules for confessions, for leading questions, and for the order of testimony The various principles affecting documents—such as the authorization of certified (or office) copies and the conditions dispensing from the production of originals—now also received their final shape

(5) The next forty years (1790 1830) saw a tremendous increase of the rulings upon evidence there being more than in the preceding two centuries In this development the dominant influence is plain, it was the increase of the printed reports of Nisi Prius rulings This was at first the cause and afterwards the self multiplying effect, of the detailed development of the rules As soon as Nisi Prius reports, multiplied and became available to all, the circuits must be, reconciled, the rulings once made and recorded must be followed and the precedents, must be open to the entire profession to be invoked There was, so to speak, a sudden precipitation of all that had hitherto been suspended in solution This effect began immediately to be assisted and emphasized by the appearance or new treatises, summing up the recent acquisitions of precedent and practice In nearly the same year, Peake, for England (1801), and Mac Nally for Ireland printed small volumes whose contents, as compared with those of Gilbert and Buller seem to represent almost a different system so novel were their topics In 1806 Evans' Notes to Pothier on Obligations was made the vehicle of the first reasoned analysis of the rules In this respect it was epoch making In 1814 and then in 1824 came Phillipps and Starkie,—in one hold combining Evans philosophies with Peake's strict reflection of the details of practice There was now indeed a system of Evidence, consciously and fully realized Across the water a similar stage had been reached By a natural interval Peake s treatise was balanced in 1810, by Swift's Connecticut book while Philips and Starkie were replaced by Greenleaf's treatise of 1842

(6) The thirty years ending with 1860 will be ever associated with the names of Bentham, Broughham and Denman. The Theory of Judicial Evidence inspite of or perhaps by reason of, its phillipic tone, created a mighty influence for good—an influence fortified by such doughty legal champions as Brougham and Denman Their efforts culminated in England in the Common Law Procedure Acts of 1852 and 1854, while in the United States, Livingston and Field were the sponsors of similar results

(7) In the period following 1860 there has been no serious emendation of the law of evidence in England later than the Judicature Act of 1875 and the Rules of Court of 1883, and the law of evidence attained rest" It is still over patched and disfigured with multiplicitous fragmentary statutes, especially for documentary evidence But it seems to be harmonious with the present demand of justice and above all to be so certain and settled in its acceptance that no further detailed development is called for *

Sir James Fitzjames Stephens, the framer of the Evidence Act

The Indian Evidence Act is ever associated with the name of Sir James Fitzjames Stephens Q C, the great jurist and Judge who sponsored the amended Evidence Bill on which the present Act is based At the final stage of the Bill he was vehemently criticised by competent critics but time shows how very judicious he was in enacting its provisions

No complete Code before the passing of the Evidence Act

Before the passing of the Indian Evidence Act there was no complete code of evidence enforceable in every part of British India. The town of Calcutta had been from its foundation (1690) an English Colony, governed by English law The early charters empowered the Governor in Council of each settlement to exercise civil and criminal jurisdiction therein, according to the laws of England, and charters of 1726 and 1753 provided at least on paper for more regular tribunals at each of the principal settlements in shape of Mayor's Court for Civil, and Court's 'of Oyer and Terminer' and

* Wigmore § 8.

Quarter Sessions for criminal proceedings These Courts were supposed to decide cases according to English law and adopting English procedure

Since the establishment of the Supreme Courts of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, the English rules of evidence have systematically been followed in the Presidency towns and several of the reforms made in England by Parliament were from time to time applied to these by the Governor General in Council Thus incompetency on the ground of crime and interest was abolished by Act IX of 1840 and Act VII of 1841 And Act XV of 1852 enabled parties to give evidence except in criminal proceedings and proceedings for adultery or breach of promise English rules of evidence.

But in the Muffusal there was an absolute absence of any systematic law of evidence The English laws of evidence were not in force in the Muffusal. The Muhammadan laws of evidence as laid down in the Hedaya, as modified by Regulations passed from 1793 to 1834 as well as to a certain extent by English practice and English text books, were generally followed in the Muffusal Courts

Rules in Evidence in Muffusal Courts

The Regulations of Bengal, Bombay and Madras laid down very few rules as regards evidence Under section 15 of the Bengal Regulations III of 1793, a bond was required to be proved at least by two witnesses But such documentary evidence was received without any proof unless objected to, such as copies of judicial proceedings, appearing to be authenticated by the signature of the proper officer, and copies of English correspondence from the Collectors or other Government officers similarly authenticated Even copies of copies were so received Rules as to witness, corresponding those contained in the present Codes of Criminal and Civil Procedure, were made by the following Regulations in Bengal, Beng Reg IV of 1793, ss 6, 14, Beng Reg IX of 1796 ss 2, 3 and 4, Beng Reg IV of 1897, s 7, Beng Reg VIII of 1803, s 25, Beng Reg L of 1803, ss 2, 3 and 4, Beng Reg III of 1812, s 2, Beng Reg XXIII of 1814 ss 33 and 73, Beng Reg XXIV of 1814, s 11 In Madras also rules relating to this subject were contained in several regulations, namely, Mad Reg III of 1802, s 7, Mad Reg IV of 1802, s 18, Mad Reg V of 1802, s 16, Mad Reg VII of 1802, s 18, Mad Reg VII of 1809, s 22, Mad Reg XII of 1809, s 8, Mad Reg IV of 1816 ss 15, 16, Mad Reg VI of 1816 ss 28, 34 Mad Reg VII of 1816, ss 4, 5, Mad. Reg X of 1816 ss 15, 16, Mad Reg XIV of 1816 s 9, Mad Reg IV of 1821, s 10, and Mad Reg VIII of 1832, s 3 Moreover Mad Reg VI of 1816, s 35 and Mad Reg VII of 1816 s 15 have excluded documents not duly stamped Evidence declared by the Muhammadan law-officer to be inadmissible is dealt with by Mad Regs I of 1825 s 8 and VI of 1829, s 2 In Bombay some rules as to witnesses in civil proceedings were made by Bom Reg IV of 1827 and rules as to witnesses in criminal proceedings were prescribed by Regs XII and XIII of the same year All persons who had arrived at years of discretion and were of sane mind were made competent witnesses by Bombay Reg IV of 1827, s 33 and XIII of 1827 s 35 And

Different Regulations dealing with rules of Evidence

the sect on last mentioned contain provisions (wanting in the present law) as to irratic [illegible] elucidation of the case* [illegible] with the law of Evidence was Act [illegible] t Act was made applicable to all the Courts in British India By that Act all the Acts passed by the Governor General in Council could be proved by the mere production of the Gazette purporting to contain it This Act was followed in quick succession by other fragmentary enactments, laying down rules of evidence Incompetency as a witness was abolished by Act XIX of 1837 which was also declared to be in force in all the Courts of British India Hindus and Muhammadans were permitted to make solemn affirmations instead of oath or declaration in the Moffasal Courts by Act V of 1840 That Act had no binding effect on any of the three Supreme Courts of Calcutta, Bombay and Madras Act IX of 1840 declared that if a witness in any of the Supreme Courts were objected to on the ground that the verdict or judgment would be inadmissible in evidence for or against him, he might be examined, and the verdict or judgment should not be so admissible The object of this enactment, which was taken from 3 & 4 Will IV Chap 42 was to render less frequent the rejection of witnesses on the ground of interest Incompetency of a witness on the ground of interest or crime was abolished within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Courts by Act VII of 1844 But the Act did not make the party on whose behalf an action was brought or defended a competent witness By Act XV of 1852 parties to a cause were made competent witnesses, except in criminal proceedings and proceedings for adultery or breach of promise of marriage By this Act the parties were compelled to allow inspection of documents and Acts of State and judicial proceedings could be proved by the production of certified copies alone It made the register of British ship and certificates of registry admissible without proof of signature It dispended with the production of the record of a conviction or acquittal That Act was in force also in the Supreme Courts Act XIX of 1853 extended some of these reforms to the Civil Courts of the East India Company in the Bengal Presidency By this Act, parties to suits as well as husbands and wives of the parties were made competent witnesses Although there was no express prohibition, henceforth, a husband or a wife is enabled to give evidence for or against each other Incompetency of a witness on the ground of relationship or interest was also abolished and a party could be compelled to give evidence and produce documents But a witness was exempted from producing documents relating to a party's title deeds, State documents, and irrelevant documents Communication between a witness and his professional adviser was also privileged The Court could compel a witness to produce any other documents Section 26 of the Act rendered absconding witnesses liable for damage

Acts Previous to the Indian Evidence Act

In 1855 Sir Lawrence Peel introduced a Bill for the further improvement of the law of evidence which was carried by Sir James Colvile and found place in the Statute Book as Act II of 1855 This Act though totally devoid of arrangement

History of the passing of the Indian Evidence Act

---

*Whitley Stokes pp 812, 813.

was skilfully worded, and conntained many valuable provisions, which applied to all Courts in British India (Vide Appendix C infra) Act X of 1855, which was in force in the Civil Courts of the East India Company in the Presidencies of Fort St George and Bombay, enacted by s 10 a provision like section 26 of Act XIX of 1853 In 1859, the first Civil Procedure Code was passed by Act VIII of 1859 and in 1861 the first Criminal Procedure Code found place in the Statute book Act XV of 1869 provides facilities for obtaining the evidence and appearance in Court of prisoners and for service of process upon them. So it is clear that down to 1872, there was no fixed rules of evidence, except those contained in Act XIX of 1853 and Act II of 1855 which could be applied in the Muffasal Courts The Commissioners appointed in England to prepare a body of substantive laws for India (ignoring the fact that their commission did not comprise adjective law), accordingly framed a draft code, which in October 1868 was introduced by Sir Henry Summer Maine and referred to a Select Committee, as a Bill to define and amend the law of evidence This Bill was published and circulated to local authorities in the usual manner But it was pronounced to be unsuited to India by some competent persons It was far from complete, it was ill arranged, it was not elementary enough for the officers for whose use it was designed, and it assumed an acquaintance with the law of England which could scarcely be expected from them A new Bill was therefore prepared by Sir James Fitzjames Stephens, the worthy successor of Sir Henry, which was printed, circulated and very freely criticised Sir James accordingly recast it, and it was ultimately passed as Act I of 1872* It is on the main based on the English law of Evidence

This enactment purports to consolidate, define and amend the whole law of Evidence with certain exceptions mentioned in sections 1 and 2 But rules contained in the Indian Evidence Act are also thus criticised by Sir Henry Summer Maine 'It must always be recollected that the affirmative or positive method of arrangement followed in the Indian Evidence Act does not represent the historical growth of the English law of Evidence So far as it consisted express rules it was in its origin a pure system of exclusion and the great bulk of its present rules were developed as exceptions to rules of the widest application, which prevented large classes of testimony from being submitted to the jury The chief of these were founded on general propositions of which the approximation to truth was but remote Thus the assumptions were made that the statements of litigants as to the matter in dispute were not to be believed, that witnesses interested in the subject matter of the suit were not credible, and that no trustworthy inference can be drawn from assertions which a man makes merely on the information of other men A complete account of it cannot in fact be given unless the mode of its development be kept in view

Sir Henry Summer Maine's criticism on the Indian Evidence Act

Another important reason too, for remembering that our law of Evidence is historically a system of exclusion, is that we cannot in any other way account for its occasional miscarriages The conditions under which it was originally

*Stokes Anglo Indian Code Vol II pp 812 817

developed must still be referred to, in explanation of the difficulty of applying it in certain cases, or of the ill success which attends the attempt to apply it The mechanism of judicial administration which once extended over a great part of Europe, and in which the functions of the Judge were distributed between persons or bodies representing distinct sources of authority—the King, and the country, or the lord and his tenants—in England gradually assumed the shape under which we are all familiar with it in criminal trials and at Nisi Prius A body of men, whose award on questions of fact is in the last resort conclusive, are instructed and guided to a decision by a dignitary, sitting in their presence, who is assumed to have an eminent acquaintance with the principles of human conduct whether embodied or not in technical rules, and who is the sole judge of points of law, and of the admissibility of evidence The system of technical rules, which the procedure carries with it, fails then in the first place, whenever the arbiter of facts—the person who has to draw inferences from or about them—has especial qualifications for deciding on them, supplied to them by experience, study, or the peculiarities of his own character, which are of more value to him than could be any general direction from book or person For this reason, a police man guiding himself by the strict rules of evidence would be chargeable with incapacity, and a General would, be guilty of a military crime

' Again the blending of the duties of the judge of law and of the judge of fact deprives the system of much though not necessarily of all, of its utility An Equity Judge, an Admiralty Judge, a Common Law Judge trying an election petition, an historain, may employ the English rule of Evidence, particularly when stated affirmatively, to steady and sober his judgment But he cannot give general directions to his own mind without running much risk of entangling or enfeebling it, and under the existing conditions of thought he can not really prevent from influencing his decision any evidence which has been actually submitted to him, provided that he believes it Englishmen are extremely prone to do injustice to foreign systems of judicial administration, from forgetting the inherent difficulty of applying the English law of Evidence when the same authority decides both on law and on fact as is mostly the case in other countries

"When India came under the British rule, there were many branches of law in which the political officers of the British Government could find few positive rules of any sort, or, if any could be discovered, they were the special observances of limited classes or castes Thus there was no law of Evidence, in the proper sense of the words, hardly any law of contract, scarcely any of Civil Wrong .. Whole provinces of law became exclusively, or nearly exclusively, English The law of Evidence became wholly Egglish; so did the law of Contract substantially; so did the law of Tort It is quite possible to hold a respectful opinion of many parts of English law, and yet to affirm strongly that its introduction by Courts of Justice into India has amounted to a grievous wrong .. No branch of law had become more thoroughly English at the time when it was first comprehensively dealt with by the Indian Legislature than the law of Evidence, and the practical evils which hence arose were even greater than those which ordinarily result from the adoption of an exotic of system of legal rules, collected with difficulty from isolated decisions reported in a foreign language The theory of judicial evidence is constantly mis stated or misconceived even in this country The English law on the subject is too often described as being that which it is its chief distinction not to be—that is, an Organon, as a sort of contrivance for the discovery of truth which English lawyers have patented In India, several special causes have contributed to disguise its true character There is much probability that our English law of Evidence would never have come into existence if we had not continued much longer than other western societies the separation of the province of the Judge from the province of the jury, and, in fact the English rules of Evidence are never very scrupulously attended to by tribunals which like the Court of Chancery, adjudicate both on law and on fact through the same organs and same procedure Now, an Indian functionary, when he acts as a civil Judge and for the most part when he acts as a criminal Judge, decides both on law and on fact He it is who applies the rules of Evidence to himself, and not to a body distinct from himself, and he has often to perform the delicate achievment of preventing his decision from being affected by sources of information which in reality have been opened to him

'The effects of their peculiar experience on many distinguished Indian functionaries may be seen to be of two kinds In some minds there is a complete scepticism as to the value of the rules of Evidence, and though the man who for the time being is a Judge may attempt to apply them, he is intimately persuaded that he has gone into bondage to a foolish technical system under compulsion from the Court of Appeal above him With others the consequences are of a different sort, but practically much more serious They accept from the lawyers the doctrine that the law of Evidence is of the extremest importance, and unconsciously allow this belief to influence them not only in their judicial, but in their executive and administrative duties It is often said in India that the servile reliance upon the English law of Evidence, which now a days characterizes many of the servants of Government, is producing a paralysis of administration, and though the assertion may be exaggerated it is far from impossible that it may have a basis of truth '*

Prof Wigmore's criticism

'The jury trial system of rules of Evidence' says Prof Wigmore is not the only safe system of investigation in matters of liberty and property, for other nations have had a long experience of successful justice without it Nor is it correct to assume that the general wisdom of experience which is represented in the system at large is represented in all the detailed rules rigidly enforced, quite the contrary What is commonly forgotten is that most of the rules—nineteen twentieths, let us say—are merely rules of caution i e they are based upon a possibility of error, so that the failure to observe the rule is perfectly consistent with a high probability of truth The rule for example requiring the original of a document to be produced is merely a rule against possibilities, for thousands of banks and business houses daily deal with millions of wealth on the faith of copies not originals, to assert that truth was certainly missed because a copy

*Village Communities in the East and West,

was used, is an absurdity So, too with the hearsay rule, it aims to guard against possibilities, and is sound enough, as a rule, but all history of the past and all public news of the present, is learned by hearsay, for less than a million of our population really knew by personal observation, that our soldiers fought in a war with Germany, and the entire financial and economic operations of the country are built on a complex structure of hearsay which is as solid as a steel and concrete building

'A second thing to remember is that the jury trial rules are intended for a constantly changing tribunals of fact composed of inexperienced jury men dealing with hundred types of cases When the tribunal is composed of experienced professional men habitually inquiring day after day into the same limited class of facts, an expert weighing of evidence can generally be counted upon The cautions represented by the exclusionary jury rules can and will be applied by such a tribunal in weighing the evidence without the actual exclusion of it Sir Henry Summer Maine s comment on this feature repre ents a general truth And in a community where the major part of such offices are filled by men already trained in the law, it is certain that the general wisdom of the cautions embodied in the jury rules of evidence will be employed by them"

Prof Greenleaf at the end of his famous book on Evidence says 'The student will not fail to observe the symmetry and beauty of this branch of the law . and will rise from the study of its principles convinced with Lord Erskine, that they are founded in the charities of religion, in the philosophy of nature, in the truths of history and in the experience of common life, Commenting on this statement, says Prof James Bradley Thayer "I think that it would be juster and more exact to say that our law of evidence is a piece of illogical, but by no means irrational patch work not at all to be admired, nor easily to be found intelligible, except as a product of the jury system, as the outcome of the quantity of rulings by sagacious lawyers, while settling practical questions in presiding over Courts where ordinary, untrained citizens are acting as judges of fact Largely irrational in any other aspect in this point of view it is full of good sense,—a good sense indeed that occasionally nods, that sub*mits too* often to a mistaken application of its precedents that is often short-sighted and ill instructed, and that needs to be taken in hand by the jurist and illuminated simplified, and invigorated by a reference to general principles

Nature of the English rules of evidence

" I have said that our law of evidence is ripe for the hand of the jurist I do not mean for the hand of the codifier, it is not but for a treatment which beginning with a full historical examination of the subject and continuing with a criticism of the cases shall end with a re-statement of the existing law and with suggestions for the course of its future development Such an undertaking worthily executed, if it should commend itself to the bench, could need only a slight co-operation from the legislature to give to the law of evidence a consistency, simplicity, and capacity for growth which would make it a far worthier instrument of justice than it is"

Duty of a legislature in framing the law of Evidence

ADDENDA

S 4—Presumptions are of two kinds, presumptions of law and presumptions of fact Presumptions of law are true presumptions A I R 1932 Mad 343 = 35 M L W. 495 = 1932 M W N 264

S 4—Where one fact is declared by law to be conclusive proof of another the court cannot allow evidence to be given in rebuttal A I R 1932 All 35 = 1931 A L J 360

S 6—Evidence of witness that complainant informed them about theft long after the incident is not admissible—A I R 1934 Cal 17 = 57 C L J 447

S 8—A letter written by the deceased some months before his death to the Commissioner of Police requesting police protection against apprehended assaults by the second accused is admissible in evidence under s 8 of the Evidence Act as containing statements which accompany and explain the conduct of the deceased 34 Bom L R 1087

S 8—Statements of persons writing alleged forged deed and one presenting same for registration are admissible under s 8 as accompanying and explaining their conduct 1933 M W N 96

S. 8—Where direct evidence as to commission of offence is not available, evidence as to motive need not be considered A I R 1933 Oudh 265

S 8—Where a particular ... he statement and act so blended together a 143 Ind Cas 17 = 34 Cr L J

S 8—Though the statement made by the accused to the police may be inadmissible under s 162 Cr Pro Code evidence of their conduct is certainly admissible under s 8 A I R 1932 Mad 391 Fact of production of share property by an accused is admissible as conduct under s 8 A I R 1932 Bom 286 = 56 B 172

S 9—Section 88 of the Evidence Act is no bar to telegram being considered along with the rest of the evidence and be admissible under s 9 for the purposes covered by that section even when the original of telegram is not proved to be in the hand writing of the sender A I R 1933 Pat 96 = 142 Ind Cas 809 = 13 P L T 802

S 10—Where the accused have been charged under the Arms Act for possessing arms and for conspiracy to commit a dacoity the fact that one of the accused was seen showing a revolver to companion with whom it is alleged he was conspiring to commit a dacoity would be relevant as evidence of preparation under s 11 A I R 1932 Cal 474

S 10—Statement during trial is not as conspirator in furtherance of common intention of conspiracy A I R 1933 Oudh 86 = 34 Cr L J 124 = 141 Ind Cas 192 The question whether a post card written by the accused after his arrest to another accused person is admissible in evidence depends on whether the provisions of section 10 have been complied with A I R 1932 Cal 557 = 33 Cr L J 450 = 137 Ind Cas 317, A I R 1933 A 690

S 11—Recitals in deed are not inadmissible for proving how lands are dealt with by landlord A I R 1934 Pat 81

S 11—Display of arms by one conspirators to his co-conspirators is relevent under s 11 of the Evidence Act A I R 1932 Cal 474 = 59 C 1361 = 55 C. L J 439

S 11—Highly probable meaning of A I R 933 A 690

S 13—Judgment not interpartes can only be used as evidence of transaction but can be admitted as proof of title of the person in whose favour it was passed 36 C W N 866, see also 56 C L J 369 = A I R 1933 Cal 222 = 143 Ind Cas 179

S

S 13—Recitals in sale deed though not evidence of grant, can be used to show nature of title A I R 1933 Pat 656

S 13—Recitals in a kobala that a land is rent free, cannot be admitted in evidence in a suit between landlord and tenant in as much as the landlord is not a party in the kobala 59 C 454=A I R 1932 Cal 427

S 13—Custom recognized in previous judgments are admissible in evidence, but they are not conclusive A I R 1933 Lah 553, see also A I R 1933 Oudh 246

S 13—Right in section 13 means incorporeal right and cannot possibly refer to any question of ownership of property in contradistinction to incorporeal rights A I R 1933 Pat 285

S 13—Previous judicial decisions making mention of status of pre emptor are admissible in evidence under ss 13 and 42—140 Ind Cas 566=A I R 1933 Lah 57=33 P L R 1054

S 13—Section 13 (a) refers to admissibility of transaction by which a right is asserted A I R 1932 Cal 398=54 C L J 353=137 Ind. Cas 658, see also A I R 1932 Bom 291=34 Bom L R 236

S 13—Partition deed between two persons could not be admissible to show permanency or otherwise of tenancy A I R 1932 Cal 398

S 14—In a prosecution under s 415 of the I P Code evidence would be relevent on the question whether the accused was in embarrassed circum stances at the date when he entered into his contract A I R 1932 Bom 273=34 Bom L R 313

S 15—Where conduct alleged and proved against accused is susceptible of more than one interpretation evidence of similar acts is admissible to show that conduct was systematic and not capable of favourable interpretation 142 Ind. Cas 274=A I R 1933 Cal 136=132 Ind Cas 274.

S 16—Posting of letter cannot be held to prove delivery as postal servants are not always diligent A I R 1933 Rang 76

S 17—In case of admision the entire statement must be considered together in order to treat it as admission Particular passages which may be favourable cannot be selected and other ignored A I R 1933 Lah 179=141 Ind Cas 204=34 P L R 149=14 Lah 218

S 18—A party s admission should be accepted as true until contrary is proved A I R 1932 All 199=1932 A L J 77, A I R 1932 Cal 538=58 C 541

S. 18—A person called by a party as his witness cannot however be regarded as his agent within the meaning of s 18—A I R 1932 B 117=34 Bom L R 35

S 18—Proceeding refers to proceeding in which matter stated by party is an issue or is relevant A I R 1933 Rang 292

S 18—Admision shifts burden of proof to party making admission A I R 1933 Lah 725=34 P L R 482

S 18—Where S and R attested a will which recited that L was wedded wife of G Held that S and R had practically admitted lawful marriage between L and G 142 Ind Cas 13=34 P L R 365=A I R 1933 Lah 347

S 18—Where admission is based on erroneous state of affairs it is not binding 142 Ind Cas 720=33 P L R 819=A I R 1932 Lah 651

S 18—Gratuitous admission can alway be withdrawn A I R 1933 Oudh 26=140 Ind Cas 580=9 O W N 923

S 20—For purposes of reference to a third party under s 20, it is not necessary that the reference should be a question of fact within the knowlege of the referee A I R 1933 A 861

S 20—Where both parties agree to abide by the statement of the referee the statement of the referee would then be the admission of both the parties binding upon them. A I R 1933 A 861

S 21—Admissions are relevant under the Evidence Act, unless they are inadmissible by some circumstances which the Act declares to be of an invalidating nature A. I R 1932 Mad 509=62 M L J 680=35 M L W 607

S 21—An admission must be taken as a whole. 138 Ind Cas 217=33 Cr L J 570=33 P. L R 287, A I R 1933 Lahore 204

S 21 Where an accused points out the window by which they entered and committed dacoity it can be proved against as an admission. A I R 1932 Lah 488=34 P L R 405=142 Ind Cas 699

S 21—Admission against interest of party making it must be regarded as true until it is clearly proved to be untrue A I R 1933 Lah 885=34 P L R 788=144 Ind Cas 497

S. 21—Evideuce of person not party to a suit is admissible against such person and against those who claim under or from him in subsequent suit in which he is a party A I R 1933 Oudh 246=10 O W N 268

S 24—Confession made on superior officer s holding out inducement to subordinate, cannot be used. A I R 1933 Cal 644=60 C 719, see also A I R 1933 All 31=1932 A L J 1125, A I R 1933 All 31=1932 A L J 1125

S 24—Statement made by inducement of pardon but not under pressure is admissible under s 339 (2) Cr Pro Code A I R 1933 Lah 910

S. 24—Confession made under mere hope of pardon cannot be rejected when proved to be voluntary A I R 1933 Lah 368=143 Ind Cas 499

S 24—The judge is to decide whether a confession is caused by inducement, threat or promise If according to him it is inadmissible, it must be [illegible] jury A I R 1933 Cal 187=142 Ind [illegible] A I R 1932 Sind 64, 26 S L R 91= A I R 1932 Sind 64

S 24—Inducement, threat or promise by person who has no power to enquire does not make a confession to such person inadmissible 142 Ind Cas 474=14 P L T 82=12 Pat 241=A I R 1933 Pat 149 (S B)

S 24—Tahsildar is not a person in authority 142 Ind Cas 474=14 P. L T 82=A I R 1933 Pat 149 (S B)

S 24—Where a confession is duly recorded under s 164 the presumption is that it was freely made A I R 1932 Sind 201=26 S L R 302=141 Ind Cas 392

S 24—Extra judicial confession of guilt made by a person, before he is taken into police custody has high probative value but it must be proved strictly when it is not in writing A I R. 1932 Sind 201=141 Ind Cas 392=26 S L R 302

S 24—A retracted confession is not necessarily worthless A I R 1932 Mad 391, see also 55 M 717=138 Ind Cas 240=33 Cr L J 586=35 L W 607=A I R 1932 Mad 500=62 M L J 680 A I R 1932 Oudh 115=139 Ind Cas 736=9 O W N 96, 139 Ind Cas 756—9 O W N 321, 10 Mys L J 304, A I R 1932 Oudh 321=137 Ind Cas 665=9 O W N 327

S 24—A retracted confession must be corroborated by reliable evidence, before it is acted upon 140 Ind Cas 194=33 P L R 691=A I R 1932 Lah 557, A I R 1932 All 228=54 A 350=1932 A L J 162=33 Cr L J 201, 56 B 542=140 Ind Cas 740=34 Bom L R 1240=A I R 1932 Bom 553

S 24—Value of retracted confession depends upon circumstances of its making 7 Luck 511=A I R 1932 Oudh 317=139 Ind Cas 751

S 24—Value of extra judicial confession made to another convict in jail is very little A I R 1932 Oudh 324=9 O W N 170=137 Ind Cas 170

S 24—The manager of a company is a person in authority—A I R 1932 Sind 64=26 S L R 191=138 Ind Cas 618 So also a Zemindar connected with investigation A I R 1932 Sind 55=138 Ind Cas 614=33 Cr L J 641

S 24—The question whether the word used were intended to convey to the accused an inducement etc must depend on the surrounding circumstances in which the words were used The burden is on the posecution to prove that the confession was not improperly induced A I R 1933 Sind 406

S 24—No doubt the provisions of s 164 are imperative and mandatory but the court can admit the statement by calling oral evidence to prove that the statement had in fact been duly made unless the error has injured the accused as to his defence on the merits A I R 1934 All 81 = 1933 A L J 1551 (F B)

S 24—Confession by accused by Magistrate not improperly induced can be proved though made under hope of pardon and even though not recorded as required by s 164 of the Cr Pro Code A I R 1933 Lah 987

S 25—Political Mohurir Oglt is a Police officer—A I R 1933 Pesh 38

S 25—Excise officer invested with police powers is not a police officer 140 Ind Cas 283 = 13 Pat L T 627 = A I R 1932 Pat 293 (S B) 1932 M W N 453 vide article in A I R 1932 pages 47—55 (Journal)

S 25—Statement of accused made at police station is inadmissible A I R 1933 Lah 167 = 34 P L R 259 = 1933 Cr C 312

S 25—The term police officer should be read in a more popular and comprehensive sense It includes police officers of Indian States 140 Ind Cas 283 = 13 Pat L T 627 = A I R 1932 Pat 29 (S B)

S 25—Writing taken down by police officers during investigation for comparison is not confession 56 B 304 = 38 Ind Cas 708 = 34 Bom L R 598 A I R 1932 Bom 406

S 25—Confession to a crowd of people is not inadmissible merely because a police man was one of the crowd A I R 1934 All 132

S 25—Confession to chaukidar is admissible A I R 1934 All 132

S 25—Statement containing admission should be considered as a whole. A I R 1933 Rang 326

S 25—Report by accused at police station that he had killed deceased is inadmissible A I R 1933 Lah 899

S 25—Confession made to police not used as such may be used to show that accused gave different versions to court and police A I R 1938 Cal 308 56 C L J 73 = 143 Ind Cas 220 = 34 Cr L J 530

S 26—St [illegible] free will does not [illegible] excluded under S 26

S 26—Where the Magistrate has not made a record of confession under S 164 Cr Pro Code but only made a written memorandum he can prove the confession by his oral evidence and may refer the memorandum to refresh his memory A I R 1933 Lah 7 6 see also A I R 1933 Lah 956 A I R 1933 Lah 513

S 26—The expression police custody does not necessarily means formal arrest It also includes some form of police surveillance and restriction on the movements of the persons concerned by the police A I R 1932 Lah 609

S 26—Section 164 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not apply to oral confessions Such confession is admissible under s 26 of the Evidence Act A I R 1933 Oudh 4 2

S 26—Conviction cannot be based on reported confession when the reporter cannot depose the exact confession A I R 1934 All 8

S 26—Confession made to a fellow prisoner in judicial look up is not inadmissible as to the custody is magisterial A I R 1934 Lah 75

S 26—Oral confession made to a Magistrate can be proved 142 Ind Cas 619 = A I R 1932 Lah 488

S 26—Oral confession made to a Magistrate soon after arrest when the police could scarcely have any opportunity to bring pressure upon the accused is admissible A I R 1933 Lah 998

S 26—Confession to chaukidar after arrest is irrelevant A I R 1934 Oudh 194

S 26 —Confession of accused to Magistrate not deputed by police is admissible A I R 1932 Lah 261

S 26 — Custody of a Police officer does not mean that the accused should be under actual arrest The test is whether he is or is not at liberty to move from particular place where he was when he made confession A I R 1932 Sind 149=26 S L R 1, see also A I R 1932 Sind 201=26 S L R 302=141 Ind Cas 392 In order to bar proof of confession two things must be proved namely limitation should be imposed upon the liberty of confessor and it must be imposed upon by police A I R 1932 Sind 201=26 S L R 302

S 26 —A village chaukidar is a police officer A I R 1933 Oudh 192=10 O W N 348=1933 Cr C 379

S 26 —Where police officer takes magistrate with him while the former is conducting investigation the evidence by such magistrate as to what happened is not admissible A I R 1933 All 394

S 26 —Magistrate of an Indian States is a magistrate under s 26—A I R 1933 All 285=1933 Cr C 484

S 26 Before retracted confession is acted upon it is necessary to make sure that corroborative evidence supports confession—57 C L J 13

S 26 —Where accused is deceived into belief that the Magistrate before whom he is making confession is police officer the confession is not irrelevant 26 S L R 302=A I R 1932 Sind 201= 41 Ind Cas 392=1932 Cr C 810 Test of police custody A I R 1932 Sind 149=26 S L R I

S 26 —Oral confessions made to the Magistrate can be proved under s 26 A I R 1932 Lah 488

S 26 —A confession made to Honorary Magistrate is admissible 32 P L R 217=138 Ind Cas 497=A I R 1932 Lah 261=33 Cr L J 632

S 27 —Where accused under detention as suspect makes a statement leading to discovery of murdered body the statement is admissible A I R 1933 Lah 516 Such statement is admissible even though made in presence of police 143 Ind Cas 46=34 Cr L J 481=1932 M W N 801=A I R 1933 Mad 233=64 M L J 88

S 27 —Statements made by accused to daroga showing place in jungle where occurrence took place are not admissible in evidence being in the nature of confession made to Police Officer while in custody Section 27 does not apply and does not render statements admissible A I R 1933 Cal 146

S 27 —Person accusing himself of offence and submitting to police custody under s 46 (1) Cr Pro Code is in police custody when he makes statement to police within s 27—142 Ind Cas 474=14 P L T 82=12 Pat 241=A I R 1933 Pat 149 S B)

S 27—Statement that hatchet produced was one by which murder was committed should not be allowed in evidence A I R 1933 Oudh 404

S 27—Section 27 is a special provision whereas s 162 Cr Pro Code is general and does not in any way affect the operation of the former when the conditions mentioned therein are fulfilled A I R 1932 Mad 391=1933 M W N 305 (F B)

S 27—S 27 is not a mere proviso to s 26 It cuts down the operation of ss 24 and 25 as well 59 C 1040=138 Ind Cas 116=36 C W N 378 =A I R 1932 Cal 297 see also A I R 1932 Bom 286=34 Bom L R 303=56 B 172 137 Ind Cas 174

S 27—Where statements are made by several person to the same effect leading to the discovery of some fact only the statement made by the first individual and only so much of it as related distinctly to the fact discovered can be admitted 36 C W N 373=59 C 1040=138 Ind Cas 116=A I R 1932 Cal 297 1932 M W N 113

S 27—The General rule that statements made by accused persons to the police in the course of an investigation cannot be proved does not affect special exception to that rule remaining in force by force of s 27—55 M 903 = A I R 1932 Mad 391 — 62 M L J 742 F B)

S 27—Where the accused makes a statement that he and another accused hid the ornaments belonging to the murdered person in a particular place that statement can be admitted under s 27 1932 M W N 801

S 27 —Where police officer interviewed person charged with offence of being in possession of cocaine and walked with him to place pointed out by him where cocaine was discovered the admission was held inadmissible A I R 1933 Cal 148 = 1933 Cr C 225

S 27—Only statement leading directly on the recovery of property are admissible A I R 1934 Nag 71

S 27 —Statements not directly bearing upon discovery are not admissible A I R 1933 Nag 252

S 28 —Confession on inducement is inadmissible A I R 1933 All 31 = 1932 A L J 1125 34 Cr L J 482

S 29 —A confession if proved to have been made voluntarily is not inadmissible merely because the accused was not warned by the Magistrate that he was not bound to make such confession The provisions of s 164 Cr Pro Code are in this respect in conflict with those of s 29 of the Evidence Act but on a question of the admissibility of a particular piece of evidence it is the Evidence Act that prevails 55 M 711 = 137 Ind Cas 863 = 62 M L J 559 = A I R 1932 Mad 431 see also A I R 1933 Sind 166 = 1933 Cr C 530

S 29 —S 164 deals with persons accused and not with witnesses as also does s 29 139 Ind Cas 725 = 33 Cr L J 814 = 36 M L W 798 = 56 M 63 = 64 M L J 153 = A I R 1932 Mad 748

S 30 —Confession of co accused implicating himself and accused tried jointly with him may be considered if proved 142 Ind Cas 87 = A I R 1933 Rang 57 = 142 Ind Cas 87 = 11 Rang 4

S 30 —Approvers having ample opportunity to consult each other before becoming approvers should not be cons dered as corroborating each other A I R 1933 Lah 946

S 30 —The confession of a co accused stands even on a lower footing than that of the evidence of an accomplice as it is not a statement on oath and cannot therefore be accepted without material corroboration connecting the accused with the case A I R 1933 Lah 956

S 30 —The statement of a co accused can be considered when judging the case against any person Such evidence however has very little value and though it may come as a link in the chain it cannot form the basis of a conviction A I R 1934 Pes 11

S 30 —Voluntary retracted confession is admissible against co accused A I R 1934 Rang 30

Ss 30 114(b) and 133 —Evidence of accomplice may be corroborated by confessions of co-accused as against other accused where truth of confession is guaranteed A I R 1932 Oudh 355

S 30 —Where the evidence of the approver is eliminated as against one of the accused whose name has been falsely substituted by the approver the whole fabric must fall to the ground and it should not be accepted even against the other accused though to some extent it is corroborated by independent testimony A I R 1933 Lah 871

S 30 —No conviction can be based on uncorroborated testimony of approver even if he has no enmity against accused A I R 1933 Lah 838 = 34 P L R 660 see also A I R 1933 Nag 249 16 N L J 129

S 30 —A retracted confession is admissible against a co accused but it is practically of no value unless there be independent corroboration 136 Ind Cas 27 = 33 L I R 602 = A I R 1932 Lah 293 A I R 1932 Oudh 321 = 137 Ind Cas 665 = 33 Cr L J 502 36 C W N 874 = 140 Ind Cas 379 = A I R 1933 Cal 6

S 30—A confession cannot be accepted in part 33 P L R 511 = A I R 1932 Lah 438

S 30—Section 30 is applicable only to statements made before and proved at the trial and not to statements made by some of the co accused in the course of the trial under s 342 of the Cr Pro Code 9 O W N 1135 = 141 Ind Cas 19 = 34 Cr L J 124

S 30—Statement of accused made at police station is inadmissible and cannot be used as evidence as against co accused 34 P L R 259 = A I R 1933 Lah 167 = 1933 Cr C 312

S 32—Before admission of statements under s 32 evidence must be given that the makers of the statements are dead or are not available A I R 1933 Rang 212

S 32(1)—Corroboration of dying declaration is not necessary as a rule of law But declaration not made in expectation of immediate death and not made in presence of accused requires corroboration as a rule of procedure A I R 1933 Bom 479

S 32(1)—Simply because declaration is false in some part it should not be disregarded as a whole A I R 1933 Bom 479 Dying declaration is relevant under this section even though maker does not expect to die A I R 1933 Bom 479

S 32(1)—The statement of a person mortally wounded in admissible under this section 140 Ind Cas 892 = 1933 Cr C 93 = A I R 1933 Oudh 53

S 32 (1)—Transactions resulting in death does not mean any fact or series of facts which have no direct and organic relation to death Statements made by deceased long before actual incident of murder are inadmissible under s 32(1) 143 Ind Cas 17 = 34 Cr L J 505 = A I R 1933 Nag 136

S 32(1)—Evidence of prosecution witnesses as to oral dying declaration of deceased should be discarded, where the deceased received several mortal injuries and there is no definite medical evidence that he would have been able to speak A I R 1933 Oudh 333 = 10 O W N 557

S 32(1)—Corroboration of dying declaration is not necessary as a rule of law But declaration not made in expectation of immediate death and not made in presence of accused requires corroboration as a rule of procedure A I R 1933 Bom 479

S 32(2)—Report submitted by a process peon who is dead regarding service of notice is admissible under s 32(2) and s 35—A I R 1933 Pat 658

S 32(2)—The Zemindari papers can be used as independent evidence provided they are brought within s 32(2) of the Evidence Act by showing that the persons who prepared them are dead or cannot be found etc but the weight to be attached to them must depend on circumstances 11 Pat 701 = A I R 1933 Pat 6

S 32(2)—The entries in a diary of a police officer who is subsequently murdered is admissible in evidence 140 Ind Cas 578 = 1932 A L J 301 = A I R 1932 All 442

S 32(4—Evidence as to family custom based on information derived from deceased is admissible if it is expression of independent opinion based on hearsay A I R 1933 Oudh 246 = 10 O W N 268

S 32(5)—Where the statements regarding fact of adoption of the party in the present suit were made in previous suits in which the question of adoption was directly in issue such statements should not be admitted in evidence in the present suit under sub section 5 section 32 as they were not made before the question of dispute was raised A I R 1932 Mad 198

S 32(
ledge and
A I R

S 32(5) — The statement of a witness on a question of relationship can be admissible either under s 32(5) or s 50 A I R 1934 All 117

S 32(5) — The statement of a deceased Mahomedan that the mother of his children was married to him is evidence of marriage for proving legitimacy A I R 1933 All 329 = 1933 A L J 483

[illegible] astrologer on information by person [illegible] ate of birth of particular person and [illegible] is admissible under s 32(5) though not [illegible] n relates to existence of relationship within s 3 (5) 30 [illegible] N 030 = 50 [illegible] L J 253 = 142 Ind Cas 36 = A I R, 1933 Cal 51

S 32 5) — Section 32(5) does not apply because statements were made after question in dispute was raised 35 Bom L R 118 = A I R 1933 Bom 126

S 33 — The expression representative in interest is not for all purposes synonynous with the expression persons claiming under in s 11 of the C P Code A I R 1932 Mad 198 = 62 M L J 116 = 1932 M W N 31 = 55 M 40 = 139 Ind Cas 684

S 33 — Where a witness is dead but the accused had opportunity to cross examination his evidence is admissible in de novo trial 139 Ind Cas 203 = A I R 1932 Mad 559 = 1932 M W N 857

S 33 — A deposition on which there was no opportunity at all to cross-examine, is not admissible under s 33 A I R 1934 Mad 100 = 39 M L W 34

S 33 — The first proviso to section 33 of the Evidence Act deliberately inverts the requirements of the English law and means that where the two proceedings are not between the same parties in order that the proviso may be complied with the party to the first proceeding must have been a representative in interest of the party to the second proceeding and not vice versa 38 C W N 1 P C

S 33 — Evidence of witness before Coroner in equiry into death is not admissible under s 33 where the witness dies prior to the enquiry before Magistrate A I R 1933 Bom 479, see also A I R 1933 Bom 126

S 34 — The mere filing of accounts and exhibiting them does not prove the various items in the accounts without some more evidence The accounts may corroborate the oral evidence and there must be the evidence of some person who knows the transaction personally and he swears to them A I R 1933 Mad 756

S 34 — A entry in an account book is an admission by the maker thereof in his own favour and it is accepted as evidence only if it strictly complies with the requirements of being kept regularly in the ordinary course of business The account books in which balances are not struck for six days running is not therefore a document which would inspire confidence in a Court of justice 33 P L R 745 = A I R 1932 Lah 417, see also A I R 1932 Sind 186

S 34 — Entries in old account books over 3 years by themselves are not sufficient to charge a person with a liability though there is presumption that they were written by person by whom they are proported to have been written 142 Ind Cas 869 = A I R 1932 All 500 = 1933 A L J 413

S 34 — Where a suit is based on entries on an account book the entries themselves should be proved 34 P L R 46 = A I R 1933 Lah. 384, see also A I R 1933 Lah 212

S 34 — Where persons preparing Zemindari papers are dead or could not be found, the Zemindari papers can be used as independent evidence 141 Ind Cas 157 = 11 Pat 701 = A I R 1933 Pat 6

S 34 — Account books of respectable firms should not be stigmatised as fabricated without coming to finding that books produced are fabricated and without giving reasons. 142 Ind. Cas. 463 = 14 P L T 61 = A I R 1933 at. 145

S 35—Entry in order sheet that notice has been served is presumed to be correct though it is conclusive evidence of factum of service 1933 Pat 658

S 35—Reports of Tasildar and Extra Assistant Commissioner in inquiry into naufi of property are relevant A I R 1934 Lah 39

S 35—Entries on the books and forms maintained under rules of Education Department are relevant as evidence of conduct of parties proving and disproving a fact of adoption A I R 1934 Nag 1

S 35—School certificate as to the age of a boy, duly prepared according to authority are admitted in evidence A I R 1934 Nag 44=16 N L J 232, see also 28 N L R 127=140 Ind Cas 66=A I R 1932 Nag 117

S 35—Entries in public documents of relevant facts are admissible irrespective of the fact whether public officer recording them knows them or not A I R 1933 Sind 317 But entry in the death register as to age is not conclusive proof of age Ibid

S 35—Hatchita of Chaukidar containing date of birth is admissible though written by Dafadar at request of Chaukidar A I R 1933 Pat 473 in Record of Rights being irrelevant are survey map has presumptive value against a landlord of a neighbouring estate The Gangetic survey map cannot have the same value as evidence of title as the Revenue Survey map A I R 1933 Pat 671.

10

S 36—Rennel's map though correct with reference to the course of rivers cannot be preferred in a matter regarding the direction of villages to the investigations of a commissioner appointed for the purpose 56 C L J 369=143 Ind Cas 179=A I R 1933 Cal 222

S 35—Where there is discrepancy between Birth Register and Guardianship certificate regarding date of birth the age should be determined by reference to birth register 142 Ind Cas 794—1932 A L J 1012=54 A 1019=A I R 1933 All 100

S 35 Where deposition is recorded in ordinary way that record is proper evidence of statement and not abstract from judgment Oral admission acted on and recorded by Court in its judgment which constituted only official record of it, such record is admissible in evidence—142 Ind Cas 548=A I R 1933 Mad 184

S 35—Wajibularz entry in respect of custom if duly attested by settlement officials and signed by zamindars of village to which it relates must be admitted under s 85 A I R 1933 Oudh 246=10 O W N 268

S 35—Entries in marriage Register kept under the Christian Marriage Act is admissible in evidence 141 Ind Cas 284—26 S L R 423=A I R 1933 Sind 27

S 41—Order in lunacy is binding on parties thereto or those claiming under them A I R 1933 Mad 624, 1935 M W N 514

S 41—A judgment in a suit for restitution of conjugal right is not a judgment in rem and a third party is not bound by it A I R 1933 Rang 250

S 41—Statement in judgment not inter partes is not admissible A I R 1932 Lah 50

S 41—A Judgment not inter partes or in rem is admissible only to show its date and legal consequences A I R 1932 Cal 292=59 C 136=137 Ind Cas 363

S 41—It is doubtful whether judgment refusing probate of will is judgment in rem 141 Ind Cas 287=56 Mad 346=A I R 1933 Mad 14

S 42—Judgment declaring person to be owner of certain properties as auction purchaser though not inter partes is admissible as assertion of title 143 Ind Cas 179=56 C L J 369=A I R 1930 Cal 222

S 42—Previous judicial decisions making mention of status of pre emptor are admissible in evidence under s 13 and 42=A I R 1933 Lah 57=140 Ind Cas 566=33 P L R 1054

S 42—Judgment determining similar questions are relevent though not conclusive A I R 1932 Bom 398 = 34 Bom L R 802

S 42—Previous judgments cannot be used as evidence to decide points which are at issue in different case except in cases under ss 40 and 42 A I R 1932 Pat 690

S 43—Decrees not inter partes are not evidence save under ss 13 and 43 They are mere evidence of transaction A I R 1933 Cal 21 = 140 Ind Cas 365 = 36 C W N 806 see also 37 M L W 623 = A I R 1933 Mad 429, 58 C 1187 = 58 I A 125 56 C L J 369 1932 M W N 362

S 44—The plea that a decree passed by a Native State Court was made without jurisdiction is open to the objector under s 44 and can be raised at any stage of the proceeding unless there is a bar or res judicata or any rule of equitable estoppel against him A I R 1931 All 689

S 45—Opinion as regards the date of the stamp whether admissible 11 Pat 782 = A I R 1932 Pat 352

S 45—A Magistrate should not refuse to record the evidence of hand writing expert where the question of identity of handwriting is in issue as the evidence of an expert in the matter of handwriting has been made admissible and relevent 139 Ind Cas 508 = A I R 1932 Lah 481 = 33 P L R 811

S 45—Opinion of expert that document is type written on same machine as another is not admissible A I R 1933 All 690 A I R 1933 All 498

S 45—Where one expert is contradicted by another their evidence has little value A I R 1933 Lah 865

S 45—Opinion of expert as to signature in language which expert cannot read or write is not of much value except by way of corroboration of other evidence A I R 1933 Pat 559

S 45—Expert evidence is not conclusive and a man cannot be convicted for forgery merely on the evidence of a handwriting expert A I R 1932 Lah 490 = 33 P L R 697 = 108 Ind Cs 368

S 45—Letter No 276 Home Judicial of the Punjab Government does not have the effect that the expert should never be called It merely says that expert should not be called unnecessarily A I R 1932 Lah 202 = 33 P L R 76 = 137 Ind Cas [illegible]4

S 45—Where no opportunity was given to parties to examine expert his bare report is not admissible 141 Ind Cas 767 = A I R 1933 Pat 159

S 45—Deposition of experts as to results of their opinion is not expert evidence A I R 1933 P C 26 = 64 M L J 193 = 14[illegible] Ind Cas 81[illegible] = 1933 A L J 393

S 45—Where Court finds signature true on comparisn under s 73 expert evidence can be dispensed with A I R 1932 Bom 588 = 34 Bom L R 1371 = 141 Ind Cas 747

S 45—Expert witness is generally prejudiced in favour of the side calling him A I R 1933 Lah 561

S 48—Ir [illegible] according to usage uncontradicte[illegible] usage is sufficient A I R 193[illegible] [illegible] = 13 Lah 800

S 49—T[illegible] s 32 49 and 60 depends on character of deposing witnesses and on the consideration as to whether they are expressing their own opinion A I R 1933 Sind 213

S 50—Evidence of witnesses that certain man and woman were regarded as man and wife by members of community does not come under s 50 Such evidence is not opinion expressed by conduct with special means of knowledge as to existence of such relationship 1932 A L J 208 = A I R 1933 All 130

S 50—For conviction under sections 497 and 498 marriage must be strictly proved A I R 1934 Sind 10

S 51 —A chemical Examiner must give in his report his opinion and the ground on which his opinion is based Mere opinion is not sufficient A I R 1932 Nag 158=34 Cr L J 154=141 Ind Cas 448

S 54—A police officer is competent to give evidence about reputation of a person residing in his circle or about whom he had occasions to make observations or inquires A I. R 1933 All 674

S 54 Evidence of previous convictions is admissible not as evidence of character but to prove habit and association A I R 1933 Oudh 355

S 54—Under s 54 if evidence is otherwise relevant it is not rendered inadmissible merely because it shows bad character or the commission of offences other than the offence with which the accused is charged 59 C 1361=139 Ind Cas 873=55 C L J' 439=A I R, 1932 Cal 474

S 55 —General and not particular evidence of character of complainant is admissible and relevant for awarding damages A I R 1932 Nag 158=141 Ind Cas 448=34 Cr L J 154

S 57 —The Court should take judicial notice of public holidays 14 Lah 240=A I R 1933 Lah 558

S 57—The Court can take judicial notice of the fact that 'the present political movement' is in fact a movement prejudicial to puclic safety or peace 36 C W N 1158

S 58 —Where the execution of an insufficiently stamped hand note is admitted by the defendant in his written statement, the plaintiff is entitled to maintain the suit 63 M L J 303=A I R 1932 Mad 693=1932 M W N 793

S 60 —Test as to value of evidence admissible under ss 32 49 and 60 depends on the character of deposing witnesses of deceased person and on the consideration as to whether they were expressing their own opinion A I R 1933 Sind 213 Section 162 of Cr Pro Code is an application of the rule against hearsay evidence contained in s 60 A I R 1933 Pat 589

S 65 —Copies of letters of conspirators to co conspirators which were intercepted and reported, are admissible though addressees are not called to produce originals A I R 1933 All 498

S 65 —Party not producing document in his possession should not be allowed to prove contents by secondary evidence A I R 1933 Lah 378=37 M L W 672=69 M L J 676

S 65 —Where document was tendered in evidence and exhibited but not found on record the party can produce copy or secondary evidence of contents A I R 1933 Lah 782

S 65 —Secondary evidence should not be allowed unless circumstances are sufficient justification under Evidence Act for reception of secondary in lieu of primary evidence A I R 1933 Pat 468, A I R 1933 All 690=1933 A L J 799, A I R 1933 Lah 945

S 65 —where secondary evidence has been admitted by trial court without objection the appellate court cannot reject such evidence A I R 1933 Lah 601=144 Ind Cas 45

S 65—An income tax return is not a public document or a public record of a private document within s 74 and so section 65 does not apply A I R 1933 Bom 291=56 B 324=34 Bom L R 236

S 65 —Where the record of a document has been burnt in the Govt Record room a certified copy of such document is admissible 11 Pat 569=138 Ind Cas 419=A I R 1932 Pat 157

S 68 —If any of the defendants to a suit denies that any of the alleged executants executed the deed the plaintiff must produce one of the attesting witnesses to prove the document A I R 193? All. 520=193? A L J 207=140 Ind Cas 115

S 68 —Where execution is not specifically denied document is admissible without proof of execution by summoning attesting witness A I R 1933 Lah 378, A I R 1933 Mad 432=37 M L W 677=1933 M W N 141.

S 68 – Although by virtue of the proviso, the attesting witness need not be called still the party is not relieved from necessity of proving mortgage in form prescribed under T P Act s 59 141 Ind Cas 700 = A I R 1933 Rang 6 = 11 Rang 26

S 68 —Person identifying executant before registration authorities, signing as such and identifying witness, whether is a attesting witness A I R 1934 Nag 1

S 68 —Scribe witnessing execution and appending his signature is attesting witness A I R 1933 Sind 257

S 68 —Where mortgage is sued upon as simply money bond, proof of attestation is unnecessary A I R 1933 Sind 257

S 68 —Person attesting document is not estopped from taking contrary position unless he knew contents of document when signing it. A I R. 1933 Lah 703

S 68 —Proviso to s 68 is retrospective in operation A I. R 1933 Mad 432 = 37 M L W 677 = 1933 M W N 141, 1933 Mad 612

S 69 —Where the plaintiff has taken early steps to secure the attendance of the attesting witness and is not responsible for the last summons being ineffective an adjournment should be granted for examining the attesting witness and if the witness has died during the pendency of the appeal whether under the ammendment of s 68 or under s 69 it is open to the plaintiff to prove the document by other means A I R 1933 Mad 612

S. 74 —Letter forwarding proceedings of public meeting is not public document 55 C L J 558 = 14, Ind Cas 367 = A I R 1933 Cal 812

S 74 —An income tax return is not a public document or a public record of a private document within the meaning of s 74—56 B 324 = 147 Ind Cas 381 = 34 Bom L R 236 – A I R 1932 Bom 291

S 74 —Certified copies of confessions by accused persons would be admissible to prove the act of the Magistrate recording the confession A I R 1934 All 81 = 1933 A L J 551

S 77 —Proof of entry in public document should be proved either by producing the document or by certified copy Proof of ownership of a car can be made by producing register It is irregular for court to accept proof of ownership by mere statement of person without person being called 36 C W. N 1147 – A I R 1933 Cal 78 = 141 Ind Cas 248

S 77.—Deposition of witnesses must be proved properly unless they are certified copies A I R 1933 Rang 212

S 80 —Deposition can be proved only under s 80 of the Evidence Act, when these are taken according to law 142 Ind Cas 653 = 34 Cr L J 430 = A I R 1933 Cal 190

S 80.—Where there are no irregularities regarding the recording of the confession and the statement was taken in accordance with law, then under s 80 there would be a further presumption that the circumstances under which it was stated to have been taken were true A I R 1934 All 81 = 1933 A L J 551, see also 10 Mys L J 385

S 83.—Entries in survey map and khewat carry presumption of correctness A I R 1933 Pat 555

S 83—Rennel s map indicates correctly course of rivers, but not direction of villages A I R 1933 Cal 222 = 143 Ind Cas 179 = 56 C L J. 339

S 88 —Where original of a telegram is not proved to be in the handwriting s 81 But section 88 is no bar to est of evidence and can be admissible s 9 —A I R 1933 Pat 96 = 142 Ind.

Cas [illegible] = 13 [illegible] 802

S 89 —Where a party produces an unstamped copy of an instrument by way of secondary evidence the court may in the absence of contrary evidence presume that the orignal was stamped 1932 M W N. 432

S 90 —The presumption arising under s 90 as to the due execution and attestation of a document 30 years old is equally applicable to the copies as to the original when the copy is proved to be a true copy of the original A I R 1934 Nag 67, see also A I R 1933 Mad 860

S 90 —Repeated assertion of title in ancient documents being mere recitals are no evidence of what is there recited though actual possession in conformity therewith would constitute prima facie title 56 C L J 369

S 90 —The presumption under this section extends to genuineness and not to holding that document was executed by person possessed of requisite authority A I R 193 Oudh 22/=9 O W N 379=138 Ind Cas 513, but see A I R 1933 All 99=1932 A L J 1010

S 90 —In the case of execution of a deed by a parda nashin lady, proof that document was explained and understood by her must be given, it being a matter to which presumption under s 90 does not attach A I R 1933 Oudh 170=10 O W N 147

S 90 —In the case of a will the presumption as to execution under s 90 arises but presumption does not cover question of disposing mind A I R 1923 Lah 58

S 90 —Where a document is admitted by trial court under s 90 the appellate court should be slow to interfere with such discretion unless its exercise is perverse 142 Ind Cas 13=34 P L R 365=A I R 1933 Lah 347 see also A I R 1933 All 443

S 90 —Courts should be very careful about raising presumption under s 90 in favour of old deeds of Sankalpanatra produced after many years after first settlement in suit where under proprietary rights are set up on their basis 138 Ind Cas 513=8 Luck 18=A I R 1932 Oudh 227=9 O W N 379

S 91 —Sections 91 and 92 only applies where the document on the face of it contains or appears to contain all the terms of the contract 56 B 180=137 Ind Cas 478=34 Bom L R 26=A I R 1932 Bom 151

S 91 —Where the debt and the execution of the promisory note are contemporaneous the debt can be proved only by the note 139 Ind Cas 361= =A I R 1932 Mad 687=36 I W 432 1932 M W N 1260-140 Ind Cas 193 I R 1932 All 610=140 Ind Cas 117 140 Ind Cas 193=1932 M W N 120-A I R 1933 Mad 71 A I R 1933 Mad 117=140 Ind Cas 833=64 M L J 79 A I R 1933 All 109=141 Ind Cas 177 but see 29 N L R 131=A I R 1933 Nag 57, A I R 1933 Pat 584 141 Ind Cas 163=13 P L T 506=A I R 1932 Pat 325 9 O W N 585=A I R 1932 Oudh 235 (F B)=139 Ind Cas 298

S 91 —An unregistered sale deed cannot be received as evidence of any transaction affecting the property A I R 1933 Lah 276-33 P L R 227 = 37 Ind Cas 41

S 91 Oral evidence to prove intention of executor is not admissible especially where wakif though alive several years after never sought its rectification 1933 A L J 21=A I R 1933 All 186

S 91 —Unregistered document relating to partition is admissible to prove mere separation in status but not to prove that particular item has ceased to be joint 141 Ind Cas 487=34 P L R 194=A I R 1933 Lah 574 see also 143 Ind Cas 634=A I R 1933 Lah 194 A I R 1933 Rang 249

S 91 —Where document creating lease is not admissible for want of registration oral evidence as to terms is not admissible A I R 1933 Cal 612, see also A I R 1933 Bom 381 But where the partition deed is not registered possession can be proved by oral evidence A I R 1933 Nag 270, A I R 1933 Rang 249

S 92 —Written contract cannot be varied by local custom. A I R 1933 Cal 772

S 92 —One of the executants of a promissory note cannot be allowed to let in evidence to the effect that he signed the promissory note only as a surety A I R 1933 Lah 965, see also A I R 1934 Bom 39=35 Bom L R 1197, A I R 1932 Nag 62=138 Ind Cas 879=28 N L R 325

S 92—Where the contract between the parties has been embodied in a mortgage deed, letters between the parties within several months before the completion of the mortgage are in admissible in evidence to contradict, vary or add to the terms They only constitute evidence of negotiation between the parties A I R 1933 Lah 1024

S 92—Where pronote is executed for no cash consideration, real consideration can be proved A I R R 1933 All 576

S 92—Oral agreement to pay decree by instalments in court can be proved if certified within 90 days A. I R 1933 Lah 806

S 92 (4) Agreement that registered sale shall be null and void until vendee executes agreement of repurchase cannot be proved A I R 1933 Rang 310

S 92—Oral contract, giving preferential right to pre empt leased property if it was brought to sale can be proved 138 Ind Cas 774=1933 A L J 381=63 M L J 403=36 M L W 450=34 Bom L R 1609=A I R 1932 P C 231 (P C)

S. 92—Where the whole mortgage money is payable on demand according to terms of mortgage eed contemporaneous oral agreement that amount ible and can not be proved A I id Cas 114

oral evidence to prove recession 933 Lah 278

S 92—Where on the face of a deed it is a mortgage mortgagee cannot was otherwise than mrotgage 141 Ind 933 Lah 104 A I R 1932 Mad 218

tgagee for release of certain share from mortgage cannot be proved to vary terms of registered deed A I R 1933 Nag 89=29 N L R 107=142 Ind Cas 242=15 N L J 159

S 92—This section has no application where letter containing some terms of the proposed lease and a lease embodying all terms is agreed to be executed later A I R 1933 Lah 61=142 Ind Cas 754=33 P L R 323=14 Lah 137

S 92— icipal concealing fact that he is him in his name were on principa 85=A I R 1933 Sind 34

S 92—Oral agreement to vary terms of document can be set up when writing is not required by law 142 Ind Cas 41=34 P L. R 266=A I R 1933 Lah 453

S 92—Although evidence to vary or modify the terms of an agreement in writing is not admissible oral evidence is admissible to prove that an agreement in writing was in fact no agreement at all but was only a sham or nominal transaction, not intended to be operative 63 M L J 707=36 L W, 817

S 92—The absence of mention of an agreement to pay interest in a balance struck in the creditor s book does not debar him from proving an agreement to pay interest independently and by oral evidence A I R 1932 Lah 652

S. 92—A distinct oral agreement between co mortgagors made subsequent to he execution of the mortgage deed should, in order to be admissible under th ction be reduced to writing A I R 1933 Mad 218=1932 M W N 168

92.—Where an oral agreement is made by two partners to dissolve the ership-earlier than originally agreed to in their registered agreement, the greement and any payment made in accordance there with is not made missible 136 Ind Cas 874=A I R 1932 Nag 42=14 N. L J 1,

S. 93.—A bequest in favour of a son of L or G is void for uncertainty as extraneous evidence is not admissible to show which particular son of L or G was intended to be benefited by the testator A I R 1933 Pat 647

S 94—Where mortgage deed is clear and unambiguous and actually applies to existing facts parol evidence is inadmissible A I R 1934 All 100

S. 95.—Where language of document is meaningless with reference to existing facts extrinsic evidence is admissible to prove its true meaning 141 Ind Cas 298 = A I R 1933 Oudh 80 = 9 O W N 1024

S. 101.—Those who allege fraud must prove it A I R 1933 Pat 306, A I R 1932 All 625

S 101.—Where circular is issued by a public servant containing certain statement a person who challenges that statement must prove it A I R 1934 Mad 27

S. 103.—Persons claiming to succeed on ground of relationship should prove such relationship and absence of nearer heirs A I R 1934 All 117

S 105—Where death results from the injuries caused by the accused, the burden of proving the circumstances which entitled him to kill the deceased so as to bring his case under any of the exceptions in the Penal Code is on him A I R 1933 Lah 1055

S 108—The rule of presumption of Mahomedan law as regards missing person has been abrogated by the Evidence Act A I R 1934 Oudh 41

S 112.—The parties to marriage were in touch with each other, were residing for a short period in reasonable proximity the wife being in the house of a relation of the husband There was nothing to suggest that she was unfaithful or that the parties were on terms of personal hostility Held that the child could have been begotten during the period and his legitimacy was undeniable A I R 1934 P C 49 The word access means no more than opportunity of intercourse Ibid The burden of showing that parties to marriage has no access to each other at any time when child could have been begotten is on the person challenging legitimacy of the child Ibid

S 114 ill (a)—It is not possible to lay down any maximum period which will apply to all cases of possession of stolen property 1932 M W N 862

S 114 ill (a)—Where revolver stolen in October found with accused in May and the accused is unable to account for its possession a presumption would arise under s 114 ill (a) because revolvers are not easily obtainable in market overt 1933 A L J 523 = A I R 1933 All 461 = 14 L R A Cr 63

S 114 ill (a)—Court may draw presumption if accused is not able to account for his possession but the onus of proving ingredients of offence under s 411 I P Code is on the prosecution and does not shift to the accused A I R 1933 All 893

S 114 ill (a)—Possession and production of part of stolen property six days after commission of the offence give rise to the inference that the accused dishonestly received stolen property knowing it to be stolen and not that he was actually concerned in burglary 1933 M W N 325 = 193 M Cr C 143 But possession must be definitely established in order to justify presumption of guilt 141 Ind Cas 537 = 34 Cr L J 163 = A I R 1932 Sind 180

S 114 (b)—No conviction can be based on the uncorroborated testimony of an approver even if he has no enmity against the accused A I R, 1933 Lah 838, A I R 1933 Pat 500, A I R 1934 Lah 21, 1934 Lah 23 = 34 P L R 866 A I R 1934 Cal 114, A I R 1934 Pes 11, A I R 1934 Oudh 90, A I R 1933 Oudh 465 = 1933 Cr C 597 But corroboration need not be by direct evidence nor should corroboration be sufficient by itself to prove guilt A I R 1933 P 500 To justify conviction on approver s evidence it is sufficient if corroboration is merely circumstential evidence of accused s connection with crime 140 Ind Cas 19 = 14 Lah 11 = 34 P L R 285 = A I R 1932 Lah 623 Approver s evidence must be corroborated by reliable and independent evidence 34 P L R 2 Corroboration by another accomplice is not material corroboration 142 Ind Cas 809=13 P L T 802 =A I R 1933 Pat 96 Evidence of accomplice must be regarded with suspicion A I R 1933 Rang 116 It is not necessary that the evidence corroborating the story of an approver or an accomplice should be evidence which directly connects the accused with the offence, but there must be some evidence which tends to show that the story of the approver or accomplice is true in so far as it relates to the accused A I R 1933 Bom 487 Approver s ... different occasions should ... complices are not necessarily ... tences in which accomplices make their statement must always be regarded No general rule on the subject can be laid down 142 Ind Cas 809=13 P L T 802=A I R 1933 Pat 96 Evidence of approver can be corroborated by confession of co accused jointly tried implicating both himself and accused But the court must scrutinise such corroboration with care 342 Ind Cas 87=34 Cr L J 286=11 Rang 4=A I R 1933 Rang 57, see also A I R 1933 Oudh 355 Confession of co accused and testimony of accomplice without other evidence is not sufficient to justify conviction of other accused A I R 1933 Oudh 355 Retracted confession has no value against other accused unless fully corroborated A I R 1933 Rang 320, see also A I R 1933 Rang 73=143 Ind Cas 142=34 Cr L J 558

S 114 ill (e)—Secretary to Government signing petition is presumed to be acting within authority until contrary is shown 37 C W N 276=A I R 1933 Cal 118 Evidence accepted by a Court is presumed to be regular and the burden is upon the party who asserts the contrary to prove it otherwise 10 Mys L J 151

S 114 ill (f)—Where lawyer sends letter purporting to be instructed by client the presumption is that the letter is written under instruction A I R 1933 Rang 147 Where registered letter is returned by Post office as refused the presumption as to due delivery or service depends upon particular circumstances of each case A I R 1933 Rang 76

S 114 ill (g)—Where the accused does not attempt to get certain witnesses examined it may fairly be presumed that the evidence of such witness will not be helpful to the accused A I R 1933 Sind 412 Where a party suppresses a document or evidence the opposite party is entitled to make presumption in his favour A I R 1933 Mad 451=37 M L W 672=64 M L J 676, A I R 1933 All 474 But to draw an inference under this section the Court must be satisfied that the evidence is in existence 142 Ind Cas 220=37 M L W 521=64 M L J 413=37 C W N 657=A I R 1933 P C 87= 7 C L J 222 But in a criminal case the prosecution is under no obligation to call all relevant evidence and presumption under s 114 illus (g) need not be raised simply because prosecution does not call certain witness A I R 1933 Cal 620 The only witness whom the prosecution need call are those who know the facts and are able and willing to give truthful evidence which is relevant to the charge 58 C 1335=135 Ind Cas 443=A I R 1932 Cal 118

S 114 ill (i)—The strength of the presumption which might be raised when the document creating obligation is produced by the obligor varies in different circumstances A I R 1933 Nag 379

S 114 ill (k)—Where mortgagor produces the mortgaged deed with stamp cancelled presumption is that the mortgage has been paid up in full A I R 1933 Rang 61

S 115—There can be no estoppel unless other party has changed position on fait ... f representation A I R 1933 Mad 471, see also 56 Bom 501= A I R ... 32 Bom 386=140 Ind Cas 171

S 115—There can be no estoppel when true state of affairs is known 143 Ind ... s 542=14 P L T 189=A I R 1933 Pat 210

S. 115.—Attestation after hearing contents estops attestor A I R 1934 Pat 93

S. 115.—Estoppel is nothing more than rule of evidence The law of India and England is the same as regards estoppel A I R 1933 Pat 708

S 115—An admission on a point of law is not an admission of a thing so as to make the admission a matter of estoppel within section 115 A I R 1932 Pat 267=140 Ind Cas 687

S 115—It is estoppel alone which can prevent the true owner from disputing the acts of his benamidar 58 C 1371=135 Ind Cas 433=A I R 1932 Cal 167

S 115—There can be no estoppel when a person acts in a different capacity 36 C W. N 972

S 115—An infant is not estopped from setting up the plea of his infancy where he has fraudulently represented that he is of age and thereby induced another to enter into a contract with him A I R 1932 All 710=139 Ind Cas 718 application when person acts in ll 641 shed that a tenant who has been deny his landlord s title however defective it may be so long as he has not openly restored possession by surrender to his landlord 33 P L R 799=139 Ind Cas 46, I R Lah 623 55 M 601=138 Ind Cas 31=A I R 1932 Mad 292=62 M L J 313

if she understands questions put 36 C W N 1152=A I R class of witness for when of a tender age they often mistake dreams for reality, repeat glibly as their own knowledge what they have heard from others and are greatly influenced by fear of punishment, by hope of reward and desire of notoriety When considering the evidence of child witness these observations should not be lost )end upon its particular facts and circums Ind Cas 479 should not be rejected simply because as 129=A I R 1933 Oudh 340 Evidence of respectable and reliable witness should not be disregarded merely because he is related to party calling him A I R 1933 Rang 162

S 118—Accused though competent to testify is incompetent witness because oath canot be administered to him 141 Ind Cas 89—10 Rang 511=A I R 1932 Rang 190 (F B)

S 122—Prohibition against admission of communication between husband and wife extends to all communication of whatever character This prohibition can in no circumstances be waived or relaxed 33 Bom L R 174=A I R 1933 Bom 153

SS 123, 124—Under the above sections subject matter of police diaries is privileged 142 Ind Cas 854=34 Cr L J 464=A I R 1933 Lah 498

S 126 Prov. 2.—Definite charge of fraud and some evidence to support it is necessary to compel pleader to answer question which he is privileged not to answer A I R 1933 Rang 61

S 126—Doctor called to give evidence is not protected and he is not entitled to with hold evidence 1933 A L J 14=A I R 1933 All 55

S. 132—A witness is not protected unless he has objected to answering questions A I R 1933 Oudh 370

S 133—Corroborative evidence must be taken in case of evidence of accomplice A I R 1933 Lah 294, A I R 1933 Nag 249, A I R 1933 Pat 500 But corroborating evidence need not directly connect accused with offence A I R 1933 Bom 482 So also corroboration need not be by direct evidence nor should corroboration be sufficient by itself to prove guilt A I R 1933 Pat 500, A I R 1933 Lah 294

S 133 —The evidence of one accomplice cannot be corroborative of the evidence of another accomplice A I R 1933 Nag 372, A I R 1933 Oudh 355

S 133 —Evidence of accomplice may be corroborated by confession of co accused as against other accused where the truth of the confession is guaranteed A I R 1933 Oudh 355

S 133 —Retracted confession of co accused and motive and suspicion are not enough for conviction for murder 34 P L R 417 = 142 Ind Cas 620 = 34 Cr L J 372

S 137 —Unfinished testimony if substantially complete should be submitted to the jury and should not be rejected A I R 1933 Lah 561

S 145 —Statement made to headman of a village can be used only under ss 145 and 157 A I R 1933 Rang 119

S 145 —The statements under s 164 Cr Pro Code cannot be put to the jury in their entirety under s 145 or under any other provision of law if there is no evidence susceptible of corroboration recorded under s 288, Cr Pro Code A I R 1934 Cal 124 The provisions contained in s 145 relates to previous statements in writing but does not militate in any way against such previous statements being used by way of corroboration of stetements put in under s 288 Cr Pro Code which are substantive evidence in the case before the court of Session especially when the accused are not prejudiced Ibid The object of s 162 Cr Pro Code is plainly to exclude altogether the hearsay evidence of police officer except for the purpose of contradicting a witness in the manner provided by s 145 and if the exception thus made is to be applied it must be applied in the manner provided in the section A I R 1933 Pat 589 A document which is used to contradict a witness must be put to the witness Simply because the witness does not go to the witness box the court is not entitled to break the law and admit such document A I R 1934 Pat 55

S 146 —The Judge should control cross examination A I R 1933 Lah 667

S 154 —The circumstances in which a witness may be cross examined by the party calling him are not laid down in s 154 of the Evidence Act which leaves the matter entirely to the discretion of the Court and there is no legal objection to such permission being freely granted A I R 1933 Pat 488 A I R 1933 Nag 384 Discretion exercised under s 154 will not be reversed by Appellate Court A I R 1933 Rang 57 = 142 Ind Cas 87 = 34 Cr L J 286

S 154 —This section does not lay down that a witness must be declared [illegible] A I R 1933 Nag 384 [illegible] eclared hostile his evidence cannot [illegible] 3 Pat 517 Value of his testimony [illegible] Ibid Either side can rely upon [illegible] idered as a whole Ibid [illegible] of modifying s 155 Evidence Act [illegible] A I R 1933 Pat 567

S 157 —Recital of boundary in document between strangers to suit relating to adjoining land is not admissible under s 157 if executant is called and deposes as to boundary or under s 32 if he is dead A I R 1933 Pat 636

S 158 —List of stolen things given to supplement first information report is admissible and can be referred to under s 158 and proved under s 158 A I R 1933 Lah 987

S 159 —Documents can be referred to for refreshing memory A I R 1933 Pat 306 A I R 1933 Lah 716

S 164 —In prosecution for offence under s 408 Penal Code accused not producing document after notice can use it to cross examine complainant 36 C W N 1126 = A I R 1933 Cal 65 = 60 C 341

S 165 —Question whether particular evidence is admissible or not should be decided before it is actually given A I R 1932 Sind 201 = 26 S L R 302 = 141 Ind Cas 392

S 167 —Retrial by appellate court can be ordered if evidence is not sufficient to pronounce judgment 35 Bom L R 174 = A I R 1933 Bom 153 = 1933 Cr C 465, see also A I R 1933 Cal 136 = 142 Ind Cas 274 = 34 Cr L J 294

S 167 —T[illegible] [illegible]f the adm[illegible]ble [illegible]dence is not a ground to [illegible] evidence upon which [illegible] [s]ee also 141 Ind Cas 392 = 26 S L R 302 = A I R 1932 Sind 201

ADDENDA

Latest Amendments and Case-laws reported upto January 1936

N B—The references within the parenthesis are to the page nos of the book

Amendment—In section 1, after the words "Army Act' the words and figures, "the Naval Discipline Act or that Act as modified by the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934" shall be inserted—vide, the Amending Act, 1934 (XXXV of 1934)

Case laws

Preamble (p 11) Where terms of section is clear, English law should not be applied Emperor v Ramanuja, A I R 1935 Mad 528=1934 M W N 1479

S 3 (p 38) The definition of fact in s 3 does not restrict fact to something which can be exhibited as a material object Emperor v Ramanuja, A I R 1935 Mad 528=1934 M W N 1479

Ss 3, 5, 65 (p 43) A document which is not relevant to the issue, even if admitted without objection by the opposite party must be discarded by the appellate Court Badnel Islam v Ali Begum, A I R 1935 Lah 251

S. 6. (p 119) Evidence of witnesses that complainant informed about theft long after incident is not admissible Brojabala Dhar v Nityamoyee Biswas, A I R 1934 Cal 17=57 C L J 447=150 Ind Cas 209

S. 8 (p 140) Statement of accused after arrest in course of investigation giving false name is inadmissible under s 162 Cr Pro Code and cannot be admitted under s 8 Krishna Iyer In re, A I R 1935 Mad 479=1935 M W N 82

S 8 (p 40) Statements accompanying or immediately preceding production of articles are evidence of conduct under s 8 of the Evidence Act as much as the Act of production itself In adducing evidence as to the production of articles, evidence as to absence or existence of contemporary statements should also be adduced Emperor v Rafiqueuddin 39 C W N 368

Ss 8, 27 (p 140) Where joint acts of several persons are sought to be proved, in order to ask the Court to draw an inference from such conduct, evidence should be led with some degree of particularity so that it may be possible for the Court to draw the necessary inference from the conduct of each of the persons concerned in the act The principle applies not only to evidence relevant under s 27 but also to that under s 8 of the Act Rafique uddin v Emperor, A I R (935 Cal 184 (F B)

Ss 9, 11 13 42, 43 (p 161) Judgment in previous suit is admissible in evidence under ss 9 11 13, 42 and 43 Mirbahuddin v Vidyasagar, A I R 1935 Lah 64=36 P L R 106

S 10 (p 180) Where a person is charged under s 420 and 120 B for committing fraud on the Insurance Company by inducing the said company to accept the proposal for insurance on the life of one M by securing a false [illegible] the confessional statement of the doctor that [illegible] though

s 10 of the Act seeing that oth[illegible] grounds for believing that there [illegible] conspirator Kunjalal Ghose v Emperor A I R [illegible]
N 1015

S 10 (p 180) Document written by deceased describing conversation with third person who referred to accused as conspirator is admissible under s 10 Emperor v Surja Kumar Sen, 35 Cr L J 334 = 147 Ind Cas 32 = A I R 1934 Cal 221 (S B)

S 10 (p 186) For meaning of anything said—Vide A I R 1933 All 690 = 1933 A L J 799

S 11 (p 195) In determining the question as to whether recital as regards boundaries in document between strangers are admissible s 11 has no application Soney Lall v Darb deo Varain, A I R. 1935 Pat 167 = 16 P L T 199 (F B)

S 11 (p 200) Where statement of deceased is not admissible under s 32 s 11 cannot make it evidence Latafat v Omkar A I R 1935 Oudh 41 = 152 Ind Cas 1042 = 1934 O L R 922 = 11 O W N 1589

Ss 11, 32. (p 200) Statement not falling under s 32 is inadmissible even under s 11 Naima Khatun v Basant Singh, A I R 1934 All 406 (F B) = 1934 P L J 318

S 11 (p 200) A chitta prepared by the landlord recording his land to be in possession of certain persons as tenants would be admissible in evidence against a third person if there is further account introduction or verification Abdul Khaleque v Susil Chandra Chaudhuri 39 C W N 330

S 13 (p 222) A judgment not inter partes mentioning that certain rights in respect of property have been claimed and recognized by the authorities concerned is admissible in a subsequent case Matasaddi v Latnmi, A I R 1935 Lah 179

Ss 13, 43 (p 229) Judgment not inter partes is admitted for limited purposes under s 43, read with ss 11 and 13 Hemchandra v Purna Chandra A I R 1934 Cal 788 = 59 C L J 320 = A I R 1934 Cal 653

S 13. (p 240) Where the Collector had given his decision in the course of a prior proceeding on an incidental issue also but such issue arises in a subsequent suit his decision cannot make it res judicata in the subsequent suit But that decision is a piece of evidence under s 13 Evidence Act, to which some weight must be given in the determination of the status of the two estates in relation to each other Sonaboti v Krityananda, A I R 1935 Pat 306 = 14 Pat 70

S 13 (p 242) Decision in custom case is not judgment in rem It may only be instance of custom under s 13 Janat Bibi v Ghulam Hussain A I R 1934 Lah 861 = 36 P L R 256

S 13 (p 243) A recital of boundaries in a deed executed by strangers is not admissible under this section But it may be used as a corroborative evidence under s 157 if the executant is called as a witness Rimnandan v Laley Tilakdhari A I R 1934 Pat 636 = 145 Ind Cas 944

SS 13, 11 (p 250) Recitals in deed are not admissible for proving how lands are dealt with by landlord Thakur Kurmi v Lalji, 150 Ind Cas A I R = 1934 Pat 81

S 13 (p 2 0) Where the defendant purchased by a kobola in which the lands in suit were described as niskar, Held that the kobola was not admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving niskar Kanta Mohan v Basudeb Ghose, 39 C W N 311, but see 12 Pat 285 = A I R 1933 Pat 285

SS 13 35, 32(5) (p 250) Where certified copies of decree and of two pedigrees with it are produced the Court may presume that the two pedigrees were filed in suit Both pedigrees should be admitted as pedigrees filed by the respective parties to the suit and not as evidence of relationship under s 32(5). The statements in the decree that the pedigrees are filed in evidence under s. 35 as an entry in a public record, or under s 13, as evidence of the course of proceedings in a suit Collector of Gorakhpur v Ram Sundar, 56 A 468=40 L W. 217=38 C W. N. 1101 16 P L T 531=60 C L J. 67=36 Bom L. R 867=1934 M W. N. 751=11 O. W. N. 889=1934 A. L J. 779=67 M. L J 274 (P. C)

S 14 (p 277) To prove habit and association, evidence of previous conviction is admissible Bene Madho v. Emperor, A. I R. 1933 Oudh 355 =10 O W. N. 688=146 Ind Cas 1064.

S 14 (p 282). Views held by the accused show his conduct and as such relevant under this section. Manabendra v. Emperor, A. I. R 1933 All. 498=1933 Cr C 833.

S 16, illus (b) and s 114, illus (f). (p. 300) A registered letter which is proved to have been correctly addressed and posted and which did not come back, must be presumed to have reached the addressee, although the latter's signature on the acknowledgment receipt may not be proved. Rajani Sutradhara v. Baikuntha Chandra, 39 C W. N 1041.

S 17. (p 313) Where in a document executed by a woman there was an admission and the fact that she made the statement was relevant in a suit in which the document was proved Held that the admission should also be held to be proved even though the woman was not examined A I R 1935 Lah. 628

S 18. (p 320) Admission is the best evidence of the party making it. Nanilal v Nutbehari, 38 C. W N 861

SS 18, 21. (p. 322) In case of admission by a party, admission must be relied as whole and not by pieces Durshan Singh v Baldeo Singh, A I R 1934 Oudh 370

S 18. (p 325) Under s 18 a statement made by a servant is admissible in evidence against his master both as regards his position, if it is in dispute, as to whether he is a servant and as regards his liability as such Occupying the position of a servant does not involve as one essential ingredient acting in the course of his employment The driver of a lorry is a servant of the owner of the lorry M E Moses v Shaikh Bakridhore, 39 C W. N 736

S 18 (p 333) Statement of opinion by counsel is not admission by party and so not binding on him Kanti Prasad v Chait Narain, A I R. 1934 All. 531

S. 18 (p 335) There is no rule of evidence under which the statement of one person can be regarded as the admission of another person merely on the allegation that the two are in collusion Motiram v Sripal, A I R 1934 All 684=151 Ind Cas 261

S. 18 (p 385) Admission by one partner binds another Thomas Bear v Rulia Ram, A I R 1934 Lah 625=148 Ind Cas 763

S 18. (p 385) Ordinarily an admission is admissible against the party making it or his privies To this principle there are exceptions, namely, of admissions made by joint contractors and joint owners But admissions made by such persons must be limited within legitimate bounds, which are two in number, namely, that the admission must relate to the subject matter of the suit and that it must be made by the declarant in his character of a person jointly interested with the party against whom evidence is tendered Kanta Mohan v Makhan Satra, 39 C. W. N 277, see also Thomas v Rulia, A I R. 1934 Lah 625

S 18 (p 353) Where a person offers to accept a smaller sum as a matter of compromise that offer is not an admission as to the proper amount due to him Chandrika Prosad v Bombay Baroda Ry A I R 1935 P C 59 = 1935 O W N 178 (P C)

S 21 (p 360) Confession is provable against accused unless prohibited by law Sidheswar Nath v Emperor A I R 1934 All 351 = 1934 A L J 178 = 152 Ind Cas 174

S 21 (p 361) The onus to prove the alleged joint ownership of the plot was initially on the plaintiff, but the proof of an admission shifts the onus because what a party himself admits to be true may reasonably be presumed to be so Abady v Mumtazuddin A I R 1934 Lah 662 = 35 P L R 578 = A L R 1934 Lah 853

S 21 (p 361) Admission made in prior suit can be used in subsequent suit, even when the admitting party in the prior suit is not a party in the subsequent suit. Amarnath v Ralla Ram, 35 P L R 463 = A I R 1934 Lah 527 = 149 Ind Cas 217

S 21 (p 361) An admission is no doubt a very good piece of evidence and under ordinary circumstances it would be taken as binding upon a party unless the party who makes the admission can explain it away e g, the document was executed by a pardanashin lady Bholanath v Mritunjoy 59 C L J 532 = A I R 1934 Cal 851 see also Sidheswar v Emperor A I R 1934 All 351 = 1934 A L J 178 = 152 Ind Cas 174

S 21 (p 361) Statement in admission must be taken as a whole Sundara Rajah v Gopala Thevan, 150 Ind Cas 132 = 39 L W 34 = A I R 1934 Mad 100, see also Fakhir Khan v Ismail Khan 14 Lah 218 = 34 P L R 149 = A I R 1933 Lah 179 Darson Singh v Baldeo Singh, 11 O W N 579 = A I R 1934 Oudh 370

S 21 (p 368) Admission not allowed to be explained cannot be used against maker Latafat v Onkar A I R 1935 Oudh 41 = 152 Ind Cas 1042 = 1934 O L R 922 = 11 O W N 1589

SS 21, 13 (p 369) Document containing admission by third party can be allowed in evidence not as admission but as proof of transaction mentioned Jasoda v Punit A I R 1934 Pat 48 = 146 Ind Cas 937

S 21 (p 369) A statement in a judgment that a witness admitted certain things is not admissible to prove the admission unless it is proved that primary evidence is not available Medavaruppa v Medavaruppa A I R 1935 Mad 268 = 40 M L W 810

S 24 (p 393) When a confession is used against a person the whole confession must be introduced Mahomed v Emperor A I R 1934 Lah 620 = 35 P L R 659 see also Pathani v Emperor A I R 1934 Lah 673 = 152 Ind Cas 1077

S 24 (p 393) Where part of confession is found to be false the entire confession need not be rejected Emperor v Shankar A I R 1934 Oudh 222 = 11 O W N 626 = 35 Cr L J 894

S 24 (p 395) Clear consistent and convincing extra judicial confession should be believed Ramappa v Government of Mysore 12 Mys L J 73

S 24 (p 409) Plea of guilty under s 271 (2) Cr Pro Code is not confession as dealt with in s 24 Srikanti Das v Emperor A I R 1934 Pat 256 = 35 Cr L J 1217

S 24 (p 409) For rejecting confession lesser degree of probability is required because the word used is appear and not proved Ajyeb Shana v. Emperor, 61 C 399 = 38 C W N 659 = 35 Cr L J 1479 = A I R 1934 Cal 636 = 152 Ind Cas 44

S 24 (p 40?) Where the main foundation for the conviction is the confession alleged to have been made by the accused, there are three things which the prosecution must establish (a) that a confession was made, (b) that evidence of it can be given, (c) that it is true Bhojo v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 172 = 1934 Cr C 1274 = 152 Ind Cas 1032

S 24 (p 409) A voluntary confession if uncorroborated by circumstances is admissible in evidence Bhuvar v Emperor, 9 O. W N. 1191

S 24 (p 417) Mere belief of accused that person to whom confession is made is person in authority is not sufficient Such person must have authority to interfere Mukhis are not persons in authority Bhojo v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 172 = 1934 Cr C 1274 = 152 Ind Cas 1032

S 24 (p 417) Honorary Magistrate who is also Zaildar is a person in authority Hesmat v Emperor, A I R Lah 417 = 1934 Cr C 643 = 15 Lah 417 = 1934 Cr C 643

S 24 (p 427) Unqualified expression "you had better tell the truth" amounts to inducement Hasmat v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 417 = 1934 Cr C 643 = 152 Lah Ind Cas 998 = 15 Lah 856 = 37 P L R. 25

S 24 (p 436) It is rule of practice and not of law that retracted confession requires corroboration Bhojo v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 172 = 152 Ind Cas 1032, see also Chinnaga v Government of Mysore 11 Mys L 407, Imamuddin v Emperor 150 Ind Cas 862 = 35 Cr L J 1154 = 11 O W N 950 = A I R 1934 Oudh 388, Jahangir v Emperor, 35 Cr L J 180 = 150 Ind Cas 10 6, Bhikar v Emperor 35 Cr L J 1113 = 150 Ind Cas 810 = 11 O W N 851 = A I R 1934 Oudh 405, Aishan Bibi v Emperor 15 Lah 310 = 152 Ind Cas 206 = A I R 1934 Lah 150 = 1934 Cr C 330, Marten v Emperor, 35 Cr L J 1453 = A I R 1934 Lah 89 = 1934 Cr C 172, Nahnun v Emperor, 151 Ind Cas 716 = 35 Cr. L J 1190 = 36 P L R. 2 A I R 1934 Lah 715, Sheoratan v Emperor, 35 Cr L J 1290 = 151 Ind Cas 298 = 11 O W N. 1012 = A I R 1934 Oudh 418

S 25 (p 441) Statements which are not of incriminating nature is not confession Mustafa v Emperor, 35 P L R 359, see also Rudrappa v Government of Mysore 11 Mys L J 438, Misri v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 100 = 35 Cr L J 1332

S 25 (p 442) A chaukidar is not a police man A I. R 1934 All 132 = 35 Cr L J 448 = 1934 A L J 143

S 25 (p 442) Village headman is not police officer Ramcharan v Emperor, A I R 1935 All 549 = 1935 A L J 478 = 36 Cr L J 636

S 25. (p 443) Excise officer is police officer within meaning of s 25 Amin Shariff v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 580 = 61 C 607 = 150 Ind Cas 561 = 35 Cr L J 1071 = 59 C L J 555 = 38 C W N 930 = 1934 Cr C 841 (F. B), see also Keratali v Emperor A I R 1934 Cal 616 = 61 C 967 = 150 Ind Cas 980 = 38 C W N 1005, Ram Karin v Emperor, A I R 1935 Nag 13

S 25. (p 443) Sub divisional Magistrate is not police officer Srikant Das v Emperor 150 Ind Cas 991 = 35 Cr L J 1217 = A I R 1934 Pat 256

S 25 (p 444) An admission of the accused to the Excise Sub-inspector is inadmissible under s 25 Rijmal v Emperor, A I R 1934 Nag 136 = 1934 Cr C 568 = 150 Ind Cas 1144 = 35 Cr L J 1233

S 25 (p 445) First information by accused to police officer admitting guilt is inadmissible being confession Harnam v Emperor A I R. 1935 Bom 26 = 36 Bom L R 1117

Ss 25, 26, (p 445) Evidence of police officer and complainant as to pointing out of various places by accused is evidence of his confession and as such not admissible under ss 25, 26 Turab v Emperor A I R 1935 Oudh 1 = 11 O W N 1385 = 152 Ind Cas 473 = 1934 O L R 875

S 25 (p 446) Where confession was made to private individual in presence of chaukidar, but where chaukidar does not take part in bringing about confession, confession is admissible Emperor v Shankar, 149 Ind Cas 69 = 35 Cr L J 894 = 11 O W N 636 = A I R 1934 Oudh 222

S 26 (p 448) A chaukidar is a police officer Jangli v Emperor, 148 Ind Cas 475 = 35 Cr L J 664 = 11 O W N 119 = A I R 1934 Oudh 19

S 26 (p 448) Confession to a fellow prisoner in lock up in the presence of guard of the lock up is not inadmissible A I R 1934 Lah 75 = 1934 Cr C 142 35 Cr L J 1432 = 15 Ind Cas 894 see also Barnabas v Emperor 152 Ind Cas 275 – 15 Pat L T 111 = A I R 1934 Pat 586

S 26 (p 448) Confession to Magistrate himself while in police custody satisfies requirements of s 26 Sidheswar Nath v Emperor, A I R, 1934 All 351 = 1934 A L J 178 152 Ind Cas 174

S 26 (p 448) Bare possibility of inducement having been offered is not sufficient for holding confession is irrelevant Hashmat v Emperor, 15 Lah 856 = 37 P L R 25 = A I R 1934 Lah 417

S 26 (p 448) Magistrate in Native State is included in s 26 Mahomed Bux v Emperor A I R 1934 Sind 103 = 1934 Cr C 82 = 151 Ind Cas 311 = 35 Cr L J 1328

S 26 (p 448) Statement containing denial by accused of dishonest intention is not confession Ramsakh a v Emperor A I R 1934 Pat 651 = 1 P L T 586

S 26 (p 448) Mere presence of Magistrate will not make confession voluntary Krishna Iyer In re A I. R 1935 Mad 479 – 1935 M W N 82

S 26 (p 448) Formalities of law should be strictly followed in recording confession Ram Sakhia v Emperor A I R 1934 Pat 651 = 15 P L T 586

S 29 (p 449) Statements made by the accused to a Magistrate when produced by the police for purpose of remand are admissible Nga Po Dwe v Emperor, A I R 1935 Rang 78 = 1934 Cr C 491 = 148 Ind Cas 1002 = 35 Cr L J 823.

S 27 (p 454) Section 27 is a proviso to both the sections 25 and 26 which immediately precede it Emperor v Ramanuja A I R 1935 Mad 528 = 1934 M W N 1479

S 27 (p 456) The word fact as used in s 27 only includes physical fact Emperor v Ramanuja A I R 1935 Mad 528 = 1934 M W N 1479

S 27 (p 461) Section 162 does not apply to the statement of an accused person Such a statement would however be inadmissible under s 27, if it is of a nature of a confession and no material fact is discovered in consequence of the information received Mohammad v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 695 = 35 P L R 738

S 27 (p 461) Where a person is in police custody, such of his statements as lead to the discovery of articles are admissible Aishan v Emperor A I R 1934 Lah 150

S 27 (p 458) If a fact has been previously discovered by the police s 27 would not apply Chiragdai v Emperor A I R 1934 Lah 786 = 36 P L R 40, see also Har Narain v Emperor A I R 1934 Lah 313 = 35 P L R 203 = 1934 Cr C 545 = 36 Cr L J 189

S 27 (p 468) Section 27 does not operate to make admissible in evidence a confession which would be otherwise irrelevant under s 24 Section 27 would make admissible only that part of the confession in consequence of which a fact deposed was discovered Hashmat v Emperor, 15 Lah 856

S 27 (p 458) Statement of accused that leads to discovery of anything by police is only admissible Ghandalal v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 159 = 28 S L R 41 = 1934 Cr C 126

S 27 (p 468) Only statements bearing directly on the recovery of property are admissible Where therefore A stated that he handed on the property to B and B stated that he handed on to C and C to D and D to E, and recovery was made from E, the statements of A, B, C, D, have direct bearing on the recovery of the property, although they may have had an indirect bearing in giving the police a fresh starting point for investigation and they cannot be admitted Maganlal v Emperor, A I R 1934 Nag 71 = 30 N L R 269 = 35 Cr L. J 1097 = 150 Ind Cas 623 = 1934 Cr C 276

S 27 (p 468) Court should direct statement and admit only such portion as directly led to discovery Emperor v Salve, A I R 1934 Bom 233 = 36 Bom L R 384

S 27 (p 468) It is not necessary that the information given by a person in the police custody shall be a confession before it can be proved under the provision of this section Any information which relates distinctly to the fact deposed to as discovered in consequence of the information received may be passed Emperor v Ramanuji, A I R 1934 M W N 1479 = A I R 1935 Mad 528

S 29 (p 474) The provisions of s 164 Cr Pro Code do not affect the provisions of s 29, Evidence Act, and therefore a confession cannot be excluded from evidence as irrelevant merely because all the provisions of s 164 were not carefully complied with Khitab v Emperor, A I R 1934 Oudh 404 = 10 O W N 937 = 146 Ind Cas 905

S 30 (p 481) Before any statement made by one of the accused person tried jointly with the others can be taken into consideration against such others it must fulfil two conditions (a) it must be a confession of guilt affecting himself equally with the others, and (b) it must be proved against those persons who are jointly tried with him This section introduces a departure from the ordinary rule relating to the admissibility of evidence and must be strictly construed Nawab v Emperor, A I R 1935 Lah 35

S 30 (p 482) A confession by each of the co accused throwing entire burden on the other is inadmissible as against the latter Nawab v Emperor A I R 1935 Lah 35

S 30. (p 483) No doubt under s 30 Evidence Act the confession of an accused person may be taken into consideration as against other co accused but this is not tantamount to saying that such confession is to take the place of proof Kasimuddin v Emperor 39 C W N 27 = A I R 1934 Cal 853 = 1934 Cr C 1368

S 30. (p 483) This section applies to proceedings under Cr Procedure Code s 110 Richpal v Emperor 152 Ind Cas 881 = 1934 A L J 1170 = 1934 Cr C 1246 = A I R 1934 All 927

S 30. (p 483) It is unsafe to rely upon confessions extracted under circumstances not free from doubt Bhagwan Din v. Emperor, A I R 1934 Oudh 151

S 30. (p. 485) Offence in s 30 includes its abetment and attempt Richpal v Emperor, 152 Ind Cas 881 = 1934 A L J 1170 = A I R 1934 All 927.

S 30 (p 488) If the statement of a person who is being tried jointly with the accused is a statement deprecating his own guilt, and seeks to clear himself at the expense of the accused, the statement cannot be taken into consideration under s 30 Evidence Act, or any other provision of the law as against the accused Jogendra Nath v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 724 = 152 Ind Cas 924 = A L R 1934 Cal 411

S 30 (p 488) The word 'proved' means proved before the prosecution case comes to an end either proved in the course of the prosecution case or proved in some proceedings previous to the trial Nawab v Emperor, A I R 1935 Lah 35

S 30 (p 496) Retracted confession and co accused vide Jahangir Lal v Emperor 150 Ind Cas 1056 = 35 Cr L J 180, A I R 1934 Pat 586 = 15 P L T 711 = A I R 1934 Pat 586, Kuladip v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 718, Sheoratan v Emperor, A I R Oudh 418 = 35 Cr L J 1290, 11 O W N 1012 = 35 Cr L J 1290, A I R 1934 Pesh 1 = 35 Cr L J 739

S 32 (p 518) The expression 'written statement by person who is dead' means statement actually written or dictated by deceased Nga Mya v Emperor, A I R 1936 Rang 42

S 32 (1) (p 540) Statements made by a person who is dead must be proved whether they are written statements or verbal statements If they are verbal statements, the persons who heard the deceased make the verbal statements must be examined on oath as witness Nga Mya Di v Emperor, A I R 1936 Rang 42

S 32 (1) (p 540) Statement by person who is dead as to cause of death is admissible though he was not aware of his impending death when he made the statement Inayat v Emperor, A I R 1935 Lah 54, see also A I R 1934 Lah 805 = 36 P L R 24

S 32 (1) (p 540) It is not safe to base conviction on dying declaration alone A I R 1934 Oudh 405 = 11 O W N 851 = 35 Cr L J 1113

S 32 (1) (p 540) In a trial for robbery statement of a person before death regarding the circumstances of robbery is relevant under s 32 (1), even though death was caused remotely by the wounds received at robbery Nga Ba Min v Emperor, A I R 1935 Rang 418

S 32 (1) (p 540) A magistrate should be very careful in recording dying declaration He should see that the declarant does not get any hint or help from outside Nem Singh v Emperor A I R 1934 All 908 = 152 Ind Cas 41 = 1934 Cr C 1167

S 32 (2) S 34 (p 552) To prove books of accounts writer of the account book if alive should be called Gajendra v Shankar, 11 O W N 1323 = 152 Ind Cas 4 8

S 32 (2) and s 34 (p 552) Books of account, if no balance have been struck in them may be inadmissible under s 34 but they are however admissible under s 32 (2) as entries or memoranda made by persons who are dead, in books kept in the ordinary course of business Babuaji v Ratanlal A I R 1934 Nag 106 = 30 N L R 192

S 32 (2) (p 552) Statements of boundaries of title between third parties are not admissible under s 32 (2) as this cannot be deemed to be statements made by persons in ordinary course of business Soney Lal v Darbdeo Narain, A I R 1935 Pat 167 = 16 P L I 199 (F B)

S 32 (3) p 553) A statement in a sale deed by the executant that he was liable for a particular amount is admissible under s 32 (3) as a statement made against the pecuniary or proprietary interest Babhnaji v Ratanlal, A I R 1934 Nag 106 = 30 N L R 192 = 140 Ind Cas 1033

S 32. (3) (p 553). A statement in order to be admissible under s 32 (3) must be a statement of a relevant fact and must be against the proprietary interests of the person making it Soney Lall v Darbdeo Narain, A I R 1935 Pat 167 = 16 P L T 199 (F B)

S 32 (3) (p 561) Statement which makes a person liable to criminal prosecution is admissible Gerold v Olga, 150 Ind Cas 445 = A I R 1934 All 618 (F. B); but see Kunjalal v Emperor, 38 C W N 1015

S 32 (3) (p 571) Statements of boundaries in documents of title between third parties are not admissible under s 32 (3). Such a statement cannot be said to be necessarily and prima facie against the proprietary interest of person making it It will be admissible only if it is shown that (1) at the time it was made it was contrary to interest of maker and (2) at the time it is sought to be used it is a statement of relevant fact Soney Lall v. Darbdeo, A I. R 1935 Pat 167 = 16 P L R 199 (F. B)

S. 32 (3) and (7) (p 573) Where there is recital in deed that land in deed is bounded by property over which another person exercises proprietary rights, recital is no evidence against third party Hari Ahir v Sanglat Chada, A I R 1934 Pat 617 = 152 Ind Cas 829

S 32 (p 597) Entries in books of priests are admissible but should be accepted with care. Acharaj Ram v Ganesh Das, A I R 934 Pesh 78

S 32 (p 597) Statement as to age of adopted son by adoptive mother is admissible under s 32 (5) Naina v Basant A I R 1934 All 406 (F. B) = 1934 A L J 318

Ss 32 (5) and 50 (p 600) Statement of witness as to relationship between two persons can be admissible only under s 32 (5) or s 50 Chunna Kumar v. Mukhat Beharilal, A I. R 1934 All 117.

S 32 (5) (p 600) Party producing a witness for proving pedigree, should elicit from his requirement under s 32 (5). Chunna Kumar v Makhat Behari Lal, A I R 934 All. 117

S 32 (5) (p 600). Where the relationship is created by adoption is of such importance and specifically included in the act, evidence of incidents bearing more or less directly on the fact or otherwise of an adoption and its validity would be allowed subject of course to careful scrutiny as to value Haridas v Manmatha Nath, A I R 1936 Cal 1

S 32 (5) (p 600) Where pedigree was filed for purpose of preparation of Khewat, and document was more than 30 years old and signatories are all dead, pedigree is admissible Mahadeo v Suraj Bali, 148 Ind Cas 1041 = A I R 1934 Oudh 210

S 32 (5) (p. 600). Pedigree table relied on in previous suit is not admissible under s 32 Jagmahar Singh v Sidhu Ram, A I R 1934 Lah 283 = 36 P L R 503 = 15 Lah 688 = 149 Ind Cas 943

S 32 (6) (p 601) Hearsay evidence is to be restricted to proof of pedigree and not to proof of birth, death, etc Naima v Basant, A I R 1934 All 406 (F B) = 1934 A L J 318

S 33 (p 616) Section 33 makes evidence given by a witness in "a judicial proceeding" admissible in evidence in a subsequent judicial proceeding, where the question in controversy in both proceedings is identical and where the witness is dead or cannot be found or is incapable of giving evidence Sri Krishna v. Ahmadi Bibi, A I R 1935 All 187 = 1935 P L J 235

S 33 (p 616) Where in a case under ss 366 and 458, Penal Code, the horoscope of the accused was produced to show that the girl was below 16 years of age as the person, preparing the horoscope was examined in the committing Court and he admitted that the horoscope was prepared by him but he did not appear in the Sessions Court though summoned, and it was alleged that he did not get the summons. Held that it was not open to the prosecution to invoke s 33, Evidence Act, and the Sessions Judge was right in refusing to admit evidence given in the lower Court Superintent v Forhad, A. I. R 1934 Cal 766

S 33 (p 616) An inquiry before the Coroner, although it may be a judicial proceeding, is not a proceeding between the prosecutor and the accused. The proceedings before the Coroner are merely an inquiry into the circumstances leading to the death of the person whose death is under inquiry, and it is impossible to say that the Crown is a party to those proceedings, even if it can be said that the accused is a party on the ground that he was during those proceedings a suspect. Hence the evidence given by a witness before a Coroner is not admissible under s 33 if such witness dies prior to inquiry before Magistrate Emperor v Mahomed Yusuf, A I R 1933 Bom 479

S 33 (p 622) The statement made by a perrson before a committing Magistrate can be transferred to the record of the Sessions Judge only if the person is examined as a witness before the Sessions Judge If such a person is not examined before the Sessions Judge as a witness his statement can not be transferred under s 288, Cr Pro Code The proper section applicable is section 33 Evidence Act, but in such a case it is necessary for the Sessions Judge to hold that the witness was incapable of giving evidence within the meaning of that section Emperor v Nathu Singh A I R 1934 Lah 212 = 35 P L R 75 = 35 Cr L J 349 - 149 Ind Cas 234

S 33 p 623) A witness who had been brought from Calcutta and examined on two occasions once before framing of the charge and again after framing of the charge was cross examined and re examined in great detaill so that there could be no doubt that all that could be got out of this witness had been got out of him The complainant was not a man of means to bring such witness from Calcutta, for the de novo trial must have been a very heavy drain on his purse Moreover there would be delay in securing attendance of such a witness Held that the difficulty and expense involved in calling this witness were sufficient to make such evidence admissible under s 33 Frnandis v Emperor, A I R 1935 Rang 484

S 33 (p 626) The person who is called by Proviso (1) "a representative in interest' of another is a person who was a party to the first proceedings Whatever may have been the intention of those who framed the section, the first proviso exactly inverts the requirements of the English law, which requires that the parties to the second proceedings, should legally represent the parties to the first proceeding, or be their privies in estate The first proviso requires that the party to the first proceeding should have represented in interest the party to the second proceeding in relation to the question in issue in the first proceeding to which 'the facts which the evidence states' were relevant It covers not only cases of privity in estate and succession of title, but also cases where both the following conditions exist, viz, (1) the interest of the relevant party to the second proceeding in the subject matter of the first proceeding is consistent with and not antagonistic to the interest therein of the relevant party to the first proceeding and (2) the interest of both in the answer to be given to the particular question in issue in the first proceeding is identical There may be other cases covered by the first proviso; but if both the above conditions are fulfilled, the relevant party to the first proceeding in fact represent in the first proceeding the relevant party to the second proceeding in regard to his interest in relation to the particular question in issue in the first proceeding, and may grammatically and truthfully be described as a representative in interest of the party to the second proceeding What the first proviso aims at securing is that the evidence shall not be admitted unless the person who tested, or had the opportunity of testing, the evidence by cross examination either is himself or represented the interests of, the party to the latter proceeding against whom the evidence is tendered i e that he was (in the latter case), in effect, fighting that person s battle as well as his own Where a party to the second proceedings were not himself a party to the first proceeding the admissibility of the evidence in favour of such a party must be tested by its admissibility if tendered against him If not admissible against him it cannot be admissible in his favour Krishnayya v Venkata, A I R 1933 P C 202 = 60 I A 336 = 1933 P L J 1039 = 38 L W 409 = 1933 M W N 191 = 38 C W N 1 = 35 Bom L R 1076 = 58 C L J 305 = 65 M L J 479

S 33 (p 629) The accused has a right to cross examine a prosecution witness before the charge is framed against him and if he has failed to do so not only had he opportunity but he had the right of cross examining the witness and the action of the Court in treating the evidence of any such witness under s 33 is justified when it is found impossible to produce him for further cross examination under the provisions of s 256 Cr Pro Code Gurudin v Emperor, A I R 1935 Nag 8

S 33 (p 629) Actual cross examination by adverse party is not necessary, it is enough if there was opportunity to cross examine Gouri Dutta v Dowring A I R 1934 Pat 413 = 151 Ind Cas 683

S 34 (p 638) Entries in account books by the agent of a party are irrelevant against the party under this section Nanilal v Nutbehari Das, 38 C W N 861

S 34 (p 638) A day book which has been entered after four months from the happening of an event and the rough notes of which are available is not a document which can be held to have been kept in the regular course of business These remarks apply a fortiori to ledger which is prepared from such a day book Arjan Singh v Sirjan Singh A I R 1935 Pesh 44 see also Nanilal Dis v Nutbehari Das, 38 C W N 861 Nanak Chand v Parameshri Das 35 P L R 539

S 35 (p 65) Guardianship certificate does not fall under this section Naina v Basant A I R 1934 All 406 (F B) 1934 A L J 318

S 35 (p 651) Entry as to age in school register based on statement by father since deceased is admissible under ss 35 and 32 (5) Latafat v Onkar Mal A I R 1935 Oudh 41 = 152 Ind Cas 1042 = 11 O W N 1589, see also Las Baba v Government of Mysore 12 Mys L J 133 = 39 Mys H C R 406 Liladhar v Mabibi A I R 1934 Nag 44 = 16 N L J 232 = 149 Ind Cas 660

S 35 (p 651) Municipal register is admissible under section Ju Bhagwan v Guttoo, 11 O W N 410 = A I R 1934 Oudh 67

S 35 (p 6) The words an entry the opinions of public officer based on or made before them in the course of enqui Code Ghanayi v Mehleb A I 1934 Lah 890

S 35 (p 651) The very wording of s 3 conveys the idea of a duty imposed upon the matter of the entry by law or his official position to record the information he possesses or has gathered in an official document of the nature described therein It further imports that the entry will be of a permanent nature Ghulam v Sunandar A I R 1936 Lah 37

S 35 (p 651) Entries as to age in vaccination and school register vide Superintendent v Forhad A I R 1934 Cal 766

S 35 (653) The Khasra Girda vars are public documents and admissible under s 35 Mohammad Din v Fateh Din A I R 1934 Lah 698 = 35 P L R 725 = 153 Ind Cas 209 = 1934 Cr C 1010

S 35 (p 653) The documents consisting of mere opinions expressed in secretarial correspondance which passed between various officers of the Government who had held no personal enquiries in the matter are admissible in evidence Ghulam Mohammad v Samundar Khan, A I R 1936 Lah 37

S 35 (p 654) A certificate of birth of a person is evidence and conclusive evidence of his age unless disproved by the evidence of the witness of the party denying correctness of it Nanhak v Baijnath, A I R 1935 Pat 474 = 16 P L T 629

S 35 (p 654) Public servant need not be compelled by legislative enactment to discharge duty of preparing or keeping document Phakkar v Progji, A I R 1935 Oudh 268 = 1935 O W N 321 = 154 Ind Cas 575 = 1935 O L R 176

S 35 (p 657) The entries in the riwajiam owe their weight to the principle originally laid down in English law which received statutory recognition in s 35 Evidence Act The principle is that statements made by a public officer should be receivable in evidence because it is his duty to satisfy himself of the truth of the statements made If the officer himself is not satisfied of the truth of the statements made such statements have less weight than they otherwise would Sukh Devi v Faquir Singh, A I R 1935 Lah 434

S 35 (p 658) Butwara record is not conclusive evidence It is weak evidence of title Charan v Ramani, 60 C 302 = 38 C W N 268 = A I R 1934 Cal 488

S 35 (p 658) As regards admission vide Narasayya v Veerayya, 40 L W 810

S 35 (p 660) The Khara Girdadavaris are public documents Mahamed v Fateh, 151 Ind Cas 786 = 35 P L R 405 = A I R 1934 Lah 698.

S 35 (p 660) An entry in the first information report is admissible under s 35 of the Act Babu v Government of Mysore, 11 Mys L J 475 = 39 Mys H C R 75

S 35 (p 660) The Khasra parmash is not a record of title but a mere record of survey and carries with it no presumption of correctness so far as the question of ownership is concerned Kartar Singh v Mehr Nishan, A I R 1934 Lah 885

S 35 (p 660) As regards value of entries in survey record Kumar Kamakhya v Abhim Singh, 13 Pat 589 = 39 C W N 41 = 150 Ind Cas 807 = 11 O W N 1025 = 1934 A L J 793 = 1934 M W N 870 = 15 Pat L T 555 = 40 L W 342 = 60 C L J 153 = A I R 1934 P C 182 = 64 M L J 450 (P C)

S 36 (p 666) Thak maps are good evidence of the state of things at the date of the Permanent Settlement in the absence of evidence to the contrary Kumar Raj v Barbani coal, A I R 1935 Cal 366 = 62 C 316 = 60 C 477

S 40 (p 682) Vide Hridayanath v Probodh chandra, A I R 1933 Cal 923 = 37 C W N 1148 = 60 C 1171 = 57 C L J 549, Ramparekha v Ram Jhari, A I R 1933 Pat 690

S 41 (p 690) A judgment in heirship proceeding is not a judgment in rem in a matrimonial Court which would be binding under s 41 Evidence Act Bajaza v Parvatleva, 144 Ind Cas 442 = 35 Bom L R 118 = A I R 1933 Bom 126

S 41 (p 693) A decree under s 42 Specific Relief Act but not in exercise of matrimonial jurisdiction is not a judgment in rem Khambata v Khambata, 6 Bom L R 1021

S 41 (p 694) A judgment in Insolvency proceeding is a judgment in rem Bansiram v Firm Ananda Ram, A I R 1935 Pat 273,

S 41 (p 695) An order in lunacy proceeding, vide Subba Naicker v Solaippa, 56 M 904 = 1933 M W N 514 = A I R 1933 Mad 624 = 65 M L J 279

S 42 (p 699) A judgment relating to wakf property is a judgment of a public nature Misbahuddin v Vidyasagar, 36 P L R 106

S 42 (p 700) Judgment in which existence of usage has been judicially recognised is admissible but is not conclusive proof Ragunath v Rampertab, A I R 1935 Sind 38

S 43 (p 704) Previous judgment in main suit becomes relevant in objection proceedings in execution of decree Vednatu v Mahomed, A I. R. 1934 Rang 212 = 154 Ind Cas 123

SS 43, 11, 13 (p 704) Previous judgment not inter partes though does not operate as res judicata is admissible in evidence for limited purpose but not for discussing basis of its decision Hemchandra v Purnachandra, 59 C L J 320 = A I R 1934 Cal. 788 = A L R 1934 Cal 653

S 44 (p 705) S 44 has no application to proceedings under s 73 C P Code It is only decrees under ss 40, 41, and 42, Evidence Act, which are referred to in s 44, Evidence Act, and such decrees have no application in execution proceedings Biswambhor v Aparna, A I R 1935 Cal 290 = 39 C W N 490

S 44 (p 705) Vide Keshavlal v Amarchand, A I R 1933 Bom 398 = 35 Bom L R 630 = 57 B 456

S 44 (p 705). S 44 has no application to proceedings under s 73 C P Code It is only decrees under ss 40, 41, 42, Evidence Act, which are referred to in s 44, Evidence Act, and such decrees have no application in execution proceedings Biswambar v Aparna, A I R 1935 Cal 290 = 39 C W N 490

S 44 (p 742) Orders issued by Courts without authority is not binding on another Court Keshablal v Amarchand, A I R 1933 Bom 398 = 35 Bom L R 630 = 57 B 456

S 45 (p 734) A Court is not to surrender his own opinion to that of experts who are called before it, but with such help as the experts can afford the Court must form his own opinion on the subject in hand In the matter of an Advocate, A I R 1935 Rang 178

S 45 (p 735) Report of expert by itself is not evidence Expert should be produced in Court and his evidence should be tested by cross examination Bhoore Singh v Karan Singh, A I R 1935 All 142 = 1935 A W R 76

S 45 (p 735) In case of expert opinion basis of expert s opinion should be put before court Tilli v Alfred, 1934 A L J 1129 = A I R 1934 All 27

S 45 (p 742) As regards value of evidence of interpreters of Hindu law, Vide Sabitri v F A Savi, 12 Pat 359 = 14 Pat L T Sub I = A I R 1933 Pat 306

S 45 (p. 743). Doctor s opinion as regards age is not entitled to more weight than that of any other person Nasrullah v Emperor, A I R 1934 Oudh 32 = O W N 1274

S 45 (p 746) Judge should not take upon himself the duties of hand writing expert or form opinion about genuineness in privacy of his chamber. Barkat Ali v Kirtar Singh A I R 1935 Lah 555 = 156 Ind Cas 253. Objection in revision is not competent Karam Din v Ata, A I R 1934 Lah 230

S 45 (p 753) The evidence of handwriting expert has often found to to be faulty bu so far as finger prints are concerned it has never so far been found that two finger prints can be identical in all respects Hence where the execution of an entry is proved by evidence of thumb impression experts, the burden of proving want of consideration is on the executant Ganga Sahai v Molar, A I R 1935 Lah 147

S 45 (p 753) Evidence of expert that one document has been typed on same machine as another is not admissible, Court must come to its own conclusion on such point Bacha Babu v Emperor A I R 1935 All 162, see also Jhabwala v Emperor, 1933 A L J 799=34 Cr L J 957=A I R 1933 All 690, Manibendra v Emperor, A I R 1933 All 498

S 45. (p 754) Where a marriage is attacked on the grounds of non-observance of ceremonies, the Court is not bound to accept the opinion of a religious expert however high his position may be placed in church Titli v. Alfred, 56 A 428=1934 A L J 1129=A I R 1934 All 273

S 45 (p 756) The Imperial Geologist is a highly responsible officer and a duly qualified scientist who would never venture to give any definite opinion on a question unless he has the fullest scientific data in support of his conclusion His opinion therefore is entitled to great weight. Ghirrao v Emperor, A I R 1933 Oudh 265=34 Cr L J 1009=145 Ind Cas 470

S 47 (p 762) Where the only witness was examined to prove a particular letter to be in the handwriting of the accused stated "I have no writing of H with me I have no correspondence with him From a single letter I would not be able to identify the handwriting of any person I was not particularly friendly with H Held that the evidence was hardly sufficient under s 47 to prove that the letter was in the hand writing of H Hemraj Lodhi v Ramcharan Lodhi A I R 1934 Nag 204=1934 Cr C 898

S 47 (p 762) Where the fact to be proved is a signature and a witness merely says that the signature is of the person concerned there is no proper evidence of the facts required to be proved under section 47 Surendra Krishna v Mirza Mahamad, 40 C W N 226 (P C)

S 4 (p 762) A finding of the lower Court to the effect that a person unable to read and write certain characters could prove the handwriting of another person in those characters because he had the occasion to see the latter write, cannot be questioned in second appeal because, though such a thing is rare, is not impossible Ram Chandra v Jaith Mall, A I R 1934 All 990=4 A W R 676

S 47 (p 769) Statement by another in writing with regard to partnership cannot be proved different person. In the Matter, of B, A I R 1935 All 1023=1935 A W R 1229

S. 48 (p 773) A living witness may state his opinion on the existence of a family custom and may state as grounds thereof information derived from deceased person, but it must be the expression of independent opinion based on hearsay and not repetition of hearsay The weight of the evidence would depend on the position and character of the witness, and of the persons on whose statements he has formed his opinion However, evidence, oral or documentary as to statements of a deceased person as to the custom in a family is not admissible if it appears that such statement were made after a controversy as to the custom had arisen Amina Khatun v Khalilurrahman A I R 1933 Oudh 246=8 Luck 445=10 O W N 268.

S 48 (p 773) Value and sufficiency of expert evidence cannot be questioned on second appeal Jafar Beg v. Ujagar Lal A I R 1935 All 501

S 50 (p 778) Statement of witness as to relationship between two persons can be admissible only under s 32 (5) or s 50 Chunna v. Mukat, 151 Ind Cas. 338 = A I R 1934 All 117

S 51 (p 784) No doubt the Excise Sub Inspector is an expert in his ow ... ut the Court should under s ... based Ram Karan Singh vi ...

S 51. (p 784) It is not enough for the chemical examiner merely to state his opinion He must state the grounds on which he arrives at that opinion As the chemical examiner merely tenders a report and he does not appear and give evidence, it is extremely desirable that his report should be full and complete and take the place of evidence which he would give if he were called to Court as a witness Gajram v Emperor A I R 1934 All 394 = 144 Ind Cas 357 = 34 Cr L J 754 = 1933 Cr C 664

S 54. (p 802) Evidence of previous conviction cannot be admitted during trial It cannot also be referred to by Judge while addressing jury Bhura Singh v Emperor, A I R 1935 Sind 115

S 58 (p 8 o) Inspite of waiver of proof by an admission under s 58 Evidence Act, a note or other instrument insufficiently stamped cannot be acted upon or decree given upon it Alipati v. Yasiraddi, A. I R 1933 Mad 17 = 64 L J 79 = 37 L W 157 = 1933 M W N 663

S 58 (p 840) While s 58, can be invoked when the documentary evi dence about the admitted facts is shut out by p ovisions made in purely revenue laws, it cannot be invoked to overrule the provisions of non revenue enactments, nor can it be used to bind the party who has made an admission of the genuineness of a document, when such admission is accompanied by a legal plea that the contract and the other facts mentioned in that document could not be relied upon by the opposite party owing to the provisions of the statutory laws relating to registration or attestation Bashehar Nath v Mian Feroz Sha, A I R 1935 Pesh 12

S 60 (p 868) Hearsay evidence is excluded Annamuthu v Emperor, 1933 M W N 1424

Ss 60 48 (p 869) Person who holds an opinion should be cited as a witness Amini v, Khalil, A I. R 1933 Oudh 246

S 60 (p 869) The value of evidence depends upon the character of the person who deposes Mulchand v Demgir A I R 1933 Sind, 213

S. 60 (p 869) The fact that a person is a habitual offender may in view ... neral repute or otherwise ... the rule against receipt ... idence Act Raghubar v Emperor A I R 1934 All 735

S 65. (p 887) Where secondary evidence of the contents of a deed are led without objection by the other party objection cannot be raised in second appeal Umeruddin v Ghulam Mohammad A I R 193 Lah 628

Ss 65, 66 (p 894) The only purpose of a notice under section 65 and 66 of the Evidence Act is to give the party an opportunity by producing the original to secure if he pleases the best evidence of the contents and under section 66 the Court has absolute power when it thinks fit to dispense with a notice under these sections Surendra Krishna v Mirza Mohammad 40 C W N 216 = A I R 1936 P C 15, see also Jhabvala v Emperor A I R 1933 All 690.

S 65 (p 899) Where a Will has not been seen for a long period of time, a statement by a person in whose custody it is alleged to have been given, that it is not with him and never was, is sufficient evidence of loss to satisfy s 65 Kunwar Basant v Kunwar Brij Raj, 39 C W N 1057

Ss 65, 90 (p 902) Where mortgage was admitted in wajib u larz more than 30 years old and signed by another for mortgage s 90 applies and mortgage can be proved by certified copy Bhairon Prosad v Abalak, 148 Ind Cas 1972 = A I R 1934 All 529

S 66 (p 915) The identity of the machine on which two have been type written would not by itself show that the writer of the two is one and the same person But such a conclusion may be drawn from additional evidence e g internal evidence afforded by the document, or external circumstances, or the continuity of the correspondence passing between the sender and the addressee Jhabwala v Emperor 145 Ind Cas 481 = 34 Cr L J 967 = 1933 A L J 799 = A I R 1933 All 690

S 67 (p 914) Thumb marks are not exempt from provisions of s 67 Ramamanamma v Basarayya, A I R 1935 Mad 558 = 40 M L W 277 = 1934 M W N 443 = 151 Ind Cas 990

S 67 (p 914) S 67 is not restricted to proof of handwriting of executant alone Ponnuswami v Kalyan Sundara, A I R 1935 Mad 365 = 57 M 662 = 66 M L J 712 = 149 Ind Cas 257 = 39 M L W 571 = 1934 M W N 38

S 67 (p 915) The meaning of the term "sign" is different from one as defined in s 3 of the General Clauses Act Shazadi v Beni, A I R 1934 All 390

S 68 (p 921) If signature of attesting witness is proved, everything on face of document is proved Ponnuswami v Kalyan Sundaram A I R 1935 Mad 365 = 57 M 662 = 66 M L J 712 = 149 Ind Cas 257 = 1934 M W N 384

S 68 (p 932) In a case where attestation according to law is specifically denied but the signing of the document required to be attested is not so denied it is necessary to call atleast one attesting witness to prove execution under s 70 of the Evidence Act Ebrahan Mandal v Akshoy Konor, 40 C W N 151, see also Azizun nisa v Siraj Husain, 1934 A L J 817 = 152 Ind Cas 146 = A I R 1934 All 507

S 68 (p 932) Where execution of mortgage was not specifically denied, marginal witness need not be called Jhillar v Rajnarain, A I R 1935 All 781 = 156 Ind Cas 45, see also Gobinda v Chanan Singh, A I R 1933 Lah 378; Desai v Sheo Deo 17 R D 70

S 68 (p 932) Proviso does not dispense with proof of mortgage Kartar v Didar, A I R 1934 Lah 282 = 149 Ind Cas 1109

S 69 (p 935) Where witness says that the executant signed his name in the mortgage deed in my presence and in the presence of the attesting witnesses and also identifies their signatures but did not say that the attesting witnesses signed in his presence, the requirements of section 69 have been fulfilled Bhairon Singh v Ganga Narayan, A I R 1935 All 527

S 73 (p 947) There is considerable doubt as to whether s 73 refers to an accused person at all Kishore v Emperor, A I R 1935 Cal 308 = 39 C W N 936

S 73 (p 947) A magistrate making an enquiry before commitment has no power under s 73 to ask another magistrate to direct an accused person to make a specimen signature for comparison with other writings Kishor v Emperor, A I R 1935 Cal 308 = 39 C W N 985

S 73 (p 949) Standard writing must be proved to be in alleged writer's handwriting Comparison is hazardous proof When made by stranger to subject and without guidance from experts or arguments of Counsel Lafat v Onkar, A I R 1936 Oudh 41 = 152 Ind Cas 1042 = 1934 O L R 922 = 11 O W N 1589

S 74 (p 953) Education officers of a Government are public officers Las Babu v Government of Mysore, 12 Mys L J 133

S 74 (p 955) Certified copies of deposition are admissible Karapaji v Mayandi A I R 1933 Rang 212

S 74 (p 957) A certified copy of the pedigree given in the Khewat of village is admissible in evidence Sheo Shankar v Mt Ram Dei A I R 1935 Oudh 231 = 1935 O W N 162 = 1935 O L R 119

S 74 (p 957) Certified copies of confession are admissible Mahamed v Emperor, 1933 A L J 1551 (F B)

S 80 (p 968) Certified copies of confession are admissible to prove act of Magistrate recording it Mohammad Ali v Emperor A I R 1934 All 81 (F B) = 1933 A L J 1551 (F B)

S 80 (p 969) Dying declaration before Magistrate recorded by him is inadmissible in evidence without calling Magistrate as a witness Suraj Bali v Emperor A I R 1934 All 340

S 83 (p 978) Entry in cadastral survey map has presumptive value against landlord of neighbouring estate Radha Kishun v Shyam Das A I R 1933 Pat 671

S 87 (p 983) Maps prepared by Revenue authorities after due inquiry are presumed to be correct Tarak Das v Secy of State A I R 1935 P C 125

S 90 (p 988) In the case of documents purporting or proved to be 30 years old and produced from proper custody s 90 allows the Court to presume that the signature and every other part of such documents which purport to be in the handwriting of any particular person is in that person's handwriting and in the case of a document executed or attested that it was duly executed and attested by the persons by whom it purports to be executed and attested, under the General Clauses Act (10 of 1897) the word sign includes mark with reference to a person who is unable to write his name S 90 makes no provision for any presumption in regard to seals nor can a seal be regarded as a signature under the definition contained in the General Clauses Act Special Manager v Tribeni Prosad A I R 1935 Oudh 289 = 1935 O W N 387 = 1935 O L R 217 = 154 Ind Cas 965, see also Nilima v Johorlal 38 C W N 753

S 90 (p 988) When a sale has been made nearly 30 years before the suit is brought and all the parties to the transaction have died it is impossible to expect full and detailed evidence of all the circumstances that gave rise to the transaction and presumptions are permissible to fill in the details which have obliterated by time Bibhutiji v Ratanlal A I R 1934 Nag 106 – 30 N L R 192

S 90 (p 989) Under s 90 of the Evidence Act the period of 30 years is to be reckoned not from the date upon which the deed is filed in Court but from the date on which it having been tendered in evidence its genuineness or otherwise becomes the subject of proof Surendra Krishna v Mirza Mahammad 40 C W N 226

S 90 (p 989) Recitals in a deed of alienation thirty years old by a limited owner stating legal necessity can be relied on in the absence of any evidence either for or against such necessity Krishna Ayyar v Mattu Lakshmi Ammal A I R 1931 Mad 169 = 65 M L J 342 = 39 M L W 701 = 150 Ind Cas 1137

S 90 (p 989) Period of 30 years is to be reckoned from date on which document is tendered in evidence and not date of filing it Surendra v Mirza Mahammed A I R 1936 P C 15

S 90 (p 991) Under s 90, what the Court may presume is that the signature and every other part of such document which purports to be in the handwriting is in that person's handwriting In the case of imaginary persons like Imams there can be no question of signature and handwriting and an attempt to apply to such documents as Imamiletters is never futile Mansoor li v Taiyabali A I R 1935 Nag 150

S 90 (p 991) Where document was written by licensed stamp vendor 55 years ago and comes from proper custody, benefit of s 90 can be claimed A I R 1934 Lah 685 = 35 P L R 661 - 153 Ind Cas 23

S 90 (p 993) Section 90 requires the production to the Court of the particular document in regard to which the Court may make the statutory presumption Production of a copy is not sufficient to justify the presumption of execution of the original If the document produced is a copy admitted under s. 65 as secondary evidence and it is produced from proper custody and is over thirty years old then the signature authenticating the copy may be presumed to be genuine Basanti Sinh v Brij Raj, 39 C W N 1057

S 90 (p 993) The presumption under s 90 in regard to documents thirty years old arises in the case of copies as well as of originals G r Har saroof v Bhagwandin A I R 1935 Oudh 96 11 O W N 1435 = 1934 O L R. 890 = 152 Ind Cas 861

S 90 (p 998) Presumption as to due and execution and attestation arises even to copies when copy is true copy of the original Shri Gopi Nath v M u Chitra, A I R 1934 Nag 67 = 30 N L R 155

S 90 (p 994) The words "duly executed and attested" signify execution and attestation as prescribed by law Rajeshar v Har Kissin, A I R 1933 Oudh 170 = 10 O W N 147

S 90 (p 996) Ordinarily an appellate Court would be slow to interfere with the discretion exercised by the lower Court in the matter of raising presumption under s 90 but the discretion allowed by the section is a judicial discre[illegible] l principles and after due regard to [illegible] Minager v Tribeni Prosad A I [illegible] 1935 O L R 217 = 154 Ind Cas 965, see also Gir Har Saroof v Bhagwandin A I R 1935 Oudh 96 = 11 O W N 1435 = 1934 O L R 890 = 152 Ind Cas 861 Radha Kishun v Basdeo A I R 1935 Oudh 482 156 Ind Cas 990 = 1935 O W N 842 = 1935 O L R 454

S 91 (p 1002) Section 91 lays down that the terms of contract or of an agreement or of the disposition of property may not be established by oral evidence when they have been reduced to the form of a document but it does not say that no other evidence may be given of facts set forth in the recitals in a document Bhirgu v Gaya Prasad, A I R Oudh 57

S 91 (p 1002) Where the relationship of the parties was determined by the terms of the lease and these are embodied in the said document oral evidence to prove these terms was barred by s 91 Mohammad v Saroda A I R 1934 Lah 743 = 148 Ind Cas 558

S 91 (p 1002) Production of oral evidence to prove terms of written contract is barred S han v Raghu A I R 1934 Lah 606 = 153 Ind Cas 1076, but see Aimna v Lakhmi, A I R 1934 Lah 705

S 91 (p 1002) Document not admissible to prove terms can not be used to show that it contains all terms of contract Datto Shivram v Baba Saheb, A I R 1934 Bom 149 = 36 Bom L R 859 = 58 B 419

S. 91 (p 1002) The term "in proof of such matter" must carry with it the term "in disproof of it" because if evidence were to be admitted on one side, it would have to be admitted on the other Rambohar v Chatur Ghun Rai, A I R 1935 All 58

S 91 (p 1002) Where a contract is signed by one person evidence to show that another is also a party to it or is bound by it is admissible Muni swami v Thandu varaja, A I R 1935 Mad 5 = 1935 M W N 1084

SS 91, 92 (p 1002) Oral evidence to prove separate contemporaneous agreement that amount mentioned will not be paid is not admissible Mohammad Taki v Jang Singh, A I R 1935 All 529 = 1935 A L J 560 (F B)

SS 91, 92 (p 1002) The acknowledgment of receipt of the whole or part of the sale consideration in a deed of sale is not a term of the deed of sale and oral evidence may be given to show that the amount acknowledged or any part of it was not received Taki v Jang Singh, 1935 A L J 560 = A I. R 1935 All 529 (F B), see also Hukum v Shambhu, 1935 A L J 54 = A I R 1935 All 346 But the amount of sale consideration is a term of deed of sale, when the terms of a deed of sale have been proved according to s 91 of the Act, no evidence of any oral agreement or statement shall be admitted as between the parties to the deed of sale or their representatives for the purpose of contradicting, varying, adding to, or subtracting from the amount of sale consideration Moham Taki v Jang Singh, A I R 1935 All 29 (F B)

S 91 (p 1002) Although a document is inadmissible for the purpose of proving a claim, it may be admissible for a collateral purpose, that is, a purpose foreign and not subordinate to the purpose, for which document was executed Tribhuban Ojha v Ramchandra, A I R 1935 Pat 375 14 Pat 233 = 16 P L T 475

SS 91, 92 (p 1003) Where one party tenders oral evidence to prove that the amount acknowledged or any part of it was not received, this does not give the other party a right to produce evidence of any oral agreement or statement that the amount of sale consideration was less than what is entered in the deed of sale Mohammad Taki v Jang Singh A I R 1935 All 529 (F B) = 1935 A L J 560 (F B)

S 91 (p 1004) If there is a document evidencing the contract between the parties then that and that alone is the repository of the terms of the contract between the parties and all else reduced to silence U Sin v U Tun A I R 1935 Rang 473

S 91 (p 006) Evidence of the contents of a document inadmissible for want of registration cannot be given Nantulli v Safia, A I R 1935 Bom 208 37 Bom L R 82, but see Sidamma v Chennabarappa, 12 Mys L J 236

S 91 (p 1006) Even where the loan is not antecedent to or independent of the bill but is contemporaneous with it, the lender when the note turns out to be invalid can fall upon the original contract express or implied arising from the loan The effect of s 91 is merely to provide that the contract embodied in the bill shall be proved by the bill itself, but that does not mean or imply that the bill has either destroyed or superseded the original right, for to hold that it does, would amount to holding that the rule of evidence overrides a well settled principle of substantive law, viz, that a negotiable instrument operates only as a conditional discharge The bill can be treated only as a contract but not having the effect of superseding the original right Chinnaji v Srinivasa, A I R 1935 Mad 206 = 67 M L J. 912, see also Ganesh Prosad v Bechu Singh, 147 Ind Cas 443 = A I R 1934 All 271, Ma Ung Chit v Roshan, A I R 1934 Rang 389 = 12 Rang

500 = 512 (Ind Cas 1038 but see Mirza Murad v Shipley A I R 1934 All 837 = 151 Ind Cas 123, Gulari v Fasihunnissa, 1934 A L J 1185, Chockalingam v Palaniappa 67 M L J 595

S 91 (p 1006) Where deed is clear and unambiguous oral evidence is not admissible Sujjatnand v Gobind A I R 1934 All 100, see also Allah v Punjab Bank A I R 1934 Lah 181 35 P L R 200

SS 91, 92 (p 1011) Mortgagor can prove by parol evidence that money sought to have been borrowed has not actually been borrowed Mohammad Jaki v Jang Singh A I R 1935 All 529 = 1935 A L J 560 (F B)

S 92 (p 1011) Courts are empowered to go behind the apparent terms of a registered document and to hold that what purports to be a mortgage with possession can by the subsequent conduct and intention of the parties be shown to be in fact not a mortgage with possession but contract merely by hypothecating land by way of collateral security Gopichand v Mahammad Umar A I R 1935 Pesh 176

S 92 (p 1022) For admissibility of oral agreement to vary etc, terms of written contract law must be ascertained only from the section Mahesh Chandra v Ananda Chandra 61 C 344 = A I R 1934 Cal 564

S 92 (p 1023) The Court in considering whether oral evidence can be given or not has to look to the Evidence Act and the equitable consideration which has influenced the English Courts in like cases have no application in this country Khunaji v Damaji 148 Ind Cas 269 = 35 Bom L R 1197 = A I R 1934 Bom 39

S 92 (p 1024) It is doubtful whether evidence is admissible in the case of consent decree to explain the ambiguity K P Ganapatty v K P Subramaniya A I R 1933 Mad 516 144 Ind Cas 95

S 92 (p 1024) A decree is an adjudication by a Court of the rights of the parties litigating before it it is not an act of the parties but an act of the Court and derives its binding force and validity from the authority of the Court and not from any agreement or contract between the parties Hence a decree or its terms cannot be varied or modified except by the Court it is a matter of procedure and not rules of evidence The parties can not by their agreement alone vary or modify the terms of the decree whether the agreement be oral or written Section 92 therefore has no application to decrees Adippa Papamma v Dasbha Venkaya A I R 1935 Mad 860 1935 M W N 685 = 42 M L W 365

S 92 (p 1024) Where the judgment debtor pleads that the decree-holder has accepted a smaller sum that was due to him under the decree in full satisfaction of it s 92 Evidence Act does not bar him from proving such adjustment under order 21 rule 2 C P Code by oral evidence Kamakshi v Thangamathu, A I R 1936 Mad 424 = 1935 M W N 335

S 92 (p 1024) Oral evidence to prove an agreement to take less than what is due under a promissory note is not admissible Ma Ou Baw v V E P R Chattyare A I R 1935 Rang 188

S 92 (p 1024) Oral evidence as to real nature of consideration is admissible Gangaram v Malik Nur A I R 1935 Sind 48 = 28 S L R 266 = 153 Ind Cas 635

S 92 (p 1024) Section 92 is no bar to consider question as to what extent consideration is absent under s 44 Negotiable Instruments Act Bala Subramani v Venkatarama, A I R 1935 Mad 253 = 67 M L J 650 = 40 M L J 706

S 92 (p 1028) Persons not party to a sale deed can let in oral evidence to establish that it was not executed with knowledge and consent of another as mentioned in sale deed Maung Hyame v Maung Aung, A I R 1935 Rang 122

S 92 (p 1028) Agreement not to execute the decree against a particular judgment debtor does not vary its terms The agreement pleaded is not one to which all the parties to the decree are parties but only some of them and s 92 does not apply Adippi Papamma v Dibbha Venkiya, A I R 1935 Mad 860 = 1935 M W N 685 = 42 L W 365

S 92 (p 1029) Section 92 excludes admission of any oral agreement or statement between the parties to the agreement Basiant v Abasalli, 150 Ind Cas 635 = 36 Bom L R 158 = A I R 1934 Bom 145

S 92 (p 1031) Executant of p omissory note cannot prove that as be tween promisee and him, he is only surety Venkata v Karnadan, A I R 1935 Mad 643 = 1935 M W N 525 = 42 M L W 24 156 Ind Cas 827, see also Khunji v Damaji, A I R 1934 Bom 39 = 35 Bom L R 1197 = 148 Ind Cas 260

S 92 (4) (p 1031) Contract to release between mortgagee and stranger need not be in writing and registered It can be oral Manuswami v Gobindaraja, A I R 1935 Mad 113 = 40 M L W 942 = 153 Ind Cas 668

S 92 (p 1033) Rate of interest and time and mode of repayment of principal are essential p rts of mortgage deed Verbal agreement making change in these terms must be excluded Maung Bi v Nimsram, A I R 1934 Rang 316 = 13 Rang 22 = 154 Rang 189

S 92 (p 1034) Where mortgage is alleged to be modified by subsequent verbal arrangement, such subsequent verbal agreement cannot be proved Kamta Singh v Chaturbhuj, A I R 1935 P C 98 = 11 O W N 481 = 13 Pat 310 = 15 P L T 169 = 61 I A 185 = 18 C W N 575 36 Bom L R 541 = 1914 A L J 462 = 1934 O L R 371 (P C)

S 92 (p 1035) Oral evidence is not admissible to prove intention of the executant of a document under s 92 Ma Shin v Ma Thin Kyi, A I R 1934 Rang 129 = 150 Ind Cas 966

S. 92 (p 041) Where a sanad regarding a property is based upon a letter of the Legal Remembrancer, the intention of the sanad can be interpreted from the letter, where only an extract of the sanad is available and not the sanad Basvant v Abisalli, 150 Ind Cas 635 36 Bom L R 158 = A I R 1934 Bom 145

S 92 (p 1041) Oral evidence is competent to show the real consideration at the basis of the promise made by the obligor to pay the amount mentioned in the deed Gangaram v Maluk, 28 S L R 266

S 92 (p 1041) Oral statements intended to vary the terms of a warrant required by law to be in writing are not admissible Emperor v Subramania A I R 1935 Mad 648 = 1934 M W N 1170 = 68 M L J 421 = 41 M L W 679 155 Ind Cas 496

S 92 (3) (p 1041) Though s 120 Negotiable Instruments Act precludes the maker of a promissory note from denying the validity of the note, where money is not advanced as a single loan unconditionally upon the promissory note but is advanced after the note had been executed and on certain conditions previously agreed upon the promisor is entitled to prove circumstances in repudiation of his liability Bichan Singh v Dhiran Arti Bank 143 Ind Cas 348 = 34 P L R 470 = A I R 1933 Lah 456

S 92 (p 1041) Oral evidence can be given to show what the oral consi deration was for th· Kabuliyat. Kumar Raj v Barbani Coal, A I R 1935 Cal 368 = 62 C 346 = 60 C L J 477

S 92 (p 1041) Where a renewed promissory note has been executed in consideration of a prior promissory note, the executant can show by oral evidence that a part of the debts of the prior promissory note was paid Section 92 does not bar the admissibility of such evidence Bola Subramania v. Venkatarama, 40 L W 706 = 1934 M W N 1382 = 67 M L J 650

S 92 (p 1041) A mortgagee with deposit of title deeds was acting as an agent of his mortgagor in arranging a loan for the mortgagor At the same time he was also acting as agent of the mortgagee . but as agent of the mortgagor he sent a letter to the mortgagor containing the scope of the security and the terms Held that the document was not the bargain between the parties to the mortgage subsequently effected but only one sent by agent of the mortgagor , that it did not require registration and that extraneous evidence was admissible to prove the scope of the security Villa v Petty, A I R 1934 Rang 51 = 148 Ind Cas 721

S 92 (p 1041) Where a tenant of an occupancy holding executed a lease by means of a patti which was registered under s 45 H Held the landlord was not precluded by s 92 Evidence Act, from giving evidence to show that the real transaction was not a lease but a sale, the landlord not being a party to the deed Troilokya v Jajneswar, A I R 1934 Cal. 821 = 38 C W N 1004 = 152 Ind Cas 933

S 92 (p 1041) The recital in a bond or in a pronote that consideration has passed amounts only to an admission, and it is open to the party whose admission it is to prove that his own admission is in fact incorrect but the burden of proof lies on him Ganga Dewar v Tilok Dhari, A I R 1934 All 496 = 148 Ind Cas 1124

S 92 (p 1041) Evidence to prove that there was no consideration for a promissory note is not debarred by this section Ram Jash v Markanda, 4 A W. R 964 = A I R 1934 All 1068

S (p 1050) Where compound interest payable under deed, oral agreement that stipulation will not be enforced cannot be proved Mahesh Chandra v, Aanada Chandra, 61 C 344 = A I R 1934 Cal 564

S 92 (p 1050) Where after execution of mortgage of sir land equity of redemption was also sold evidence of a separate agreement to give up ex proprietary right cannot be given Partap v Bechan 14 L R 425 (Rev) = 17 R D 800

S, 92 (p 1050) Where promissory note fails for non cancellation of stamp, the plaintiff cannot fall back upon the original loan Ma Shwe v Deva Hhaw, A. I R 1933 Rang 161 = 145 Ind Cas 378

S 92 (p 1050) Where the document purports to be a possessory mortgage, evidence to show that the mortgage was in reality a simple mortgage according to the intention of the parties is inadmissable under s 92 K S Mian Feroz Sha v Sobhat Khan, 60 I A 273 = 65 M L J 150 (P C) = 14 L W. 466 = A I R 1933 P C 178 = 37 C W N 993 = 35 Bom L R 877 = 1933 A L J 1193 = 143 Ind Cas 659 (P C) = 1933 M W N 755

S 92, proviso 1 (p 1051) There is a distinction between the case where the plea is taken that an agreement the terms of which had been embodied in a written instrument was not intended to be acted upon ab initio and the case when the plea is that the terms had been varied by a contemporaneous or [illegible] oral evidence or indirect [illegible] the parties is admissible [illegible] to prove such intention. In the latter, no such evidence is admissible Satyendra Nath v Pramananda, 39 C W N 888

S 92 Proviso (1) (p 1504) Executant of a bond can adduce evidence that no consideration passed Ganga v Tilak A I R 1934 All 496, see also Ramjas v Markunda, A I R 1934 All 1068

S 92 (p 1068) Oral evidence that the real consideration for a promissory note was not payment of money as recited in the note but something different, namely, the construction of a sluice is admissible under s 92, proviso 3 Nima gudda v Adusumilli, A I R 1935 Mad 310 = 41 M L W 298

S. 92 (p 1070) The consideration for a lease is the rent to be paid and the payment of the atakasam a kind of premium or renewal fee paid by the tenant to the landlord, is clearly in the nature of a condition precedent, evidence as to which is permitted by proviso 3 s 92, Evidence Act Paniyib Kalliani v Valvar Tarwad, A I R 1935 Mad 190

S 92 (p 1070) Where the mortgagor intends to sell his property to the mortgagee there is nothing in law to prevent the parties from coming to a settlement, for the purpose of determining the amount of sale consideration, as to what is the amount of money which could be due to the mortgagee under the deed of mortgage accounts are taken on aforesaid basis Hari Krishna v Nazir Hasan, A I R 1934 Oudh 115 11 O W N 254 = 151 Ind Cas 531

S 92 (4) (p 1071) Where the claimant under the option of repur chase affirms the original transaction as a sale and merely seeks to enforce a ... s not to be treated as a mortgage by ... ey does not require registra ... ient no objection can arise under s 92, clause 4 Evidence Act as it does not seek to use it as to affect the provisions of the original deed Chinak kal v Chinnathambi, 152 Ind Cas 634 = A I R 1934 Mad 702 = 66 M L J 635 - 40 L W 646 = 1934 M W N 1122

S 92, Prov (4) (p 1071) A document purporting to be a sale deed was presented for registration The executant denied that he had executed a sale deed, and stated that he had merely agreed to execute a mort age deed After some discussion the parties agreed that the transaction should be entered as a mortgage and made statements to the Sub Registrar, who recorded the terms of the mortgage agreed to by the parties and registered the document as a mort gage deed Held that proviso (4) to s 92 did not prevent the successor in interest of the executant from proving that the transaction entered into between the parties was really a mortgage and not a ale, as he was not producing any evidence to prove any subsequent oral agreement to rescind or modify a contract which had been registered Ganga v Pnoga A I R 1933 Lah 318 = 145 Ind Cas 697

S 92 (4) (p 1071) Mortgage created jointly is inadmiss ble, hence any agreem nt between a co mortgagor and mortgagee in derogation of original contract is variation and therefore is inadmissible in evidence Ma Tin v Alagappa Chellyar, A I R. 1915 Rang 197

S 92 (4) (p 1071) Where executant orally agreed to pay in form of transfer of land instead of money agreement cannot be proved under s 92 (4) Nachiappa Chettiyar v Theivanai, A I R 1914 Rang 228 - 151 Ind Cas 398

S 92 (p 1083) This section does not preclude oral evidence to disprove that a note about presentation of petition is wrong Jiwan v Umar Din, A I R 1934 Lah 452 = 148 Ind Cas 209 = 15 Lah 694 = 36 P L R 525

S 93 (p 1092) Where meaning of terms of agreement is capable of being made certain having regard to conduct of parties, s 93 is no bar to the production of extrinsic evidence to show their meaning Gadula Ram v Musala A I R 1935 Mad 276 = 1933 M W N 114 = 40 M L W 914

S. 93. (p 1092) Where the language of a document is plain and there is no ambiguity in it, it is not permissible to produce other evidence to show that there was different intention on the part of the transferor Dhanpatti v Badri Singh A I R 1935 All 729 = 156 Ind Cas 53

S 93 (p 1092) In case of patent ambiquity in consent decree, evidence should not be allowed to construe it Jahuri Lal v Kanhai Lal, A I R. 1935 Pat 123

S 94 (p 1098) Where deed is clear and unambigusus and applies to existing facts, oral evidence is not admissible Sajaatmind v Gobind, A I. R 1934 All 100 147 Ind Cas 633, see also Ram Rakhi v Gauri Sankar, 36 P. L R 611

S 95 (p 1103) Where there is doubt about construction of security bond it must be considered in light of order directing security to be given Mohendra nath v Satish chandra 61 C 890 = 150 Ind Cas 985 – A I R 1934 Cal 569

S 96 (p 1107) Extrinsic evidence to explain acknowledgment may be given Nipalu Ram v Radhuram, A I R 1934 Lah 835

S 97 (p 1107) Where language applies partly to one set of facts and partly to another but whole not applying to either extrinsic evidence to show which of two applies is admissible Banaphal v Noor Mohammad, A I R 1935 All 662 = 1935 A L J 664 = 155 Ind Cas 634

S 97 (p 1107) Where in mortgage decree, boundaries and area of property given are totally wrong oral evidence is admissible to explain intention of decree Allah Baksh v Punjab and Sindh Bank, A I R 1934 Lah 181 – 35 P L R 20 – 147 Ind Cas 23

S 101 (p 1124) Wrong view of burden of proof can be interfered in second appeal Pandurang v Tukaram 152 Ind Cas 441 = A I R 1934 Nag 253

S 101 (p 1125) The burden of proving allegations in the plaint is on the plaintiff Anand v Deputy, 143 Ind Cas 568 = O W N 412 = A I R 1933 Oudh 242

S 101 (p 1125) Where in a prosecution for false entries the defence raised was that the entries were made under the direction or authority of the member of the complainant s firm it is the duty of the prosecution to call some of the partners or at least one responsible person as a witness and to give positive denial of the allegation which the accused put forward Indra Kumara v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 500 59 C L J 83 = 152 Ind Cas 226 = 36 Cr L J 74

S 101 (p 1125) The general rule of evidence is that, if in order to make out a title, it is necessary to prove a negative the party who avers it, must prove the title Hemchandra v Matilal, A I R 1934 Cal 68 = 58 C L J 85 = 37 C W N 1174 = 60 C 1253 = 149 Ind Cas 177

S 101 (p 1125) Where circular has been issued by public servant containing certain statement person challenging that statement must prove it Bijili v Mahomed A I R 1934 Mad 21 = 39 M W N 466 = 146 Ind Cas 572

S 101 (p 1125) Where all available evidence has been brought on record question of onus is not impor ant Chunilal v Radha Devi A I R 1934 Pesh 134 – 153 Ind Cas 71, see also Mati Ram v Official Receiver, A I R 1934 Lah 936, Nipalchand v Narain Das, A I R 1934 Lah 949, Ramjilal v Debi Sihai A I R 1934 Lah 542 = 33 P L R 462 = 152 Ind Cas 240, Maung Po v Rechttiar, 145 Ind Cas 413 – A I R

1933 Rang 211 ; Debendra v Nigendra, 60 C 1158 = 37 C W N 1001 Bhanji v Gobind, 29 N L R 298 = A I R 1934 Nag 379, Pandurang v Tukaram A I R 1934 Nag 253

S 102 (p 1125) Where a transferor brings a suit to show that transfer was not meant to be operative as such onus is on him to prove it Amrit v Gurcharin, A I R 1934 All 226 = 147 Ind Cas 59

S 103 (p 1126) Person claiming to succeed on ground of relationship should prove such relationship and absence of nearest heir Chunna v Lala Markat A I R 1934 All 117, see also Mahabir v Radha, 10 O W N 424 = A I R 1933 Oudh 231

S 104 (p 1131) Onus of proving error of lower Court in appeal is on the appellant Abdul v Nasir, A I R 1933 Oudh 142 = 10 O W N 201

S 114 (p 1132) The onus of proof that property has been purchased benami is in the person who alleges that Ma Khatun v Ma Bi Bi, A I R 1933 Rang 393

S 104 (p 1140) Burden of proving fraud is on the person who alleges fraud Sabitri v Savi, 12 Pat 359 = 145 Ind Cas 1 = 14 Pat L T (sup) 1 = A I R 1933 Pat 306 But when fraud has been established, it is on the opposite party to prove that the party alleging fraud had knowledge of those circumstances which constitute fraud Ramiraddin v Naimaddi, 143 Ind Cas 284 = 56 C L J 570 = A I R 1933 Cal 339

S 104 (p 1144) In a dispute as regards tenancy, initial onus is on tenant Rikhdeo v Gangi Prosad 146 Ind Cas 1002 = A I R 1933 All 825

S 104 (p 1145) The defendant who claims that the suit is barred by limitation must prove that Padhum v Tribeni, A I R 1934 Pat 44

104 (p 1145) One questioning marriage, must prove that it was not per formed with requisite ceremonies, etc 56 A 428 = A I R 1934 All 273

S 104 (p 1146) In a suit for possession the person claiming possession must prove his title Aruna chalam v Ko Tu, 146 Ind Cas 445 = A I R 1933 Rang 174

S 104 (p 1149) In a Will case, the onus is on the propounder that the Will was duly executed Jotindra v Rajlakshi A I R 1933 Cal 449 = 57 C L J 8

S 105 (p 1152) The accused must prove that his case comes within any exception Nga Bashin v Emperor 144 Ind Cas 420 = 14 Cr L J 783 = A I R 1933 Rang 142, see also Maung Sein Ba v Maung Kawe, A I R 1934 Rang 90 = 12 Rang 55 = 150 Ind Cas 667

S 106 (p 1157) A fact which is within the special knowledge of a person must be proved by that person Mahabir v Rohim, 64 M L J 413 (P C) = A I R 1933 P C 67 = 35 Bom L R 500 17 C W N 637 (P C), see also Dhanirajagiri v Pirtha Sirathy 38 L W 714 = 1933 M W N 1182 = A I R 1933 Mad 825

S 108 (p 1170) There is no presumption as to the time of death Ram Kali v Nirun Sing, A I R 1934 Oudh 298 = 11 O W N 793 = 149 Ind Cas 632

S 108 [illegible] of death but not of time of death [illegible] v Sheo Gobind A I R [illegible] 52[illegible]

S 108 (p 1173) Where two brothers died in same catastrophe and who died first is not known no presumption exists as to the time of death or the sur vivorship of either Nikshi v Jirali, A I R 1934 Oudh 101 = 11 O W N 267 = 9 Luck 461

S 109 (p 1176) Where there is not only a decree but that the plaintiff has collected rent due under it this is sufficient to bring about the relationship under s 109 and to throw the onus of proving that tenancy terminated is on the defendants Medazarupa v Medivarupa A I R 1935 Mad 268=40 M L W. 810

S 109 (p 1076) Where the re the burden of proving that they had ship is clearly on the person wh A I R 1935 Lah 49

S 110 (p 1179) Section 110 applies even in cases where Government is a party and s 41 (1) of Berar Land Revenue Code is not meant to lay down a rule regarding the burden of proof at variance with the provisions of s 110 Evidence Act Govind Rupchand v Secy of State A I. R 1935 Nag 163= 155 Ind Cas 264.

S 110 (p 1179) Where certain property is found to be held by a person who occupies the office of Mohant of a Math there is no presumption that the property belongs to the Math Ganesh Gir Guru v Fatehchand A I R 1935 Nag 114

S 110 (p 1179) Where the defendants who are in possession of a well have from time to time asserted their claim to the property as owners the mere user of the well by the public is not sufficient to rebut the presumption of ownership or to raise a further presumption that the defendants are trustees of the said property Hemraj v Allahdinn A I R 1935 Sind 133

S 110 (p 1179) Long possession creates presumption of ownership Champat v Toti Ram, A I R 1934 Lah. 324=150 Ind Cas 17=16 P L R 64

S 111 (p 1183) Where a gift is executed to a person standing in a fiduciary relationship to the donor the donee is bound to establish good faith of the transaction For this the donee may prove that the donor had independent advice or that the fiduciary relation had ceased for so long that the donor was under no control or influence whatever by showing existence of other circumstances sufficient to prove good faith Binoy Krishna v Panchanon, A I R 1935 Cal 671

S 111 (p 1183) The words active confidence in s 111 indicate that the relationship between the parties must be such that the one is bound to protect the interest of other, in order that the law may be really protective the word should receive a wider interpretation Benoy Krishna v Panchanon A I R 1935 Cal 671, see also Lekh Raj v Mt Mehtab A I R 1933 Lah 861

S 111 (p 1183) Where the fact of undue influence was not seriously disputed burden lay upon him who denies to show that no undue influence was used and the transaction was made in good faith Azizunnissa v Siraj Husan, A I R 1934 All 507=1934 A L J 817

S 111 (p 1187) Section 111 applies to case of a Will and burden of proving good faith of the transaction lies on propounder Nandalal v Dasarathi A I R 1936 Cal 15=61 C L J 304

S 112 (p 1193) The presumption of law that a child born of a married woman in wedlock was begotten by the h [illegible] band nor a wife is permitted child to give evidence of no have been conceived—as enur prevails equally in India as in England The above principle is not limited to legitimacy proceedings but applies [illegible] ed in consequence of adultery and it in no [illegible] 12 of the Evidence Act The fact of non [illegible] other than that of the husband Joseph Ant [illegible] 1047

S 112 (p 1193) Where a person is admittedly born after his mother's marriage to a certain person the onus of establishing non access and physical incapacity to procreate on the part of the husband lies heavily on those who allege such person to be an illigitimate son Bhagwan Baksh v Mahesh Baksh, A I R 1935 (P C) 199 = 1935 O W N 1261 (P C)

S 112 (p 1193) Even though connection between a man and a woman is adulterous at its inception by the existence of a marriage between the woman and another man, when the latter divorces the woman and the two continue to live together and are treated as husband and wife and a child is born during such period, presumption of legitimacy can be raised Gurdial Singh v Bhagat Singh, A I R 1934 Lah 517 = 35 P L R 532 = 153 Ind Cas 241

S 112 (p 1193) In a divorce suit filed by the husband on the ground of adultery the miscarriage took place long after filing of petition, and the evidence of non access was offered by the husband Held that the evidence of the husband of non access was admissible against his wife Gerald v Olga, A I R 1934 All 618.

S 112 (p 1193) Section 112 merely requires proof to the satisfaction of the Court that the p[illegible] had no [illegible]ccess to each other, not that there was no [illegible] that there was no access is a pure finding of f[illegible] Varayan, A I R 1934 Nag 124 = 150 Ind Cas 306

S 112 (p 1193) Presumption that child in lawful wedlock is legitimate child of its mother's husband is rebuttable But if access or intercourse by husband is proved, presumption becomes irrebuttable Sivakami v Koolyandi, A I R 1934 Mad 318 = 66 M L J 283 = 149 Ind Cas 953, see also Samuel v Annammal, A I R 1934 Mad 310 = 66 M L J 279 = 149 Ind Cas 100

S 112 (p 1194) Access means sexual intercourse Samuel v. Annammal, A I R 1934 Mad 310 = 66 M L J 279 = 149 Ind. Cas 100 The word "access means "effective access and physical incapacity to procreate, if established amounts to non access within the meaning of s 112 Bhagwan Baksh v Mahesh Baksh A I R 1935 P C 199 = 1935 O W N 1261 (P C), see also Umaruddin v Ghulam, A I R 1935 Lah 628

S 112 (p 1194) The evidence of Indian witness on question of age is notoriously often very vague and unreliable and it is unsafe to base a finding of physical incapacity on the part of a husband on such evidence Bhagwan v Mahesh, A I. R. 1935 P C 19 = 1935 O W N 1261 In dealing with the question of non access under s 112 in a case of child marriage among the Hindus much depends upon the question whether the case presented on either side is reconciliable with the established customs and usages of Hindus as regards child marriage Ibid

S 112 (p 1195) To brand a child form in lawful wedlock with illegitimacy on the ground of physical incapacity of the husband to procreate it is necessary in the first place to prove the precise age of the husband at the date of conception and in the second place to negative the possibility of premature virility at that age owing to precocious development Bhagwan Baksh v Mahesh Baksh, A I R 1935 P C 149 = 1935 O W N 1261 (P C)

S 112 (p 1195) Ordinarily onus of proving illegitimacy lies on person who so asserts But where opposite party has failed to prove that mother of alleged illegitimate son was lawfully married to his father, onus is not on former Ram Natn v Desraj Singh, A I R 1935 Oudh 80 = 1934 O L R 983 = 1935 O W N 25 = 153 Ind Cas 349

S 112 (p 1196) Where a child establishes the possession of filiation, which is the acknowledgment of the parents and habit and repute everything uch as legitimacy must be presumed in his favour Kishen Singa v Sidhi and others A I R 1933 Lah 520

S 114 (p 1202) The effect of the provision of s 114 is to make it perfectly clear that Courts of justice are to use their own common sense and experience in judging of the effect of particular facts and that they are to be subject to no technical rules whatever on the subject Sarat Chandra v Emperor A I R 1934 Cal 719 (S B) = 35 Cr L J 1335 = 151 Ind Cas 473

S 114 (p 1202) If an article stained with human blood is recovered from the possession of an accused or from a place pointed out by an accused then the case against him becomes very serious He has to explain that point away But if the prosecution fails to establish that there were stains of human blood on any of the articles so recovered then a Court would be wholly unjustified in drawing an inference that blood stains were of human blood Imamuddin v Emperor A I R 1934 Oudh 386 = 11 O W N 95 = 35 Cr L J 1154 = 150 Ind Cas 862 see also Bhagwati v Emperor, A I R 1934 Oudh 373 = 11 O W N 969 = 35 Cr L J 1159

S 114 (p 1202) Court is often obliged to rely more upon circumstances than on direct evidence Mallavarupa v Boggavarupa A I R 1935 Mad 769 = 1935 M W N 528 = 42 M L W 321

S 114 ill (a) (p 1203) To raise a presumption under this illustration, possession should be exclusive as well as recent Rajalingam v Emperor A I R 1934 Rang 85 = 149 Ind Cas 31 = 35 Cr L J 994 see also Emperor v Zahir 150 Ind Cas 538 = 35 Cr L J 1092 = A I R 1934 All 455 Jai Narain v Emperor A I R 1933 Oudh 117 10 O W N 47 = 34 Cr L J 649 = 143 Ind Cas 835 Emperor v Sangram 143 Ind Cas 152 = 34 Cr L J 545 = 9 O W N 1198 = A I R 1933 Oudh 85 Hori lal v Emperor 1933 A L J 1534 = A I R 1933 All 893 = 1933 Cr C 1523 Public Prosecutor v Kudimbatcha 1933 M W N 325 Reoti v Emperor 1933 A L J 523 Joynarain v Emperor A I R 1935 Cal 650

S 114 ill (a) (p 1203) S 114 ill (a) does not entitle the Court to presume the knowledge of dacoity or dacoits and a person cannot be convicted under s 412 I P Code merely on the fact of possession of recently stolen goods Isthahar v Emperor, 39 C W N 620

S 114 ill (b) (p 1208) As a broad proposition it is correct to say that inspite of s 133 of the Evidence Act the rule of the Evidence Act the rule of practice that an accused person ought not to be convicted on the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice has virtually become equivalent to a rule of law But the proposition is subject to various qualifications and the true legal position is the following —

(1) An accused person can legally be convicted upon the uncorroborated [illegible] ed person should or should not [illegible] e prudence and good sense of the [illegible] of the case (3) Prima facie [illegible] evidence is unworthy of credit [illegible] ulars tending to show that the [illegible] is charged (4) In a Sessions [illegible] extremely dangerous to act upon [illegible] plice and similarly a Judge sitting alone without a jury must bear the same consideration in mind (5) It is for the Court to determine in the particular circumstances of each case whether the matter before it tending to corroborate the evidence of the approver (which may or may not be evidence strictly so called and as defined in the Evidence Act) is worthy of credence and is sufficiently reliable to be treated as evidence against the accused and acted upon (6) The evidence of an approver may be corroborated by the evidence of another approver, or by the confession

of a person who is being jointly tried with the accused for the same offence, implicating both himself and the accused, (7) it is the duty of the Court to scrutinize with much care such corroboration as that mentioned in (6) but whether it is to be treated as evidence against the accused or not is to be determined by the Court Emperor v Nirmal Jiban Ghose, 39 C W N 744 = A I R 1935 Cal 513 = 62 C 238, see also Bimal Krishna v Emperor, 39 C W N 761, Venkataramanna v Emperor, 1933 M W N 1129, Beni Madho v Emperor, A I R 1933 Oudh 355 = 146 Ind Cas 1064 = 10 O W. N 685 = 1933 Cr C 975, Bacha Babu v Emperor A I R 1935 All 162, Shiva Das v Emperor A I R 1934 Cal 114 = 37 C W N 348 = 147 Ind Cas 1028 = 35 Cr L J 535, Nizamdin v Emperor, A I R 1934 Pesh 134 = 153 Ind Cas 71, Chatumal v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 185 = 1934 Cr C 1392, Mahadeo Prasad v. Emperor, A I R 1934 Oudh 90 = 11 O W N 62 = 35 Cr L J 397 = 9 Luck 355, Kansi Ram v Emperor, 15 Lah 491 = 36 P L R 346 = A I R 1934 Lah 873, Ali Mahammed v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 171 = 1934 Cr C 349, Gujar Singh v Emperor A I R 1934 Lah 21 = 1934 Cr C 39, Mahomed Panah v Emperor, 150 Ind Cas 917 = A I R 1934 Sind 78, Hari Ram v Emperor, 15 Lah 673, Hafizuddi v Emperor, 38 C W N 777 = A I R 1934 Cal 678, Mangal Singh v Emperor, 150 Ind Cas 21 = 35 Cr L J 1046 = 36 P L R 121 = A I R 193 Lah 346, Nizam Din v Emperor, A I R 1934 Pesh 11 = 1934 Cr C 381 = 35 Cr L J 719, Kartari v Emperor, A I R, 1934 Lah 525 = 35 P L R 436, Turab v Emperor, A I R 1935 Oudh 1 = 11 O W N 1383 = 152 Ind Cas 473 = 1934 O L R 875, Abdul Majid v Emperor, 39 C W N 1082, Balmukundo v King Emperor, 39 C W N 1051 Sundar Lal v Emperor, A I R 1934 Oudh 315, Turab v Emperor, 11 O W N, 1363, Ali Mohammed v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah = 1934 Cr C 349, Mallu Masheta v Emperor, 146 Ind Cas 701 = 16 N L J 186 = A I R 1933 Nag 352, Venkata Giriappa v Government of Mysore, 11 Mys L J 239, Madhusudan v Emperor, 37 C W N 934, Dhaju Manaal v Emperor, 34 Cr L J 476 = 146 Ind Cas 934 = A I R 1933 Pat 1 2, Sudam v Emperor, A I R 1933 Cal 148 = 34 Cr L J 675

S 114 (p 1208) Evidence of one accomplice can not be corroborated by evidence of another accomplice Kamboji Venkataramanna v Emperor, A I R 1934 Mad 248 = 1933 M W N 1129 = 40 M L W 237 = 67 M L J 74 see also Mallu Masheta v Emperor 146 Ind Cas 701 - 16 N L J 186 = A I R 1933 Nag 352, Parbhu v Emperor 146 Ind Cas 364 = 34 P L R 639 = A I R 1933 Lah 946, Nasir v Emperor A I R 1933 All 31 = 1932 A L J 1125 = 55 A 91 = 34 Cr L J 489

S. 114 ill (c) (p 1208) Rule laid down in s 114 (c) is affected by subsequent enactment of Negotiable Instruments Act

S 118 Binnumal v Munshi Ram A I R 1935 Lah 549 The difference between s 114 Evidence Act and s 118 Negotiable Instruments Act consists only in this that under the first, the Court has a discretion to make the presumption or not whereas under the second the Court is bound to start with the presumption Mallavarapu v Bogavarappu A I R 1935 Mad 769 Illustration (c) is confined to acceptance and endorsement of bill of exchange But s 118, Negotiable Instruments Act has wider scope Binnumal v Munshi Ram A I R 1935 Lah 599 Under s 114 a strong presumption is raised that an obligation has been discharged when the bond duly signed is in the hands of the obligor Rangappa v Syed 30 N L R 196 = A I R 1934 Nag 29 The explanation added to illustration (c) of s 114 only indicates that it is not meant to be exhaustive of its application Mallavarapu v Bogavarapu, A I R 1935 Mad 769

S 114 ill (d) (p 1209) The rule of evidence in favour of presuming the continuity of things shown to exist at a prior date There is no rule of evi dence by which one can presume backwards Manmatha Nath v Girish Chandra A I R 1934 Cal 707 = 38 C W N 763 = 153 Ind Cas 170, see also Hemendra v Jnanendra A I R 1935 Cal 702

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) S 114 includes but is not limited to presumption of regularity Hiridas v Manmatha A I R 1936 Cal 1

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) Section 114 ill (e) does not presume that official act has been done But if the act is proved to have been done it is presumed to have been regularly done S A Kumari v Raj Kumar A I R 1934 Rang 207 = 151 Ind Cas 337

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) This section raises the presumption of legality and correctness of Court s proceedings When a Judge signs a decree it is presumed that the decree is in accordance with his judgment Raghubir Singh v Rani Rajeswari 146 Ind Cas 310 = 10 O W N 884 = A I R 1933 Oudh 466 There is a presumption under this section in favour of the correctness of the record by a Judge in the judicial record B Srinivasa Iyengar In the matter, 12 Mys L J 311 = 39 Mys H C R 461 Where there is evidence of an attachment in the absence of direct evidence to the contrary it ought to be presumed that all necessary formalities were complied with Mohd Akbir v Hadur Mian 9 C W N 89 see also Mohammad Akbir v Mian Musharaf Ali A I R 1934 P C 217 = 11 O W N 1158 = 40 M L W 390 = 151 Ind Cas 221 = 39 C W N 89 = 67 M L J 641 = 61 I A 371 = 15 Lah 836, Arjun v Emperor A I R 1935 All 436 1935 A L J 390

S 114 (p 1212) There is a presumption in law that all official acts are regularly performed and when a document is attested by the Sub registrar as duly presented, there is an initial presumption that the document was duly presented and the person presenting it was duly authorized to do so Mahammad v Fattah A I R 1934 Lah 452 = 148 Ind Cas 209 = 15 Lah 694 = 36 P L R 525

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) The pedigree table prepared in the course of each settlement is a part of the Record of Rights and as such there is statutory presumption of correctness attaching to it It is however impossible to lay down a rule that the presumption is stronger in favour of one rather than the other It is for the Court to decide in each case which pedigree table is to be preferred Ditt Ram v Khazana Ram A I R 1935 Lah 108

S 114 ill (e) (p 1213) The Court should not presume that the documents referred to in the order of sanction by the Governor General were the documents in question and that they were duly forwarded by the Governor General and reached complainant through the usual channel unless there be any indication on the face of the questioned documents to show that there were the annexures to the order of sanction Sardar Diwan Singh v Emperor A I R 1935 Nag 90

S 114 ill (e) (p 1213) Though official acts may be presumed to have been regularly performed such presumption cannot supply deficiency in the proof Hooghly Chinsurah Municipality v Keshab Chandra Pal, A I R 1933 Cal 347 = 143 Ind Cas 285 = 30 Cr L J 549 = 56 C L J 583 = A I R 1933 Cal 347

S 114 ill (e) p 1213) It may be presumed that official acts are regularly performed and a warrant once signed and issued remains actually in existence until such time it is known to have been destroyed Emperor v Kalu A I R 1933 Lah 159

S 114 (p 1213) The entry in a Jamabandi in the years following the partition to the effect that the field was joint while other fields have been recorded in the separate names of the parties raises a strong presumption that the field was kept joint Mitharij v Kedar nath, A I R 193 Nag 130 = 29 N L R 272 = A I R 1933 Nag 130 = 144 Ind Cas 948

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) Where an election officer issues circular to polling officer stating that it is used under direction of superior office, the presumption is that the statement is correct Bijli Sahib Bahadur v Mahammad Asan, 146 Ind Cas 572

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) Where a document was registered under s 23 A of the Registration Act the presumption is that it was represented within time Sudarsana Roy v Seetharamaya, 1933 M W N 1148

S 114 ill (e) (p 1212) The papers of a survey which do not reach the stage of final publication are not altogether inadmissible in evidence even though the weight to be attached is a different matter The presumption of ... until final publication but the presumption ... official duties are taken to have been ... Nund Lal, A I R 1933 Pat 468

S 114 ill (g) (p 1215) In case of failures of party to produce account in his possession regarding certain expenses where money spent for such expenses by party is otherwise proved, the mere non production of accounts does not show that no expense has been incurred Sajjad v Manammed, A I R 1934 All 71

S 114 ill (g) (p 1215) Where a party does not produce certain material document Court is entitled to draw adverse presumption Nimmag da v Adusumilli, A I R 1935 Mad 310 = 41 M L W 298, see also Deo Narain v Emperor A I R 1934 Pat 132 = 15 P L T 647 = 35 Cr L J 693, Baroda v Krishna A I R 1934 Cal 414 = 38 C W N 33 = 151 Ind Cas 268, Educational Book Depot v Dr Rabindranath Tagore, 55 A 564 = 1933 A L J 791 = A I R 1933 All 474 but see Mt Boota v Gur Prasad 10 O W N 827 A I R 1933 Oudh 412

S 114 ill (g) (p 1215) No presumption of s 114, ill (g) arises if there is no evidence that the document could be produced Popusi Ramayya v Putcha Lakshminarayana, A I R 1934 P C 84 = 39 M L W 329 = 11 O W N 468 = 1934 A L J 402 = 61 I A 177 = 38 C W N 669 = 57 M 443 = 67 M L J 1

S 114 ill (g) (p 1215) The petitioner not giving evidence though he was the best informed person about the matter, may be taken as an indication that he could say nothing convincing to support his case Piran Dis v Kartar Singh A I R 1934 Lah 398 151 Ind Cas 32 = 36 P L R 280, see also Piran Singh v Mathura Das A I R 1934 Lah 126, Bishan Das v Gurbaksh Singh 148 Ind Cas 45 A I R 1934 Lah 63 but see Kanhaya Lal v Bishan Dis A I R 1934 Lah 59 = 149 Ind Cas 1119

S 114, ill (g) (p 1215) Omission to call material witness raises inference that evidence would have been unfavourable U Po v Edward, A I R 1934 Rang 139 150 Ind Cas 898

S 114 (p 1215) It is open to a litigant to refrain from producing any evidence, not forming part of his case, that he considers irrelevant if the other litigant is dissatisfied it is for him to apply for its production and inspection as evidence in the case if he thinks proper if this is not done the Court is not entitled at his suggestion to draw an adverse inference and the presumption will also not arise when there is sufficient explanation Shi a Prasad v Prayag Kumari A I R 1935 Cal 39 = 61 C 711

S 114 (p 1222) The effect of conflicting presumption is to leave the party to have their case decided by evidence produced Nanilal Dis v Nutb hari, 38 C W N 861

S 114 (p 1219) It is impossible to believe that evidence consisting of oral and documentary evidence of very great strength and conclusiveness and in possession of accused s near relatives would not have been produced atonce by the accused or his relations and would have been concealed till the defence stage in sessions trial Emperor v Sheo Janak Pande, A I R 1934 All 27=56 A 354=147 Ind Cas 238=35 Cr L J 364=1935 A L. J 1573 (F B)

S 115 (p 1237) Estoppel is not a cause of action It may, if established, assist a plaintiff in enforcing a cause of action by preventing a defendant from denying the existence of some fact essential to establish the cause of action, or by preventing a defendant from asserting the existence of some facts the existence of which would destroy cause of action It is a rule of evidence which comes into operation if (a) a statement of the existence of a fact has been made by the defendant or an authorized agent of his to the plaintiff or some one on his behalf, (b) with the intention that the plaintiff should act upon the faith of the statement and (c) the plaintiff does act upon the faith of that statement There is no such thing as estoppel by waiver A representation which can ground an estoppel must be representation of an existing fact and not of a future intention which may or may not be enforceable in contract A statement to ground an estoppel must be clear and unambiguous Dawson Bank v Nippon Menkwai, 39 C W N 657=A I R 1935 P C 79=1935 M W N 442=155 Ind Cas 1=1935 O W N 599

S 115 (p 1249) Where a party changed his position as a result of the representation intentionally made by the ancestors of the plaintiff in order to secure certain concession and the party s conduct was influenced by those representations Held that the conditions requisite for an estoppel by conduct were satisfied Special Manager v Tribeni Prosad A I R 1935 Oudh 289.

S 115 (p 1250) The question of estoppel not being pure question of law it should be distinctly pleaded Kanhailal v Bhaiyalal, 16 N. L J 248, see also Fakir v Ismail, A I R 1933 Lah 179

S 115 (p 1251) No estoppel arises if truth of the matter was known to both the parties Rajib Narain v Bindeshwari 15 P L T 596 But there is no obligation on person claiming estoppel in every case to make enquiries about truth of representation Shiam Lal v Matadin, 151 Ind C s 576=11 O W. N 1097=A I R 1934 Oudh 4'o

S 115 (p 1252) To attract the applicability of estoppel in pais representation must be clear and unambiguous and it must be acted on by other party Jethibai v Chabildas A I R 1935 Sind 142, see also Mohini v Radha, A I R 1935 Cal 481, see also Afzal Hussain v Cheddi Lal, A I R 1935 All 79=1935 A L J 217=155 Ind Cas 791, Radhalal v Kishori Lal, A I R 1935 Lah 527 37 P L R 301 Mohammad Musa v Qasim Husain, A I R 1935 All 739 155 Ind Cas 1063, Gauri Dei v Mohammad Yasin A I R 1935 Oudh 121=11 O W N 1571-1935 O L R 9=153 Ind Cas 585, Fakir Khan v Ismail Khan, 14 Lah 218-141 Ind Cas 264=34 P L R 149=A I R 1933 Lah 179, T Hirst v Syamsundar Lal, 61 C 61=A. I R 1934 Cal 441=151 Ind Cas 334

S 115 (p 1254) As regards representation by conduct, vide Saddha Singh v Mangal Singh A I R 1933 Oudh 166-10 O W N 58=142 Ind Cas 860, Sikhdei v Mathra, 142 Ind Cas 606=34 P L R 115=A I R 1933 Lah 412, Bhirgunath Prasad Singh v Annapurna Debi A I R. 1931 Pat 644, Ditto Shivram v Babisaheb, 58 B 419=150 Ind Cas 555=36 Bom L R 359=A I R 1934 Bom 194, Secretary of State v Rajaram, 36 Bom L R 1055

S 115 (p 1262) As regards estoppel against minor, vide Rangi Rao v Sait Chowgmal, 152 Ind Cas 262=1934 M W N. 672=4 L W 261=A.

I. R 1934 Mad. 560=67 M L J 257, Umor Din v Abdul Huq, 150 Ind. Cas 968=A I R 1934 Lah. 304

S 115 (p 1266) Where it is not proved that the witness knew of the contents of the deed at the time of attestation, the mere fact of attestation does not give rise to estoppel Hazeli Sha ... Lah 703, see also Fazol Husain v Jiwan ... Cas 454=34 P. L. R 196=A I R 19 ... v Ven Kinna, 145 Ind Cas 862=1933 M W ... 637=65 M L J 282, Bhagwat v Gorakh, 150 Ind Cas 765=A I R 1934 Pat 93

S 115 (p 1267) There is no estoppel against statute Barisal Co operative v Benoy bhusun, A I R 1034 Cal 537=38 C W. N 457=151 Ind Cas 165, see also 15 P L T 661=A I R 1934 Pat 666 (F B), Hakim Husain v Mustaq Husain, 146 Ind Cas 482=A I R 1933 Oudh (F B), Jai Sri Singh v Prabhu, A I. R 1935 All 127=1935 A L J 21

S 115 (p 1258) The doctrine of estoppel cannot be invoked to render valid a transaction which the legislature has on grounds of public policy, enacted shall be invalid Gaura Die v Mohammad Yasin, A I R 1935 Oudh 121=11 O. W N 1571=1935 O I R 5=153 Ind Cas 503

S 115 (p 1268) Where a Burmese Buddhist wife does not make any claim in husband s payin property but attested mortgage deed and makes pay ment of interest thereon, there is representation to creditor that she has no interest in it and she is estopped from claiming interest in such property Ma Shin v N R A I R 1935 Rang 17

S 115 (p 1276) Even bona fide purchaser for value is representative Dara Sivarao v Kola Subharao, A I R 1934 Mad 302-1934 M W N 316=39 M L W 431 A representative in interest is bound by the estoppel of his predecessor Tilak Rai v Pargash Rai, A I R 1935 Pat 21=152 Ind Cas 823

S 115 (p 1276) Where the plaintiff stands in the shoes of and derives his title as successor in interest from one entitled to deny the defendant s title to certain property in suit he is not estopped from denying the title to certain property in suit he is not estopped from denying the title of the defendant merely because he was signatory to a deed of partition by which the property in suit fell to the share of the defendant Misbahuddin v Vidyasagor, A, I R 1935 Lah 64=36 P L R 106

S 115 (p 1276) Judgment debtor is not estopped from urging that agreement for payment of enhanced interest subsequent to decree is not enforce able in execution Nirendra v Oudh Commercial Bank, A I R 1935 Oudh 465

S 115 (p 1276) The word 'representative' in s 115 is not to be limited to gratuitous transferee or volunteer and to a subsequent transferee for value ... toppel A derivative owner, ... estoppel is included Dara ... 02=148 Ind Cas 612-1934 ... id 302=66 M L J 563.

S 115 ... Mortgagor ... 576=11 O ...

S 115 (p 1291) Party admitting partition in a previous suit cannot deny it in the subsequent suit Barodi v Krishna, A I R 1934 Cal 414=38 C W N 33=151 Ind Cas 268

S 115 (p 1291) In a case for money on accounts submitted, no estoppel arises unless the acts of the plaintiff in consequence of the accounts submitted are necessarily referable to the representation made by the defendant T A Hurst v Shyam sundar lal A I R 1934 Cal 441 = 61 C 64 = 151 Ind Cas 334

S 115 (p 1291) A person who has held office under a registered agreement for a period of years on certain terms and conditions and who has unreservedly accepted a fresh tenure of office on the same terms and conditions cannot be heard to say that he was not bound by the terms of his service Gholam Hossain v Altaf Hossain A I R 1934 Cal 328 58 C L J 333 = 61 C 80 = 149 Ind Cas 1215 = 38 C W N 214

S 115 (p 1291) Where person accepts before Settlement Officer his liability to pay rent he cannot subsequently turn round and seek declaration that some other person is liable for same Man oor Hussain v Dawar Ali A I R 1935 Oudh 409 = 1935 O W N 537 1935 O L R 290 = 155 Ind Cas 295

S 115 (p 1291) Acceptance of rent at rate specified in unregistered document requiring registration does not give rise to estoppel in suit to eject tenant Datta Shivaram v Babi Saheb A I R 1934 Bom 194 = 36 Bom L R 359 = 58 B 419

S 115 (p 1291) A mistaken interpretation made by Government officers of a grant by the Crown and their consequent mistaken acts would not be binding on the Crown and would not create an estoppel as against the Crown Secretary of State v Faredoone A I R 1934 Bom 434 = 36 Bom L R 761 = 154 Ind Cas 278

S 115 (p 1291) In case of temporary arrangement for mutual convenience no estoppel arises Desto Din v Raj Narain A I R 1934 All 75

S 115 (p 1291) Where in a previous partition suit plaintiff reserved right to sue separately for one item defendant is not estopped in a subsequent suit from challenging plaintiff's right Gokul Prosad v Kunwar Bahadur A I R 1935 Oudh 30 = 11 O W N 1359 1934 O L R 849 = 155 Ind Cas 322

S 115 (p 1291) Insurance Company is not estopped from asserting that premium is not paid because policy recites that premium has been paid U San v New Zealand Insurance Co A I R 1935 Rang 343 = 153 Ind Cas 387

S 115 (p 1291) The fact that some of the earlier grantees acquired the fresh grants being made by the Government on lands which they might have claimed for [illegible] stop subsequent grantees from claiming acc [illegible] I R 1934 P C 17 = 38 C W N 337 = 39 [illegible] 12 = 1 O W N 217 = 147 Ind Cas 657 = 19[illegible] Rang 136 = 66 M L J 239 = 61 I A 18 = 59 C L J 269

S 115 (p 1294) To estop a tenant from denying the landlord's title under s 116 it is not necessary that the tenant should have been actually put into possession by the landlord It is sufficient being already in possession if he passes a rent note to the landlord acknowledging that a new tenancy had arisen Krishna Rao v Gl[illegible] A I R 193[illegible] Bom 144 = 36 Bom L R 1074

S 115 (p 1294) The words at the beginning of the tenancy mean at the time when the tenant was let into possession The distinction between the [illegible] seeks to deny and [illegible] possession seems to [illegible] vided by s 116 that [illegible] his land [illegible] he sense [illegible] vitiate the agreement which he has entered into with the landlord Badruddin v Bhagloo Kueri, A I R 1934 Pat 555 = 15 P L T 519, Racholappa v Kouchter, A I R 1935 Bom 41 = 36 Bom L R 1083, Alauddin v Aziz, 148 Ind Cas 684 = A I R 1934 Pat 369, Charubala v German Gomes, A I R 1934 Cal 499 = 59 C L J 66 = 152 Ind Cas 212, Beli v Beli Ram A I R 1934 Lah 445 = 154 Ind Cas 52, Chandrika v Bombay Baroda & Central India Ry, A I R 1935 P C 59 = 1935 O W N 319, Kumar Raj v Barboni Coal, A I R 1935 Cal 368 = 62 C 340 = 63 C L J 477

S 116 (p 1294) Section 116 relates also to tenancies other than those in which tenant was first let in possession Ram zani v Banshidhar, A I R 1935 Oudh 385 = 1935 O W N 449 = 1935 O L. R 230, Bhattacharji v Ishtiog, 143 Ind Cas 838 = 10 O W N 48 = A I R 1933 Oudh 129

S 116 (p. 1294) Where persons executing a lease deed are not let into possession of the property by the landlord but they were in possession long before they signed the lease, which was done under pressure, under a mistake and in ignorance of facts relating to the landlord's title, the execution of the loan does not raise any estoppel against person executing the lease U Po Shin v Edward, A I. R 1934 Rang 139 = 150 Ind Cas 898.

S 116 (p 1294) No doubt a tenant may dispute his landlord s title, if he has been evicted by title paramount, or if under threat of eviction by a party having a title paramount, he has attorned as tenants But if the tenant has attorned voluntarily, he is estopped from denying his landlord s title Vayya prath v Chowa Kkaran, A I R 1934 Mad 197 = 37 M L W 116 = 1934 M W N 38 = 66 M L J 355 = 147 Ind Cas 1218

S 116 (p 1302) Licensee or his assignee is also barred like tenants Currimbhoy v Creet 60 I A 297 = 60 C 980 = 1933 M W N 10 = 37 C W N 265 = 37 L W 253 = 35 Bom L R 223 = 57 C L J 264 = 1933 A L J 611 = A I R 1933 P C 29 = 64 M L J 103 (P C)

S 116 (p. 1303) As regards estoppel by mortgagee vide Mahamed Sherif v Syed Kasim, A I R 1933 Mad 635 = 1933 M W N 642

S 118 (p 1314) It not likely for a child of seven years to distinguish between things which he has heard and those which he has seen, and when, inconsistent statement occurs in his evidence much importance should not be attached to his legitimacy Ram Sakhia v Emperor, A I R 1934 Pat 651 = 15 P L T 586

S 123 (p 1330) Vide Mahtab v Secretary of State, A I R 1933 Lah 157

S 124 (p 1334) Report of confidential enquiry held under orders of Divisional officer for taking departmental action is privileged and inadmissible in evidence under s 124 K v Mir Mahamed A I R 1935 Sind 50 = 28 S L R 274 = 153 Ind Cas 651

S 124 (p 1334) Section 124 Evidence Act, involves two matters and there is distinction between the two (1) whether the particular document for whic [illegible] whether document is a [illegible] and it is for the C [illegible] ecide that the document is of the nature contemplated by the section then as to whether by its disclosure public interest would suffer of which the public officer himself is the sole Judge, The ground of privilege is only in regard to the second matter and not in regard to both Srila v Secretary of State A I R 1935 Mad 542

S 126 (p 1340) Things observed in course of employment are protected Hakam v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 269 = 1934 Cr C 507 = 152 Ind Cas 161 = 36 Cr L J 31

S 126 (p 1340) The privilege afforded to a legal adviser under s 126 is of a very limited character It protects only such communications as are made to the legal adviser in confidence, in the course and for the purpose of employment. And if the communication is not made in confidence then the communication is in no sense privileged Bhagvani v Deoram, A I R. 1933 Sind 47 = 27 S L R 72 = 34 Cr L J 562.

S 126 (p 1351) Communications between a prosecutor in a Crown case and his attorney are not privileged Bhagwani v Deoram, A I R 1933 Sind 47 = 27 S L R 72

S 132 (p 1364) The compulsion referred to in s 132 is something more than being put in the witness box and being sworn to give evidence, but such compulsion may be express or implied Ghanshamdas v Naumal, A I R 1934 Sind 114 = 1934 Cr C 955 = 28 S L R 251 = 36 Cr L J 78

S 132 (p 1364) Where a witness answers questions put by Court and thereby he is open to criminal prosecution, he must be deemed to have been compelled to answer and this entitles him to privilege of s 132 even though he has not objected Jagannath v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 386

S 133 (p 1372) A confession of a co accused requires to be corroborated as much as and in the same way as the sworn testimony of an accomplice, and a retracted confession is of no value at all as against the co accused Kasimuddi v Emperor, 39 C W N 27, see also Madhu Sudan v Emperor, 37 C W N 934, see also Venkataramanna v Emperor, 1933 M W N 1129, Nasir v Emperor, A I R 1933 All 31 = 1932 A L J 1125 – 55 A 91 = 143 Ind Cas 67

S 133 (p 1372) In order to sustain the conviction there must be independent corroboration of the testimony of the approver and the corroboration must be on a point material to the issue Jiwan Singh v Emperor, 34 P L R 866, see also Arjan v Emperor 34 P L R 2 Dhaju Mandol v Emperor, A I R 1933 Pat 112 = 34 Cr L J 476 = 146 Ind Cas 934, Ramani Mohan v Emperor, A I R 1933 Cal 146 = 34 Cr L J 638, Shib das v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 114 = 35 Cr L J 551, Hafizuddi v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 678 = 3 C W N 777 = 35 Cr L J 1357, 35 Cr L J 1335 = A I R 1934 Cal 719 (F B), Mahadeo Prasad v Emperor A I R 1934 Oudh 90 = 11 O W N 62 = 1934 Cr C 260 = 35 Cr L J 397 = 9 Luck 355, Bimal Prosad v Emperor, A I R 1934 Lah 583 = 35 Cr L J 752 = 148 Ind Cas 745

S 133 (p 1372) A confession of a co accused requires to be corroborated as much as and in the same way as the sworn testimony of an accomplice, and a retracted confession is of no value at all against the co accused Kasimuddin v Emperor, 39 C W N 27

S 133 (p 1372) In considering evidence of accomplice, Judge sitting without jury must treat himself as jury and apply same rule as in trials with jury Shiba Das v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 114 = 37 C W N 934 = 147 Ind Cas 1124

S 133 (p 1387) Evidence of accomplice can be used for purpose of corroborating evidence of approvers Maung Thaka v Emperor, A I R 1935 Rang 491; but see Parbhu v Emperor, A I R 1933 Lah 916 = 34 P L R 639 = 146 Ind Cas 364

S 135 (p 1390) Where the defence wants to cross examine the prosecution witnesses in a particular order by being allowed to postpone the cross examination of the complainant on the ground that the cross examination of the complainant before some other witnesses will embarrass and prejudice the defence case, the mere fact that the complainant, a sickly man is present in Court and may not come on some other day due to his bad health is not sufficient to justify the Court in refusing to accede to the request of the defence; but the Court should exercise the discretion in favour of the defence Moosa Haji v Emperor, A I R 1933 Cal 189 = 37 C W. N 286 = 142 Ind Cas 479 = 34 Cr L J 347

S 155 (p 1390) Where the witnesses are not summoned at the instance of the accused for cross examination, but are summoned for examination in a de novo trial, the order in which the witnesses are to be examined in chief rests at the discretion of the prosecution Sheikh Ibrahim v Emperor, A I R 1934 Nag 209 = 1934 Cr C 980 = 152 Ind Cas 236

S 135 (p 1391) The presence of a witness during the examination of the previous witness may well be turned an abuse of the process of the Court and therefore under s 151 the Court has inherent power to prevent that abuse and the Court can order that such witness should not be heard as a witness Lalmani v Bejai Ram, A I R 1934 All 840 = 1934 A L J 750 = 152 Ind Cas 30

S 145 (p 1430) The provisions contained in s 145, Evidence Act relates to cross examination as to previous statements in writing but does not militate in any way against such previous statement being used by way of corroboration of statement put in under s 288, Cr Pro Code which are substantive evidence Manir Ali v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 124 = 37 C W N 1066 = 58 C L J 66.

S 145 (p 1430) The previous statement must be put in strictly in accordance with the provisions of s 145 Abdul Gafoor v Kalicharin A I R 1934 Rang 273 = 152 Ind Cas 425

S 145 (p 1430) A previous statement made by a party cannot be made legal evidence in the case and used against him as one admission by merely filing an attested copy of that statement without putting it to the party concerned Secy of State v Akbar Shah A I R 1934 Lah 753

S 145 (p 1430) Admission by party in previous proceeding must be put to them before it is used against him in subsequent case Daulat v Bishan, A I R 1 34 Lah 750

S 145 (p 1430) If questions are put and extracts included from depositions during the trial of a case it must be obvious that evidence has been admitted by the Judge and that it must form part of his record whether technically speaking it has been properly tendered or not. Malla Khan v Emperor L I R 1934 Cal 169 = 37 C W N 1061.

S 145 (p 1430) A document which is used to contradict a witness must be put to the witness Simply because the witness does not go into the witness box, the Court is not entitled to break the law and admit such document Gajadhar Tewari v Nand Lal, A I R 1934 Pat 55 = 150 Ind Cas 841 = A A R 1934 Pat 215

S 145 (p 1430) No doubt a witness can be contradicted by his previous statement recorded in writing under s 145, but before this is done it must be shown that the statements were voluntary Nayeb Shahana v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 636 = 61 C 399 = 38 C W N 659 = 152 Ind Cas 44 = 35 Cr L J 1479

Ss 145 146 (p 1432) Document for contradicting need not come from legitimate custody Emperor v Raja Ram, A I R 1934 Nag 85 = 16 N L. J 193 = 145 Ind Cas 83 = 1934 Cr C 151

S 145 (p 1432) Section 162 Cr Pro Code in its present form allows a Court no discretion to refuse an accused person copies of statements of witnesses recorded by the police in the course of an investigation whether such statements are recorded in a police diary or otherwise, unless proviso (2) to the section applies. This is the case whether the statements are in extenso or in the form of a compressed memoranda and whether they are recorded in the third person or in the first person provided they are such statements as can be utilized to contradict a witness with his statement in Court in the manner provided by s 145 Evidence Act Emperor v Hari and others, A I R 1935 Sind 145 but see Michael v Emperor, 1933 M W N 1270, Pakkiri v Emperor 1933 M W N 919

S 145 (p 1432) Where under s 162 Cr Pro Code, a statement in a public diary is to be used to contradict a witness the procedure under s 145, Evidence Act is to be observed strictly Raghuraj v Emperor, A I R 1934 All 956, see also Ponnusami Chetti In re, 56 M 475 143 Ind Cas 424=34 Cr L J 582=1933 M W N 90=A I R 1933 Mad 372=64 M L J. 519, Ram Bharosey v Emperor, 14 L R 184 Cr

S 154 (p 1452) From the mere fact that a witness before the Sessions Court makes statement relating to a part of the prosecution case different from what he made before the Magistrate does not necessarily make him hostile Nayeb Shahana v Emperor A I R 1934 Cal 636=38 C W N. 659=61 C 399=152 Ind Cas 44=35 Cr L J 1479

S 154 (p 1452) Where it does not appear that the witness unexpectedly turned out hostile, it is not a proper exercise of discretion under s 154 for the Judge to allow him to be cross examined especially when the object of such cross examination is to introduce his retracted confession in evidence Nayeb Shahana v Emperor, A I R 1934 Cal 636 38 C W N 659=61 C 399–152 Ind Cas 44=35 Cr L J 1479

S 154 (p 1450) Although s 154 gives the Court an unfettered discretion to allow cross examination of a witness by the party calling him it ought not to exercise its discretion unless during the examination in Chief of the witness something happens which makes it necessary for the facts to be got from the witness by means of cross examination That section does not entitle any party, for instance to say 'I propose to call my opponent and cross examine him' and the Court to allow such cross examination without anything more Some thing more than the mere position in which the witness stands to the party calling him is required before the Court can exercise its discretion Therefore, it is necessary before the procedure of s 154 can be adopted either for the per mission of the Court to be obtained or for it to be given by the Court without its being sought Such permission should not be tacit but should be signified if not in words by some other action of the Court indicating permission Ammathayarammal v Official Assignee A I R 1933 M 137=64 M L J 208=37 L W 233=144 Ind Cas 629=56 M 7

S 154 (p 1450) Before the party calling the witness can cross examine him, it it is not necessary that the witness should first of all be declared to be hostile and questions to cross examine can be allowed by the Court to be asked even though the witness does not show himself to be hostile Ammathaya rammal v Official Assignee, A I R 1933 Mad 137=56 M 7=37 L W 233=A I R 1933 Mad 137=64 M L J 208

S 154 (p 1456) When the Court has exercised its discretion under s 154 it ought not to be interfered with by the appellate Court Ammathayaram mal v Official Assignee A I R 1933 Mad 137=56 M 7=37 L W 233=A I R 1933 Mad 137=64 M L J 208

S 155 (p 1463) Where a previous statement by a witness is used to contradict him he should be given opportunity to explain it Amrit v Gurcha ran A I R 1934 All 226=147 Ind Cas 591

Ss 155 157 (p 1470) Evidence of test identification is admissible under Ss 155 and 157 and otherwise also Krishna chandra v Emperor, A I R 1935 Cal 311=39 C W. N 488

S 157 (p 1773) A former statement admitted under s 157 can only be [illegible] But it can not be used as sub-[illegible] Munda v Emperor, A I R [illegible] Emperor, A I R 1933 Rang [illegible] Cr C 644, Ram Das v Maya

S 157 (p 1473) The first information can be used as corroborative evidence only of the person making the report Mt Misri v Emperor, A I R 1934 Sind 100

S 157 (p 1473) Where a person has been examined as a witness, a statement said to have been made by him to another is not admissible when no question is put to the witness as to whether the particular statement had been made to such other person Mt Misri v Emperor, A. I R 1934 Sind 100

S 158 (p 1474) Under s 158, prior statements of deceased persons are admissible both for contradiction and corroboration Sundarsana v Sutharamamma, 1933 M W N 1148.

S 159 (p 1475) Horoscope may be used for refreshing the memory as regards the age of the person whose horoscope it is Las Baba v Government of Mysore, 12 Mys L J 133

Ss 159 161 (p 1475) Panchnamas may be used to refresh memories Baloch Pirwali v. Emperor, 144 Ind Cas 772 = 34 Cr L J 848 = A I R 1933 Sind 220

S 162 (p 1487) Even confidential document should be produced before Court and the Court is to decide how far the privilege claimed is reasonable and justified Karigowda v Government of Mysore, 11 Mys L J 171

S 165 (p 1493) Under s 165 the Court can not order the production by a party of any document or thing no mattter how irrelevant, into Court, unless the object is to obtain indicative evidence which may lead to discovery of relevant evidence of any fact in any matter then before Court Krishna Ayyar v Balakrishna, A I R 1934 Mad 199 = 39 M L W 179 = 60 M L. J 498 = 57 M 635 = 148 Ind Cas 79

S 167 (p 1500) Section 167 of the Act provides that if a Court finds that a certain piece of evidence has been wrongly admitted, the decision need not be reversed on the ground even in second appeal provided that the Court holds there is sufficient evidence on the record to justify the finding Soney Lal v Derbdeo, 16 P L T 199 (F B)

S 167 (p 1500) Section 167 does not apply to second appeal on the civil side or cases tried by a jury on the criminal side, and not to first appeals where the facts are a matter of decision of the appellate Court Bhabendra chandra v Ajodhya chandra, A I R 1934 Pat 605

S 167 (p 1500) If there is sufficient evidence upon which a case could be completely decided the appellate Court is precluded from remanding the cases for hearing under s 167 The question is not whether the Judge would or would not believe the evidence other than the inadmissible evidence but whether it was possible for him to come to such conclusion as he did in the absence of that inadmissible evidence Hari Ahir v Sri Sangat Chatchi 152 Ind Cas 829 = A I R 1934 Pat 617

S 167 (p 1500) The acceptance of inadmissible evidence is not a ground to set aside a judgment or grant a new trial if there is other evidence upon which the finding could be arrived at And the High Court even in second appeal see whether there is such other evidence justifying the decision and if there is such evidence it cannot order a new trial Gajadhar v Nand Lal, A I R 1934 Pat 55 = 150 Ind. Cas 841 = A I R. 1934 Pat 55

Amendments to the Indian Evidence Act, 1872

The Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

THE 18TH DAY OF MARCH, 1937.

Present.

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

WHEREAS by section two hundred and ninety three of the Government of India Act, 1935, (hereinafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as 'the Act') His Majesty is empowered by Order in Council to provide that as from such date as may be specified in the Order any law in force in British India or in any part of British India shall, until repealed or amended by a competent legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as appear to His Majesty to be necessary or expedient for bringing the provisions of that law into accord with the provisions of the Act

And whereas a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order ·

Now, therefore, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows,—

1 This Order may be cited as the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty seven

2 (1) In this Order the expression 'Indian Law' means a law as defined [illegible] three of the Act

[illegible] or the interpretation of this [illegible] of Parliament

3 The Indian laws mentioned in the Schedule to this Order shall, until repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications directed by those Schedules to be made therein or, if it is so directed, shall cease to have effect

4 (1) Whenever an expression mentioned in the first column of the Table hereinunder printed occurs (otherwise than in a title or preamble or in a citation or description of an enactment), in a Central or Provincial Act or Regulation whether an Act or Regulation mentioned in the Schedules to this Order or not, then, unless that expression is by this Order expressly directed to be otherwise adapted or modified, or to stand unmodified or to be omitted, there shall be substituted therefor the expression set opposite to it in column two of the said table

Table of General Adaptations

Governor General of India in Council Governor General of India Governor General in Council Governor General Government of India	Central Government

Governor in Council Governor (except in the expression 'Governor's Province') Lieutenant Governor in Council Lieutenant Governor Chief Commissioner (except in the expression 'Chief Commissioner's Province') Local Government Local Administration	Provincial Government
Gazette of India local official Gazette local Gazette any other expression denoting a Gazette in which official notices of a government are published, not being the Gazette of a district or other sub division of a Province	Official Gazette

Any reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) of a named Province in Council shall be treated for the purposes of this paragraph as if it were a reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) in Council of that Province

(2) A direction in the Schedules to this Order that a specified Indian law or section or portion of an Indian law shall stand unmodified shall be construed merely as a direction that it is not to be modified or adapted in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph

5 (1) Where this Order requires that in any specified Indian law or in any section or other portion of an Indian law, certain words shall be substituted for certain other words or that certain words shall be omitted, that substitution or omission, as the case may be, shall except where it is otherwise expressly provided be made wherever the words referred to occur in that law or, as the case may be, in that section or portion

(2) Where this Order requires that in any Indian law a plural noun shall be substituted for a singular noun and vice versa or a masculine noun for a neuter noun or vice versa there shall be made also in any verb or pronoun in the sentence in question such consequential amendment as the rules of Grammar may require

6 (1) The following provisions shall have effect where any Indian law which under this Order is to be adapted or modified has before the commencement of this Order been amended, either generally or in relation to any particular area by the insertion or omission of words or the substitution of words for other words —

(a) effect shall first be given in the amending law to any adaptation or modification required by paragraphs three and five of this order to be made therein,

(b) the original law shall then be amended either generally or, as the case may be, in its application to the particular area, so as to give effect to the directions contained in the amending law or, where any adaptation or modification has fallen to be made under sub paragraph (a), in that law as so adapted or modified and

(c) all adaptations or modifications required by this Order to be made in the original law shall then be made in that law as so amended except so far as in the case of any particular area they may be inapplicable

(2) In this paragraph references to the amendment of a law by the insertion or omission of words or the substitution of words do not include references to an amendment which is effected merely by directing that certain words shall be construed in a particular manner

7 Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Order any reference by whatever form of words in any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order to an authority competent at the date of the passing of that law to exercise any powers or authorities or discharge any functions, in any part of British India shall, where a corresponding new authority has been constituted by or under any Part of the Government of India Act, 1935, for the time being in force, have effect until duly repealed or amended as if it where a reference to that new authority.

8 In any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order any reference by name or description to any territory shall, unless the contrary intention appears or unless it has been, or is by this Order, otherwise expressly provided, be construed as a reference to the territory which bore that name or answered to that description at the date when the enactment containing that name or description came into operation·

Provided that in the application of any enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, references in that enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, as the case may be, shall be construed as exclusive of so much of those Provinces respectively as was separated therefrom on the constitution of the Provinces of Orissa and Sind

9 The provisions of this Order which adapt or modify Indian laws so as to alter the manner in which, the authority by which, or the law under or in accordance with which, any powers are exercisable, shall not render invalid any notification, order, commitment, attachment, bye law, rule or regulation duly made or issued, or anything duly done, before the commencement of this Order, and any such notification, order, commitment, attachment, bye law, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in the like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as if it had been made, issued or done after the commencement of this Order by the competent authority and under and in accordance with the provisions therein applicable to such a case

10 Save as provided by this Order, all powers which under any law in force in British India, or in any part of British India, were immediately before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, vested in, or exercisable by, any person or authority shall continue to be so vested or exercisable until other provision is made by some legislature or authority empowered to regulate the matter in question

11 Nothing in this Order shall affect the previous operation of, or anything duly done or suffered under, any Indian law, or any right, privilege, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred under any such law, or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence already committed against any such law

12 For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that—

(a) nothing in this Order transferring or assigning any functions to the Central Government shall be construed as excluding those functions from the operation of section on [illegible] section one hundred and twenty four of the [illegible]

(b) the transfer by this C[illegible] diction theretofore exercisable b[illegible] not be construed as excluding that jurisdiction from the operation of sub section (2) of section two hundred and ninety six of the said Act,

(c) nothing in this Order shall affect the provisions of any Order in Council for the time being in force made under section one hundred and fifty eight, section one hundred and fifty nine or section one hundred and sixty of the said Act (which empower Orders to be made regulating the relations of India and Burma as to their monetary systems, relief from double taxation, customs, and ancillary and related matters), or under any corresponding provisions in the Government of Burma Act 1935, and

(d) no repeal effected by this Order shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph fifteen of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936

(Sd) M P. A Hankey

1 The Indian Evidence Act, 1872

(1 of 1872)

Section 26 —In the explanation omit ' or in Burma"

Section 36 —For ' Government" substitute "any Government in British India"

Section 37 —For 'Act of the Governor General of India in Council" substitute ' Act of the Central Legislature" and for the words from ' for the time being" to the end of the section substitute by any laws for the time being in force or in a Government notification or notification by the Crown representative appearing in the official Gazette or in any printed paper purporting to be the London Gazette or the Government Gazette of any Dominion, Colony or possession of His Majesty is a relevant fact "

Section 57 —Substitute for paragraph (1) — "(1) all Indian laws "

In paragraph (4) for the words from "of the Councils" to 'relating thereto" substitute ' of the legislatures established under any laws for the time being in force in British India "

In paragraph (6) for 'the Governor General or any Local Government in Council" substitute "the Central Government or the Crown representative "

In paragraph (7) for the Gazette of India or in the official Gazette of any Local Government" substitute ' any official Gazette "

Section 78 —In sub section (1) for "the Executive Government of British India substitute "the Central Government" , after the first ' departments" insert 'or of the Crown representative", and at the end of the sub section add "or, as the case may be, of the Crown representative", in sub section (2) for ' by order of Government" substitute "by order of the Government concerned" , and in sub-section (4) for "public act of the Governor General of India in Council" substitute Central Act "

Section 79 —For ' Native State in alliance with Her Majesty" substitute 'Indian State" and for the Governor General in Council" substitute ' the Central Government or the Crown representative "

Section 81 —For 'the Gazette of India, or the Government Gazette of any Local Government, or' substitute any official Gazette, or the Government Gazette"

Section 83 —For ' Government" substitute "any Government in British India "

Section 118 —After 'any portion of British territory has" insert "before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935"

2 The Banker's Books Evidence Act, 1891

(XVIII of 1891)

Section 2 —For sub section (1) sebstitute—

'(1) 'Company' means a company registered under any of the enactments relating to companies for the time being in force in any part of His Majesty's dominions or incorporated by an Act of Parliament or by an Indian law or by Royal Charter or by Letters Patent "

———

THE GOVERNMENT OF BURMA (ADAPTATION OF LAWS) ORDER, 1937.

WHEREAS by section one hundred and forty-nine of the Government of Burma Act, 1935, His Majesty is empowered by order in Council to provide that, as from such date as may be specified in the order, any law in force in Burma shall, until repealed or amended by the Legislature or other competent authority, have [illegible] as appear to His Majesty [illegible] ma :

And whereas a draft of this order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section one hundred and fifty-seven of the said Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an order may be made in this terms of this order :

Now, therefore, His Majesty, in the exercise of power conferred on him as aforesaid and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as the Government of Burma (Adaptation of Laws) Order, 1937.

2. This Order shall come into operation on the separation of Burma and India.

3. (1) In this Order, 'Burman law' means a law as defined in section one hundred and forty-nine of the Government of Burma Act, 1935.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this order as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

4. (1) The enactments mentioned in the Schedule to this order shall, until repealed or amended by the Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications directed by that Schedule to be made therein or, where so directed, shall cease to have effect.

(2) Save as otherwise provided in that or in any other Burman law, every Burman law shall be deemed to have effect throughout the whole of British Burma.

5. (1) Whenever an expression mentioned in the first column of the Table here-in-under printed occurs (otherwise than in a title or preamble or in a citation or description of an enactment) in any Burman law then, unless that expression is under the last preceding paragraph expressly directed to be otherwise adapted or modified or to stand unmodified or to be omitted, there shall be substituted therefor the expression set opposite to it in the second column of the said Table.

Table of General Adaptations.

Expression	Substitute
Governor-General of India : Governor-General :	Governor.
Governor-General of India in Council : Governor-General in Council :
Chief Commissioner of British Burma : Chief Commissioner : Lieutenant-Governor of Burma : Lieutenant-Governor : Local Government of Burma ; Local Government.

Gazette of India, Gazette of British Burma, Burma Gazette, Local official Gazette, Official Gazette,	Gazette

(2) Any words contained in any Burman law, otherwise than in a title or preamble, which require the consent assent, approval, sanction or control of the Governor General or the Governor General in Council in relation to any thing done by the Local Government or the Governor shall be omitted.

(3) A direction in the Schedule to this order that a specified Burman law or section or portion of a Burman law shall stand unmodified shall be construed merely as a direction that it is not to be modified or adapted in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph

6 Where this Order requires that in any specified Burman law or portion of a Burman law certain words shall be substituted for certain other words or that certain words shall be omitted, that substitution or omission, as the case may be, shall unless the contrary intention appears, be made wherever the words referred to occur in that law or that portion

7 (1) Where any Burman law has before the commencement of this order been amended by the insertion or omission of words, or the substitution of words for other words, the adaptations and modifications directed to be made therein by this order shall be made in the enactment is in force at the commencement of this order, that is to say, as so amended

Provided that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as extending the operation of any temporary amending enactment

(2) In this paragraph references to the amendment of law by the insertion or omission of words, or the substitution of words, do not include references to an amendment which is effected merely by directing that certain words shall be construed in a particular manner

8 Where this order requires the substitution in any enactment of a plural noun for a singular noun or vice versa or of a masculine noun for a neuter noun, or vice versa, or of a noun or adjective beginning with a consonant for a noun or adjective beginning with a vowel, or vice versa there shall also be made in any verb, pronoun or article in the sentence in question such consequential amendment as the rules of Grammar may require

9 The pro[illegible] which adapt or modify any enactment so [illegible]e authority by which, or the law in or in [illegible]rs are exercisable, shall not render invalid any notification, order, commitment, attachment bye law, rule or regulation duly made or issued, or anything done before the commencement of this order; and any such notification of order commitment, attachment, bye law, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in the like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as if it had been made, issued or done after the commencement of this order by the competent authority and under and in accordance with the provisions then applicable to such a case

10 Nothing in this order shall affect the previous operation of, or anything duly done or suffered under, any Burman law, or any right, privilege, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred under any such law or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence already committed against any such law

11 Save as provided in this order, all powers which under any law in force in Burma or in any part of Burma were at the commencement of this order vested in or exercisable by any person or authority shall continue to be so vested or exercisable until other provision is made by the Legislature or by some authority empowered to regulate the matter in question.

12 (1) References in any Burman law to that or any other Burman law, or to any section or portion thereof, shall, except in so far as the contrary intention appears, be construed—

(a) as respects any period before the separation of India and Burma, as references to that law, section or portion as in force in all places to which it then extended, whether within or without Burma

(b) as respects any period after the said separation as referencee to that law, section or portion as in force in Burma

(2) The foregoing provisions of this paragraph extend to references to, or to any section or portion of, any Burman law by means of the short title of the law, notwithstanding that the Schedule to this Order alters that short title and notwithstanding that no consequential alteration is made in the reference.

13 For the avoidance of doubt it it is hereby declared that nothing in this order shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph eleven of the Government of Burma (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 193[illegible], or of any order in Council made under Part XI of the Government of Burma Act, 1935

THE SCHEDULE

The Indian Evidence Act, 1872

(I of 1872,

In the short title omit "Indian" and "1872'

Section 1—Omit "extends to the whole of British India and'

Sections 23, 126, 128 and 150—For 'barrister pleader attorney or vakil', and 'barrister, attorney or vakil substitute "legal practitioner'

Section 57—In clause (12) and in section 127 for "advocates, attorneys proctors, vakils pleaders and "barristers pleaders attorneys and vakils substitute "legal practitioners Section 26—Omit In the Presidency of Fort St George or in Burma or elsewhere"

Section 37—For 'Act of the Governor General of India in Council or of any other legislat ve authority in Brit sh India constituted for the time being under the Indian Council Act 1861 the Indian Councils Acts 1861 and 189[illegible] or the Indian Councils Acts 1861 to 1909" substitute enactment in force at any time in British Burma or British India", for Gazette of India, or in the Gazette of any Local Government" substitute Gazette"

Section 57—In clause (1) for British India' substitute 'British Burma or British India'

For clause (4) substitute—

'(4) the course of proceeding of Parliament and of the Burma Legislature"

In clause (6) for British India and of all Courts out of British India established by the authority of [illegible] Local Government in Council substitute British Bur[illegible] having the force of law in British India" subst[illegible] Burma"

In clause (7) for [illegible] Burma" and for Gazette of India or in the official Gazette of any Local Government" substitute Gazette"

Section 65—In clause (f) for Brit sh Ind a" substitute "British Burma" Section 66—For 'attorney" substitute 'advocate'

Section 74—For British India substitute "British Burma."

Section 78—For "Executive Government of British India in any of its departments, or of any Local Government or any department of any Local Government" substitute "Government" and for 'any such Government" substitute "the Governor"

For 'public Act of the Governor General of India in Council" substitute "enactment in force in British Burma"

For "British India" substitute "British Burma"

Section 79—For 'British India" substitute 'British Burma" and for "Native State in alliance with Her Majesty" substitute "other part of Burma"

Section 81—For "Gazette of India, or the Government Gazette of any Local Government, or" substitute "Gazette of Burma or the Government Gazette".

Sections 85 and 86—Omit "or of the Government of India"

Section 86—Omit the words from "An officer" to "territory or place".

Section 91—For Exception 2 substitute—"Exception 2—Wills may be proved by any probate thereof having effect in British Burma"

Omit section 113

The Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891.

(XVIII of 1891)

Section 1—Omit sub section (2)

Section 2—For clause (1) substitute the following —

"(1) 'Company' means a company incorporated or registered by or under the law of the United Kingdom, British Burma, British India or any British possession",

In clause (6) for "a High Court substitute "the High Court"

THE INDIAN EVIDENCE ACT.

—o—

ACT I OF 1872.

Received the assent of the Governor-General on the 15th March, 1872

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate, define and amend the Law of Evidence; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Title of an Act.—"Originally, bills in Parliament were mere petitions to the King. They were entered on the rolls of Parliament, with the King's answer and at the [illegible] records into Statutes to which the[illegible] itle was first added about the eleventh [illegible] iginal title of a bill is amended at [illegible] when the alterations in the body [illegible] necessary, and in the Commo[illegible] in the third reading stage of a b[illegible] d by Lord Mansfield in Rex [illegible] was no part of the law, see al[illegible] 5, Poweller's Case, 11 Rep 336 [illegible] nouth, Ambl 22, Chance v [illegible] t, 6 C B N S 1; Jefferys v B[illegible] x D 194 "The [illegible]

[illegible] made to the preamble [illegible] Chander v. Shoorothouse, 9 W. R. (P. B.) [illegible] m v. Imamuddin, 2 A. 74 (90), [illegible] 4 M. I. A. 187.

e Preamble The preamble is undoubtedly a part of the Act, and may be used to explain but not to control, the enacting part, which goes often beyond the preamble, if the words to be found in the former are strong enough for the purpose China Ingan v Mahomed, 2 M H C R 322; Salkeld v Johnson, (1848) 2 Ex 283 'I very much regret said Lord Alverstone C J "that the practice of inserting preambles in Acts of Parliament has disappeared, for the preamble often helped to the solution of doubtful points" London County Council v Bermondsey Bioscope Co, 80 L J K B 144, But the preamble of an Act of Parliament cannot be resorted to in order to ascertain the intention of the Act unless there is an ambiguity in the enacting part Taylor v Oldham County Corporation 4 Ch D 395 = 46 L J Ch 105 = 35 L T 696 = 25 W R 178 In cases of doubt preamble can be legitimately invoked to determine the scope of the enactment Emmanuel v Constable 3 Russ 436, Brett v Brett, 3 Addams 219 Wethered v Calcutt, 61 R R 600 Carr v Royal Exchange Ass Co, 33 L J Q B 63, Re Mısters, 33 L J Q B 146 When the language and the object and scope of the Act are not open to doubt the preamble cannot restrict or extend the enacting part 4 Inst 330, Per Lord Mansfield in Pettison v Banks, (1777 Cowp 543, Pattison v Sewell (1766) 1 W Bl 659, Copland v Davies, (1872 L R 5 H L 358, Bentley v Rotherham (1876) 46 L J Ch 284, R v Tiltos (1723) 8 Mod 144 The meaning and effect of the preamble of a Code, must be understood to overlie the whole Act giving colour to and controlling its provisions and by showing the intention of the legislature supplying pro tanto the rule for the interpretation of these provisions Ulabram v Imamuddin, 2 A 74 (90)

Where the object or meaning of an enactment is not clear "the preamble of a Statute is a good means to find out the meaning of the Statute and as if it were a key to open the understanding thereof (Coke Inst 79 a) Where the intention of the Legislature is declared by the preamble, effect is to be given to the preamble to this extent namely that it shows what the legislature are intending and if the words of enactment have a meaning which does not go beyond that preamble or which may come up to that preamble, in either case that meaning is to be preferred to one showing an intention of the Legislature which would not answer to the purposes of the preamble or which go beyond them Per Lord Blackburn in Overseer of West Ham v Iles (1883) 8 App Cas 388 389 see also The People v Utica Insur Co 15 Johns N Y Rep 389, see also Coosaw Mining Co v South Carolina, (1891) 144 U S 550 at p 563 It has been sometimes said that the preamble may extend, but cannot restrain the enacting part of a Statute R v Athos 8 Mod 144, Copeman v Gallant, 1 P Wms 390 per Lord Hope in Walker v Richardson, (1837) 6 L J Ex 229, Hayman v Fletcher 32 L J C P 137 Drummond v Drummond, L R 2 Ch 44, Karns v Co of Bunns Co 6 C B N S 388 But it would be difficult to support this proposition Maxwell, 6th Ed p 91 citing per Parker C B and Lord Hardwicke in Ryall v Rolle, 1 Atk 174 182 So it is well settled that the preamble cannot either restrict or extend the enacting part when the the language and the object and the scope of the Act are not open to doubt A preamble in a Statute cannot govern clear expression in the enacting part thereof Keshab v Bhaktram 18 C L J 182 Queen Empress v Indrajit 11 A 262 (266), Kalu v Bhairam 14 A 147 Sutton v Sutton, 22 Ch D 515, Mould v Improvement Trustees, 4 C 343 In Powell v Kempton Park Race Course Co (1899) A C 143 at P 157 = 68 L J Q B 392, Lord Halsbury observed "Two propositions are quite clear one that a preamble may afford useful light as to what a Statute intends to reach and another, that if an enactment is clear and unambiguous, no preamble can qualify or cut down the enactment

So where the enacting part is explicit and unambiguous, the preamble cannot be resorted to, to control, qualify or restrict it, but where the enacting part is ambiguous, the preamble can be referred to, to explain and elucidate it. Lal Mal v Harnam Singh, A I R 1923 Lah 35 = 23 P L R 595 = 101 Ind Cas 661 In Rex v Brandling, 7 B & C 613 Lord Tenterden thus laid down the rule "If on a review of the whole Act a wider intention than that expressed in the preamble appears to be the real one effect should be given to it, notwithstanding the less extensive import of the preamble" In Fellowes v Clay, (1843) 4 Q B 313, Lord Denman observed "The preamble is often no more than a recital of the inconveniences, and does not exclude any others for which a remedy is given by the Statute. The evil recited is but the motive for the legislat'on ; but remedy may both consistently and wisely be extended beyond the cure of that evil". In the well known Sussex Peerage Case, 11 C L & Fin 85, Tindal C J observed · "If the words of the Statute are in themselves precise and unambiguous then no more can be necessary than to expand those words in their natural and ordinary sense The words themselves alone do in such case, best declare the intention of the lawgiver But if any doubt arises from the terms employed by the Legislature, it has always been held a safe means of collecting the intention, to call in aid the ground and cause of making the Statute, and to have recourse to the preamble, which according to Chief Justice Dyer, is a key to open the minds of the makers of the Act, and the mischief which they intended to redress" In the Secretary of State v. Maharaja of Bobbili, 43 M 529 P C Lord Shaw said "It is the section that governs an of Improvement of Calc preamble of an Act

may be a most useful g tion of a particular

90) F B 145, Kristonath v T F Brown, C L J. 8, Kesavalu Nicker v The = 92 Ind Cas 1053 = A I R 1926 Mad 381 = 50 M L J 301, Nepen v Sajer Pramanik, 103 Ind Cas 662 = A I R 1927 Cal 763, Raj Mal v Harnam Singh, 104 Ind Cas 661 = 28 P L R 505 Where a section, or an Act, is capable of two renderings or is said to mean less or more, than it says it is a maxim of interpretation that one must look at the mad, L R 5 A 201 = 46 A

I which we are bound to admin and I say so because of the at it is not merely a fragmentary enactment, but a consolidatory enactment repealing all rules of evidence other than those saved by the last part of section 2 of that enactment"—Per Mahmood J in Collector of Gorakhpur v Palakdhari Singh, 12 A. 1 F B at p 35

Interpretation of Statutes A Statute is the will of the Legislature, and the fundamental rule of interpretation, to which all others are subordinate, is that a Statute is to be expounded 'according to the intent of them that made it" 4 Inst 330, Sussex Peerage, 11 Cl & F 143 It is the fundamental principle of the interpretation of Statutes that their language must be understood in the most ordinary and popular acceptation Per Mahmood J in Queen Empress v Abdullah, 7 A 385 (398) (F B) The language of a Statute, taken in its inconsistency with the rest of the instrument, in which case the grammatical and ordinary sense of the words may be modified so as to avoid that absurdity repugnance or inconsistency, but no further' Per Lord Wensleydale, in Grey v Pearson, oles (1882) 7 App Cas (P C) 193 (2 tton, (1886) 12 App Cas at p 6 In repe (1858) 7 H L Cas 114, 115, Lord as in substance laid down by Mr Justice Hul s & Bro 618) It had previously , in Doe v Jessop (12 East, 293) as 'a rule of common sense as strong as can be' It has been stated by Lord Cranworth (when Chancellor) as 'a Cardinal Rule' from which, if we le departed, we should launch into a sea of difficulties not easy to fathom [Grundey v Pinniger, (1852) 1 De G M & G 502], and as the Golden Rule when applied to Acts of Parliament, by Jervis C J, in Mattison v. Hart, 23 L J C P 108, at p 114" Maxwell p 5 . . . . . inter-pretation of Statutes that when the lang . . . two constructions, the Court should not . . . ad to an absurdity or obvious injustice Khan Gul v Lakha Singh, A I R 1928 Lah 609 (F B) The C . . . and should construe an enactment as . . . terms of the other Statutes which it . . . l A Statute ought to be so construed that if it can be prevented no clause, sentence or word, shall be superfluous, void or insignificant R v Bishop of Oxford, 4 Q B D 245, Hough v Windus, 12 Q B D 224, Vasanbai v Radhibai, A I R 1928 Sind 118

Rules of Construction, when language is plain "It is not allowable" says Vattel, "to interpret what has no need of interpretation" (Law of N C 263) Absoluta sententia expositore no indiget (2 Inst 533) Such language best declares without more, the intention of the law-giver, and is decisive of it [Per Buller J in R v Hodnett 1 T R 966, Sussex Peerage (1844) 11 Cl & F 143 U S v Hartwell, 6 Wallace 395, U S v Wiltberger, 5 Wheat 95] The Legislature must be in . . . -sed, and conse-quently there is no . . . v Banbury 1 A & E 142, Fisher v B . . . Court is bound . . . of the language of the Statute, . . . tutory language, even if the result of such construction leads to anomalies or be productive even of absurdity Rajib v Lakhan, 27 C 11=3 C W N 660 following, Bank of England v Vagliano, L R App Cas (1891) 107 p 145, St John Hamstead v Cotton 12 App Cas 6 (1886), see also, Alfred v Wilkinson, 47 B 843, R v City of London Court (1892) 1 Q B 273, Mersey Docks v Turner, (1893) A C at p 477, British Farmers & Co, In re, 48 L J Ch 56, Crawford v Spooner 6 Moo P C 9, R v Skeen 28 L J M C 94, Abey v Dale, 21 L J C P 104 The duty of the Court is not to make the law reason-able, but to expound it as it stands, according to the real sense of the words Biffin v Yorke, 5 M & G 428, Dennis v Towell 42 L J M C 33, Plasterers Co, v Parish Clerks Co, 20 L J Ex 362 A Statute need not be interpreted in the light of what is just and expedient, where it is otherwise clear from plain and unambiguous language Gwyne v Burnell 7 Cl & F 572 "Our decision", says Lord Tenterden in R v Barham 8 B & C 99, "may in this particular case operate to defeat the object of the Act, but it is better to abide by this consequence than to put upon it a construction not warranted by the words of the Act in order to give effect to what we may suppose to have been the intention of the Legislature" "The Act says Lord Abinger in A G v Lockwood, 9 M & W 395, "has practically had a pernicious effect not at all contemplated, but we cannot construe it according to that result" "I can not doubt" says Lord Campbell in Coe v Lawrence, 22 L J Q B 140, "what the intention of the Legislature was, but that intention has not been carried into effect by the language used It is far better that we should abide by the words of a Statute than seek to reform it according to the supposed intention" It may have been an oversight in the framers of the Act," . . . x 88, "but we must const . . . See also R v Male, 3 A . . . 22 L J, Q B 225, Gwy . . . L J Ch 372; Wilkins v Ju . . . , Palmer v Thatcher, 3 Q . . .

. . . d from the words of a Statute, and not from any general inferences to be drawn from the nature of the objects dealt with by the Statute Fordyce v Bridges, 1 H. L. Cas 1=11 Jur 157 Because the Court . . . ept from the words in which it is ex . . . at the time. Logan v Courtown (L . . . gh v Shaghunath, 2 O W. N 713=90 Ind Cas 470 Nanak Ram v Mohan Lal, 1 A 487, Madhusudan v Bamacharan, 1 Hyde, 100, Madhusudan v Raja Mohesh, 3 B L. R A. C 200; Jagodishhuruy v. Kailash, 24 C 725 (F B)=1 C W. N. 374, Guicebullah v Mohun Lall, 7 C 127=8 C L R 409; Kuar Nugshar v Kuar Mathura, 25 O C 189=9 O L J 235; Moza Sadique v Mohomed Karim, 9 O L J ... uld be interpreted as simply as possible ... 1922) L B 27=67 Ind Cas 610 The ... as it stands and not to make a new, though it may be a better law Ram Charan v Kumud Mohan, 25 C. 571 (578)=2 C W N 297 The rule that a word used in a Statute is to be understood in the same sense throughout, is only a rule of presumption, by no means inflexible, and certainly not of such a character as to be irrebuttable by other rules of interpretation founded upon the especial context of statutory words or reasons and objects whereof any special section is enacted Per Mahmood J in Baijnath v Sital Singh, 13 A 224 at p 245, but see Babu v. Jaswant 35 B. 401

The meaning of an Act is not to be ir... framers intended to do but with reference to ... employ Nur Muhammad v Lal Chand, 7 I... Ind Cas 254=A I R 1925 Lah 436, Tool... 502=102 Ind Cas 115=A I R 1927 Cal 474 But in some cases it is more reasonable to hold that the ... manner than that a meanin... intended. Ram Chunder ... Cal 927 In a word then it is to be taken as a fundamental principle, standing as it were on the threshold of the whole subject of interpretation, that the plain intention of the Legislature, as expressed by the language employed is invariably to be accepted and carried into effect, whatever may be the opinion of the judicial interpreter of its wisdom or justice If the language admits of no doubt or secondary meaning, it is to be obeyed Gopal Chandra v Guru Charan, A. I. R 1929 Cal ... h leads to an anomaly can be giver... and admit... Lah 325 behind the... S R Balkri...

No Addition or Omission In Vickers v Evans, 79 L J K B 955, Lord Loreburn L C observed "We are not entitled to read words into an Act of Parliament unless clear reason for it is to be found within the four corners of the Act itself" The observation of Lord Mersey in Thompson v Goold, 79 L J K. B 911 also runs as follows "It is a strong thing to read into an Act of Parli... the absence of clear necessity, it is ... wro... 2 M & Gr 277, per I... rd Westbury in Exp... J. 351 When ... interpreter to add ... to create ... he words the ... lawgiver ... Crawford v Spooner, ... when the Court's ... any expression ... 25 All ...

silent as to them Pedalba Reddi v. Varala Reddi, A I R 1929 Mad 236=29 M L W 210=1929 M W N 81=52 M 432

Facts If the words are suffici... which if less correct gram matic... the Legislature Maxwell p 36 ... v Palmer, 18 L J Ex 409; Caledonian R Co v N Brit R Co 6 App Cas 114 Edinburgh Tramways Co v Torbain, 1 App Cas ... Eastman Photograph C v Comptroller of Patents, (1898) A C 571, Direct U S Cable Co v Anglo-American Telegraph Co (1877) 2 App Cas 391, Walton Ex parte (1881) 17 Ch D 746 "The literal construction, then, has, in general, but prima facie preference To arrive at the real meaning, it is always necessary to get an exact conception of the ... consider according to Lord Coke (Hey... 10 Rep 73a) (1) What was the law b... mischief or defect for which the law had not provided, (3) What remedy ... ment has appointed and (4) the reason of the remedy Maxwell p 39 The same view is reiterated by Lindley M R in Mayfair Property Co, In re, (1898) 2 Ch 28 at p 35 in the following word In order properly to interpret any Statute it is as necessary now as it was when Lord Coke reported (Heydon's cas (1854) 3 Rep 7 (a)) to consider how the law stood when the Statute to be construed was passed what the mischief was for which the old law ... and the remedy provided by ... Lord Sinha said 'It is a s... statute as they stand and ... the previous state of the law ... English law upon which it may be founded but when it is contended that the legislature intended by any particular amendment to make substantial changes in the pre existing law it is impossible to arrive at a conclusion without considering what the law was previously to the particular enactment and to see whether the words used in the statute can be taken to effect the change that is suggested as intended" Abdur Rahim v Syed Abu ... 5 I A 96=75 Cal 519=32 C W N 482=26 A L J 461=30 Bom L R 714=54 M L J 609 (P C) see also Per Lord Sinha in Mt Ramanandi v Mt Kalawati, A I R 1928 P C 2 Hari Ram v Krishna Lal A I R 1928 Lah 361, Golab v Lala Sir ... Prosad, 28 C 517=5 C W N 610 Where intention is not clear pre-existing law can be referred to So reference to previous state of law is permissible for solving doubts in construing Rogers Pratt v Secretary of State, 52 C 1=52 Ind Cas 273

It is an elementary rule that construction is to be made of all the parts together and not of one part only by itself Co Litt 381 (a) Lincoln College case, 3 Rep 59 (b) Duryeand v Board of Trade, 55 L J Q B 417, Maxwell ... best harmonises with the ... Maxwell p 51 An Act of ... ry meaning of the words ... in the English language as appli... very strong ground, derived from the ... construed Hornsey Local Board v ... Q B D 1=29 L J Q B 105 Or ... a Statute should be construed, so as to give some meaning to every part of it Haromoni v Hari Churan, 22 C 833 (840), Swaminatha v Luthna 15 M L J 116 (F B)=28 M 166 It is a well known rule of construction that each part of a Statute must expound every other part Lalji v Emperor, 5 P L J 78=1 Pat L T 117=(1920) Pat 125=54 Ind Cas 891=21 Cr L J 190 The Court must in each ...

... Ram Saji ... 7 (F B),

River Wear C...

It is a ... context ... or ... a defined ... occu... Commissioner of Income Tax v 7... B)=51 M L J 521=27 M L W ...

Same expression used in same meaning It is a well settled rule of construction that the same words are to be prima facie construed in the same sense in different parts of the same Statute Per Chitty J in Spencer v Metropolitan Board of Works, (1883) 22 Ch D 142, see also Courtauld v Legh, L R 4 Ex 130, R v Poor Law Commrs 6 A & E 1, Re Kirkstall Brewery, 5 Ch D 535, Khan Gul v Lakha Singh, A I R 1928 Lah 609 (F B)

Benificial Construction It is said to be the duty of the Judge to make such construction of a Statute as shall suppress the mischief and advance the remedy Heydon's Case 3 Rep 76, Twistle v Hartwell, 6 I R 429, Fugcross v Grant, 2 C P D 530 Even where the usual meaning of the language falls short of the whole object of the Legislature, a more extended meaning may be attributed to the words, if fairly susceptible of it If there are circumstances in the Act showing that the phraseology is used in a larger sense than its ordinary meaning, that sense is to be given to it Per Lord Esher M R in Barlow v Ross (1890) 24 Q B D 381 at p 389, Gross in the goods of, (1901) 73 L J P 82 In Madura Devasthanam v Madura Municipality, A I R 1928 Mad 569 at p 571, Wallace J observed "This result is also in consonance with the well known principle of interpretation of fiscal enactments, that if the language is at all ambiguous it must be interpreted in the manner most beneficial to the subject"

Special Act not affected by General Act A general Act sh[illegible] construed as repealing a particula[illegible] App Cas 9[illegible]0 [illegible] mere implication [illegible] House, 3 K & J [illegible] Id 381, Kutner [illegible] (1898) 1 Q B 45 [illegible] 4 L J Q B 151, Lodge v H[illegible] the maxim [illegible] neral words [illegible] out extend- [illegible] earlier and special legislation is not to be indirectly repealed, altered, or derogated from merely by force of such general words, [illegible] intention to do so" Per Lord Selborne in [illegible] Cas at p 68, Hawkins v Gathercole, 6 [illegible] Bridg 122, Thames Conservators v Hall, I [illegible] 1 Ex D 75, Maxwell, 314 Where a special enactment deals with a particular thing or class of things a more general enactment, even though its terms would cover the particular th[illegible] pplication thereto by reason of the parti[illegible] 1928 All 536, Ko Maung Gyi v Daw I[illegible] [illegible] Statute, con- [illegible] ice or [illegible] may [illegible] icture [illegible] 1916) [illegible] Legis- [illegible] ice of [illegible] idera- [illegible] ation [illegible] I R [illegible] that in construing it absurdity should be avoided Secretary of State v Fake Mohammad, 15 C L J 185

Retrospective operation of Statutes Every Statute which takes away and impairs vested rights must be presumed [illegible] unless the language clearly supports a co[illegible] Surf[illegible] Sell[illegible] [illegible]

752=A. I R 1925 Nag 219 The Succession Act, 1865 was not retrospective, and did not apply to Wills made before the passing of that Act Inchar l Pass Skinner v Durga Prosad, 31 A 239=24 A W N 213=3 Ind Cas 66, Sarkies v Prosonnomoyee, 6 C 794 The leaning against giving certain Statutes a retrospective operation rests upon the presumption that the Legislature does not intend what is unjust This rule is based on the maxim Nova constitutio futuris formam imponere debet nonpraeteritis (A new rule ought to be prospective, not retrospective in its operation) Retrospective laws are, as a rule, of questionable policy, and contrary to the general principle that legislation by which the conduct of mankind is to be regulated ought when introduced for the first time, to deal with future acts, and ought not to change character of past transactions carried on upon the faith of the then existing law Per Willes, J in Phillips v Eyre, L R 6 Q B 23 The case of Moon v Durden, 2 Ex Ch 22 is a leading case on the subject That was a case in which the plaintiff claimed money on the basis of a wagering contract During the pendency of the suit Stat 8 and 9 Vict C 109 was passed That Statute made all wagering contracts null and void and all suits brought on such contracts not maintainable The question raised was whether it operated to defeat the plaintiff's claim The Court of Exchequer decided it did not Parke B in delivering the judgment observed 'The language of the clause, if taken in its ordinary sense, as in the first instance we ought to take it, . . . and to all actions both present a . . .
Coke says 'a rule an . . .
formam imponere debet, . . .
ments in a Statute are generally to be construed to be prospective, and intended to regulate the future conduct of persons, is deeply founded in good sense and strict justice, and has been acted upon in many cases But this rule, which is one of construction only, will certainly yield to the intention of the Legislature and the question in this and in every similar case is, whether that intention has been sufficiently expressed

So it is abundantly clear th . . .

. . . which takes away or impairs vested rights acquired under existing laws, or creats a new disability in respect of transactions or considerations already past, must be presumed, out of respect . . . ective operation Dish v . . . nnessa Khetun v Purna . . . Kedar Nath v Netram 23 . . . dal 31 C W N 1007, . . . I R 1927 Cal 763, Delhi Cloth etc, Mills v Income Tax Commissioner, Delhi, 54 I A 421=8 Pat L T 791=25 A L J 964=53 M L J 819=A I R 1927 P C 242.

. . . he procedure . . . it Gardner . . . So no suitor . . . in, if during . . . Costa Rica . . . also Wright v Stoom, 22 . . . ction is more . . . to be given . . . vise than as . . . ithout doing . . . expressed in . . . be construed . . . Q B 551 . . . must unless . . . d before or . . . e procedure . . . All 657, see also Kedar Nath v. Netram, 23 N L R 60=101 Ind Cas 284=A. I R. 1927

Nag 127. While provisions of a Statute dealing merely with matters of procedure may properly, unless that construction be textually inadmissible, have retrospective effect attributed to them, provisions which touch a right in existence at the passing of the Statute are not to be applied retrospectively in the absence of express enactment or necessary intendment Delhi Cloth etc Mills Co v [illegible] 121=8 Pat L T. 791=25 A L J [illegible] 1927 P C. 212 In Ram Singha v. Sl[illegible] B), a suit for arrears of rent for less [illegible] Assistant Collector under the Agra Tenancy Act, when the old Tenancy Act, was in force Before it could be decided, the new Act came into force, by which the right of appeal was taken away The point of law that arises before the Full Bench, therefore is whether the coming into force of the new Tenancy Act, under which no appeal is provided, deprives the defendant of his right of appeal, which he would have had if the old Tenancy Act had continued to be operative The Full Bench answered the question in the following terms "It is clear to us that an appeal is a mere continuance of the original proceeding initiated by the filing of the plaint and that the right to continue that proceeding cannot be affected by a new Act unless it expressly says [illegible]

[illegible] =50 Mad 857 (F. B) [illegible] Shyam Behari Lal, A. I [illegible] Ali Khan v Genda, 26 A. 375 [illegible] be deemed to have been overruled by the pronouncement of their Lordships of the Privy Council in (1905) A C 369 and in A I R 1928 All. 437 (F B) So it is [illegible] not a mere matter of procedure [illegible] from the commencement of [illegible] gh v Rasulldar, A. I R

[illegible] of evidence is a law of procedure [illegible] alterations in the law of evidence are, therefore, retrospective in operation Poras Ram v Meua Kumar, Ibid Rul (1930) All 738=125 Ind Cas 762=28 A L J 793

Codifying Act, Construction of In Bank of England v Vagliano, 60 L J Q [illegible] Lor[illegible] a S[illegible] Coc[illegible] In [illegible] is [illegible] its [illegible] st[illegible] th[illegible] see if the w[illegible] this view If a Statute, intended to embody in a Code a particular branch of the law, is to be treated in this fashion, it appears to me that its utility will be almost destroyed, and the very object with which it was enacted will be frustrated. The purpose of such a Statute surely was that on any point specifically dealt with by it, the law should be ascertained by interpreting the language used instead of, as before, by roaming over a vast number of authorities in order to discover what the law was, extracting it by a minute critical examination of the prior only to which there would be reasonably exceptions As the Lord Chancellor said "I am of course far from asserting that resort may never be had to the previous state of the law for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the provisions of the code" Then he gives some examples which I need not cite at length But I have here to deal, not with an Act of Parliament codifying the law, but with an Act to amend and to consolidate the law, and therefore it is I say those observations do not apply, and I think it is legitimate in the interpretation of the sections in this amending and consolidating Act to refer to the previous state of the law for the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the Legislature When a clause in an Act which has received a judicial interpretation is re-enacted in the same terms the Legislature is deemed to have adopted that interpretation Campbell Exparte, In re 5 L R Ch 703 23 L J 281=18 W R 1066, Balmukund Dube, In the goods of, A I R 1930 All 82=126 Ind Cas 357

Construction imposed by Statutes The Legislature must be presumed to have known the interpretation put by Courts and others on the terms of a Statute and when a provision of an earlier Statute is re-enacted in practically the same language in a later Statute, it is legislative recognition of the correctness of the earlier interpretation Parmeshwar v Emperor 3 Pat L J 537=19 Cr L J 251=44 Ind Cas 185=(1918) Pat 97=1 Pat L W 167 Nagendra v Pean 21 C L J 605=20 C W N 312, Kent County Council Exparte (1891) 1 Q B 725=60 L J Q B 435=65 L T 213=39 W R 115=55 J P 647, per Lord Herschell in Young v ... 526 per James L J in Dale's Case, 6 Q ... 1 Ch D 371, Clark v Wallond, 52 L J Q ... 1 Q B 25 Varam v Golbral 4 Pat L W ... 131 Shantha Nandan v Brsudevanand 52 A ... "When construction placed upon the provisions of the Code has been reproduced by the Legislature in successive Codes without alteration, the inference is that this constitutes a legislative affirmation of the construction adopted by the Courts" Pratab v Sarat 33 C L J 201=25 C W N 514=62 Ind Cas 318 In Kalimuddin Mollah v Sahabuddin Mollah 21 C W N 1 (F B) at p 11 Mukherjee J observed It is a well settled principle of construction that the Legislature is presumed to know not only the general principle of law but also the construction which the Courts have put upon particular Statutes and therefore where a section of an Act which has received a judicial construction is re-enacted in the same words, such ... that construction [Jo ... ool v Debendra 14 C L ... 316] The Legislature knows what the law is and has the power to alter the phraseology, if it transpires that its true contention has not been given effect to in judicial decisions the absence of such action on the part of the Legislature during a period of time may well be taken to indicate that the Courts have rightly ascertained its intention specially if in the interval, the Statute has been ... Sheo Saran 25 A L J

... putting a certain meaning on its words and the Legislature in a subsequent Act in pari materia uses the same ... [illegible] ... Cas 180 Exp Thorne 3 Ch D 457, Ittualo Exp, 5 Ch D 27, In Campbell L R 5 Ch 706, Luton v Teal 15 Q B D 405 Ivery v Wool (1891) 3 Ch 118, Colonial Land v Whinney 30 Ch D 285

Legislative Proceedings An enquiry into the vicissitudes which a ... Legislature ... measure ... Legislature is ... proceedings ... Wahi I ... in the Legislative Council cannot be referred to Sarat ... 31 C 628=8 C W N 578 It is a mistake to refer to the debates on the Bill

mble when before the Legislative Council for the purpose of construing an A Gopal v Sakhoquat 18 B 133 = P J 1893, 42, Queen Empress v Srichur 22 C 1017 (F B) Kadir Bakhsh v Bhowani Prasad 14 A 115 (119) = A W N 1892 5, Dinonath v Jogi Sati Pr al 27 C W N 115 = 36 C L J 220 O Burre ... v S Joseph hr there 13 Bur L T 179; Krishna v Nel Perumall 13 M 550 = S M W N 113 = 12 L W 92 = 56 Ind Cas 163 = 47 A 33 (P C) Lori [illegible] Salram 13 S L R 23 = 52 Ind Cas 139 The Court is not authorised to look into the proceedings of the Legislature to see what took place there during the passage of the Bill which passe into law or what was the reason why a particular clause was put in for the purpose of interpreting a Statute [illegible] Watson 3 C 929 = 11 C L J 350 = A I R 1927 Cal 144 = 98 Ind Cas [illegible] Court while interpreting an Act cannot seek the assistance of the [illegible] in the Legislative Council or the report of the Select Committee [illegible] Committee A I R [illegible] Singh v Central Board and Local Council (1906) K B 6 6 It is not proper to refer to the proceedings of the Legislative Council in order to determine the interpretation of the language of a section [illegible] A I R 1 25 All 121 = 25 A L J 1061

Objects and Reasons of a Bill One of the presumptions is that Legislature does not intend to make any substantial alteration in the Law beyond what it explicitly declares either in express terms or by clear implication, or in other words beyond the immediate scope and object of the statute Maxwell p 119 citing Arthur v Bokenham 11 Mod [illegible] Heyd [illegible] 3 Rep, 136 But in India where a Court has to construe a Statute it is the Statute alone which the Court is entitled to look to [illegible] not entitled to look to the reports of the Select Committee Kadir Bakhsh v Bhowani 14 A 145 (150) = A W N 1892 5 Rajmal v Harnam 104 Ind Cas 661 = 8 P L R 595 Gopal Pandey v Parsotam 5 A 121 (F B) = A W N [illegible] Govind (1922) Lah 211 Zamindar of [illegible] Rup Kishan v Bhagat 675 = 39 M L J 203 = 28 M L T [illegible] M W N 460 = 12 L W 217 = Chidambaram, 43 M 58 Ind Cas 871 It is unusual to refer to the objects and reasons given for introducing a Bill into the Legislative Council for they can safely be referred to, only as expressing the motives which were present to the particular member of that council and in the course of Legislation the objects and reasons so stated are altogether lost sight of and the law ultimately passed bears only a slight resemblance to the Bill on which it professes to be based' Moothora v The Indian General Steam Navigation 10 C 166 (F B) = 13 C L R 342 Whether the 'Objects and Reasons' may be resorted to when the intention of the Legislature as gatherable from the Act, is not clear is doubtful Fadu v Gour, 19 C 544 So it is well settled that in construing an Act of the Indian Legislature, where the words are absolutely clear and unambiguous, it is not within the province of a Court to look to the statement of the objects and reasons or to the proceedings of the Council with a view to discover whether the words used mean something above and beyond what they say Rajmal v Harnam, A I R 1928 Lah 35, The Administrator General v Prem Lal, 22 C 788 (800) = 22 I A 107, Krishna Iyyanjer v Nalla Perumall 43 M 550 = 47 I A 33 (P C), Rup Kishore v. Govind Das A I R 1922 Lah 211, but see Meghraj v Ramgopal, 78 Ind Cas 743 = 20 N L R 100, Shantha v Basu Devanand, 52 A 619 (F B)

Report of the Select Committee To construe the provisions of a section, it is hardly permissible to refer to the report of the Select Committee. Tamijannessa v Purna Chandra Chakravarti 103 Ind Cas 853 = A I R 1927 Cal 821; Thiraj v Emperor 119 Ind Cas 265 = A I R 1929 Lah 641

Headings of Sections "In England the headings prefixed to sections in some modern Statutes are regarded as preambles to those sections' Maxwell p 92 citing Bayan v Child, 19 L J Ex 264, Shrewsbury v Beazeley, 34 L J C P 328, Eastern Counties R Co v Marriage 9 H L Cas 41, Latham v Lafone, 36 L J Ex 97, Hammersmith Ry Co, v Brand L R H L 171, Long v Kerr 3 App Cas 536, Rayson v South London Tramways Co, (1893) 2 Q B 304 R v Local Govt Road, 10 Q B D 321 West v Gwynne 80 L J Ch 587, Comp Broadbent v Imperial Gas Co, 26 L J Ch 276, Fletcher v Birkenhead Corporation, (1917) 1 K B at p 218, Union S S Co of New Zealand v

Pre.

to a Statute may be looked to, to better way to the construction be afforded by a mere preamble 9 H L C 41 But when the effec group of sections in a Statute oug upon the

N

the Courts are called upon to interpret as being the substantive part of the enac
A 756=23 A L J 725=89 Ind Cas 1
Ramdin, 48 M 395, but see Janu v Fakir.

Headings of Chapters In Dwarka Nath Choudhary v Tafazzal Rahman Sarkar, 20 C W N 1097, Mr Justice Woodroffe held that the Court could look at the heading of Chapter XI of the Bengal Tenancy Act for the purpose of construing the sections Under the English Law, the headings prefixed to sections or set of sections in some of the modern Statutes are regarded as preambles to those sections In India, the heading of a chapter may be looked to for interpreting the Statute, but neither the preamble nor the heading can be referred to for controlling the plain meaning of the enacting portion Janu v Fakira, 13 N L R 181

Marginal Notes Formerly the bill was, at one of its stages, engrossed

Fields,
K. B 1
v Ham
no par
the sect
(F. B)
Claydon v Green 3 C P 511, Attorney General v Great Eastern Railway Co
11 Ch
D 511,
C W constru
858, Ju
Municip
391, Ba
132=1
13 C L
T 11
State, 1
C P. look at 45 M L
v Isma

Emperor v. Lalman 27 Cr. L. J. 1235=98 Ind. Cas. 19=A. I. R. 1927 Sind. ; P. Nitee v. Mukhen Insre 74 M. L. J. 701. The marginal note is not a part of the Act. Shalgam Spinning and Weaving Co. Ltd. v. Paul Hemmeth A. I. R. 1928 Bom. 41. The question whether a marginal note can be referred to for an exposition of the meaning of a section depends upon whether the note has been inserted by or under the authority of the Legislature. Ram Saran v. Bhagwat A. I. R. 1929 All. 53=51 A. 411 (F. B.).

Punctuation. In England bills for 1849 bills were engrossed on parchment without punctuations and as such they formed no part of the Act. Since 1849 punctuations appear on the rolls of Parliament, nevertheless it has been said they are not to be taken as parts of the Statute. Lole Claypins v. Green 5 C. P. 521; I. G. v. G. I. R. C. 11 Ch. D. 460; Sutton v. Sutton 22 Ch. D. 513; Duke of Devonshire v. O'Connor 24 Q. B. D. 478. It is an error to rely on punctuation in construing Acts of the Legislature. The Maharaja of Burdwan v. Krishna Kamini 14 C. 365: 14 I. A. 30 (P. C.). Munilal v. Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta 45 C. 13=22 C. W. N. 1=44 Ind. Cas. 770. But see Hindu Society v. Chief Gen. 17 Bom. L. R. 56=39 B. 182=27 Ind. Cas. 194. Commas as are no part of the statute. Lewis v. Chinubhai 56 I. A. 65 53 C. W. N. 393=57 A. I. R. 1=31 Bom. L. R. 702 (P. C.).

Proviso. Arguments from a proviso which seek to extend the operative effect of the substantive enactment are not legitimate unless there is real ambiguity in the substantive Act. West Derby Union v. Metropolitan Life Assurance Co. 1897 A. C. 647. Ramchandra v. Gopal Nath 53 C. 192=A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 927=97 Ind. Cas. 376.

Schedule. A schedule is as much part of the Statute and is as much an enactment as any other part. Per Brett L. J. in Att. Gen. v. Lamplough (1878) 3 Ex. D. 229. Forms in schedules are inserted merely as examples and are only to be followed implicitly so far as the circumstances of each case may admit." Per Tindall C. J. in Bartlett v. Gibbs (1843) 5 M. & G. 96. But where there is a contradiction between the schedule and the enacting portion, "it would be quite contrary to the recognised principles upon which the Courts of law construe Acts to enlarge the conditions of enactment and thereby restrain its operation by any reference to the words of a mere form given for convenience sake in a schedule." Per Lord Penzance in Dean v. Green (1882) 8 P. D. 89; Allen v. Flicker 10 A. & E. 640; R. v. Russell 18 L. J. M. C. 106; Interpretation of Deeds, Wills etc. p. 206; see also R. v. Baines 12 A. & E. 227. Schedules annexed to an Act and the headings under which they are placed are parts of the enactment, but they are not to be taken into consideration if the language of the enactment is clear. 30 C. W. N. 531.

Illustrations. The Law Commissioners say — The illustrations are not mere exampl[illegible] ol what it is [illegible] un the whole l[illegible] le law without them,' are correct if understood as merely importing that in view of what without rules to which ette of India
ners who were in charge of framing Penal Code for British India observed: "The illustrations make nothing law which would not be law without them. They only exhibit the law in full action and show what its effects will be on the events of common life. Thus the Code will be at once a Statute book and a collection of decided cases in the English Law Books in two most important points. In the first place, our illustrations are never intended to supply any omission in the written law, nor written law. They are merely law to the affairs of mankind but by the Legislature by certainly than any Judge can know what the law is which they mean to make.

"The power of construing the law in cases in which there is any real reason to doubt what the law is, amounts to the power of making the law. On this ground the Roman Jurists maintained that the office of interpreting the law in doubtful matters necessarily belonged to the Legislature The contrary opinion was censured by them with great force of reason, though in language perhaps too bitter and sarcastic for the gravity of a Code .

"The decisions on particular cases which we have annexed to the provisions of the Code resemble the Imperial Rescripts in this, that they proceed from the same authority from which the provisions themselves proceed They differ from the Imperial Rescripts in this most important circumstances, and that they are not made ex post facto, that they cannot therefore be made to serve any particular turn, that the persons condemned or absolved by them are purely imaginary persons, and that, therefore, whatever may be thought of the wisdom of any judgment which we have passed, there can be no doubt of its impartiality " Report of the Indian Law Commissioners dated the 14th October 1837 In Mahomed Syedol Ariffin v Yeoh Ooi Gark, (1916) A C 575=43 I A 256=21 C W N 257 (P C) at page 264, Lord Shaw in delivering the judgment of the Court observed 'On the second point, their Lordships are of opinion that in the construction of the Evidence Act it is the duty of a Court of law to accept—if that can be done—the illustrations given as being both of relevance and value in the construction of the text The illustrations should in no case be rejected because they do not square with ideas possibly derived from another system of Jurisprudence as to the law with which they or the sections deal And it would require a very special case to warrant their rejection on the ground of their assumed repugnancy to the sections themselves The great usefulness of the illustrations, which have, although no part of the sections, been expressly furnished by the Legislature as helpful in the working and application of the Statute, should not be thus impaired In Lala Balla Mall v Ahad Sha 35 M L J 614=16 A L J 905=29 C L J 163=23 C W N 233 (P C) at p 237, Lord Atkinson observed, "Hour illustrat as part of the Statute The illustrations authority i e the Legislature' Charlesworth Satish Chandra Chakravarty v Ramdayal De, 32 C L J 94=24 C W N 982 (986 987) Mr Justice Mukherjee observed We are not unmindful that an illustration is useful so far as it helps to furnish some indication of the presumable intention of
on the section v Sonatun, 7 C 132
v Ganesha, 1 A Queen Empress v Tulmaji, 15 B 491 (196), Nanak v Muhtulal 1 A 487 (495), Satya v Gobinda, 14 C W N 114, Rej v Lakhmat 1 B 147 Chotay Lal v Emperor, 85 Ind Cas 722=1925 All 220, Omid v Nidhi, 22 W R 367 Sujo v Bissambhar, 23 W R 311, Govinda v Thayamal, 28 M 57 (61), Balaram v Mangta, 34 C 950 Hyee Ismail v Wilson & Co 23 M L T 320=45 Ind Cas 942 K K Janoo v Joseph Heap & Sons Ltd 46 Ind Cas 197 Balmukund v Sohano, A I R 1929 Pat 164 But see Pria Krishna Swami v Aiyappa 24 Ind Cas 924 If the meaning of the enactment itself were doubtful a reference to the illustration in order to clear the meaning would be justifiable But, if there be any conflict between the illustrations and the main enactment, the illustrations must give way to the latter Siqutunnissa v Hidayat Husain 22 A L J 425=80 Ind Cas 896=1924 All 748 It is the duty of the Court to accept, if that can be done illustrations given under the section as being of value in the construction of the text, it would require a special case to warrant their rejection on the ground of repugnancy with the section Durga Priya v Durga Lali Roy, 55 C 154=A I R 1928 Cal 204=109 Ind Cas 752

Illustrations and Marginal notes which is to be preferred Illustrations do not stand on the same footing as marginal notes Marginal notes may not ew now is that nent Ramlal
Balraj Kumar
d Macnaghten
'It is well settled that marginal notes to the sections of an Act of Parliament cannot be referred to for the purpose of construing the Act The contrary opinion originated in a mistake, and it has been exploded long ago There seems to be no reason for giving the marginal notes in an Indian Statute any greater authority than the marginal notes in an English Act of Parliament On the other hand illustrations are part and parcel of enactment and it seems that when the Court is called upon to interpret a piece of an enactment which comprises both the substantive provision and an illustration of the same the Court is not justified in rejecting the illustration as a guide to the interpretation of the substantive provision Ram Lal v Emperor ubi supra, see also the observation of Lord Shaw in Mahomed Syed Ariffin v Yeoh Ooi Gark, 1916 (A C) 575=43 I A 256 (P C)

May —May mean shall The word "may" in certain circumstances means shall There may be something in the nature of the thing to be done in the object for which it is done or in other circumstances which may convert the option into a duty Bengal ... v Special Manager, Court of Wards, ... O L J 162=89 Ind Cas ...=A I R 19.. Oudh 119, see also Government v Municipal Corporation ... Ind Cas 721=A I R 1930 Rang 297 (F B)

Or' And In construing Statutes it is sometimes necessary to read the conjunctions 'or' and 'and' one for the other Narayan v Chairman of Howrah Municipality 87 Ind Cas 229=A I R 192. Cal 1067

New words to be read in a Statute Words not to be found in a section may be supplied by necessary implication if the context so requires 90 Ind Cas 180=L R 6 A 101=A I R 1925 All 610 (F B) But Judges are not entitled to read words into an Act of Legislature unless clear reason for it is to be found within the four corners of the Act itself Bhagwandas v Rameshwar 9 Pat 314=A I R 1930 Pat 99, Vickers v Evans 79 L J K B 954 Everett v Wells 2 M & G 269 Jagadba v Baidya Nath, 34 C W N 621=A I R 1930 Cal 767

Every word should recieve proper connotation In a statutary enactment every word used must receive its full and proper connotation in the construction Oppoth Pidha v Pula Uppilla A I R 1927 Mad 908 In the interpretation of every section of a Statute a reasonable construction must be given to every word contained therein Emperor v Sheri A I R 1928 All 207 (F B)=26 A L J 321=9 L R A Cr 51=9 A I Cr R 362 When two distinct words are used in the same section the ordinary rule of construction is that they do not mean identically the same thing Emperor v Phuchai, A I R 1929 All 33 (F B)

Equity and good Conscience Where there is a direction in an Act or Regulation that cases should be directed by equity and good conscience such a direction should generally be interpreted to mean that the rules of English law if found applicable to Indian Society and circumstances are to be applied Per Lord Tomlin in Meherban Khan v Makhna, 57 I A 168=32 Bom L R 882=34 C W N 529=A I R 1930 P C 142

Statutes ousting jurisdiction—Construction of It is an elementary rule that a Statute which purports to oust the jurisdiction of a Civil Court must be very strictly construed Shaiba Prosad v Golammanjhi, (1919) Pat 147=50 Ind Cas 451, see also Ganesh Das v Harilal 90 Ind Cas 279 An Act by which the jurisdiction of the ordinary Court is taken away must be strictly construed Cheta v Baiya 105 Ind Cas 507=A I R 1927 Lah 452 (F B), Shewakram v Ghulam, 103 Ind Cas 410, Bildeo v Lal A I R Pat 1928, 615 Jurisdiction vested in a superior Court is not ousted except by express language in or obvious inference from the provisions of a Statute Mahamed Abdul v Emperor 101 Ind Cas 471=28 Cr L J 439, see also Burma v Burma Oil Co, v Baijnath, 59 Ind Cas 960=3 U B R 212, Kama v Bhajanlal, 45 Ind Cas 654, R v Abbot, (1780) Dowg 553

Repeal by implication 'Repeal by implication is not favoured It is a reasonable presumption that the Legislature did not intend to keep really contradictory enactments on the Statute Book, or on the other hand, to effect so important a measure as the repeal of a law without expressing an intention to do so Such an interpretation is not to be adopted, unless it is inevitable Any reasonable construction which affords an escape from it, is more likely to be in consonance with the real intention' Maxwell p 296 cited in Gola v Emperor 1929 Nag 17 (F B) at p 20=24 N L R 158, see also Foster's Case, 11 Rep 63 (a) The Legislature does not intend to make any substantial alteration in the law beyond what explicitly declares, (Arthur v. Bokenham, 11 Mod 150; Harbert's Case, 3 Rep 13 b.) either in express terms or by clear implication, or in other words, beyond the immediate scope and object of the Statute In all general matters beyond, the law remains undisturbed. It is in the last degree improbable that the Legislature would overthrow fundamental principles, infringe rights, or depart from general system of law, without expressing its intention with irresistible clearness; and to give any such effect to general words, simply because they have that meaning when used either in their widest, their usual, or their natural sense, that which was actually intende ever wide and comprehensive they be construed as , and as not altering the law beyon at Commissioners v Adamson, 1 Q 80 L J K. B 636" Maxwell p s not abrogate a special one by mere implication It is remarked by Lord Selborne in the case of Marcy Seward v The Vera Cruz, (1884) 10 App Cas 59 "Where general words in a later Act are capable of r extending them to subjects specir not to hold that earlier and special derogated from merely by force particular intention to do so"

Application of the maxim—Expressio unius est exclusio alterius—A general rule of the construction of Acts of Parliament is expressio unius est exclusio alterius (The express mention of one thing implies the exclusion of another) Per Sir Barnes Peacock in Blackburn v Flavelle, (1881) 6 App Cas 628 at p 634 In Drinkwater v Arthur, (1879) 10 Sup Ct N S W, 103, Hargrave, J observed "If there be any one rule of law clearer than another as to the construction of all Statutes and all written instruments (as, for example, sales under powers in deeds and wills) it is this that where the Legislature or the parties to any instruments have expressly authorised one or more particular modes of sale or other dealing with property, such expressions always exclude any or, as it is otherwise 183 b), enunciates written instruments covenant is to be Case, 4 Rep 80, Me
R 58, Mathew v Bl
an express covenant by the tenant to repair, authority is given expressly, though by affirmative words, upon a defined condition, the expression of that condition excludes the doing of the act authorised, under other circumstances than those defined Expressio unius est exclusio alterius,"

"Provisions sometimes found in Statutes enacting imperfectly or for particular cases only that which was already and more widely the law, have occa-

bear in mind that the method of construction summarised in the maxim cannot be applied without limitation for a failure to make an expressio complete, may easily arise from the accidents of legislative procedure and it is common to find provisions put into Statutes ex abundanti cautela and at the instance of the parties interested Consequently provisions some times found in Statutes enacting imperfectly or for particular cases only that which was already and more widely the law have occasionally furnished ground for a specious argument, based on the maxim that an intention to alter the general law was to be inferred from the partial or limited enactment But the maxim is plainly inapplicable in such cases The only inference which a Court can draw from such superfluous provisions (which often find a place in Act to meet unfounded objections and idle doubts) is that the Legislature was either ignorant or unmindful of the real state of the law or that it acted under the influence of excessive caution

This point of view is lucidly explained in the following passages from the judgment of Farwell L J in Lowe v Darling (1906) 2 K B 772=75 L J K B 1049 Acts of Parliament are not in my experience, expressed with such accuracy and precision as to justify the Court in striking out unambiguous words in order to make a sentence grammatical or logical The generality of the maxim expressum facit cessare tacitum which was relied on renders caution necessary in its application It is not enough that the express and tacit are merely incongruous it must be clear that they cannot co-exist'

In Colquhoun v Brooks, 19 Q B D 406, Wills J says "I may observe that the method of construction summarised in the maxim 'expressio unius exclusio alterius' is one that certainly requires to be watched Perhaps few so called rules of interpretation have been more frequently misapplied and stretched beyond their due limits The failure to make the expressio' complete very often arises from accident, very often from the fact that it never struck the draftsman that the thing supposed to be excluded needed specific mention of any kind and the application of this and every other technical rule of construction varies so much under differing circumstances and is open to so many qualifications and exceptions, that it is rarely that such rules help one to arrive at what is meant

In the same case (reported in 21 Q B D 52) in the Court of Appeal Lopes L J observed the maxim expressio unius exclusio alterius has been pressed upon us, I agree with what is said in the Court below by Wills J about this maxim It is often a valuable servant but a dangerous master to follow in the construction of Statute and documents The exclusio is often the result of inadvertence or accident and the maxim ought not to be applied, when its application having regard to the subject matter to which it is to be applied leads to inconsistency or injustice See Colquhoun v Brooks 21 Q B D 661 and on appeal to the Privy Council in (1888) 14 A C 493

The warning given by Lord Halsbury in following the maxim is expressed in the following words It might be that modern Statutes were drawn up with greater particularity and minuteness The misfortune in the framing of those Statutes was that any body of persons seeing a possibility of liability on their part, apply to Parliament to have special provisions inserted in their protection That application was occasionally complied with and then the argument arose which their Lordships had heard that day namely that any body who is not included in the enumeration of the particular persons so interested must be taken to be excluded by the operation of the Statute from protection just because they were not excluded and others were The doctrine applicable to such cases was that a great many things were put into a Statute ex abundanti cautela and it was not to be assumed that any body not specifically included was, for that reason alone, excluded from the protection of the Statute ' Mac Laughlin v Westgarth, 75 L J P C 117=94 L T 831=22 T L R 594

Penal Statutes, Construction of A Penal Statute when its language is ambiguous should be construed in the manner most favourable to the liberties of the subject, and this is more specially so, when the enactment is of an exceptional character Reg v Bhistabin Madanna 1 B 308 (F B) It should be construed very strictly In re Ganesh Narayan 13 B 600, Q v Norottam, 13 B 681 A penal Statute must be construed very strictly, that is nothing is to be regarded as within the meaning of the Statute which is not within the letter—which is not clearly and intelligibly described ... Preamble itself. Empress v Kola Lal ...

Queen Empress, 28 C 50 ...
Empress, 5 C W N. 10 ...
1888, 25; Lal hmi Chand v ...
Periya v R, 54 M 75 ...
568 In a penal Statute, if ... prehensive to include with ...
Qu ...
(18 ...
Em ...
Em ...

of ...
sho ...
1926 Sind 213 (F B) The person charged has a right to say that the thing charged, although within the words is not within the spirit of the enactment Ram Chunder v Gouri Nath, 53 C 492 = 97 Ind Cas 376 In the case of penal Statues and fiscal ... ought to be adopted ...
Ind Cas 593 = A ...
Singh, 102 Ind Cas ... v Bhai Kishan, 28 P ... it is clear that cr ... accused Said Ahm ... penal S ... narrow sense No violence
... care must
... in its strict
... reasonable
... the benefit of the doubt must be given to the subject and against the Legislature which has failed to explain itself properly and clearly Ismail v Emperor, 26 Cr L J 1387 = 89 Ind Cas 523

The rule is slightly different in England "The rule which requires that penal and some other Statute shall be construed strictly was more rigorously applied in former time, when the number of capital offences was very large' Maxwell p 462 "I cannot concur" says Day J in Newby v Sims, 63 L J M C ... impose penalties therefore ... ink that neither greater nor ... Statutes" ... uction of a penal Statute depended in great measure on the severity of the Statute When it merely imposed a pecuniary penalty, it was construed less strictly than where the rule was invoked in favorem vitae" Maxwell p 466

Disqualifying provisions in an Act dealing with Municipal election are penal provisions and therefore ought not to be extended beyond their legitimate limit Satyendra v Chairman, 58 C 180 – 53 C L J 236 = 31 C W N 972

Ejusdem Generis, Principle of When two words or expressions are coupled to ... other it is obvious that the more g ... one Maxwell p 571 ... example, stand ing alone, ... they would be understood ... with them R v Cook, 2 E ... the word 'land" does not ... 'buildings," Dewhurst ... C 240 It is in this ser ... unius est ...
construing ...
from the ...
affected I ...

s. generis rule of interpretation would not arise Hallinglal Moosa v Secretary of State for India, 43 M 65=37 M L J 332=53 Ind Cas 345

"I accede to the principle" said Lord Campbell in R v Edmundson, 28 L J M C 213, "laid down in all the cases which have been cited, that where there are general words following particular and specific words, the general words must be confined to things of the same kind as those specified" See also Kali v Kesho 51 Ind Cas 15

Stare decisis, scope of the doctrine The maxim of stare decisis (to stand by matter decided) is closely allied with another maxim viz, Communis error facit jus (common error some times passes as law). The law so favours the public good, that it will in some cases permit a common error to pass for right Reg v Sussex, 2 B & S 680 Jones v Tapling 12 C B N. S 846, s c 11 H L Cas 290 Waltham v Sparkes, 1 Ld Ryam 42 Broom's Legal Maxims p 112 So communis error facit jus is a sound maxim Jagadish v. Sheo, 28 I A 100 109=5 C W N 602=23 A 369, see also Bhagwan Singh v Bhagwan Singh, 26 I A 153 (166)=21 A 412=3 C W N 454=1 Bom L R 311, Kedar v Hari, 43 C 1 (10) Though 15 Rich II enacted that the Admiralty should have no jurisdiction over contracts made in the bodies of counties, nevertheless seamen engaging in England have always been admitted to sue for wages in that Court (Smith v Tilly 1 Keb 712), where the remedy is easier and better than in the Common Law Courts, on the ground it has been said (Per Lord Holt in Clay v Sudgrave, 1 Salk 33) that communis error facit jus, or rather as was observed by Lord Kenyon (in R v Essex, 4 T R 591) not communis error, but uniform and unbroken usage, facit jus Maxwell p 535 Where the language is obscure instead of being clear, we should not be justified in differing from the construction put upon it by contemporaneous and long continued usage. There would be no safety for property or liberty if it could be successfully contended that all lawyers and statesmen have been mistaken as to the true meaning of an old Act of Parliament' Per Lord Campbell in Garham v Exeter 15 Q B 73, see also Herbert v Purchas L R 3 P C 650, Korgan v Caushay, L R 5 H L 304 320

The maxim of communis error facit jus although well known must be applied with very great caution 'It has been sometimes said, observed Lord Ellenborough in Isherwood v Oldknow 3 M & S 396 397, 'communis error facit jus, but I say communis opinio is evidence of what the law is—not where it is an opinion merely speculative and theoretical floating in the minds of persons, but where it has been made the ground work and substratum of practice'

The judicial rule —Stare decisis does however admit of exceptions where the former determination is most evidently contrary to reason Broom's Legal Maxims p 121 In Chandra Benode v Sheikh Ila Bux, 24 C W N 816 at p 851 Mr Justice Mukerjee observed, We are sensible of maintaining, wherever possible the authority of long established decided cases, but this doctrine is manifestly not of universal application In Young v Robertson, 4 Mac H L C. 314, Lord Cranworth observed ' There is another duty incumbent upon a Court of ultimate appeal which has been invariably observed, namely, that as regards those rules which regulate the settlement and devolution of property, those Courts which have to interpret the instruments and acts of parties must take care to be very guarded against letting any supposed notions as to the inaccuracy of any rule which has in fact been acted upon induce him to alter it so as to endanger the security of property and titles

In Mercy Docks v Cameron, 11 H L C 443 at p 510, Lord Chelmsford observed 'The Courts rightly abstain from overruling cases which have been long established because if they did so, they would only disturb, without finally settling, the law But when an appeal from any of the judgments is made to this House, however they may be warranted by previous authorities, the very object of the appeal being to bring those authorities under review for final determination, the House cannot, upon principle of stare decisis refuse to examine the foundation upon which they rest Equally explicit is the pronouncement of Lord Loreburn in Wesham Union v Edmonton Union (1908) A C 1 (4) where he observed " Great importance is to be attached to the old authorities, on the strength of which many transactions may have been adjusted and rights determined But where they are plainly wrong, and specially where the subsequent

cc ... they Pre
w ... tem
I ... to do so by itself affirming them".

In a matter of fiscal enactment where the question is in doubt the rule of stare decisis should apply Moti Singh v Harbajan Singh, 103 Ind Cas. 657= A I R 1127 Lah 635

Mandatory provision There is no universal rule that disobedience of a man ... pro ...
pro ...
circ ...

Means and includes ...
Legislature, as a rule, use ...
Queen Empress v Narpat, A ...

Proviso The office of a proviso is either to except something from the enacting clause, or to qualify or restrain its generality or to exclude some possible ground of misinterpretation of its extent Reg v Vyankatswami, 2 B H C 106 In case of repugnancy between a proviso and an enacting part, the former repeals the latter A G v Chelsea, Fit 29, 165

Saving clause A saving clause cannot properly be looked at for the purpose of extending an enactment, nor can it give a new or different effect to the previous sections of an enactment Queen Empress v Sitaram 11 B 657 Where the enactment and the saving clause, (which reserves something which would ... the savi ...
been m ...
Yarmou ...
Rep 35 ...
ground f ...
The late ...
should r ...
bodied i ...

Rules of Interpretation of Evidence Act In considering the rules of e ... matter Gujju Lall v Fateh
l ... daree, 14 W R 319 (320)
I ... owing statement of Mr Justice Jackson in Gujju Lall v Fatteh Lall, 6 C 171 (F B) at pp 183-184 should be borne in mind "In order to arrive at a conclusion on this point (i e on a quest ... Indian Evidence A ... the direction of a ... ning, and amend in ... Act, is marked by careful and methodical arrangement, and that many of the more important expressions used in it are plainly interpreted It would be wholly inconsistent

... but
... the
... lly
... vas

... ied
Judges who have expressed a contrary opinion, that if it had been really the intention of th ... part ... rule from English rule they wou ... Ashutosh
Cha ... considering ... difficulty ing ... Evidence,
will ... ve regard,
and then inquiring what changes the Evidence Act ... as I think we are bound to do, the Act itself as containing the scheme of the law, the principles, and the application of these principles to the cases of most frequent occurrence. It may be that as observed by Mr Norton in his Preface (Law of Evidence 8th Edition), the framer of the Act overestimated what had been done, when he claimed to have reproduced within the compass of his 167 sections the whole of Taylor's Work that was applicable to India, and there can be no doubt that cases must arise for which no positive solution can be found in the Act itself and in such cases we shall probably be justified and shall always be safe in adopting English rules in so far as they follow or are in accord with the general tenor of the Act. But in respect of matters expressly provided for in the Act we must, so to say start from the Act, and not deal with it as mere modification of the law prevailing in England." See also P v Gopal Das 3 M 271, 279, ... In I ... hod ... v Babu 10 B 439 (442) Sargent C J said "It is true that although the code is in the main, drawn on the lines of the English Law of Evidence there is no reason to suppose that it was intended to be an ... copy of it." See also Ve ... thal ... Bhat v Vishambar Pandit 8 B 313 321.

In Annaci Muthu ... v I ... (1917) M W N 229=17 M L T 215=28 M L J 349=16 Cr L J 91 28 Ind Cas 518=39 M. 449 Seshagiri Ayyar J observed "The question remains whether the provisions of the Act are exhaustive of the rules of evidence and whether we can invoke the aid of the principles of jurisprudence or of English Law as supplementing and explaining the rules of evidence given in the Act. The high authority of Elgee C J in the Collector of Gorakhpur v Palak Dhari Singh, 12 A 1 (F. B) can be cited for the proposition that English decisions relating to evidence can be relied upon in India. I cannot agree with the learned Public Prosecutor that we are not entitled to refer to English decisions as the Act is self contained. Such a practice has the authority of every eminent Judge in India and I am not prepared to depart from it." See also Mun ... Shee v N ... Dhunumsey S W Co, 4 B 576 (581) In the petition of Ram ... ... M 48 I v Peyari Lall, 4 C L R 508 Framji v Mohan Singh 18 B ... R v I ..., 1 B 502, R v Rama Bhaji, 3 B 17 I v H ... 7 A 160 Smith v I ... thias Ghella, 17 B 129 (141)

In Queen Empress v I ... ram 16 B 414 at p 453 Telang J observed "According to the principle therefore stated by C ... h, C J in Hamabi v Pamanji 7 Bom H C Rep (A C J) p ... we are justified in looking to English decisions to elucidate the meaning of the Evidence Act, and evidence which the Judges in England have admitted and juries have acted upon must be held to be clearly within the terms of sections 11 14 15." In Framji v Mohan Singh 18 B 260 reference was made to American Case Law and in R v. Elihi Bux, B L R Sup vol F B 459 English, American and Scotch laws were referred to.

"There is a school of legal thought in India which holds that in construing Acts of the Indian Legislature the natural meaning of the sections should be given effect to regardless of previous decisions and especially of decisions other than those of Indian Courts. The Indian Evidence Act in general and s. 27 in particular are examples which in my opinion indicate the falsity of this point of view." Per Lord Williams in Superintendent v Bhuyo, 57 C 1062=34 C. W N 106

English Cases English cases on construction of English Statutes are of great assistance, sometimes in construing Acts of the Indian Legislature but of course, it is always necessary to see that the Indian Statute and the English Statute resemble one another in their purposes, and not only in a portion of a section which, for convenience of drafting has been adopted by the draftsmen of the Indian Act. Persad Singh v Ram Pertab Roy, 22 C 77 (81, 85) Where an Indian Act was passed for the purpose of extending to India the provisions of the English Act, English decisions may be referred to as a guide to the Act. Ganesh v Harihar 26 A 299 P C =31 I A 116=8 C W N 521=14 M L J 190=6 Bom L R 505, Seth Tiloom Vasmal v Seth Haridas, 4 S L R 26=7 Ind. Cas 595, Mulchand Sunga Chand, 1 B 23, but see Mahomed v Ali Haidar, 12 O L J 1 "In construing a section of an Indian Act which is professedly based on English enactment, which in fact reproduces word by word the language of the English enactment, we are in practice if not in theory, bound by the decisions of the English Court." Per Mookerjee J in Ramendra v Brojendra, 21 C W N 794=41 Ind Cas 944 "When we are construing an Act which in many instances is taken, word for word, from an English Act, and when we are dealing with a branch of law which is essentially ... ly bound by it, yet we ought certainly ... of the English Court of appeal' ... India Ltd v The Official Assignee of ... Indian Act, help ... may be derived from the ... authoritative as the decisions of the Superior ... the Indian Law is similar or the same their authority is conclusive 12 Q B D 724, see also Lovelock and Lewes v Malabar Timber Yards and Saw Mills, 13 M L T 282 Unless the English Statute, and the Act of the Indian Legislature are in pari materia references, to English decisions, instead of affording any help will tend to confuse the consideration, of the matter in issue Ezra v The Secretary of State, 30 C 36=7 C W N 249 In construing a section of the Indian Act, cases bearing upon the construction of the similar provisions of an English Act, different in its language, can be of little or no assistance, Collector of Dinagpore v Girija Nath, 25 C 356 A Judge should not interpret Statutary law, when it provides for a specific procedure, by reference to a decision pronounced under a different system of procedure Radha v Lal ..., 31 C L J 283=24 C W N 151–56 Ind Cas 511 But where the point to be decided arises ur ... h law is unneces sary Per Lord Shaw ... The Del... Tea Co, 28 C W N ... W N 158=22 A J. 173=5 C 3012–6 ... R 1924 P C 40 So also rules relating to procedure under an Indian Act should not be interpreted ... relating to another Statute in England even whe... Brojolal v Sharaju bala, 51 C ... Lakhmi, 24 C W N 451 ...

law but in its application the C... Courts acquainted with Indian ... Courts which deal with people w... habits and intellectual development' Syed Mohammad v Syed Ali Hyder, 1 O W N 803 'It is a sound rule of interpretation" says Lord Sinha, 'to take the words of the S... witho... law ... 55 ... Sec ... Lah 364, Sohan v Emp 197=10 Lah 283 American Cases, Value of In Scaramanga v Stamp 5 C P D 295, at p. 303, Cockburn C J observed 'Although the decisions of the American Courts are of course not binding on us, yet the sound and enlightened views of American lawyers in the administration and development of law—a law ... from a common source ... confidence in our ... authorities made ... on as I do upon principle, I am much strengthened by the American authorities to which my attention has been called' The following observations of Sir John Woodroffe, J in the preface to the Ninth Edition of his Evidence Act should be taken into consideration, while interpreting the same 'Amongst the text-books laid under contribution we wish particularly to indicate the work of Professor J H Wigmore, a valuable and exhaustive book written in an original and modern spirit a... nonsensical reasons' for the r... obtai... ich prevails in England and ... upon Indian Judges, yet and ... Justice Cockburn said in the d... England (Scramanga v Stamp, L R 5 C P D 295, 303) and Sir Lawrence Peel observed in India (Braddon v Abbot, Tailor and Bells Reports, 342, 359, e 300, Malcolm v. Smith, ibid, 283 288), of great value to a correct determination of questions for which our own or the English law offers no solution". See also Preface to this book. But in this connection the advice given by Lord Halsbury L C in Re Missouri Steamship Co 42 Ch D 321 (330) should also be borne in mind. In that case he observed: "We should treat with great respect the opinion of eminent American lawyers on points which arise before us, but the practice which seems to be increasing of quoting American decisions, as authorities, in the same way as if they were decisions of our own Courts, is wrong. Among other things, it involves an inquiry, which often is not an easy one, whether the law of America on the subject in which the point arises is the same as our own". But this apprehension of his lordship is not applicable in interpreting the Indian Evidence Act. Vide preface to this book.

English Law of Evidence: its origin, growth and peculiarity. "At once, when a man rises his eyes," says Prof. Thayer, "from the common law system of evidence and looks at foreign methods, he is struck with the fact that our system is radically peculiar. Here a great mass of evidential matter, logically important and probative is shut out from the view of the judicial tribunals by an imperative rule, while the same matter is not thus excluded anywhere else. English speaking countries have what we call a law of evidence, but no other country has it; we alone have generated and evolved this large, elaborate, and difficult doctrine. We have done it, not by direct legislation, but, almost wholly, by the slowly accumulated rulings of Judges, made in the trying of causes during the last two or three centuries,—rulings which at first were not preserved in print, but, in the practice and tradition of the trial Courts, and only during the last half or two-thirds of this period have they been revised, reasoned upon, and generalized by the Courts in banc.

"When one has come to perceive these striking facts, he is not long in finding the reason for them. Indeed the very structure of the system thus produced points to the reason, when we observe its constant, anxious, and over anxious endeavour to prevent the tribunal to which the evidence is principally addressed from being confused and misled, and from dealing with questions which it has no right to deal with. It might seem strange and not worth while to keep alive so long a tribunal which has needed so much watching and so many safeguards, if one did not recall the immense persistence of legal institutions and usages, as well as the deep political significance of the jury and its relation to what is most valued in the national history and traditions of the English race. It is this institution of the jury which accounts for the common law system of evidence,—an institution which English speaking people have had and used, in one or another department of their public affairs, ever since the Conquest. Other peoples have had it only in quite recent times, unless, indeed, they may belong to those who began with it centuries ago, and then allowed it to become obsolete and forgotten. England alone kept it, and, in a strange fashion, has developed it.

"This institution, the jury, which is thus the occasion of our law of evidence, and which is also at the bottom of our system of pleading and procedure, and of very much in all branches of the substantive common law, has a peculiar interest for us . . . I hope that those who attentively consider the long and strange story of the development of the English jury and the immense influence it has had in shaping our law, will find here a basis for conclusions as to the scope and direction of certain much needed reforms in the whole law of evidence and procedure.

"A system of evidence, like ours, thus worked out at the forge of daily experience in the trial of causes, not created, or greatly changed, until lately, by legislation, not the fruit of any man's systematic reflection or forecast, is sure to exhibit at every step the marks of its origin. It is not concerned with nice definitions, or the exacter academic operations of the logical faculty. It is attending to practical ends. Its rules originate in the instinctive suggestions of good sense, legal experience, and a sound practical understanding, and they are seeking to determine, not what is or is not, in its nature, probative, but rather, passing by that enquiry, what, among really probative matters, shall, nevertheless, for this or that practical reason, be excluded, and not even heard by the jury. From the diversity and multitude of the casual rulings by the Judges,—rulings often hastily made, ill-considered, and wrong,—from the endeavour to follow

Pre

be made is often unfavourable to clear thinking, and the law of evidence largely shaped at nisi prius took on a general aspect which was vague, confused, and unintelligible One thing in particular added greatly to the confusion, namely the habit of assuming whenever evidential matter was rejected or received, that the result was attributable to some principle of the law of evidence, while very often indeed, the reason lay wholly in the rules of pleading, procedure or substantive law which happened to control the case In this way the law of evidence came to be monstrously overloaded and was made to swallow up into itself much which belonged to other branches of law or to the wide regions of logic or legal reasoning Thus not only were many of these other subjects clouded and thrown out of focus, but the law of evidence itself was intolerably perplexed Thayer's Preliminary Treatise on Evidence pp 1—4

Gradual change in the Law of Evidence as Jury system changed The old forms of trial were chiefly these (1) Witnesses, (2) The party's oath, with or without fellow swearers (3) The ordeal, (4) Battle Trial by witnesses appears to have been one of the oldest kinds of 'one sided proof To such witnesses, no cross-examination was allowed They were to state the facts on oath only (Thayer pp 16 1) In my opinion says Brunner (Schw 205) ' undoubtedly we are to include under the head of the formal witness proof these (1) the proof of age, (2) th ... of property in a moveable chattel ' In Bractons ... D 1234) and case 1362 (in 1220) we find that ag ... proved by twelve legal men produced by him Now these twelve men are not at all a 'jury' for the party selects them himself (Thayer Pre Tre p 19) In a peculiarly interesting part of his great work on the jury, Brunner points out that the old witness proof was in some cases transformed at the hands of the royal power into an inquisition so that the witnesses were selected by the public authority, as they were in ordinary jury (Thayer p 19) A witness to prove age must be 42 years of age By 1515 A D it was settled that a trial of a person s age ' shall be by twelve jurors, but in giving their verdict every juror should show the reasons inducing his knowledge of the age, such as being son gossipe or that he had a son or daughter of the same age, or by reason of an earthquake or a battle near the time of the birth and the like (Kilway 176 b) Gradually ' the peculiar function of the jury as being triers—grew to be the chief and finally as centuries passed their only one, while that of the other witness was more and more defined, refined upon and hedged about with rules It is surprising to see how slowly these rules came about The attaint which long held its place as the only way of remedying a false verdict

When they appeared the jury could disregard all they said and show ... were not accordant with what they knew Gradually it was recognized that while the jury might not be bound by the testimony, yet they had a right to believe it and that they were the only ones to judge of the credibility Thayer Pre Treat pp 137 138 Originally the jury was punished for a false verdict, but in the course of time in case of unreasonable verdict without punishing the jurors a new trial was granted

In granting new trials it became necessary for the Courts to know the facts which the jurors knew Accordingly the old doctrine of basing the juror s verdict on their personal knowledge began to be discouraged The jurors were told that if any of them knew anything relating to the case they ought to state it publicly in Court

In 1670 in Bushell s Case Vaughan 135, 142, Vaughan, C J finally laid down the different functions of the witnesses and the jurors in the following words A witness swears but to what he hath heard or seen, generally or more largely, to what hath fallen under his senses But a juryman swears to what he can infer and conclude from the testimony of such witnesses by the act and force of his understanding, to be the fact inquired after, which differs nothing in the reason, though much in the punishment from what a Judge, out of various cases considered by him infers to be the law in the question before him' So two things stand out prominently in Vaughan's opinion in Bushell's Case, (1) The jury are judges of evidence (2) They act upon evidence of which the Court knows nothing and may rightfully decide a case without any evidence publicly given for or against either party Thayer Pre Treat p 168 When the jury existed merely as a body of witnesses, supposedly familiar with the facts who from their own knowledge stated what the facts were the Court could, in the application of the law to the facts exercise no control over the result which was impossible when the character of the jury changed With the development of the jury into a reasoning inference drawing body of men, possessing the power to determine the ultimate facts in issue and by their verdict to judicially settle the controversy the situation to the mind of the Judge, was full of embarrassments To what conclusions might not these men come, men ignorant of the law and its methods unfamiliar with the ways of counsel, open to the influence of testimony and argument presented solely for the purpose of playing upon their sympathy passion and prejudice This was a situation to be deplored, and to be relieved of its dangers as far as possible In the eyes of the Judge the jury was an uncertain quantity which needed to be guarded against The jury, from the time it began to take on the character of an arbiter of the facts must have been a disturbing element in the work of the Court

In the submission of the facts which constitute the evidence in a case there have been embarrassments real or imaginary which have resulted in the development of a set of rules These rules relate to the use of facts in Court as evidence and make up the Law of Evidence' Accordingly with the beginning of the use of evidence before juries we find the beginning of the law of evidence Statements to which the Courts might listen without impunity were carefully kept from the jury by excludings rules established by the Judges

It must not be supposed that these excluding rules came into being all at once The development of the jury into its final shape was a gradual one, and the growth of rules governing the use of evidence before the jury was equally gradual It is immaterial to enquire here as to the kind of evidence, which was excluded that is to be found in any English treatise on the law of evidence It is sufficient to say that in general every thing except what was actually within the personal knowledge of the witness was considered unsafe to put before the jury Thus, hearsay and opinion were both objectionable In this way the susceptibility of the jury played its part in moulding the law of evidence into its modern form

The supposed ignorance of the average jury was also an important factor in the evolution of the rules of evidence Things likely to complicate the case to confuse the mind or mislead as to the real facts in issue were accordingly excluded —McKelvey's Law of Evidence pp 9 10

How important a part the jury played in the development of the Law of Evidence may be realised when one considers such a decision as that in Dell v Waller, 74 N W 617, where it was held that the admission of improper evidence in a case tried without a jury is not ground for reversal, and every practitioner is familiar with the custom prevailing where cases are tried before the Judge alone, or a referee, of taking little account of the ordinary rules of evidence *

Other Factors, having influence to shape the Law of Evidence With the expansion of the work of the Courts and the ever increasing volume of business brought before them, a necessity arose for the shortening of trials and the expediting of the work in every possible way This influence was a powerful one in its effect upon the admission of evidence Much that was logically relevant, and indeed worthy of consideration if minute inquiry were possible, became inadmissible, upon the theory that it was too remote, or of slight importance Collateral matters these were in the main —matters likely to lead to prolonged collateral inquiry, with a meagre result in the way of inference—compelling proof when finished Other things operated to make it easy and natural for the Courts to establish rules relating to the use of evidence The policy of the law in respect

* Vide also section 167 of the Indian Evidence Act.

of fair- Pre Such or hal

a mo issue
at wor
must be cast, building barriers within which they must be confined, and wearing grooves along which the wheels of judicial inquiry must run Melchey's Law of Evidence, p 10

Law of Evidence what it is "What is our Law of Evidence" asks Prof Thayer Then he answers the question in the following words "It is a set of rules and principles affecting judicial investigations into questions of fact, for the most part controverted questions It is concerned with the operations of Courts of Justice, and not with ordinary inquiries in pais, and even within this limited range, it does not undertake to regulate the processes of reasoning or argument, except as helping to discriminate and select the material fact upon which they are to operate Thayer Pre Trea p 263 The law of evidence" sa
of
as
facts may, and what may not be proved in such cases II What sort of evidence must be given of a fact which may be proved, III By whom and in what manner the evidence must be produced by which any fact is to be proved After defining under the first head facts in issue and facts relevant to the issue he names four classes of facts whic ... ancy to the issue '1 Facts similar ... other (Res inter alios acta) 2 Th ... has asserted the existence of any fact (Hearsay) 3 The fact that any person is of opinion that a fact exists (Opinion) 4 The fact that a person's character is such as to render conduct imputed to them probable or improbable (Character) ... exceptions he points document r primarily y or an oral m, and the manner in which the proof of a particular fact must be made he lays it down that when a fact is to be proved evidence must be given by the person upon whom th ... t by his co ... petent, ... t oath, that the witness may be examined and cross-examined and his credit tested That brief statement, says the learned Judge will show what he regards as constituting the Law of Evidence properly so called With such valuable dicta for comparison, the statutory definition of the Law of Evidence seems to cover all the ground necessary for the guidance of its administration In the California Code of Civil Procedure, section 1825 and Hord's Oregan Laws section 687, which may be taken as fair types of code definitions it is thus comprehensively dealt with

The law of evidence is a collection of general rules established by law

'1 For declaring what is to be taken as true without proof,

'2 For declaring the presumptions of law both those which are disputable and those which are conclusive

'3 For the production of legal evidence,

'4 For the exclusion of whatever is not legal,

5 For the determining in certain cases, the value and effect of evidence' The Blue Book of Evidence § 1

Things excluded from the Evidence Act ' This brief statement says Sir James Fitz James Stephen in his Introduction to his Digest of the Law of Evidence " will show what I regard as constituting the Law of Evidence properly le so called My view of it excludes many things which are often regarded a forming part of it. The principal subjects thus omitted are as follows —

I regard the question, What may be proved under particular issues? (which many writers treat as part of the Law of Evidence) as belonging partly to the subject of pleading, and partly to each of the different branches into which the substantive Law may be divided

"Again, I have dealt very shortly with the whole subject of presumptions My reason is that they also appear to me to belong to different branches of Substantive Law and to be unintelligible except in connection with them Take for instance the presumption that every one knows the law The real meaning of this is that speaking generally ignorance of the law is not taken as an excuse for breaking it This rule cannot be properly appreciated if it is treated as a part of the Law of Evidence It belongs to the Criminal Law In the same way numerous presumptions as to rights of property (in particular easements and incorporeal hereditaments) belong not to the Law of Evidence but to the Law of Real Property The only presumptions which, in my opinion ought to find a place in the Law of Evidence are those which relate to facts merely as facts, and apart from the particular rights which they constitute Thus the rule, that a man not heard of for seven years is presumed to be dead, might be equally applicable to a dispute as to the validity of a marriage, an action of ejectment by a reversioner against a tenant pur auter vi the admissibility of a declaration against interest and many other subjects, after careful consideration I have put a few presumptions of this kind into a chapter on the subject, and have passed over the rest as belonging to different branches of the Substantive Law

"Practice, again, appears to me to differ in kind from the Law of Evidence The rules which point out the manner in which the attendance of witnesses is to be procured, evidence is to be taken on commission, depositions are to be authenticated and forwarded to the proper officers interrogatories are to be administered, etc have little to do with the general principles which regulate the relevancy and proof of matters of fact. Their proper place would be found in Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure I have however noticed a few of the most important of these matters

"A similar remark applies to a great mass of provisions as to the proof of certain particulars Under the head of Public Documents', Mr Taylor, gives amongst other things a list of all or most, of the Statutory provisions which render certificates or certified copies admissible in particular cases

"On several other points the distinction between the Law of Evidence and other branches of the law is more difficult to trace For instance, the law of estoppel, the law relating to the interpretation of written instruments, both run into the Law of Evidence I have tried to draw the line in the case of estoppels by dealing with estoppels in pais only, to the exclusion of estoppels by deed and by matter of record, which must be pleaded as such ; and in regard to the law of written instruments by stating those rules only which seemed to me to bear directly on the question whether a document can be supplemented or explained by oral evidence

PART I.

RELEVANCY OF FACTS

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY

Short title

1 This Act may be called the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 S. 1

Extent

It extends to the whole of British India, and applies to all judicial proceedings in or before any Court, including Courts-martial, (other than Courts-martial convened under the Army Act)* (or the Airforce Act)† but not to affidavits presented to any Court or officer, nor to proceedings before an arbitrator,

Commencement of Act

and it shall come into force on the first day of September, 1872

The Law of Evidence—lex fori 'The law of evidence is the lex fori which governs the Courts Whether a witness is competent or not, whether certain evidence proves a certain fact or not, that is to be determined by the law of the country where the question arises, where the remedy is sought to be enforced, and the Court sits to enforce it' Per Lord Brougham in Bain v Whitehaven and Furness Junction Railway Company 3 H L C 1 at p 19 Hamlyn & Co v Talisker Distillery, (1894) is taken in one country commission or with the as-is must be the law of the country where the suit is actually pending for which the evidence is taken as being the true forum See per Cockburn C J in Dessilla v Fels, 40 T L R 423—Foote's Private International Law p 530 but see the observation of Woodroffe J in, In the matter of Rudolph Stallman, 39 C 161–15 C W N 1053 at p 1065 cited under the head the Act is not a Complete Code under section 2 infra

forc
Act
Dis
187
Bal

Ga

* Inserted by Act XVIII of 1919
† Inserted by s 2 of the Repealing and Amending Act X of 1927.

1. Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum—see Gazette of India 1881, Pt I p 501 (the Lohardaga or Ranchi District included at this time the Palamau District separated in 1891) and the Tarai of the Province of Agra, ibid 1876 Pt I p 505, Ganjam and Vizagapatam—See Gazette of India, 1899, Pt I, p 730, and under ss 3 and 5 of the same Act it has been declared in force in the Pargana of Manpur—by Reg 2 of 1926 and in Panth Piploda by Reg I of 1929 The powers of a Local Government and those of a High Court were at the same time conferred on the Agent Governor General Central India, for the purposes of this Act—vide Government Edition 1931, p 9

British India For definition of "British India" vide section 3 Cl (7) of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897) The following places are within British India —Amin Laccadive Islands (Queen v Cheria Koya 13 M 353); Andaman and Nicobar Islands (Ardeshir v Bombay B and C I Ry Co, 9 B 241), Island of Perim (Queen v Mancel Ledl and 10 B 258) and Ajmer and Merwara Freeman v Bombay Baroda and Central India Ry Co 9 B 244) The Native States and Tributary Mahals are not within British India, vide Emp v Pitambar 5 Bom L R 473 Muhammad v Queen 25 C 20 P C, Queen v Abdul Latif 10 B 186 Empress v Keshub 8 C 985 Indiramani v Bhagat 16 C 667 Empress v Chandulal 8 B 1 2

Application of the Evidence Act in places outside British India A complete list of places into which the Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872) has been declared to be in force is given in the Appendix The Evidence Ordinance of Ceylon is merely the application to Ceylon of the Indian Evidence Act Kanapathipillai Gabriel v Thalamby 52 I A 372=A I R 1925 P C 229

Judicial proceedings An enquiry is judicial if the object of it is to determine a jural relation between one person and another, or a group of persons or between him and the community generally but even a Judge acting without such an object in view is not acting judicially Queen Empress v Tulja, 12 B 36 (42) Alexander John Forbes v Ameeroonissa Begum 10 M I A 340 According to section 4 (m) of the Criminal Procedure Code judicial proceeding "includes any proceeding in the course of which evidence is or may be legally taken on oath A proceeding under s 318 of the Criminal Procedure Code of 1861 was held to be a judicial proceeding Empress v Magistrate of Kheda, 1 B H C A C J 153

The proceedings under Chapter XXXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 are judicial in their nature and must not be conducted as if they were merely ministerial matters The notes of evidence, therefore must not be inadequate and vague and the order recorded must be based on distinct findings of fact Laraiti v Ram Dail 5 A 224=A W N 1883 220 A Magistrate's order under Ch XX of the Criminal Procedure Code is a judicial proceeding Reg v Ganpatrao Rat Un Cr C 59 (F B) An execution proceeding is a judicial proceeding Khondkar v Panchkouri 12 C L J 619=8 Ind Cas 1106=12 Cr L J 21, see also Bahadur v Eradatulla 37 C 642 (F B), Emperor v Sheo Sankarpuri, 10 N L R 1— Chaman v Crown 1 P R 1910, Bholanath v Emperor, 10 C W N 55 Dalhanesuar v Harish Chandra 10 C L J 450 An enquiry in which evidence is legally taken is for the purposes of the Act included in the term "judicial proceeding" Queen Empress v Tulja, 12 B 36 (42) Where the Legislature has authorised the formation of a judgment, and the grant or the withholding of a certificate on that judgment the inquiry is a judicial enquiry Queen v Price L R 6 Q B 418, see also Atchayya v Gangayya, 15 M 138 (F B) at p 147

An enquiry conducted by a Magistrate into the truth of allegations against a subordinate official, contained in a petition presented to a Deputy Commissioner, is a judicial proceeding Emperor v Auna Sah, 28 A 89=A W N 1905, 195=2 A L J 717=2 Cr L J 454 The test which has to be applied to a particular proceeding before a Court to determine whether it is or is not a judicial proceeding "for the purposes of s 476 is, whether, in the course of that proceeding, the Judge has power legally to take evidence on oath not whether he has actually taken such evidence Chaman v Crown, 1 P R 1910 Cr =161 P L R 1910=5 Ind Cas 257=11 Cr L J 90

An enquiry under the Legal Practitioners Act is a judicial proceeding Subba Chetti v Queen 6 M 252 (253), Gouri Sankar v King Emperor, 9 A L J 156, Nallasivam v Ramalingam, 32 M L J 402=18 Cr L J 785 So also is an enquiry by a Magistrate before issuing an order under section 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code Queen Empress v Iounarasinha, 19 M 18 The proceeding of a Court holding a preliminary enquiry under s 476 of Criminal Procedure Code is a judicial proceeding Abdulla v Emperor, 37 C 52

An enquiry under s 8 of the Reformatory Schools Act ... ing Queen Empress v Manaji, 14 B 381 Rat Un Cr C ... to issue a search
A proceedi...
Cr Pro Code is ...
589, Crown v ...
of the Criminal P...
Kishun, 36 C ...

1909 Cr The Collector hearing objectic...
Tax Act is a Revenue Court and his ...
Emperor v Rup Singh, 44 P R 1909 Cr
The announcement of an order under ... is a stage in a judicial proceeding Queen Empress v Saliq Ram 18 P R 1897 Cr An investigation by the police, under s 161 Cr Pro Code is a stage of a judicial proceeding. Nga Po Ke v Queen Empress, U B R (1897—1901) Vol I, 31 An order made under s 202 of the Bengal Municipal Act is a judicial proceeding The Nabadwip Municipality v Purna Chandra, 29 C W N 817 Judic...

where the ...
something ...
administr...
v Gangay...
Gholam Ismail, 1 A 1 (13), Alexandar v Amirunnissa, 10 M I A 340 An enquiry by a ... Act is not a judicial proceeding, Ezra v ... rga Das v Queen Empress, 27 C 820 ... to a crime alleged about to be committed is not a judicial enquiry Chandrasigha v Mohan Singh, 4 C L J 181=8 Bom L R 705 (P C)=30 B 523=1 M L T 301 A departmental enquiry under section 197 of the Bombay Land Revenue Code is not a judicial proceeding In re Chota Lal, 22 B 936 An order passed by a first class Magistrate under sections 518, 520 of the Criminal Procedure Code 1872, was held not to be a judicial proceeding Reference No 62 of 1877 Rat Un Cr C 129 A Magistrate cannot be said to be acting judicially in directing a search to be ... uch he would ... 36 C 433=1 ... It is doubtful whether the proceeding under the Land Registration Act is a judicial proceeding Hira Nand Ojha v Emperor 9 C W N 127

Court—For definition of the term vide s 3 infra

Courts Martial ...
1869) It is also appl...
(vide s 68 of Act XIV ...
Act must adopt the s... ordinary jurisdiction i... martial can be compelled to answer any question or produce any document which he could not be required to answer or produce in similar proceedings in a criminal Court, Powell p 28, Army Act, 1881, (44 and 45 Vict (58 sections 127, 128) This is an exception to the general rule that the lex fori determines the law of evidence (Woodroffe p 105)

Affidavits Order XIX of ...
regards affidavits, under rule 1 ... the Court (i) to order any partic...

1. (n) to allow the affi lavit of any witness to be rea l at a hearing or trial on su conditions as it may think reasonable, with this proviso that when the oppos party bona fide desires to cross examine a witness, and the witne s can produce l, such witnes s evi lence shall not b allowe l to be given by affi lav The first of these powers, which can be exercised by the Court even against t wishes of both parti s, can be advantageously employe l to the man fe t savi of expen e in proof of formal matters The secon l, which, subject to the provi can be exercise l by the Court at the instanc of one party, but against the wi of the other, enabl s n prop r cases, the evidenc of an absent witne s to brought b fore the Court without the expensive interposition of a commiss ion or examiner Powell p 69 An affi lavit is ordinarily not evi lence, unless t party seeing to us ts of or ler XIX Kri hna Madhura, 63 Ind party de ires to cross exami a witness who can be r a l at the trial if t cross examining party objects Bla lburn v Boles 7 Ch D 68 An affi lav once filed cannot be withdrawn for the purpose of preventing the deponent bei cross examine l thereon In re Quart Hill, etc 21 Ch D 642 This rule applicable to a foreigner r s lent out of juris liction making an affi lavit Stra v Gelb hmidt (18) 8 T L R 239 The Parisian, (1887) 13 P D 16 T the Court has a lis retion to refuse to or ler the atten lance of a witne s f cross examination Da Lemla l v Browne W N (1887) 205, Strauss v Goll chbmit (1892) T L R 239 Where it is not possible to cross examine th deponent the Court may act upon th affi lavit Shea v Green, (1886) 2 T L I 533 It is essential where evidence by affi lavit is giv n that every ca e is take by the solicitors and others engaged in their preparation that the affidavits sho represent the real facts in or ler that they may be thoroughly relie l upon a the remarks of Eve J in Rummens Ge ll (1910) 129 L T J 263 An affi lav of information and belief not stating the source of information and belief i ina lmissible in evi lence whether on an interlocutory or a fin il application P J I Young Manufacturing Co v Young (1900) 2 Ch 753 C A

Pro ... Arbitrators As to proceedings b fore arbitrators, th Indian Evidenc Act is not appli Tr carl v Wilson 4 C 231, the on the ground that the arbitrator used in evidence a letter written by a party s attorney and state l to be without prejudice An application to confirm the award was refuse l by the learne l Judge of the first instance upon the ground that the defendant had acte l ... Ma rkby J letter stress, rneys jously in the course of negotiation betwe n the attorneys on both sides for an amicable ... are clearly y an l on the e Act herein) al m n a take in ht not wrong cted to judice think onfirm e, that same B 363 rred to tors act pire or a single arbitrator occupies a judicial position and exercises judicial powers, and, is bound, as far as practicable, to follow legal rules.'

S.

Sa ... vidence which is before him the ... ve agreed that he Biler (Co v

... Esher said "The parties have agreed to go before an umpire who is not bound by the strict rules of evidence enforced in a Court and to be bound by his decision, and in my judgment the Court ought not to fetter the arbitrator or the parties by its own rules of evidence, but should consider whether something has been discovered since the award which the arbitrator might think material, and which might alter his decision

This rule is of course contrary to the decision laid down by Chief Baron Alexander in Attorney General v Davison, 4 Mcle & Y 160 166 where he observed 'But I have already understood that arbitrators are bound by the same rules of evidence as the Courts of law But in India an award of the arbitrators cannot be se ... strict compliance with the rules ... M 85 (87) The view express ... o, ult supra is scarcely in accor ... ase of East & West India Dock ... Q B 295

If ir ... to the o ... mony, or ... now settl ... for the m ... 593 Per ... bell v Iu ... refuses to hear evidence ... Samuel v Cooper 2 A & E 752, Brophy v ... Maina Koer 12 C L R 564 p 566 trator of evidence of collateral ma ... 1 D & L 498 An arbitrator side in the absence of the other ... opportunity to meet his oppo ... 9 (311) It is the duty of the arbitrator ... terms of the agreement in pursuar ... re him Krishna v Bilja 2 B L R Ap 25 Where an arbitrator has taken no evidence upon matters referred to for arbitration and has not allowed a party an opportunity of proving his contention he is guilty of misconduct Drolı v Rajkumar A W N 1889 124

Repeal of enactments

2 On and from that day the following laws shall be repealed —

(1) all rules of evidence not contained in any Statute, Act, or Regulation in force in any part of British India,

(2) all such rules, laws and regulations as have acquired the force of law under the 25th section of the Indian Councils Act, 1861,* in so far as they relate to any matter herein provided for, and

(3) the enactments mentioned in the schedule hereto, to the extent specified in the third column of the said schedule

* 24 & 25 Vict c 67

But nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect any provision of any Statute, Act or Regulation in force in any part of British India and not hereby expressly repealed.

Repeal of enactments Where an Act is repealed, and the repealing enactment is repealed by another, which manifests no intention that the first shall ... rule was that the repeal of the second Act ... ab initio and not merely from the passing ... 7 citing 2 Inst 686, 4 Inst 325, Case of Hopwood, 10 B & C 39; Tattle v Grimwood, ... L J Ch 321, Kemp v Waddingham, (1866) ... oes not apply to repealing Acts passed since 1850 So the mere repeal of a Repealing Act, or the repealing portion of a Repealing Act does not by ... ealed portion thereof 1 Weir 781 = 7 ... t c 63, s 11 In the absence of a contrar... on old Act cannot be deemed to affe... the new Act came into force Mulunl... the rule of estoppel based on a dict... , that a mort... gor, does not apply, and ... rules of evidence which ... orce in British India Nur ... Mahomed v Kesar ... 13

Repeal by implication Statutes are not to be considered as repealed by implication unless the repugnancy between the new provision and a former Statute be plain and unavoidable Sitapathi v Queen, 6 M 32 One Statute may be impliedly repealed by a subsequent Statute necessarily inconsistent with it, but the inconsistency must be so great that they cannot both be to their full extent obeyed Emperor v Mulshankar 12 Bom L R 750 = 7 Ind Cas 963 = 11 Cr L J 548 For such a repeal the provisions of the latter Act must be so inconsistent with or repugnant to those of an earlier Act that the two cannot stand together Co Litt 112, Shep Touchst 88, West Ham v Fourth City, (1892) 1 Q B 654, O Flaherty v McDowell, 6 H L Cas 142, Brown v G W R Co, (1885) 9 Q B D 753, Sims v Doughty, 5 Ves 243; Constantine v Constantine (1801) 6 Ves 100

The Act is not a complete Code The Indian Evidence Act is not a fragmentary enactment but a consolidatory enactment repealing all rules of evidence other than those saved by the last part of this section Collector of Gorakhpur v Palakdhari 12 A 1 at p 35 The Indian Evidence Act has re... Lekraj v ... employ ... it itself"

"The evidence Act does not contain the whole law of evidence governing this country Section 2 of the Act ... Statute, Act or Regulation in force ... Evidence Act and in other Acts and ... matters of evidence One of such S... which, as applicable to this country ... Evidence Act' Per Woodroffe J in ... 164 = 15 C W N 1053 at p 1065 In the same case the learned Judge continued "Where evidence is taken in this country the evidence receivable must be governed by the rules of procedure here in force It has however been argued that where evidence is received from abroad its admissibility ... English ... the ... ence ... ust ... obliga... tter for ... p 153, ... 31, 35 and cases there cited) The matter is one which may on a future occasion require consideration but though disposed to assent to the argument of tl ... as such S. a dec ... it was inten ...

Emp ... Queen

The rule under Mahomedan Law prescribing ... years as the period of "gestation" is a rule of evidenc ... When this is read with s 5 of the Punjab ... are not bound by that rule under that A ... see also 1 P R 1881 It is not open to Court to apply the principles of justice, equity and good conscience inconsistent with the Act Meer Jangoo v Chote Sahib, 6 N L R 161 = 8 Ind Cas 1121

The Evidence Act is a separate Statute dealing with an important branch of law, and its provisions are independent of the rules of procedure contained in the Criminal Procedure Code and must have full scope unless it is clearly proved that they have been repealed or altered by another Statute Rannun v Emperor, 7 Lah 84 = 91 Ind Cas 901 = 27 P L R 583 = A I R 1926 Lah. 88

Clause I All rules ... to evidence are repealed by clause ... Yusuf Ali v. Ayub Beg, 11 A L J 355 ... Ali v Budh Singh, 7 A 297, Parai ... an v. Ismail, 10 A 289 (300) This cl ... law on the subject of evidence Lelraj v Mahpal, ...

Clause II ... the Government in ... Act, 1861, 24 & 2 ... enactment In ... duction of a day ... a like nature were in force in other Non Regulation provinces ... p 77

Proviso There are various Statutes of the British Parliament and Acts of the Indian Legislature which contain provisions relating to evidence Those Statutes and Acts of ... passed before the Indian Evidence Act, (I c ... In re Rudolph Stallman, 15 C W N 1053, ... A 70 = 5 C 754; Queen Empress v Kartick ... Statutes and Acts are made in Whitely Stoke pp 822—827 So in Over v Over, 49 B 1925 Bom 231, it has been held that s 58 of ... to the Indian Divorce Act

3. In this Act the following words and expressions are used in the following senses, unless a contrary intention appears from the context —

Interpretation-clause

"Court" includes all Judges and Magistrates, and all persons, except arbitrators, legally authorized to take evidence

"Court"

Interpretation clause "A definition is the most difficult of all things There is far greater probability of a correct use of terms than of a correct definition of them The best definition, therefore, is that by use A correct use renders definition unnecessary, because the law will speak plainly without it And where it is unnecessary to define it is also dangerous because an incorrect definition will confound the correct use"—vide Solicitors' Journal Vo XX p 869

... "A definition clause does not ... nch the word may ... ntext which the ... ding to their ordi- nary m ... (J) 9— ... Ram L ...

3. same meaning is implied by the use of the same expression in every part of an Act Courtauld v. Legh, L R 4 Ex 130 R v Poor Law commrs, 6 A & E 68, Queen v Naglal ala, 22 B 235 p 238

... Act is framed only for the purpose ... ultimate scope Special ... objects Queen Empress ... the Act is not meant ... in a trial by Jury, the Court' does not exclude the jury In such a case it means and includes both Judge and Jury Ibid A Sub Registrar is a public officer; his proceedings are judicial proceedings within the meaning of section 228, Penal Code, and his Court is a Court within the meaning of that word in the Evidence Act In re Sadhasee Lal, 22 W R Cr 10 = 13 B L R App 40 The Court means all persons, except arbitrators legally authorized to take evidence Alchayya v Gangayya 15 M 138 (147) = 2 M L J 61 (F B) So the definition of Court applies to a Registrar holding an enquiry, and taking evidence under the ... In re Venkata Chela, 10 M 151, but see R v ... 36 (43), Attorney General v Moore, 3 Ex ... under Order XXI, r. 1—r 10 of Civil ... Criminal Procedure Code is a person legally ... is a Court Alchayya v Gangayya, 1... ... includes all Magistrates Queen v Alaqu, 16 M 421 (422), Abdul A... v The Crown, 17 Cr L J 491 = 36 Ind Cas 171

Includes Where in an interpretation clause it is stated a term includes so and so, the meaning is that the term retains its ordinary meaning and the clause enlarges the meaning or ... which the ordinary meaning would not inc... Firm of Chandalal A I R 1924 Sind 8... 3 A L J 845 = 89 Ind Cas 630

Judges No definition of the word "Judges is given in this Act The word 'Judge' means the presiding officer of a Civil Co... the definition of the term given in the Civil Procedu... same The word is also defined in section 19 of ... v Kirby, ... Registrar Magistrate No definition of this term also is given in the Act The General Clauses Act (X of 1897) lays down the following definition of the term "Magistrate, shall include every person exercising all or any of the powers of a Magistrate und... force' Vide s 3(31)

... C 317 A Magistrate is not a Court while he is passing an order under s 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code Natarangan v Ranga swami, 44 M L J 328

Judicial interpretation of "Court" ...

S.

15 A 141 (113), he was held not to be a Court In Queen Empress v Tulja 12 B 36 (42), the enquiry contemplated by sections 73, 75 of the Registration Act (III of 1877) appears to have been ... the case of the Queen v ... Madras High Court in the c... otherwise In delivering ... therefore clear to my mind that the Registrar exercises more than mere administrative function—in the examination of witnesses he is bound to observe the rules of evidence, and he is to consider the ... form his own conclusions The learn... B 36 appeared to consider the Reg... the fact appears to have mainly influ... Nath v I I Brown and other, 11 C 176 A District Registrar is not a Court within the meaning of section 622 of the Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 Manavala v Gounden, 30 M 326 Under the Land Acquisition Act, the proceedings of the Collector regarding the measurement and valuation of the land and resulting in his award are administrative and not judicial Ezra v The Secretary of State 1 C L J 227 = 32 C 605 = 9 C W N 151 affirming 7 C W N 249, Durga Das v Queen, 27 C 820, Galstaun v Banka 31 C W N 825 A ... proceeding under ss 69 and 70 of the Bengal ... v Kolil, 17 C 872 So also a Certificate ... f the Bengal Public Demands Recovery ... al 28 C 217, but see Jhara Lal v Mohant 2 Pat 257 Similarly a Deputy Collector is a Court when he is holding an enquiry under the Bengal Land Registration for registering the name of a person Panga Singh v Hara Khul 17 Ind Cas 710, see also Queen Empress v Munda 24 M 121 A tribunal constituted under the Calcutta Improvement Act (V of 1911) is also a Court Nundo Lal v Khetra Mohan, 45 C 585 So also is an Income Tax Collector Nataraja v Emperor 36 M 72, In re Punam Chand 38 B 642 A District Judge is a Court while he determines election disputes under s 22 of the Bombay District Municipalities Act (Bom Act III of 1901) In re Nanchand 37 Bom 865

A commissioner appointed to take down evidence of a witness is not a Court Seadul Ali v Emperor 11 C W N 909 Neither an arbitrator appointed by a Court is a Court Mula Mal v Chiranji 3 P R 1914, I ulliah v Veera Sami 17 M L J 490

As regards the meaning of the word "Court" in s 195 of the Criminal Procedure Code vide Kanhayalal v Bhagwan Das, 48 A 63, Bilas v Emperor 47 A 934, Galstaun v Banku 31 C W N 825, Nunda v Khetra 45 C 585

Fact "Fact" means and includes—

(1) any thing, state of things, or relation of things capable of being perceived by the senses

(2) any mental condition of which any person is conscious

Illustrations

(a) That there are certain objects arranged in a certain order in a certain place is a fact

(b) That a man heard or saw something is a fact

(c) That a man said certain words is a fact

(d) That a man holds a certain opinion has a certain intention acts in good faith, or fraudulently, or uses a particular word in a particular sense, or is or was at a specified time conscious of a particular sensation is a fact

(e) That a man has a certain reputation is a fact

Facts different meanings of 'Fa... in English Law books for various th... completed and operative transaction wh... executing a certain sort of writing, ... (factum) (c) As designating what exists ... fully, exist,—de facto as contrasted with de jure, (d) And so generally, as

S. 3. indicating things, events, actions conditions, as happening, existing, really t place This last is the notion which concerns us now It is what Locke exp (Vide Human Understanding Book IV C 16, s 5) when he speaks of ' particular existence or as it is usually termed, matter of fact' The fundam conception is that of a thing as existing or being true It is not limited to is tangible or visible or in any way the object of sense; things invisible, thoughts intentions fancies of the mind, when conceived of as existing or b true are conceived of as facts The question of whether a thing be a fact or is the question of whether it is or whether it exists whether it be true inquires into the truth, the reality, the actuality of things, are inquiries the fact about them Nothing is a question of fact which is not a question the existence reality, truth or something of the re teritis Thayer's Pre. Tr Ev p 191 Ordinarily, a fact is somethin ... act or deed or event ... as strictly true or ... Standard Dictiona ... American cts s w ... ment with respect ... v Vanderbilt 10 How Pr (N Y) 175 ... State v How 150 Ind 370=50 N E 299, Iad ... ible Hiden v Guggenheim 89 Fed 598 ... convement, and accompli ... A fact is something fixed, unchang Fact legal meaning of Mr Stephen in the first two editions of his Dige of Evidence defined fact in the following words, "Fact" means (1) every thing capable of being perceived by the senses (2) every mental condition of which every person is conscious For this definition he was keenly criticised by a very able writer in the Solicitors Journal ... who said "the proper ... tion ... and among ot ... negligence custom ... qualities of persons ar ... really applicable only to the rudest form of ... any ... The ... of a writing and thought no definition was necessary The ... edition, and all later ones Stephen dropp ... attempt at definition and substituted in art 1 this " 'Fact' includes the fact that any mental condition, of which any person is conscious, exists, ' and in his preface to the third edition, after saying that he 'had been led to modify the definition of fact by an acute remark made on this subject in the Solicitors' Journal," he added that, "the real object of the definition was to show that I used the word 'fact' so as to include states of mind' Thayer Pre Treat Ev p 192 "No satisfactory defini tions of the term 'fact' has been or perhaps can be given Broadly it applies to whatever is the subject of perception or conse...

A "fact" as the term is us ... or said, an act or action whi ... state of mind at a given time is ... anger, the feeling is a fact If the operations of the ... emotion is felt, as joy, grief, or knowledge, skill, intention, this effect on the mind produce an effect, as process is led up to and produce a desire or intention is a fact When the mental state of mind is a fact Wilfulness is a desire or intention to do a certain thing, such result; hence wilfulness is a fact This, at least, to produce a certain ascertain the existence of a fact by means of evidence is the general rule We item of the evidence are not necessarily such facts as call in operation of the law. Burr Jones, Ev § 10(a) The evidence, and each

What is the real meaning of the word "fact" The popular acceptation of the term "fact" does not include any mental condition of which any person is conscious It stops at a fact being an existing or true thing The legal meaning is not limited to what is tangible or visible or in any way the object of sense Burr Jones, Ev § 10(a) The framer of the Evidence Act also intended that the word be not understood only in its popular sense as denoting some event which occured or something which was done, as opposed to something said or some opinion or feeling of mind or body So under this definition state- ments, feelings, opinions and states of mind ar ... circumstance of which ... ness we became aw ... as to relevancy are the matter to which they relate Cunning Ev p 80, see also Stephen's Dig Ev Preface to Third Edition The state of a man's mind is as much a fact as the state of digestion Bowen L J in Edington v Fitzmaurice, 29 Ch D 483 cited in Field's Evidence 8th Ed p 14.

... purpose of proving or disproving

Bentham's definition Bentham defined fact as follows —"By fact is meant the existence of a portion of matter, inanimate or animate, either in a state of motion or in a state of rest" This is very uninstructive Mr Best has given no definition, but he seems to have indorsed the definition given by Bentham But all such definitions, including that of Bentham indorsed by Best, labour under the disadvantage that no accurate definition has yet been given of what is legally underst

Stephen
contain
'fact'
cious, Bornar
v Cor
66 Ten
on Best

Bentham's Classification of Fac and psychological, (2) events and This division of course does not acco Thayer Pre Treat Ev p. 191.

is a fact considered to inate being, by virtue, not those which it has in logical fact is considered to have its seat in some animate being; and that by virtue of the qualities by which it is constituted animate Bentham, Jud. Ev C 3; Best Ev § 12 Thus the existence of visible objects, the outward acts of intelligent agents, the res gestae of a law suit etc, range themselves under the former class; while to the latter belong such as only ex the sensations or recollections any proposition, the desires intention in doing particular ac , his introduction to his Evidence Act, classifies facts stated in clause (1) as external facts and those stated in clause (2) as internal facts 'During the whole of our waking life' he says "we are in a state of perception Indeed conscious ness and perception are two names for one thing according as we regard it from the passive or active point of view We are conscious of everything that we perceive, and we perceive whatever we are conscious of Moreover, our percep tions are distinct from each other, some both in space and time, as is the case with all our perceptions of with all our perceptions External facts—Whatever r
the whole sum of with which we a existence of the ex knowledge of it is which we draw situated for that p

S. 3. intention will, wish, knowledge, opinion, are all perceived by the person who feels them When it is affirmed that a man is angr that he knows the meaning of a word that he s by accident, each proposition relates to a perceived as a noise or a flash of light The classes of propositions is this, when it is affirmed that a man has a given intention, the matter affirmed is one which he r affirmed that a man is sitting or standing the be perceived not only by the man himself, and favourably situated for the purpose But the circumstance that either even is regarded as being or as having been capable of being perceived by some or th other, is what we mean and all that we mean, when we say that it exists o existed, or when we denote the same thing by calling it a fact The word 'fact is sometimes opposed to theory, sometimes to opinion, sometimes to feeling bu all these modes of using it are more or less rhetorical When it is used with any degree of accuracy it implies something which exists and it is as difficult to attach any meaning to the assertion that a thing exists which neither is, no under any conceivable circumstances could be perceived by any sentient being as to attach any meaning to the assertion that anything which can be so perceived does not, or at the time of perception did not, exist" Stephen's Introduction, pp 19 to 21

How psychological events are proved It was formerly considered that psychological facts were incapable of direct proof by the testimony of witnesses and their existence could only be ascertained either by confession of the party whose mind is their seat or by presumptive inference from physical facts Be. Ev Art 12 But it is now recognis ... is as muc en L J ... are permit
ot generally
What passes in a man's mind can be collected from his acts. R v Shiply, 4 Doug 73 (177), Field Ev 8th Ed 14

Events and states of things There are two other divisions of facts which deserve to be noted One, is that they are either events or states of things By an "event" is meant some motion or ... ome abou either in the course of nature or through latter case it is called "an act" or "an the existence of the tree is ' a state of t on Evidence § 13

Positive or Negative facts The remaining division of facts is into positive or affirmative, and negative In this may be seen a distinction, which belongs not, as in the former case, to the nature of the facts themselves, but to that of the discourse which we are under the necessity of employing in speaking of them tain denomina xistence of it lent to the exis less this sort of it may be the
A negative fact ough, in many instances, according to the mode of expression commonly employed in speaking of it, the real nature of it is disguised Thus, by health, is meant nothing more than the absence, the non existence, of disease, by minority, the individual's non-arrival at a certain age, by darkness, the absence of light, and so on — Bentham Jud Ev Vol 1, p 50

... of fact ... understand ... the Stat ... "In the first place what is 'fact to mean and inclu le of being perceived, by the son is conscious' This then, is the only sense in which, in interpreting the Statute, I can understand the word fact" Per Mahmood J in Queen Empress v Abdullah, 7 A 385 (399) F B "A misrepresentation as to the intention of a person (in stating the purpose for which the consent is asked) is a misrepresentation of a 'fact' within the meaning of section 3 of the Evidence Act" Emperor v Soma, 36 Ind Cas 851 (851)=17 P. R 1916 Cr =18 Cr. L J 18; see also Re N Jaladu, 36 M. 453 The word "fact" as used in s 157 of the Evidence Act, does not mean merely "event" but also a continuing fact such as possession. Muthalaghri v. Pappu Naicken, 25 Ind Cas 510

Matter of fact Matter of law "Matter of fact" is anything which is the ... law' is the general law of the land, of which ... Best Ev. 8th Ed p 19 The true question ... though related senses It means, in the first place, a question which the Court is bound to answer in accordance with a rule of law—a question which the law itself has authoritatively answered, to the exclusion of the right of the Court to a ... with what is considered to be ... questions are questions of fact—... to include everything that is not l... more than one meaning In ...

Illustrations Illustrations (a), (b), and (c) are illustrations of the first clause and (d) and (e) of the second This division which was made by Bentham has been adopted in the Code, to prevent any metaphysical doubts as to "mental conditions' being facts Norton p 93, Stephen's Dig Ev 3rd Ed Introduction

"Relevant

One fact is said to be relevant to another when the one is connected with the other in any of the ways referred to in the provisions of this Act relating to the relevancy of facts

Relevant facts The relevant facts are facts other than facts in issue which ... that th... them ... word ... words must be taken in thei... Comm...

admissibility of facts says Phipson "is for the most part determined by their logical relevancy to the issue, or that connection between the two which, in the ordinary course of events, renders the latter probable from the existence of the former ... admissi... the tw... which i... "evider... or "pri... evident... fact I. ... first d... law of evidence, namely logical relevancy, for the purpose of determining whether or not the fact offered can be evidence If the fact meet this test, it may

S. or may not be admitted For flanked around the general principle in the law of evidence, that what is logically relevant is admissible, are numerous excluding rules, which say that this or that fact though logically relevant, is inadmissible McKelvey's Law of Evidence p 13 The word 'relevant' in the Indian Evidence Act, means admissible Per Lord Hobhouse in Lala Lalhmi Chand Harder Sha, 3 C W N 268 (notes) So a fact in order to become relevant must be admissible in evidence under any one of the sections 5 to 55 Such facts which are themselves in issue may affect the probability of the existence of facts in issue Stephen's Introduction p 13

English Law—Test of relevancy The meaning of the term according to Scottish law comes nearer to the conception of the term according to English lawyers namely, the sufficiency in law of what is alleged in support or defence of an action (Standard Dictionary) The word comes from the French, relever to assist So whatever testimony was offered, which would assist in knowing which party spoke the truth of the issue was relevant and when to admit it did not override other formal rules of evidence it ought to have been taken" Planter v Planter, 78 N Y 80 It is not necessary however that it should itself bear directly upon the point in issue for if it be but a link in the chain of evidence tending to prove the issue by reasonable inference, it may nevertheless be relevant Schuchardt v Allen 1 Wall (U S) 359, Relevancy is that which conduces to prove a pertinent theory in a case Levy v Campbell, (Tex) 20 S W 196 But there is no definition or Statute or theory of relevancy which can very greatly aid in solving the constantly recurring problem, whether a given fact offered in evidence is relevant to prove the proposition in issue Burr Jones § 135 Prof Thayer, who seems of all the writers on evidence to have acquired a giant grasp of his subject, says 'There is a principle not so much a rule of evidence as a presupposition involved in the very conception of a rational system of evidence as contrasted with the old formal and mechanical system—which forbids receiving anything irrelevant not logically probative How are we to know what these forbidden things are Not by any rule of law The law furnishes no test of relevancy For this it tacitly refers to logic and general experience —assuming that the principles of reasoning are known to its Judges and ministers just as a vast multitude of other things are assumed as already sufficiently known to them There is another precept which should be laid down as preliminary in stating the law of evidence, namely, that unless excluded by some rule or principle of law, all that is logically probative is admissible These rules of exclusion have had their exceptions, and so the law has come into the shape of a set of primary rules of exclusion, and then a set of exceptions to these rules Preliminary Treat, Evidence pp 263—264

Reasons of the exclusionary rules The qualification to the general rule is that it does not always follow merely because a fact is logically relevant that it is always admissible There may be a very great number of minute details all logically relevant but which if they existed in many cases would take such a long time to be given in evidence that the business of the Court would be clogged In Amoskeag Co, v Head 59 N H 332, Doe C J thus stated the reason · "The trial to which parties are entitled is not an endless one nor one unreasonably protracted and exhausting There may be a vast amount of evidence, relevant in a certain legal sense but not so unimportant, when compared with an abundance of better evidence easily available, as to be properly excluded The parties being allowed upon collateral issues an equal range amply sufficient for the purposes of justice under the circumstances of the particular case, they are not necessarily entitled as a matter of law, to go further in that direction' But there is another reason for the exclusion of logically relevant evidence It is thus stated by Prof Thayer "Some things are rejected as being of too slight a significance, or as having too conjectural and remote a connection, others, as being dangerous in their effect on the jury, and likely to be misused or over estimated by that body, others as being impolitic or unsafe on public grounds, others on the ground of precedent It is this sort of thing, as I said before,—the rejection on one or another practical ground, of what is really probative,—which is the characteristic thing in the law of evidence, stamping it as the child of the Jury system' Thayer Pre Treat Ev p 266

"Facts in issue" The expression "facts in issue" means S. and includes—any fact from which, either by itself or in connection with other facts the existence, non-existence, nature or extent of any right, liability, or disability, asserted or denied in any suit or proceeding, necessarily follows

Explanation.—Whenever under the provisions of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure, any Court records an issue of fact, the fact to be asserted or denied in the answer to such issue is a fact in issue.

Illustrations.

be in issue :—

that A intended to cause B's death ;
that A had received grave and sudden provocation from B ; that A, at the time of doing the act which caused B's death, was, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing its nature

Facts in issue, what are they Facts in issue are those facts which are ... pleading in a civil case; ... "not guilty," in a criminal ... is therefore, little difficulty ... Facts in issue are, ... y the ... l 78 ... ssue" ... other ... it or ... is the ... w of ... olves ... with ... at A ... Facts ... tence ... ct' is ... ' or 'principal fact' Vide Mckelvey's Evidence, p 5

"Document" "Document" means any matter expressed or described upon any substance by means of letters, figures or marks, or by more than one of those means, intended to be used, or which may be used, for the purpose of recording that matter.

Illustrations

A writing is a document ·
Words printed, lithographed or photographed are documents
A map or plan is a document .
An inscription on a metal plate or stone is a document ·
A caricature is a document

... Many so- ... l evidence ... which the thoughts of men are represented by writing, or any other species of conventional

3. mark or symbol', and expressly includes milk man's score, exchequer tallies, and the like (Best p 213) Stephen's definition is similar, though more restricted "Any substance having any matter expressed or described upon it by marks capable of being read" (Dig Law Ev Art 1) Within those definitions, a ring or banner with an inscription a musical composition, and a savage tattooed with words intelligible to him If would all be documents Photographs, caricatures, wooden tallies and the like would probably be excluded under Stephen's definition not apparently under the others Best p 213 The definition given in this Act is wider than the definition mentioned in Stephen's Digest This definition seems to include all those things mentioned above This definition is in accord with the definition of the term given in s 29 of the Indian Penal Code and s 3 (16) of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897) Where a draft petition was prepared with the intention of being used as evidence of a matter, it was held that it fell within the terms of this section Q v Shufait Ally, 10 W R Cr 61 = 2 B L R 12 An agreement in which some of the executants signed is a document Jama Somu Lyer v Emperor 41 M 589 = 43 Ind Cas 593 = 19 Cr L J 1 Letters or marks imprinted on trees and intended to be used as evidence that the trees had been passed for removal by the Ranger are documents Emperor v Keshtappa Khandappa, (1925) A I R 327 = 27 Bom L R 599 = 26 Cr L J 1014 = 87 Ind Cas 839

Wharton defines a document as an instrument upon which is recorded, by means of letters figures or marks, matter which may evidentially be used In this sense the term applies to writings to words printed, lithographed, or photographed to seals plates or stones on which inscriptions are cut or engraved, to photographs and pictures, to maps and plans So far as concerns admissibility, it makes no difference what is the thing on which the words or signs offered may be recorded They may be on stone or gems or on wood as well as on paper or parchment Wharton Ev § 614, see also Reg. v Daye, (1938) 2 K B 33 A book is of course a document Field v Lawlnet Val Water Co 26 Atl 55

Evidence' "Evidence" means and includes—

(1) all statements which the Court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, in relation to matters of fact under inquiry such statements are called oral evidence,

(2) all documents produced for the inspection of the Court such documents are called documentary evidence

The ambiguity of the word 'evidence' The meaning of the word 'evidence' in English Text Books is ambiguous It sometimes means the words uttered and things exhibited by witnesses before a Court of Justice At other times, it means the facts proved to exist, by those words or things, and regarded as the ground work of inferences as to other facts not so proved Again, it is sometimes used as meaning to assert that a particular fact is relevant to the matter under enquiry

Evidence—Different meanings of the word The ambiguity of the word, is the cause of a great deal of obscurity apart from that which it gives to the rules above mentioned In scientific inquiries, and for popular and general purposes, it is no doubt convenient to have one word which includes —(1) The testimony on which a given fact is believed, (2) the facts so believed, and (3) the arguments founded upon them In judicial inquiries however, the distinction is most important, and the neglect to observe it has thrown the whole subject into confusion by causing English lawyers to overlook the leading distinction which ought to form the principle on which the whole should be classified I mean the distinction between the relevancy of facts and the mode of proving relevant facts

"The use of the one name 'evidence' for the fact to be proved, and the means by which it is proved, 'has given a double meaning to every phrase in which the word occurs' Thus, for instance the phrase 'primary evidence' sometimes means a relevant fact, and sometimes the original of a document as opposed to a copy 'Circumstantial evidence' is opposed to 'direct evidence' But circumstantial evidence usually means a fact from which some other fact is inferred, whereas 'direct evidence' means testimony given by a man as to what he has himself perceived by his own senses It would thus be correct to say that circumstantial evidence must be proved by direct evidence—a clumsy mode of expression which is in itself a mark of confusion of thought The evil, however, goes beyond mere clumsiness of expression People have naturally enough supposed that circumstantial and direct evidence admit of being contrasted in respect of their cogency, and that different canons can they ought to satisfy before the Court confuses the theory of proof, and is an word 'evidence' Stephen's Introduction pp 4, 5, 8, 9.

Evidence,—meaning of the word generally When we look back to the derivation of the word "evidence," we are awed by the vast area the subject out,
the ance
evidence is understood to be anything that makes evident or clear to the mind or such things collectively, any ground or reason for knowlege or certitude in knowledge; proof whether from immediate knowledge or from thought, authority or testimony; a fact or body of facts on which a proof, belief or judgment is based; that which shows or indicates ce is and ve believe sense "it is subved' Hubbet v United

Evidence—Meaning of the word in the Act The word "evidence" in the Act signifies only the instruments the Court, viz, witnesses and d vinced of these facts Gobaya Cr L J 881=A I R 1929 Nag 242 (F B), vide also Step Intro p 3 The English Law divided evidence into person evidence of documents and things signifying only the instruments before the Court, such as witnesses and documents, a thing such as a struggle etc, in the case of murder [see post, section 7, illustration (b)] is not evidence in the sense in which the term is used in the Act, but a 'relevant fact' to be proved by 'evidence,' the oral testimony of those who saw it Norton Ev p 95 So the definition of "evidence" in this Act is defective When in a controversy between a tailor and his customer, involving the fit of a coat the customer puts on the coat and wears it during the trial, (as in Brown v Foster, 113, Mass at p 137), a basis of inference is supplied otherwise than by reasoning or by statements, whether oral or written; and it seems impossible to deny to this the name of "evidence" It is what Bentham called when Thayer Gopal,
9 So
it does include those facts which in directly to the sense of the Court or Prof Greenleaf "evidence in legal which any alleged matter of fact, the truth of which is submitted to investigation, is established or disproved" Green Ev vol I § 1 It "includes all the legal means, exclusive of mere argument, which tend to prove or disprove every matter of fact, the truth of which is submitted to judicial investigation" Taylor vol I p 1, Powell Ev 1

The word "evidence" as defined in this Act does not include the whole

S. 3. duced for inspection of the Court" So also would be the examination of the accused before the committing Magistrate when given in evidence at the Sessions trial When one of the several accused persons makes a confession involving himself and some of the co accused, it may be taken into consideration as against all the persons so involved (vide s 30 infra) Such statements are also excluded from the definition of the word "evidence" Cun Ev p 61 The term "evidence" in its ordinary sense signifies that which makes apparent the truth of a matter It is no doubt more frequently applied to proof before a judicial tribunal but it is not necessarily confined to this sense; it applies with equal correctness to express the information acquired by any person who undertakes an enquiry on any matter in question Srinivasa v Queen 4 M 393 (395) The demeanour of a witness is evidence, vide R v Mathub 21 W R Cr 13, 14 "A consideration of the demeanour of the witness upon the trial says Starkie, "and of the manner of giving his evidence both in chief and upon cross examination, is often times not less material than the testimony itself Starkie Ev 4th Ed 822, Best ... v Beitrand L R 1 P 535, see also Hoomesh v Rashmoni, 21 C 279 (284)

So it is clear that the definition of evidence is incomplete It does not include the statements and admission of parties their conduct and demeanour before the Court and circumstances coming under the direct cognizance of the Court and having a material bearing on the question in issue It does not include the absence of producible witnesses or evidence, as to which vide section 114 ill (g) Whately Stokes Code Vol II p 843 Besides facts proved there are also certain notorious facts of which without proof the Court takes judicial notice (vide s ... infra) and the facts which the Court either must or may presume These are also not evidence under the Act (vide Cun Ev p 81) In an action for breach of promise to marry the fact that the defendant was silent on a certain occasion has been held to be statutory evidence' corroborative of his promise to marry (vide Bessela v Stern 2 C P D 266 (...) though it would not fall under Stephen's definition Phipson ... Ed 1 ... When relevant fact is proved and is expressly authorised by law to be taken into consideration, it is "evidence" though the result has not been expressed in these words by the legislature, and must be used in the same way as everything else that is evidence" R v Ashootosh 4 C 492 (F B) Confession made by one prisoner affecting himself and others jointly under trial for the same offence is evidence, although the Act has not so called it Ibid, referred to in R v Krishna Bhat, 10 B 326, but see Queen v Khandia 15 B 66, Rej v Bayaji Rat Un Cr C 311, K E v Pakiri, 2 L B R 272 A statement made by an accused person during a police investigation, on solemn affirmation before a Magistrate is evidence. Queen v Alagu, 16 M 421 distinguishing Queen v Bhama 11 B 702 The term 'evidence' is not necessarily confined to proof before a judicial tribunal but applies also to information acquired by any person, who undertakes an inquiry on any matter in question Srinivas v Queen 4 M 393 (395)

The terms 'evidence' and 'proof The terms are often used in such a manner as to include at one time the media by which the facts are established and at another the effect or conclusions produced by the test ... that attempt has been frequently made but ... between the terms "evidence" ... meaning ... full co ... More ac ... medium ... 277; Ja ... evidence is ... 73 'W ... over all of the evide ... N W 935 ... State, 101 Ga 9 ... 65 Am St Rep ... intellect and ... 108 N Y ... onvince the ... Proof is that ... Common ... of appropriate evidence which ... Evidence, therefore, differs from proof as ... Wills on Cir Ev 2, 3; Greenl Ev 1

Testimony The dictionary meaning of the word testimony is "a solemn declaration or affirmation made for the purpose of establishing or proving some fact" Webster In Bouvier's Law Dictionary, the following definition occurs 'The statement made by a witness under oath or affirmation" So testimony is a species of evidence by means of witnesses The broader term 'evidence" includes that which is given by witness, or offered by documents Carroll v Bancker, 43 La Am 1078 Clause (a) defines testimonial evidence

Testimony—Evidence—Proof The three words, 'testimony, "evidence' and "proof" stand in their order of importance as follows (1) Testimony—that kind of evidence which consists of verbal declarations of a witness (2) Evidence—the means of proof, subdivided into several species or kinds, one of which is testimonial evidence (3) Proof—the result of evidence ought under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it exists" "It would appear, therefore, that the Legislature intentionally refrained from using the word, evidence' in this definition but used instead the words, 'matters before it' For instance a fact may be orally admitted in Court The adm word 'evidence' as given in th before whom the admission order to determine whether the C J (Sir Ramesh Chandra) with Maclean J concurring in Joy Cooma: v Bundholall 9 C 363 (366), see also Ahar Rai v Jhunjur Tewari, 16 C W N 4?6, Per Maclean C J and Banerjee J in Dwarka Nath v Prosonno Kumar, 1 C W N 682

Difference between oral and Documentary evidence "Legal Evidence is not confined to the human voice or object capable of making a truthful classified as documentary evidence I who speaks, in documentary evidence the witness is the thing who speaks In either case the witness must be competent, i e must be deemed competent to make a thruthful statement, and in either case the competency of the witness ... the difference being that presumption, and in ctual testimony, and witness is tested by his own cross examination, while in documentary evidence the credit of the witness it tested by the cross examination of those who must be called to have this competency" Per Hamersley J, in Curtis v Bradby, 65 Conn 99=48 Am St Rep 177

Several classification of Evidence By the text writers evidence is classified under the following heads (1) Direct or circumstantial evidence (2) real or personal, (3) original or unoriginal lighted the fire or in the case of witnessed facts than with that f clusion, f

series of l so associated isfactory con
ent snow it is since it fell, and ined whether they erefore, is founded on experience and observed facts and coincidences establishing a connection

S. 3. between the known and proved facts and the facts sought to be proved Common Wealth v Webster, 5 Cush (Mass) 295=52 Am Am Dec 711 (723); Nabaran v Emperor, 11 C W N 1085 Legal Remembrancer v. Moti Lal, (S B) 41 C 173=17 C W N 1253 see also sections 6—16 of the Act So direct evidence is that which proves the fact in dispute directly without any inference or presumption, and which if itself true conclusively establishes the fact Indirect evidence is that which tends to establish the fact in dispute by proving another, and which though true does not of itself conclusively establish the fact, but which affords an inference or presumption of its existence Direct evidence is that which immediately points to the question at issue Indirect, or circumstantial evidence is that which only tends to establish the issue in proof of various facts sustaining by their consistency the hypothesis claimed Vide Cal Code Civ. Pro §§ 1831, 1832 So evidence is either direct or indirect according as the principal fact follows from the evidentiary—the factum probandum from the factum probans—immediately or by inference Vide Best § 27 Emperor v Ali 4 Bur L T 97 Various ... of circumstantial evidence is codified under ss 6-16 of the Evidence Act

Classification defective—It is clear from the definition given above that direct evidence' means testimony given by a man as to what he has himself perceived by his senses whereas circumstantial evidence usually means a fact from which some other fact is inferred These facts are called relevant facts in the Evidence Act But a relevant fact or a fact which is called circumstantial requires to be proved by some evidence oral or documentary So it is correct to say that circumstantial evidence must be proved by direct evidence—a clumsy mode of expression which is in itself a mode of confusion of thought Vide Stephen's Introduction (p 5) In direct evidence the facts apply directly to factum probandum while circumstantial evidence is proof of a minor fact which by indirection, logically and rationally demonstrates the factum probandum Beason v State 43 Tex Cr 442 But in Harris v Newland 10 N C 122, a different definition is given of circumstantial evidence Evidence is of two kinds that which, if true, directly proves the fact in issue, and that which proves another fact from which the fact in issue may be inferred But this definition of circumstantial evidence is against the accepted definition of the term Vide Burril on Circumstantial Evidence, 4 Best on Presumptions 12, Wills on Circumstantial Evidence p 19

"When the existence of any fact is attested by witnesses as having come under the cognizance of their senses or is stated in documents, the genuineness and veracity of which there seems no reason to question, the evidence of the fact is said to be direct or positive By circumstantial evidence, on the contrary, is meant that the existence of the principal fact is only inferred from one or more circumstances, which have been established directly" Best on Presumptions p 246 In State v Goldsborough, 1 Hurst C C (Del) 302, Gilpin C J in charging the jury, thus defines circumstantial evidence Circumstantial or presumptive evidence is, where some facts being proved, another fact follows as a natural or very probable conclusion from the facts actually proved so as readily to gain the assent of the mind from the mere probability of its having actually occurred It is the inference of a fact from other facts proved, and the fact thus inferred and assented to by the mind is said to be presumed that is to say, it is taken for granted until the contrary be proved And this is what is called circumstantial or presumptive evidence"

"Direct and circumstantial evidence" says Burr Jones' are not different in their nature For as Wharton says, All evidence consists of reason and fact co-operating as co-ordinate factors" Circumstantial evidence is merely direct evidence indirectly applied And direct evidence, when closely analysed is found to possess the inferential quality Direct and circumstantial evidence are not, therefore, in any sense opposed to each other" Burr Jones Ev § 6 b

Circumstantial evidence, value of Circumstantial evidence to be relied upon must not merely point to the inference to be drawn but it must be of such a nature that it can possibly lead to no other inference Kamal v Nandalal 56 C 738=33 C W N 711=116 Ind Cas 378=A I R 1929 Cal 37; Pirt Chord v Emperor, 30 L J 18=112 Ind Cas 850; Chiraguddin v Emperor, 15 Cr L J 193=23 Ind Cas 501=18 C W N 1147 The facts proved by circumstantial evidence should be inconsistent on a reasonable hypothesis with the innocence pronounced Emperor v Surnomoyee, 14 C 621; Harju Mull v Iman Ali, 8 C W N 4 Cr L J 316=19 Ind Cas 1004=244 ... C. 684, Emperor v. Jugat Ram, 48 Ind. ... mperor, 42 Ind Cas. 129=65 P L ... 1909, Irajala v. Emperor, 30 C W. I ... 16 Cr; Johura Bibi v Emperor, 35 C ... C. 391 (409); Daulat v Emperor, 77 I ... N 446. W stances and co 439=A evidence against an accused but forming him cannot sustain a conviction Isuni K But circumstantial evidence of the stronge Queen v Elahi Bux, 5 W R Cr 80 (91)

J 465

was not intended to exclude circumstantial seen, heard and felt Neel Kanto v Juggo- umstantial evidence of the most strongest Queen v Elahi, 5 W R Cr 80 p 94

Where no prima facie case had been made out against the accused, it is open to the accused to rely safely on presumption of innocence or on the infirmity of the evidence for the prosecution But when prima facie case is made out and the presumption of innocence is displaced, then the force of circumstantial evidence is augmented whenever the party attempts no explanation of facts which he may reasonably be presumed to be able and interested to explain Issar Singh v The Crown, 7 S L R 109=15 Cr L J 497=24 Ind Cas 585

In the absence of direct evidence a person may be convicted solely on circumstantial evidence Empress v Ananda Kishore, 4 C W N cxvi

"Where there is nothing but the evidence of circumstances to guide you" said Mr Justice Bayley, those circumstances ought to be closely and necessarily connected and to be made as clear as if they were absolute and positive proof" Rex v Dawning, Salop Summer Assizes, 1822 cited in Wills' Cir Ev p 288 Every circumstance therefore which is not clearly shown to be really connected with the hypothesis it is supposed to support must be rejected from the judicial balance, in other words, it must be distinctly established that there exists between the factum probandum and the facts which are adduced in proof of it a real connection, either evident and necessary, or so highly probable as to admit of no other reasonable explanation Wills Cir Ev 289 Sir Alfred Wills in his admirable book lays down the following rules specially to be observed in the case of circumstantial evidence "(1) The facts alleged as the basis of any legal inference must be clearly proved, and beyond reasonable doubt connected with the factum probandum (2) The burden of proof is always on the party who asserts the existence of any fact, which infers legal ... ct or circumstantial evidence, the ... e of the case admits (4) In order ... facts must be incompatible with the innocence c reasonable hypc doubt of the guil Cir Ev Chapte case based on

3 transportation for life. In re Venulada, 2 Weir 276, Queen Empress v. Dharmai gal S C 159, Oudh between The term imstantial evidence, iption', ex vi termini

imports an inference from facts, and the adjective "presumptive" as applied to evidentiary facts, implies if not the certainty at least the great probability of some relation between the facts and the inference Circumstances generally, but not necessarily, lead to particular inferences; for the facts may be indisputable, and yet their relation to the principal fact may be only apparent and not real, and even when the connection is real, the deduction may be erroneous Circumstantial evidence is thus a more general term than presumptive evidence Wills Cir Ev 21

Circumstantial evidence—Wills' explanation 'On a superficial view direct and indirect or circumstantial, would appear to be distinct species of evi... which those ... tantial evi... tinction is, to the fact ... umstantial evidence is equally direct in its nature but, as its name imports it is direct evidence of a minor fact or facts of such a nature that the mind is led intuitively, or by a conscious process of reasoning towards or to the conviction that from it or them some other fact may be inferred A witness deposes that he saw A inflict on B a wound, of which he instantly died, this is a case of direct evidence B dies of poisoning, A is proved to have had malice and uttered threats against him, and to have clandestinely purchased poison wrapped in a particular paper, and of the same kind as that which has caused death, the paper is found in his secret drawer and the poison gone The evidence of these facts is direct, the facts themselves constitute indirect or circumstantial evidence as applicable to the enquiry whether a murder has been committed, and whether it was committed by A' Wills Cir Ev ... 0

Direct and circumstantial evidence—Advantages and disadvantages As regards admissibility direct and circumstantial evidence stand generally speaking on the same footing (Best § 294) Direct and presumptive evidence (using the words in their technical sense)" says Mr Best 'being as has been ... d charac... ferior to ... n direct ... st § 295, but two chances of error—namely those which arise from mistake or mendacity on the part of the witnesses, while in all cases of merely presumptive evidence there is a third,—namely, that the inference from the facts proved may be fallacious ... The proper effect of circumstantial ... more accurately stated by Lord Chief ... Wills Cir Ev p 46 The learned ... connect themselves with each other ... body so as to carry conviction to the minds of a jury it may be proof of a more satisfactory sort than that which is direct' So where the proof arises from the irresistible force of a number of circumstances which we cannot conceive to be fraudulently brought together to bear upon one point, that is less ... mstances direct evidence may be" Rex v Smi...

In People v Videto 1 Park ... ibly set forth the advantages of circumstantial ... to the jury 'In most cases of conviction upon presumptive proof or circumstantial evidence there are many different witnesses swearing to several distinct circumstances, all teneding to the same result, each of which circumstances is a necessary link in the chain of evidence required to produce a conviction of the accused, and there is therefore the less danger of perjury in such case in consequence of the number of perjured witnesses which would be necessary for the prosecution to produce to effect an unjust conviction For if one perjured witness should swear to a fact forming only one link in a chain of circumstances, the rest of the witnesses being honest, he will be in danger of detection from the discrepancy between his testimony and theirs; when he might be sworn positively, but falsely, to the commission of the crime by the accused, without the possibility of being contradicted For this reason, although from the imperfection and uncertainty which must ever exist in all human tribunals, I have no doubt that there have been cases in which innocent persons have been convicted on presumptive proofs, yet from my knowledge of criminal jurisprudence, both from reading and observation I have no hesitation in expressing the opinion that when there has been one unjust conviction upon circumstantial evidence alone, there have been three innocent persons condemned upon the positive testimony of perjured witnesses." In Commonwealth v Harman, 4 Pa 269 Chief Justice Gibson of Pennsylvania observed 'Circumstantial evidence is, in the abstract, nearly, though perhaps not altogether, as strong as positive evidence; in the concrete, it may be infinitely stronger A fact positively sworn to by a single eye-witness of blemished character is not so satisfactorily proved as is a fact which is the necessary consequence of a chain of other facts sworn to by many witnesses of undoubted credibility "

Circumstantial evidence where to be resorted to—"The argument founded upon the abundance of the circumstances" says Sir Alfred Wills, "and the consequent opportunities of contradiction which they afford, belongs to another part of the subject While each of these incidents adds greatly to the probative force of circumstantial evidence in particular cases, they have clearly no connection with an inquiry into the value of circumstantial evidence in the abstract However numerous may be the independent circumstances to which the witnesses depose, the result cannot be of a different kind from, or superior to, that strong moral assurance which is the consequence of satisfactory proof by direct testimony, and for which if such proof be attainable, every tribunal and every reasonabl[illegible] to substitute indirect or circumstantial [illegible] prima facie afford strong reason for [illegible] p 18

Danger of circumstantial evidence in jury trial In a jury trial great caution is to be observed by the Judge as regards circumstantial evidence In cases of such evidence process of inference and deduction are essentially involved,—frequently of a delicate and perplexing character liable to numerous causes of fall[illegible] mind itself, which has been pr[illegible] uneven mirror, imparting its o[illegible] Ev 18, Best on Presumptions, p [illegible], Bentham, Rationale of Judicial Ev B V C XV S IV.

Circumstantial Evidence—Two kinds of Circumstantial evidence is of two kinds, conclusive and presumptive "conclusive," when the connection between the principal and evidentiary facts—the factum probandum and factum probans—is [illegible] accused of [illegible] place, etc ; [illegible] evidentiary is only probable, whatever be the degree of persuation which it may generate Best Ev § 293

Real or Personal Again evidence is either real or personal By real evidence is meant evidence o[illegible] class of things is the source, persons being [illegible] to them in common with t[illegible] rei vel facti" of the civilians [illegible] mmediate, where [illegible] where its exis[illegible] [illegible] sed to th[illegible] the ju[illegible], and sa[illegible] tion be[illegible] ment of[illegible] term, Be[illegible] 150—

S. 3. 1168 The real evidence is known by the name of "immediate" evidence For obvious reason there is no class of evidence so convincing and satisfactory to a Court or a jury as that which is addressed directly to the senses of such Court or jury Such objects are, when it is convenient, brought into the court room for such inspection If this is not convenient or possible, the Judge or Jury may if it seems practicable and neces- [illegible] a view of the object or premises in questio [illegible] to the senses of the tribunal has been des [illegible] That the Court, early paid a high tribute to this class of evidence is shown by the fact that where the point of issue was evidently the object of sense," the Judges sometimes dispensed with a Jury and decided the q[illegible] their own senses [illegible] Black Com 331. [illegible] is by oral testimony of witnesses and by [illegible] to can be seen by the Jury, subject alwa[illegible] consistency demands that if the ends of [illegible] it should be produced by them It is not calling for any unusual exercise of any of their senses Burr Jones § [illegible] In Real v Territory, 129 Am St Rep 861, Inman P J observed 'But this does not make them witnesses in the case They have simply tested the credibility of the witnesses by the personal experience and observations of the jurors A thousand things in the lives and observations of the jurors may influence them in doing this, but a knowledge of these things has never been regarded as making the jurors witnesses in this case [illegible] tents of the bottle [illegible] prosecuting witness [illegible] rs did not learn any [illegible] her words, they were [illegible] before them to test its true character" Similarly in Gentry v Mc Ginnis, 3 Dana, (Ky) 282, Robertson C J said The counsel denies that personal inspection by the jurors on the trial is proper or allowable evidence To a rational man of perfect organization the best and highest proof of which any fact is susceptible is the evidence of his own senses This is the ultimate test of truth and is therefore the first principle in the philosophy of evidence Hence autopsy, or the evidence of one's own senses, furnishes the strongest probability, and indeed the only perfect and indubitable certainty of the existence of any sensible fact [illegible] others, do [illegible] oof. Their own [illegible] factory to them- [illegible] the policy of [illegible] been permitted but required to decide on autoptical examination whenever it was practical and convenient"

So the remains of a deceased person may be produced when in a fit condition for [illegible] an [illegible] fror [illegible] gest [illegible] pro [illegible] lim [illegible] and [illegible] Jury may decide [illegible] of a person On [illegible] nspection ; and so [illegible] with a putative [illegible] 60 infra written evidence is delivered through oral (5) When real evidence is reported, either by word of mouth or otherwise Best § 29

Hearsay Evidence "There is a great head of the law of evidence, comprising indeed, with its exceptions, much of the largest part of all that truly belongs there, forbidding the introduction of hearsay The true historical nature of this rule is hinted by the remark of an English Court, two centuries ago and over, when they checked the attempt of a woman to testify what another woman had told her. The Court, it was quietly remarked, 'are of opinion that it will be proper for Wills to give her own evidence'. [Eliz Canning's Case, 19 St Tr 383 (406)] That is to say, the objection went to the medium of communication; witnesses before the jury, in giving ordinary testimony, had by that time been allowed for some three centu-and seer, as they said in the witnesses to Courts in older not be testimony at second hand vide s 60 infra

A fact is said to be proved when, after considering the matters before it, the Court either believes it to exist, or considers its existence so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it exists

"Proved"

A fact is said to be disproved when, after considering the matters before it, the Court either believes that it does not exist, or considers its non-existence so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it does not exist.

'Disproved'

A fact is said not to be proved when it is neither proved not disproved

"Not proved"

"Proved", meaning of "Proof" said Lord Moulton in Hawkins v Powells Coal Ltd, L R (1911) 1 K B 265 "does not mean impossible It means

in our acts, in our thoughts we c upon just and reasonable convictions Per Lord Coleridge J in Rex v I cited in Wills' Cir Ev p 50 So case it is never meant that he must p can be done is to adduce such evi done by direct evidence or by inference ft to rest in surmise, conjecture or Powells Coal Co Ltd, ubi supra W N. 265 at p 270 Jenkins C J thus observed; "Demonstration or a conclusion at all points logical can not be

3. expected nor can a degree of certainty be demanded of which the matter under investigation is not reasonably capable Accepting the external test which experience commands, the Evidence Act in conformity with the general tendency of the day adopted the requirements of the prudent man as an appropriate concrete standard by which to measure proof See also Prasannomoyi v Baikuntha, 49 C 132; Ganesh v Lakhan, 23 C L J 209 So none but Mathematical truth is susceptible of that high degree of evidence, called demonstration, which excludes all possibility of error, and which, therefore, may reasonably be required in support of every mathematical deduction Matters of fact are proved by moral evidence alone by which is meant, not only that kind of evidence which is employed on subjects connected with moral conduct, but all the evidence which is not obtained from intuition, or from demonstration" Greenleaf Ev § 1

Standard of belief ... lance to ... left to ... South ... rarely the consequence of strictly logical process It is either partially or entirely the out growth of education—bias, affection, fear, or some other influencing passion We believe what we wish to believe, and what we are in the mood of accepting as true The same evidence which to one may be convincing to another may seem absurd Per Vice-Chancellor Pitney, in Duvale v Duvale, 34 Atl. Rep 885 at p 896 So there is no standard by which the weight of conflicting evidence can be ascertained Per Sutherland J in People v Superior, Ct 5 Wend (N Y) 1.4 (126) In estimating the weight of ... many ounces, pounds, or tons, and yet we kn... ht from the lightest feather to the most ab... do is to note all the facts and circums... ite and relative weight by the lights of conscience and experience Boylan v Meeker, 28 N J H 274 (333) We have no test of truth of human testimony, except its conformity to our ... Per Vice chancellor Van Fleet in Dagger ... nd in Jersey City Bank v O' Rourl ... which all evidence has upon the mind is determined by observation and experience, the only original instructors of wisdom Whitaker v Parker Per Beck J 42 Iowa 585 (587)

Evidence which will satisfy one Court may not satisfy another Any attempt to lay down a provision that such evidence as does not satisfy a particular Court shall be insufficient in the future to prove a similar fact before any other Court is an attempt to make law rather than interpret it Raghupat v Emperor, 100 Ind Cas 535=28 Cr L J 311=A I R 1927 Oudh 140

Legal proof, what it is In Barindra Kumar Ghose v The Emperor 37 C 467=14 C W N 1114 at p 1178, Carnduff J observed "Legal proof ... he defini... Evidence ... lering the ... existence so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it exists' When the section speaks of the matters before the Court, it means of course, the matters properly before it; whence it follows that, if and when relevant matter has been admitted in evidence, one must be careful—I would here refer to the provisions of section 167 c ... to be in any ... sible, ... admit ... n between ... proof ... t enacts a rule of pr ... that this is not a har... nptio juris et de jure Emperor v Shrinivas, 7 Bom L R 969=3 Cr L J 33, see also Jarat Kumari v. Bissessur, 39 C. 245; Borsogomoff v Nahapiet Jute Co, 6 C W. N 495 (505)

Suspicion conjecture, etc, probative force of "Suspicion cannot give probative force to testimony which in itself is insufficient to establish or to justify " Per Andrews C J in People v Vanzile, 143 N ion" (C C no upon it, is without rudder and compass" ( conjecture or suspicion to take the place of legal proof ' Per Carnduff J in Barindra v Emperor, 37 C 467=14 C W N 1114 at p 1178 In the same case Jenkins C J observed "Another matter to which I desire to allude is the general character of the evidence From the nature of the case it is to a large extent circumstantial, and in dealing with it, the rules especially applicable must be borne in mind There is always the danger in a case like the present that conjecture or suspicion may take the place of legal proof, and therefore it is right to recall the warning addressed by Mr Baron Alderson to the jury in Reg v Hodges 2 Lewis C C 227 Where he said 'the mind was apt to take a pleasure in adapting circumstances to one another, and even in straining them a little, if need be, to force them to form parts of one connected whole, and the more ingenious the mind of matters to over reach and take for granted some to render them complete ' there may be a strong mo 25 W R Cr 43

So neither juries nor Courts are permitted to render verdicts or judgments upon guesses or surmises Iaggle v Allen, 24 N Y App Div 594, see also 511 (P C) 'It is not the habit of The Ship Henry Eubank, 1 Sumn ers of right to mere conjecture and possibilities" A mere conjecture built upon a bare possibility will not suffice to transfer the money another Pauley v St 1039 P C—12 C
becomes inconsistent plaintiff has produced sufficient evidence to establish his case he is not to be defeated upon mere surmise or conjecture Lord Chief Justice Kenyon said, he remembered an instance, 'bordering on the ridiculous where in an action on the game law not charged fright, and to grant a new trial

In Mina Kumari v Bejoy Singh, 44 I A 72 at p 77=44 C 662—21 C W N 585 Sir Lawrence Jenkins observed that though in cases of alleged benami transactions there may be grounds for suspicion, yet the Court's decision must rest not upon suspicion but upon legal grounds established by legal testimony See also Al 28 C W N 62—81 Ind Cas 667, Promode Kumar Ro Manil Lal v Raja Bejoy Singh, 25 eeman Chander v Gopal Chander, 1 nat Indu 23 C W N 321 (P C) Bipin Krishna v Priya Bratia 26 must rest not upon suspicion but testimony Luchuram v Radha Char
15, Jasoda Lal v Balaram, 35 C Nagendra 66 Ind Cas 691 Motilal
Kumari v Bjoy 21 C W N 585 Balwant v Daulat 8 A 315 Jac. Bir v v Mahabir, 9 C 656, Kali Chandra v Shib Chandra, 6 B L R 501

Mere suspicion of fraud 'Astute as Courts should be" says Knaff J in Muirhead v Smith 35 N J Eq 303 (309) 'in the detection of fraud, they are no justified in finding it on grounds which show no more than its possible existence When the acts of parties admit of a reasonable interpretation in favour of honesty and fair dealing, they should receive it.' In a suit to set aside a fraudulent conveyance "tangible facts must be proved, from which a legitimate inference o

3. a fraudulent intent ... a suspicion of wrong, nor should a ... Church C J in Jacqer v Kelly, 52 N ... IP (C C) 88 (112) Mr Justice Grier addressed the jury as follows "you must remember that the burden of proof is on the party who alleges fraud That fraud, though proved by circumstances, can never be presumed, for fraud is a crime It is not enough to show suspicious circumstances Suspicion is not proof It does not require a great deal of ingenuity to cast suspicion of fraud upon any transaction" In Sreemanchunder v Gopaul Chunder, 11 M I A 28 at p 44, Lord Westbury said "In matters of this description (he was dealing with a charge of fraud in connection with a sale in execution of a decree) it is essential to take care that the decision of the Court rests ... established by legal testimony" So ... ely on suspicion unsupported by l... 305= 70 Ind Cas 555=36 C L J, 396

Suspicion in Will cases In Tyrrell v Painton, (1894) P 151 at p 157 Lindley L J said "The rule in Barry v Butlin, 2 Moo P. C 480; Fulton v Andrew, L R 7 H L 448 and Brown v Fisher, 63 L T 465, is not in my opinion confined to the single case in which a Will is prepared by or on the instructions of the person taking large benefits under it but extends to all cases in which circumstances exist which excite the suspicion of the Court, and wherever such circumstances exist and whatever their nature may be, it is for those who ... affirmatively that the t... where th... fraud or ... for proving the Will " The suspicion to which allusion is made must, I think ... oubt that may arise from ... investigation of the transac ... But when a caveator impugns a Will on the ground that it was obtained by the exercise of undue influence, excessive persuasion or moral coercion, it lies upon him to establish the case In ... that the decision of the C... by legal testimo... Cas 777

Matters before it "When the section speaks, of the matters before the Court it means of course, the matters properly before it" Barindra v Emperor, 14 C W N 1114 (1178) The expression "matters before it" in this definition includes matters which do not fall within the definition of 'evidence' as given in section 3 Bhairon Prasad v Lakshmi Narayan, A I R 1924 Nag 385 Therefore in determining what is evidence other than "evidence" in the phraseology ... the defini... judicial ... the word ... take ... 363 ... nna, ... court ... three ... by ... nts ... view ... the ... nion ... to ... the ... not ... a ... er to ... so ... him ... rule which is a third class other cases

9 C 363

they are not evidence as defined by the Act L J 138 So also commissioner s report is re to see that it is filed as an 301 = 51 M L J 637 Ordinarily of great importance Abdul v v Emperor, 37 C 340 = 14 C W N 422 ' there are no doubt passages in the judgment of Woodroffe J, which might seem to imply that the observation of a fact by the Magistrate could not be admitted But a careful peru what is meant is that mere observation v of evidence and a case cannot be the Court locally If in looking at a place in order to understand the evidence the Magistrate thereby understands that the description of the place given in the evidence is erroneous or false he is certainly not precluded by the laws of evidence from holding that the facts stated by the witnesses who gave that erroneous or f himself a wit shown that most importa matters befo
To hold otherwise would be in direct conflict with Joy Comar s case 9 C 363 which so far as we know has never been dissented from Aitai Rai v Jhingur Tewari 16 C W N 426 (429) = 39 C 476 But a Judge without giving evidence in a case as a witness cannot import into a case his own knowledge of particular facts Haropersad v Sheo Dyal 26 W R 55 P C = 3 I A 286 see also Mithan Bibi v Bashere Khan 11 M I A 213 = 7 W R P C 27

only for the
it should Ind Cas
60 The
s generally

the wrong impression from the mind of the Magistrate by cross examining him The danger is intensified if the Magistrate holds the local enquiry exparte Ram Sahai v Dwarka Singh 61 Ind Cas 712 = 1 P L T 569 So where a Magistrate makes use of knowledge derived from a local inspection without affording the accused an opportunity to cross examine or to explain the points against him he acts with material irregularity sufficiently to vitiate the trial Moran v Emperor, 61 Ind Cas 794 = 2 Pat L J 455 It is not only not objectionable but shou bear not his

rule 9 Civil Procedure Code a Judge in a civil case makes a local inspection in person at his discretion The decisions in Pai Kishori Ghosh v Kumudini Kanta Ghosh 14 Ind Cas 377 = 15 C L J 138 Anant Lal v Gokul Sahu 35 Ind Cas 344 and Dwarka Prosad v Malhu Lal 52 Ind Cas 241 are cases the decisions of which are based on the omission from Order XXVI rule 9 of the Code of Civil Procedure of the words that occurred in section 392 of the old Code which provided for the issue of a commission for a local investigation only in cases where it could not be conveniently conducted by the Judge in person Safapathy v Perumal 62 Ind Cas 790 = 44 M 640 As the rule now stands a Judge may issue a commission in any case when he deems it fit to do so irrespective of his own inconvenience Ibid Sometimes the question arises whether the report of a process server can be considered by a Court as matters before it But the report of a process server is not admissible in evidence unless he be examined as a witness with regard to it Fateh Mahammad v Hakim Khan 96 Ind Cas

825=A I R 1926 Lah 620 So the Court can take into consideration the following things which do not fall within the definition of the word evidence in deciding a case (1) any material object brought before it (rules 60 of the Evidence Act and section 218 of the Criminal Procedure Code), (2) the demeanour of witness, [Vide Coghlan v Cumberland, (1898) 1 Ch 705, Bombay Cott ... notorious facts of which the Court can take ... the parties or thei ... accused and (7) ... her by a Court or by commissioners appointed by a Court Vide ... v Queen, 4 M 393 (395)

But personal knowledge of the Judge and matters not relevant duly proved cannot be the basis of any judgment. Durga Prosad v Ram Doyal, 38 C 153, see also Hurpershad v Sheo Dyal, 3 I A 286, Mitham v Basir, 7 W. R 27 (P C), Narain v K E 5 O C 37 Rousseau v. Pinto, 7 W R 190, R v Ram charan, 24 W R Cr 28, Vallabha v Madhusudan, 12 M 495, (500); Sooraj v Khoode, 22 W R 9 The same rule is true in cases of arbitration Kanhye v Ram, 24 W R 81 "A Judge is not entitled to rely on specific facts not proved by the evidence in the case but known to him personally or otherwise but he may use his general knowledge and experience in determining the credibility of evidence adduced before him and apply it to a decision of the specific facts in dispute in the case" per Sunder Ayyar J in Lakshmayya v Varadaraja, 36 M 168, see also British South African Co v Lennon, 31 I A 273 (P C) In the ... the Judge unless both the parties after he so mentions to them his said personal knowledge of that particular incident, state that they have no objection to his continuing as Judge"

Probable—Probability is the term generally used to express the preponderance of the evidence or arguments, in favour of the existence or non existence of a particular event or proposition, and sometimes as assertion of the abstract and intrinsic credibility of a fact or event Wills' Cir Ev p 8

Prudent Man—Truth being a phrase used in reference alike to things capable and to things incapable of absolute and quasi-mathematical demonstration, the evidence appropriate to inquiries after truth must necessarily be different according to the class of the events or propositions which are the subjects of inquiry This classification, however, is not founded on any essential difference in the nature of truths themselves, ... and ability of perceiving them, ... the object of knowledge can ... absolutely and really as it is ... of probability of a prudent man is laid down Vide next topic

Distinction between Factum Probandum and Factum Probans Evidence is always a relative term It sign... the factum probandum, or proposition to be pro...

...ature ...spect ...tions ...oved ? ... each ...inally ...posi ...y be offered that John Doe left the ... S. turn becoming a proposition, the Doe's shoes fit the track left becoming a proposition, may be stand who has placed the shoe in the tracks ... its turn becomes a proposition requiring the Facts, more or fewer Proposition or Evidenti ... of the moment

—Wigmore's Principles

Distinction between Inference and proof "Inference is the persuasive operation of each separate evidentiary fact, as to an Interim Probandum Proof is the persuasive operation of the total mass of evidentiary facts, as to a Probandum

"We are dealing here, always, with a state of mind, a mental process, and analogies are helpful

"An inference may be likened to a push given to a wheel chair in which the thinker is sitting The door of th ... towards the door Party A gives the ... ; Party B ... on does

... may or may not have reached the door —In studying the various kinds of evidence, therefore, we are not expecting proof from any one piece, but only an inference No question of proof arises until all the evidence—pushes, have been given

"N... about or stror
the pr
from the house without it This process may or may not result in our belief that he lost it or that he never put it on, but in either case our belief as to one or the other propositions is distinct from our inference The advocate asks the tribunal to infer, and the tribunal proceeds to infer, i e to think probatively, but this inference may or may not result in belief The term 'inference' has been some times used ambiguously to include either or both the process and the result" Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 4

Real Foundation of Proof "The real foundation of Proof is always the recognition of resemblance and difference between things or events known and observed, and those which are on their trial,—whether such recognition is based (1) on knowledge already reached and formulated in names or propositions or (2) on direct observation and experiment (1) In proportion as we openly and distinctly refer to known principles (already generalised knowledge) is Proof deductive (2) in proportion as we rapidly and somewhat dimly frame new ...al, or
...owth
...valry
and interaction between two opposite processes
"S... ...deductive That is ... under the shadow to sa ... r Unless we have of sc ... within the sweep some of which to bring our Thesis, we reach no foundation broader than itself, no assurance beyond what m ... been found to contradict the the required for all rationalization that a certain sign is trustwor an assertion that the sign is the Thesis In other words all rat tically But there is yet a me and deductively, and, with certain make some use of it.

'Although the dependence of any Thesis on its Reason must be rationalized—i e must have the underlying principle made clear—before the testing operation can be called complete yet in regard to special dangers it makes considerable difference whether that principle is at first definitely apprehended or not—

professes to rely (1) upon laws

Proof—and that which rests upon what n or perception of resemblance and difference or observation and experiment—that which is commonly known in its highest form as Inductive Proof

as the Argument from Analogy The required limitations the first place, a clear recognition or law connecting the cases is in the case of Inference commonly dropped out of sight or at least left highly indistinct yet the whole cogency of Inductive Proof depends upon the extent to which such principle is first rendered definite and then confronted with observable or preserving the distinction lies in the ration

rations

make it of course extremely difficult in practice to label every argument at once with one or the other name Some times as where the Reason is a direct statement of the Principle itself or again where it consists of a record or some experiment no hesitation need practically be felt as to where the danger lies but in a large number of cases we have no means of deciding whether the argument may best be classed as emperical or deductive or both "But because we need not consider

if we can be an argument

However we ction between them has a certain real importance as already shown, and all that is intended to be done with it is to recognize that so far as the given argument may be seen to belong to one or the other class so far we are already on the track of special dangers'—Vide Professor Alfred Sidgwick Fallacies pp 212 A brief examination will show that in the offering of evidence in Court the form of inference is always inductive

Suppose to prove a charge fixed design to kill the deceased to kill B therefore A probab semblance of a syllogism The form of inference is exactly the same when we argue yesterday Dec 31 A slipped on the side walk and fell, therefore the side walk was probably coated with ice' or 'To day A who was bitten by a dog yesterday died in convulsions therefore the dog probably had hydrophobia So with all other legal evidentiary facts whether circumstantial or testimonial we may argue last week the witness A had a quarrel with the nd with a

After B s

probably an adult of an affray

obably true

that B did strike first In all these cases we take a single or isolated fact and upon it base immediately an inference as to the proposition in question This is the Inductive or Emperic process proposed is thus

in the

is are obably

would kill B'?

least capable

y forcing into prominence the implied Law or generalization on which it rests more or less obscurely Thus it is nothing peculiar to litiguous inference that this possibility of turning it into deductive form exists here also But it is not a question of what the form might be——for all inductive may be turned into deductive forms——but of what it is, as actually employed ; and it is actually put forward in inductive form

"(2) Even supposing this transmutation to be a possibility, it would still be usually undesirable to make the transmutation for the purpose of testing probative value; because it would be useless We should ultimately come to the same situation as before Thus, in one of the instances above 'A repaired machinery after the accident, therefore A was conscious of a negligent defect in it'; suppose we turn this into deductive form 'People who make such repairs show a consciousness of negligence , A made such repairs, therefore, A was conscious of negligence' We now have an inference sound (in form, at least) deductively, i e if the premises be conceded But it remains for the Court to declare whether [illegible] examina [illegible] his new [illegible] tes (shows proves, probably shows, etc) that they are conscious of negligence' But here we come again, after all, to an inductive form of inference The consciousness of negligence is to be inferred from the fact of repairs, just as the presence of electricity in the clouds was inferred by Franklin from the shock through the kite string i e, by a purely inductive form reasoning So with all other evidence when resolved into the deductive form , the transmutation is useless because the Court's attention is merely transferred from the syllogism as a whole to the validity of the inference contained in the major premise, which presents itself again in inductive form

For practical purposes, then, it is sufficient to treat the use of litigious evidentiary facts as generally inductive in form" Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof, § 9

Form of Inference—Occasional deductive form Nevertheless the deductive form occasionally may be used,—even must be used, in seeking to discover the real points of weakness of inference The two commoner cases of this [illegible] osed general [illegible] involving a [illegible] Principles of

Practica[illegible] [illegible] fallacious Inference [illegible] the loophole [illegible] these, we sha[illegible] in weighing t[illegible] the opponent[illegible] thus set fort[illegible] source of fall[illegible] convenient [illegible] of causes, or unknown antecedents, or of arguing either post hoc ergo propter hoc or per enumerationem simplicem', or of neglecting to exclude alternative possibilities, or of forgetting that facts may bear more than one interpretation [illegible] or of failing to see below the surface, or—perhaps on the whole the best of all—of unduly neglecting points of difference

"The form of proposed inference is, a case or cases brought forward, of which a certain conclusion is asserted to be the best explanation If, then some better explanation is possible, the theory as stated is impeachable [illegible] By the "best' [illegible] of all possible [illegible] w, is narrowed, [illegible] ible way against [illegible] on the cure, the [illegible] riment conduct [illegible] of real value [illegible] ble theories are [illegible] all precautions

3. have been taken against that crudest kind of unchecked generalization which the ... ction against ... r, more directly ... struct—concrete over all its possible ... the conditions under ... is the main lesson of ... is each case is, Wha ... right one out of all those conceivable? The methods of Inductive Proof may be viewed as attempts to answer this question." Sidgwick's Fallacies p 270 The peculiar danger, then, of Inductive Inference is that there may be other explanations, than the alleged Probandum one, for the fact taken as the basis of proof Therefore this principle is to be examined from the point of view of the opposing parties in a legal trial Proponent and opponent in turn offer evidence Both counsel and the tribunal therefore need to examine each piece of evidence, first, from the proponent's point of view, next, from the opponent point of view, and finally, from the tribunal's point of view. Wigmore Principles of Judicial Proof § 11

Same from the View point of the Proponent of Evidence "If the potential defect of Inductive Evidence is that the fact offered as the basis of the conclusion may b ... conclusions, the failure to exclude ... e, from the stand point of proof, a fata ... hypothesis were open, there might ... obability for the Inference desired ... ot print on the sand, he could not ... was absolutely prove ... own somnambulism ... of inference, evidence of an extraordinary degree of probability. The provisional text, then, from the point of view of valuing the inference, would be something like this Does the evidentiary fact point to the desired conclusion (not as the onl ... explanation) mos ... Or (t ... e mos ... ones ... the ne ... e only ... nation of this Probans? ... y be illustrated ... will raise ...

... kes ... prom ... possibl ...

upon the practical availability of stronger facts But the general ... mode of reasoning of the Courts substantially illustrates the dictates of scientific logic." Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 12.

S.

Same from the view point of the opponent of evidence "Where the scientist is dealing with the subject of Proof in Logic, the single stage of the inquiry is whether the argument offered as involving Proof does really fulfil the logical requirements But wherever, in the applications of logical principles to specific practical purposes, two parties are found contending, the proponent and the opponent—as in a formal debate, and, pre-eminently, a trial at law—the treatment of the inference falls into two stages. Whenever, on the evidential fact off . . . complete proof . . . a probable inf . . .

. . . ponent He may now properly show, by . . . of these hypotheses, thus left open, is . . .

admitted in evidence, but its for . . . showing that some explanation of it other than the proponent's is the true one"

"Thus every sort of evidentiary fact may call for treatment in a second aspect, by the opponent, viz What are the other hypotheses which are available for the opponent as explaining away the force of the fact already admitted?

"The explan . . . a fact The grea . . . the less the value . . .

Principles of Judicial Proof § 13

There are other processes available to the opponent in opposing the proposed Inference 'He has three processes in all He may, (1) As already seen, seek to explain away the proposed inference Or, (2) he many deny the existence of the evidentiary fact itself Or, (3) he may offer some new and rival evidentiary fact, tending independently to disprove the Probandum

"But in neither of the latter two cases is he using any new logical principle In (2) he is not contesting the logical value of the proponent's inference but . . .

. . . inference pointing directly at the Probandum, but negatively, he thus becomes a Proponent, in turn as to that new rival evidentiary fact; and the same logical principle applies, in valuing his new proposed inference, that applied to the proponent's original inference

"To illustrate

"To charge A with murder, the prosecution shows a specific threat, an old quarrel, and traces of blood on his clothes The defendant may answer:

(1) Explaining . . . tion, explaining away . . . this is the complemen . . . facts of quarrel and . . . complementary proces . . . original facts, . . .

"(2) D . . .

. . . ableness, here the defendant is simply a proponent of new evidentiary facts, just as the prosecution was for its own evidence, this new question of relevancy depends on precisely the same tests as the prosecution's original evidence

"All an opponents modes are reducible to these three In the first, he is an opponent by logical nature of his argument In the second, he is an opponent from the contradictory point of view, but this may require him to become a proponent of either a new circumstance or a new witness In the third, he becomes himself the proponent of a new argument, which the original proponent may now attack as an opponent The first is inherent in the probative use of the proponent's original fact, the other two are not inherent, and may or may not be resorted to"—Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 14.

3.

applicable more fruitful of results against a concrete or an ... thesis than against a directly abstract one. And the right of the ... over all its possible rivals, depends entirely upon the depth of our ... the conditions under which ... is the main lesson of Logic ... is each case is What cert... right one out of all those conceivable? The methods of Inductive Proof ... be viewed as attempts to answer this question" Sidgwick's Falla... The peculiar danger, then, of Inductive Inference ... is that there may be ... explanations, than the alleged Probandum one, for the fact taken as the ... of proof. Therefore this principle is to be examined from the point of view ... the opposing parties in a legal trial. Proponent and opponent in turn offer evidence. Both counsel and the tribunal therefore need to examine each piece of evidence, first from the proponent's point of view, next, from the opponent's point of view and finally from the tribunal's point of view. Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 11.

Same from the View point of the Proponent of Evidence. If the potential defect of Inductive Evidence is that the fact offered as the basis of the conclusion may be open to one or more other explanations or conclusions the failure to exclude a single other rational hypothesis would be, from the stand point of proof, a fatal defect, and yet, if only that single other hypothesis were open, there might still be an extremely high degree of probability for the Inference desired. When Robinson Crusoe saw the human foot print on the sand, he could not argue inductively that the presence of another human being was absolutely proved, there was at least (for example) the hypothesis of his own somnambulism. Nevertheless, the fact of the foot print was, as a basis of inference, evidence of an extraordinary degree of probability. The provisional text, then, from the point of view of valuing the inference, would be something like this. Does the evidentiary fact point to the desired conclusion (not as the only rational hypoth... ...only most plausible or most natural out ... ...r (to state the requirement more ... most ...vaue ones? ...red, the net ...ct, the only explanation of this Probans?

"This test for the probative value of a proposed inference may be illustrated from various sorts of evidentiary facts.

"The fact that A left the city soon after a crime was committed will raise a slight probability that he left because of his consciousness of guilt, but a greater one if his knowledge that he was suspected be first shown. Here the evident notion is that the mere fact of departure by one unaware of the charge is open to too many innocent explanations but the addition of the fact that A knew of the charge tends to put these other hypothesis into the back ground, and makes the desired explanation or conclusion—i e a guilty consciousness—stand out prominently as a m... ...ther possible hypotheses— ... epidemic in t... greater naturalness of the desired expl...

"Thus, throughout the whole rea... ...nd testimonial the theory of the inductive ... that the ... desired conclusion based ... as the other hypothesis or ... e or natural. The degree ... videntray facts, depending ... with those facts somewhat upon the practical availability of stronger facts. But the general spirit and mode of reasoning of the Courts substantially illustrates the dictates of scientific logic." Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 12.

probative value if they were substantially similar to each other in all respects except the presence of x This test is of comparatively rare employment in circumstantial evidence, because instances rarely occur which fulfil this requirement, unless where prearranged experiments are possible, but in testimonial evidence, the argument is frequently employed

To illustrate The injury to the [illegible] ributed by the defendant to sewer gas; for [illegible] which, under conditions as nearly as possib[illegible] untiff's hou e, except the absence of sewer g[illegible] nd thus argues that the sewer gas was the cause

The purpose in using both these subordinate tests is always the same general one—to secure a fair probability for the claimed hypothesis, as again t and in competition with other poss ble ones—Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 19

[illegible] Evidence does not involve any [illegible] already analyzed Corrobora- [illegible] may be several mental processes [illegible] quent use of the term 'corrobora [illegible] witness or two, duplicating the assertion of some prior witness But this is not a new logical process

(2) But the term "corroboration" is also used to signify the auxiliary evidential facts offered by [illegible] which the opponent seeks to weaken [illegible] fact of the proponent, and in [illegible] logical [illegible]

[illegible] consists in offering data [illegible] l (as above noted) this may prop[illegible] attempt to establish any [illegible] of them may cause the [illegible] ove these grounds of hesitation The mere fact of the witness's making an assertion does not require us to believe the matter asserted, our knowledge of human nature forbids this [illegible] cautiously [illegible] less, [illegible] estimony, [illegible] orrobora- [illegible] varieties

Proof in Civil and Criminal Cases "Demonstration, or a conclusion at all points logical cannot be expected nor can a degree of certainty be demanded of which the matter under investigation is not reasonably capable Accepting the external test which experience commands, the Evidence Act in conformity with the general tendency of the day adopted the requirements of a prudent man as an appropriate concrete standard by which to measure proof The Evidence Act is at the same time expressed in terms which allow full effect to be given to [illegible]

[illegible] of the day adopted the requirements of the prudent man as an appropriate [illegible]

[illegible] conscience of the Court can never be bound by any rule, but that which coming from itself dictates a conscientious and prudent exercise of its judgment And

3. speaking for myself where whatever be the form of proceeding, charges of a fraudulent or criminal character are made against a party thereto it is right to insist that such charges be proved clearly and beyond reasonable doubt though the nature and extent of such proof must necessarily vary according to the circumstances of each case There is a presumption against crime and misconduct, and the more heinous and improbable a crime is the greater of necessity is the force of the evidence required to overcome such presumption I cannot

[illegible] a person cord It
minal acts
And this requires a

See also Starkie Ev 817 Best Ev 76 Taylor Ev § 112, R v White 4 Fort & I in 383 R v Madhub 21 W R Cr 13, R v Behare, 3 W R 23 25 R v Gocool 2) W R Cr 3l Trial of Lord Cornwallis 77 St Trials 149 Trial of R I Crossfield 26 St Tr 218 The phrase proof beyond a reasonable doubt by no means imports a proof which calls for a mathematical reduction in the shape of the demonstration of guilt but is often far removed from it Burr Jones § 5 A reasonable doubt is not to be a mere quibble, an idle doubt created by questioning for the sake of a doubt nor suggested without some foundation in the evidence It is such a doubt only as in a fair reasonable effort to reach a conclusion upon evidence using the mind in the same manner as in other matters of importance prevents the jury from coming to a conclusion in which their minds rest satisfied Commonwealth v Costley 118 Mass 1 (16)

Perhaps the best definition of reasonable doubt ever promulgated was that uttered by Chief Justice Shaw in Commonwealth v Webster, 5 Cush 295=52 Am Dec 711 (730) He observed in that case Then, what is reasonable doubt? It is a term used probably pretty well understood but not easily defined It is not mere possible doubt because everything relating to human affairs and depending on moral evidence is open to some possible or imaginary doubt It is that state of the case which after all the evidence leaves the mind of they feel an abiding conviction to a
The burden of proof is upon the independent of evidence are in favour of innocence and every person presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty If upon such proof there is reasonable doubt remaining the accused is entitled to the benefit of it by an acquittal For it is not sufficient to establish a probability, though a strong one arising from the doctrine of chances that the fact charged is more likely to be true than the contrary but the evidence must establish the truth of the fact to a reasonable and moral certainty a certainty that convinces and directs the understanding and satisfies the reason and judgment of those who are found to act conscientiously upon it This we take to be proof beyond reasonable doubt because if the law which mostly depends upon considerations of a moral nature should go further than this and require absolute certainty, it would exclude circumstantial evidence altogether In People v Strong 30 Cal (Am) 151 155 Currey C J says that it is 'probably the most satisfactory definition ever given to the words reasonable doubt in any case known to criminal jurisprudence

Similarly in Com v Costley, 118 Mass 1 Gray C J said Proof 'beyond a reasonable doubt is not beyond all possible or imaginary doubt but such proof as precludes every reasonable hypothesis except that which it tends to support It is proof to a moral certainty as distinguished from an absolute certainty As applied to a judicial trial for crime the two phrases are synonymous and equivalent each has been used by eminent judges to explain the other, and each signifies such proof as satisfies the judgment and conscience of the jury, as reasonable men and applying their reason to the evidence before them, that the crime charged has been committed by the defendant and so satisfies them as to leave no other reasonable conclusion possible

The general rule [illegible] on its merits and that the [illegible] the effects of a confession [illegible] the degree of proof referred to in s 3 of the Evidence Act has been reac[illegible] not.
Ma 9 Emperor v Nga Po Tha, U B R (1913) 2nd Qr 170=28 Ind Cas 166=14

Cr L J 566 The ... S. section 114(b) amounts Magistrates that a fa of s 3, if there be witness Crown v Ra
Cas 534

Stricter degree of proof in criminal cases Section 3, lays down what degree of certainty is sufficient to hold that a fact is proved Abdul v Crown 32 P R 1873 Cr Under s 3 a fact is said to be proved, when, after considering the matters before it, the Court either believes it to exist or considers its existence so probable that a prudent man ought under the circumstances of a particular case, to act upon the supposition that it exists A stricter degree of proof is required in criminal proceedings, the persuation of guilt must amount to such a moral certainty as convinces the mind of the tribunal as reasonable men, beyond all reasonable doubt It is the business of the prosecution to bring guilt home to the accused, to the satisfaction of the minds of the jury but the doubt, to the benefit of which the accused is entitled, must be such as rational, thinking sensible men may fairly and reasonably entertain, not the doubt of a vacilating mind, that has not the moral courage to decide, but shelters itself in a vain and idle scepticism There must be doubts, which men may honestly and conscientiously entertain Ali Lok v King Emperor, 3 L B R 216=4 Cr L J 382 'There is a strong and marked difference as to the effect of evidence in civil and criminal cases In the former, a mere preponderance of probability, due regard being had to the burden of proof, is a sufficient basis of decision, but in the latter, especially when the offence charged amounts to treason or felony, a much higher degree of assurance is required The seric ... condemnation both to the accused and ... eater evils which flow from it than from a ... induced the laws of every wise and civilised nation to lay down the principle, though often lost sight of in practice, that the pursuation of guilt ought to amount to a moral certainty as convinces th
able doubt" P
Cooper v Slade,
2 Lew C C ... that it is better that ten guilty men man should suffer" Per Holroyd J in see also Hale P C Ch 39, Wills' Cir Ev 51... The fouler the crime is, said Lord Nottingham C, "the cle of Lord Cornwallis, 7 State T said Baron Legge, "the mor should be made out to you
'The greater the ... Holroyd "the stronger is the proof required
... ng on the above
... ed on reason and
... he best means of discovering truth, and are an integral part of our legal system, essential alike for private and social security Nevertheless language of most dangerous tendency in regard to them has occasionally fallen from the learned judges, which implies that they may be modified, according to the enormity of the ...

under any circumstances they may be relaxed according to notions of supposed expediency, they cease to be in any correct and intelligible sense, rules for the discovery of truth and the most valued rights of civilized men become the spor... of relaxation would be t
and crim
relative enormity or penal consequences. Wills ...

3. "moral certainty" is here used in ... certainty, or of any certainty properly so called, for the ... the law accused person can never be exclu... of criminal evidence, that degree of assurance which induces a man of sound mind to act upon it without doubt upon the conclusion to which it leads Black's Law Dict It is also defined as a high degree of impression of the truth and fact falling short of an absolute certainty, but sufficient to justify a verdict of guilty even in a capital case Burrill Cir Ev § 189

In ordinary civil cases a Judge of fact must find for the party in whose favour there is preponderance of proof although evidence be not entirely free from doubt In criminal cases no weight of preponderance of evidence is sufficient short of that which excludes all reasonable doubt' Per Birch J in Queen v Madhub Giri 21 W R Cr 13 at p 20 Convictions must be based on substantial and sufficient evidence not merely moral convictions Queen v Sorob Roy 9 W R Cr 28 When prisoners confess in the most circumstantial manner to having committed a murder the finding of the body is not absolutely essential to conviction Queen v Petta 4 W R Cr 19, see also Queen v Poorusoolah 7 W R Cr 14 A Judge was held to have exercised a proper discretion in not passing sentence of death in a case in which the dead body was not found Queen v Baldudruddeen 11 W R Cr 20 Abbu Sildar v Empress 11 C 643

The difference between the trial of a civil and a criminal case is that in the former it is the duty of the parties to place their case before the Court as they think best, whereas in the latter it is the duty of the Court to bring all relevant evidence on the record and to see that justice is done Emperor v Janki 4 ... A 283 = 60 Ind Cas 322

If the Judge of the Appellate ... was a right one and had any doubt ... been comm... used Milar... ra v Empress 13 C L R 25 ... set aside the order of the origi... is wrong Ibid, see also Protap v Rex 11 C L R 25 Laljee v Girdar 43 C 838 Shunmugaraja v Manikka 32 M 400 Imdad v Pateshri 32 A 391 The Pathans of the Peshwar district being always disposed to exaggerate and add two charges against the guilty and totally false one against the innocent Peswar murder cases invariably introduced into the evidence an element of doubt of a very intangible character But an acquittal cannot be based on this kind of doubt Section 3 of the Evidence Act lays down what degree of certainty is sufficient to hold that a fact is proved Abdul Karim v Crown 39 P R 1873 Cr

In all criminal cases, it is necessary that there should be a charge a finding and a conviction as a foundation for the sentence everything should be strictly ... substantial ... Bom ... mere ... principle ... and ... to conjecture, the accused should not be called upon to make his defence ... Un Cr C 772 = Cr Reg 36 of 1895

Corpus delicti, proof of—in ... evidence Corpus delicti is a collective name for the ... is ... It ... e ... e ... d ... h ... s —and not till then—do we require ... includes the facts that an injury has been inflicted and in circumstances showing that it was criminally inflicted, the enquiry who inflicted it begins only when the corpus delicti has been established Wills Cir Ev 324, Evans v ... Cons R 85 Rex v Burdett 4 B & Ald 95, 123 R v Ahmed ... Poorusoolah, ... able from ... ties of this kind may present themselves in practice, so many cases have occurred of convic

Cir Ev p 325, Abu Sikdar v Queen Empress, 11 C 642, R v Bepari Singh, 7 W R Cr 34

In cases of homicide three propositions must be made out in order to establish the corpus delicti (1) That a death has taken place (2) That the deceased is identified with the person alleged to have been killed (3) That the death was due to unlawful violence or criminal negligence and it is not till these propositions have been proved that the question—not included in the inquiry as to corpus delicti—Is the accused or suspected person the culprit, arises Wills' Cir Ev 333 "I will never convict any person' said Sir Mathew Hale "of murder or man slaughter, unless the fact were proved to be done, or at least the body found" 2 P C Ch 39, see also R v Bepari, 7 W R Cr 34 But the above rule may in certain cases lead to absurdity and injustice and a murderer can escape conviction by successfully preventing discovery of dead body So now it is clearly established that the fact of the death may be legally inferred from such circumstances of presumption as render it morally certain, and leave no ground for reasonable doubt Wills' Cir Ev 335

The terms "evidence" and proof These terms are often used in such a manner as to include at one time the media by which the facts are established, and at other the effect or conclusions produced by the testimony It is true the attempt has frequently been made, but without great success to distinguish between the terms "evidence' and "proof' The latter term in its popular meaning more c full conviction
More accuratel
medium of pr
character as to convince the intellect and conscience of men of a fact then that fact is proved Proof is that degree and quantity of evidence that produces conviction" Nevling v Commonwealth, 98 Pa 322, 328 "Proof is that quantity of appropriate evidence which produces assurance and certainty Evidence, therefore, differs from proof as cause from effect" Wills Cir Ev 2, 3, Greenl. Ev § 1

4. Whenever it is provided by this Act that the Court may presume a fact, it may either regard such fact is proved, unless and until it is disproved, or may call for proof of it "May presume"

Whenever it is directed by this Act that the Court shall presume a fact, it shall regard such fact as proved, unless and until it is disproved

"Shall presume"

When one fact is declared by this Act to be conclusive proof of another, the Court shall, on proof of the one fact, regard the other as proved, and shall not allow evidence to be given for the purpose of disproving it

"Conclusive proof"

Presumption, meaning of The word "presumption in its legal significance, is used in English Law to describe either an inference or a rule of law Where the word is used synonymously with "inference" it deserves no special are many and various As a matter of fact it sometimes designates a rule of substantive law, and sometimes a rule of procedure, or other branch of adjective law. McKelvey's Evidence p 79 So in English Law, following the Civil Law,

S. 4. presumptions are divided into three kinds: (1) presumptions of fact (praesumptiones facti vel naturae,) (2) rebuttable presumptions of law (praesumptiones juris) and (3) conclusive presumptions of law (praesumptiones juris et de jure) There is another class recognized in English text-books, viz, mixed presumptions, or presumptions of mixed law and fact Nort Ev 97 The effect of this section is to do away with the distinction known to the English Law between presumptions of fact and presumptions of law, all the presumptions are made to fall under one or other of the three classes mentioned in the present section Cun Ev 84

Origin of Rules These rules it is likely, all had their beginnings in logical inference however independent of it they may have become in their final shape Now the basis of inference is experience The Judge and the jury go into Court with the experience of ordinary human beings, and, in the process of drawing inferences constantly call upon such experience Coupled with the facts introduced as evidence at the trial it forms the basis of the inferences necessary to arrive at a determination of the facts in issue It happens that, in the almost innumerable cases that are tried certain facts or groups of fact have been repeatedly presented to Courts as foundations for inferences and the inferences being reasonable ones, judged by the experience of the Court and jury have been repeatedly drawn until a rule has crystalized It is not difficult to see why these rules developed so early and where so readily adopted by the Courts Judges have always been suspicious of juries and have seized every opportunity to establish rule for their guidance and to control their conclusions from the evidence introduced The mind of the Judge was supposedly nothing if not logical, while the untrained minds of the jury were open to the influences of prejudice sympathy, and a thousand other things Logical inference was therefore made the basis of a vast number of such rules which the Judges established and which they called presumptions,—rules relating to the manner of proving cases, and in this sense having to do with the law of evidence; fixing for example, when sufficient evidence was introduced or when a party must introduce further evidence if he would win his case M Kelvey's Ev 80 As to the effect of a presumptions Prof Thayer says "They have the same effect (and no other) which they have in all the other reasons of legal reasonings Their effect results necessarily from their characteristic quality,—the quality viz, which imputes to certain facts or groups of fact a prima facie significance or operation In the conduct then, of an argument or of evidence, they throw upon him against whom they operate the duty of meeting this imputation Should nothing further be adduced they settle the question involved in them in a certain way He therefore who would not have it settled so must show cause" Thayer Cas Ev 2nd Ed p 41

Presumption of facts Presumption of facts, according to English Jurists, consist of those inferences which have never hardened into rules of law and as to which therefore the Judge is not entitled to direct the jury that they are bound as a matter of law to draw them, in other words they are common probabilities of fact which the jury may draw or not, as in their judgment the circumstances of the case may appear to warrant Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 43 So a presumption of fact, is nothing more than an argument more or less cogent, it is an inference of one fact drawn from other facts It is for the jury to draw that inference or not as they think fit, they are not bound as a matter of law to draw it It is the duty of the Judge, when there is no evidence from which a reasonable man would honestly draw the inference, to withdraw that question from the jury, but if there is any evidence upon the matter, he must leave it to the decision of the jury If they do draw the inference, their verdict will not be disturbed, but equally it will not be disturbed if they decline to draw it Powell Ev 386 So there are no special rules which govern the subject of logical inferences, and presumptions which are merely inferences relate to all classes of things and cases McKelvey's Ev § 37 The cases which are so often cited as illustrating the proposition that there is a presumption against the party who suppresses or destroys evidence or fails to call a witness within his control are all cases where what is talked of is inference Carpenter v. Penn, Ry. Co, 13 App Div 328=43 N Y. Supp 203 The first clause' says Mr Norton, appears to point at presumptions of fact, or natural presumptions, or as the civilian termed them, hominis tantum" Nort. Ev 96 Inferences or presumptions are always necessarily drawn whenever the testimony is circumstantial, but presumptions, specially so-called, are based upon that wide experience of a connection existing between the facta probantia and the factum probandum, which warrants a presumption from the one to the other, whenever the two are brought into contiguity Presumptions are drawn from the course of nature; for instance, that night will follow day, the seasons follow each other, death ensue from a mortal wound, and the like, or from the course of human affairs, from a famil[illegible] sage of society, domes[illegible] on 114 illustrations a[illegible] virtue of law, but by spontaneous operation of the reasoning faculty, all that the law does for them is to recognize the propriety of [illegible] think fit The Court may presume them, i e which the fact suggests at once, and call o[illegible] or may refuse to draw the inference and call [illegible] facts by which the inference was suggested Thus, in the case of a man found in possession of stolen goods shortly after the theft and unable to account for his possession, the Court may either presume the guilt of the accused and throw upon him the onus of proving his innocence; or it may refuse to presume his guilt and may throw upon the prosecution the burden of proving it Besides these natural presumptions there are several instances of presumptions as to documents dealt with in sections 86—88, and 90, in which the Court is, in like manner, empowered to throw the burden of proof on which party it pleases, to presume a fact or to call for proof of it, as it thinks best Cun Ev 85 "A presumption of any fact" says Abbott C J in R v Burdett, 4 B & Ad 161, 'is properly an inferring of that fact from other facts that are known; it is an act of reasoning

Presumptions of law Presumptions of law are of two kinds First, conclusive or imperative presumptions, that is, legal rules not to be overcome by any evidence that the fact is otherwise Thus by the Statute of Limitation, a simple contract debt, not kept up in certain specified manners, is extinguished after a lapse of certain number of years, nor can it be recovered by proving that the sum due has [illegible] plate the probable [illegible] conclusive, nor m[illegible] "It s an universal [illegible] charged with doin[illegible] injurious, the intention is an infere[illegible] Rex v Dixon, 3 M & S 15 [illegible]

[illegible] some cases of conclusive [illegible] and to have created an estoppel against himself An estoppel is when a man has done some act which affords a conclusive presumption against himself in respect of the matter at issue Formerly in England all children born in lawful wedlock, if the husband was not impotent, or beyond the four seas during a period exceeding that of gestation, were legitimate, nor could evidence to the contrary be received in a court of law Co Litt 244 C The presumption of law was then imperative, whatever might have been the real facts of paternity, and however clearly they might be proved still the husband was considered as the father of his wife's children Since that time, however the rule has been changed in England, and probable evide[illegible] of the child, is admissible Banbury [illegible] Marchant, 432 The presumption, theref[illegible] second or more comprehensive kind, v[illegible] presumptions of law —Presumptions of L[illegible]

4 effect of such presumptions is to shift the burthen of proof, and to throw the onus probandi on him who has to displace a presumption when once it has arisen Nort Ev 9 A well known instance of an irrebuttable presumption of law can be found in section 82 of the Indian Penal Code, where it is laid down that nothing is an offence which is done by a child under seven years of age

Rebuttable presumption of law The second or the more comprehensive kind of presumption of law is known by the term "rebuttable presumption of law" or the Presumptiones juris tantum of the civilians This kind of presumption arises when presumptions of law are certain assumptions or legal rules defining the amount of evidence requisite to support a particular allegation which facts being proved may be either explained away or rebutted by evidence to the contrary but are conclusive in the absence of such evidence The distinction between the two kinds of legal presumptions is thus clearly stated by Lord Mansfield in Darwin v Upton 2 Saund 175 b, note "The enjoyment of lights with the defendant's acquiescence for twenty years is such decisive presumption of a right by grant or otherwise that unless contradicted or explained the jury ought to believe it but it is impossible that length of time can be said to be an absolute bar, like a Statute of limitation, it is certainly a presumptive bar which ought to go to a jury Legal presumptions of the latter kind (which may be termed disputable or rebuttable presumptions) are definitions of the quantity of evidence or the state of facts sufficient to make out a prima facie case, in other words of the circumstances under which the burden of proof lies on the opposite party Of this very extensive class of presumptions a few examples will suffice Thus a man is presumed innocent until he is proved guilty that is if a man is charged with a crime, he is not bound to prove that he did not, but his accuser is bound to prove that he did commit it So also if a child is born in wedlock one who questions his legitimacy must disprove it if a child is born during a divorce a mensa et thoro one who maintains his legitimacy must prove it Again the presumption of law is that a man is alive unless nothing has been heard of him for seven years, when the presumption is that he is dead that is to say if it is averred that a man is dead the party must prove his assertion but if nothing has been heard of him for seven years the opposite party must prove that he is alive Waste lands which adjoins a road is presumed to belong to the owner of the adjoining enclosed land whose title is therefore valid, unless some one can show a paramount claim The circumstances which will raise such a legal presumption or in other words, will impose on the other party the necessity of proving that the fact is not so, sometimes differ with regard to the same fact in different issues, that is, evidence which in one issue is sufficient to establish a certain fact in another is not sufficient Thus in settlement cases proof of a long co habitation of two persons who passed as man and wife is sufficient to raise a presumption of marriage, or to compel the other party to prove that there was no marriage But in trials for bigamy and actions for criminal conversation proof of an actual marriage is requisite Presumptions of Law and Presumptive Evidence, 6 Law Magazine 348

Mixed Presumptions Mixed presumptions of law and fact are chiefly confined to the English law of real property The Indian practitioner need not give them much study, nor is it necessary to pursue the subject further here The Code provides only that a few of the ordinary presumptions recognised by law may or shall be drawn Nort Ev

May presume This is a presumption of fact of the English jurists Presumption of fact has a totally different meaning from presumption of law, and refers not to propositions, but to arguments—not to assuming but inferring When evidence is offered which can only be brought to bear on the matter at issue by a process of reasoning the inference is termed a presumption of fact In Rex v Burdett 4 B & A 161 Lord Tenterden said "A presumption of any fact is properly an inferring of that fact from other facts that are known, it is an act of reasoning, and much human knowledge on all subjects is derived from this source A fact must not be inferred without premises to warrant the inference, but if no fact could thus be ascertained by inference in a Court of law very few offenders could be brought to punishment" The statement on which this inference is founded is termed presumptive evidence Our experience of the world, for instance, leads us to infer that a man who is in possession of stolen goods shortly after the theft and can give no account of them is either the thief or has received the goods knowing them to be stolen Our knowledge of human nature leads us to infer that a man, who does answer a question, could not but answer it in a manner favourable to himself Such inferences are formed, not by virtue of any law, but by the spontaneous operation of the reasoning faculty all that the law does for them is to recognize the propriety

Besides these natural presumptions there are several instances of presumptions as to documents dealt with in sections 86 88, and 90, in which the Court is in like manner, empowered to throw the burden of proof on which party it pleases to presume a fact Cun Ev 85, see also Shafiqunnissa O C 290=6 Bom L R 750 A he discretion to presume it as prov , as the circum stances require Raghu Nath v Roti Lal 1 A L J 121 (123) The presumption mentioned in this clause is not a hard and fast presumption incapable of rebuttal, a presumptio juris et de jure Emperor v Srinivas 7 Bom L R 969 (974)=3 Cr L J 32 The be construed in more rigorous of Muhammad, 110 P L R 1902, 290; (P C) Ramien v Verappa 11 M L 1 69

Shall presume In cases in which a Court shall presume a fact the presumption is not conclusive, but rebuttable A W N (1906) 316 (31) Of course there is no option l until evidence is given to must produce such evidence follows (1) Where from is in a high degree probable as for instance, the genuineness of a document purporting to be the Gazette of India or of a duly signed record of evidence, or else (2) when it is as for instance that a document, called for and not produced was duly stamped attested, and executed (section 89), or that circumstances bringing an offence within the exceptions to the Indian Penal Code do not exist Section 105 sections 79—85 make mention of such presumptions Cun Ev 85 The definition of the word shall presume given in the section cannot be ess legislation to that effect Per Knox 33 A 799 (808) F B In the Indian ndicate that the presumption mentioned see also Haris Ali v Parsotam Narain,

30 years old and purports to come from proper custody Safiqunnissa v Shablan Ali 7 O C 290, see Ramien v Verappa 11 M L T 69 (1912), 1 M W N 117 The words shall persume in section 201 of Agra Tenancy Act have no higher force than similar words contained in the Evidence Act Dilkuar v Udai Ram, 29 A 148

Conclusive proof The third class is of those cases in which one fact is conclusive proof of another An artificial probative effect is given by the law to certain facts, and no evidence is allowed to be produced with a view to the combating of that effect These cases generally occur where it is against the policy of Govern open to dispute matters stated th a cession of Britis place (section 113) So also formerly, all children born husband was not impotent, or beyond the four seas during a period exceeding

4 that of gestation were legitimate nor could evidence to the contrary be received in a Court of law Co Litt 244 A see also section 112 of the Evidence Act But that presumption strictly speaking is no longer considered as conclusive presumption in England I apprehend said Lord Redesdale in the Banbury Peerage Case Gardner Peerage by Le Merchant 432, 'the law to be that the birth of a child during wedlock raises a presumption (of law) that such child is legitimate that this presumption may be rebutted both by direct and presumptive evidence that under the first head may be classed impotency and non access that is impossibility of access and under the second all those circumstances which can have the effect of raising a presumption that the child is not the issue of the husband As to earlier conclusive proof vide Manick Chand v Corporation of Calcutta [illegible] 48 (49) The definition of "conclusive proof" given in this section though referring only to the Evidence Act yet it may properly be applied to the expression conclusive proof' in the Oaths Act (X of 1873) Lathu Gobind [illegible] 1 M [illegible] 8 Bom L R 19 (22)

Presumptions as rules of law Process of Development Rules of law of this sort were undoubtedly developments They were not always rules The first stage was that of a mere inference permissible to Judge or jury, the second was a mere disposition on the part of the Judge to advice the jury as to the desirability of such an inference the third an instruction that such an inference ought to be drawn and the fourth a rule that the inference was a necessary one, which the jury were bound to draw Take the case of the seven years absence rule The fact that a person is not heard from for a space of seven years by those who would be likely to hear from him if alive is a fact from which the inference may be reasonably drawn that he is dead An absence of six years under the same circumstances would not be quite so strong but an absence of eight years would be stronger The space of seven years however, became fixed in the law as the least period from which death might be inferred Having once fixed the period from which the inference was permissible the Judges were not long in instructing the jury that the inference ought to be drawn, and finally taking it out of the jury's hands entirely and establishing the rule that it must be drawn Such a rule has got nothing to do with the logical inference it matters not whether such inference exists The rule has become one of equivalent i.e that seven years absence under the circumstances mentioned is equivalent to death In such a case it is only a rule of prima facie equivalent since evidence may be introduced to show that the inference which the rule requires is not in accordance with the facts It fixes the point at which a prima facie case is established and hence directly affects the burden of proceeding McKelvey's Ev 83 The conclusive presumption was the result of further development of the same rule of equivalent In the process of development, Judges in some cases went one step further and said that fact No 1 should be equivalent to fact No 2 at all events and no evidence would be permitted to show that is was not Ibid p 84

Relation of Presumption to the Law of Evidence What is the relation of presumptions to what we call the law of evidence They are ordinarily regarded as belonging peculiarly to that part of law This appears to be an error, they belong rather to a much larger topic already briefly considered, that of legal reasoning, in its application to particular subjects Presumptions are aids to reasoning and argumentation which assume the truth of certain matters for the purpose of some given enquiry They may be grounded on the general experience, or probability of any kind or merely on policy and convenience On whatever basis they rest they operate in advance of argument or evidence, or irrespective of it, by taking something for granted by assuming its existence When the term is legitimately applied it designates a rule or a proposition which still leaves open to further enquiry the matter thus assumed The exact scope and operation of these prima facie assumptions are to cast upon the party against whom they operate, the duty of going forward, in argument or evidence on the particular point to which they relate They are thus closely related to the subject of judicial notice, for they furnish the basis of many of those spontaneous recognitions of particular facts or conditions which make up that doctrine Presumptions are not in themselves either argument or evidence although for the time being they accomplish the result of both Presumption assumption, taking for granted are simply so many names for an act or process which aids or shortens inquiry and argument These terms relate to the whole field of argument whenever and by whomsoever conducted and also to the whole field of the law in so far as it has been shaped or is being shaped by the process of reasoning real application in the law the persons who apply it ion as already noticed is the Judge and attaching to one evidentiary fact certain procedural consequences as to the duty of production of other evidence by the opponent It is based in policy, upon the probative strength as a matter of reasoning and inference, of the evidentiary fact but the presumption is not the fact itself, nor the inference itself but the legal consequence attached to it But, the legal consequence being removed the inference as a matter of reasoning may still remain and a 'presumption of fact in the loose sense is merely an improper term for the rational potency, or probative value of the evidentiary fact regarded as not having this necessary legal consequence They have no significance so far as affects the duty of one or the other party to produce evidence because there is no rule of law attached to them and the jury may give to them whatever force or evidence So long as the law way of a duty upon the opponen there is no propriety in to such facts however great their probative sense to inference was a mere bor

one kind of presu

merely to involve absence of evi dence to the contra-ncreasing for the jury the weight of

the co ye lc pr ev
at

seven years unheard from It is not weighed down with any artificial additional probative effect they may estimate it for just such intrinsic effect as it seems to have under all the circumstances In strictness there cannot be such a thing as a conclusive presumption Wherever from one fact another is conclusively presumed in the sense that the opponent is absolutely precluded from showing by a evidence that the second fact does not exist the rule really provides that where the first fact is shown to exist the second fact's existence is wholly immaterial for the purpose of the proponent's case and to provide this is to

CHAPTER II.

OF THE RELEVANCY OF FACTS.

Relevancy of Facts—meaning of—The words "relevancy of facts" has been used in two distinct [illegible] in this Act. In the title of Part I the word relevancy is used in the sense of admissibility. In the heading of Chapter II of this part relevancy means the having some probative force. Stokes [illegible] When a fact is offered as evidence the very offspring of it is an implication that it has some bearing on the proposition at issue,—that it tends naturally to produce a conviction about that proposition. The situation is thus in its elements the same as when the persons engaged are not occupied in a legal controversy. One might suppose that the question would be essentially one of the ordinary law of reasoning, whether it were to be decided, as here, by a Judge or a jury, or by the audience of a lecturer, or by a policeman notified of an alleged misdemeanour in his district, or by a class in rhetoric. But the application of the laws of reasoning is here attended with peculiar consideration not existing for any investigation but a judicial one. [illegible] Stephen defines the word 'relevant' as meaning that any two facts to which it is applied are so related to each other that according to the common course of events one either taken by itself or in connection with other facts proves or renders probable the past, present or future existence or non existence of the other. Steph Dig Ev Art 1 He also repeats the same thing in substance in his Introduction to the Evidence Act where he states: "The rule therefore that facts may be regarded as relevant which can be shown to stand either in the relation of cause or in the relation of effect to the fact to which they are [illegible] to be relevant may be accepted as true subject to the caution that when inference is to be founded upon the existence of such a connection every step by which the connection is made out must either be proved or be so probable under the circumstances of the case that it may be presumed without proof. Though this mode of describing relevancy might be correct, it would not be readily understood. It is for this reason that relevancy was very fully defined in the Evidence Act (Ss 6-11 both inclusive). These sections enumerate specifically the different instances of the connection between cause and effect which occur most frequently in judicial proceedings." Introduction pp 70 72 This is a definition of logical relevancy. Logical relevancy plays a certain part in the law of evidence in that no evidence is admissible unless it is logically relevant. It does not follow that all evidence which is logically relevant is admissible and in fact much that is logically relevant is excluded. Certain rules are laid down founded on various considerations by which many matters which are logically relevant are declared inadmissible. McKelvey's Ev 166 So also in the Indian Evidence Act the word "relevant" means admissible. Lala Lakmi v Sayed Haider 3 C W N cclxviii This distinction is made between logical and legal relevancy, because logical reasoning and legal reasoning are not the same.

'The modern system of Evidence,' says Prof Wigmore 'rests upon two axioms. These underlie its whole structure. Implicitly but nevertheless actually and positively, recognised in the practice of the Courts and in the utterances of the Judges they were first distinctly formulated by the great master and expounder of the history of our law of Evidence. The first is this. None but facts having rational probative value are admissible. This principle is indeed axiomatic for any system of Evidence purporting to be rational. It assumes no particular doctrine as to the kind of ratiocination implied,—whether practical or scientific, coarse and ready or refined and systematic. It prescribes merely that whatever is presented as evidence shall be presented on the hypothesis that it is calculated according to the prevailing standards of reasoning to effect rational persuasion. The second axiom on which our law of Evidence rests is this. All facts having rational probative value are admissible, unless some specific rule forbids. Wigmore §§ 9 10

'There is another precept' says Professor James Bradley Thayer 'which it is convenient to lay down as a preliminary one in stating the law of evidence viz, that unless excluded by some rule or principle of law, all that is logically probative is admissible. This general admissibility of what is logically probative is not, like the former precept, a necessary presupposition in a rational system of evidence . . . but yet it is important to notice this also as being a fundamental proposition In a historical sense, it has not been the fundamental rule ositions always en, does would be olendge eason-

S.

d to a

of these rules may be extensive in scope—the hearsay rule, for example; or their applicability may in a particular case be so plain, on the face of the offer of evidence that the objector has no burden of proving that this rule of exclusion is applicable Nevertheless, when the rules of Evidence are taken in view as a mining everything that will contribute to bring the mind to the determination required If we refuse to hear what will in any degree produce this effect, we must determine on imperfect evidence; and in proportion to the imporance of the matter thus refused to be heard, must evidently be the chance of making an incorrect rather than a just determination But as in morals, we are forbidden to do ... in legislation, we should refrain from doing ... produce more than its equivalent in evil ... by the admission of every species of evidence may be more than counterbalanced in some instances by the evil attending it, sometimes, in the shape of inconvenience and expense inseparable from its procurement, sometimes, from the danger of error arising from the deceptive nature of the evidence itself The great art is to weigh these difficulties, and in those cases where they are most likely to prepondonderate, but in no others to exclude the evidence" So "the law (of evidence) with a few exceptions on the ground of public policy now is that all which can ... admitted,—not of course matters of ... eal moral or sensible objection, but all ... ase" Per Colerdge C J in Blake v ... single condition on which alone the ... depends, and which, in general is ... he fact to be proved should be one in the res gestae or relevant in some degree, to the existence of a res gestae fact Modern Law of Evidence § 1711

Relevancy—Stephen's Theory—Criticism "Sir James Fitz James Stephen, justly to be regarded as the protagonist of the modern law of evidence, bases the system on a particular theory of relevancy To him, relevancy furnishes a complete and universal formulary for the determination of all questions as to the admissibility of evidence Wherever a fact is relevant to the issue it is, or should be admissible If a fact tendered be not relevant it is, or should be, inadmissible He goes still further Evidence logically probative which Courts reject is said to be 'deemed' irrelevant Facts of no logical probative force which Courts neve ... 'The previous good ch... can hardly be said ... reputation does n... have committed a ... he did so Still ... is worth In other words, the fact that a man has a good character is treated by the law as a matter which either has or may have something to do with the

S. 4 question of guilt or innocence In other words, it is deemed to be relevant, though it may not actually be relevant On the other hand, a dying confession of murder made by a third person is deemed to be irrelevant though it is actually relevant Such a confession can hardly be false except under extraordinary circumstances It can hardly be caused by anything except a consciousness of guilt and it is impossible to doubt that any one who was guided by common sense alone would wish to know the fact that it had been made when he had to determine upon the guilt of another Rightly or wrongly however evidence of such a confession is by our law excluded The fact that it was made is kept from the Judge and jury It is thus treated as being, or is deemed to be irrelevant Steph Dig Ev Preface to 3rd Ed p 21 These simple instances, the one admitting the fact not probatively relevant and the other excluding a fact which is clearly so, illustrate certain the difficulties involved in applying Stephen's theory of probative relevancy as sole test and guaranty of admissibility The former fact, that of good character is deliberatively rather than probatively relevant The dying declaration, though highly probative is an unsworn statement by one who is not a party As such it is excluded by a highly characteristic rule of procedure or substantive law i e the rule against hearsay So one may seem warranted in doubting as to whether logical relevancy is capable of satisfactorily sustaining so heavy burden as is here imposed upon it More than this, the conviction is forced upon the mind that the law of evidence has by no means reached the stage of its evolution at which the rational element can fairly be said so far to dominate the procedural as the truth of such a theory as that of Stephen would denote Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence § 1716 "In thus neglecting to give what seems to be a satisfactory weight to the influence of substantive law, in the form of rules of procedure upon the law of evidence Stephen has created a serious difficulty which seems to warrant some consideration The only mode of reasoning which is recognized by him is apparently that of inference, proving the unknown from the known Ibid § 1717

Stephen's Definition considered The definition of relevancy is an excellent statement of that relation between facts which has hereinbefore been spoken of as probative seems unquestionable Equally obvious is it that as a definition of relevancy in general it is insufficient It takes no account of those important relations of facts to the proper conduct of judicial processes of reasoning which have been denominated constituent or deliberative relevancy In other words, in connection with the processes of proving the res gestae Stephen's definition of relevancy seems fairly adequate It may hereafter develop that other features of inference than those outlined by him are permissible and beneficial But for practical objects the definition suffices For all purposes, it is a splendid advance upon the formularies of the law of evidence as Stephen found them When however the res gestae and constituent facts are established and judicial reasoning takes its next step that from the constituent facts to an assertion as to the existence of a right or liability Stephen's definition at once ceases to apply For example let it be assumed that an alleged res gestae fact what Stephen calls, at times a fact in issue be offered and objectionably be that it is irrelevant to any proposition in issue The previously satisfactory test of relevancy at once breaks down What relevancy if any, exists between the fact offered and a particular legal proposition in issue is not a question which can be answered by applying the definition of relevancy in either of the forms given us by Stephen The reason for this is plain No relation of logic or human experience "the common course of events" exists between a right or liability and a res gestae fact which is said to assist in constituting it * An entirely different element has entered into the situation The relation between the fact and the proposition is one of law It follows that the experience of the community, this common course of events, has no direct operation in such a connection The relevancy involved in the question rr order* The res ges in Scots law, that i prescribed by subst

*Obvious differences exist between the relevant relation of a factum probans in any degree of remoteness in point of causation or other relation to the existence of a res gestae fact, on the one hand, and the constituent relevancy between a res gestae or constituent fact and the right or liability to which it, separately or in conjunction with others give rise Probative relevancy deals with existences physical or psychological Constituent relevancy is concerned with the application of intellectual proposition to these existences To put the same idea in slightly different words, constituent relevancy deals with the construction of an intellectual proposition, rule of law or the like in the terms of fact

has not come into e

Facts in issue—Stephen's definition considered The same confusion between the relevancy of facts in proving the res gestae and the relevancy of the res gestae themselves to the proposition in issue appears in a statement very fundamental in Stephen's treatment of the subject of evidence As defined in the Act, the phrase "facts in issue" would seem to indicate the constituent facts of an inquiry, the res gestae or more nearly ultimate facts inferred from the latter by the tribunal Assuming this to be the case, it is suggested by Stephen in this connection that an "inference" may be drawn from proof of relevant, or, as we have preferred to call them, probative facts to the existence of the res gestae or constituent ones It is at the same time stated by him that a "legal inference" (Vide p 43 supra) may be drawn from the res gestae or constituent facts, what Stephen desires to call "facts in issue" to a right or liability How are these phrases "inference" and law would be Ir

Evidence § 1718 (a)

law is at all times waiting upon or subservient to the substantive Adjective law may prescribe what steps may be taken, it is for the substantive to decide in what direction these steps shall tend In other words, the ultimate objective towards which logical proof must go is which logic has no concern However rejected ingly or the issue Here is the grip of law upon fundamental, master rule of evidence stated above that all relevant facts are admissible and no others are to be received is undoubtedly true, correctly understood "Relevant" as used in the rule just

* To the relation between a particular fact and one in the res gestae which enables the former, as a matter of human experience, to sustain or advance in some degree a contention that the res gestae fact exists, has existed or will exist, the right or liability arises may fairly be designated legal or constituent Until it is clearly understood in which sense the term "relevant" is being used on any particular occasion, it may fairly be said that the danger of ambiguity is fairly obvious,

4 question of guilt or innocence In other words, it is deemed to be relevant though it may not actually be relevant On the other hand a dying confession of murder made by a third person is deemed to be irrelevant though it is actually relevant Such a confession can hardly be false except under extraordinary circumstances It can hardly be caused by anything except a consciousness of guilt and it is impossible to doubt that any one who was guided by common sense alone would wish to know the fact that it had been made when he had to determine upon the guilt of another Rightly or wrongly however evidence of such a confession is by our law excluded The fact that it was made is kept from the Judge and jury It is thus treated as being or is deemed to be irrelevant' Steph Dig Ev Preface 3rd Ed p 21 These simple instances the one admitting the fact not probatively relevant and the other excluding a fact which is clearly so, illustrate certain of the difficulties involved in applying Stephen's theory of probative relevancy as sole test and guaranty of admissibility The former fact, that of good character is deliberatively rather than probatively relevant The dying declaration though highly probative is an unsworn statement by one who is not a party As such it is excluded by a highly characteristic rule of procedure or substantive law i e the rule against hearsay So one may seem warranted in doubting as to whether logical relevancy is capable of satisfactorily sustaining so heavy burden as is here imposed upon it More than this, the conviction is forced upon the mind that the law of evidence has by no means reached the stage of its evolution at which the rational element can fairly be said so far to dominate the procedural as the truth of such a theory as that of Stephen would demand Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence § 1716 "In thus neglecting to give what seems to be a satisfactory weight to the influence of substantive law, in the form of rules of procedure upon the law of evidence Stephen has created a serious difficulty which seems to warrant some consideration The only mode of reasoning which is recognized by him is apparently that of inference, proving the unknown from the known Ibid § 1717

Stephen's Definition considered The definition of relevancy as an excellent statement of that relation between facts which has hereinbefore been spoken of as probative seems unquestionable Equally obvious is it that as a definition of relevancy in general it is insufficient It takes no account of the important relations of facts to the proper conduct of judicial processes of reasoning which have been denominated constituent or deliberative relevancy In other words, in connection with the processes of proving the res gestae Stephen's definition of relevancy seems fairly adequate It may hereafter develop that other features of inference than those outlined by him are permissible and beneficial But for practical objects the definition suffices For all purposes, it is a splendid advance upon the formularies of the law of evidence as Stephen found them When, however the res gestae and constituent facts are established and judicial reasoning takes its next step, that from the constituent facts to an assertion as to the existence of a right or liability Stephen's definition at once ceases to apply For example let it be assumed that an alleged res gestae fact what Stephen calls, at times a 'fact in issue' be offered, and objectionably be that it is irrelevant to any proposition in issue The previously satisfactory test of relevancy at once breaks down What relevancy if any, exists between the fact offered and a particular legal proposition in issue is not a question which can be answered by applying the definition of relevancy in either of the forms given us by Stephen The reason for this is plain No relation of logic or human experience 'the common course of events' exists between a right or liability and a res gestae fact which is said to assist in constituting it * An entirely different element has entered into the situation The relation between the fact and the proposition is one

*Obvious differences exist between the relevant relation of a factum probans in any degree of remoteness in point of causation or other relation to the existence of a res gestae fact, on the one hand, and the constituent relevancy between a res gestae or constituent fact and the right or liability to which it, separately or in conjunction with others give rise Probative relevancy deals with existences physical or psychological Constituent relevancy is concerned with the application of intellectual proposition to these existences To put the same idea in slightly different words, constituent relevancy deals with the construction of an intellectual proposition, rule of law or the like in the terms of fact

the scope of the law of evidence should be determined, it is first necessary that the positive or substantive law should be eliminated from within its boundaries. In the proportion that any definition of the law of evidence fails to do this, it clearly falls short of complete success. How far then does Stephen's definition of "relevancy" meet this test?

In three distinct ways, it will be observed, does the substantive law control the adjective in respect to the law of evidence. (1) Positive law may be about the law of evidence controlling and regulating it. Courts are established by it as part of the framework of government. Laws may be passed determining that certain classes of proof may or may not be received; that land shall pass only by registered deed; that certain contracts must be evidenced by writing, and the like. (2) Substantive law may constitute an important element in that of evidence. Procedural rules may be established by positive law. Definite inferences of fact may be given a prima facie value as evidence; the statements of a party may be used by his adversary under certain conditions, and so forth. Finally, (3) most pervasive among the influences of positive law is that which runs through the law of evidence by prescribing the objective to which alone proof can legally be directed. The most serious criticism of Stephen's theory and definition of "relevancy" would be that in thus failing to distinguish between probative and constituent, logical and legal, relevancy, the boundaries of the law of evidence still remains shot through and through with the rules of the positive law.

Every probative fact must, it is true, in order to be admissible, satisfy a double test of relevancy. The law requires that it should in the first place be logically or probatively relevant in some degree of remoteness to the existence of a fact in the res gestae. Should it have no such tendency to establish such a fact, nothing remains but to reject it. It is not evidence. But the [illegible] will be [illegible] must [illegible] will be constituently relevant to the right or liability asserted in the action. To receive proof, however cogent, of the existence of a fact which could not itself, for any reason, be used as relevant to the proposition in issue, would merely be a waste of time. To reject, for this reason, the initial fact when offered is amply justified. What is not warranted is the inclusion of such a ruling within the field of evidence. Evidence has no concern whatever with it. When the fact tendered was found to be probatively relevant, the law of evidence was satisfied. That judicial administration will not receive it is due to reasons of public policy embodied in the substantive law of the right or liability itself. Unquestionably the rule, characteristic of the branch of adjective law, that only such facts will be admitted as the substantive law can use, may be part of the law of evidence. Clearly, however, evidence is entitled to be relieved of any responsibility for what the substantive law may see fit to ordain in particular instances. All this is matter of positive law and apparently no substantial interest is to be advanced by the confusion which arises from treating it as part of the adjective. As has been said, the most serious criticism of Stephen's definition is that by embracing rules of law and propositions of experience within the meaning of a single term his own admirable effort at segregating the field of evidence may not have been completely successful.

In the attempt to use the terms probative relevancy and constituent relevancy in connection with the law of evidence, it becomes at once plain that only with the former—probative relevancy—has this branch of the adjective law any concern whatever. Whether a particular fact is or is not a constit[illegible] of [illegible] law [illegible] any particular proceeding. Constituent relevancy is a matter entirely of substantive law, properly presenting a question for the judge. Proof is [illegible] for the judicial function of the jury; it is a matter dominated by the [illegible] of men and the logical deductions which reason draws from [illegible] establishment of the res gestae or constituent facts, i. e., such [illegible] nearly ultimate facts as the jury may infer from the [illegible] province of the jury, and the legitimate scope of the law of [illegible] ends. Anything further is a question of law to [illegible] branch of the mixed tribunal may, under the law of the forum have the function ... law to the res gestae, i e construing the facts Chamberlayne's Modern Law of

Distinction between Relevancy and Admissibility Strictly speaking admissibility is a quality standing between relevancy, or probative value on ...

not signify that the particular fact has demonstrated or proved the proposition to be proved but merely that it is received by the tribunal for the purpose of being weighed with other evidence Wigmore § 12 But in the Indian Evidence Act the word relevancy is sometimes used in the sense of logical relevancy and sometimes in the sense of admissibility (Vide Stephen's Introduction ... Whitley Stokes Vol 1 p 849, Lala Lakhmi v Sayed Haider 3 C W N cclxviii) From section 5—55 of the Indian Evidence Act the word 'relevancy' is used in the sense of admissibility

Rules of Relevancy an... The study of the principles o... falls into two distinct parts ... cerned ... mind to mind counsel ... the mind of the tribuna... devised by the law, ar... ard the tribunal (particularly the jury) against erroneous persuasion Hitherto the latter has loomed largest in our formal studies —has in fact monopolized them while the former virtually ignored has been left to the chances of later acquisition casual and emperic in the course of practice

Here we have been wrong and in two ways

For one thing there is and there must be a probative science—the principles of proof—independent of the artificial rules of procedure hence it can be and should be studied This science to be sure may as yet be imperfectly formulated ... rnest to investigate and develop ... ents the objective in every judicial ... sibility are merely a preliminar... n of the tribunal's mind to a correct conclusion by safe materials This main process is that for which the jury are there and on which the counsel's duty is focused Principles of Judicial Proof § 1

5 Evidence may be given in any suit or proceeding of the existence or non-existence of every fact in issue and of such other facts as are hereinafter declared to be relevant and of no others

Evidence may be given of facts in issue and relevant fact

Explanation —This section shall not enable any person to give evidence of a fact which he is disentitled to prove by any provision of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure

Illustrations

(a) A is tried for the murder of B by beating him with a club with the intention of causing his death

...

(b) A suitor does not bring with him and have in readiness for production at the first hearing of the case, a bond on which he relies This section does not

enable him to produce the bond or prove its contents at a subsequent stage of the proceedings otherwise than in accordance with the conditions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure

Principle "Of all rules of evidence the most universal and the most obvious is this,—that evidence adduced should be alike directed and confined to matters which are in dispute or which from the subject of investigation The theoretical propriety of this rule never can be a matter of doubt, whatever difficulties may arise in its application The tribunal is created to determine matters which either are in dispute between contending parties or otherwise require proof, and anything which is neither directly or indirectly relevant to

Scope of the Section Evidence may be given of two sets of facts (1) of facts in issue (2) of facts relevant to the issue Evidence of (1) is generally

He Cas
the law nswered
There
ried by some provisions of Civil Procedure Code is not admitted in evidence even if it be relevant This restriction is put by the explanation at the end of the section

Evidence may be given Evidence may be given of any fact which is relevant under the Act But there are certain limitations to this rule This section should be read subject to Parts II and III of this Act and subject to the the hearsay, character and opinion rules of evidence Vide Step Dig Ev Intro p 12 This section does not also make evidence admissible which is not admissible under some special Criminal Procedure Code etc is that the claimed conclusion probable hypothesis with Wigmore § 38 'It is sufficient if the circumstantial evidence be such as may afford a fair and reasonable presumption of the facts to be tried, and if the evidence has that tendency it ought to be received and left to the consideration of the jury to whom alone it belongs to determine upon the precise force and effect of the circumstances proved and whether they are sufficiently satisfactory and convincing to warrant them in finding the fact in issue' Gibson v Hunter 2 H Bl 998

Facts in issue The facts in issue ... alleged by one party and denied by the other on the pleadings, and denied by the plea of "not guilty either case are facts in a question necessarily to the determination of the suit Facts must be either relevant or irrelevant and there is no separate third class of facts in issue Raghubhusana v Vidiavaridhi, 31 Ind Cas 875 Evidence can be given of a fact in issue or a fact which by that Act is declared to be relevant Umash v Paresh, 9 C W N 402 (406)

Facts declared to be relevant The relevant facts are all those facts which he facts in issue that w light upon them
onnection a word
f course both words stricted Common
levancy A Judge
might, in ordinary transactions, take one fact as evidence of another, and act

5. branch of the mixed tribunal may, under the law of the forum, have the function of applying the appropriate rule of law to the res gestae, i e construing the rule of law in terms of these particular facts Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence §§ 1718 (b) 1718 (i)

Distinction between Relevancy and Admissibility Strictly speaking admissibility is a quality standing between relevancy, or probative value on the one hand, and proof or weight of evidence on the other hand Admissibility signifies that the particular fact is logically relevant and something more,—that it has also satisfied all the auxiliary tests and extrinsic policies Yet it does not signify that the particular fact has demonstrated or proved the proposition to be proved but merely that it is received by the tribunal for the purpose of being weighed with other evidence Wigmore § 12 But in the Indian Evidence Act the word relevancy is sometimes used in the sense of logical relevancy and sometimes in the sense of admissibility (Vide Stephen's Introduction p 65 Whitley Stokes Vol II p 849, Lala Lakhmi v Sayed Haider, 3 C W N, cclxviii) From section 5—55 of the Indian Evidence Act the word 'relevancy' is used in the sense of admissibility

Rules of Relevancy and Admissibility—Undue importance given to it "The study of the principles of evidence" says Prof Wigmore 'for a lawyer, falls into two distinct parts One is Proof in the general sense,—the part concerned with the ratiocinative process of contentious persuasion —mind to mind counsel to Judge or juror each partisan seeking to move the mind of the tribunal The other part is Admissibility,—the procedural rules devised by the law, and based on litigious experience and tradition to guard the tribunal (particularly the jury) against erroneous persuasion Hitherto, the latter has loomed largest in our formal studies,—has in fact monopolized them, while the former, virtually ignored, has been left to the chances of later acquisition casual and empiric in the course of practice

Here we have been wrong and in two ways

For one thing, there is and there must be, a probative science—the principles of proof—independent of the artificial rules of procedure, hence, it can be and should be studied This science, to be sure, may as yet be imperfectly formulated But all the more need is there to begin in earnest to investigate and develop it Further more this process of Proof represents the objective in every judicial investigation The procedural rules for Admissibility are merely a preliminary aid to the main activity, viz the persuasion of the tribunal's mind to a correct conclusion by safe materials This main process is that for which the jury are there and on which the counsel's duty is focussed Principles of Judicial Proof § 1

5 Evidence may be given in any suit or proceeding of the existence or non-existence of every fact in issue and of such other facts as are hereinafter declared to be relevant, and of no others

Evidence may be given of facts in issue and relevant facts

Explanation —This section shall not enable any person to give evidence of a fact which he is disentitled to prove by any provision of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure

Illustrations

(a) A is tried for the murder of B by beating him with a club with the intention of causing his death

At A's trial the following facts are in issue — A's beating B with the club
A's causing B's death by such beating, A's intention to cause B's death

(b) A suitor does not bring with him, and have in readiness for production at the first hearing of the case, a bond on which he relies This section does not

enable him to produce the bond or prove its contents at a subsequent stage of the proceedings otherwise than in accordance with the conditions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure

Principle 'Of all rules of evidence the most universal and the most obvious is this,—that evidence adduced should be alike directed and confined to matters which are in dispute, or which from the subject of investigation The theoretical propriety of this rule never can be a matter of doubt, whatever difficulties may arise in its application The tribunal is created to determine matters which either are in dispute between contending parties or otherwise require proof, and anything which is neither directly or indirectly relevant to those [illegible]
tribun[illegible] probat[illegible]
is not [illegible]
with [illegible]
the p[illegible]

Scope of the Section Evidence may be given of two sets of facts (1) of facts in issue, (2) of facts relevant to the issue Evidence of (1) is generally known as direct evidence, that of (2) as circumstantial evidence Cockle Cas 56 What are facts in issue are ascertained by the substantive law and the law of procedure What facts are relevant or admissible in evidence is answered by the law of evidence This chapter contains the law of relevancy There is still a further restriction Evidence the production of which is barred by some provisions of Civil Procedure Code is not admitted in evidence even if it be relevant This restriction is put by the explanation at the end of the section

Evidence may be given Evidence may be given of any fact which is relevant under the Act But there are certain limitations to this rule This section should be read subject to Parts II and III of this Act and subject to the the hearsay, character and opinion rules of evidence Vide Step Dig Ev Intro p 12 This section does not also make evidence admissible which is not [illegible]

[illegible] e be such as [illegible] tried, and if [illegible] the considera tion of the jury to whom alone it belongs to determine upon the precise force and effect of the circumstances proved and whether they are sufficiently satis factory and convincing to warrant them in finding the fact in issue Gibson v Hunter, 2 H Bl 998

Facts in issue The facts in issue are those which are alleged by one party and denied by the other on the pleadings, in a civil case or alleged in the indictment and denied by the plea of "not guilty in a criminal case so far as they are in either case [illegible] what are facts in [illegible] a question [illegible] necessarily [illegible] to the determination of the suit Facts must be either relevant or irrelevant and there is no separate third class of facts in issue Raghubhusana v Whatavidhi, 31 Ind Cas 875 Evidence can be given of a fact in issue or a fact which by that Act is declared to be relevant. Abinash v Paresh, 9 C W N 402 (406)

Facts declared to be relevant The relevant facts are all those facts which [illegible] he facts in issue that [illegible] w light upon them [illegible] onnection a word [illegible] f course both words [illegible] stricted Common [illegible] nse, or logical relevancy is, as a rule wider than legal relevancy A Judge might, in ordinary transactions take one fact, as evidence of another, and act upon it himself, when in Cour · And he may exclude facts, althougt to be really material to the issue he law of Evidence is that all facts which are relevant to the issue may be proved Wright v Tatham 7 A & E 313 384 'The Courts, so far as they can are disposed to receive in evidence whatever can throw any light on the matter in issue Per Pollock C B in Milne v Leisler, 7 H nature of relevancy under the English law of Insurance Co, L R 4 C P D at p 94 said exceptions on the ground of public policy now is that all which can throw light on the disputed transaction is admitted —not of course matters of mere prejudice nor anything open to real moral or sensible objection but all things which fairly throw light on the case Sir James Stephen in the Introduction to his Digest of Evidence said The great bulk of the law of Evidence consists of negative rules declaring what as the expression runs is not evidence The doctrine that all facts in issue and relevant to the issue and no others may be proved is the unexpressed principle which forms the centre of and gives unity to all these express negative rules'

But the framers of the Indian Evidence Act have departed from the above mode of treatment of the law of relevancy Facts which are relevant are fully defined in ss 6—11 of the Indian Evidence Act These sections enumerate specifically the different instances of the connection between cause and effect which occur most frequently in judicial proceedings They are designedly wor overlap each other Thus a motive for 7) Subsequent conduct influenced by levant under s 11 would, in most cases be relevant under other sections The object of drawing up the Act in this manner was the general ground on wh relevant might be stated in as many and as popular forms relevancy may be easily ascertained as they are the most original part of th what facts may be proved, whereas and merely declares negatively that c Introduction Ev p 75 That the regards section 11 doubt, expressed in terms so tiocination, be brought into connection with another so as to have a bearing upon a point in issue may iman ction ss of

by the patience and the means of parties One made by ect ry ive ng on as the inquiry proceeded That such an extensive meaning was not in the mind of the Legislature seems to be shown by several indications in the Act itself are o the t be ll its mine iear ing and examining evidence that is to say, hearing and examining everything that will contribute to bring the mind to the determination required If we refuse to hear what will in any degree produce this effect we must determine on imperfect evidence, and in proportion to the importance of the matter thus refused to be heard, must evidently be the chance of making an incorrect rather

S.

The great art is to weigh these difficulties, and in these cases where they are most likely to preponderate, but in no others, to exclude the evidence "So generally speaking, whatever has a tendency to prove a material part of the issue is admissible. People v Arnold, 15 Cal 481 'People were formerly frightened out of ... bout ... the

In Johnson v State, 14 Ga 61 and in Haynes v State, 17 Ga 454, Lumpkin J ... shut out any fact from the jury, however remotely relevant or from whatever source ...

This ...
its p...
may ...
they are called upon to pass"

And of no others ... is not covered by ... The Collector of ... Hearsay v Iva, 12 ... Empress v Abdullha, 7 A 385, (F... onclusion, I feel that although wh... by the Evidence Act,—i e the ... ded which the Act does not ex... to the admissibility of evidence, matters which may be essential for expression once used by Mr Justice ... I think that the law of Evidence would not be worthy of its name if it made possible any such result" See also Emperor v Panchu Das, 24 C W N 50 So one who w... is admissible under ... Chandra, v Paresh N... The words "and of ... evidence of irrelevant facts, irrespective of objection by the parties' Whitley Stokes ... the second proviso to sectio... Court is bound to adhere ... ide People v Farrel, 31 Cal (Am) 584 Even when there is a moral conviction of guilt the rules of evidence can not be separated from Birindra v R, 37 C 91 R v Brojo, 25 W R Cr 43 R v Sorob Roy 5 W R Cr 28, R v Olly, 5 Cox C C 210 (213) Though a document may not be legal evidence of a fact—within the provisions of the Evidence Act yet it may be a document which is to prove that fact by consent of parties Oriental Government Security v Sarat Chandra, 20 B 99 (103)

... Admissibility Relevancy, Auxiliary probative ... The rules of admissibility may be classified ... ling with the probative value of specific facts ... which do not profess to define probative value but yet aim at increasing or safeguarding it and the third covering all those rules which rest on extrinsic policies irrespective of probative value

The first group of rules attempts to define for legal purposes the probative value which suffices to entitle a fact to be regarded as evidential Here the law is concerned with the rules of ... and inference as applied in practical

S. 5 experience i e with relevancy Circumstantial testimonial, and real evidence are the three great classes, and each has its special problems

The second group of rules lays down auxiliary test and safeguards usually for particular kinds of facts, over and above the required minimum probative value The hearsay rule the rules of quantity, the rule of the oath, and a dozen others belong here These two groups together are rules of Probative Policy

The third group of rules invokes for the exclusion of certain kinds of fact extrinsic policies which override the policy of ascertaining the truth by all available means These rules concede that the evidence in question has all the probative value that can be required and yet exclude it because its admission would injure some other cause more than it would help the cause of truth and because the avoidance of that injury is considered of more consequence than the possible harm to the cause of truth Most of these rules consist in giving certain kinds of persons an option—i e a Privilege—to withhold the evidential fact. This third group as contrasted with the first and second, represents rules of Extrinsic Policy Wigmore § 11

Multiple Admissibility—Evidence applicable to more than one purpose It constantly happens that a fact which is inadmissible for one purpose is admissible for other purposes, while on the other hand, a fact which is entirely admissible so far as some rules are concerned is excluded because it fails to satisfy some other rule An evidentiary fact in order to become admissible must not only be relevant but also satisfy the Auxiliary rules and the rules of Privilege Now the peculiarity of the Auxiliary rules and the rules of Extrinsic policy which mainly consist in rules of Pri[illegible] that almost all of them are [illegible] their application, for example [illegible] applies only [illegible] (vide s [illegible] ly

a testimonial staten[illegible] and so on (vide s [illegible] ing is inadmissible under the hearsay rule who ought to have been called to [illegible] nd though had it passed the hearsay rule and it must remain excluded, even though had it passed the hearsay rule it could have satisfied the rule for producing the original and the rule of authentication In other words, so far as an evidentiary fact is offered for a particular purpose, as being material to a certain issue and relevant to a certain proposition it must satisfy all the rules applicable to it in that capacity But if the letter above referred to, be offered as an admission of the defendant, because shown to him and assented to, it may be admitted without calling for the writer of it because it is no longer offered as the writer s testimony but as the defendant s admission In other words when an evidentiary fact is offered for one purpose and becomes admissible by satisfying all the rules applicable to it in that capacity it is not inadmissible because [illegible] not satisfy the rules applicable to it in some other capacity and because [illegible] it in the latter capacity Wigmore § 13 So necessary [illegible] ertain evidence be admissible or not it is intended to establish for it may be admissible for which it is produced, and the point it is another Taylor v Williams 2 B & Ad 845 (855) Per Lord Tenterden C J Evidence properly admitted for one purpose must be admissible for all purposes Bank of Bombay v Nandlal 17 C W N 358 (368)=37 B 122 P C The rule is thus lucidly explained by Park J in Willis v Bernard 8 Bing 376, at p 383 where he said "I agree that it is more desirable that such part of the evidence as does not apply to the point to be proved should be withdrawn altogether from the consideration of the jury But in many cases that is im[illegible] as in Manning v Clement where the plaintiff alleged that the carried [illegible] the trade of a manufacturer of bitters and [illegible] that the bitters were [illegible]; it was held, that trade was illegal althou[illegible] ice that the plaintiff's been condemned in the Court of Exchequer and [illegible] that his bitters had [illegible] was true So in the case of prisoners whose confessions are given in evidence which unavoidably involve the mention of others besides the party confessing But the jury are always cautioned to exclude the statement as against any but the party confessing They also received a proper caution in this case, and, subject to that the letter was properly admitted

Admissibility of evidence The Judge in each case is to decide the admissibility of evidence (vide s 136) Questions as to the admissibility of evidence should be decided as they arise and should not be reserved until judgment in the case is given Abdul Razack, v Ma U, U B R (1897—1901) Vol II, 376, Basir v Girija Nath, 13 C L J 18; Lajan v E, 86 Ind Cas 817; Kapur v Emperor, 50 Ind Cas 481, Abdul v Gunendra, 82 Ind Cas 974 J Diary, 224; Gora Chand v Ram Narain, 9 W R 587, Rama Karam Singh v Mangal Das, 1 A L J Diary, 224 In Ramjiban v Oghur, 2 C W N 188, at p 190, Sale J said "It was suggested on the part of the defendant that the more convenient, if not the right course would be to admit the evidence in the first instance reserving the question of law as to its admissibility [illegible] irse had advantage and [illegible] but having regard to the o[illegible] v Bhubotaran Nundy, [illegible] I do not think that course is open to me in the present instance , but see Ramanuj v Dalhinesuar, 30 C W N 259 (262) The principle of the Evidence Act differs from the English Law in that it defines the evidence which may be given, so that in order to produce any particular evidence it must be shown to be admissible under some particular section of this Act, whereas the principle of the English Law is to assume that everything is admissible subject to certain exceptions Field Ev 6 Ed p 69 But where a Judge is in doubt as to the admissibility of a particular piece of evidence he should declare in favour of admissibility rather than of non admissibility The Collector of Gorakhpur v Palakdhari, 12 A 1, Madhab v Denak, 21 B 698, Moriarty v London C & D Ry Co L R 5 Q B, 314 In the last mentioned case Lush J said at p 323, 'I also think on further consideration that the evidence was receivable I had formed no definite opinion on the subject at the trial It was a new point and I adopted what I considered to be the usual and the safer course, where evidence is, pressed by one party, and objected to by the other, receiving the evidence at the peril of the party presenting it" Under the Evidence Act admissibility is the rule and exclusion the exception R v Monapuna, 16 B 661, 668, see also R v Uttam Chand, 11 B H C R 121, Gopee Nath v Anund Moyee, 8 W R 169; Mason v Golam 15 W R 490; but see R v Portbudas, 11 B H C R 93, R v Ram Chandra Govind, 19 B 755, Gujju Lal v Fatteh Lall, 6 C at p 193, Hareehur v Charu Majhee, 22 W R 355, 356 357 The admission of hearsay evidence is prohibited Queen v Kali, 7 W R Cr 2 R v Pittambur, 7 W R Cr 25, Aman Ali v K E, 13 O C 309=8 Ind Cas 379 Lulleemonee v Shunkuree, 2 W R 252, Queen v Sheik Mogon 5 W R Cr , Queen v Ramgopal 10 W R Cr 75, Queen v Chander Koomar, 21 W R Cr 77, Atkia Beggam Muhammad, 21 C W N 315 (P C)

Objection In England the initiative in excluding evidence is left entirely to the opponent —so far at least as concerns his right to appeal on that ground to another tribunal The Judge may, of his own motion deal with offered evidence, but for all subsequent purposes it must appear that the opponent invoked some rule of Evidence A rule of Evidence which is not invoked is waived Diaz v U S, 223 U S 450, Sawyer v French 235 S W 126 But in India it has already been stated that the Court is bound to exclude evidence of irrelevant facts irrespective of objection by the parties Whitely Stokes Vol II p 854 see also Amlar Ali v Lutfe Ali 21 C W N 996 Narahari v Ambabai 44 B 192 Sumitra v Ramkuar, 57 Ind Cas 561 Damodar v Jadunath, 91 Ind Cas 449, Luchiram v Radhacharan 31 C L J 107 It is perfectly true said Mr Justice Mookerjee, in Ambar Ali v Lutfe Ali, 21 C W N 996 at p 1001 ' as pointed out by Sir Richard Couch in Miller v Madho Das, L R 23 I A 106 that an erroneous omission to object to evidence which is irrelevant and consequently inadmissible under any circumstances, does not make it admissible, See also Harak v Bishnu, 8 C W N 101 The moment a witness commences giving evidence which is inadmissible, he should be stopped by the Court R v Pitambur 7 W R Cr 25, see also R v Chander Kumar, 24 W R Cr 77 Lulleee v Shunkuree, 2 W R 252, R v Kallychurn 7 W R Cr 2, Re Kedar Nath 18 W R Cr 16, R v Ramgopal 10 W R Cr 75, Petumbar v. Rutten, W R (1864) 213 It seems that this rule is applicable to civil cases as well

5 Time of objection The general principle governing the time of the objection is that it must be made as soon as the applicability of it is known to the opponent Wigmore § 18, Kissen Kamini v Ram Chandra 12 W R 13, Sheetal Pershad v Jummejoy, 12 W R 241 For evidence contained in a specific question the objection must ordinarily be made as soon as the question is stated, and before the answer is given, unless the admissibility was due, not to the subject of the question but to some feature of the answer Wigmore § 18 In Bulley v Buttler, 2 B & C 431 443, Holroyd, J said "If the objection was known a priori it should have been made before the evidence was given When an irrelevant document is tendered, an objection should be made at that time objection as to the mode of proof of a particular document should be taken when it is tendered in evidence" Abdul Sattel v Gunendra 82 Ind Cas 974 (976) see also Sundari v Gaganendra, 9 C W N 111 So when such objection is not taken in time it is considered to be waived Kalulananda v Shivanand 63 Ind Cas 625 So when rent receipts were admitted in evidence without objection in the Court of first instance no objection could be taken in the Appellate Court that they were not properly proved Rajeswari v Prilin Behary 25 C W N 881 = 62 Ind Cas 647, see also Gunendra v Rajendra 1 C W N 530, Prannath v Durgatarini, 14 C L J 578 In fact this proposition rest upon a well known principle with regard to the rule of evidence and that is this Where an objection has got to be taken as to the mode of proof of a particular document, such objection must be taken at the time when the document is tendered for admission, for any lacunae in the mode of proof may then be at once supplied by the party who produces the document and wants to have it proved Per Mookerjee J in Abdul Sattar v Gunendra 82 Ind Cas 974 at p 976 see also Chooni v Nilmadhub 41 C L J 374 Manmatha v Prolodh 43 C L J 274 = 99 Ind Cas 279 But irrelevant document does not become relevant for want of objection Sumitra v Ramkuar, 57 Ind Cas 571 = 5 Pat L J 410

Grounds of objections In Bain v Whitehearen & I R Co, 3 H L C 1, 16, Lord Brougham said "Now it is necessary that when a party excepts to the reception of evidence to the rejection of evidence or to the direction of the Judge given to the jury whatever is the subject matter of this exception, he must state the ground of his exception, otherwise he cannot except If he objects to the reception of A's evidence he must show why it should not be received, as by stating that A is an incompetent witness If on the other hand he objects to the rejection of A's evidence, he must show why it should not be rejected, as for instance that A is a competent witness, and that his evidence is admissible, and that the rejection of his evidence is contrary to law In all these cases the ground of objection must be clearly stated, and beyond the ground of objection thus stated the court is not at all bound to look

Waiver of objection An objection may of course be expressly waived Of implied waivers, the usual instance is that of failure to make objection at the proper time The question whether a party is bound by his consent that the examination of witnesses before a Judge should be dispensed with and another method substituted for the Judge's taking cognizance of oral testimony is regulated partly by the Evidence Act and partly by the law and practice relating to the Civil and Criminal Procedures and in the absence of any such law by the discretion of the Court What is regarded by such procedure is not the law relating to the relevancy of evidence but the law under which the evidence shall be taken as contained in O XVIII, r 4 of the Civil Procedure Code The parties have a right to waive such rules of procedure as are intended to protect a personal interest and are not based on public policy So where the lower Court admitted in evidence on the consent of parties evidence as to the death of a person which could not be admitted in evidence under s 33 it is nonetheless binding upon the parties Krishna Reddy v Sundara Reddy, (1914) M W N 931

When the opponent fails to object to the admission of the document, this is, of course, on general principles a waiver as to the need of any evidence authenticating its genuineness, and this waiver is commonly held to extend to the fact of authority of an agent purporting to sign the document for a principal but not as the legal sufficiency of the instrument for any purpose Wigmore § 2132 It is a familiar principle that, if testimony is offered which is relevant

S.

but repugnant to some rule of evidence, it must be objected to at once; otherwise the objection will be considered waived Barton Coal Co v Cox, 39 M. 1; 14 M I [illegible] testimon [illegible]

ment [illegible]
Lah 630 [illegible]
rule be [illegible] Kristiah [illegible]
or waiv [illegible]
relevant [illegible] have so consented they cannot afterwards object Gonnabathula v G. Cheimaya, 22 L W. 756 The question of the mode of proof is a question of procedure and is capable of being waived by a party Mt Bibi Kaniz Zainab v. Syed Mobarak, 72 Ind Cas 748

Where the genuineness of a document relied on by a party was not disputed by the opposite party, and the only question was as to its binding character, the opposite party must be deemed to have tacitly waived its proof by consenting to its admission in t [illegible] admissibility for the [illegible] 10 M L J 242 S[illegible]

[illegible] not competent to the admissibility. Ikchint [illegible] ddin, 72 Ind Cas 985= [illegible] d; " We may here point [illegible] Miller, Official Assignee [illegible] neous omission in the trial Court to object to an admission which was irrelevant did not make it relevant and admissible in evidence; still as explained in Girindra Chandra v. Rajendra Nath, 1 C W N 530, an objection that a document, which per se is not admissible in evidence, has been improperly admitted in evidence, cannot be entertained in the Court of Appeal, when, if the objection had been taken in the trial Court it might have been met and the proceeding regularised" See also Manmatha v Probodh, 43 C L J 274 When a document was produced and marked in the presence of the opposite party who took no objection there but an objection was taken in appeal Held that under those circumstances the Court, may take it until the contrary is shown that the formal proof of the document was waived by consent of parties Collector of Gunjam v. Bhimayya, 24 L W 677

The absence of an objection [illegible] per se irrelevant or inadmissible [illegible] taken as to the mode of proof. [illegible] 1929 Pat 739; Kumaon Ry Co v [illegible] 63 Ind Cas 625; Sumitra v K[illegible] advocate cannot so alter the character of the testimony as to convert into corroborative evidence that which the law regards as merely fit for rejection as hearsay Limyam Hong v Lal Choom & Co, 47 C L J 288=30 Bom L R 757=A I R 1928 P C 127; Jagadish v Harihar, 40 C L J 39=78 Ind Cas 219

When documents are admitted in evidence with or without formal proof in the first Court it is [illegible]

[illegible] was raised does not make it [illegible] 449; Ma Sit v. Annamalai [illegible] 881; Behrai v Amir Chand, [illegible]

6.

6 Facts which, though not in issue, are so connected with a fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction, are relevant, whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and places

Relevancy of facts forming part of same transaction

Illustrations

(a) A is accused of the murder of B by beating him Whatever was said or done by A or B or the by standers at the beating, or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact

(b) A is accused of waging war against the Queen by taking part in an armed insurrection in which property is destroyed, troops are attacked, and goals are broken open The occurrence of these facts is relevant as forming part of the general transaction, though A may not have been present at all of them

(c) A sues B for a libel contained in a letter forming part of a correspondence Letters between the parties relating to the subject out of which the libel arose, and forming part of the correspondence in which it is contained are

B were delivered ersons successively

Scope of sections 6 to 55 The Evidence Act lays down in ss 6 to 55 the cases in which levance or ished from rules laying down how the materials on which the Court is empowered to base ht to the rules
or the hypothesis, while the first class of rules refers to the use to be mad f the materials, that is, the inference to be drawn from the hypothesis To prove relevant facts parties have unrestricted power to make admissions But in regard to the logical conclusions to be deduced from the existence of the facts proved or admitted, the parties have no power to alter the directions given to the Courts by the legislature or to empower the Courts to act in a manner declared by the legislature to be illogical Krishna Reddy v Sundar Reddy (1914) M W N 931

Scope of the section Acts, declarations, and circumstances which constitute, or accompany and explain, the fact or transaction in issue, are admissible, for or against either party, as forming parts of res gestae Phip Ev 54 13 Halsbury § 585 All facts which are parts of the same transaction are relevant to each other so that, when one of such facts is in issue, the others are admissible Such facts which are thus parts of the transaction in issue are generally known as res gestae R. v Ellis 6 B & C 154, Carmarthen and Cardigan Rail Co v Manchester Rail Co, (1873) L R 8 C P 685 But in admitting facts as part of res gestae care should be taken that facts which are res inter alios actae, are not proved Hyde v Palmer, 32 L J Q B 126 Wright v Tatham, 5 Cl & Fin 760 H L, Agassiz v London Tramway Co, 21 W R 179 (Eng) Relevant facts are usually those which are either the cause or the effect of a relevant fact or a fact in issue (vide s 7) But where the interference is wider it may also be drawn from facts which either accompany or explain the transaction in issue Rouch v Great Western Rail Co, (1841) 1 Q B 51

Ordinarily the facts of strangers to a transaction,—res inter alios actae,—as they are called, that is things transacted by others, are excluded from admission Thus what others did or said about a particular matter would prima facie be proven with is it is whole t itself inciple

whatever surrounding circumstances may be necessary to explain the nature of the prominent or principal fact in a case, are received as original evidence. Goodeve Ev 427 These facts when the nature and quality of the fact are in question, are either to be regarded as part of the act itself, or as the best and most approximate evidence of the nature and quality of the act, their connection with the act either sanctions them as direct evidence, or constitutes them indirect evidence, from which the real motive of the actor may be duly estimated Starkie on Evidence, p 87.

S.

Res gestae—me
'res gesta', 'res acta', ' may see by any dicti of the term seems
'a transaction,' 'an e plural of the English equivalent—facts, transactions—as the details or particulars of which a single fact or transaction might be composed It would seem that either form was quite legitimately used as meaning what we should express by the singular form,—an occurrence, a transaction" Prof Bradley Thayer—in 15 American Law Review 5, 81 The term was used for the first time in 1637, in

Kenyon as Lord Ellen-
'res gesta',
So far as Appendix
says "In only be formed by having a perfect veiw of the whole transaction, which of course includes the conversation which forms part of it, and, according to the phrase usually s used on any occasion forms a part w Vol XV, pp 5, 81 per Prof James properly consists of that portion of sele whic

be tain
English view, and (2) The broad or Ame fundamental difference between the two se restricts the term res gestae to the scope of the world's happenings out of which the right or liability in question arises The American rule so extends the term as to cover all the probative facts by which the res gestae are reproduced to the tribunal where the direct evidence of witnesses or perception by the Court is unattainable —Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence § 2581 In its English or restricted meaning res gestae imports the conception of action, by some person producing the effects for which liability

6. 6 Facts which, though not in issue, are so connected with a fact in issue as to form part of the same transaction, are relevant, whether they occurred at the same time and place or at different times and places

Relevancy of facts forming part of same transaction

Illustrations

(a) A is accused of the murder of B by beating him Whatever was said or done by A or B or the bystanders at the beating, or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact

(b) A is accused of waging war against the Queen by taking part in an armed insurrection in which property is destroyed, troops are attacked, and goals are broken open The occurrence of these facts is relevant as forming part of [illegible]

arose, and forming part of the correspondence in which it is contained relevant facts, though they do not contain the libel itself

(d) The question is, whether certain goods ordered from B were delivered to A The goods were delivered to several intermediate persons successively Each delivery is a relevant fact.

Scope of sections 6 to 55 The Evidence Act lays down in ss 6 to 55 certain rules [illegible] the Court is t[illegible] levance or logical bear[illegible] ished from rules laying [illegible] ed to base its conclusi[illegible] ught to the [illegible] hese rules [illegible] for the [illegible] of the materials that is, the inference to be drawn from the hypothesis To prove relevant facts parties have unrestricted power to make admissions But in regard to the logical conclusions to be deduced from the existence of the facts proved or admitted the parties have no power to alter the directions given to the Courts by the legislature or to empower the Courts to act in a manner declared by the legislature to be illogical Krishna Reddy v Sundar Reddy (1914) M W N 931

Scope of the section Acts, declarations, and circumstances which cons[illegible] in issue, are admissible [illegible] gestae Phip Ev 54 13 [illegible] ransaction are relevant [illegible] ut, the others are admis[illegible] in issue are generally [illegible] armarthen and Cardigan Rail Co v Manchester Rail Co (1873) L R 8 C P 685 But in admitting facts as part of res gestae care should be taken that facts which are res inter alios actae are not proved Hyde v Palmer, 32 L J Q B 126 Wright v Tatham 5 Cl & Fin 760 H L, Agassiz v London Tramway Co 21 W R 179 (Eng) Relevant facts are usually those which are either the cause or the effect of a relevant fact or a fact in issue (vide s 7) But where the interference is wider it may also be drawn from facts which either accompany or explain the transaction in issue Rouch v Great Western Rail Co, (1841) 1 Q B 51

Ordinarily the facts of strangers to a transaction —res inter alios actae,—as [illegible] from admission [illegible] facie be [illegible] oven with [illegible] t as it is [illegible] of whole [illegible] fact itself [illegible] principle

whatever surrounding circumstances may be necessary to explain the nature of the prominent or principal fact in a c Goodeve Ev 427 These facts when the n question, are either to be regarded as most approxim with the act eith evidence, from on Evidence, p 87

Res gestae—meaning of
'res gesta', 'res acta', 'res gestae may see by any dictionary of the term seems to have
'a transaction,' 'an event' The plural sometimes indicated not so much the plural of the ... details or particulars of which a ... It would seem that either form ... should express by the singula ... Bradley Thayer—in 15 American Law Review 5, 81 The term was used for the first time in 1637, in formed by having a perfect veiw of the whole transaction, which of course includes the conversation which forms part of it, and, according to the phrase usually ... ly occasion forms a part ... pp 5, 81 per Prof James ... sists of that portion of ... bility claimed or asserted ... ly, the phrase is too well

select which be dr tained
English view, and (2) The broad or American attitude on the subject The fundamental difference between the two seems to be that the English view restricts the term res gestae to the scope of the world s happ nings out of which the right or liability in question arises The American rule so extends the term as to cover all the probative facts by which the res gestae are reproduced to the tribunal where the direct evidence of witnesses or perception by the Court is unattainable —Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence § 2581 In its English or restricted meaning res gestae imports the conception of action, by some person producing the effects for which liability is sought to be enforced in the ... Levi's v. Rogers, 1 C M & R 48, Doe ... William-son, M & M 306; Vacher v C ... xks, Moo & M 355n, Tull v Parlatt, ... Stark. 57; Bruce v Hurley, 1 Stark. 24; ... mpson v. Trevinion, ...
Phillips on I
when they ac

6. subject of enquiry" Hyde v Palmer, supra While the language of the decisions is by no means uniform, constant advantage being taken of the convenient obscurity of the phrase to cover loose thinking, a tendency is distinctly visible

942. In a marked degree, this is true of the criminal liability of an accused ... into being, if at ... to place before the ... their occurrence ... which circum ... gestae themselves provided that an act takes place within the time, space and causal limits allotted to the res gestae, the person by whom a particular act was done is not regarded as a material circumstance The thought of action something done or carried on implied in the phrase is not, however by any means confined to action by any special one of the parties or by either of them So far as anything in the res gestae is done, it may be done by any one How far, in time, space or causation the res gestae in any given case may properly extend is evidently a question of administration No arbitrary line can be drawn on the subject Each Case is to be decided upon its own circumstances Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence § 2582 Lord Cockburn in R v Bedingfield, 14 Cox Cr C 341, said "Looking to the law as it exist ... res gestae, as applied to a criminal case? To ... tever act, or series of acts, constitute, ... and terminate in, the principal act charged as an offence against the accused, from its inception to its consummation or final compilation, or its prevention or abandonment,—whether on the part of the agent or wrong doer, in order to its performance, or on that of the patient or party wronged, in order to its prevention —and whatever ... continuance of the tra ... the suffering ... of the actio ... it or applications for assistance,—form part of the ... and may be given in evidence as part ... n the other hand, statements made ... the part of the wrong doer, actua ... letion of the principal act or other ... ndonment by the wrongdoer—such as, e.g statements made with a view to the apprehension of the offender,—do not form part of the res gestae, and should be excluded"

The term res gestae though generally applied to the fact or transaction in issue may, as will be seen, be used in the present sense of any relevant act, i e, to indicate the admissibility of such act, and as a part of it, its accompanying declarations This does not, of course, mean that such subordinate acts and declarations are to be regarded as forming part of any main act or res gesta Phip Ev 55

... it hands is

Transaction, mea[illegible]
Act But a definition c[illegible] the author says 'A [illegible] referred to by a single [illegible] subject of enquiry wh[illegible] transaction as the facts in issue is deemed to be relevant to the facts in issue, althou[illegible] not part of the same [illegible] particular fact is or [illegible] is a question of law upon which no principle has been stated by authority and on which single Judges [illegible] Art 3 This definition has re[illegible] Emperor, 11 C W. N. 266 (270), [illegible] nd Cas. 664=16 Cr L J 184 [illegible]
Stoke's [illegible]
Crimir[illegible]
Code, [illegible]
not impossible, to attempt any definition of [illegible] attempting to lay down general principles as a rule discuss each case on its merits" Report of the Select Committee (1922) In this connection it may also be stated that before accepting any definition not given in the Act, the Court should remember the following warning given in the Solicitors' Journal (Vol 20, [illegible] great Jurist as Prof James Bradley [illegible] Evidence at p 190. 'A definition is the [illegible] greater probability of a correct use of [illegible] it is also dangerou[illegible] use; etc" The [illegible] this section and [illegible] section Queen E[illegible]

Transaction, mea[illegible]
Code "What does or [illegible] sidered to be questior[illegible] laid down in various cases by which it may be determined whether certain acts do or do not form part of the same transaction In some cases it has been held that acts may be considered to form part of the same transaction if there are between these acts proximity [illegible] action" Per Cumming J in F[illegible] Banga Chandra v Anando, 35 [illegible]
957, Emperor v. Madhab Laxm[illegible] Mallik v Emperor, 50 C 10[illegible]
Lukman, 21 S L R 107 So no comprehensive formula of universal application can be stated to determine whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction Amrita Lal v King Emperor, 42 C 957 In Reg v Sherufalli, 27 B 131 at p 138 Chandravarkar J observed "Here, again, the occasions when the two offences were committed were different, but there was continuity and community of purpose The real and substantial test, then, for determining whether general offences are connected together so as to form the same transaction depends upon whether they are so related to one another in point of purpose, or as cause and effect or as principal and subsidiary acts, as to constitute one continuous action A mere interval of time between the commission of one offence and another does not itself necessarily import want of continuity, though the length of the interval may be an important element in determining the question of connection between the two For instance, in Queen Empress v Vajiram (16 B. 411) proximity of time, combined with the case as to intention and

6. subject of enquiry" Hyde v Palmer, supra. While the language of the decisions is by no means uniform, constant advantage being taken of the convenient obscurity of the phrase to cover loose thinking, a tendency is distinctly vi ible to limit the expression to the acts or ev consideration of the tribunal, those out of parties or the right of another is said to however, as was said by the Court of Appeals in Virginia, ' Facts which con the res gestae must be such, as are so connected with the very transaction or fact under investigation as to constitute a part of it" Haynes v Com, 28 Gratt (Va) 942. In a marked degree, this is true of the criminal liability of an accused The obligation of the criminal to respond to society must come into being, if at all by virtue of certain res gestae which the prosecution seeks to place before the jury either by the testimony of the eye witnesses who observed their occurrence which circum
gestae themselves ual limits allott
e is not regarded done or carried on to action by any special one of the parties or by either of them So far as anything in the res gestae is done, it may be done by any one How far, in time, space or cau ation the res gestae in any given case may properly extend is evidently a question of administration No arbitrary line can be drawn on the subject Each Case is to be decided upon its own circumstances Chamberlayne's Modern Law of Evidence § 2582 Lord Cockburn in R v Beding field, 14 Cox Cr C 341, said "Looking to the applied to a cr tever
act, or series
ard
terminate in, the principal act charged as an offence against the accused, from its inception to its consummation or final compilation, or its prevention or abandonment,—whether on the part of the agent or wrong-doer, in order to its performance, or on that of the
to its preven tion —an tance of the tra y the suffering
e of the actio ht or and may be while, on the ction on the he completion its abandon-
made with a view to the gestae, and should be
excluded

The term res gestae, though generally applied to the fact or transaction in issue may, as will be seen, be used in the present sense of any relevant act, i e, to indicate the admissibility of such act, and, as a part of it, its accompanying declarations This does not, of course, mean that such subordinate acts and declarations are to be regarded as forming part of any main act or res gesta Phip Ev 55

Phrase inexact and indefinite. "This phrase, as conceded on all hands, is inexact and indefinite of reasons for
to ety ing asc
ice,
Or
ble ex rve
to has the name for that principle But neither of these things is true The phra ad various u es rines to which well recognized is phrase No

more can be said for it than that it has been much used in the course of the development of some important aspects of two of these doctrines" Wigmore Ev. § 1767. In the first edition of Phillip's Evidence, the phrase occurs but in his fourth edition, he substituted for it the English word transaction. S.

Transaction, meaning of The word "transaction" is not defined in this Act But a definition of the word is given in Stephen's Digest of Evidence There the author says "A transaction is a group of facts connected together to be referred to by a single legal name, as a crime, a contract, a wrong or any other subject of enquiry which may be in issue Every fact which is part of the same transaction as the facts in issue is deemed to be relevant to the facts in issue, although it may not be actually in issue and although if it were not part of the same transaction it might be excluded as hearsay Whether any particular fact is or is not part of the same transaction as the facts in issue is a question of law upor [illegible] ity and on which single Judges [illegible] Ev Art 3 This definition has rece[illegible] Emperor, 11 C W N 266 (270), Je[illegible] Ind Cas. 664=16 Cr L J 184 But this d[illegible] ous definition" Stoke's Anglo In[illegible] occurs also in Criminal Procedu[illegible] 235 of Cr Pro Code, the Joint [illegible] e dangerous, if not impossible, to a[illegible] transaction'. An [illegible] altered, the Courts [illegible] a long series of rul[illegible] pronounced conflict of opinion, the reason being that the Courts, instead of attempting to lay down general principles, as a rule discuss each case on its merits" Report of the Select Committee (1922) In this connection it may also be stated that before accepting any definition not given in the Act, the Court should remember the following warning given in the Solicitors' Journal (Vol 20, 869) [illegible] of James Bradley 'A definition is the [illegible] a correct use of [illegible] necessary to define it is also dangerous because one incorrect definition will confound the correct use; etc" The word transaction is used in a limited sense in illustration (a) of this section and in more general sense in the remaining illustrations of the section Queen Empress v Fakirappa, 15 B 491 (496)

Transaction, meaning of the word in ss 235 and 239 of Criminal Procedure Code "What does or does not form part of the same transaction may be considered to be question of fact in each particular case Certain tests have been laid down in various cases by which it may be determined whether certain acts do or do not form part of the same transaction In some cases it has been held that acts may be considered to form part of the same transaction if there are between these [illegible] ntion and continuity of action" Per C[illegible] C W N 327, see also Binga Chandr[illegible] v King Emperor 42 C 957; Emperor [illegible] L R 607, Khusai Mallik v Emp[illegible] L R 73, Emperor v Lukman, 21 S L R 107 So no comprehensive formula of universal application can be stated to determine whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction Amrita Lal v King Emperor, 42 C 957 In Reg v Sherufalli, 27 B 134 at p 138 Chandravarkar J observed "Here, again, the occasions when the two offences were committed were different, but there was continuity and community of purpose The real and substantial test, then, for determining whether general offences are connected together so as to form the same transaction depends upon whether they are so related to one another in point of purpose, or as cause and effect or [illegible] nuous action A mere [illegible] and another does not [illegible] length of the interval m[illegible] of connection between [illegible] (16 B. 411) proximity [illegible]

6. subject of enquiry" Hyde v Palmer, supra. While the language of the decisions is by no means uniform, constant advantage being taken of the convenient ... of the ... of the ... view, ... stitute

the res gestae must be such as are so connected with the very transaction or fact under investigation as to constitute a part of it" Haynes v Com, 28 Gratt. (Va) 942 In a marked degree, this is true of the criminal liability of an accused. The obligation of the criminal to respond to society must come into being, if at all by virtue of certain res gestae which the prosecution seeks to place before the ... who observed their occurrence ... proof of facts which circum... ... of the res gestae themselves ... space and causal limits allotted to the res gestae, the person by whom a particular act was done is not regarded as a material circumstance The thought of action something done or carried on implied in the phrase is not, however by any means confined to action by any special one of the parties or by either of them So far as anything in the res gestae is done, it may be done by any one How far, in time, space or causation ... of the res gestae in ... administration ... to be decided ... Evidence § 2582 ...

"Looking to the ... applied to a crimi... act, or series of ... terminate in, the principal act charged as an offence against the accused, ... its inception to its consummation or final compilation, or its prevention or abandonment,—whether on the part of the agent or wrong-doer, in order to its performance, or on ... to its prevention,—and whatev... of the transaction, ... suffering party, though in the absence of the accused, during the continu... the action of the latter, actual or constructive,—as e g, in the case of flight or applications for assistance,—form part of the principal transaction, and may be given in evidence as part of the res gestae, or particulars of it; while, on the other hand, statements made by the complaining party, after all action on the part of the wrong doer, actual or constructive, has ceased, through the completion of the principal act or other determination of it by its prevention or its abandonment by the wrongdoer—such as, e g statements made with a view to the apprehension of the offender,—do not form part of the res gestae, and should be excluded"

... transaction is ... relevant act, i e, issue ... to ind ... accompanying declarations This does not, of course, mean that such subordinate acts and declarations are to be regarded as forming part of any main act or res gestae Phip Ev 55

Phrase inexact and indefinite "This phrase, as conceded on all hands, is inexact and indefinite in its scope, and is ambiguous in its suggestion of reasons for the doctrine If it were possible to say that it is properly applicable in etymology or in usage, to any particular doctrine, it would be simple enough to ... meaning ... Evidence, ... ttributable ... o preserve ... phrase has ... ious u es, ... to which ... cognized ... rase No more can be said for it than that it l ment of some important aspects of

S.

In the first edition of Phillip's edition, he substituted for it the English word transaction

Trans
Act B it a
the author referred to l subject of transaction facts in issue, although it not part of the same transac particular fact is or is not part of the same transaction as the facts in issue is a question of law upon which no principle has been stated by authority and on which single Judges Art 3 This definition has re mperor 11 C W N 266 (270), nd Cas. 664=16 Cr L J 184 'is a curious definition" Stoke s transaction" occurs also in Criminal Procedure Code, ss 235 and 239 In connection with s 235 of Cr Pro Code the Joint Committee of 1922 said "We think it would be dangerous, if not impossible, to attempt any definition of the phrase 'in the course of the same transaction' An exhaustive definition is not feasible and if the phraseology is altered, the Courts would be deprived of the guidance which they now have from a long series of rulings on the point We do not find that there has been any pronounced conflict of opinion the reason being that the Courts, instead of attempting to lay down general principles, as a rule discuss each case on its merits" Report of the Select Committee (1922) In this connection it may also be stated that before accepting any definition not given in the Act, the Court should remember the following warning given in the Solicitors Journal (Vol 20, of James Bradley
'A definition is the a correct use of it is also dangero use, etc" The this section and

section Queen E

Transaction, meaning of the word in ss 235 and 239 of Criminal Procedure Code ' What does or does not form part of the same transaction may be considered to be question of fact in each particular case Certain tests have been laid down in various cases by which it may be determined whether certain acts do or do not form part of the same transaction In some cases it has been held that acts may be considered to form part of the same transaction if there are between these acts proximity of time, comm of action' Per Cumming J in Tamez Khan v lso Banga Chandra v Anando 35 C L J 327, C 957, Emperor v Madhab Laxman 43 B 1 sa Mallik v Emperor, 50 C 1004 Crown v Ghulam 1 S L R 73 Emperor v Lukman 21 S L R 107 So no comprehensive formula of universal application can be stated to determine whether two or more acts constitute the same transaction Amrita Lal v King Emperor, 42 C 957 In Reg v Sherufalli, 27 B 131 at p 138 Chandravarkar J observed "Here again, the occasions when the
but there was continuity and commu test, then for determining whether so as to form the same transaction point of purpose or constitute one contision of one off nce ontinuity though the length of the interval may be an important element in determining the question of connection between the two For instance, in Queen Empress v Tajram (16 B. 411) proximity of time, combined with the case as to intention and

S. 6. subject of enquiry" Hyde v Palmer, supra. While the language of the deci is by no means uniform, constant advantage being taken of the convene obscurity of the phrase to cover loose thinking, a tendency is distinctly vi of t
of t vie tito
with the very trans or fa Haynes v. Com, 28 Gratt (V criminal liability of an accuse iety must come into being, if all by virtue of certain res gestae which the prosecution seeks to place before th jury either by the testimony of the eye witnesses who observed their occurrenc proof of facts which circumsta er of the res gestae themselve e, space and causal limits allotte to the res gestae, the person by whom a particular act was done is not regarde as a material circumstance The thought of action something done or carried o implied in the phrase is not, however by any means confined to action by an special one of the parties or by either of them So far as anything in the r gestae is done, it may be done by any one How far, in time, space or cau atio the res gestae in any given case may properly extend is evidently a question o administration No arbitrary line can be drawn on the subject Each Case to be decided upon its own circumstances Chamberlayne's Modern Law o Evidence § 2582 Lord Cockburn in R v Bedingfield, 14 Cox Cr C 341, sa "Looking to the law as it exists res gestae as applied to a criminal case ? To th act, or series of acts, constitute, o terminate in, the principal act charged as an offence against the accu its inception to its consummation or final compilation, or its prevention or abandonment,—whether on the part of the doer in order to its performance, or on ven tion,—and whateve ance of the transaction, w the suffering party, thou e of the action of the l t or ncipal transaction, and may be or particulars of it; while, on the party, after all action on the part of the wrong-doer, actual or constructive has ceased, through the complet on vention or its abandon-
made with a view to the gestae, and should be

The term res gestae, though generally applied to the fact or transaction in y relevant act, i e, its accompanying subordinate acts and declarations are to be regarded as forming part of any main act or res gesta Phip Ev 55

Phrase inexact and indefinite all hands, is inexact and indefinite in for the doctrine If it wer etymology or in usage, to attributabl to preserve phrase has arious u es, to which recognized phrase No

more can be said for it than that it has been much used in the course of the development of some important aspects of two of these doctrines" Wigmore Ev. § 1767. In the first edition of Phillip's Evidence, the phrase occurs but in his fourth edition, he substituted for it the English word transaction Transaction, meaning ... is not defined in the Act But a definition of the ... the author says 'A transa... referred to by a single legal name, as a crime, a contract, a wrong or any other subject of enquiry which may be in issue Every fact which is part of the same transaction as the facts in issue is deemed to be relevant to the facts in issue, althou... not part of the same ... particular fact is or ... is a question of law upon which no principle has been stated by authority and on which single Judges have given different decisions" Steph Dig Ev Art 3 This definition has received judicial recognition in Chain Mahto v Emperor, 11 C W. N. 266 (270), Jawala Sahai v Emperor 34 P R 1914 Cr = 27 Ind Cas. 664 = 16 Cr L J 184 But this definition in ... finition" Stoke's Anglo Indian Code ... rs also in Criminal Procedure Code, as ... Cr Pro Code, the Joint Committee ... gerous, if not impossib... transaction' altered, the C... a long series pronounced ... attempting to lay down general principles, as a rule discuss each case on its merits" Report of the Select Committee (1922) In this connection it may also be stated that before accepting any definition not given in the Act, the Court should remember the following warning given in the Solicitors' Journal (Vol. 20, ... of James Bradley ... 'A definition is the ... a correct use of ... it is also dangero... use; etc" The ... this section and ... section Queen Er...

... 235 and 239 of Criminal Procedure Code ... he same transaction may be considere... cular case Certain tests have been laid down in various cases by which it may be determined whether certain acts do or do not form part of the same transaction. In some cases it has been held that acts may be considered to form part of the same transaction if there are between these ... y of action" Per C... lso Banga Chandr... C 957, Emperor ... sai Mallik v Emp... v. Lukman, 21 S L R 107 So no comprehensive formula of universal application ... to constitute the same tran... rufalli, 27 B ... ns when the ... and commu... ing whether general offences are connected together so as to form the same transaction depends upon whether they are so related to one another in point of purpose, or as cause and effect ... nuous action A me... and another does n... length of the interval ... of connection betwe... (16 B. 411) proximity of time, combined with the case as to intention and

6. similarity of action and result, was held to bring several offences as to several fraudulent transfers of property within the meaning of the words 'same transaction' in section 235 of the Code of Criminal Procedure" The word "transaction" suggests ... continuity of action and purpose ... committed, all ... a distinct inte ... or progressive ... 147 = 4 Cr L J 4.0 The words 'the same transaction' ... of Criminal Procedure cannot embrace the examination of all the witnesses ... to the examination of each witness as ... Shue So, 3 L B R 231 = 4 Cr L J 489 ... the proceeds would be parts of the same ... me between two acts does not necessarily ... able interval of time ... ing ... ary ... few ... ude, ... ity ... and purpose and ... nts or an accessory ... ute, in the opinion ... be charged with and tried ... series of acts Crown v ... np, 18 S L R 190 = 27 Cr ... = 27 Cr L J 456; Emperor v Nga Lu, 19 Cr L J 34 (Bur), Sanuman v Emp, 19 A L J 391 = 22 Cr L J 641; Krishna Ayar v Emperor, 8 L W 295 = 1918 M W N 525, Gunwant v Emperor, 13 N L R 35, In re Choragudi Venkatadri, 33 M 502; Virupana v Emperor, 28 M L J 397, Rau Subheg v King Emperor, 19 C W N 972, In re Lockley 43 M 411; Emperor v Datto Hanmant, 30 B 49, Tepanidhi v King Emperor, 5 P L J 11; Son Daik v Crown 1 L B R 361, Mga Tha v Emperor, 5 Bur L T 101 = 13 Cr L J 485; Kushai v Emperor, 50 C 1004, Pahlad v Emperor, 1 Lah 562 = 21 Cr L J 676; In re Gam Mallu 49 M 74 = 48 M L J 308 = 26 Cr L J 1513; Paut Paban v Emperor, 26 Cr L J 369 "According to its etymological and dictionary meaning the word 'transaction' means 'carrying through' and suggests, we think, not necessarily proximity in time—so much as continuity of action or purpose The same metaphor implied by that word is continued in the illustrations where the phrase used is 'in the course of transaction' Emperor v Datto, 30 B 49, see also Emperor v Ganesh Narain, 14 Bom L R 922 = 13 Cr L 833 Acts done in pursuance of a conspiracy must be deemed to be parts of the same transaction King Emperor v Maung Aung, 1 Rang 604 = 2 Bur L J 224 The transaction of making a series of false entries so as to attribute another cause for the death was in continuation of and pursuance to the same transaction of voluntarily causing grievous hurt with the view of extorting confession Emperor v Balwant, 14 Bom L R 41 = 13 Ind Cas 825 = 13 Cr L J 137 Theft of a cart from one house and theft of two bullocks from another house in order to remove the cart are parts of the same transaction Emperor v Hari Raoji, ... ount for the ... v Jogatram, ... n the course ... v Emperor, ... of trust and ... e transaction ... eror v Jiban Krishna, 40 C 318 (criminal misappropriation and falsification of accounts in ... C W N 626; ... 1 C W N 715, ... 61 Where the ... ing and shooting the deceased and frightening any one who tried to prevent them, held that the whole affair from the formation to the disruption of the assembly formed one

S.

transaction In re Ramaraju Thevan, 53 M 937 = 32 Cr L J. 30 = A I. R 1930 Mad 857 = 59 M L. J 945 But a transaction of abduction for which two persons have been convicted cannot be said to part of the same transaction when a third person not alleged to have taken part in the abduction proceeds to ... who buys the ... ime Mongha ... and receiving of stolen property are not parts of the same transaction Sultan v Emperor, 29 Cr L J 1030 The expression "in the course of the same transaction" must be understood as including both the immediate cause and effect of an act or ... the other necessary ... of time, ... Ring, 53 ... n rule of ...

... 1938 Pat 52, Abdur v Emperor, A I R 1931 Pat 102 Same transaction is to be interpreted according to facts of each case Knowing the general idea of the words "the same transaction" it is to be determined whether these words do or do not apply to the particular facts of a particular case Dubri v Emperor, A I R 1931 Oudh 86 The circumstances which must bear on its determination in each individual case are proximity of time, unity or proximity of place, continuity of action and community of purpose or design Amrit Lal Hazra v Emperor, 42 C 957, see also Superintendent v Monmohan, 19 C W N 672, Emperor v Jethalal, 29 B 449, Emperor v Datta, 30 B 49

Transaction—what facts form parts of A transaction consists both of the ... acts, whether spoken ... done or any other ... parts of transaction ...

Thompson v Tre...

v Kinnaird, 6 C...

elopement from ...

evidence against him in an action against the adulterer In answer ...

L C J said "It is not so clear that her declarations made at the time would not be evidence under any circumstances If she declared at the time that she fled from immedia...

evidence, thou...

happened at ...

over a length ...

(c) and (d) T...

third party r...

at the time ...

from the real...

within the Ba...

an intention, ...

Best C J sa...

away in a hurry, would not the jury be warranted in finding ... has been a clear act of bankruptcy But it has ... ing been written subsequently ... missible in evidence I am clear ... is of itself an equivocal act, and ... was committed ...

... departing ... tinuance." the realm is a continuing act, and these ... In the same case Park J observed. "I am satisfied that declarations made during departure and absence are admissible in evidence to show the motive of the departure It is impossible to tie down to time the rule as to the declarations we must judge from all the circumstances of the case, we need not go the length of saying that a declaration made a month after the act would of itself be letters So where the questions were whether a person who had remained abroad for some years had acqu written by him during such permanently or otherwise tion Doucet v Geoghegan 9 Ch D 455 But declarations and statements are admitted in evidence as parts of res gestae or transaction under two distinct principles Or Rule and sets c

Exception Tl
rule but defines those classes to which the rule is in its nature not applicable Vide Wigmore § 1745 One depends for its admission on the principle of spontaneous declaration and the other as part of the res gestae on the principle of verbal act doctrine But acts are not parts of the same transaction unless they were done substantially at the same time although they are similar in other respects R v Bridseye 4 C & P 386 In that case the prisoner was charged with stealing pickled pork a bowl some knives and a loaf of bread He went to

as one co ... ong a period to admit ... therefore is a distinct o ... prisoner was charged ... evidence was allowed o ... ney taken at telony, but ... transaction ... See also R v Re

3 F & F ... 3
R v Prabhu ... alse complaint forms part 190=1935 ... 1935
Mad 579=48 M L J 195 In an abduction case where the abduction took ... not be treated as a part ... Cas 433=26 Cr L ... mperor 42 C L J 504 ... 674=A I R 1935
Lah 578

Scope and limit of facts forming the res gestae The act or transaction may it m the n whic
lative instances or because the similar facts have occurred in such close connection in point of time or place, or other parti ... one continuous transaction Phip Ev 47, see al
C A cited in Ibid, Apothecaries v. Jones 17
B 458, Clark v R 14 Q B D 92 cited in Phi

S.

streets there is an unexpected collision between two men, entire strangers to each other, then the res gestae of the collision is confined within the few moments it occupies. When again there is a social feud in which two religious factions, as in the case of the Lord George Gordon disturbances or of the Philadelphia riots of 1844, are arrayed against each other for weeks, and are so much absorbed in the collision as to be conscious of little else, then all that such parties do or say under such circumstances is as much part of the res gestae as the blows given in homicides for which particular prosecutions may be brought. 1 Whart. Ev. § 259; Lebeck v. Herrick, 49 Ohio St 25; Lank Fechtner, 104 Mo App 368 (two years); Smith v. Williams, 87 Ga [illegible]

In Pool v. Hunt, 2 Bing., 101, Lord Wensleydale, said: "It is impossible to tie down to time the rules as to the declarations." It must be always borne in mind, however that it is the connection with, or illustration of, the main fact which constitutes the admissibility of this species of evidence." The point is also well illustrated by Mr. Starkie when he says: "If, for the sake of illustration, the question for wha [illegible] B were material to the issue, what A [illegible] ant, it may be conclusive [illegible], and the fact of payment were not material to the issue, then although A at the time of [illegible]

[illegible]

not aware of any case, where the act done is, in its own nature, irrelevant to the issue, and where the declaration per se is inadmissible, in which it has been held that the union of the two has rendered them admissible."

The ex[illegible] means the complete criminal transact[illegible] the act of the accused until the end [illegible] the res gestae under which it is [illegible] wholly on the character of the crime ar[illegible] Foley, 113 La. 52 = 104 Am. St. 493 [illegible] circumstances must be resorted to for the purpose of proving the commission of the particular offence charged, the proof of those circumstances involves the proof of other acts, either criminal or apparently innocent. In such cases it is proper that the chain of evidence should be unbroken. If one or more links of [illegible] soner has [illegible] he Court [illegible] ted and [illegible] why the [illegible] shall explain them

[illegible]

ment belonged to another man; that it was taken from the house the night preceding the murder; that the prisoner was there on that night and that the pistol was seen in his possession on the day of the murder, just before the fatal act, is [illegible] cy to prove the prisoner [illegible] a part of the transaction, [illegible] or involve guilt, makes [illegible]

[illegible]

Time, space and causation. No uniformity exists in the length of time over which the res gestae shall properly be held to extend. For example, in case [illegible] lar interview the [illegible] tes [illegible] ten

6. years the time covered by the most direct proof of the res gestae will be extended to the same limits Chamberlayne's Evidence § 2582 Note 2

Territorial limits No limitation has been imposed as to the territorial boundaries within which the res gestae facts must occur Those of a sudden quarrel, a shooting and immediate surrender to justice may, for example, occur in the limited space of a hotel bar ... breadth of a continent, or even extend ... v Ellis (1899) 1 Q B 230; R v Oliphant, ... 6 Cr App R 64 The relative complexity between the causal relations of any two cases may well reveal marked differences Causal sequences between the parts of the res gestae may be clear They may, on the contrary, present a baffling problem, when conduct seems almost without motive, so deeply hidden live the springs of action Chamberlayne's Evidence § 2582 Notes

Written declarations as part of res gestae In Tustin v Arnold, 84 L J ... itten admission of negligence by ... gestae, Bailhache J said: "There is ... whether a given statement is part of a res gestae This difficulty arises from the fact that the nature of res gestae varies so greatly Sometimes the res gestae are acts only, sometimes acts and words combined, sometimes words only, and sometimes a whole transaction which may include letters and memoranda In this case the res gestae was a single act—namely, the collision with the motor car In such a case words, even spoken words, do not ... ne and are natural ... fact of collision, so ... vill of the speaker, ... be strictly germane to the collision Spoken words are not relied on here, but if I have correctly described the characteristics which words must have in order to form part of the res gestae of a collision, it follows that a written statement can never do so It lacks all those characteristics except two—namely, that it was made at the time and germane to the collision This would be true even if this particular memorandum had been written by the driver of the traction engine; it is a fortiori so when, as in this case, the driver of the motor car wrote the memorandum of ... ion engine to sign, and the driver ... collision But Mr Phipson is of opinion ... According to him it is immaterial whether the declarations accompanying and explaining an act are oral or written Phip Ev 58

... ircum- ... other ... the prolific parent of others; and each during its existence has its inseparable attributes, and its kindred facts materially affecting its character and essential to be known in order to a right understanding of its nature 1 Greenl Ev § 108 ... are the undesigned ... sible when illustrative ... by a lapse of time ... of any one concerned ... as ... ld be ... part ... uced ... diate ... itary ... thus ... dents ... f the ... nces do not consist of declarations and statements they are introduced as a matter of course, proved by either side without question unless, indeed they get too far away from the main fact, when under rules having no relation to the subject of hearsay, they are excluded It is when they comprise statements, exclamations, answers to questions, and other verbal utterances by the participants in the act or event, that they occupy the attention of the Courts. If it had been possible to treat verbal utterances made under such conditions purely as acts, and not in any sense as evidence of the things stated (vide infra), the subject of res gestae would not have belonged under the head of exceptions to the Hearsay rule. But declarations of this sort were urged upon the Courts most strongly when they were wanted and needed as evidence of facts to which they referred, and the Courts received them as evidence and thus created another exception to the rule against Hearsay. Insurance Co v Mosley, 8 Wall U S 397; Waldele v New York, 47 Am Rep 41. The ground of reliability upon which such declarations are received is their spontaneity. They are the extempore utterances of the mind under circumstances and at times when there has been no sufficient opportunity to plan false and misleading statements; they exhibit the mind's impression of immediate events and are not narratives of past happenings; they are uttered while the mind is under the influence of the activity of the surroundings. McKelvey's Evidence pp 311, 315. "The principle of admission is that the declarations are parcel of the res gestae." Per Lord Denman in Rouch v. G. W. Ry Co 1 Q B D 51 (60). In this section these facts are treated as relevant facts. Mr Gulson however points out that the components of a principal fact are not properly speaking, circumstantial evidence, which term is applicable to those extrinsic facts from which the principal fact, with all or some of its details or components, are inferred or deduced. Gulson § 200; Phip. Ev 54.

Facts forming part of the same transaction, classification of. The facts mentioned in this section may be considered under the following heads, namely: —(1) Constituent facts, consisting of (a) the facts in issue per se, (b) Constituent incidents, (c) Cumulative and continuous transactions and (d) documentary transactions, and (2) accompanying facts, comprising (a) incidents other than declarations, and (b) declarations accompanying acts. Vide Phipson Ev Chapter VI

CONSTITUENT FACTS—(a) Facts in issue per se. Facts whether in issue or relevant, are not always admissible in evidence in the sense of being the subject of direct assertion or denial, for they may involve inference of law or fact which is for the Court or jury and not for the witnesses to draw. Phip Ev 55. Suppose A sues [illegible] may te[illegible] fact ir[illegible] out [illegible] in a case of infringement of trade-mark, whether the defendant's trade-mark [illegible] to deceive. North Cheshire Co v. [illegible] (1901) A C 208 (311) [illegible] 2. [illegible] A is charged with [illegible] testify, to direc[illegible] and his mere[illegible] he might, if the[illegible] to testify that A[illegible] these are infere[illegible] such facts are of a simple nature, or can only be expressed by a direct statement they will necessarily be r[illegible] doubtful the proper course [illegible] constituting or amounting [illegible] 55; Gulson § § 122 7.

(b) Constituent Incidents. Constituent incidents may comprise things done, or omitted, either by the principal, or his agents or partly by one and partly by the other. R v Mean, 69 J P 27; Phip Ev 55.

(c) Cumulative and continuous transactions. To prove the stealing of [illegible] by means of a pipe inserted [illegible] years by the same [illegible] v Firth, 38 L [illegible] mine for several

S. years the time covered by the most direct proof of the res gestae will be extended to the same limits Chamberlayne's Evidence § 2582 Note 2

Territorial limits No limitation has been imposed as to the territorial boundaries within which the res gestae facts must occur Those of a sudden quarrel, a shooting and immediate surrender to justice may, for example, occur in the limited space of a hotel bar They may on the other hand cover the breadth of a continent, or even extend from one hemisphere to the other R v Ellis, (1899) 1 Q B 230; R v Oliphant, (1905) 2 K B. 67; R v Mackenzie, 6 Cr App R 64 The relative complexity be ... f any two cases may well reveal marked differences ... the res gestae may be clear They may ... problem, when conduct seems almost withou... springs of action Chamberlayne's Evidence § 2582 Notes

Written declarations as part of res gestae In Tustin v Arnold, 84 L J ... er written admission of negligence by ... a res gestae, Bailhache J said. "There is ... case whether a given statement is part of a res gestae This difficulty arises from the fact that the nature of res gestae varies so greatly Sometimes the res gestae are acts only, sometimes acts and words combined, sometimes words only, and sometimes a whole transaction which may include letters and memoranda In this case the res gestae was a single act—namely the collision with the motor car In such a case words, even spoken words, do not become part of the res gestae, unless they were made at the time and are natural consequence of the collision—words which spring out of the fact of collision so to speak—inevitably and almost without the exercise of the will of the speaker, and are at any rate, spontaneous The word... to the collision Spoken words are not ... described the characteristics which words mu... res gestae of a collision, it follows that a ... lacks all those characteristics except two—namely, that it was made at the ... and germane to the collision This would be true even if this particular memorandum had been written by the driver of the traction engine, it is a fortiori so when as in this case, the driver of the motor car wrote the memorandum of ... ion engine to sign, and the driver ... he driver's mate signed the driver's ... was no part of the res gestae of the collision But Mr Phipson is of opinion that the dictum is not maintainable According to him it is immaterial whether the declarations accompanying and explaining an act are oral or written Phip Ev 58

Basis of the theory The affairs of men consist of a complication of circumstances so intimately interwoven as to be hardly separable from each other Each owes its birth to some preceding circumstance, and in its turn becomes the prolific parent of others; and each during its existence has its inseparable attributes and its kindred facts materially affecting its character and essential to be known in order to a right understanding of its nature 1 Greenl Ev § 108 ... are the undesigned ... sible when illustrative ... by a lapse of time more or l... concerned whether pa... ndone as well as th... should be necessary ... are part ... not produced ... mmediate ... ntary ... thus ... h incidents ... cter of the ... cumstances ... matter of ... get too far ... subject of ... clamations,

S.

[illegible] and using threatening language Upon questions of bankruptcy, where the intentions of the alleged bankrupt are often material to be enquired into, it is usual to give evidence of declarations, as furnishing an explanation of transactions in their nature equivocal Thus it has been held, that a declaration accompanying a purchase of goods is admissible evidence, to show whether a person sought is living by buying and selling Gale v Halfkin, 1 Stark C 68

"In a case in which murder and robbery have been shown to form parts of one transaction, it has been held that recent and unexplained possession of the stolen property while it would be presumptive evidence against a prisoner on a charge of robbery would similarly be evidence against him on a charge of murder" Queen Empress v Sami, 13 M 426 (432)

(a) Incidents other than declarations Questions of evidence in this connection usually arise with regard to declarations, since with other incidents there is less danger of the jury being misled, and the present principle consequently is less often invoked Phip Ev [illegible]

(b) Declarations accompanying acts Declarations which accompany a fact in issue or relevant facts become admissible under this section, if they form part of the same transaction Wright v Tatham, 5 C & F 670, R v Bliss, 5 C & P 5[illegible], Hyde v Palmer, 32 L J Q B 126, Greenan v Manning Ir. R. [illegible] Cl 125 "Where an act done is evidence per se, a declaration accompanying that act may well be evidence if it reflects light upon or qualifies that act" Coltman J. in Wright v Tatham, 5 Cl & F 6[illegible] = 7 A & E [illegible], 19 Law Quar Rept. 492 In the same case at page [illegible] of 6 Cl & F. Coleridge J observed: "The act itself being admissible, whatever accompanies it and serves to explain its character is relevant and admissible also" So when the act of a party may be given in evidence, his declaration made at the time, and calculated to elucidate and expl[illegible] tute [illegible]
in e[illegible]
the [illegible]
mem[illegible]
through a police cordon is evidence of res gestae and is admissible to prove their intention Maung Tok v Emperor, 3 Rang 352 = 90 Ind Cas 918 = A I. R. 1925 Rang 351

The act must be in issue or relevant and the declarations must relate thereto The declarations are not admissible simply because they accompany an act, the act must be in issue or relevant Wright v Tatham, 5 C & F 670 (689), Hyde v Palmer, 32 L J Q B 126 So a statement made by a woman immediately af[illegible] and is inadmiss[illegible] 1931 Mad 233 = [illegible]
Judgment obser[illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible] mother in law P W 2, made [illegible] cused from her bed on 26th [illegible] statement could only be [illegible] as to form part of the same tr[illegible] ers as the be[illegible] fairly be cons[illegible] down that a mere narrative of a past occurrence cannot explain an act The leading case u[illegible] Peacock v Tallman, (1896) 2 Q B 167 [illegible] a statement is no par[illegible] 2, R v Christie, (1914) [illegible] v Meath, 43 Ir. L T J [illegible] ld, 14 Cox 341; R v [illegible] 202, Pokhor Singh [illegible] 1925 Lah 578; Khajir [illegible] 1926 Cal 139, Srecha[illegible]r, A I R 1930 Lah 3[illegible] Dhabini, 10 C 302, th[illegible] luntarily caused grievous hurt was a statement, made in the presence of a prisoner, by the person injured to a third person, immediately after the commission of the offence The prisoner did not when the statement was made, deny that she had done the act complained of s 6 In delive

consider is wh

and having giv

the conclusion

submitted by the Sessions Judge that the statement made by the girl was made in the presence of the prisoner and almost immediately after the infliction of the injuries by the tongs I think, therefore, that it falls within the purview of s 6 [see illustration (a)] of the Evidence Act"

In Chain Mahto and ors v Emperor, 11 C W N 266, the Chowkidar deposed that one Gopal ran up to him and stated that he had seen the accused persons murder his m stress whom h had met by assignation and that he had run away from the pla ... What interval of time passed between the ... ent did not appear In declaring this evidence as in admissible Holmwood and Miller JJ said "We are also of opinion that the statements of Gopal are not admissible against the accused Hearsay evidence is ordinarily inadmissible and the exceptions are to be found in the Indian Evidence Act Other exceptions could not and should not be added The learned Sessions Judge has relied on section 6 of the Evidence Act and illustration (a) to it and also Surat Dhobini's Case, 10 C 302 The facts of the case of Surat Dhobini are very clearly distinguishable There the person who made the statement was dead, and she was the victim ... The

... l on the facts

In order to

pposed to be a bystander, it must have been made, as contemplated by section 6 and illustration (a) to it, at the time the transaction was taking place or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction If the transaction has terminated and the statement is made, the statement is irrelevant The admissibility is dependant on continuity The statement to be relevant must be made when the transaction is in progress When the transaction is concluded, the statement of a bystander is clearly inadmissible under the section In the present case Gopal, if he made any statement, made it after the transaction was over We

... d Gopal's

mind

The

Judge

's and ilarity

statements ar ... = 27 Ind

Cas 664 ... m illustra tion (a) ... of the con tinuance ... 'lansly and

Field JJ ... India In

Rex v ... d Patterson

JJ and ... killing a certain ... called as a witness, ... e cabriolet driven b ... t on to say that immediately after, on hearing the deceased groan, he went up to him and asked him what was the matter It was objected that what the deceased said in ... not receivable umstances it

In Thompson

t Nisi prius,

ceived by her

ge, might be nce of time or

t a trial for murder, a girl heard a cry and then found the deceased weak and injured, and he made a statement immediately on her coming up to him Chief Justice S. Mohan admitted it as a part of the res gestae In Hutchins v Railroad Co, 128 Iowa, 279 the plaintiff fell from a street car, by reason of negligence in failure to let down step As she fell she exclaimed, "yes, let down the step after I fall" The declaration was admitted as part of res gestae In R v North Cott, (1916) 1 K B 347, which [illegible] to an imperative ques[illegible] stone testimony of [illegible] pointing to the prisor[illegible] who threw the stone [illegible]

18 Q B D 537, see also Reg v Wainwright, 13 Cox C C. 171; R v Pook, 13 Cox C C 172n

On a charge of treasonable conspiracy, declarations made out of Court by the prisoner that 'when he planned a certain convention, he had not intended to destroy the King and the Government' are inadmissible R v Hardy, 24 How St Tr 1094 The reason for rejection is thus stated by Eyre C J 'Since, if it were otherwise, every man, if he were in difficulty, or in view of one, might make declarations to suit his own case" Phip Ev 3rd Ed 67. Where a person was charged with having received illegal gratification under s 161 of the Penal Code, on three specific occasions, in a certain year, from a firm, [illegible]

Conduct [illegible] in the case [illegible]
the act may [illegible]
I am not aware of any case where the act done is in its own nature irrelevant to the issue and where the declaration per se is inadmissible, in which it has been held that the union of the two has rendered them admissible" Per Coltman J in Wright v. Tatham, 7 A & E 361; see also Patten v Ferguson, 18 N H. 528; Pinney v Jones, 64 Conn 545

Conduct must be equivocal The utterances are admitted merely to assist in completing or giving legal significance to the conduct Hence the conduct must be equivocal or incomplete as a legal act, before the utterances can be admissible Wigmore § 1774; R v Bliss, 5 Cl & F. 550; R v Wainwright, 13 Cox 171 "Many acts are in themselves of an equivocal nature, and the effect of them depends upon the intention or disposition from which they proceed which is in general best determined by the expression accompanying them Wherever, therefore, the demeanour of a person at a given time becomes the object of inquiry, expressions, as constituting a part of that demeanour, and as indicating his present intent and disposition, cannot properly be rejected in [illegible]

[illegible] It is not the law that any and all conversation which happened to be going on at the time of an act can be proved if the act can be [illegible] in with the [illegible]omes merely [illegible]ng v Page, 4 [illegible] Rawson v. [illegible]nted himself [illegible]ten by him [illegible] during his absence were put in evidence Best C J in admitting the letters [illegible] an act is [illegible]" But in [illegible] he act in [illegible] Wright v. Tatham, 7 A & E 361; Lend v Tyngsborough, 9 Cush 42 But declarations are not admitted to explain previous or subsequent facts Agassiz v London Tram Co, 21 W R (Eng) 199; Hyde v Palmer, 32 L J Q B 126

Words must merely aid in completing the conduct—It follows also as a necessary deduction, that the utterances must be such as to serve the assumed

S. 6

purpose, namely, give more definite significance to the equivocal or indefinite conduct, by adding a missing part They must be such as do merely this, and not more Wigmore § 1775 "The common phraseology," said the learned author "however is, here so loose and inclusive that utterences may be held admissible which do not merely complete and define the very act by serving as a part of it but make assertions about its proceeding facts, and are in effect given credit as hearsay testimony of any other matter that may happen to be connected with the act in time and place Ibid So in Lund v Tynesborough 9 Cush 42, Fletcher J said If declaration has its force by itself, as an abstract statement detached from any particular fact in question, depending for its effect on the credit of the person making it, it is not admissible in evidence But when the act of a party may be given in evidence, his declarations made at time, and calculated to elucidate and explain the character and quality of the act so connected with it as to constitute one transaction, and so as to derive credit from the act itself, are admissible in evidence . Such declarations derive credit and importance as forming part of the transaction itself Similarly in Enos v Tuttle, 3 Conn 250 the reason for the admission of such declaration is thus stated "[They were] well calculated to unfold the nature and quality of the facts they were intended to explain, and so to harmonize with them as obviously to constitute one transaction" See also Insurance Co v Mosely, 8 Wall 411

'These phrases about 'unfolding', 'elucidating', and 'explaining' the nature of the act,' says Prof Wigmore "while not inaccurate in themselves, have served, in the hand of many later Judges, as an open seasame for utterances used purely in an assertive or testimonial way 'Elucidation' and 'explanation', taken literally, are broad enough to include mere narrations of preceding matters, and such has been the service to which these classical terms have frequently been put It must be noted that this application of them is unsound on principle" Wigmore § 1775

Words must accompany the conduct in time The declarations must be substantially contemporaneous with the fact—i e, made either during, or immediately before or after, its occurrence—but not at such an interval from it as to allow of fabrication, or to reduce them to the narrative of a past event Phip Ev 49 citing Thompson v Trevanion Skin 402 "The question of contemporaneousness says Mr Phipson has given rise to much discussion In R v Bedingfield, 14 Cox Cr 341, it has generally been thought that Cockburn C J applied the rule too strictly, that case, however was quoted without disapproval in R v Christie, (1914) A C 545 On the other hand the dictum of Denham C J in Rouch v G W R 1 Q B 60, a bankruptcy case adopted by Mr Taylor (s 588), that 'concurrence of time, though material is not essential seems to err in the opposite direction, substantial though not literal, a concurrence being indispensable (Lees v Morton, 1 M & R 210, Agassiz v Lond Tram Co, 21 W R 199, R v Goddard, 15 Cox 7)' Phip Ev 57 'It was at one time thought necessary" says Mr Taylor 'that they should be contemporaneous with it; but this doctrine has of late years been rejected, and it seems now to be decided, that, although concurrence of time must always be considered as material evidence to show the connection, it is by no means essential" But in America the old doctrine still obtains Thus in Enos v Tuttle, 3 Conn R 250, Hosmer C J observed, that declarations, to become part of the res gestae "must have been made at the time of the act done, which they are supposed to characterise and have been well calculated to unfold the nature and quality of the facts they are intended to explain, and so harmonise with them as obviously to constitute one transaction In R. v Bedingfield, 14 Cox Cr 341, in which the rule was [illegible] fact was as follows The prisoner had relations with the [illegible] [illegible]tened to kill her by cutting her throat She [illegible] s, with two women as assistants, the prisoner carried [illegible] living a little dista[illegible] They were together in a room in her house sometime He went out, and she was found by one of the assistants lying senseless on the floor, her head resting on a foot stool He went to a spirit shop and bought some spirits, which he took to the house, and went again into the room were she was, both the assistants being at that time in the yard In a minute or two the deceased came suddenly out of the house towards the women with her throat cut, and on meeting one of them she said something pointing backwards towards the house In a few minutes she was dead In the course of the opening speech on the part of the prosecution it was proposed to state what she said It was objected to on the part of the prisoner that it was not admissible, and Cockburn C J said He had carefully considered the question and was clear that it could not be admitted . . Could it be admissible, having been made in the absence of the prisoner, as part of res gestae? But it was not so admissible, for it was not part of something was being done, but something not as if, while being in the room, said something which was heard When the witness was called.....

She was first asked as to the circumstances, and stated that the deceased came out of the house bleeding very much at the throat, and seeming very much frightened and then said something, and died in ten minutes It was then proposed to prove what she said, but Cockburn C J said it was not admissible. Anything he said, uttered by the deceased at the time the act was being done would be admissible, as for instance if she had been heard to say something, as 'Don't, Harry' But here it was something stated by her after it was all over, whatever it was, and after the act was completed' The propriety of this decision was the subject of two pamphlets, one, by W Pitt Taylor, who denied, the other by the Lord Chief Justice who maintained, it Steph Dig Ev p 5 This decision is thus explained by Prof Wigmore —Of this ruling it may be said: (1) From the Verbal act point of view, the declarations did not accompany the fatal deed, was not contemporaneous and therefore was rightly excluded, from the same point of view, moreover, a declaration by one person about the deed of another could not possibly be received; (2) as involving a question under the exceptions for Spontaneous Exclamations (vide infra) the ruling in Bedingfield's Case is plainly erroneous, and would almost certainly not be followed in this country, the facts of the case, in respect to the controlling influence of the woman's situation and the recency of the shock, make it one of the strongest in judicial annals The arguments on the ensuing controversy between Chief Justice Cockburn and Mr Taylor dealt indiscriminately with the Verbal Act precedents, as well as with others more germane merits of these arguments it is s England up to that time—the Mahto v Emperor, 11 C W N 266) and under section 32, clause (a) as well as under clause (3) of section 21

Whether declarations and act must be by the same person In Home v Malkin, 27 W R 340 (Eng), it was ruled that where acts and declarations were by different persons it could not be admitted But though such declarations are often the only ones natural, the rule is by no means so strictly confined It is an every day practice the victim, or the like,
defendants,
B & Ald
unless some

nor agents should be rejected (R v Pet cannot be taken as invariable, for the sometimes be both relevant and admissible Steph Dig art 3, illus(a); Milne v Leistler, 7 H & N
Cartwright, 5 B & S 1, Stanley v White, 14 East 339; The Schwalbe, Swab 521; Phip Ev 58, Whart. Crim Ev, 259

Application of Verbal Act doctrine in cases of sale "The declarations of a party when they tend to explain the fact and are necessary for that purpose

6 might be given in evidence As in the case of tender, the declaration of the party of the purpose for which the money is offered is a part of the 'res gestae and must be proved otherwise the transaction cannot be understood" Sutf's Ev 130 So a declaration accompanying a delivery of money becomes admissible where it shows the nature of the transaction because it helps "to ascertain with what motive an act was done Clouser v Samuel, 15 N Br 58, Strange v Donohue 4 Ind 328 To identify land sold declarations by a deceased vendor at the time of the sale, pointing out the parcels, are admissible as part of res gestae, i e, the delivery of the deed Parrott v Watts, 37 L T 755, see also Jarvey v Styring 29 L T 817 Extrajudicial Statements, being part of the true res gestae may constitute or assist to constitute, a sale Chamberlayne, Ev § 2623.

Possessor's declaration in cases of adverse possession The declarations of persons in possession of personal property are often received as verbal acts characterizing and explaining the nature of such possession, that is, as part of the res gestae Possession unexplained is prima facie evidence of ownership in the possessor But such possession is entirely consistent with ownership in another and therefore, the conduct and declarations of the possessor may be material to show the nature of his possession whether as owner, part owner or agent Burr Jones § 351 So also in cases of adverse possession by a person all declarations by the occupant importing a claim of title in himself, are admissible as verbal parts of his act of occupation, serving to give it an adverse colour Wigmore § 1778 In McBride v Thompson, 8 Ala 650 653, Collier C J said ' It is not to be understood that such declarations are admissible to every conceivable extent True, the affirmation of the party in possession that he held it in his own right or under another is proper evidence as part of res gestae which res gestae is his continuous possession But his declarations beyond this are no part of the subject matter or thing done and cannot be received as such While it is allowable to prove statements of one in possession as explanatory thereof, it is not permissible to show everything that may have been said by him in respect to the title as, that it was acquired by him bona fide and for a valuable consideration was paid for by the money of a third person or his own etc This, we have seen instead of being a part of the res gestae, would be something beyond and independent of it' But declarations to show the adverse character of the possession are quite as much in the nature of facts as in the nature of a medium of proof Webb v Richardson 42 Vt 465 (472) It is the intent to possess, with which the acts are done that gives them their character So declarations which are made at the time of the act done and which are calculated to unfold its nature and quality are admissible in evidence Stephen v McKlay 36 I A 661 ' The limitation of this doctrine must, however, be observed It assumes that adverse possession is in some way material under the issues of the case (forcible entry, prescriptive title, or otherwise) and that the declarations were made when in possession and that they were not offered except as colouring the occupation Subject to these limitations the use of such declarations for this purpose is never disputed Wigmore § 1778 Where the occupier is the lessee of the person claiming adversely his declarations to the effect that he holds the land as a tenant of the person who holds the land in adverse possession are also admissible Holloway v Rakes, cited in 2 T R 55 The reason for such admission is that the ' possession of the tenant was connected with that of the landlord, which was adverse' Doe v Williams, Cowp. 21, see also Davies v Pierce, 2 T R 53, Peaceable v Watson 4 Taunt 16 Doe v Green Gow 228, Carne v Nicoll, 1 Bing N C 430 The relevancy of such declarations may often be regarded as constituent of the right alleged to exist and they may be re[illegible]ved in evidence in behalf of the party asserting As evidence of the facts a[illegible] [illegible] judicial statements of adverse claim are objectionable as h[illegible] Chamberlayne's Ev § 2600

[illegible] which a testator [illegible] their nature [illegible] al, of various [illegible] done by the [illegible] of the testator [illegible] mo revocandi [illegible] D 212 So

[illegible] light of the circu[illegible] with which it may have been [illegible] it is no revocation' Per Wilde J, in Powell v [illegible]

declarations of the testator in such cases are evidence where they show the quo animo Dan v Brown 4 Cow 190 Such declarations tend to establish the existence, of a psychological fact i e, the animus revocandi Chamberlayne's Ev 2622

Statement by agents Under the rule of substantive law enabling one with delegated authority to bind his principal, the extra-judicial statements which are part of the res gestae of a contract may be those of an agent. In other words, his unsworn declaration in and of itself may constitute and establish rather than prove the result at which it arrives Chamberlayne's Ev 2616

Demand A demand may be constituted by an extra-judicial statement That the statement is in part at least self serving, is not necessarily fatal to admissibility especially where the declarant's position has been fully covered by a reply made by the adverse interest In like manner, a refusal may be so constituted Chamberlayne's Ev § 2618

Libel and Slander One whose purpose is to prove that certain statements of a defamatory nature were made, is clearly entitled to show as part of the true res gestae the making of such extra judicial declarations These statements are constituently relevant independent of their truth or falsity Should the statement be one for which the defendant under the rules of substantive law, is in no way responsible constituent relevancy is not shown and the declaration is rejected not being as is said, any part of the res gestae Extra judicial statements of a third person made to defendant that facts published were true, when ... not hearsay A ... previous libellous

Declarations of a bankrupt. On this principle the declarations of bankrupts on going from and returning home have been received for the purpose of showing the motive and cause of absence, although a considerable time had elapsed Bateman v Bailey, 5 Term Rep 512 In Rawson v Haigh, 2 Bing 99 the question was whether a man had absented himself from the realm "with the intent to ... Act" Letters ... admissible in ... "When these ... would not the ... If so, there ... second and third letters, having been written subsequently to the act of departing from the realm, were not admissible in evidence I am clearly of opinion that they were admissible ... and where an act is equivocal, ... admitted In ninety-nine cases o... declarations of the party himself The declarations, in order to be admissible, must be made, or letters written, at the time of the act in question, but it is sufficient if ...

rupt is part of the res ge... thereby constitute an act of ... Ridley v Gyde, 9 Bing 349, Rawson ... ne an equivocal ... plain his ... done either ... Rouch v R... were both ... departure from home, that is continuance of that act shows Carter v Gregory, 8 Pick 168 was given by way of fraudulent preference, the d clarations of the bankrupt must be admitted, not so much as declarations but as part of his con luct from which inference is to be drawn that the security was given without pressure Per Bosanquet J in Ridley v Gyde 9 Bing 349

Since the declaration ' says Prof Wigmore ' is received as a verbal part of the act, it must of course be contemporaneous with the alleged act of bankruptcy Any hing said before or after that conduct could have a purely assertive force only and could not be receivable on the present principle This limitation has caused some apparent judicial uncertainty —for example, in cases where the declaration was made after the debtor has absconded and while he was staying in a foreign country There is however, no difficulty of principle in receiving such declarations, the difficulty is merely one of fact in determining the durat on of the conduct constituting the alleged act of bankruptcy The limitation is strict and inflexible, that the declaration must be contemporaneous with the alleged act But as the conduct constituting the alleged act of bankruptcy may extend over a considerable period of time—as where a debtor absconds and stays abroad and then returns—there may be a considerable interval between the mere beginning of the conduct, i e the original departure or closing of the, house and the actual time of the declaration Thus, though the declarations, as always under the present principle must be contemporaneous with the alleged act of bankruptcy the conduct constituting that act may allow for them a wide range of time Wigmore § 1783, see also Thayer's Cases on Evidence (2nd Ed) 646, 649, Phip Ev 75 Commenting on Bateman v Bailey 5 T R 512, Mr Christian said ' If the Court intended to say that what he declared after his return was complete, and when he was doing no act connected with it (is admissible) it is presumed the decision cannot be supported Whilst he is preparing to go, or in the act of going, and during his absence from home, and whilst he is returning or unpacking his portmanteau, etc what he says is part of the act of bankruptcy but when he is only meditating a future act, or speak ing of a past one completely finished, his words surely can have no legal operation than those of any other man See also Lees v Marston 1 M & R 210, Peacock v Harris 5 A & E 449, Bickhouse v Jones 6 Being N. C 65

Declarations as to Domicile If the questions were, whether a person who had remained abroad for some years had acquired a domicile in the country of his residence, letters written by him during such residence showing his intention to remain there permanently or otherwise, would doubtless be admissible, as part of the transaction Doucet v Geoghegan, 9 Ch D 455, Cockle Cas 69, Cruckenden v Fuller 1 Sw & Tr 441; Platt v Att Gen 3 App Cas 336 Re Grove, 40 Ch D 229 237, Bordie v B 4 L T N S 307, Spurway v S, (1894) 1 Ir R 385 397 That such declarations says Prof Wigmore, ' in the ordinary case that is when made not prior to removal, but during removal or settling, cannot conceivably be governed by the Verbal Act doctrine is more than ought to be asserted But having regard to the element of intent as treated in the law of domicile, it may better be regarded as a separate and independent element material for its own sake and not merely as appurtenant to an act, and therefore may be shown by declarations admissible under the exception for statements of a mental condition Wigmore § 1784

Knowledge, belief, good faith etc A person s knowledge of a given fact may be shown either by his own declarations or those of others conveying notice or information to him provided that the existence of the fact be first proved aliunde Thomas v Connel 4 M & W 267 Vacher v Cocks M & M 353 Phip Ev 63 see also Fabrigas v Mostyn 20 How St Tr 137 Such statements need not, of course be made contemporaneously with the happening of the fact, nor even at the precise time when the existence of the knowledge is in issue, since previous knowledge may be evidence of subsequent knowledge though not vice versa R v Gunnell 16 Cox 154 R v Kaye, 16 Cox 292, 293 N, Phip Ev 63

"Where the question is whether a party has acted prudently, wisely, or in good faith, the information on which he acted, whether true or false is original and material evidence, and not hearsay Friend v Hamill, 34 Md 298

Statements as regards state of health and bodily feelings In Aveson v Kinnaird 6 East, 188 the action was upon a policy of insurance on the life of the wife of the plaintiff The only question to be decided in that case was whether the statement of the insured's good health, given at the time of effecting the policy was false The Court in that case admitted evidence of a friend to whom the deceased stated that she was in a bad state of health Lord Ellenborough in delivering the judgment observed · "The question being, what was the state of her own health at a certain period, a witness has been received to relate that which has always been received from patients to explain, her own account of the cause of her being found in bed at an unreasonable hour with the appearance of being ill She was questioned as to her bodily infirmity She said it was of some duration, several days · What were the complaints, what the symptoms what the conduct of the parties themselves at the time, are ... to from ... was that ... examined by the surgeon and certified to be in good health, down to the day when the conversation took place, and ... the witness, and in that view I think ... ee also R v Nicholas, 2 C & K 246, h ... declarations are evidence of contempora ... Le March, 169—179, Gilbey v G ... v Barton, (1912) 1 K B 40 C A It is usually said that such declarations are receivable though they form the only proof of the given condition (Tay § 580), but this has been doubted and it has been suggested that the manifested condition and not the sickness itself, is the true res gesta to be explained (Thayer, 15 Am L R 98 101) So, when the terms upon which husband and wife have lived are material, their letters to each other (Trelawney v Coleman, 1 B & Ald 90), or to third persons (Wills v Bernard, 8 Bing 376), are admissible evidence of that fact, though not of the truth of all the matters stated Phip Ev p 61 Where the attempt is made to use the independently relevant statement in a probative capacity e g, as showing some relevant mental condition or state, it cannot properly be classified as part of the res gestae The existence of mental condition or state ... and may as such, be properly deduced ... gestae Being however, psychological fac... tion, the extra judicial declarations or ... cannot well be part, of the res gestae prop ...

Declaration by accused found with stolen goods On a charge of larceny, when the accused is found in possession of the stolen goods, and this circumstance is offered against him, the accused's use of his own declaration in exoneration, may be treated from the point of view of several principles Wigmore § 1781. In R v Abraham, 3 Cox Cr 430, which was a case of burglary, the defendant had said, before suspicion existed, that he found them in a field Alderson B ... ssion of the stolen property ... arch made, he had not the ... rouhurst, 1 C & K 370, ... 70; R v Wilson, 2 F & F

Other declarations Statements made by the guardian of a minor, when borrowing money on behalf of the minor are admissible as res gestae Hanooman v Musst Babooee, 13 M I A 393 at p 419 Where a person's opinions at a given time are material, per se and irrespective of any act, expression thereof, made at such time, are receivable R v Hardy, 24 How St Tr 1066 These expressions of recognition by the spectators were admitted, to prove that a caricature resemb... object has been co... and explain, so ... explanatory of act ...

Declarations under this section, whether an exception to the Hearsay Rule The theory of the Hearsay rule is that, when a human utterance is offered as evidence of the truth of the fact asserted in it the credit of the assertor becomes the basis of our inference, and therefore the assertion can be received only when made upon the stand, subject to the test of cross-examination If, therefore, an extra judicial utterance is offered, not as an assertion to evidence the matter asserted, but without reference to the truth of the matter asserted,

S. the Hearsay rule does not apply The utterance is then merely not obnoxious to that rule It may or may not be received according as it has any relevancy in the case, but if it is not received, this in no way due to the Hearsay rule For example in a prosecution against a defaulting embezzler Doe, it is desired to show that after leaving his employment, he concealed himself and passed under a false name here his statement 'My name is Roe is not offered to evidence that his name was in truth Roe, on the contrary, it will be shown that his name was Doe, and the statement is not used as hearsay Or, on an issue of insanity, it is offered to show that the party said, "I am the Emperor of Africa here the utterance is not offered as evidence that he was in truth the Emperor but, on the contrary, as circumstantially indicating his mental aberration Again, in an action upon a warranty of a horse, it is offered to show that the defendant at the time of the bargain asserted that the horse was only four years old here the plain ... prove that the horse is nevertheless twelve ... defendant's statement with any view to using ... with just the contrary ... damages in an action for battery ... just before the assault provoked ..., here the defendant by no means desires the jury to take this utterance as evidence of the truth of the fact asserted he would be much disappointed if they should accept it in that aspect, his purpose is merely by this utterance to evidence the anger which he naturally felt upon hearing it The prohibition of the Hearsay rule, then, does not apply to all words or utterances merely as such The Hearsay rule excludes extra judicial utterances only when offered for a special purpose, namely as assertions to evidence the truth of the matter asserted Wigmore § 1766, Vide also S 60 of the Evidence Act

When a declaration accompanies an act or conduct it is admissible under this section if it explains the act or conduct Hyde v Palmer 30 L J Q B 126 Graham Hotel v Manning I R 1 C L 125, Agassiz v London Tram Co, 21 W R 199 Phip Ev 3rd Ed 48 Such declarations attach to the act or conduct some legal effect The conduct or act standing alone has no definite significance or at best is equivocal, and its whole legal purport or tenor is to be ascertained precisely by considering the words accompanying it These declarations are not assertions to evidence the truth of the matters asserted So they do not fall within the rule of Hearsay evidence These utterances are admitted in evidence not in violation of section 69 of the Evidence Act but as verbal part of the Act or in the common phrase as verbal acts Vide Wigmore § 1772 Declarations of a party said Clifford J in Insurance Co v Mosley 8 Wall 411, to a transaction though he was not under oath, if they were made at the time any act was done which is material as evidence in any issue before the Court, and if they were made to explain the act or to unfold its nature and quality, and were of a character to have that effect, are treated, in the law of evidence, as verbal acts and, as such, are not hearsay but may be introduced with the principal act which they accompany and to which they relate as original evidence because they are regarded as a part of the principal act, and their introduction in evidence is deemed necessary to define that act and unfold its nature

... ence of ... 47 49 ... P 653 ... ylesford ..., 6 App ... admis... ,70 In ... ir from ... because it is a statement That a given declaration was made is simply a fact which should be allowed to give rise to any relevant inference which may properly be drawn from its existence ... within the range of the res gestae ... under may be admitted in evide... state ments may constitute the u... mong the principal facts to be ... ner so i e, unconditional by evidence of any other fact, and are covered by the paramount right of every litigant to establish the res gestae of his case by the best evidence which it is practically in his power to produce It will not be forgotton, however, that the relevancy of such statements when thus employed is, like that of other res gestae facts, constituent rather than probative Chamberlayne § 2593, Whart Cr Ev § 266

[illegible] proved when they are constituent [illegible] question can well be raised In [illegible] per se The relation which such facts sustain to the existence of the right or liability asserted in the action has been denominated as constituent facts The effect of unsworn statements when thus used on an issue of right or liability present to the tribunal a question of substantive law Thus, on an indictment for perjury the fact that the defendant spoke the words now said to be false has no proper connection with the rule against hearsay It is simply a verbal act which assists, with other facts, to constitute the liability with which the accused is charged As such, evidence of this character is admissible as a matter of course, a res gestae or constituent fact So in a trial of a civil action on an oral contract any material extra judicial statement made by either of the parties during the period of negotiation in which an agreement is said to have been reached is merely a res gestae or constituent f[illegible]

[illegible] of practical consequence except for purposes of clearness The fact to be proved may in any case be established equally well circumstantially or directly It is for example, in the case assumed of an oral contract, by no means essential to admissibility that the unsworn statements of the parties should embody or constitute in and of themselves by a formal offer and acceptance, the precise and entire agreement Much may be left to the interpretation of circumstances surrounding the transaction. Statements of the parties, however, still perform [illegible] to the contract of the parties

[illegible] The evidence furnished by the independently relevant res gestae declaration is primary Where the extra judicial unsworn statement is used as evidence of the facts asserted, a superior grade of evidence is possible, i e, the testimony of the original declarant on the subject. No better or more convincing evidence of the existence of a statement can be given than the testimony of the reporting witness who says that he heard it made In other words, while the reporting witness, in both cases testifies directly to the declaration itself, he states a fact when the unsworn statement is to be used as hearsay which tends to establish the truth of the facts asserted only in a circumstantial way Superior to this, is the direct testimony of the original observer whose statement is reported to the tribunal The fact, however, that the statement was made is provable by the primary evidence of any person who heard it A statement which is irrelevant is to be excluded, not because it is a statement, but for the reason that under the fundamental rule it is not evidence, because not relevant Should such relevancy appear, on the other hand, it is not objectionable that the declaration is self serving Nor need the relevancy, provided it exists, rest upon any particular ground, such as contemporaneous incorporation with a principal fact On an enquiry as to what was actually said, however, the subjective mental condition of the declarant, the extent of his knowledge or his motive to misrepresent, are naturally immaterial So long, therefore, as relevancy is preserved the unsworn declaration may precede or follow, even by considerable interval, a principal fact with which it is logically connected.

The making of the independently unsworn statements must be proved by proper evidence Hearsay, for example extra-judicial statements used in their assertive capacity, will be rejected when offered for the purpose Instances of the independently relevant use of unsworn statements as constituently relevant

6. are very numerous On close parallel lines with this employment are found examples of the probative use of such declarations A particular statement may be regarded as employed in either capacity, according as the specific words themselves effect the legal result which they contemplate, in which case the relevancy is constituent, or, on the other hand, tend to prove the existence of a relevant mental state, in which event their relevancy is probative Chamberlayne's Ev § 2596

Should the unsworn statement in and of itself, logically tend to establish the actuality of the fact in support of which it is adduced, judicial administration is satisfied Nothing further need be shown We are not asked to believe that the declaration states the truth We are merely made to know that it exists How much the maker of the unsworn statement knew about the matter or what was his motive, if any, to misstate the truth need not be inquired It is not surprising to find that self serving declarations are perfectly admissible, although statements in derogation of title are equally competent under proper circumstances Chamberlayne's Ev § 2605

Declarations by by standers The independently relevant statement may be that of a by stander "Courts, so far as they can, are disposed to receive in evidence whatever can throw any light on the matter in issue, and advance the search after truth No doubt, for that reason, in the case of an exclamation by any one in a crowd when an accident occurs and the conduct of a particular person is in question, it may be asked whether some one did not call out 'shame'', for it is part of the res gestae" Per Pollock C B in Milne v Leisler, 7 H & N 786 Wherever it can fairly be inferred that the declarations of such a person affected the action of the participants themselves in some essential particular, or promoted the doing of some important act, the evidence will be received The facts that the declaration offered was made while the res gestae was going on is not sufficient ground for admitting the statement So the relation of causation is deemed essential According to judicial custom in the United States, evidence of the extra judicial statement any legitimate purpose connected with part of the res gestae Chamberlayne Ev x 79, where it was held that unless some common object be proved the declarations of the participants if neither parties nor agents, should be rejected ' But this limitation" says Phipson "cannot be taken as invariable, for the excl — a be both relevant and admissible" R cright 5 B & S 1, Stanley v White,

The same administrative course is adopted where the exclamation of one standing near is felt to be necessary or expedient for connecting other facts into the narrative of significant events These declarations of by standers are not offered in their assertive capacity, i e. as evidence of the facts stated Chamberlayne's Ev § 2597

Proof of such declarations not subject to limitations of Hearsay Rule These declarations can be proved whether the declarant be called as a witness or not (Dysart Peerage, 6 App Cas 516); or even though he would be incompetent if so called (Bateman v Bailey, 5 T R 012; Aveson v Kinnaird, 6 East 188, Aylesfrod Peerage, 1 App Cas 1) Nor is it material whether the declarant be alive or dead at the date of the trial (Dysart Peerage, supra) Phip Ev p 59.

Verbal Act doctrine—Strict interpretation of—much valuable evidence is left out From the illustrative cases given above it is clear that much valuable evidence cannot be admitted if the Verbal act doctrine be too 'strictly' followed as in R v Bedingfield, 14 Cox 311 This case was the subject matter ... Justice ... rule on ... its Law ... company ... it either ... matters ... tempora ... respect"

[illegible]

[illegible] of the transaction, is a relevant fact In Chain Mahto v Emperor, 11 C W N 266 at p 270 the Court said . "We are also of opinion that the statements of Gopal are not admissible against the accused They are hearsay and proved only by those who heard them They were not made in the presence of the accused Hearsay evidence is ordinarily inadmissible and the exceptions are to be found in the Indian Evidence Act Other exceptions cannot and should not be added" Then it adds at p 271 "In order to make the statement of a by-stander admissible, and Gopal must be supposed to be a by stander, it must have been made, as contemplated by section 6 and illustration (a) to it, at the time the transaction was taking place or so shortly before or after it as to form part of [illegible] and then the statement is [illegible] the first part of their [illegible] same judgment In the [illegible] olates the Rule against [illegible] But in the latter part it is hinted that had the statement been made during the continuance of the transaction it would have been admissible under this section So illustration [illegible] admit declarations which do not violate the [illegible]

§ 1772

Declarations falling under Verbal Act doctrine must not be confused with Spontaneous Exclamations Certain kinds of statements are admissible, by universal concession, but which do not fall within the Verbal Act doctrine The typical case presented is a statement or exclamation, by a participant, imme-[illegible]

[illegible] v State, 83 Ala 289 These exclamations differ from declarations falling under the Verbal Act [illegible] the latter class [illegible] they clearly do involve the testimonial use of the assertion to prove the truth of the fact asserted,—for example, when the injured person declares who assaulted [illegible] whether the by stander at an [illegible] § 17[illegible] Some of these [illegible] under the Indian Evidence [illegible] v Troyanes [illegible] Sarat [illegible] 19 C 302, Chain Mahto v Emperor, 11 C W N 26[illegible] In the last mentioned case the facts of which are stated at p 102 the Court observed "In the present case

Gopal if he had made any statement, made it after the transaction was over We do not exactly know what the interval between the murder of Lily and Gopal's statement to the Chowkidar was Gopal was not then in such condition of his fabricating evidence or his being e out his state of mind to be such as the

He was perfectly in his senses at the

the above observations
monial assertions and as admitted in evidence had the other requirements been fulfilled But those elationship is in the Act ations by the construe the nportant this inclusion of t is not done he cloak of res gestae or as being made in the same transaction Similarly it has been held that section 11 is controlled by section 32 of the Act Bela Rani v Mohabir, 34 A 341=9 A L J 351=14 Ind Cas 116, see also P D Sethna v Mirza Mahomed, 9 Bom L R 1047 dealt elaborately under section 11

ule ile
ice
that under of nervous excitement n es their control so sincere response to the actual sensations and perceptions already produced by the external shock Since this utterance is made under the immediate and uncontrolled of period when considerations of to bear by reasoned reflection, the or at least, as lacking the usu essing the real tenor of the m, and may therefore be rec State v McLaghlin, 138 La which was an action for assault and battery upon the wife of the plaintiff, Lord Holt J "allowed that what the wife said immediately upon the hurt received, and before she had time to devise or contrive anything for her own advantage, might be given in evidence" In Aveson v Kinnaird, 6 East 193, counsel for the plaintiff contended that m of
the ions are l
the lara

g Made at the same editation, and for that reason explanatory of the mind and purpose of the actor as it is involved in that fact, they are presumed to be as veritable, as reliable, as the fact itself, and would guarded "in its practical application, there is no principle in the law of evidence more safe in its results In the ordinary concerns of life, no one would doubt the truth of these declarations, or hesitate to regard them, when uncontradicted, as conclusive Their probative force would not be questioned" Insurance Co. v Mosley, 8 Wall 397; Brownell v R. Co, 47 Mo 246; Harriman v. Stoe, 57 Mo 93

The reason for their reception is thus forcefully stated by Brown J in State

the utt
the ont
Ro
giving any weight to such statements made by a declarant, the Court must be sat tru clo sub
for
Ga

Reason for accepting such statements In order to admit evidence of such statements, death, absence, etc, need not be shown This kind of statement is

*When a person receives a sudden injury, it is natural for him, if in the possession of his faculties, to state at once how it happened Metaphorically, it may be said, the act speaks through him and discloses its character" Murray v Boston & M. B Co, 72 N. H. 32, 37.

6. not admitted, as an exception to the [illegible] be obtained from the same person for resorting to it" Wigmore § 1[illegible] out the party's only defence" Because "it is impossible for a witness to convey such scenes to the mind and their effect and influence upon it," so this kind of evidence is more convincing than the testimony of the persons themselves sometime after the occurrence Mobile & M R Co v Ashcraft, 48 Ala 31 "We merely say that, whatever force is given to dying declarations as the utterances of those who on account of their peculiar situation may be relied on to tell the exact truth as it appears to them must needs be accorded also to the exclamations of mental terror caused by a deadly assault To reject the evidence afforded by the agonized entreaties of one standing face to face with death in the person of a murderer with an upl[illegible]

by
by bad sample of the perfection of human reason Per Barrows J in [illegible] Wagner, 61 Me 195

Requisites for admitting such evidence (1) Nature of the occasion—There must be some shock [illegible] excitement and

Thompson v Trevanion Skin 402
(2) Time of the utterance The utterance must have been before there has been time to contrive and misrepresent, i e while the nervous excitement may be supposed still to dominate and the reflective powers to be yet in abeyance It is to be [illegible] the exciting [illegible] for the exc[illegible] 700 In Mel[illegible] this Court has said, that the
a question] which must the rule is founded [illegible]

[illegible] So ther[illegible] hours and a few days or a few [illegible] of a party are [illegible] Unless such said that the declarations must be contemporaneous with the main fact, no rule can be formulated by which to determine how near, in point of time they

[illegible] ations [illegible] of the [illegible]

element for consideration; that being close in point of time is not, however, all the basis for receiving such evidence, and that the ultimate test is spontaneity or instructiveness and logical relation to the main event, that the tendency of [illegible] reception of such testimony". In a [illegible] the defendant steamer was backing [illegible] steamer, who was on the bridge, [illegible] helm is still a starboard" The Schwalbe, Swab 521 In R v Lundy, 6 Cox Cr 477 the deceased's statements on the arrival of [illegible] on the 21st Ma[illegible] herself was exclu[illegible] was whether A c[illegible] B when running out of the room in which h[illegible] it had been, was not allowed to be proved by [illegible] field, 14 Cox Cr 341

In Hutcheis v Railroad Co, 128 Iowa, 279 the plaintiff fell from a street car, by reason of negligence in failure to let down a folding step As she fell she exclaimed, "Yes, let down the step after I fall" The declaration was a typical instance of re[illegible] and having [illegible] the plaintiff [illegible] with the even[illegible] so near in point of time to the fact which is the subject of proof In Rothrock v City Cedar Rapids 128 Iowa, 25?, the declarations which referred to the manner and place in which plaintiff had sustained injuries, but were made on the arrival home, [illegible] that s[illegible] where [illegible] hour a[illegible] that th[illegible] [illegible] end, rather than to [illegible] er the grounds which [illegible] Jack v Life Asso-[illegible]

[illegible] statements are spontaneous, whether there was an opportunity for fabrication or a likelihood of it; the lapse of time between the act and the declaration relating to it, the attendant excitement; the mental and physical condition of the declarant [illegible] worthines[illegible] jury' I[illegible]

(3) [illegible] of the o[illegible] logically [illegible] person ex[illegible] him, the [illegible] any other [illegible] to some [illegible] there is not the same necessity for employing them It seems clear on precedents, that utterances thus relating to some distinct prior circumstance would not be received Wigmore § 1750, see Khyiruddin v Emperor, 92 Ind Cas 442 = 43 C 372

Know[illegible] of testimo[illegible] that the de[illegible] which he [illegible] speaker.

... rant
... ured
... ch a
... 479),
neither infamy by conviction of crime Neely v State, 56 S W 625 The disqualification of insanity should probably be treated for the present purpose like that of infancy Wilson State, 49 Tex Cr 50, Wigmore § 1751

... m the Verbal Act doctrine
... cts are admissible in evidence
... principal act, relevant under
... made definite; (2) The words
... ct, (3) The words must be by
... 4) the words must be precisely contemporaneous with the act Now all four c... peculiar to the Verbal Act doctrine, have be... present exception for spontaneous exception ...
... testimonial use of words, whi...
... gmore § 1752 So in Gresham
... "The act which they (declara...
... be evidence in the cause without
... 12 Cox Cr 230 This form of expression is frequent enough But such a limitation has no place in this Exception What is required here is merely that there shall be some startling occurrence calculated to produce nervous excitement and spontaneous utterance Wigmore § 1753

As regards the second limitation, ordinarily declarations which do not in some way or other elucidate or explain the occurrence, are not given in evidence So from this ... K nnard 6 East 193, in ...
with miscondu...
should not admit it, if it were a collateral declaration of some matter ... happened at another time' So also in Ajassiz v Tramway Co, 21 W R 199
... the driver "has been off the
... "The conductor's remark
... referred to the conduct of the

... the declaration
... hat limitation
... murder of B
... by standers at
the beating or so shortly before or after it as to form part of the transaction, is a relevant fact Vide illustration (a) So also in Milne v Leisler, 7 H N 786 796, Pollock C B said: 'Courts so far as they can are disposed to receive in evidence whatever can throw light on the matter in issue and advance the search after truth No doubt, for that reason, in the case of an exclamation by any one in a crowd, when an accid... ... son is in question, it may be asked ... it is ... which part of the res gestae' ... going past,
... one went in
... 's utterance
... therwise it
... testimonial
assertion of a past act But under the present exception an utterance is, by ... only

Wigmore § 1756 The case of R v Beding field, 14 Cox Cr 341 fully reported at p 104 is an example n the evidence is clearly erroneous The facts of of the woman's situation and the recency of the shock, make it one of the strongest in judicial annals Of course from the Verbal Act point of view, as the declaration did not accompany the fatal deed, is was not contemporaneous, and therefore was rightly excluded Vide Wigmore § 1756

st
p
M :
police that M was not present at the riot and that he had made no charge against him He stated that the report was written by one J Subsequently M prosecuted J and P for an offence under section 211 of the Penal Code Held that the statement made by P to the po' as part of a confession or as part of the section 6 Jalpa v Emperor, 50 Ind Cas

Facts which are the occasion, cause or effect of facts in issue

7. Facts which are the occasion, cause or effect, immediate or otherwise, of relevant facts, or facts in issue, or which constitute the state of things under which they happened, or which afforded an opportunity for their occurrence or transaction, are relevant.

Illustrations.

(a) The question is, whether A robbed B

The facts that, shortly before the robbery, B went to a fair with money in his possession, and that he showed it or mentioned the fact that he had it, to third persons, are relevant.

(b) The question is, whether A murdered B

Marks on the ground, produced by a struggle at or near the place where the murder was committed, are relevant facts

(c) The question is, whether A poisoned B

The state of B's health before the symptoms ascribed to poison, and habits of B, known to A, which afforded an opportunity for the administration of poison, are relevant facts objective inference as to the existence of a fact still more complex in its nature, of men consist, it owes it origin to those which have preceded it, it is intimately connected with all others which concur at the same time and place, and often with those of remote regions, and, in its turn, it gives birth to a thousand others which succeed" Stark Ev. Vol I, 496 Such relations make it possible, when the existence of one fact in the chain of causation is asserted, to test the truth of the assertion by an inquiry as to the existence of those facts with which, had

ns to Hearsay Rule, the declarant qualifications that would be required 1751 But infancy is not such a , Beal Doyle v Carr, 85 Ark 479), neither infamy by conviction of crime Neely v State, 56 S W 625 The disqualification of insanity should probably be treated for the present purpose like that of infancy. Wilson State, 49 Tex Cr 50, Wigmore § 1751.

Certain Spurious Limitations borrowed from the Verbal Act doctrine Under certain conditions only verbal parts of acts are admissible in evidence They are as follows (1) There must be a main or principal act, relevant under ade definite; (2) The words
(3) The words must be by the words must be precisely contemporaneous with the act Now all four of these limitations, though entirely peculiar to the Verbal Act doctrine, have been misapplied in some cases to the present exception for spontaneous exception That it is a case of misapplication is clear; for here the concern is with a hearsay or testimonial use of words, while there no such function is attributed to them Wigmore § 1752 So in Gresham v. Manning, Ir R 1 C L 125, O'Brien J, said "The act which they (declarations) accompany should be one that would be evidence in the cause without any such declarations" But see R v Edwards, 12 Cox Cr 230 This form of expression is frequent enough But such a limitation has no place in this Exception What is required here is merely that there shall be some startling occurrence calculated to produce nervous excitement and spontaneous utterance Wigmore § 1753

As regards the second limitation, ordinarily declarations which do not in some way or other elucidate or explain the occurrence, are not given in evidence So from this aspect the limitation becomes a real one In Aveson v Kinnaird 6 East 193, in which declarations of wife upon elopement, charging the husband with misconduct causing it, were admitted Lord Ellenborough observed, 'I should not admit it, if it were a collateral declaration of some matter which
W R 199
the nark
the e declaration

hat limitation
murder of B
by standers at
the beating or so shortly inaction, is a relevant f r, 7 H N 786 796, Pollo
to receive in evidence ance the search after truth
by any one
in a crowd,
erson is in question, it r for it is part of the 541 which going past one went in

r's utterance otherwise it testimonial
e is, by the only
ral effu continue may be enough is there-
that the
utterance must be precisely contemporaneous with the act or occurrence

Wigmore § 1756 The case of R v Bedingfield, 14 Cox Cr 341 fully reported at p 104 is an example of this As an exception to Spontaneous Exclamation the evidence is clearly admissible and the ruling of Cockburn C J is plainly erroneous The facts of the case, in r woman's situation and the recency judicial annals Of course from the did not accompany the fatal deed, is was not contemporaneous and therefore was rightly excluded Vide Wigmore § 1756

Statement made to the police by one of the accused One P came to a police station and handed in a written rep persons had committed the offence M The report was read out to police that M was not present at the riot and that he had made no charge against him He stated that the report was written by one J Subsequently M prosecuted J and P for an offence under section 211 of the Penal Code Held that the statement made by P to the police was not admissible against J either as part of a confession or as part of the transaction under investigation under section 6 Jalpa v Emperor, 50 Ind Cas 487=17 A L J 760

Facts which are the occasion, cause or effect of facts in issue

7 Facts which are the occasion, cause or effect, immediate or otherwise, of relevant facts, or facts in issue, or which constitute the state of things under which they happened, or which afforded an opportunity for their occurrence or transaction, are relevant.

Illustrations

(a) The question is whether A robbed B

The facts that, shortly before the robbery, B went to a fair with money in his possession, and that he showed it or mentioned the fact that he had it, to third persons are relevant

(b) The question is whether A murdered B

Marks on the ground produced by a struggle at or near the place where the murder was committed, are relevant facts

(c) The question is, whether A poisoned B

The state of B's health before the symptoms ascribed to poison and habits of B, known to A, which afforded an opportunity for the administration of poison are relevant facts

Principle The principle contained in this section has a logical foundation objective inference as to the existence of a fact still more complex in its nature and so on in many degrees of involution The necessary method of drawing

of men consist, it owes it origin to those which have preceded it, it is intimately connected with all others which concur at the same time and place, and often with those of remote regions and in its turn, it gives birth to a thousand others which succeed' Stark Ev Vol I, 196 Such relations make it possible when the existence of one fact in the chain of causation is asserted, to test the truth of the assertion by an inquiry as to the existence of those facts with which, had

it existe l it would ... own exi tence neces sary or at least ... § 1784 "There is a principle implied in ..., an assumpt on with ... and the order of the universe, namely, that there ... parallel cases that what happened once, will un ler ... of circumstances, happen again, and not only again but as often as the same circumstances recur This, I say, is an assumption involved in every case of induction And if we consult the actual course of nature, we find that the assumption is warranted The univer e so far a known to us is so constitute l, that whatever is true in any one ca e is true of all cases of certain de cription the onl y difficult y is to find what descrip tion" Mill s System of Logic Book III Chap III § 1 Chamberla yne s Ev § 3150

In order that an alleged actor shoul l have been capable of doing a specific a t which requires his bodily presence at the locus of its being done, it is necessary where the evidence is circumstantial to establish that he was present at the time at that place This may be shown by his actions on a previous occasion His other acts at about the same time as the act in question and near the scene of the act te l to show the ...

chief value is that it prevents the accused from denying his presence But the frequent difficulty here is that the ev lentiary fact is not that the accuse l was present at the exact time and place of the act, but that he was near enough to have been able to be there at the exact time and place Ibi l

Scope of the sectior ... by ties more or less close ... a fact can or cannot be ... meaning of section 6 S ... of facts Leaving the t ... classes of facts which the ... yet connected with it in particular mo les an l so are relevant when the trans tion itself is under enq ... the occasion or cause ... for its occurrence, (4) as ... ned They are in truth different aspects of causation ... sion of facts of this nature is that if you want ... not almost the first natural step is to ... calc lated to prod ...

... rder moreover, properly to apprecia ... things in which it occurred For all ... Cunningha n, p 91

Causation "As the ...

Logic p 199

...

what acceptation of the words is his expression a cause or effect of the act of stab bing? Or consi ler the case of the White Chapel murder in London Upon the issue, Did Wainwright murder Harriet Lane? It is offered in evidence that the body before the Court is that of a woman who never bore children How is this a cause or effect of the fact in issue? The widest acceptation of the words 'cause' and 'effect' will not include such facts as these And if we give them the meaning necessary to make true the statement that relevancy means the ... statement it self becomes of

... no question that relevancy and ... two is recognizable by an ... hing expressible in ordinary language

"The definition that relevancy means the connection of events as cause and effect, leaves us then, in this difficulty that if we take the words in any, even the widest con... which we know from ... transcendent meanin... gone together to make up the state of things existing at any time, and that no fact could ever have existed without the co existence of every other fact that did exist at the same time, then the definition includes everything, and so ceases to be a definition

"Thus the statement that relevancy means the connection of events as cause and effect, requires some addition, if the words are used in any ordinary sense, and some limitation, if they are given a transcendent sense" Woodroffe Ev p 80

Limit of the rule The rule, therefore, that facts may be regarded as relevant which can be shown to stand either in the relation of cause or in relation of effect to the fact to which they are said to be relevant, may be accepted as true, subject to the caution that, when an inference is to be founded upon the existence of such a connection, every step by which the connection is made out must either be proved, or be so probable under the circumstances of the case that it may be presumed without proof Stephen's Introduction p 70

Occasion, Cause and Effect An event may be evidenced circumstantially by a cause or by an effect This mode of inference is available in three forms, namely prospectant, retrospectant, and concomitant For example, the sinking ... the ... its ... of ... 121.

... the falling barometer ... eruled car ... —these are ... Such inferences, however, rarely raise evidential questions in practice Thus, in the illustration above used, the destruction of the herbage is evidently relevant, without question, as indicating the same destructive influence of atmosphere, soil, or the like, but in the further process of fixing on the fumes in question as the precise cause ... through an expert witness of fact. Thus, in general, the inference from an effect to the existence or operation of a cause is usually so proper as to be unquestionable, or else leads to a new controversy as to whether the supposed cause has any causing tendency of the alleged sort, and this new controversy involves a different sort of inference — Wigmore § 436

Concomitant Events as the basis of inference An event cannot be inferred from its concomitant event except on the assumption that they have a common cause, or unless the inference is really not one of concomitancy but of cause and effect An example of the latter sort is the inference of fire from smoke i e, it is really the inference of fire as a cause from smoke as the effect An example of the former sort is the inference of revolving wheels from the motion of the car i e there is really an inference, first from the motion to the motive power as a cause and next from the motive power to the revolution of the wheels as a common effect of the same cause In some instances, however, for practical purposes this latter analysis may be neglected and the inference treated as a single one Wigmore § 436

Real meaning of cause or effect It must be noted from the remarks stated above that, that which is the main or first apparent inference offered is upon analysis to be resolved into an [illegible] h the proposition to be evidenced is a ten[illegible] , the inference is from specific instanc[illegible] istra tions to the supposed tendency, [illegible] This inference from effects to capacity or tendency to produce those effects furnishes the general form to wh[illegible] For example the question at issue may [illegible] a conceded injury in a [illegible] former is the cause [illegible] the argument is obviously confined to those things which have a tendency or capacity to produce such effects Thus while one of the ultimate issues for the Court still remains the question whether the factory caused the injury, yet the subsidiary proposition to which the evidence has to be directed is whether the factory has such a tendency or capacity In short when it is desired to show broadly the or[illegible] usually resolve[illegible] something to [illegible] and, secondly that something else is evidence of such a capacity or tendency, and it is the second of these inferences which in practice raises evidential questions Wigmore § 441

Principle of probative value—General Rule There is presented as the [illegible] fect B [illegible] e intro- [illegible] ncy or capacity in X is not an abstract and absolute one but a limited and specific one, namely a capacity under the circumstances in which B occurred, to be followed by B What X's capacity or tendency under other circumstances might be is immaterial, the single question is wheth[illegible] tendency under the circumstances in hand [illegible] , evidence this specific capacity or tendency by c[illegible] here, the [illegible] the case in [illegible] nying X [illegible] X, unless [illegible] other [illegible] is have a tendency to injure other adjacent houses B, [illegible] e an old house and B'' were a wooden house, while it was a new brick house, the case B would at most indicate a tendency in X to injure an old house not a new house B, and the case B would at most indicate a tendency in X to injure a wooden house, not a brick house B The general logical requirement is then that when a thing's capacity or tendency to produce an effect of a given sort is to be evidenced by instances of the same effect found attending the same thing elsewhere these other instances have probative value—i e are relevant—to show such a tendency or capacity only if the conditions or circumstances in the other instances are similar to those in the case in hand But this similarity need not be precise in every detail It need include only those circumstances or conditions which might conceivably have some influence in affecting the result in question Wigmore § 44? So in evidencing a quality tendency capacity etc by instances of its effects or exhibitions or operations on other occasions the natural and logical limitation is that the evidential instances should have occurred under substantially the same circumstances or conditions as at the time in question because otherwise they might well be attributed to the influence of some other element introduced by the differing circumstances Greenl Ev § 14 (v)

Illustrative cases—Admissible evidence In Hunt v Lowell Gaslight Co 8 All 169 171, the question was whether the illness of the plaintiffs was caused by gas leaking from the defendant s pipes In that case ' the plaintiffs were permitted to offer evidence that A H and his family had been in perfect health upto the time when the gas began to escape into their house and that immediately or soon after every member of the family became seriously ill The sickness of the persons is admissible merely for the purpose of showing the nature of the gas which came into the house to the influence of which all the inmates were subjected alike Evidence that inmates of another house were held to be inadmis

gas upon those who

Per Chapman J

board the defendant s vesse scorbutic food and medicine sioned by want of anti scorbutics

Illustrative cases—Inadmissible evidence In Emerson v Lowell Gashlight Co 3 All 410 417 the question was whether the illness of the plaintiff was caused by gas leaking from the defendant s pipe Evidence was offered by the plaintiff that whenever the gas which escaped from the fracture in the defen in the occupants of another ' tendency and cause as the y no

rtain

cess

When it is asked for example whether certain factory vapours were the cause of a destruc analysis

broadest

of fact Thus, in general, the inference from an effect to the existence or operation of a cause is usually so proper as to be unquestionable, or else leads to a new [illegible] of the [illegible] nce—

Concomitant Events, as the basis of inference An event cannot be inferred from its concomitant event except or [illegible] a common cause, or unless the inference is [illegible] but of cause and effect An example of the latter [illegible] from smoke i e, it is really the inference of fire as a cause from smoke as the effect An example of the former sort is the inference of revolving wheels from the motion of the car, i e, there is really an inference, first from the motion to the motive power as a cause, and next, from the motive power to the revolution of the wheels as a common effect of the same cause In some instances, however, for practical purposes, this latter analysis may be neglected and the inference treated as a single one Wigmore § 436

Real meaning of cause or effe[illegible] above that, that which is the main [illegible] analysis to be resolved into an [illegible] proposition [illegible] al, the inference i[illegible] illustrations, to th[illegible] This inference from effects to capacity or tendency to produce those effects furnishes the general form to which all such processes are reducible For example, the question at issue may be whether the vibrations of factory-machinery have caused a conceded injury in an adjacent house The main controversy is whether the former is the cause of the latter but, in searching among the probable causes, the argument is obviously confined to those things which have a tendency or capacity to produce such effects Thus while one of the ultimate issues for the Court still remains the question whether the factory caused the injury, yet the subsidiary proposition to which the evidence has to be directed is whether the factory has such a tendency or capacity In short, when it is desired to show broadly the oc[illegible] usually resolve[illegible] something to [illegible] and, secondly that something else is evidence of such a capacity or tendency; and it is the second of these inferences which in practice raises evidential questions Wigmore § 441

Principle of probative value—General Rule There is presented, as the [illegible] effect B [illegible] the intro[illegible] ndency or [illegible] a limited and specific one, [illegible] occurred, to be followed [illegible] other circumstances might be is immaterial, the single question is whether there was such a capacity or tendency under the circumstances in hand In looking elsewhere, therefore, to evidence this specific capacity or tendency by observing the same effect elsewhere, the [illegible] the case in [illegible] anying X, [illegible] X, unless [illegible] ause other [illegible]

Thus, if the proposition is that X factory's vibrations have a tendency to injure an adjacent building B, the falling of timbers in other adjacent houses B, and B might not evidence such a tendency if B were an old house and B″ were a wooden house, while B was a new brick house, the case B′ would at most indicate a tendency in X to injure an old house, not a new house B; and the case B would at most indicate a tendency in X to injure a wooden house, not a brick house B The general logical requirement is, then, that when a thing's capacity or tendency to produce an effect of a given sort is to be evidenced by instances

a ten S.
puty
in its
90, Ashburner J in excluding such evidence observed ' This class of testimony was incompetent because calculated to surprise and take undue advantage of defendant at the trial Ordinarily he could not be prepared to meet and contest the merits of each particular case of loss from unknown cause introduced To deprive him of this privilege would be the denial of the legal right, and to admit them would overwhelm the case with collateral issues of fact and distract judicial investigation,' solution of the line of exclus
m v. Westmor

Classification of such facts The arrangement of the various precedents is a matter of much difficulty, but having regard to the kind of fact offered in illness produced by a poisonous substance, injury caused by a defect in a highway etc), and (3) psychological or moral effects, i e effects on human conduct (e g efforts to escape danger, time required for work, cautions taken out of a dangerous place etc) Greenl Ev § 14v; Wigmore § 450

Material effects Under this head may be noted the use of similar instances as evidence of the character of a place, building factory, alleged to be a nuisance, in particular a railroad, of the injurious effect of water by flowage, etc, of the injurious qualities of gases on trees, paint, etc, of the tendency of the machines to operate defectively or otherwise, as shown by the other instances of the action of the same machine or of a similar machine; and of sundry other things Greenleaf Ev § 14v.

Illustrative cases—admissible evidence In Tenant v Hamilton, 5 Cl & F. 122, the question was whether A's land was injured by noxious discharge from B' works Lord Cottenham admitted evidence on both sides as to the condition of land similarly circumstanced to those of the party complaining "for ascertaining what the effect was of the smoke and vapour emitted by this manufactory" See also R v Neville, 1 Pea N P C 91, R v Fairie, 8 E & B 480 486, 488

In Border v Saillard, 2 Ch D 692, which was an action to restrain a noise nuisance

mately be ascertained, ve case Lord Selborne admissible, when such ition as to the matter in

Atl 997, the question was whether a factory caused nuisance In that case effect of defendant's business lmitting evi

s observed complained ighbourhood ted, it would also Bradley

7. In Doybe v R. Co, 128 N Y 488, the question was whether damage was caused to plaintiff's building by the operation of an elevated railroad Evidence of the effect upon premises similary situated and not too distant was received The Court in receiving the evidence observed "The Court may undoubtedly in such cases, in the exercise of its discretion, limit the number of witnesses to be called, and may confine the examination of the witnesses to premises in the vicinity, giving a reasonable range"

The tendency or quality of tools, weapons, vehicles, acids, and other materials can be proved by their effects upon similar substances under similar, conditions R v Heseltine, 12 Cox Cr C 404

The question being whether A's premises were ignited by sparks escaping from a railway engine,—proof (1) that the same engine, and other engines of similar construction belonging to the same company, have previously caused fires along the same line is admissible Aldridge v G W Ry, 3 M & Gr 5?2, Piggot v E C Ry, 3 C B 229, Phip Ev 133 In Piggot v E C Ry, Co 3 C B 229, Maule J in admitting the evidence observed "The evidence objected to was that other engines used on the defendant's line, of the same description as that which was said to have caused the injury here had on various other occasions been seen to throw particles of ignited matter to a distance from the line as great or greater than the spot in question The matter in issue was whether or not the plaintiff's property had been destroyed by fire proceeding from the defendant's engine, and involved in that issue, was the question whether or not the fire could have been so caused The evidence was offered for the purpose of showing that it could, and for that purpose it was clearly material and admissible"

Illustrative cases—Inadmissible evidence The question being whether an obstruction to a harbour was caused by the erection of a sea wall in its vicinity evidence that similar obstructions occurred at some other harbours on the same coast which were in the vicinity of the sea walls, was held inadmissible, as an attempt litem lite resolvers Phip Ev 133 But in Folkes v Chadd, 3 Doug 857 Lord Mansfield, C J admitted evidence of the state of other harbours along the same coast where no embankment existed, to show that no such change had occurred as at the harbour in question where an embankment existed

In Attorney General v Nottingham Corporation (1904) 1 Ch 673, where the question also was whether small pox hospital was a nuisance, experience of other similar hospitals as to the risk of infection, was admitted by consent following Hill v Metropolitan Asylum (Supra) But Farwell J, in writing the opinion observed "As I understand that this case is likely to go to the House of Lords, I desire to add an observation as to the evidence in the hope of obtaining some direction from a superior tribunal Both parties concurred in asking to accept evidence in chief of what had happened with other hospitals and I acceded to the request in deference to the opinion expressed in Hill v Metropolitan Asylum District, and also because the same evidence of the same cases (with the same result) appears to have been admitted in the other reported cases relating to small pox hospitals The result is that the case has taken a week to try, and I venture to suggest that the admission of such evidence in chief is wrong in principle, as raising a number of side-issues on which it is impossible for the Court to adjudicate without injury to absent parties e g how can I rely on the case without injustice to them?"

In Hukes v General Electricit F L & P Co, 107 Ky 485, which was also a case of nuisance of smoke etc, effects of smoke in other dwellings were excluded

In Lacolse v Mfg Co 9 All Mass 181 which was a case of destroying meadow crops by poisoning of a stream by copper acids, the evidence of similar effects produced upon other meadows along the river, was excluded for reasons of confusion of issues and of the slight probative value So also where the question was whether the removal of certain stones from a river had caused the latter to wash away the plaintiff's land, evidence that the removal of stones from another part of the river had the same effect was rejected as tending to mislead the jury, no satisfactory proof being given that the conditions of the two occurrences were the same Hawkes v Charlement, 110 Mass 110, Comm v Piper, 120 Mass 115 cited in Phip Ev 3rd Ed 133

In Clark v Water Power Company, 52 Me 75, which ... caused to plaintiff's mills for diverting a str... evidence of injuries to other mill-owners was reje...

were no elements of comparison offered which could afford any safe or reliable data for the judgment of the jury."

Under this head may be noted experiment) of the tendency of

of issues as explained above have been thought to have an especial bearing here The other instances of the injuries thus offered in evidence may concern defects in high way, or defects in railroad tracks, machines, premises, and the like Greenl Ev § 14v

Illustrative cases—Admissible evidence In Spencer Cowper's Trial, 13 How St Tr 1162, which was a case for murder, the body of the deceased was found in the river; the question was whether she had committed suicide or had been killed and thrown into the water The prosecution advanced the proposi t

The fact that two other persons had acquired the itch at the defendant's shop, was held admissible, as showing the unclean condition of the razors etc In Crofter v R Co L R 1 C P 300, which was an action for injury on a defective staircase, evidence from defendant was admitted without question that about 43 000 persons had passed over it without injury during the previous year, in which alone it had been used In District of Columbia v Armes, 107 U S 519, 524, which was an action for damage caused by a fall on a defective side walk, evidence was admitted to show that other persons had fallen at the same place

, 24 Or, 295 l found on In Schlaff ridge were milar falls at the same place about the same time, e g a month before or after was admitted; but evidence of falls at other times or at times unspecified was excluded

Effects on Human conduct—Instances of mental and moral effects, as evidence The tendency or nature of a material object may often be ascertainable by [illegible] seems proper to place here a number of [illegible] not usual to perceive such a process of [illegible] ns at once to embrace the various kin[illegible] which their admission depends It [illegible] the con[illegible] sertions whistle, a pile of stones, a flag, a rail road car etc,—as evidence of its tendency to cause fright in horses Closely analogous to this is the use, on an issue whether a person s fright and jumping from a train, etc, was natural of the alarmed conduct of other persons in the same situation On the same general principle—i e the use of mental impressions as indicating the nature of a material object—the impressions of other persons (usually obtained by experiment) as to whether a thing co[illegible]

or custom under t[illegible] of evidence is cons[illegible] propriety in litigat[illegible] of others merely[illegible] standard or test of liability or excuse Greenl Ev 14v

Illustrative cases—Admissible evidence In Brown v R Co 22 Q B D 391 the question was whether a heap of refuse and earth in a highway, has the dangerous tendency to frighten horses To prove its tendency to frighten horses the fact was received of the shying of various other horses than the plaintiff s in passing the heap The[illegible] ing to B the fact that[illegible] mountain on a Saturd[illegible] the same mountain in[illegible] 198=1 I L R 153, I[illegible]

Illustrative cases—inadmissible evidence In Walkie v Chehalis Co L & I Co 55 Wash 324 one instance of another horse being frightened at fresh meat, was excluded In Bloor v Town of Delafield 56 Wis 223 the evidence that numerous other horses [illegible] excluded The question being [illegible] ngers — evidence that (1) it b[illegible] April 10 1897) or (2) had [illegible] 896, 2 Q B 109) is irrelevant Phip Ev 3rd 132

State of things under which they happened Often the physical conditions under which the main fact happened or any other matter intimately connected therewith must be placed before the jury in order to make the incident intelligible to them Under such circumstances such facts may be relevant Vide R v Bond, (1909) 2 K B 309, Phip Ev 6th Ed 57

Opportunity Proof of opportunity possessed by the accused to commit the crime may raise an inference that he is the criminal Lawson Pre Ev P [illegible] When an act is done, and a particul[illegible] it is obvious that his physical presence [illegible] one step on the way to the belie[illegible]

[illegible] not too [illegible] xclusive [illegible] the very [illegible] person [illegible] persons [illegible] a number who re in a [illegible] ty alone, and not exclusive [illegible] Wigmore § 131, see also [illegible] indicted for poisoning B [illegible] and had opportunities for [illegible] Jones Ev 350 It is [illegible] ling his money The fact [illegible] showing an opportunity

In Reg v Graham [illegible] [illegible] ther the person [illegible] administer [illegible]

he had not the poison, the having the opportunity becomes unimportant ' So without opportunity of committing the imputed act, neither existence of motives nor the manifestation of criminal intention by threats or otherwise, followed even by preparations for its commission, can be of any weight Wills Cir Ev p 52 The opportunity is in fact the 'state of things" under which an occurence took place Without an opportunity no deed can be perpetrated Hence opportunity must be [illegible] [illegible] Cir Ev 10 On the indictm [illegible] tracts, it may be shown that the accus [illegible] the offence was committed by evidence that he placed other obstructions or the rails at about the same time State v Wentworth, 37 N. H 196 So, too, on the trial of a homicide case, where the accused claims that he was not in the vicinity of the place where the crime was committed at the time of its commission, the Government may show his presence shortly before the homicide near the scene of the crime, though when seen by some of the witnesses he was committing another offence People v Jennings, 252 Ill 531; Chamberlayne's Ev § 3259

Opportunity—Explanation The accused may explain away his presence by any fact of his behaviour consistent with his presence other than doing the act alleged, e g he may have been a mere spectator, he may have come [illegible]

Explaining away; equal opportunity for others If a person is shown to have been in a building, at the time when a murder was committed he immediately [illegible] the de[illegible] that the [illegible] doing [illegible] possible with that charged against him Such is the principle of explaining away opportunity Wigmore § 132. When it is proved that another person had a better opportunity than even the accused, the presumption is further weakened Lawson's Pre Ev 587

[illegible] In the morning the wife is [illegible] was not guilty See also [illegible]

Exclusive opportunity Exclusive opportunity proves conclusively that the deed was committed by the person having such an opportunity People v Van Horn, 119 Cal 323=51 Pac 538, Miller v People, 39 Ill 566 But it is not always safe to convict a person solely relying on exclusive opportunity of committing the crime in question The statement will be fully illustrated by the following two cases: (1) A female servant was charged with having murdered her mistress No persons were in the house but the deceased and the prisoner, and t[illegible] secured as usual The prisoner was co[illegible] presumption that no one else could [illegible] by means of a [illegible] house to an [illegible]ng committed the murder, they retreated the same way, leaving no traces behind them Starkie Ev 4th Ed 865 cited in Best § 453

(2) One Sunday morning when the whole of a household except T, a female servant, was absent at Church, the house was robbed and a small cabinet containing jewels and gold coin to a very large amount taken and carried away T maintained that no one had entered or gone out of the house during the time of the family's absence T was convicted of the robbery Many years after as T, having served out her sentence, was going through the market, a butcher tapped her on the shoulder and said in a half whisper and ironical tone of voice "Ah!

he had made that was arrested He having forgotten to take some minced veal home on Saturday evening, as he should have done, he carried it in a large basket on Sunday morning The family had gone to Church, T was upstairs, and settin out and to shut the door off his shoes crept softly
T presently came up to change her clothes, and unconscious that any human being was near her being entirely undressed and contemplating her naked figure uttered the exclamation above, which being plainly over heard by the butcher he immediately went through the house and took what he wanted, escaping by the back door before T was through her toilet Taantje's Case, Phil, Cvc Ev, XXXVIII cited in Lawsons Pre Ev, p 588

Alibi The theory of an alibi is that the fact of presence elsewhere is essentially inconsistent w fore with personal parti is universally perceived among these defences" sa the Government show, I present at the place where his act was done and at the time when he is said to have done it The defendant may properly attempt to show that he was some where else at the time,—not for the purpose, primarily, of establishing that he was at the special place at that particular time but with the object of throwing doubt upon the truth of the Government's conten been in order to have committed the offence the nature of an argumentative traverse which the defendent has assumed the bur jurisdictions, the correct rule is adopted,—that it is a necessary part of the Government's case to show, when disputed that the defendant was present at the scene of the doing

ary element of its jury as to whether crime at the time when he must have been there in order to have committed it he is entitled to an acquittal

"Other Courts confusing the burden of proof with the burden of evidence treat alibi as if it were an affirmative defence in a civil action on which he has the burden of proof and require that, in order that the defence should succeed the defendant should establish affirmatively by a fair preponderance of the evidence, the fact that it was impossible for him to have reached the scene of the crime at the time when it must have been committed Naturally, in any case, to the weakness of the mere crime home to the accused'

ing from 128 Ind

s relevant as giving ) of facts constitut
Cunningham Ev

Motive preparation and previous or subsequent conduct

8 Any fact is relevant which shows or constitutes a motive or preparation for any fact in issue or relevant fact

The conduct of any party, or of any agent to any party, to any suit or proceeding, in reference to such suit or proceeding, or in reference to any fact in issue therein or relevant thereto and the conduct of any person an offence against whom is the subject of any proceeding, is relevant, if such conduct influences or is influenced by any fact in issue or relevant fact, and whether it was previous or subsequent thereto

Explanation 1 — The word 'conduct' in this section does not include statements, unless those statements accompany and explain acts other than statements but this explanation is not to affect the relevancy of statements under any other section of this Act

Explanation 2 When the conduct of any person is relevant, any statement made to him or in his presence and hearing, which affects such conduct, is relevant

Illustrations

(a) A is tried for the murder of B
The facts that A murdered C that B knew that A had murdered C, and that B had tried to extort money from A by threatening to make his knowledge public, are relevant

(b) A sues B upon a bond for the payment of money B denies the making of the bond
The fact that, at the time when the bond was alleged to be made, B required money for a particular purpose, is relevant

(c) A is tried for the murder of B by poison
The fact that, before the death of B, A procured poison similar to that which was administered to B is relevant.

[illegible]

inte [illegible]
vil [illegible]
be [illegible]

(e) A is accused of a crime
The facts that either before or at the time of, or after the alleged crime, A provided evidence which would tend to give to the facts of the case an appearance favourable to himself, or that he destroyed or concealed evidence, or prevented the presence or procured the absence of persons who might have been witnesses or suborned persons to give false evidence respecting it, are relevant

(f) The question is whether A robbed B
The facts that, after B was robbed, C said in A's presence—"the police are coming to look for the man who robbed B," and that immediately afterwards A ran away, are relevant (g) The question is whether A owes B rupees 10,000

The f [illegible]
presence an [illegible] and that A [illegible]

(i) A is accused of a crime [illegible] he absconded, or [illegible] ured by the crime, [illegible] used in committing [illegible] it, are relevant

(j) The question is whether A was ravished

The facts that, shortly after the alleged rape, she made a complaint relating to the crime, the circumstances under which, and the terms in which, the complaint was made, are relevant

The fact that, without making a complaint, she said that she had been though it may be relevant as corroborative evident

under section 157

(k) The question is, whether A was robbed

The fact that, soon after the alleged robbery, he made a complaint relating to the offence the circumstances under which, and the terms in which the complaint was made are relevant

The fact ... is not relevant, ... declaration ... section 157

Motive—meaning of Motive is that which moves a man to do a particular act Ganga v Rex, 62 Ind Cas 515 When we infer an act from a motive, there are two distinct evidential steps We may argue, first, that since a specific emotion or passion is likely to lead to the doing of the appropriate act—for example, desire for money to theft or robbery, or angry hostility to an act of violence—the presence of such emotion in the person in question is likely to lead to the deed in question In this step of the argument we assume the emotion as a fact proved somehow or other Just as a specific sort of disposition, of habit of plan, is ... emotion or passion has ... nce is the living, impe... it motive in the sense of ... two sorts of circumst...) by events about that p... effect and expression ... about him, shows proba... t is some times termed as motive But strictly speaking that which has value to show the ... inward emotion, passion, feeling, of the ... This use of the word "motive" thus tends ... involved, for when it is said that B's suit ... "motive' for A's burning, we are apt to ... from the act (as the evidentiary fact) to ... are two steps ... act It ought ... is the ... the ... self ... what ... that ... elief ... state ... is true or false the motive remains the same ... nga v ... with ... ve ex... nan" would supply ... nalyse the statement ... ng, impelling or an ... outlet by getting rid ... e homicide, but it ... to cause the murder ... a crime does not ... 'outweighed by other... ate, by a knowledge of the existence and operation of motives in the average man, what is probable in the mental economy of an average man, but such a course of induction is a rough and ready process and liable to error in its application Men are not all of average hue or constitution, and it does not follow that because there is something shown which would lead to crime in one man, or many men, that it would necessarily lead to crime in the case under consideration Many a murder has been committed for the sake of a very few pounds and yet there are hosts of people to whom millions would not offer the slightest inducement to anything of the kind; and we must be careful not to forget that when we have found a motive which might lead to crime it by no means follows that we have found one which did lead to as well as towards the crime Wills' Cr Ev pp 56, 58

Motive -Judicial Proof of In judicial proof three aspects of the above motive analysis have greatest importance, the first two of which receive little emphasis from the psychologist (A) External stimulus; (B) Expression; (C) Opposition of Impulses

External stimulus Whether an emotion was excited at all is the first great question For this purpose, the facts constituting the supposed stimulus are offered, e g lack of money as evidencing desire to obtain it

Expression On the same question, the existence of an emotion may be evidenced by conduct or words alleged to express it Whether they do express it may become an important issue

Opposition of Impulses Assuming that the emotion is established, and that from its existence is to be inferred a consequent act, still this evidence may be explained away by the cessation or counteraction of the emotion, e g by fear or by lapse of time This is the other most frequent aspect in judicial proceedings —Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 70

Principle admitting motive as evidence The laws regulating the action of the human mind, in its more obvious manifestations, are known to the Court The common operations of the mind in men or animals are as fully within the knowledge of the jury as that of a skilled witness The orderly processes of reason- [illegible]

What motives influence [illegible] instinct for self preserv[illegible] gain something when a r[illegible] Judge's experience and the common knowledge of the community It is known that persons do not borrow property of no value It will be known that the desire for gain is so general that men do not gamble except in the hope of gaining property of some value, and do not hunt for an object which is worthless Chamberlayne's Ev § 769

Motive is relevant In Palmer's Case, 1856, Wills 931, Lord Campbell C J said "It is of great importance to see whether there was a motive for committing such a crime, or whether there was not" Lord Alverstone C J also took the same view in Bennett's Case reported in Times (1901) Feb 25, Wills 467, see also R v [illegible] 13 Cox 203 [illegible] 8 Cox 509 (510); R v Westcot, 25 T L [illegible] Clewes, 4 C & P 221, Roupel v Haws, 3 [illegible] Y 245, 254, Woodroff J said "It is always a just argument on behalf of the accused that there is no apparent motive to the perpetration of the crime Men do not act wholly without motive On the other hand proof of motive [illegible] in some degree to render the act so far [illegible] [illegible]borate evidence of [illegible]ted, it is not an [illegible] was a motive for t[illegible] [illegible]ntitled to a verdict But when the evidence is circumstantial only, and the guilt of the prisoner is only inferential and is not proved as a matter of fact by the evidence of witnesses who [illegible] the question of motive becomes of vital imp[illegible] or even made reasonably doul[illegible] [illegible]lex v Monson (Not Trial) citec[illegible] [illegible]reen, 1 Park C C 32, the jury was told "Where a murder is charged and the evidence is wholly circumstantial then it is peculiarly proper to look at the motive And in all cases you will naturally seek for the motive And where the proof is circumstantial, and there be doubt about the circumstances, then it becomes

8 important to examine into the motive If however, the evidence of murder by design be direct and positive, then the guilt is established without looking further And in all these cases a question as to the adequacy of motive almost always arises It is claimed generally that the motive was inadequate, that it is not sufficient to induce the commission of murder But all this must depend on the peculiar circumstances of the case and the peculiar character of the accused There is no motive which, to the mind of an honest man, can be adequate to the commission of a crime and just in proportion as the mind is debased and immoral, to that extent the motive may be less which induces the criminal act Hence, there can be no one rule for all cases as regards adequacy of motive it must depend on the moral character of the person accused in each case The worse it is the less the motive which will tempt to the commission of crime"

Whether motive [illegible]
Prof Wigmore that [illegible] show a possible m[illegible] 118 So a motive f[illegible] point on a trial for r[illegible] motive becomes le[illegible] rent in very many [illegible] arises at or near the time of the act Ilke v People, 1 Parl C C 80 In Pointer v U S 151 U S 39, 413 Harlan J observed "The law does not require impossibilities The law recognises that the cause of the killing is somtimes so hidden in the mind and breast of the party who killed that it cannot be [illegible] does not require the jury t[illegible] item of evidence in the cas[illegible] item of evidence going to show whether a particular party may have committed an act, and sometimes going to show the characteristics of that act It is not indispensable to conviction that the particular motive for taking the life of a human being shall be established by proof to the satisfaction of the jury The absence of evidence suggesting a motive for the commission of the crime charged is a circumstance in favour of the accused to be given such weight as the jury claims proper but [illegible] Clerk [illegible] great crime is a thr[illegible] great crime Still th[illegible] some evil passi[illegible] of half frenzy d[illegible] and intelligible incentives to crime But [illegible] prisoner's counsel there is no motive for [illegible] no more than that the motive has not been [illegible] committed there must have been a motive or incentive, and yet we may never discover what it was The motives of human action as we know from history and experience, are often inscrutable When any person committed a heinous crime, it is usual and natural, to look whether there existed any adequate motive [illegible]

Adequacy of motive In Reg v Palmer Wills Cir Ev 63, Cockle Cas [illegible] Lord Chief Justice Campbell obser[illegible] of great importance to see whether [illegible] crime, or whether there was not [illegible]

[illegible] small

Absence of proof of motive when material "Motive to commit crime, if shown may in many cases be sufficient alone, almost to induce a belief of guilt Upon the other hand where no motive for the commission of a crime can be shown it is almost impossible to convince the mind of the guilt Men do not ordinarily commit grave crimes unless there is in their minds a motive strong enough to overcome the natural repugnance against crime, and the fear of punishment which usually follows detection This view of this question is so universally recognized as being true that it has become incorporated into the law, and in almost all cases where the guilt of a defendant depends upon the facts and circumstances in proof in the case the Court instructs the jury to consider the motive or lack of motive which the proof shows may or may not exist in the mind of a defendant on trial charged with a crime" Per Dale C J in Son v Terr, 5 Okl 526; see also R v Ball, (1911) A C 17 (68); R v Ellwood, 1 Cr. App R 181; R v Abramovitch, 7 Cr App 145 (147); R v Grant, 4 F & F 322; ... 391 So in cases s of vital importance motive becomes also

oner's guilt. Queen v Sorob, 5 W. R ... Gobordhon, 9 A. 528 (568); Queen v Babar ... Sheikh Mustaffa, 1 W. R Cr 19; Fatema ... lauan v Emperor, 25 Ind Cas 634; Moyla v E ... v Reg, 31 C 686 In People v Kelser 3 Wheel Cr Cas 40, where Kelser was charged with poisoning his wife, the Court said "The motive which induces the commission of the highest offences, and especially of the crime of murder, is always required to be ascertained" In People v Hendrickson, 1 Park C C 115, where the accused was similarly charged the Court observed "The defendant was charged anything from which a jury might infer a desire to be free from the burden of one who was no longer the object of regard, was competent ... So any conduct or declaration evinc... in their character as evidence, defendant's feelings towards of ins...

...ce it is unnec... see also Hava... is not necessary to sustain a conviction for murder in a case where a person is coolly and barbarously put to death Queen v Jaichand, 7 W R Cr 60 The mere ... which ... cy can ... 905=2 ... prove the motive of the accused ... proof of motive is not in itself s... which otherwise is reliable Cro... 38=11 Cr L J 498, see also Cro... Abdul Hossain v Emperor, 9 N L... nperor v Balaram las, 49 C 358 ... ime is shown, the presumption of the innocence of the suspected person is strengthened ... ng to the ... it, and is a ... Lawson's ... he want of evidence Rannun v Emperor, 94 Ind Cas 904

Circumstances ... Johnson v State, 17 Ala 627, Parsons J said ... which a motive may be inferred, we may r... limit them in num... question of motive ... to be inferred from facts and circumstances

S. 8. any facts or circumstances which tend, even in the slightest degree, to show motive ... therefore be properly excluded unless the Court ... that no rational presumption can be drawn from it ...) 376 There is but one limitation that can be thought of as necessary and universal, namely, the circumstance said to have excited the emotion must be shown to have probably become known to the person; because otherwise it would not have affected his emotions Wigmore § 389. In Son v. Terr, 5 Okl 526 Dale C J said "A motive cannot operate to influence ... The facts upon which a motive is ... are known by the party against w... n should contemplate and undertake a great wrong against another,—such a wrong as would induce in the mind of the person against whom it was directed a motive to kill,—and yet such contemplated wrong was unknown to the party, it cannot be justly said that a motive to kill could exist, because the party wronged had no knowledge of the facts which would be necessary to create the motive" But the evidence as to the motives which led a prisoner to commit a crime, must be of the strictest kind Queen v. Zahir, 10 W R Cr 11

A motive is generally proved by showing the desire of gain, the gratification of passion, or the preservation of reputation accomplished or attempted or able to be accomplished by the perpetration of the crime charged Lawson's Presumptive Ev p 177 But strictly speaking the circumstances that may serve as motives for other deeds are innumerable In many cases several passions may lead to a desire to kill Vide Mrs Maybrick's Case, Notable Trial Series, where adulterous intrigue with another man was held to be a sufficient motive by Stephen J for getting rid of her husband So also in Pritchard's Case (Not Tr) the crown suggested that the prisoner's motive for poisoning his wife was to make way for a second marriage, see also Reg v. Stauntons (1876) Notable Trials, Crippen's Case (Not Tr) So a man who courts his neighbour's wife has a motive for desiring the death of his neighbour State v. Reed 53 Kan 767 Sometimes murder is committed in order to prevent the discovery of a former crime or of evading an arrest or ...
See also illustration (a) ... previously employed H ... relevant R v. Clewes, 4 ... and former parish, had ...
appears at R's house, dem... to his room and cuts her t...
See also R v. Richardson, Burr Cr Ev 243

"In several ways the pecuniary circumstances, of one or another person or trying may tend to show the excitement of a motive in some person It will be convenient to distinguish the situation according as the evidence deals with (1) the pecuniary conditi... condition of A as exciting ... as exciting a motive to ... dry aspects," Wigmore § ... ard with B who keeps ... ess

... the Court observed "The motive for crime is not far to seek The appellant was in very poor circumstances" But the practical result of ... on under so much unfair suspicion an... reasons of fairness this argument ... the graver ... gelow C J ... rue that in a large ... a party accused of ... The reason for the ... certain or known ... conclusion which is ... a man is destitute or defraud because he was in embarrassed circumstances, but for the purpose of showing the natural and necessary consequences of his act which the law presumes he intended .. ... If at the time of the transaction he was deeply insolvent, and was cognizant of his condition, the necessary consequence of his act was to deprive the vendor of his property without recompense or the chance of payment, and leads to the just and almost unavoidable inference that it was done with an intent to defraud" Vide Wigmore § 392, but see Tawell's Trial, Woodall's Celebrated Trials, I, 188 On the other hand the fact that a person was in possession of money tends to negative his desire to obtain money by crime or borrowing So in R v Grant, 4 F & F 322, where the indictment was for ... der to obtain the insurance, evidence of ... dmitted In that case Pollock C B said ... circumstances were such as not to raise any temptation to the act So 'where the motive is a pecuniary one, the wealth of the offender is no unimportant consideration" Peel C J in R v Hedger cited in Woodroffe 8th Ed p 112

Motive, how to be ... 1931 Mad 689=61 M L ... can be proved by direc ... Act ... me ... the ... n 8, ... vant ... itted ... =85 ... used was financially embarrassed and had attempted to cheat on other occasions In ... tion or design is of the essence of the ... e defendant did other acts similar to those ... Halsbury Vol IX p 380; see also R v ... 16 Cox 387, R v Flanagan, 1 Cox Cr 40; R v Debendra, 36 C 573; but see Emperor v Panchudas, 47 C 671=24 C W N 501.

Conduct proves motive Motive in the sense of emotion is often proved by conduct of a person In Com v Webster, 5 Cush 295 (316), Shaw C J said. "The ordinary feelings, passions, and propensities under which parties act, are facts known by observation and experience, and they are so uniform in their operation that a conclusion may be safely drawn that, if a party acts in a particular manner, he does so under the influence of a particular motive Feelings at other times Where an emotion of hostility is to be proved the existence of the same emotion at another time is clearly admissible R v Law, ...

tends to show ... doesnot render it inadmissible if it is relevant t ... A I R 1927 Sind 28, Mah ... 9 C W. N. 483 It is mat ... the purpose of gain do resort to the nefarious system of entering into a transaction unauthorisedly in the expectation of its subsequent ratification, but it is a far cry that because an agent had been shown to be guilty of shady practice once, his evidence as to the circumstances under which the contract in suit was entered into should be entirely discarded TyebaliyAbdul v Mrs James, 1924 Sind 105 = 80 Ind Cas [illegible] So also where certain persons are charged with murder it is not open to [illegible] evidence to show that on two previous occasions the [illegible] but had falsely charged [illegible] Such evidence is irrelevant because the [illegible] en committed by the accused does not constitute under section 8 of [illegible] Act, a motive or preparation for the subsequent murder Gangaram v Imperator, 62 Ind Cas 745 = 22 Cr L J 629 see also Emperor v Gangaram 22 Bom L R 1271

Preparation Preparations on the part of the accused to accomplish the crime charged or to prevent its discovery, or to aid his escape, or to avert suspicion from himself are likewise relevant on the question of his guilt Lawson's Presumptive Evidence p 590 For preparation as a part of a design or system, vide notes under s 15, under the head "Theory of evidencing Design or System" Premeditated crime" says Sir Alfred Wills "must necessarily be preceded not only by impelling motives, but by appropriate preparations Possession of the instruments or means of crime, under circumstances of suspicion—as of poison, coining instruments combustible matters, picklocks, house breaking instruments dark lanterns, [illegible] criminal or suspicious weapons, materials or instruments, [illegible] on—are important facts in the judicial [illegible] had in his possession a large quantity of counter[illegible] for, and there was no evidence that he was the marker, it was held to raise a presumption that he had procured it with intent to alter it Rex v Fuller, R & R 308 But the personal character for probity and the civil station of the party, are highly material in connection with facts of this kind A medical man for instance, in the ordinary course of his profession, has legitimate occasion for the possession of poisons a lock smith for the use of picklocks. Facts of the kind referred to become more powerful indication of guilty purpose if false reasons are assigned to account for them as in the case of possessing poison that it was procured to destroy vermin, which is the excuse commonly resorted to in such cases" Wills' Cir Ev pp 79 80

Pre[illegible] to accomplish the crime charged or other act Evidence tending [illegible] preparation to commit the crime is always admissib[illegible] only evidences a design [illegible] The presence [illegible] or not to do a given act has [illegible] fact was done or not done. A plan is not [illegible] The existence [illegible] rence to the act planned There is [illegible] of such evidence Wigmore § 102 The bare possession of the [illegible] ne, or mere acts of preparation are not in general of great weight without more conclusive evidence, because the intended guilt may not have been consummated; and until that takes place there is the locus pœnitentiæ Wills' Cir Ev p 80

In State v Adams, 20 Kan 320 which was a case for burglary, the four accused held a meeting to arrange for the crime a bar of iron and a pair of pincers were alone necessary, and these the accused brought, the facts were admitted of the accused having taken a carpenter's brace from a store and hidden it; a third person removed it, and the defendant never used it Brewer J observed "Would not the act be one tending to show preparation,—a prepar[illegible] fruitless by the unexpected act of another? Could it not be shown [illegible] homicide immediately prior thereto was providing [illegible] ? .... If one weapon [illegible] out in order Would [illegible] the others was admis[illegible] be shown unless the [illegible] were made indisputably [illegible] It is enough that the [illegible] crime, and then the motive

The fact of possession of a number of false coins, wrapped in separate papers, etc, was admitted to show a plan to utter them R v Jarvis, 7 Cox Cr 53 A is accused of the murder of B by poison, C of the murder of D by shooting, E of committing a burglary, F of arson, G of counterfeiting The fact that A had previously purchased some poison; that C had bought borrowed or stolen a gun or pistol that E had procured an axe a picklock or a dark lantern, that F had procured a quantity of turpentine, that G had made an instrument to manufacture coin are relevant and raise an inference of fact of guilt in each case Lawson Pre Ev § 106, see also R v Hill 20 How St Tr 1317; People ... murder of A by stabbing him ... cutter telling him that he ... wished to use it as a craving ... is accused of the murder of W by shooting him with a pistol The fact that I, a few days prior, had procured a pistol and had spent sometime practising at a mark, is relevant R v Talbot 18 How St Tr 1261 S was indicted for murdering R by shooting The fact that a day or two previous S had borrowed a gun from a friend stating that he wanted it to kill deer with, is relevant Strangeway's Case 5 Leg Obs 91

Preparation to prevent discovery of crime An innkeeper and his wife are accused of a murder of a guest It is shown that on the night the murder was committed they sent the maid servant out of the house and when she returned made her sleep in another part of the building This is relevant Drayne's Case 5 Leg Obs 123, Ferris's Case, 19 How St Tr 904

Preparation to aid his escape A was charged with the murder of T The fact that the day before the murder A had drawn a quantity of money from a bank in which he had it on deposit, is relevant as raising an inference that he was preparing to escape if necessary from the country Adam's Case, 11 Leg Obs 415

Preparation to avert suspicion from himself B and P lived in the same house and the former while sitting one eveing in his parlour was shot by a pistol in an unseen har... home a loaded gun ...
family when a. home, ... claimed at the time ...
by him This fact is r...
Pre Ev p 591 A ...

... St Tr 1122
... he deceased
... the prophecy
... the prosecu
... to the world

Apparitions noises voices music, reported to be heard from time to time in the deceased's house, even his days are numbered out, and his own child limits the space of his life but till the following month of October What could be the meaning of this but to prepare the world for a death that was pre determined? who would limit the days of a man's life but a person that knew what was intended to be done towards the shortening of it?

... inference of
... execu
... xecution

of which the preparations were ma le may h ive been subse juently fru trated or voluntarily abandone l Lawso i Pre Ev § 106 A is indicted for murdering B by poi oning him It appears that shortly before A purchased a quantity of poison This raises an inference of guilt . . . rchased the poison for no other rea on than to kill ve e of guilt Best E § 456 A is accused of th A sometime previous ha l spread a rumour that on account of ill ne . . . d not be likely to live long It turns out that A was really speaking the convic tion of his own mind This destroys any inference of guilt Best Ev § 45o, Wills Ev 81, Reg v Delaney, 20 C C C Sc s Pap 411 (1844), Reg v Hartley Times August 18th, 1864 cited in Wills Ev 81 A is found killed by a bullet from a gun It is proved that B a neighbour ha l purchase l a gun the day . . . The facts . . . en the . . . pares . . . ie and . . . n the Conduct of any party The second paragraph of this section makes relevant the conduct of any person who is a party to a suit or proceed ing in reference to such suit or proceeding or in reference to any fact in issue therein or relevant thereto The conduct of a party interested in any proceeding at the time when the facts occurred, out of which the proceeding arises, is extremely relevant Per Petheram C J in Queen Empress v Abdullah 7 A 385 (F B) at p 391, see al o Balamukund v Ghansham, 22 C 391 401, 406 R v Ishri, 29 A 46 R v Heramun, 3 W R Cr 5, R v Mahk 37 A 395 Dalip Singh v Nawal Kanwar 30 A 258 (P C), Fa uruddin v King Emperor 42 C L J 111 = 90 Ind Cas 433 The word 'party includes not only the plaintiff and the defendant in a civil suit, but parties in a criminal prosecution, as for instance, a prisoner charged with murder This section provides that the term is to include any one against whom an offence is the . . . was . . . al . . . od . . . aid . . . nt . . . as . . . is . . . n . . . is . . . le . . . ly . . . m . . . ie . . . ct . . . v . . . t . . . ly . . . ct . . . ct of a party is relevant Anyiruddin v Emperor 53 C 372 A person's . . . consis . . . and the latter . . . tion, . . . porin . . . but se . . . (Eng) . . . m tances E . . . nwar of at = 3 . . . B)— a deaf mute at the place where a dead body was found during the police . . . y, and subsequently in Court are not admissible against the accused as conduct under s 8 of the Evidence Act Samaulin v King Emperor, 5 O C 216 But the signs made by the deceased, being the conduct of a person, an offence against whom is the subject of a proceeding are relevant under s 8 of the Evidence Act Queen v Abdullah 7 A 385 (F B) = A W N 1885, 78

Conduct, meaning of Conduct is the expression in outward behaviours, of the quality or condition operating to produce those effects These results are the traces by which we may infer the moving cause In point of time, conduct is closely associated with the internal condition giving rise to it; nevertheless the indication is strictly not a concomitant, but a retrospectant one, because the argument is backwards from effect (conduct) to cause (internal condition) Wigmore § 190

Criminality of conduct, if material if it is otherwise relevant On principle the criminality of conduct is immaterial if it is otherwise relevant In Blake v Ins Soc 11 Cox Cr 251 Lord Coleridge C J said "In any but an English Court and to any but an English lawyer, the controversy whether this evidence is admissible or not, would seem, I imagine supremely ridiculous; because . plaintiff's claim The obj be ascribed to the inherent ng character and conduct as showing other things If there is any other material or evidential proposition, for which it is relevant, and if it is offered for that purpose, it is receivable and its quality as misconduct or crime does not stand in the way R v Wyley, 2 Leach, 4th Ed 985 986, R v Moore, 2 C & P 235, R v Rooney 7 C & P 517, R v Tissington 1 Cox Cr C 12 R v Dossett, 3 C & K 306, 2 Cox Cr 243 R v Bealsdale, 2 Cr & K 765, R v Gearing 18 L J M C 215, R v Weeks, Leigh & C 18, 21 R v Rearden, 4 F & E 79, Blake v Assur Co, L R C P D 94, 102 In R v Richardson, 2 F & F 346, Williams J said 'There is no principle of law which prevents that being put in evidence which might otherwise be so merely because it discloses other indictable offence Evidence which is admissible for such other felor
520, 541, s
antecedents as for the purpose of showing that he had opportunities of committing the offence, or that in a particular instance his act could not have been accidental But these cases only establish the principle that a relevant fact [illegible] hereby rendered inadmis-

Walkers Case 1 Leigh should exclude them, more than other facts apparently innocent Thus if a [illegible]

murder just before the act was committed is undoubtedly admissible although it has the tendency to prove the prisoner guilty of a larceny Such circumstances constitute a part of the transaction and whether they are perfectly innocent themselves, or involve guilt makes no difference as to their bearing on the main question which they are adduced to prove But if the circumstances have no intimate connection with the main fact if they constitute no link in the chain of evidence then, supposing them innoc may be no ed with great

A C 57 = 63
undoubtedly

8 not competent for th pro ecution to a lluc evi lence t nding to show that the accused has b en guilty of criminal acts other than those covere l by ind ctm t n likely wh ch
a l luced

tends to show the commission of other crim s does not render it in idmissibl f it l e relevant to an issu b for the jury " So evi lence of conduct or char cter is a lmissible if otherwi e relevant I mperor v Ste art 21 S L R 5 = A I R 1927 Sind 2 , see also Heera Gujer v I mperor, 21 Bom L R 724=5 Inl C is 601

Antecedent conduct Und r this hea l come motives to commit the offenc ing it pr par itions for the commi on of, clarations of intention and threat t (l) and (e) are in tances of antece lent con uct "In tri ls for mur ler enmity ag in t the dead man and previous con duct are accept l as evi l nce Per Lor l Atkin on in Director of Public Pros tion v Ball 80 L J K B 691 at p 692 = (1911) A C 47

Previous attempts to commit it Pr vious attempts to commit an offence are losely allied to preparations for the commission of it, and only differ in being carrie l one step further an l ne irer to the criminal act of which ho ever like the former they fall short Best § Benth Jud Ev 69 So a former attempt by the accus d to perpetr ite the same crime in the same or in a diff rent manner is relev int on the question of his guilt of the latter crime La son Pre Ev 589 A i in licte l for poisoning his wife by giving her laudanum The fact that A ha l on a former occasion given her lau lanum which made l er s ck is relevant Johnson v State 17 Ala 69 In that case the Court ol serve l If his former attempt to poison his wife ha l been proved by a witness on the tr al the question of the admissibility of the

or on head

a domestic circle but in doing so if he would be very material In such a case r ttempt to poi on the patient mi ht not ct felony for the purpose of showing h guilty knowledge in the last instance A is charged with setting fire to his house in order A had previously s t fire to his hous s relevant Reg v Gray 4 F & F and The fact that Z had previous ant R v Gearing 18 L J (M C also R v Donnall 2 C & K that V, at is charged ous day th Dorgelt 2 C & K 306

Proof & R 53 D on a pre ant R v al or tortious r 919 The sion and the St Tr 1371 the accused, ow at sev ral d he would int [These on that of qulification [i e circumstance] that the saying that a son would cut a father's throat is but a remote circumstance it is replied that the law and lawyers do were to that it id it is

S. 8

. . . is not by an s the r, and ne that

that he hated his father these six or seven years This is relevant R. v. Mandsfield, 11 How St Tr 1397. A woman and her paramour were accused of murdering her h[illegible] unhap[illegible] wishe[illegible]
accuse[illegible]
of J [illegible]
St Tr 841 J. is indicted for the murder of W The fact that J sometime previous said that he intended to "lay for W if he froze next Saturday night" is relevant Jim v State, Humph 116, Republican v. Rob, 1 Dall 145 H is charged with the murder of M He has been heard to say of M "If he don't do as he has agreed I will kill him" [illegible] People v. Hon 2 Wheel, Cr Cas [illegible] of her husband, she had previous [illegible] If she had a dose she would give it to him This is relevant R. v. Ogilvie 13 How St Trial 1273 S was found dead in a well It is proved that some time previous T had said that he would put S "in the well for two coppers' This is relevant on the Trial of T for the murder of S Mrs Spooner's Case 2 Chand Cr Tr 14 R is indicted for murder of S Before the murder R was heard to say of S "I will kick hell out of her I will break her damned neck' This is relevant State v. Reed, 62 M C 130 In this last mentioned case the Court observed . "Threats are significant Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh, Threats unexecuted amount to nothing, but when the thing, threatened is done, and is done as it was threatened, then the fact of the threat becomes an article of circumstantial evidence tending to inculpate the person threatening 'I will break her damned neck The dislocated neck of the victim of wrath and violence, her beaten and bruised body, show that what was threatened, was done The [illegible] is ats
as
the he threats indicate an inten[illegible] a probability that he has [illegible] clusive, but it may be [illegible] determining the question of guilt [illegible] In R. v. Hagan, 12 Cox Cr 357, which was a case for murder of a child brought up in the family of the accused the following statement of the accused about a fortnight before, "the child is no good, he is eating the other children's food" was admitted

Time of threats In Redd v State, 68 Ala 492 (496) Brickell C J said "The length of time elapsing between the making of the threat and the criminal act, when the crime is to be proved only by circumstantial evidence, is of importance [illegible] If a long period intervenes, injury and there it would be a slight here would be more
ughtless utterance, ngth of time would [illegible] So the probative force of th[illegible] during the whole [illegible] continued to exist; [illegible] that may have be[illegible]
Wigmore § 108

8. Plans and Intentions as to wills, contracts, Deeds Where the is is whether a will was executed, or whether a will was revoked or whether a will was made in a certain tenor or provision (as where an alteration is at issue) the plan or design or prior intention of the testator is relevant to show the doing or not doing of this alleged act, as any other act The argument is, " because he planned to make a will or planned to revoke a will, or planned to will property ... ...ried out his plan The relevancy of such a plan ... In Doe Palmer ... not in the handwriting of ...
received of previous declarations by him that he intended to dispose of the property in the manner in which it is disposed of by the will in the altered form. If the draft of the will could be produced, corresponding with the will in its altered for... ...ury infer from it th... ...been compared and ... ...ions from the testator ... ...ly admissible? In what respect do such verbal instructions differ, for this purpose from a contemporaneous declaration by the testator to another person that he had determined in his will to dispose of his property in the manner carried into effect by the will as altered? It would not be creditable to the law if such evidence were to be excluded as a legal inference might be fairly drawn from it respecting priority of two events that is to say, the making of the alteration and the execution of the will, and I am not aware of any principle, rule of law, decided case, or dictum against ... They demonstrate that the alteration ... ...eonards, L R 1 P D 154, Mellish L ... as to what he intended to put in his ... prior to the execution of his will are obviously evidence which corroborate the other testimony as to what is contained in the will because it is more probable that the testator has, than that he has not made a particular devise or a particular bequest when he has told a person previously ... it shows that he had in his mind to m... declaration See also Keen v Keen L R ... P D 60 (64); Gould v Lakes, L. R 6 P D 1

Contemporaneous Conduct This would include the pleadings of parties their behaviour as such, and their demeanour as witness Donough Cr Tr p 32

Illustrative Cases The fact that the accused pointed out the place where the weapon (with which the ... the place at which it was concealed ... was in a very agitated state and ... to show the spot where the weapon used in the commission of the murder was concealed are evidence of conduct under this section which renders highly probable the oral evidence in the case ... was the murderer ... Emperor ... 402. But ... dents nar... Singh v Emperor, ... of an acco... deposition ...

... accompanying st... 21 Bom L R 721= ... lence against a person ... is open to doubt his ... to be such evidence of ... against him in the ... L J 167

Falsehood, fraud, fabrication and suppression of Evidence, etc It has always been understood—the inference, indeed, is one of the simplest in human experience—that a party's falsehood or other fraud in the perpetration and presentation of his cause, his fabrication or suppression of evidence by bribery or spoliation, and all similar conduct, is receivable against him as an indication of his consciousness that his case is a weak or unfounded one, and from that consciousness may be inferred the fact it merit Wigmore § 278; vide illustration (e);

S.

Palmer, Cockle Cr Ev 58. In the last case to the jury said "Then gentlemen it is attention to the conduct of the prisoner at the bar, and there are some instances of his conduct of which you will say whether they belong to what might be expected from an innocent or a guilty man He was eager to have the body fastened is certainly was being conveyed, to be analysed be obtained of his guilt Again, and procuring from the postmaster the opening of a letter from Dr Taylor, who had been examining the contents of a jar, to Mr Gardiner, the attorney employed on the part of Mr Stevens And then, gentlemen, you have tampering with the coroner, and trying to induce him to procure a verdict from the coroner's jury which would amount to an acquittal.' So a party who gives or produces false evidence may by so doing give rise to a general presumption against the truth of the case Girish Chunder v Issur Chandra, 3 B L R A C J 341, see also Step Dig Ev Art illus (c), Annesley v Earl of Anglesea, 17 How St Tr 1217

In Moriarty v R Co, L R 5 Q B 319, Cockburn C J said "The conduct of a party to the cause may be of the highest importance in determining whether the cause of action in which he is plaintiff, or the ground of defence if he is defendant, is honest and just,—just as it is evidence against a prisoner that he has said one thing at falsehoods leads fa

an inference can issue So, if you c

and his endeavoured to have recourse to perjury, it is strong evidence that he not say that it is with the intimation

he shall be able to succeed by righteous means, has recourse to means of a different character, that that which he desires, namely, the gaining of the victory, is not his due, or that he has not good ground for believing that justice entitles him to it but it is always evidence In R v Castro (Tichborne Case) Cockburn C J in his charge to the jury said "These falsehoods [of the defendant], however, must not operate unduly to the prejudice of the defendant beyond this, that falsehood is a badge of fraud; and a case which is sought to be supported by means of deception may 'prima facie', until the contrary be shown, be taken to be a bad and dishonest case, and further, the recourse to fraud and falsehood necessarily engenders distrust" Similarly Phillimore J in R v Watt 20 Cox Cr 852

that the

L R 4 Ch D 637, 645 In the last mentioned case which he can

he was

of evidence

raises

Tr. 1

the b

8 R v Donnall, Wills' Cir Ev 188 A is accused of shooting B with a pistol A pistol is found beside B in such a position that it would appear that it is a case of suicide But it is proved that it is A's pistol and that A placed it there This raises a presumption of A's guilt R. v. Green, 7 How St Tr. 159 spoli

tion thir p r t must be ied in oid e In

if a witness has been suborned by B, a clerk in the defendant's bank, it is idle to argue that such a clerk has no implied authority to tamper with witness, and the question, whether the offer of ness, by one employed as an agent to procure evidence is admissible, said "This is a lawful employment necessary in many cases, and being a lawful employment, it is to be presumed, until the contrary be shown that the employer means and intends that his agent shall execute it by lawful means. The prosecutor may, up to the very moment when the proof is offered, be wholly ignorant of the wicked act of his agent, it informed of it, he may have rejected it with the proferred testimony and withholden th be absent from the trial, which frequently happens it may be impossible to prove his ignorance in the one case or the propriety of his conduct in the other [Nevertheless] I am by no means prepared to say that in no case and under no circumstances appearing at a trial i might not be fit and proper for a Judge to allow proof of this nature to be submitted

Subsequent conduct Subsequent conduct of a party or his agent is relevant To this class belong sudden change of life or circumstances, silence when accused false or evasive statements made by the accused, suppression or eloignment of evidence, forgery of exculpatory evidence, evasion of justice, by flight or other wise, tampering with officers of justice, and fear, indicated either by passive 2, Vide illustrations (e) and (i) a previous occasion wa, the nts can be referred to Ganesh

Demeanour when charged, of accused One of the common and established duct ich
is ske f a ime, or who may vidence against it, nor can their be, and often on
In ts sness at such a moment, are show the prisoner's guilty w his crime itself. Doubtless received flight ause it is ence

of crime, l flight, a t necessary flight was it is certai

which consists of outward signs onscious guilt" So far from it, any indications of it, arising from the conduct, demeanour, or expressions of the party, are legal evidence against him The law can never limit the number or kind of such indications ' In Moore v State, 2 Oh St 592, Caldwell J said: "From our knowledge of the human mind and its workings, we expect, with almost positive certainty, that when it is the sole repository of so dreadful a secret it will affect the conduct and sayings of the person; hence the mind naturally looks to these with the most anxious scrutiny, and would require for its satisfaction, if such a thing were possible, a complete transcript of the person's conduct and sayings Sometimes a person is detected as the author of the crime by showing an unusual anxiety to discover the perpetrator, at other times the discovery is led by the person showing too much indifference In some instances the observation that the person appears to know too much about the transaction leads to the discovery, at other times the inquiry is started by his appearing to know too little These are generally acts that in themselves show no disposition to do mischief, but it is because they are unnatural, because they tend mind conscious of guilt that they a in themselves nothing, except as sl

So the conduct or demeanour

Cox.
ble to

Demeanour during trial The demeanour of an accused person in Court during trial is too elusive to be justifiably considered as any indication whatever y v People, 140 Ill 50 But the accused's the witness stand and during the trial Rider

Flight etc Flight from justice, and its analogous conduct, have always been deemed indicative of a consciousness of guilt R v Sorab Roy, 5 W R Cr 28, R v Gobordhan, 9 A 528 (568); Gangaram v Emperor, 62 Ind Cas 545 The wicked flee, even when no man pursueth, but the righteous are bold as a lion Wigmore § 276, Best Ev § 460 In primitive times, the accused who fled, whether he be found facinus qui jud law will not a

are admis-
Wigmore § 109 b. In prosecution isoner has at he has nded, that nsciousness of a very great party, very iversally Johnson
e period
Under
imstance probably s shown charged with an off n c diff rent from that for which he was being tried, no effect should be given to his running away Rakh il v Queen Empress 2 C W N 81 In R v Donnall, 8 R Rep (1817) p 175 Abbot J said "A person however conscious of innocence might not have courage to stand a trial, but might although innocent think it nece ary to consult his safety by flight But see the case of Deacon Broke Not Tr, R v Crifien, Donough Cir Ev p 40

In R v Hity 2 C & P 159 which was a case of trespass, running away from the premises when let etc l was admitte l as evidence of not being thereby permissive The reason of this presumption is thus tated by Parker J in Start v L 164 U S (2" Th law says th it a man is to be judged by his consciou ness of the right or wrong of what he does, to some extent If he flees from justice because of that act, if he goes to a distant country and is living un ler an as um l name because of that act the law says that is not in harmony with what innoc nt n n ds and jurors have a right to consider it as evidence of gu lt, because he is an eye witness to the occurrence, he knows how it h l transpire he is pres u ne l to have a consciousness of that act It is a principle of human nature— in l ev ry man is conscious of it, I apprehend that if he does an t t wh l l con cious is wrong, his conduct will be along a certain line He will pursue a c rtain course not in harmony with the con luct of a man who is con cious that he has done an act which is innocent right an l proper The truth is—and it is an old scriptural adage—that the wicke l flee when no man pursueth b it the righteous are as bold as a lion Men who are conscious of right have nothing to fear They do not he itate t onfront the jury of their country, because th it jury will protect them"

Explanation of flight etc When a flight has been proved as furnishing evidence of guilt it is competent for the accu e l to prove other cau es which may have influ nc l him to fly, an l leave the jury to lecide whether his flight was caused by a con cicu ness of guilt an l apprehension of conviction or by such other caus s s he may prove to have ex sted Kinnel y v Com, 14 Bu h 340 Rakhal v Queen Empress 2 C W N 81 Ganpuram v Emperator, 62 Ind Cas Cr 314 = 2 A I J 529 Evi lence of f ct that he ha l b en advised to leave, to avoid vengeance by the lecea e l s fri nds is allowe l Ballu v U S 3 Ind 694 To the ame en l the a lvice of frien ls may be as igne l as the cau e of fleeing from the juris liction In all case the ac u d is entitled to prove by his own testimony the actual motive which ha influenced his conduct An absence due to insanity obviously gives rise to no infer nce of guilt. Chamberlayne's Ev § 1399 a. In a ca e wh re th only evi lence a ain t the accu ed was that he ab cond ed after the murder of a person it was hel l that the f ct of accused's absconding was not inconsistent with his innocence known hat an incorrect accusation has been brought a ainst him Crown v Ahmel, 1 P L R 1915 = 16 Cr L J 156 = 27 Ind Cas 219, see also Emperor v Gangaram, 23 Bom L R 1274 Post cards mailed by the accused shortly after his departure were admitted to indicate non-concealment of his whereabouts, an l thus to rebut the inference of guilt of a murder from his flight Goforth v State, 183 Ala 66

Attempt to escape An attempt to e cape stands in the same position as would escape itself Not unnaturally, more over, the possession of tools calculate l to assist an attempt at escape is regarded as a probative fact in such a connection Efforts to bribe a custodian of the jail in or ler to facilitate flight give rise to a similar inference, i e, conciousness of guilt None of these incriminating circumstances constitute a prima facie case of liability to the consequences of crime Standing alone therefore it will not warr int a conviction Chamberlayne's Ev § 1399(a)

Actor alone affected Naturally, flight or an attempt to flee affects only the actor—the person so conducting him-elf Chamberlayne's Ev § 1399 (a)

Declining to flee, voluntary return etc In such a connection, only such portions of conduct as bear against the accused are relevant It follows that while flight is competent, as grounding an inference, that the accused knew he was guilty, declining to flee when urged is, at most, a self serving act without probative force Any other rule of a lministration, indeed, would flood the Courts with fabricated testimony For the same reasons, one accused of crime cannot show that, having fled, he afterwards voluntarily returned Chamberlayne's Ev § 1399 (a)

Complaint by prosecutor The prisoner was indicted for theft and dishonestly receiving stolen property. The prosecutor, while travelling by train to Calcutta, discovered that his courier bag, containing his watch, chain, and a sum of money, had been stolen He reported his loss to a railway police inspector at the first station at which the train stopped after he became aware of the theft, the prisoner not then being present Evidence of this report is held admissible under s 8, illustration (k) Queen v Macdonald, 10 B L R App 2 The first information report against the accused is admissible under this section Azimuddin v Emperor, 41 C L J 253 = A I R 1927 Cal 17; Soosa Lal v Emperor, 82 Ind Cas 712, Roman v. Emperor 4 Lah L J 191; Abdul Ghafur v. The Crown, 25 P W. R 1910 = 6 Ind Cas 957 = 11 Cr L J, 125

Silence Sile... of the accused when charged with an offence ... nless the cha... c Cr 625 ... aulie v Dento ... ded upon the maxim qui tacet ... this ... is ... gmore § 1071 A is accused of administering ... of killing her A witness testifies that the wife had declared that A had attempted to poison her, in his presence, and that A was standing nearby, but made no response This is relevant Com v Galavan, 9 Allen 271 S is indicted for the murder of T Certain observations were made by his wife in the presence of others on the subject of crime, to which S made no direct reply These statements are relevant against S R v Smithies, 5 C & P 332, see also R v Mallory, 15 Cox 456 (458) The conduct, demeanour ...

to the Police that he had purchased opium from the accused is inadmissible, unless it is made in the presence of the accused Ah Shin v Emperor, 12 Cr L J 429 = 12 Ind. Cas 87 In resting on silence as to a particular matter as a legitimate ground of inference regard must be had to the circumstances, it must be considered whether there was any occasion for the words, and any reasonable explanation of the silence Chabil Das v Dayal Mouji 6 Bom L R 557

Conduct as evidence of consciousness of innocence The lack of guilty consciousness may be useful to show innocence of a crime This lack of guilty consciousness—in ot... e—seems not to have been doubted b... But, assuming ... proposition,—the ... to be feigned and ... Tr 159 (207),

Failure to prosecute In general a delay in instituting a prosecution is some indication of a consciousness of the weakness of one's cause The failure to complain speedily of a rape is universally conceded to be a damaging circumstance against the woman making the charge Wigmore § 284

Failure to produce evidence The non production of evidence that would naturally have been produced by an honest and therefore fearless claimant ... to the party's cause Wig ... Trial 3 2 Rowan's Trial, 22 ... ol, 605, Boyce v Chapman, ... F 150, 180 189, Vaughton v ... ox Cr 119 (432) In Blatch ... is certainly a maxim that ... which it was in the power of one side to have produced and in the power of the other to have contradicted." Similarly in R v Burdett, 4 B & Ald 122, Best J said: "If the opposite party has in its power to rebut it by evidence, and yet offers none, then we have something like an admission that the presumption is just . . The law does not impose impossibilities on parties; it expects that a man who has the means of knowing who may be witnesses shall call them"

Party's failing to testify A party's failing to appear when he had a strong motive to appear, would be evidence against him Brown v Stock 77 Pa 471 So refusal to testify himself or to call available witnesses in his own behalf warrants inference unfavourable to the respondent Att Gen v Pelletier, 134 N E. 406 malicious pro

tion, it was

raise an inference that his motive was a consciousness that he had no probable

1931 Bom 97, see also Bonomalee Churn v Hafizuddin, 13 B L R 247 Note= 12 W R 317, Burola v Rughoonath, 16 W R 295

Destruction or non production of documents, etc In Anon 1 Ld Raym 731, Holt C J said "If a man destroys a thing that is designed to be evidence against himself, a small matter will supply it" and so a copy sworn was admitted to prove a note of defendant torn by him See also R v Arundel, Hob 109, Word v Apprice, 6 Mod 264, Samson v Rumsey, 2 Vern 561; Young v Holmes 1 Stra, 70, Armory v Delamirie, 1 Stra 505 In Cookes v Hellier, 1 Ves Sr 234, Hardwicke L C said 'If dec' [illegible] arty who would take benefits thereof a Court of [illegible] further than the Court of law" See also R [illegible] ocument is not produced after proper notice, a strong presumption is raised against the party Roe v Harvey 4 Burr 284; see also Clunes v Peggy 1 Camp 8; James [illegible]

[illegible] nted [illegible] may [illegible] leed [illegible] against the persons keeping it Devonport, 27 L J C P 54, Celd 1 Q B 814 This rule is [illegible] ire based upon the maxim omnia praesumunt [illegible] presumed against a spoliator)

[illegible] on [illegible] he [illegible] ng poisoned T It appears that S has tried in every way to prevent the body of T from being exhumed and examined [illegible] R v Stansfield, 11 How St Tr 1402 [illegible] R being suspected of murdering him [illegible] ment floor, objected strongly, ar [illegible] would fall down The officers of [illegible] und underneath the floor A strong [illegible] Burr Ev 462 [illegible] pare her feet with [illegible] force to put her feet in [illegible] Cicely, 13 S & M 205

Fear exhibited by the accused The fact of fear exhibited by the accused raises an inference against the accused A being accused of the murder of B shows a great repugnance to looking at the dead body of B This is relevant R v Stewart, 19 How St Tr 156, R v Ogilvie, 19 How St Tr 1284 T comes into a town with a horse and immediately employs an auctioneer to sell it While the sale is going on T is observed to look excited and apprehensive, and on receiving the purchase money leaves the place at once, and on subsequently meeting the auctioneer endeavours to avoid him The conduct of T S. raises a presumption of his guilt. Tyner v State, 5 Humph 383

Possession by the accused of the fruits of crime Where the evidence against the accused is circumstantial in its character, the possession by the accused of the fruits of the crime is relevant as a circumstance in the chain of evidence from which guilt may be inferred Wilson v U S, 162 U S 613 M is indicted for the murder of a woman When arrested, property belonging to the woman, such as dress and jewellery, is found in his possession This raises an inference of guilt State v Millain, 3 Nev 109, Ina v Queen, 11 C 190 But a reasonable explanation by the accused of his possession over throws the presumption and casts the burden on the prosecution provided the explanation is not inconsistent with the identity of the property R v Crowhurst, 1 C & K 370, R v Smith, 2 C & K 206, Queen v Evans, 2 Cox C C 270

Sudden change in [illegible] idden change having taken [illegible] ubse quent to the crime is rel [illegible] man, is found murdered an [illegible] vards commences to live an [illegible] so an inference of B s guilt [illegible] Its effect may be very slight, and, in many cases furnish not the least ground for charging a party The possession of a large sum of money with strong accompanying circumstances of guilt of an independent character accom panied with evidence of entire destitution of money before the time of the leaving may probably be submitted to the jury' Com v Montogomery 11 Metc 534

Inconsistent and contradictory accounts of circumstances of the crime

[illegible]

intention more weighty than words, may be given in evidence in aid of its construction Tay § 1204, see also Att Gen v Brazanox College 2 Cl & Fin 295, Att Gen v Drummond, 1 Dur & War 153 In the last mentioned case Lord Chancellor Sugden, said Tell me what you have done under the deed and I will tell you what that deed means So in order to ascertain the sum of an old char [illegible] tions of the [illegible] certainly a lm [illegible] Coll 38 L J [illegible] the question is whether one of a large number of leases granted by a landlord at about the same time, under similar circumstances and on similar terms, was [illegible] ascertain whether the parties intended ownership to pass independently of [illegible] jan v Allah Ditta, 9 Ind Cas 517=27 P L R [illegible] v Nihal Singh, 7 P R 1897 Rev, Ramchand v [illegible] case of ambiguous grant, subsequent conduct [illegible] grant In re Parmanandas, 7 B 109, see also

S Cheetum Lal v Chutterdhari, 19 W R 132 Conduct of parties and surroundi circumstances are relevant in order to ascertain whether a deed which appear ab-olute sale, is not in fact a deed of mortgag Kallychurn, 9 C 528 ; Kashi Nath v Chand ... Gobinda, 1 B 591; Lincoln v Wright, 4 ... ihar, 9 C 898 Where the meaning of a document regarding certain transactions is not clear, the conduct of the parties i admissible in evidence to show in wh ... ... garded the tran sactions Badri v Sadappal, A I R 1 ... rule is applicable in explaining the term ... 510; Kuladi v Kalidas, 12 C 536, 30 C 883 But the statement made by a person as to the circumstanc under which he executes a document a considerable time after the execution cannot be admitted to prove the facts stated by him Virasamma v Billa Ke 25 M L J 637

Explanation 1 Explanation 1 points out that mere statements, as distin guished from acts do not constitute conduct Conduct may be equivocal or insensible without statements explanatory or elucidatory of it Statements accompanying acts are in fact part of the res gestae just as much as the acts them selves They are often absolutely necessary to show the animus of the actor They have been styled verbal acts Bateman v Bailey, 5 Term R 512; Hyde v Palmer, 3 B & C 657, Bennison v Cartwright, 5 B & C 1 The admissibility of a statement depends not merely ... on the light it throws upon an act which is itsel ... A, & E 313; Norton p 10 , R v Bliss 7 A & E ... is to a case in which a person whose conduct is in dispute mixes up together actions and state ments, and in such a case those actions and statements may be proved as a whole For instance a person is seen running down a street in a wounded condition, and calling out the name of his assailant, and the circumstances under which the injuries were inflicted Here what the injured person says and what he does may be taken together and proved as a whole But th case would be very different if some passers by stopped him and sugge ted some name, or asked some questions regarding the transaction If a person were found making such statements without any questions first being asked, then his statements might be regarded as a part of his conduct But where the statement is made merely in response to some question or suggestion ... the fact in issue, but by interpo ... Queen Empress v Abdulla, 7 A ... ntends "to make those statements admissible, and those only, which are essential complements of acts done or refused to be done, so that the act itself or the omission to act acquires a special significance as a ground for inference with respect to the issues in the case under trial" Per West J in Empress v Rama Birappa, 3 B 12 (17); see also Reg v Jora Hasst, 11 B H C 242 U ...

... The question is not open to the objection of ... F 116 120 ... ying that act m ... Wright v Tatham, 1 A & E 361 The words must strictly accompany the physical act and be ... "It is not however, ... fact that will be re ... & P 550, ... a purpose ... Phip Ev ... "conduct" ... statement ... v Vara, 14 B 260 (F B)

Complaint Illustrations (j) and (k) make statements of a person against whom an offence has been committed, relevant. But a mere statement is not relevant ... These illustrations are ... an offence has been committed ... accompanying such conduct. ... statement of fact of rape and r... conduct, the former has no such t... in discriminating between a staten... the essential difference between ... redress or punishment, and must b... for instance, or a parent, or some other person to whom the complainant was justly entitled to look for assistance and protection The distinction is of importance, because while a complaint is always relevant, a statement not amounting to a complaint will only be relevant under the particular circumstances, e g, if it amounts to a dying declaration or can be used as a corroborative evidence Norton Ev 111

Complaint in cases of rape, criminal assault, etc Illustration (j) is an thus coming into issue, the circumstance that at the time of the alleged rape the ... a self contradiction ... ming the victim of ... That she did not, ... assertion that ... at the time of ... ice as a virtual ... arity, therefore, ... be allowed to Neal Utah 151 So in cases of rape, indecent assault and similar offences upon females (t... shortly af...

with the ... prosecution, not to prove the truth of the matters stated, but as evidence of the consistency of the conduct of the prosecutrix with the story told by her in the ... of which she ... 905) 1 K B ... 6) 60 J P. ... of conduct
If the conduct of a woman who has been ravished is such that she lodges a complaint, then that conduct is relevant and the terms in which the complaint was made are relevant as conduct but they are not relevant as direct proof of the act The particulars of the complaint, may so far as they relate to the ... evidence of facts ... of the woman ... on her part

Cas 1043, see also Soosalal v Emperor, 82 Ind Cas 142, Raman v Emper 4 Lah L J 491 But if she only answered questions her evidence would be hearsay Ibid, see also Nga Som v Emperor 43 Ind Cas 113 = 19 Cr L J 115, Emperor v Soopi, 31 P L R 391 = 120 Ind Cas 539 = 31 Cr L J 141 A I R 1930 Lah 81

Whether [illegible] admissible Originally the details of a woman's statement [illegible] 2 Stark 242; R v Walker 2 Moo & Rc [illegible] v Alexander, 2 Craw & D 126, R v Ol [illegible] & K 246, R v E[illegible] 2 F & F 575 [illegible] aller (ubi supra) which was decided in 1839 Parke B, excluded the statement but said, 'The sense of the thing certainly is, that the jury should in the first instance know the nature of the complaint made by the prosecutrix and all that she then said But for reasons which I can never understand the usage has obtained that the prosecutrix's counsel should only enquire generally whether a complaint was made by the prosecution of the prisoner's conduct towards her leaving the prisoner's counsel to bring before the jury the particulars of that complaint by cross examination' See also Steph Dig Ev Note I; Reg v Eyre, 2 F & F 579 Reg v Wood 14 Cox 46 A series of rulings beginning with R v Lillyman (1896) 2 Q B 167 repudiated the original practice and declared the whole statement admissible In that case at p 177 Hawkins J observed 'After a very careful consideration [illegible] we are not bound by any authority to [illegible] the fact of [illegible] our doing complaint which [illegible] complaint of so The evidence [illegible] only for that which is charged against the prisoner and can be legitimately u[illegible] only for the purpose of enabling the jury to judge for themselves whether the conduct of the woman was consistent with her testimony on oath given in the witness box negativing her consent and affirming that the acts complained of were against her will and in accordance with the conduct they would expect in a truthful woman under the circumstances detailed by her The jury, and they only, are the persons to be satisfied whether the woman's conduct was so consistent or not. Without proof of her condition demeanours and verbal expressions, all of which are of vital importance in the consideration of that question, how is it possible for them satisfactorily to determine it? Is it to be left to the witness to whom the statement is made to determine and report to the jury whether what the woman said amounted to a real complaint? Are the jury bound to accept the witness's interpretation of her words as binding upon them without having the [illegible] require it to be them to form [illegible] such questions [illegible] and answers is to [illegible] from imperfect materials perfect in [illegible] the witness in the box In our [illegible] speculation [illegible] the whole statement of a [illegible] s to the charge [illegible] for the prose[illegible] 9 Cox Cr 449 [illegible] 301 Hedge's R v Osborne (1905) 1 K B 551 [illegible] (1906) Case, 3 Cr App 262, Graham's Case 4 Cr App 218, Christie's Case, 10 Cr App 141 = 1914 A C 45, R v Norcott (1916) 1 K B 347 It appears from illustrations (j) and (l) that the Indian Legislature has given effect to the sound reasoning expressed by Parke J in R v Walker, 2 M & R 212 and Bramwell J in Reg v Wood 14 Cox 46 So under this section the particulars of a complaint are also admissible in evidence Stoke's Anglo Indian Code, 858, see also Soosalal v Emperor, 82 Ind Cas 142, Emperor v Phagunia, 82 Ind Cas 1043 = 1926 P 58

Time for making the complaint The rule is that the complaint should be made at the earliest reasonable opportunity But what is the earliest and reasonable opportunity of complaint depends on the circumstances of each case R v J Lee 7 Cr A R 31 In Chesney v Newsholme, (1908) P 301, which was a case of immoral acts by a clergyman with a boy the boy's statement to his mother on the same evening was admitted, but not his statement on the next evening a complaint a month after was received In ...(1911) A C 45, which was a case for indecent ... identification of the accused within a few ... the ground that "complaint is only admissible to negative assent" In the case of the rape of an innocent girl of tender age, the evide... ment by ... evidence ... and also ... Cas 142

Complaint in answer to question The complaint must be volunteered, and not in answer to questions R v Merry, 19 Cox C C 432 In King v Osborne, (1905) 1 K B 551, the prisoner was indicted for an indecent assault on a girl ... therefore immaterial ... girl to a question ... why the girl had not waited for the other child at the prisoner's house Held that the girl's reply was a complaint of the prisoner's conduct to her In that case Ridley J in reading the judgn... first point, the c... had been put to... assault, and the ... ment made in answer to a question, it was a conversation and not a complaint, and he declined to allow it to be given in evidence It does not appear, however, from the report what the question was that was put to the girl It appears to us ... in such cases ... Questions of ... will render it ... other person what is the matter? or why are you crying? will not do so These are natural ... and, if ... he do ... ought to be rejected In each case the decision on the character of the question put, as well as other circumstances, such as the relationship of the questioner to the ... reum ... no ... anti

R v Norcott, 12 Cr A R 166

... uch evidence is ... male person R ... R 162=86 J ... in that case obs... present law, that th... be thought ... in Lillyman's ... on of consent ... where no ... present day, ... historical ... by females in ... Cullingworth, ... admissibility ... girls but when one looks at the facts of those cases, it is apparent that the antithesis which the Judge had in mind was not an antithesis between cases in which a complaint of this nature was made by a female and cases where a complaint of this nature was made by a male person, but the antithesis is between what may be broadly described as sexual offence on the one hand and non-sexual offences on the other" But section 8 of the Evidence Act is very wide, and a complaint of any offence is admissible Vide illustration (k)

In R v Foster, 6 C & P 325, which was a case of man-slaughter Park J allowed the statement of the deceased, made to a passer-by immediately after the accident, to ... the best possible testimony, that, in ... what it was that had knocked the dec... that case the evidence was not admitted to show the conduct of the prosecutor but apparently as part of res gestae Strictly speaking this testimonial evidence was admitted as an exception to Hearsay rule as spontaneous declaration for which no provision has been made in the Act, but the admission of which is indicated as a part of res gestae under section 6, illustration (a)

Explanation 2 Under this explanation another class of statements, i.e. statements which affect the conduct of a person, whose conduct is relevant under this section, is admissible Illustrations (f), (g) and (h) are examples of such statements The conduct of A in illustrations (f), (g) and (h) shows nothing unless the statements are put before the tribunal Here the statements made in the presence of the party are admissible as the ground work of their conduct Here the conduct of A is equivocal and statements are admissible to explain that conduct as part of the res gestae under the rule of Verbal Act doctrine explained in s 6 In this explanation statement includes document addressed to a party Vide illustration (h); Reg v Thompson, (1910) 1 K B 640 "But before a bare statement made by another person in an accused's presence and prejudicial to him is allowed to be used as evidence against him, there must be something in the shape of action, conduct or words, which in the opinion of the Judge, would justify the jury in drawing an inference that the accused subs... R v Smith, ... Emperor, 12 ... ower to make ... luced which ... e statement, ... being one ... explanation ... cter of any observations or explanations he thought fit to make, substantially admitted the truth of the whole or portion of it" Ibid But in Rex v Thompson, (1910) 1 K B 640=79 L J K B 321 at p 322, Lord Alverston C J said "But if the case ... statement ... is true ... is never ... , 71 J ... it goes to ... by the P. 103, ... consideration whether the prisoner has admitted the truth of the statement ... that such a ... would ... Reg v ... and the ... strenu... dmitted ... indict... n years, ... d done ... "Sterne ... it, she said ' you ... and on being asked by another person she ... Norton," and pointed to the accused The accused said, "No, Madge, you are ... on," and pointed to ... 'If I have done it, ... whether the statement ... Court consisting ... Blackford J observed, ... r investigation are ... ay; but to this rule there are exceptions One is that statements, made in the presence of a prisoner upon an occasion on which he might reasonably be expected to make some observation, explanation, or denial, are admissible under certain circumstances We think it is not strictly accurate and may b misleading, to say that they are prisoner, as such an expression may seem to

S

of the facts stated in them; they explanatory of the answer given to them by the p rson in whose presence they are made Such answer may of course be given either by words or by conduct —for example, by remaining silent on an occasion which demanded an answer some part of ts are admitted;

relevant to the his seems to us to be (10th Ed) s 814
such acceptance he of such statements
ti fied that there is is answer to them

whether given by words or conduct, acknowledges the truth of all or part of them If there be no such evidence the contents of such statements should be excluded It is perhaps too wide to say that in no case can the statements be given in evidence when they are denied by the prisoner as it is possible that a denial may be given under such circumstances and in such a manner as to constitute evidence from which an acknowledgment may be inferred, but as above stated we think they should be rejected unless there is some evidence of

v Christie,
l was charged tly after the
"That is the
i was whether the statement made in the presence of the accused is admissible Lord Atkinson in giving his judgment observed 'As to the second ground, the rule of law undoubtedly is that a statement even upon an occasion which shoul explanation or denial from him, save so far as to make it, in effect hi only, then to that extent alone it becomes his statement He may accept the accused of the facts mentioned in the statement necessarily render the statement inadmissible becaue he may deny the statement in such a manner and under such circumstances as may lead a jury to disbelieve him, and constitute evidence from which an acknowledgment may be inferred by them" In the same case Lord Moulton said "If the prisoner admits the charge the evidence is obviously relevant If he denies it it may or may not be relevant For instance, if he is

behaviour of the prisoner, for the fact that some one makes a statement to him subsequently to the commission of the crime cannot in itself have any value as evidence for or against him The only evidence for or against him is his behaviour in response to the charge but I can see no justification for laying down as a rule of law that any particular form of response, whether of a positive or negative character, is such that it cannot in some circumstances have an evidential value I am therefore of opinion that there is no rule of law that evidence cannot be given of the accused being charged with the offence and of his behaviour on hearing such charge where that behaviour amounts to a denial of his guilt" In the same case Lord Reading also observed: "In general, such evidence can have little value in the direct bearing on the case unless the accused, upon hearing the statement, by conduct and demeanour, or by the answer made by him, or in certain circumstances by the refraining from

... art of ... nt ... cts ... wa ... his ... the denial could infer that he acknowledged its truth in ... practice of the Judges has been to exclude it altogether" In this case the statement of the boy was held admissible See also R v Hickey, 6 Cr A R 200=27 T L R 441; R v Wilson, 6 Cr A R 207; R v Adams, 17 Cr A R 77, R. v Strand, 7 Cr A R 38

Which affects such conduct The statements whether oral or written must be shown 'to affect the conduct" of the person to whom they are made, and therefore mere statement to persons, which cannot be shown to be in any way connected with or to bear upon his conduct, would be inadmissible Cun Ev 97 In R. v Bexley, 70 J P 263, the prisoner was charged with murder of her child ... to the police ... wa ... n nt is made by a person in the presence of accused and the accused upon hearing the statement, by conduct and demeanour, or by the answer made by him, or in certain circumstances, by the refraining from an answer, acknowledges the truth of the statement, it is evidence against him R v Christie (1914) A C 545 see also Child v Grace, 2 C & P 193, R. v John, 7 C & P 324, Jones v Morrel, 1 C & K 266; R v Welsh, 3 F & F 275; Price v Burva, 6 W R (Eng) 40, R. v Mallory, 15 Cox 458, R. v Cox, 1 F & F 90; Hayslep v Gymer, 1 A & E 165

Subsequent co... has established the guilt of the accu... the subsequent conduct of ... proof of the correctness of the c... from the evidence of the prosecution witnesses By itself however it ... furnish no legitimate proof of the guilt of the accused Chandra Ka Prosad v Emperor 126 Ind Cas 684=31 Cr L J 1081=A I R 1930 Oudh 324=7 O W N 564

Facts necessary to explain or introduce relevant facts

9 Facts necessary to explain or introduce a fact in issue or relevant fact, or which support or rebut an inference suggested by a fact in issue or relevant fact, or which establish the identity of any thing or person whose identity is relevant, or fix the time or place at which any fact in issue or relevant fact happened, or which show the relation of parties by whom any such fact was transacted, are relevant in so far as they are necessary for that purpose

Illustrations

(a) The question is, whether a given document is the will of A

The state of A's property and of his family at the date of the alleged will may be relevant facts

(b) A sues B for a libel imputing disgraceful conduct to A; B affirms that the matter alleged to be libellous is true

The position and relations of the parties at the time when the libel was ... facts in issue ... ut a matter unconnected ... there was a dispute may

(c) A is accused of a crime

The fact that, soon after the commission of the crime, A absconded from his house, is relevant under section 8, as conduct subsequent to and affected by facts in issue

The fact that at the time when he left home he had sudden and urgent business at the place to which he went, is relevant, as tending to explain the fact that he left home suddenly.

The details of the business on which he left are not relevant, except in so far as they are necessary to show that the business was sudden and urgent

(d) A sues B for inducing C to break a contract of service made by him with A C, on leaving A's service, says to A—"I am leaving you because B has made me a better offer" This statement is a relevant fact as explanatory of C's conduct, which is relevant as a fact in issue.

(e) A, accused of theft, is seen to give the stolen property to B, who is seen to give it to A's wife B says as he delivers it—"A says you are to hide this" B's statement is relevant as explanatory of a fact which is part of the transaction

(f) A is tried for a riot and is proved to have marched at the head of a mob The cries of the mob are relevant as explanatory of the nature of the transaction

Introductory facts It would be practically impossible, in the conduct of Those circumstances in relation to an action or suit may not per se be relevant, but in connection with the main issues to be put before the tribunal, they are treated as the introduction to the main matters or by way of inducement to it They take the place of the preamble to a statute, which, while it has no power in variety of

variety of

s to their

the illustra

one Hunt,

its, setting

ought the land referred to at a foreclosure sale with her money and for her Upon direct introductory and explanatory are a

R 36 (50, 51)=17 W R Cr 15; see also illustrations (a) and (b) and illustration (c) to section 6 used in a conversation, the demonstration of the use of a scientific instrument, testimony showing th...

that...
exc... servant e g, from am...
wh... may be drawn are those which may pro... explanatory A fact may well be admitted in evidence alth... neither one of the res gestae nor probative in any direct line of proof to the existence of such a fact It will be received if it explain or complete a res gestae or probative fact in such a way as to create, increase or diminish its direct probative value the objective inferences which may properly be drawn from it If a fact tendered in evidence fulfil these conditions it is not even a bar to its admissibility that, as direct evidence it would be rejected under some positive rule of law or procedure Facts of this nature are as it were correlating; they state the relations between the res gestae or probative facts either with each other or with extrinsic circumstances necessary to their full understanding Where the latter are entirely intelligible and complete in and of themselves no explanatory or supplementary facts are rationally required Facts of an explanatory or supplementary nature may even be used to give force and cogency to those in the direct line of proof, The effect of evidence of this nature is not however in all cases affirmative An explanation may equally well be intended and calculated to diminish the force of the evidence produced by one's adversary In point of time, the explanatory or supplemental fact may precede accompany or follow the probative or res gestae fact to which it is correlated" Chamberlayne's Ev 1755 Clause (c) affords an illustration of how an accused person alleged to have absconded after the events can produce evidence to explain his sudden departure, and thereby rebut the presumption which arose from his equivocal conduct Donough Ev p 46 The field book or Chitta which describes the various plots is admissible under this section as explanatory of the partition paper which without the Chitta might be very difficult to understand Janki v Dino, 2 Ind Cas 367, but see Gopal v Madhub 21 W R 29 The Bombay Police received a telegram purporting to emanate from the chief commissioner of Police Naya salad, informing him that bank drafts in duplicate had been stolen and it was feared that signatures would be forged and negotiation attempted in Bombay A second telegram was received from Naya salad in reply to inquiries made by Bombay, Police The accused cashed a draft at the French Bank, Bombay and presented another at the Eastern Bank, Bombay The clerk informed his superiors and as a result the accused was arrested It was held that the telegrams purporting to be sent by the Naya saland Police were relevant to explain the conduct of the clerk of the Eastern Bank and the Bombay Police and were therefore admissible in evidence under this section Emperor v Abdul Gani 91 Ind Cas 690=27 Bom L R 1373=49 B 879=A I R 1926 B 71

Sudden flight—explanation The fact of the flight of the accused or his attempts to escape, is relevant under s 8 It may be the result of guilty knowledge or conscience, or it may be perfectly innocent Anything therefore that the party absconding says at the time of the act is receivable as explanatory of a relevant fact It would also be receivable as part of the res gestae and as a declaration accompanying an act Norton Ev 119 see also illustrations (c) A and B after the commission of a murder which they are suspected of being guilty of, fly from their houses to a distant State This raises a presumption of guilt The fact that A and B fled because of a fear of violence at the hands of their pursuers overthrows this presumption Plummer v Com 1 Bush 76, Golden v State, 25 Ga 527, Arnold v State, 9 Tex App 436 In Plummer v Com the Court observed "But there was evidence before the jury tending to explain the concealment and flight of appellant upon the ground that they were occasioned by an apprehension of violence for soldiers or otherwise, and this in our opinion was competent evidence which the jury had a right to regard as conducing to rebut the presumption of guilt arising from the concealment of flight of the appellants In the case of Oscar Slatur, who was charged with murder he was able to prove that his trip to America was not a flight from justice as the prosecution alleged, but made in pursuance of a long contemplated plan and that his apparently sudden departure a few days after the event was a mere coincidence Donough Ev, 46 If after the commission of a crime a person, whose name is mentioned as a participator in the crime ... the crime ...

tive other ...

... State, 76 S W 167 But an explanation made sometime after flight is excluded Sherrill v State, 35 So 129

... kruptcy, when it is necessary to ... bankruptcy Norl Ev 118 Perhaps ... the application of the Verbal Act doctrine (vide s 6) has been ... alleged act of bankruptcy ... and requires explanation ... Rawson v Haigh, 9 Moore ... Gyde, 9 Bing 349, Rouch v ... of flight under section 8 at p 148.

Facts ... tly of the utmost importance ... unexplained, legitimately ... on A's innocence, for him to ... n so occur as to raise a strong suspicion against a man, and any fact which tends to dispel that suspicion is relevant Cun F ... case by bringing in new da...

... capacity to produce ...

really important and was likely to have been the true source of the effect observed, so that the proponent's instance may or must be attributed to that other and not to the alleged tendency or cause in question (3) The third method takes away the force of the proponent's instance by offering other instances in which the same effect is found, but without the presence of the alleged cause Wigmore § 449 Evidence of other offences committed by the prisoner is sometimes ... of a witness ... el, where the ... to produce ... received by ... ater R v ... So where the prisoner was charged with robbing the prosecutor of a coat by threatening to accuse him of an unnatural crime, evidence of ... ning, when the prisoner ... ticket was found on his ... ble, as confirmatory of ...

by proving that, shortly ... the prisoner had robbed another person [R v Briggs 2 M & Rob (199)], and even ...

9 question of his guilt and whether the previous statement is made to a Police officer, or to a judicial officer or to a third party is immaterial if the statement is relevant to the fact in issue, ... — F ... ror
73 Ind Cas 963 = 1 P L T 881 ... evidence of minority when the question ... Abdulh Pande, 18 A 476 (479), Sitish Chandra v Mohendralal, 17 C 849 Where the accused were charged with committing or conspiring to commit dacoity and not with the charge of belonging to any gang it was held that the evidence tending to show the closeness of their association with the approver was inadmissible under s 11, though the same might be admissible under section 9 Emperor v Wahiduddin 54 B 524 = A I R 1930 Bom 157, The absence of an entry in a book of account has no doubt been regarded as a relevant fact, not under section 34 but under sections 9 and 11 of the Indian Evidence Act to prove that an alleged payment was not made Ganjiram v Lachiram 19 C W N 612 = 28 Ind Cas 70 Tara Kumar v Kumar ... Chandra 74 Ind Cas 383 = 36 C L J 389; Jani v Sibdhari 15 C L J 7 = 17 C W N 105, Sagarmal v Manraj, 4 C W N ccvii Ali Nasir v Hamil 25 A 90 Deolia v Ray 11 N L J 21 = A I R 1928 Nag 153 In Emperor v Ganesh Damodar, 34 B 391 the accused published a book containing eighteen poems, of which four were subject matter of charge The general trend of the poems charged as well as the remaining ones in the books evinced a spirit of blood thirstiness and murderous eagerness directed against the Government Held, that the Court was entitled to look into the poems other than those forming the subject matter of the charge for the purpose of finding out the intention of the writer and the design of the publication In order to rely on the evidence of persons who identified the accused in jail but failed to do so in Court the fact of the jail identification must be stated in witness's evidence An identification in jail is in essence a statement by the witness I saw this man who is before me taking part in the dacoity' That statement can be used to corroborate this evidence given in Court if the witness says in his evidence "A number of persons was shown to me at the jail and from among them I pointed out those persons whom I had seen taking part in the offence ... ndant evidence such as that of th... to prove the identity of the persons ... though the witness himself may not correctly remember who they were Chutkan v King Emperor A I R 1926 Oudh 36 — 90 Ind Cas 444 = 28 O C 298, Abdul v Emperor 47 A 39

Basis for admission of explanatory facts The peculiar danger of inductive proof is that there may be other explanations than the desired one for the fact taken as the basis of proof Sidgwick Fallacies 270 But in the study of Logic we are concerned with discovering the defects of a mode of Proof, while in the Law of Evidence, we are concerned merely with the propriety of admitting the fact at all with its quality as a possible Inference, not as absolute Proof If then, the potential defect of inductive Proof is that the fact offered as the basis of the conclusion may be open to one ... ations the test or requirement for mere ... of) must be something far short of this ... gl other rational hypothesis would be ... et and yet if only that single other hy... be an extremely high degree of probability for the conclusion under the Law of Evidence Wigmore § 32 Thus throughout the whole realm of evidence, circumstantial and testimonial, the theory of the inductive argument, as practically ... lentiary fact will ... non it is a ... when ... hable

Identity as a probandum—other principles discriminated "In evidencing that proposition commonly spoken of as Identity, there is apt to be a confusion in thought with two other processes which are really not germane (1) It is perhaps natural to apply the notion of Identity or Identification to the general process of proving an accused person guilty He is said to be "identified" as the murderer or the thief, i e the whole process of proof and the whole mass of evidence is thought of as involving identity of the accused and the guilty person From this point of view, all distinctions between the various sorts of evidence heretofore analyzed are merged and become useless Such an indiscriminate confusion and merger of all sorts of probative elements naturally excites suspicion of the propriety of the term (identification) as thus applied In truth, there is no propriety in it The very looseness of the term shows that, since the various sorts of evidence thus covered by it may be further analyzed and separated, there would remain no

[illegible]

but needs to be distinguished

"Suppose, for example, to prove a murder evidence is offered that a gun found three days later in the defendant's possession is exactly fitted by a bullet found in the body of the deceased Here there are two inferences involved (a) Because the defendant possessed the gun when found later, therefore he probably possessed it at the time," this inference is always open to doubt, since the defendant may have borrowed the gun since the killing, or some third person may have surreptitiously placed the gun on his premises, (b) 'Because the gun, thus possessed by the defendant at the time of the killing, fitted the bullet found in the body, therefore the defendant's gun must be the one that shot the deceased", here the inference is open to doubt because the bullet may fit other the ces is [illegible] element of the Identity ces as pointing back to an Wigmore's Principles of

[illegible]

General Principle of Identity Evidence ' Identity may be thought of as a quality of a person or thing,—the quality of sameness with another person or thing The essential assumption is that two persons or things are first thought of as existing, and that then the one is alleged because of common features, to be the same as the other The process of inference thus has two necessary elements (1) it is a concomitant one, in its logical scheme, and (2) it operates by comparing common marks, found to exist in the two supposed separate objects of thought, with reference to the possibility of their being the same It follows that its force depends on the necessariness of the association between the mark and a single object Where a certain circumstance feature or mark, may commonly be found associated with a large number of objects, the presence of that feature or mark in two supposed objects is little indication of their identity, because, on the general principle of relevancy, the other conceivable hypotheses are so numerous i e the objects that possess that mark are numerous and therefore two of them possessing it may well be different But where the objects possessing the mark are only one or a few, and the mark is found in two supposed instances, the chances of the two being different are nil or are comparatively small Hence, in the process of identification of two supposed objects by a common mark the force of the inference depends on the degree of necessariness of association

[illegible]

associated with a single object Rarely can one circumstance alone be so [illegible] stance to circum [illegible] whole cannot be [illegible] Wigmore § 411 [illegible] cation thus consists [illegible] of which by itself [illegible] her can conceivably

S. 9. to exist in a single object only Each additional circumstance reduces the chance of there being more than one object so associated The process thus corresponds accurately to the

"It may [illegible] be negative as well as affirmative [illegible] sarily associated with an object in issue, the lack of that feature in a particular object offered tends to show that it cannot be the object in issue—in analogy with the argument from essential inconsistency Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 145

Scope of the identi[illegible] section This section does not deal with [illegible] Circumstantial evidence of identity are [illegible] in a party's identity with a certain person [illegible] in issue it may be proved or disproved not only by [illegible] resumptively by similarity or dissimi[larity] [illegible] height, size, hair, complexion voice [illegible] marks, faculties, or peculiarities) as [illegible] ationship, education, travel, religion knowledge of particular people places or facts, and other details of personal history (R v [illegible] cited Steph art [illegible]) In this connection too identity of mental qualities habits and disposition may became relevant, though it would be excluded in more specific enquiries Phip Ev 132 The inference of identity of a person, [illegible] by the use of [illegible] singular motion [illegible] a mark of identification The sound in question may well be that of a vo[ice] [illegible] Chamberlayne's Ev § 1866 [illegible] peculiar facts and many other [illegible] serve, in a very satisfactory way, as part of the basis of the inference of the witness as to identification In much the same fashion, the possession of skill and other mental training may be shown by its exhibition on other occasions and, in this way, serve to identify the doer of a particular act who must have possessed the qualities in question in order to have been able to do as he has done Ibid § 1869

Test of Admissibility The only matter that is here of concern is the admissibility of circumstantial evidence of identification, and it will easily be [illegible] So far as there [illegible] low [illegible] it [illegible] is that [illegible] But it [illegible] nces [illegible] ke it up Wigmore § 412

[illegible] of a person can be as er[illegible]

[illegible] Case]) charge of Cockb[illegible] Sturtivant 117 Mass 131 (139), R v Broome, Danough 81, R v Crippen Wills 490, R v Wainright's Not Tr[illegible] [illegible] Arshal [illegible] Layani [illegible] 61 (1909) [illegible] nowledge [illegible] ased was [illegible] 345; R v [illegible] the mur[illegible] ion of a [illegible] murder [illegible] ame ball [illegible] Peerage

(b) Residence, and [illegible] Case L R 10 App Cas 763, 775

(7) ... of a writing. Hile's Tr ... n Brooks v. Tichborne ... a habit of the plaintiff, so to spell the word was proved, it was some evidence against the plaintiff to show that he wrote the libel Indeed, we think that proposition c ... degree of pecul ... which the plain ...

the identity of that person are relevant ... see also R v. Ball, (1911) A C 47, R v ... other offences committed by the prisoner is sometimes admitted, with a view to establish identity. Taylor § 3 ... At a trial for offences under ss 302, 120 B and 380 I ... some two years subsequen ... identity, design and motiv ... pursued by the accused ... alleged in the subsequen ... 9 or section 11 or 14 or 15 of the Evidence Act Emperor v Panchu Das, 58 Ind Cas 929=24 C W N 501=31 C L J 102=47 C 671

...

the next indictment So the general principle that where a circumstance is relevant for some purpose, the incidental revelation, in offering it, of other criminal conduct by an accused does not stand in the way of receiving the evidence Wigmore § 416

Identity of name Identity of name raises a presumption of identity of person, where there is similarity of residence or trade, or circumstances, or where the name is an unusual one, but aliter where the name is a common one and there are several persons known of the same name and of the same place Lawson Pre Ev 307 "A concordance in name alone is always some evidence of identity, and it is not correct to say ... to the persons named, the ... of name goes for nothing, ... conclusion," Groves v ... L T R N S 795; Re W ... R 14 Eq 245; Maden v ... D 213 Re Hocking, (1898 ...

The question is whether one Samuel Fry of Plymouth Rock has written certain letters—he being the defendant in the case A witness testifies that he knows the handwriting of a Sa... of Pl... the only person of that name at the place Th ...

...

vessel A pilot named Henderson was in Court and answered this description The presumption was that he was the defendant There the Court observed "Th ... Co ... bee ... jury might assume him to be the defendant But then the counsel objects that the statement is not made under oath As to that there are many things which are

9. incapable of strict legal proof A man's name is mere matter of reputation, that which is termed in Scotch law the status of a man is matter of reputation and if precise evidence of the relationship of one man to another or other matters of that nature were always required no fact of that kind could ever be proved in practice Here there was evidence of the identity of the defendant although it was not proved directly that the name of the party who answered in Court was William There was evidence that he was a pilot, that he was the pilot on board the vessel, and he answered to the name of Henderson I think that is sufficient In an action against Charles Lyon for goods sold to his intestate, and a plea of plene administravit the plaintiff in order to show assets offered a copy of a bill and answer by one Charles Lyon to a Bill filed in Chancery against him in the character of an administrator The presumption is that they are the same person and evidence is admitted Hennell v Lyon, 1 B & Ald 112 In that case Bayley J observed 'There is nothing to show two administrations, and it is rather extraordinary to suppose that two persons of the same name should sustain the same character It is not to be presumed that there are two persons but the identity is rather to be presumed, unless the plaintiff could have shown the contrary '

An action is brought on a bill of exchange directed to, 'Charles Banner Crawford, East India House,' and accepted 'C B Crawford' A witness proves that the signature was that of a gentleman of that name, formerely a clerk in the East India House but he does not know whether that Mr Crawford is the defendant here The presumption is that the two are the same Green Smith v Crawford, 9 M & W 314 Lord Abinger said 'I am of opinion that the evidence was quite sufficient Here the bill is drawn upon by Charles Banner Crawford, and addressed to him at the India House. The evidence is that there is a person of the name of Charles Banner Crawford; that he once belonged to the India House and the acceptance is in his hand writing That is surely sufficient evidence of identity In an action against one William Evans for goods sold and delivered it appears that five years before, a person of that name had been a customer of plaintiff and had written a letter acknowledging the receipt of the goods The witness who proves this does not know whether the defendant who answered to the name is the same person The presumption is that he is Smell v Evans 4 Q B 626 In the course of argument Denman C J asked Does the name go for nothing at all in any case? Suppose the name of the defendant had been William Linonel Gulliver Evans and a sale had been proved to a party so named' An action is brought against Henry Thomas Ryde, as acceptor of a bill of exchange The cashier of the bank testifies that a person of that name had kept cash at the bank when the bill was made payable and that the acceptance is in his hand writing He cannot identify him with the defendant of the same name This is sufficient prima facie case Roden v Ryde, 4 Q B 626 In this case Lord Denmam said 'In cases where a particular circumstance tends to raise a question as to the party being the same, even identity or name is something from which an inference may be drawn If the name were only John Smith which is of very frequent concurrence there might not be much ground for drawing the conclusion But Henry Thomas Rydes are not so numerous, and from that and the circumstances generally there is every reason to believe that the acceptor and the defendant are indentical Lord Lydhurst asks (in Whitelock v Musgrove, 3 Tyrw 543) 'why the onus of proving a negative in these cases should be thrown upon the defendant' the answer is because the proof is so easy He might come into Court and have the witness asked whether he was the man

A note signed "Hugh Jones" is sued upon It appears that there are several" Hugh "Jones" at the place where the note was signed, and there is no evidence to show that the "Hugh Jones" who is sued is the 'Hugh Jones" who signed the note. The plaintiff is non suited Jones v Jones, 9 M & W 75

Identity from family name and initial The fact that family name and initials are the same raises no presumption that the parties are the same Ambs v R Co 44 Minn 266; London v Walepole I Ind 321, Bennet v Labhort, 27 Mich 489, Burford v McCru, 53 Pa St 431; Lau Pre Ev 314

Two persons of same name but of different position Where two persons of the same name occupy different positions or relations, the presumption is that they are different persons Law Pre Ev 315, Nicholas v Lansdale, Lill Sel Cas. 21, Ellis worth v. Moore, 5 Iowa, 486; Cozzens v Gillispie, 4 Mo 82.

of things may be presumed from circum- ... 231; Byrd v Fleming, 4 Bible 145. ... nson Pre Et 320 The inference of a wit- ... chattels So of the great ... and he like. Chamber- ... n those in common use, the fact tha

while such

object, of special attention In other words, they either have no "ear mark" or none which is commonly observed In the first class would fall ordinary coins, stamped out in large numbers by means of a die In the second would be embraced banks notes, seldom identified by their position in a numerical series Pay checks may be regarded in a similar way This difficulty of identification affects merely the weight which may properly be attached to the mental result of the witness The evidence of the inference is, nevertheless admissible. Ibid § 1872 Identification by the witness may extend to estab- ... Ibid § 1872 ... Surendra

Identity of a person by voice or appearance A witness may testify to a person's identity from his voice alone Hulet's Trial 5 How St. Tr 1185, Harrison's Trial 12 How St Trial 846, The Threshers' Trial, 30 How St Tr. 197; Picton's Trial, 30 How St Tr 245, R v Castro Tichborne Case, see also ... Emperor, A I R 1925 Lah 137, testified from observing his stature, ... from the sight of the person's photo- ... person's age, or intoxication merely from his appearance Chattels may be identified by their appearance and other qualities Wigmore § 660

Identity of person by photograph "The photograph was admissible" said Wills J in R v Tolson, 4 F. & F 103, "because it is only a visible representation of the image or impression made upon the minds of the witnesses by the sight of the person or the object it represents, and therefore is in reality only another species of the evidence which persons give of identity when they speak from memory, Hindson v Ashby, (1896) 2 Ch 21, 27, Hill v Hill, 11 T L R. 541" The identity of a person may ... by a person's photograph Frith v Fr ... case, which was a case for divorce ... upon a photograph alone and this ... asked to do this, but it should be known that it is not the practice of the Court, except under very special circumstances, to act upon a photograph alone It is high time that this should be understood" The same rule is applicable in all matrimonial cases, Vide, Dawson v Dawson, 23 T L R 716, Hill v Hill, supra, Phip Ev 386 As regards identification by photograph, vide Emperor v Panchu Das, 24 C W N 501 (F B) at p 524 In cases of ... officer to show to persons ... phs of those whom they ... 19 R v Ferguson, (1924) ... hat of a prisoner whom ... risoner was picked out by the prosecutor from a number of men in a room Held, that there was no ground for complaint against the method of identification R v Melaney 157 L T Jo 46; see also Binde ...

Ind Cas 167 So,

an engraving to a

9 given by a witness who has precisely identified the prisoner by a photograph must always be subject to that fact R v Dwyer, (1925) 2 K B 799

Identification of Prisoners Act The Identification of Prisoners Act, 1920 (Act No XXXIII of 1920) has been passed in order to provide legal authority for taking measurements, finger impressions foot prints and photographs of persons convicted of, or arrested in connection with certain offences This Act has been passed because the value of the scientific use of finger impressions, foot prints and photographs as agents in detecting crime and the identification of criminals is well known in England and other European countries and as such this subject can no longer be ignored —Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons Under section 5 of the Act which authorises a Magistrate to take the measurement which as defined in the Act include finger impression and foot print impressions or photographs of convicts and others, the thumb impression of the accused taken at the trial is admissible in evidence Superintendent v Kiran Bala, 14 C L J 79=30 C W N 373=27 Cr L J, 109

Identity evidence—Foot prints To connect a person accused of crime with the scene of its commission a most important circumstance is frequently that of foot prints or other tracks or marks made in the soil or on surrounding objects by some portion of the body of the person involved in the inquiry by the vehicle in which he was carried or by the animal which drew it The discovery of such marks and the legitimate inferences to be drawn from them may constitute a valuable link in the chain of incriminating evidence especially necessary in cases where no direct proof of the res gestae is attainable Naturally the probative force of such circumstances resides largely in the correspondence discovered to exist between the marks at the place of the res gestae and those produced appropriate articles associated with the individual in question These correspondences may under certain circumstances be stated by one who has observed them although an element of reasoning is necessarily combined with such a statement The declaration it is true be simply a method of stating facts Thus an observer may properly say whether a certain boot, shoe, or other specimen of foot wear is capable of producing particular tracks On the other hand, that certain marks were actually made by a given individual or even were the same as or similar to those made by him is an invasion of the province of the jury to justify which an adequate administrative necessity must be shown A contrary view has however been maintained The inference that certain foot prints 'corresponded has been received although there is a lack of unanimity on the point It is not required that a skilled witness should testify as to the existence of a correspondence It will be required as an administrative matter that the witness be shown to be possessed of knowledge so adequate to the statement made that jury might reasonably be justified in acting upon it In connection with inferences from correspondence of foot prints it will not be regarded as sufficient that the witness from a general idea of the size and configuration of the boot, believes that the shoes of the individual in question would make the marks actually found or ones similar to them In general where the facts detailed by the witness as the basis of his inference are clearly insufficient to support it as a matter of reason the results of the mental process are excluded —Chamberlayne's Ev § 1874

Actions of blood hounds The conduct and behaviour of blood hounds after being set on the trail of a fugitive criminal cannot be given in evidence to prove that the scent of the accused and the scent of the person who perpetrated the crime which is being investigated are identical Chamberlayne's Ev § 1743 (n)

Circumstantial and Testimonial Evidence of Identity, distinguished "The foregoing inference from circumstances forming an identity mark, and the inference from testimony asserting identity, must be distinguished In the former type, the identifying mark or marks are supposed to be known and proved; and it then becomes a question of the strength of the inference from those circumstances as tested by the logical principle But in the latter type we are given simply the testimonial assertion that the two things are identical, and our problem then is, to enquire into the testimonial basis of perception and recollection for that assertion and to ascertain the possible sources of error For example, if the identity of J S with a testamentary claimant is in issue, and it is known that J S ten years ago had a deep knife scar on the sole of the left foot, and if it is equally a fact that the claimant now has a similar knife scar, the problem is the validity of an inference from this knife scar to identity of the person But in the same case we may have, of ten witnesses who know J S five of them now ... J S and five of them asserting ... basis for these opposite ... me proved characteristic n ... l inference But on the othe ... event, the testimonial evi ... al evidence Wigmore's Pri ... ce existed, and person B is now presented to an observer who has seen A, and the observer is asked, 'Is this now person the same human being as that former person seen

S.

... son bearing the same ... ark has been some how ... proof was effected But ... nple assertion (of the ... ed with the conditions ... with the inference from ... entity thus brings up ... Recollection, and (sometimes) in Narration

"Now, in ordinary judicial practice, a testimonial assertion as to identity is made in one of three typical forms saw ... his l ... witn ... 'I be ... left ... the ... prin ... pres ... look ... is t ... vari ... he gives a reason for his recognition, but the essential thing is the recognition So that our enquiry now must be, what is the psychic process of recognition of Identity?

'Let us here realize that we have only one mental process to examine, ... be Resem- ... In the words ... more or less ... quoted in Arnold, Psychology Applied to Legal ... marks b c d e f, and the observer perceived or involved in Recognition, ness' in varying degrees of Identity?'—Wigmore'

Mental conditions attending the Recognition of Indentity The original mental record of a perceived event preserves the several items of the perceived event connected in the memory record, this is the 'association of ideas' When later, o ... record, ... This pro ... blance, ...

9. is, first, that the original stages of perception and record and the later one of recognition may be (not necessarily are) sub conscious, and secondly, that the revival or recognition stage may be merely a general or single sensation of sameness (or resemblance) without a consciousness of the particular item or mark that has served as the stimulus e g when I first make the acquaintance, at a convention of Mr A from San Francisco my perception and record of his marks of personality are or may be subconscious; i e, I am not conscious of any specific items b c d etc and when next year I meet that person again, I may recognize him, with a single idea as Mr A from San Francisco without first being conscious of the particular item or items that have stimulated the idea of Mr A as a single whole Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 207

Caution and Precaution in dealing with Testimony to Identity "(1) It calls for caution in that testimonial assertions to identity must be accepted only after the most careful consideration On the one hand, the process of Recognition being often more or less subconscious it may be quite correct, even though no specification of marks can be given as reasons for recognition On the other hand the risk of injustice being so serious, the great possibilities of lurking error should cause hesitation and the investigator should seek to establish as many marks as possible that may serve circumstantially to check the testimonial assertions At this point there may be a logical value in numbers of witnesses

(2) The process also calls for precaution in taking measures beforehand objectively to reduce the chances of testimonial error

(i) At the time of original observation the investigator (police) should obtain from the observer a note of any marks of the personality observed, so that there will be less need to depend later on the observer's memory

(ii) At the time of presenting for recognition, whether upon arrest or at trial in the Court room measures should be taken to increase the stimulus of association and to decrease the risk of false suggestion (a) The person to be identified should be clothed and placed (so far as feasible) in the same conditions as when originally observed (b) The person to be identified should be presented in company with a dozen others of not too dissimilar personalities" Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 208

Value of evidence as regards identity based on personal impression "You compare in your mind said Baron Parke, in Fryer v Gathercole, 13 Jur 542, the man you have seen with the man you see at the trial' But 'evidence as to identity based on personal impression however bona fide, is perhaps of all classes of evidence the least to be relied on and therefore unless supported by other facts an unsafe basis for the verdict of the jury" Vide Oscar Slater's Trial Not Trial Ser Adolf Beck's Trial, Ed Watson, 1924, Not British Trial Ser pp 118

Qualification of observer To be qualified as witnesses in this matter of identity the ordinary observers who testify must have seen the persons or articles to be identified and speak upon the basis of such personal perception They are not at liberty to testify from information furnished by others They cannot, as would be proper in the case of experts state their judgment upon the facts observed by others It has been held that the mental result of the witness will not be received at all unless accompanied by a detailed statement of such constituent phenomena as will enable the Court to perceive that the jury might reasonably act in accordance with this inference Chamberlayne's Ev § 1863 Direct and positive evidence of identification is not in all cases obtainable Obviously, therefore, it is not indispensable The primary evidence of inspection is naturally, however, of greater weight, other things being equal, than the secondary evidence of circumstantial proof Witnesses therefore, who speak as to identity from the inspection of the person in question will, so far as this single circumstance is concerned be accorded greater weight than those who speak merely as to identifying circumstances Where more forceful proof of identity is lacking even so low a grade of evidence as that a given individual resembled defendant more than he did any one else known to the witness, or that two things appear to be similar, has been received It is not, however, sufficient identification especially in a serious matter, that the witness 'thought' or was "impressed" to the effect that defendant was identical with the doer of a given act That a witness was satisfied' with the identity of a defendant is not sufficient Only the weight of the evidence is affected by the fact that the basis is a slight one

Where no ground whatever is furnished, the inference is rejected, as of course S. Chamberlayne's Ev § 1861

[illegible] person is of opinion that a [illegible] ist, is not relevant to th[illegible] is not admissible [illegible] is the general rule of law, and is founded [illegible] matters in dispute—the Judge or jury, as the [illegible] their conclusions from the facts before [illegible]

whether the defendant was Tichborne, so far as the witness proposed, not merely to speak of the apparent sameness of appearance with the person he [illegible] the case In [illegible] ion evidence as [illegible] from minute [illegible] be described in human language, so as to convey any accurate impression of the object, and therefore, unless opinions are received there must be a failure of evidence When facts and peculiarities upon which the opinion is formed can be stated and described, they must be, and it is then for the jury and not the witness to form an opinion ' The reasons for its admission is thus also stated in Cooper v State, 23 Tex. 331 "I may feel a strong conviction, not, however, amounting to certainty same man whom I knew in another place My opinion is entitled to some weight because it is the statement of a fact, about which, to be sure, I can not speak [illegible] ertainty as to satisfy the minds of hand writing, quantity, value, weight, measure, time, distance, velocity, form, size, age, strength, heat, cold, sickness, and health questions, also, concerning photographs and powder puffs were found upon him and in his rooms Held that the evidence was admissible as it tended to show that the appellant had abnormal propensities of the kind in question, and therefore that it was some evidence of identity Thompson v R (1918) A C 221 = 87 L J K B 478—118 L T 418 So photographs could properly be put in evidence as being things usually found ... ndecency with male ... Tuis, (1918) 2 K ... for conviction

... clearly identified by persons who were ... nd picked out of a crowd in circumstances ... of fraud or error, conviction based on such ... v Emperor, 2 Luck 441 = 101 Ind Cas 497 ... q v Dindayal, 81 Ind Cas 949, dissented from) The evidence which goes to prove that a person has identified another person as having taken part in a particular offence either in jail identification proceedings or elsewhere is admissible though the value of such evidence weakened perceptibly as a general rule by failure to identify subsequently in Court Parbhu v Emperor 104 Ind Cas 626 = 28 Cr L J 800, see also Ramprosad v Emperor, 1 Luck C 339 = A I R 1927 Oudh 369 Evidence of identification of person previously unknown after a number of months that certain persons took part in an attack is unreliable, unless there was a regular identification parade in which the witnesses picked out those persons from among others especially where it is not stated that such persons bear any distinguishing marks by which they can be recognised Makhan Singh v Crown 1924 Lah 722 In criminal cases it is improper to identify the accused only when in the dock the police should place him, before hand with others and ask the witness to pick him out Nor should the witness be guided in any way nor asked is that the man? R v Cartwright, 10 Cr App R 219, R v Williams, 8 id 84 R v Chapman 7 id 53, R v Bundy, 5 id 270— R v Dickson 5 id 142—143 R v Smith, 1 id 203, Phip Ev 387 There is no section in the Evidence Act, which renders identification proceedings in jail ... is illegal ... ier cases ... ayam v ... Walab v ... J 1564— 28 O C 258

Admissibility of other evidence in question of identity One of the questions in ... whether one ... Gauri Shank ... to a totally differer ... of a ... e in ... Held ... ingh ... 2 A

... ase of burglary the thief had gained admittance to the house by means of a pen knife which was broken in the attempt, and part left at the window frame, the broken knife was found in the pocket of the prisoner, and perfectly corresponded with the fragment In another case identification was established by the correspondence of the wadding of fire arms with a ... case on the N ... of the pistol, ... corres ponde ... ir Ev 3rd ... r this section ... r J in Suren ... Fatteh Lall, 6 C 171

... Collect Jud ... s as an ... tinct on ... nimals.

A man may survey ten thousand people before he sees two faces perfectly alike,

S.

and in an army of an hundred thousand men every one may be known from another If there should be a likeness of feature there may be a discriminancy of voice, a difference in the gesture, the smile and various other things; whereas a family likeness generally runs through all these, for in everything there is a resemblance, as of features size, attitude and action" See also Percy's Case, 12 How St Tr 1199, Annesley v Anglesea, 17 How St Tr 1139, Day v Day quoted in Hubback Succession, 381, Interess v Ist , 8 C & P 7, Morris v Davis 3 C & P 211=5 Cl & F 1836, Bagot v Bagot (1878) 1 L R I R 308, Furnaby v Bullie, 12 Ch D 282 (-90)

Thumb Impression A comparison of thumb impression of the person, who presented the document before the Registrar with that of another person is admissible under this section if the similarity of the impressions can establish the identity of that person with the second person or under clause (2) of section 11 of the Act if their dissimilarity make such identification improbable In order to come under this section such comparison must be made by the Court itself Per Banerjee J in Queen Empress v Fakir Sheikh 1 C W N 33 The opinion of an expert as to the similarity of such impression is now admissible under s 45 of the Act Often a criminal is detected from finger prints From the finding of the trace or mark it is inferred that some person leaving that trace or mark was present at the time or place of doing the act charged and from the peculiarities of the trace or mark it is inferred that the accused was identical with that person Now the question is do human finger prints present a combination having that highest degree of certainty ? Science answers that they do In brief the accepted conclusion, after ...

of skin mark
matical theo combination confirmed the marks is the properly held
more § 414

In the case of finger prints the inference from identical marks is extra ordinarily strong But in the case of foot marks this inference is especially weak This is because the features usually taken as the basis of inference size, depth, colour etc —may not be c

Verification of time and place Under this section facts which are necessary to fix the time and place of an occurrence are admissible The time and place of the crime should be stated with certainty in the indictment though it is not necessary to prove them precisely as stated unless they are necessary ingredients in the crime Underhill Cr Ev 56 When however time and place are material the details of time and place must be proved previously as alleged Ibid The question c
' To renc
of the
son, was charged with the murder of a young wom was the day the deceased was murdered, he replied, seemingly without embarrassment that he had been all day employed at his master's work a statement which his master and fellow servants who were present, confirmed Subsequently it was proved that he was absent from his work about half an hour (the time being distinctly ascertained) in the forenoon of that day It was also proved by a young girl that she saw a person exactly like him where the deceased ardson was absent
time of the crime attacharji Lyon's
Med Jurisprudence Where the defence rests on alibi, the accused must show that he was present at some other place before the time of the alleged crime for such a length of time that it was impossible for him to have been at the place where the crime was committed either before or after the time he was at such other place Mays v State, 72 Neb 723=101 N W 979 So the question of time is material in the case of an execution of a document when both persons die from a common accident, etc Similarly the place of occurrence is very material in many cases

This section makes admissible all facts which fix the time and place Often time is proved by Opinion evidence In State v Baldwin, 36 Kan 10, Johnston J said 'Facts which are made up of a great variety of circumstances and a combination of appearances which from the infirmity of language cannot properly be described [are admissible] in this category may be placed matters involving magnitude or quantities portions of time, space, motion, gravitation value, and such as relate to the condition or appearance of persons or things

"Amongst the numerous physical and mechanical circumstances which occasionally lead to the detection of forgery and fraud, a discrepancy between date of a writing and the anno domini water mark in the fabric of the paper is one of the most striking ... was detected by the circumstance that a lett... was written upon paper made in England ... the death of a person by violent means, it often becomes necessary to ascertain the time of his death In such a case in the absence of any direct evidence, the time of death is ascertained by post mortem examination Time of death is generally ascertained by digestion, by putrifaction by rigor mortis and by temperature of the body Lyon's Med Juris

In the case of Empress v Sudhabode Bhattacharji, Reported in Lyon's Medical Juris at p 154, the hour of the death of the deceased became very important The ... had taken a meal of chupatties curry ... p m with her husband (the pr... r left the house at 4 A M deceased ... he returned The question to be ... period 10 p m to 4 A M during which the prisoner was in her room, or did it occur after his leaving the house? After examining the contents of the stomach the medical expert gave the opinion that in all probability the death occurred before the prisoner left the house So in such a case in order to ascertain the time of death evidence is admissible to show what food she took, when she took the food condition of her health, her age etc vide Lyon's Med Juris p 154

Testimonial evidence as regards time The ordinary observer, the average man, is entirely familiar with the duration of ... customary intervals of time Such a witness may ... moment at which a given event occurred or ... place between two events In the latter case the amount of elapsed time may be stated in standard units of duration hours, minutes seconds and the like or on the other hand, the statement may be one more general in form Such an act of reasoning is, in many instances merely the statement of a fact Although such an inference more largely embodies the element of reasoning an observer ... time required for the doing of familiar ... a telegram and so forth How long it ... cross a high way or bring about some other definite result or occurrence may be to one familiar with the facts, a very simple act of reasoning Chamberlayne's Ev § 2093

Illustration (a) This illustration is an example of introductory fact This may also serve to illustrate section 7, as being an instance of facts which may ... It is to be ... ction of the ... ection of a ... the alleged ... (XXXIV ... Hiscocks v ... Wilson 9 Cl & F 556 and other cases cited in Basu's Succession Act under section 75 So where the factum of the will is in issue such evidence is ordinarily admissible as introductory facts Where the question is whether a will is forged or not, these facts may rebut an inference suggested by a fact in issue Vide Nort 117 on him Clarl v Molyneux 3 Q B D 237, Jenoure v Delmege (1891) App Cas 73, Royal Aquarium &c Socy v Parkinson (1892) 1 Q B 443 Malice is proved when it is shown or that the defendant 9 Ex 615, Dickson v E

C 457 But to go int waste of too much time It is sufficient to show that there was a quarrel Simpson v Robinson 12 Q B D 511 Malin v Andrews, M & M 336, Nort Ev 117

Illustration (c) The fact of absconding which is admissible under s 8 is in itself equivocal It may be the result of guilty knowledge or conscience, or it may be perfectly innocent Anything, therefore, that the party absconding says at the time of the act is receivable as explanatory of a relevant fact It would also be receivable as part of the res gestae and as a declaration accompanying an act The question frequently arises in bankruptcy when it is necessary to decide whether leaving the house is an act of bankruptcy or not The presumption of inference arising from the act of absconding is thus rebutted Nort Ev

Illustrations (d) and (e) It is presumed says Norton that the statements made by C in one case, and B in the other are only to be receivable as evidence transaction Woodroffe Ev 194 *But it is submitted that explanation presup*poses an adverse inference after which only an explanation is admissible to rebut that inference As regards illustration (e) the statement is neither admissible as part of res gestae under the Verbal Act doctrine nor it not being a spontaneous declaration its sanctity is guaranteed

Illustration (f) This illustration is founded on the well known case of R v Lord George Gordon 21 How St Trial 514 In the case put the cries

10 Where there is reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have conspired together to commit an offence or an actionable wrong, anything said done or written by any one of

Things said or done by conspirator in reference to common design

0. such persons in reference to their common intention, after the time when such intention was first entertained by any one of them, is a relevant fact as against each of the persons believed to be so conspiring as well for the purpose of proving the existence of the conspiracy as for the purpose of showing that any such person was a party to it

Illustrations

Reasonable ground exists for believing that A has joined in a conspiracy to wage war against the Queen

The facts that B procured arms in Europe for the purpose of the conspiracy C collected money in Calcutta for a like object D persuaded persons to join the conspiracy in Bombay E published writings advocating the object in view at Agra, and F transmitted from Delhi to G at Cabul the money which C had collected at Calcutta and the contents of a letter written by H giving an account of the conspiracy are each relevant both to prove the existence of the conspiracy, and to prove A's complicity in it, although he may have been ignorant of all of them, and although the persons by whom they were done were strangers to him and although they may have taken place before he joined the conspiracy or after he left it

Conspiracy A conspiracy may be described in general terms, as a combination of two or more persons by some concerted action, to accomplish some criminal or unlawful purpose or to accomplish some purpose not in itself criminal or unlawful, by criminal or unlawful means Greenleaf Ev Vol III § 89, see also Drake v Stewart 10 U S App 173, U S v Benson, 44 ibid 219; State v Clark, 9 Houst 536, Pettibone v U S, 148 U S 197 'Conspiracy' says Mr Bishop is the corrupt agreeing together of two or more persons to do by concerted action something unlawful either as a means or as an end Bishop Cr Law Vol II § 171 The English Commissioners in their Report of 1843 proposed 'The crime of conspiracies consists in an agreement of two persons (not being husband and wife), or more than two persons to commit a crime or fraudulently or maliciously to injure or prejudice the public or any individual person 7th Rep Cr Law Com 1843 p 27 Section 120 A of the Indian Penal Code, lays down — When two or more persons agree to do or cause to be done – (1) an illegal act or (2) an act which is not illegal by illegal means such agreement onspiracy ich agree 15, Tindal

C J observed The crime of conspiracy is complete, if two or more than two should agree to do an illegal thing that is to effect something in itself unlawful or to effect by unlawful means something which in itself may be indifferent or even lawful It has accordingly been always held to be the law that the gist of the offence of conspiracy ... whether ing ory ars not mean criminal for there are many cases in which a combination to do a ... ng is a crime, although the act itself, if done by an individual, would not be a crime, on the other hand, "unlawful" does not mean 'tortious' for there are torts which it is not a crime to conspire to commit Nor again, does any case go so far as to decide that a combination to commit a breach of contract is a criminal conspiracy Roscoe, Cr Ev 526 Hence the word unlawful in the definition of conspiracy has no precise meaning Ibid But a conspiracy consists not merely in the intention of two or more, but in the agreement of two or more to do an unlawful act or to do a lawful act by unlawful means ... rests in effect against able if for criminal object for the use of criminal means The number and the

is not necessary, in order to constitute a conspiracy, that the acts agreed to be done should be acts which if done should be criminal It is enough if the acts agreed to be done, although not criminal, are wrongful i e, amount to a civil wrong" Thus a combination to use another's automobile without his consent may be a c[illegible] need not affe[illegible] individual [illegible] ful "does [illegible]
and for whi [illegible] which, by [illegible]

towards another person It may be punished criminally by indictment, or civilly in my opinion, the same though to sustain an action special damage must be proved . It has often been debated whether, assuming the existence of a convinced that a number of actions and things not in themselves actionable or unlawful if done separately without conspiracy may with conspiracy, become dangerous and alarming, just as a grain of gunpowder is harmless but a pound may be highly destructive, or the administration of one grain of a particular drug may be most beneficial as a medicine but administered frequently or in larger quantities with a view to harm may be fatal as a poison Many illustrations of these views might be suggested, but I need them not if I have made myself understood" Per Lord Brampton in Quinn v Leatham, (1901) A C at pp 529, 530, see also Mogul Case, (1892) A C 25, Rex v Journeymen Tailors, [illegible] Lord Mansfield

done has not been done [illegible]

So conspiracy differs from other charges in this respect, that in other charges the intention to do a criminal act is not a crime of itself, until something is done amounting to the doing or attempting to do some act to carry out that intention conspiracy on the other hand, consists simply in the agreement of confederacy to do some act no matter whether it is done or not Per Chesby B in R v Hibbert 13 Cox 82; R. v Most, 7 Q B D 244, Kalil Munda v King Emperor, 28 C 797 But a conspiracy [illegible] only where acts agreed to be done, [illegible] without preconcert have involved a civil in[illegible] nons, 1 Q B 185 Kearney v Lloyd, 26 L [illegible] T 132, Templeton v Laurie 25 B 230

Union of Wills Obviously there must be, between the conspirators, a con[illegible]

[illegible] conspirator [illegible] Yet where the conspiracy is to commit a particular offence [illegible] not essential that both should be capable of it as principals of the first degree One to be chargeable need not have been the original contriver of the mischief for he may become a partaker in it by joining the others while it is being executed If he actually concurs, no proof is required of an agreement to concur Bishop's Crim [illegible] could have [illegible] The [illegible] be inferred by the jury from other facts proved, in other words from circumstantial evidence Bishop's Cr Law § 190 (2)

Combination to commit crime A combination to commit a substantive crime is an indictable offence Roscoe Cr Ev 526 In England at common law, husband and wife who are considered as one person are incapable of conspiring together 1 Russ Cr 146; Director of P P v Blady, (1912) 2 K B 89, 92 But they can severally or jointly conspire with other persons R. v Whitehouse 6 Cox 38 It is immaterial whether the principal offence is a felony, or misdemeanour or wh[illegible] Russ Cr 150 Wright on [illegible] bination to cause public [illegible] 730 (745), R v Boulton, 12 Cox 87 Criminal conspiracy consists in the agreement of two or more persons to commit an offence punishable by law It is undoubtedly true the law does not take notice of the intention or the state of the mind of the offender and there must be some overt act to give expression to that intention Nirmal v King Emperor, 31 C W N 239

Combination to Commit Torts [illegible] an indictable conspiracy in many, th[illegible] what cases Kenny says any tort that is [illegible] a trespass committed bona fide by persons eager to assert their supposed right of way ' Roscoe Cr Ev 526 In many cases an agreement to do a certain thing has been considered as the subject of an indictment for conspiracy at common law, though the same act if done separately by each individual without any [illegible] criminal or even actionable [illegible] 8 Mod [illegible]

have certainly a right to express by ap[illegible]

[illegible]

369, see also Gregory v Duke of Brunswick, 6 M & G 953, R v Leigh 1 C & K 28n, Wright on Conspiracy, 37 The law on the subject is thus summarised by Bowen L J in Mogul Steamship Co v Mc Gregor & Co. 23 Q B D 598 ' Of the general proposition that certain kinds of conduct not criminal in any one individual may become criminal if done by combination among several there can be no doubt The distinction is based on sound reason, for a combination may make oppressive or dangerous that which if it proceeded only from a single person would be otherwise and the very fact of the combination may shew that the object is simply to do harm and not to exercise one's just rights ' This case was approved by the House of Lords on appeal vide (1892) A C 25 see also Allen v Flood (1898) A C 1, Quinn v Leatham (1901) A C 495 S Wales Miners Federation v Glamorgan (1905) A C 239, 252 But in the application of this undoubted principle it is necessary to be very careful not beyond that which is necessary for the Mogul Steamship v Mc Gregor 23 Q iated Labourers (1903) 2 K B 600 So a combination to violate without just cause private rights contractual or other in which the public has a sufficient intere violation of the private right is an action McGregor (1892) A C. 25 (48) see also R v

A conspiracy to commit fraud is indictabl indictable R v Warburton, 11 Cox C C 5 be proved to be co trespassers by other competent evidence the declarations of one as to the motives and circumstances of the trespass will be evidence against

Co s which the Courts gerous to the public ts involving public Roscoe Cr Ev 596

Agree to commit breach of contract Agreement to commit a breach of contract in circumstances that are peculiarly injurious to the public is conspiracy Vertue v L Clive 4 Burr 2473, see also Roscoe Cr Ev 527

Proof of conspiracy Direct evidence is not essential to prove the conspiracy It need not be shown that the parties actually came together and agreed in express terms to enter in and pursue a common design Underhill Cr Ev § 491 In many cases the existence of conspiracy is a matter of inference deduced

mon criminal purpose I L 306 (317) The onspiracy may be and the jury from proof of facts and circumstances which taken together apparently indicate that they are merely parts of some comeplete whole R v Parsons 1 W Bl 392 Emperor v Annappa 9 Bom L R 347 Kishen Chand v Emperor 92 Ind Cas 419 Although the common design is the root of the charge it is not necessary to prove that the defendants came together and actually agreed in express terms to have the common design and to pursue it by into execution for in many cases of the most there are no means of proving any such thing v Brittain, 3 Cox 76, R v Parnell 14 Cox 60 persons pursue by their acts the same object, often by the same means one per forming one part of an act and the other another part of the same act so as to conspiracy is to be inferred from the conduct of the parties R. v Duffell 5 Cox 401; R. v Cope, 1 Str. 144

When the proof of conspiracy depends upon proof of the participation of the accused in an overt act which itself amounts to an offence, the porper course is to put the accused on the trial for that offence However, the accused may legally be charged merely with the offence of criminal conspiracy The mere association of an accused with any of the conspirators is not enough by itself to convict him of being a member of the conspiracy Kalidas v Emperor, 39 C L J. 151=83 Ind Cas 513 Where the accused is charged with an offence of conspiracy and acts of cheating in pursuance of conspiracy, the charge is not bad and it is open to the prosecution to prove such acts in order that from these the existence of the conspiracy may be proved Abdur v King Emperor, 35 C L 279, Subramania v Emperor, 25 M 61 distinguished Conspiracy can be proved from surrounding circumstances and conduct of the accused It need not be proved by direct evidence Emperor v Annappa, 5 Cr L J 323 see also Chidamboran Pillai v Emperor, 32 M. 3 Criminal conspiracy might be proved by direct or circumstantial evidence In a charge for the offence of conspiracy the overt acts by which the object of the conspiracy in sought to be attained need not be given Kishen Chand v Crown, 92 Ind Cas 419=27 Cr L J 243=20 S L R 18=A I R 1926 Sind 171

Scope of the section The operation of this section is strictly conditional upon there being reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have conspired together to commit an offence Per Jenkins C J in Barindra v Emperor, 37 C 467 at p 504 Before anything said done or written by any one alleged member of a conspiracy can be used as evidence against another, the Court must have reasonable ground for believing that the conspiracy between them existed 1930 M W N 1264 So it is reasonable as a general rule, that some prima facie and satisfactory evidence should, in the first instance, be given of the common purpose, before evidence of the acts in it by a multitude of persons who but for such common purpose would be absolute strangers, should be received Nort Ev 120 In R. v Mc Kenna, Ir Circ Rep 461, Pennefather C J said "It is necessary to prove the evidence of a conspiracy, and to connect the prisoner with it in the first instance where you seek to give in evidence against him the declaration of a co-conspirator; and having done so you are then at liberty to give in evidence against the prisoner acts done by any of the parties, whom you have connected with the conspiracy, but when a party's own declarations are to be given in evidence such preliminary proof is not requisite and you may as in any other offence, prove the whole case against him by his own admissions So if a prima facie evidence of a conspiracy is given and accepted, the evidence of statements made by any one of the conspirators in furtherance of the common object is admissible against all Rex v Blake 6 Q B D 126, Rex v Baskerville (1916) 2 K B 658=86 L J K B 28 The Indian Evidence Act did not mean to depart from the law as expounded in those cases Lalaram Ganganmull, In re 81 Ind, Cas 817=25 Cr L J 1041=20 L W 202 But a conspiracy within the terms of section 10 of the Act contemplates something more than the joint action of two or more persons to commit an offence If that were not so this section would be applicable to any offence committed by two or more persons jointly with deliberation and this would import into a trial a mass of hearsay evidence which the accused persons would find it impossible to meet Nagendra Bala v The Empress, 4 C W N 528 For the application of this section there must be reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have conspired together to commit an offence, and that being shown, anything said, done or written by any one of such persons in reference to their common intention may be proved both for the purpose of proving the existence of the conspiracy as also for showing that any such person was party to it Kalil v King Emperor, 28 C 797, see also Kusir Bap v Emperor, 18 C L J 590 But statements made by an alleged conspirator to a third party suggesting that there had been a conspiracy between the plaintiff and others in connection with the forgery of an alleged will, are not relevant when such statements are used to prove (a) the existence of a conspiracy as to which there is no issue, or (b) that the plaintiff was a party to it. Kadambini Dassi v Kumudini, 30 C 983, see also Pulin v Emperor, 15 C L J 517 Where an agreement exists, between two parties, in pursuance of which speeches are delivered by them such speeches are admissible

S. 1

of law is that when several persons are proved to have combined together for the same illegal purpose any act done by one of the parties in pursuance of the concerted plan and with reference to the common object, is in the contemplation of the law the act of the whole Each party out the objects of the conspiracy and do common design Per Couch C J in Queen v
R Cr 15; see also Emperor v Abani, 38 C

It is a rule of substantive law and not a rule of Evidence The rule underlying this section is a rule of substantive law and not a rule of evidence The following extracts from the writings of Professor James Bradley Thayer, from American Law Review, XV 80, is very instructive on the point "The term res gesta is f is whether a part
tion of another;
whether it shall be so used as having been brought home to him, and whether he shall be chargeable with it as if it were his own When the enquiry is whether the utterance it is sai busines
busines
engaged in the common enterprise and regarding that,—in such cases it is common to express this idea by saying that the declarations must be made as a part of the res gesta, and if it is not so made, it is deemed to be res inter alios gesta Now it is obvious, on a little reflection, that to settle this question adversely to the admissibility of that which is offered in evidence, is really to said busin

when tor, th
enterprise, about the affairs of it, and as a part of the res gesta, adds nothing, it is used as a compact expression for the business, as regards which the law for certain purposes identifies the two conspirators or the principal and agent In such cases, evidently, the declaration may be about a past fact as well as a present one, so long as it comes up to the above-named requirements "

Principle The principle on which the acts and declarations of other conspir part of the res gesta, conspiracy is to be inferred from the conduct of the parties R. v Duffield, 5 Cox. 404; R v Cope, 1 Str. 144

When the proof of conspiracy depends upon proof of the participation of the accused in an overt act which itself amounts to an offence, the porper course is to put the accused on the trial for that offence However, the accused may legally be charged merely with the offence of criminal conspiracy The mere association of an accused with any of the conspirators is not enough by itself to convict him of being a member of the conspiracy. Kalidas v Emperor, 33 C L J. 151=82 ... conspiracy anc ... and it is open ... existence of t ... Conspiracy can be proved ... accused It need not be ... 5 Cr. L J 323, see also Chidamboran Pillai v Emperor, 32 M. 3 Criminal conspiracy might be proved by direct or circumstantial evidence In a charge for the offence of conspiracy the overt acts by which the object of the conspiracy is sought to be attained need not be given Kishen Chand v Crown, 92 Ind Cas 419=27 Cr L. J 243=20 S L R. 18=A I R 1926 Sind 171.

Scope of the section The operation of this section is strictly conditional upon there being reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have ... Emperor, ... alleged ... urt must ... exi ted ... ne prima ... n of the ... ons who ... received ... said "It ... pri oner ... m the with it ... erty to declarat ... m you give in ... have connected with the conspiracy, but when a party's own declarations are to be given in evidence, such preliminary proof is not requisite, and you may as in any other offence, prove the whole case against him by his own admissions" So if a prima facie evidence of a conspiracy is given and accepted, the evidence ... of the common ... v Baskerville, ... ld not mean ... anmull, In re, ... piracy within the terms of section 10 of ... more than the joint action of two or more persons ... not so, this section ... more persons jointly ... is of hearsay evidence ... eet Nagendra Bala v ... section there must ... ave conspired togethe ... aid, done or written by any one of such persons in reference to their common intention may be proved both for the purpose of proving the existence of the conspiracy as also for showing that any such person was party to it Kalil v King Emperor, 26 C 797, see also Kusir Bap v. Emperor, 18 C L J 590 But statements made by an alleged conspirator to a third party suggesting that there had been a conspiracy between the plaintiff and others in connection with the forgery of an alleged will, are not relevant when such statements are used to prove (a) the existence of a conspiracy as to which there is no issue, or (b) that the plaintiff was a party to it. Kadambini Dassi v. Kumudini, 30 C 983, see also Pulin v Emperor, 15 C L J. 517 Where an agreement exists, between two parties, in pursuance of which speeches are delivered by them such speeches are admissible

This section makes evidence communications between different conspirators while conspiracy is going on, with reference to the carrying out of a conspiracy But it is not intended to make evidence the confession of a co accused and put it on the same footing as a communication passing between conspirators, or between conspirators and other persons, with reference to the conspiracy Emperor v. Abani, 15 C W N 25=38 C 169 So letters written by one co-conspirator may be evidence against others even when they are not written in furtherance of the conspiracy. Vide, Queen v Amir Khan, 17 W R Cr. 15; Queen v Amiruddin, 7 B L R 63=15 W R Cr 25 The illustration to this section is inconsistent with the section The way that the words "and to prove A's complicity in it" come into the illustration are not quite in accordance with common sense or with the section but where the fact from the nature of things ... t matter much ... Emperor, 28

Existence of Reasonable Ground For the application of this section there must be reasonable ground to believe that two or more persons have conspired together to commit an offence and that being shown anything said, done or written by any one of such persons in reference to their common intention may be proved both for the purpose ... for showing that any such ... C 797, see also Kusir Bap v ... 14 C W N 1114=37 C 467, ... N 676, 1930 M W N 1264

... 248 But before admitting ... portions of the evidence ... the existence of a conspiracy ... that case the prisoner was ...

and done by Ramraji when the prisoner was not present are not relevant facts as aginst the prisoner, as the prisoner was not present when they were told unless

And here, also, ... at was said and done by the other conspirato ... declarations made and done while the conspir ... in furtherance of the ... said or done by them befo... missibility Greenleaf I ...

... guishable from that of ... (1892—1896) Vol I, 148 ... each ... fo ... liable for what is done by his fel ... nce of the common intention which they had both entertained Emperor v Shafi Ahmad, 31 Bom L R 515; Queen v Amir Khan, 9 B L R 36 = 17 W R. Cr 15

Difference between English and Ind ... adm- sible in cases of conspiracy much evide ... under the English Law The provisions o ... the English Law Ramprasad v Empe ... ees with others to effect a common ... as a party to every act, which either ... lone, by the confederates, in further- ance of the common design Per Coleridge J in R v Murphy, 8 C & P 311 So also it does not matter, whether the acts were done, or the declarations made, in the presence or in the absence of the accused, but everything said or done by any one of the conspirators or ... is evidence against e ... or absent, and whe ... place R v Brandr ... 535 As the English ... doctrine, a distinction ... themselves purporti ... accompany and expl ... those statements, whether written or oral, which, although made during the continuance of the plot are in fact a mere narrative of the measures that have already been taken. The last statement accordingly is inadmissible So a letter written by a co-conspirator to a private friend unconnected with the plot ... society to wh... which enc ... writer, and ... society, was rejected on the ground that it was ... merely a relation of the part w ... only admissible against hims ... 153, per Eyre C J Macdonald, ... In R v Watson, 32 How St ... great weight in the argument ... Legislators wisely departed fro ... n 24 How St Tr 451, 453 and laid down the law which is consonant with the principle indicated above It has already been stated that this rule, is not a rule of evidence as erroneously believed but is a rule of substantive law which considers the cons pirators as one person and as such any statement made by one should be consi dered as an admission by each one of the rest ... used against other ... as explained under s ... declarations of ... gainst his fellows, only when they ... any and explain acts, for which ... are in the nature of narratives, de ... §§ 593-594 The provisions of se ... those of English law according to which the act or declaration must have been done or said, not only with reference to the common intention but also in pursuance of the same Mendai v King Emperor, 5 Oudh Cas 321; Ram Prosad v Emperor, 1 Luck C 339 = A I R 1927 Oudh 369.

This section makes evidence communications between different conspirators while conspiracy is going on, with reference to the carrying out of a conspiracy But it is not intended to make evidence the confession of a co accused and put it on the same footing as a communication passing between conspirators, or between conspirators and other persons, with reference to the conspiracy. Emperor v. Abani, 15 C W N. 25=38 C 169 So letters written by one co-conspirator may be evidence against others even when they are not written in furtherance of the conspiracy. Vide, Queen v Amir Khan, 17 W R Cr 15; Queen v Amiruddin, 7 B L R 63=15 W R Cr. 25 The illustration to this section is inconsistent with the section The way that the words "and to prove A's complicity in it" come into the illustration are not quite in accordance with common sense or with the section but where the fact from the nature of things [illegible] t matter much [illegible] .. Emperor, 28

[illegible] application of this section there [illegible] more persons have conspired [illegible] g shown anything said, done or written by any one of such persons in reference to their common intention may be proved both for the purpose of [illegible] for showing that any such pers [illegible] C 797, see also Kusir Bap v Em [illegible] 14 C W N 1114=37 C 467, Am [illegible] N 676, 1930 M W N 1264 81 I [illegible]

[illegible] Mendai v King Emperor, 5 Oudh Cas 321 In that case the prisoner was

[illegible]

provi [illegible] e to the common intention of herse [illegible] missible in evidence, as the statement [illegible] that R and the prisoner had conspired together [illegible] Indian Evide [illegible] afforded a re [illegible] to murder J [illegible] A J C said: Evidence Act The Sessions Judge does not state the portions of the evidence of Biraja which afforded a reasonable ground for believing that the prisoner and [illegible]

[illegible] against the prisoner, and that unless such reasonable ground exists things said and done by Ramraji when the prisoner was not present are not relevant facts [illegible] at present when they were told unless [illegible] eving that [illegible]

to Biraja are rele [illegible] for as already [illegible] but the question [illegible] Kusir Bap v [illegible]

590 There is a difference between a reasonable ground to believe a thing and a proof of that thing Balmukand v Emperor, 28 Ind Cas 738=1 P R 1915 Cr =16 Cr L J 358 Proof of conspiracy is not essential to the admissibility of the evidence itself Reasonable proof of a conspiracy may however, be demanded before the agency of one alleged conspirator may be properly held to affect those claimed to be his associates Chamberlayne's Ev § 3244

Communications between conspirators As soon as it is proved that the prisoner was privy to the general conspiracy, everything done by each of his fellow conspirators must be imputed to him as a part of the conspiracy if it was done to carry out their general purpose Per Eyre J in R v Hardy 24 How St Tr 451 The day book kept by one of the conspirators is evidence of something done in the course of the transaction (Per Lord Denman C J in R v Blake 6 Q B 137), and as such it is receivable in evidence as a step in the proof of the conspiracy Ibid, per Patterson J In the same case Coleridge J said at p 140 "As to the counterfoil it is quite clear that no declaration of Ty ... in evidence against Blake which was made in Blake's absence ... What then was the statement ... ffected" In Hardy's Case, 24 How ... ecut on of a letter written by ... to his wife, who was not a party to the c... art he had taken in the crime Eyre ... ned the whole matter up thus I ... vate letter as anything more than J... The l call's ... h remotely ... done in the ... of his a ... o me that ... The l call in carrying the papers and delive... rt of the transaction itself" See also Parll 76 But it appears that suc... a letter is admissible under this section

Order of Proof It has already been stated that this section comes into ... two or more persons ... Vide Kahl ... ground for ... ndas v King Emperor, 5 Oudh C... In R v O Connell, 5 State Tr N S 710, Pennefather C J said "When evidence is once given to the jury of a conspiracy, against A, B, and C whatever is done by A B or C, in furtherance of the common commercial object is evidence against A, B, and C, though no direct proof be given that A, B, or C, knew of it or actually participated in it If the conspiracy be proved to have existed, or rather if evidence be given to the jury of its existence the acts of one in furtherance of the common design are the acts of all, and whatever one does in the furtherance of common design, he does as the agent of the co-conspirators"; see also R v Hardy, 24 How St Tr 451, R v Stone, 25 How St Tr 1; R v Watson 32 How St Tr 80 359, 539, R v Brandreth 24 How St Tr 766, 852, R v Hu... must be proved before giving ... olated acts may be proved ... ished Fort v Elliot 4 Ex ... In R v Duffield, 5 Cox ... pen one in a thousand times ... comes before the jury to ... conspire together, and ... species of evidence ... conspiracy is to be ... seen taking ... seen through ... for the jury ... bout that end, ... which their conduct ap... Russ Cr 192

So the fact of conspiracy must be established before the act of one can be made the act of all But the conspiracy may be proved by direct or indirect evidence R. v Blake, 6 Q ... ; R v Baskerville, (1916) 2 K B 658, ... 120; 1 East P C. 96, 2 Stark Ev 326 ... 2 B & B 302; R v. Jacobs, 1 Cox ... rney, 11 Cox 414 The object of this section is merely to ensure that one person shall not be made responsible for the acts or deeds of another until some bond in the nature of agency has been established between them and the acts words or writing of another which it is proposed to attribute vicariously to the person charged must be in furtherance of the common design and after such design was entertained Indra v Chandra Emperor, 116 Ind Cas. 756=30 Cr L J 646=A. I R 1929 Pat 145 (F. B)

The rule is applied by East as follows · "In this (high treason), as in cases founded in conspiracy, the conspiracy or agreement among several to act in concert together for a particular end must be established by proof, before any evidence can be given of the acts of any person not in the presence of the prisoner And this must generally speaking, be done by evidence of the party's own act, and cannot be collected from the acts of others, independent of his own, as by express evidence of the fact of a previous conspiracy together, or of a concurrent knowledge and approbation of each other's acts" But it may also be done by "evidence of the acts of the prisoner, and of any other with whom he is ...

sar ...

Stc ...

evidence against another who is charged as a fellow conspirator, until such a ...

act, etc .... of one ... can properly be used as evidence to show designs of another; yet in some peculiar instances where it would be difficult to establish the defendant's privity without first proving the existence of the conspiracy, a deviation has been made from this rule, and evidence of acts and conduct of ... 's to the ... w on the ... Mr Phip- ... common ... existence ... , though ... v Frost, ... perfectly clear ... conspired is rec... his share in it ... cases of ... in otherwise ... of strangers ... remembered that it is an inversion of the usual order for the sake of convenience, and such evidence is, in the result, material so far only as the assent of the accused to what has been done by others is proved." Roscoe Cr Ev pp 533, 534; Per Buller J in Hardy's Case 24 How St Tr 451 So it is clear that the general principle affecting the order of evidence leaves it ultimately to be controlled by the trial Court's descretion In the present application, the rule of conditional relevancy naturally applies, i e statements of A being receivable against B on ... conspiracy must ... a given case, the ... 79; see also the ... , 229, 241; R. v ... een first given of general conspiracy before any proof of the particular part which the ... St Tr 1218, Lord Russel's Case, ... v Hammond, 2 Esp 718; R. v ... C 331. In the Queen's Case ...

2 B & B 303 (310) Abbot C J observed We are of opinion that on a prose cution for a crime to be proved by conspiracy general evidence of an exi ting conspiracy may, in the first instance, be received as a preliminary step to that more particular evidence by which it is shown that the individual defendant were guilty [illegible] It is often necessary to render the particular [illegible] and character of the acts [illegible] it we presume it is permitted But it is to be observed, that in such [illegible] es the general nature of the whole evidence intended to be adduced is previously opened to the Court, whereby the Judge is enabled to form, an opinion as to the probabil ty of affecting the individual defendants by particular proof applicable to them [illegible] the alleged conspiracy, and [illegible] proof s fficient [illegible] ity of [illegible] to be [illegible] received, [illegible] ng an unreasonable prejudice would certainly be a useless waste of time

The admissibility of the act or declaration of a co conspirator against the party defendant before the Court does not depend on whether such co conspi rator is indicted or not or tried or not with the defendant 2 Starkie Ev 3?9 see also R v Dugual 94 L T 887 In the case of a conspiracy to carry on the bus ness of common cheats, proof at different times of similar acts is adm ble as cumulative instances are necessary to prove the offence R v Roberts 1 Camp 399

Anything said or done etc In England originally such evidence was admissible on the principle of res gestae Vide Phil Ev 9th Ed Vol I 199 It follows, that any writings or verbal expressions, being acts in themselves [illegible] explaining other acts, and therefore part of the res [illegible] home to one conspirator, are evidence against [illegible] ed it sufficiently appears that they were u ed [illegible] design Phil Ev 9th Ed Vol I, 204, see also [illegible] r 404 What the effect of such evidence will be must depend on a variety of circumstances, as whether the prisoner was attending to the conversation whether he approved or disapproved Per Eyre C J in Ib [illegible] see also Stone s Case 6 T R 527, Rex v Salter 5 Esp 125 So also consulta [illegible] lance (Lord Russel s Ca e [illegible] ers found [illegible] ably con [illegible] ner was a [illegible] itions or [illegible] isoner is [illegible] y accom [illegible] lly out of [illegible] pany [illegible] fession [illegible] these acts, and not being [illegible] t of the of them Upon this pr [illegible] ions of [illegible] neeting [illegible] kind of [illegible] 54? On [illegible] pon ban ers, have [illegible] Hunt, 3 B & A 566 [illegible] ry where words or [illegible] but a mere relation [illegible] persons have had [illegible] nature original [illegible] and therefore [illegible] v St Tr 34? [illegible] h had been [illegible] to the design [illegible] o be admis [illegible] s admitted in [illegible] evidence is [illegible] v Hardwick, 11 East 585, Powell v Hodgetts 2 C & P 432, North v. Miles 1 Campb 389, S.

Bo
Al oth dec evidenc common object
declaration of a fellow conspirator against a defendant whether the former be indicted or not, or tried or not with the latter, for the making one a co defendant does not make his acts or declarations evidence against another, any more than they were before, the principle upon which they are admissible at all is, that the act or declaration of one is that of both united in common design, a principle which is wholly unaffected by the consideration of their being jointly indicted" 2 Stark Ev 329 3rd Ed But where the conspiracy was charged with "divers other person" Watson J made an order for the names to be given forthwith R v Perrin, 72 J P 144

A letter written by a person who is a stranger to the transaction is not admissible King Emperor v Keshab 25 Bom L R 248 In a trial of several accused for sedition an exercise book was put in evidence On each one save five of the 62 pages of the book there appeared an entry consisting in most cases of a name or pseudonym followed by an address and in most cases by a series of what was clearly pass words Each name was preceded by a pair of letters or a single letter and these were arranged in order so as to be divided into groups and it was clear that a particular letter or pair of letters was appropriate to the addresses in a particular locality Simultaneous searches at the residence of several of the named persons and investigation of their activities disclosed evidence that for the greater part they exhibited a form of activity manifested in different ways but in nearly all cases of a revolutionary trend and in many instances directed to actual violence in support of such trend The accused could give no account or explanation of the code Held that the cipher code book was not to be treated as the act, word or deed of a particular individual, but the fact that it existed, the fact that set forth the names and address of a substantial number of persons charged, the fact that it was in a peculiar form such as is not likely to be found in any code intended to be used for lawful purposes, and many internal in use of words and names having probability amounting almost associated for some unlawful pur be kept secret and in absence of evidence that the persons named in it were associated for some legitimate purpose to be kept secret for some legitimate reason, the cipher code was in itself a good ground for supposing that the persons named have conspired to commit an offence and any other acts or writings of individual conspirators in furtherance of the common design became admissible under s 10 Indra Chandra v Emperor, 116 Ind Cas 756=A I R 1929 Pat 145=30 Cr L J 646 (F B) A and B are indicted in England for a conspiracy to commit a felony The only evidence of the conspiracy consists of facts done
to nd hip

Ev 81

Illustrations In Balmukand v Emperor, 28 Ind Cas 738=17 P R 1915 Cr Johnstone J observed 'I am however inclined to agree with Mr Beechy as to point (2) in support of which he quoted Barindra Kumar Ghosh v Emperor, 7 Ind Cas 359=14 C W N 1114=11 Cr L J 453=37 C 467 They say that the words 'and to prove A's complicity in it come into the he section as Calcutta and A's complicity
ng otherwise implicating
A only of adding proof of the existence and nature of conspiracy At the risk of being tedious, I must give an illustration to explain my view In the case given in ... nanufacturer, to send ... otherwise prima facie, ... t both as to the nature ... does not mention A and A's name in no way comes into the business of ordering arms in Europe, how can it be said that B's ordering of arms there can produce in the mind of the Judge any added conviction that A was a member of the conspiracy? Of course in framing a law ... for the purpose ... the idea that the ... create a barren, ... an ar ... is not to matte ... ot, if as a matte ... towards the ... nderlying this ... absence committing jointly any criminal offence are deemed to be mutual agents or confederates for the purpose only of the execution of the joint purpose Accordingly any act done by one of them in the execution of common purpose is deemed the act of the others also Wills' Ev 167; see also R v Caton, 12 Cox 624; R v. Blake, 6 Q B 126; R v Murphy, 8 C & P 297. So when a co-conspirator leaves a conspiracy, the mutual agency terminates so far as he is concerned and as such acts and declarations of other conspirators should not be admissible against him In England also a conversation held by D and E, two members of the conspiracy ... rs, and about an hour after th ... nd B, two other

... an abortion which A and B conspired to procure on July, 22 Evidence of doctor that B called on him in June and asked for a remedy for her condition, was held admissible against A as the act was in furtherance of the common purpose But a diary kept by B, incriminating A, and a letter intended for, but not sent to him, both written after the abortion, were rejected as not in furtherance of the common purpose Statement of a co accused after arrest is not admissible against other co accused Sital v Emperor, 46 C 7000=30 C L J 255 The ... particular defendant ... he conspiracy ... v Dwyer, 24 ... B are indicted in Middlesex for a conspiracy to destroy property After proof acts ... n Surrey ... rdon 21 ... 54, Phip ... s 229 ... itence of death in attempting to escape from confinement in jail He procured saw ... en by some ... ith certain ... as witness ... r the death ... e convicts ... 100 The request was repeated twice Held, that the evidence of the constable was admissible under the circumstances under s 10 Maula Baksh v Emperor, 119 Ind. Cas

S.

763=30 Cr L J 1103=1929 Cr L J. 190=A I R 1929 Lah 631 Where previous associa-roborate approver
'ahuddin, A I. R.
1930 Bom 137=32 Bom L. R 324

American law—common purpose is not sufficient A common purpose is not sufficient, standing alone, to secure admissibility for the evidence of what happened on other occasions The several acts may well have been done for the same purpose or in pursuance of a single agreement, the evidence nevertheless is not admissible unless the common purpose runs through the several acts rather than up to them In other words, the individual transactions must be connected, correlated and systematized in such a way that each act, though, perhaps, in a sense, complete in itself, is yet a necessary element in a plan to reach an ulterior object which has been in view from the start, simply unity of purpose is not sufficient A mere conspiracy to do a number of disconnected acts of a similar nature, e, g, to rob all the houses of a given neighbourhood and the carrying out of such an arrangement, would not be sufficient to authorize the Court in receiving evidence of one robbery as proof of the commission of another Those associated in common plan may each be liable, under the rules of substantive law governing the relations of conspirators, for the doing of any acts which may have been done during and in pursuance of the conspiracy But such a situation does not disclose an instance of the working of the rule under consideration Chamberlayne's Ev § 3244

with
or the see a a cor Mani
one i them were acquitted, the other is entitled to an acquittal, as a matter of course Profulla v King-Emperor, 30 C W. N 94=91 Ind Cas 813; R v Manning, 12 Q B D 241, Kasem v Emperor, 45 C L J 204, Manindra v. Emperor, 41 C 754

When facts not otherwise relevant become relevant

11. Facts not otherwise relevant are relevant—

(1) if they are inconsistent with any fact in issue or relevant fact;

(2) if by themselves or in connection with other facts they make the existence or non-existence of any fact in issue or relevant fact highly probable or improbable.

Illustrations

(a) The question is whether A committed a crime at Calcutta, on a certain day.

The fact that, on that day, A was at Lahore is relevant.

The fact that, near the time when the crime was committed, A was at a distance from the place where it was committed, which would render it highly improbable, though not impossible, that he committed it, is relevant

(b) The question is, whether A committed a crime by A comm

relevant

Scope of the section This section is, no doubt, expressed in terms so extensive that any fact which can, by a chain of ratiocination, be brought into connection with another, so as to have a bearing upon a point in issue, may possibly be held to be relevant within its meaning But the connections of human affairs are so infinitely various and so far reaching, that thus to take the section in its widest admissible sense would be to complicate every trial with a mass of collateral inquiries limited only by the patience and the means of the parties One of the objects of the law of evidence is to restrict the investigations made by courts within the bounds prescribed by general convenience, and this object would be completely frustrated by the admission, on all occasions of every circumstance on either side having some remote and conjectural probative force, the precise amount of which might itself be ascertainable only by a long trial and a determination of fresh collateral issues, growing up in endless

... an extensive meaning was not

... the
the 90
...
lear Vajiran ... be that all ... 414
properly ... the (430) ... rity
law of ... 28
Ranchoddas v Bapu, 10 B 439 (441), see also Emperor v Alloomiya Hus ...
... admissible as
... collateral
... 2) that it
... s to the
... , 6 Bom
... Hill v
... Singh, 34
... learned
... e They
... sons can only be admitted under sections 32 and 33 of the Evidence Act. It is conceded that the statements in question do not come within the purview of those sections and are, therefore, not admissible under those sections, but it is contended that ... stence or
... tate-
... bable
... it can be admitted ... The terms of section 11 are, it is true, wide, ... must be read subject to the other sections of the Act, and therefore the fact relied on must be proved in accordance with the provisions of the Act If that fact is a statement made by a person who is not called or cannot be called, the statement
... ent sections
... tion of the
... o relevancy
... who said
... itted unless
... it above, a
... admissible
... her cases
... 21 Cr L J
... ntention of the Legislature would appear from the following extracts of Stephen's Introduction to Evidence Act, 160 where he stated "It may possibly be argued that the effect of the second paragraph of section 11 would be to admit proof of such facts as these (namely, statements as to facts by persons not called as witness, transactions similar to but unconnected with the facts in issue; opinions formed by persons as to the facts in issue or relevant facts) It may, for instance be ... (a witness) was heard to declare that he had seen B commit
... ommit that crime There-
... This was not the intention ... contained in the following
... ular classes of statements, which are regarded as relevant facts either because the circumstances under which they are made invest them with importance, or because no better evidence can be got The sort of facts which the section was intended to include are facts which either exclude or imply more or less distinctly the existence of the facts sought to be proved Some degree of latitude was designedly left in the wording of the section (in compliance with a suggestion from the Madras Government) on account of the variety of matters to which it might apply

This section is not always controlled by Section 32 As a general rule s 11 of the Evidence Act is controlled by s 32 of the Act where the evidence consists of statements of persons who are rule is subject to certain exceptions 9 Bom L R 1047, Ambica v Kumud A 521 In the former case Beman J in question being whether a will was made in forged been w will is tend d or cannot supported on the ground that it is itself a relevant fact under s 11 While I adhere to the correctness of general rule s of persons wh
exceptions Th confused that it is d to veracity can then be tested by the art of cross examination Where however witnesses cannot be brought before the Court their previous statements not, except under by necessity to tak plainly aim at affo

of testing the man

into play Briefly the test whether the statement of a person who is dead or who cannot be found is relevant under section 11

said was true or false, but highly material that he did say it In these circumstances alter the fact, if it be a fact that he di needed to bring the thing said under s a case at this for example, suppo

his will where the fact that is relevant under s 11 is not what a deceased person chose to predicate about a thing but that he mentioned it at all, whether what he predicated of it were true or false, then and then only it is a case outside s. 32"

Fact whether includes judgment Everything which has been called into being by some agency or other, is in the widest sense a fact and in certain sense, a judgment may be said to be a fact within the meaning of s 3 of the Act. Gajjul Lall v Fatteh Lal, 6 C. 171, Per Jackson J, contra ibid Mitter J Former judgments which are not of the nature of judgments in rem, nor judgments

' be admitted, where parties are different, as r s 11 or under any other section of the Act

i, 10 B 43 The Collector of Gorakhpur v Palak dhari 12 A 1 Though the recital in a judgment cannot be used as evidence still the judgment is evidence as a relevant fact in issue or as a transaction with families

estion in a suit.

see also Indar

Singh v Fateh Singh, 1 Lah 540

Facts not otherwise relevant As regards clause (2) of this section Mr been

it is a ma

made so

cannot be depended upon for any important purpose unless they are made under special circ

they render and if they

which may probative fc

judgment of Beaman J in 9 Bom. L R 1047 cited supra.

Facts inconsistent with any facts in issue The usual theory of essential the act in act is istency,

it since

ly fair

bsolute

and its ntial

ough

place

ding,

nth,

arm

unt

in it with fact in issue Sheo Bhanaan v

Cas 895

essentially

with ative

is a nt is itally

nth a stent

t is

th to

it is really positive evidence which in the nature of things necessarily implied a negative' When a defence rests on proof of an alibi, it must cover the time when the offence is shown to have been committed, so as to preclude the possibility of the prisoner's presence at the place of the murder for if it be possible that he could have been at both places the proof of the alibi is valueless Per Agnew J in Briceland v Com, 74 Pa 463 469 Such expressions however seem in truth to refer only to the weight of the alibi argument, by pointing out that it falls short of complete proof except on these conditions If they were intended to mean anything more, they are clearly unsound, and would exclude nine alibi arguments out of ten Even as affecting the weight of the argument (with which ... statements seem erroneous, for an alibi ... but only high improbability, and yet be

Non access of husband to show illegitimacy Since legitimacy of offspring implies a begetting by the husband it would be relevant, in disproving legitimacy to use his absence from wife at the probable time of begetting as showing the impossibility of the act of begetting Wigmore § 137, Banbury Peerage Case, App p 1 etc, Le Marchants Rep of Gardner Peerage 435, 489, 1 Sim & St 153, Morris v Davies 3 C & P 215, 217, Gordon v Gordon, Prob 141

Survival of the alleged deceased Where the corpus delicti is disputed as for example, in a charge of homicide the alleged deceased is claimed by the defendant not to have been killed the argument is obviously available that he is still alive after the time of the supposed death for this would be absolutely inconsistent with his death as supposed Wigmore § 138

con
cle
sive
J c mit
or both might be innocent, and a common guilt or a common innocence was as presumable as the guilt of one only . But proof that certain acts constituting a part of the criminal transaction itself were done by W M might have been of high importance to the prisoner by removing so much of the inference of guilt as would be raised were those acts brought home to him Proof that the taking was by any one other than the prisoner perhaps might repel this inference (of guilt)—not because the guilt of one shows the innocence of the other but because proof that specific acts were done by one weakens or removes the presumption that the same acts were done by another

... defendant is ... ive killed the ... ns or desires ... or probability ... be matter for ... the evidence ... y also not be ... ought not to ... en 157 Mass 180, Field C J said If it could be shown that during the week before her death she had actually attempted to drown herself and had been prevented from doing so it seems manifest that this act, according to the general experience of mankind would have some tendency to show that she might have made a second attempt In Spencer Cowpers Trial, 13 How St Tr 1166 where the issue was whether the deceased had committed suicide or was killed, evidence was received of her being melancholy and depressed, she said her distemper lay in her mind and the sooner it did kill her the better, she neglected herself in doing those things that were necessary for her health in hope it would carry her off and often wished herself dead

Highly probable The words 'highly probable' point out that the connection between the facts in issue and the collateral facts sought to be proved must be so mediate as to render the co existence of the two highly probable Per Mitter J in Empress v M J Vyapoory, 6 C 655 at p 662 In Govt of Bombay v

Merwanji, 10 Bom L R 907, at p 419, Batchelor J observed: 'In s 11 of the Evidence Act provision is made for the admission of facts not otherwise relevant when they make the existence or non existence of any fact in issue or relevant fact highly probable or improbable, and the adverb was not introduced into the section without good reason" In In the matter of the Malabar Timber Yards etc 13 M L T 282=18 Ind Cas 997 at p 1004 Fayabji J said: "It has recently been pointed out by the Bombay High Court, in Government of Bombay v Merwanji Mencharji, 10 Bom L R 907, that the words 'highly probable' are of great importance in considering this section It is clear that, in regard to this section the admissibility of the particular piece of evidence, that is offered, is closely connected with and in fact depends upon the weight to be attached to that piece of evidence if it is taken into consideration In other words, this section makes only those facts admissible which assuming that they are admitted in evidence, will be of great weight in bringing the Court to a conclusion one way or the other as regards the existence or non existence of the facts in question I agree with the learned Chief Justice, that if these letters were admitted in evidence they would not be of much assistance to us in coming to the conclusion one way or the other on the facts in question That being so, it seems to me that under section 11 of the Evidence Act, that cannot be admissible at all" So there must always be room for the exercise of discretion when the relevancy of testimony rests upon its effect towards making the affirmation or negation of a proposition highly probable R v Prabhu Das, 11 B H. C. R 90 The following extract from professor Thayer's article in 3 Harvard Law Review, p 143 is very instructive "In stating thus our two fundamental conceptions, we must not fall into the error of supposing that relevancy, logical connection real or supposed, is the only test of admissibility, for so we should drop out of sight the chief part of the law of evidence When we have said (1) that, without any exception, nothing which is not supposed to be logically relevant is admissible, and (2) that subject to many exceptions and qualifications, whatever is logically relevant is admissible, it is obvious that, in reality, there are tests of admissibility other than logical relevancy Some things are rejected as being of too slight a significance, or as having too conjectural and remote a connection, others as being dangerous and likely to be misused or over estimated by a jury, others, as being impolitic e g unsafe for the State, others on the bare ground of precedent ..... [The law] assuming, as it does, that in general what is evidential is receivable is occupied in pointing out what part of this matter is excluded It denies to this excluded part not the name of evidence but the name of admissible evidence. Admissibility is determined, first by relevancy—an affair of logic and not of law,—secondly, but only indirectly by the law of Evidence which in strictness, only declares whether matter which is logically probative is excluded It is here that Mr Justice Stephen's treatment of the law of evidence is perplexing, indeed it comes to have the aspect of a tour de force..................How are we to know what those things are (that are logically probative)? Not by any rule of the law The law furnishes no test of relevancy, for this it tacitly refers to logic, assuming that the principles of reasoning are known to its Judge and ministers just as a vast multitude of other things are assumed as already sufficiently known. .... Admissibility is determined, first, by relevancy,—an affair of logic and and not of law" But the statement is not accurately true So long as Courts continue to declare in judicial rulings what their notions of logic are just so long will there be rules of law which much be observed Wigmore § 12 In State v Lapage, 57 N H 288 Curting C J thus differentiates the rules of logic and the rules of law 'Although undoubtedly the relevancy of testimony is originally a matter of logic and common sense, still there are many instances in which the evidence of particular facts as bearing upon particular issues has been so often the subject of discussion in Courts of law, and so often ruled upon that the united logic of great many Judges and lawyers may be said to furnish evidence of the sense common to a great many individuals, and, therefore, the best evidence of what may be properly called common sense and thus to acquire the authority of law It is for this reason that the subject of the relevancy of testimony has become, to so great an extent matter of precedent and authority that we may with entire propriety speak of its legal relevancy

Admissibility, on the other hand falls short of Proof or Demonstration The distinction is due to the circumstance that each evidential fact is offered separately and the quality of complete demonstration could therefore never be expected of it Since the production of evidence takes time and since one piece of evidence must precede another, the rule of admissibility if there be any at all, can have nothing to do with the inquiry whether certain evidence effects complete proof Wigmore § 12

Degree of probative value required The general and broad requirement for Relevancy is that the claimed conclusion from the offered fact must be a probable or a more probable hypothesis with reference to the possibility of other hypotheses Wigmore § 38 So it is competent to a jury to find matters of fact without direct or positive testimony of those facts and upon circumstantial evidence only although the inference or conclusion to be drawn from the circumstances proved be not absolutely certain or necessary, that it is sufficient if the circumstantial evidence be such as may afford a fair and reasonable presumption of the facts to be tried, and if the evidence has that tendency it ought to be received and left to the consideration of the jury, to whom alone belongs to determine upon the precise force and effect of the circumstances proved and whether they are sufficiently satisfactory and convincing to warrant them in finding the fact in issue' Gibson v Hunter, 2 H M 298 'The proper test for the admissibility of evidence ought to be, we think, whether it has a tendency to affect belief in the mind of a reasonably cautious person who should receive and weigh it with judicial fairness Stewart v People, 23 Mich 75

Illustration (b) Where the guilt lies between A and C and there is no reason for believing that C has any concern with the commission of the crime, while the motive and other surrounding circumstances are too incriminating against A, the irresistible inference is that A has committed the crime Mehro v Crown 8 P W R 1907 Cr = 5 Cr L J 182

Venereal Disease to show adultery The existence of venereal disease in a husband is some evidence of an act of adultery on his part Whether this disease is sufficient evidence of adultery may depend upon circumstances Popkin v Popkin, 1 Hog Eccl 765, 767

Pecuniary Capacity A party's pecuniary capacity to pay a debt or to lend money is relevant to the probability of his paying or lending To show his pecuniary condition as to his capacity, his conduct in borrowing and not paying thus becomes relevant Wigmore § 224, see also Dowling v Dowling, 10 Ir C L R 224

Report to the police In cases where forcible re entry by the lessor is set up by the lessee the fact that a report complaining of the use of force or intimidation was made to the police soon after the occurrence is a relevant fact under this section and is admissible in evidence Habibullah v Bakht Bali 30 Ind Cas 292 = 2 O L J 299

between strangers to the suit, suit or their predecessors cutants of the document is 9 Lah 78 = 111 Ind Cas Lah 448 = 8 Lah 651 So third parties in favour of utant is not dead and does I R 1928 Lah 428, see 448 = 8 Lah 276 = 9 L L J atar Chandra, 44 C L J adhab 86 Ind Cas 734 = 41 = A I R 1928 Cal 893; Lajpat v Faiz 8 Lah 651 = 103 Ind Cas 889 = A I R 1927 Lah 448 Abdul v Jonabali A I R 1923 Cal 299, Trimbak v Ganesh A I R 1923 Nag 22, Brojo v Gaya 30 C W N 761 = 97 Ind Cas 265, Abdul Karim v Chhab Ahamed 91 Ind Cas 688 = A I R 1926 Cal 479, Nihar v Kader Baksh 1923 [illegible] C W N 1092 = 84 Ind Cas n Saroj Kumar v Umed Ali, ided that a document of this rovisions of either section 11 uthorities some of which are t Mr Justice Mukherjee who , C L J 659 had apparently held that a document of this nature was admissible in evedence under sections 11 and 13 of the Indian Evidence Ac, altered his view in the decision in Abdulla v Kunj Behari 16 C W N 252=14 C L J 467 where he held that a document of this nature was not admissible in evidence under the provisions of sections 11 and 13 of the Indian Evidence Ac, thus differing from the view which he had previously expressed Both the cases in Saroj Kumar v Umed Ali and Abdulla v Kunj Behari, must be taken to overrule the decision in Dwarka Nath v Mukunda Lal, 5 C L J 55, where it was held that a document of this nature was admissible under the provisions of sections 11 and 13, of the Indian Evidence Act See also Abdul Ali v Saied Rajan 19 C W N 468, Cherag Ali v Mohini Bardhan, 19 Ind Cas 61, Sarat Chandra v Sarala Bala, 105 Ind Cas 61, Kumud Kumari v Dilsook, 45 C L J 138=101 Ind Cas 542 A lessor's statement in the pattah previously granted would not be said to be a fact within the meaning of section 11 and that section could not be invoked for admitting the statement Radha v Sarbeswar, 29 C W N 469=86 Ind Cas 674

Where certain lands are entered in the record of rights as chaukidari chakran lands so far as a stranger is concerned, the only way in which those papers can be treated as evidence would be under this section Rahimuddin v Umesh Chandra, A I R 1926 Cal 115=87 Ind Cas 694

A document relating to land on the boundaries of the land in dispute is not admissible in evidence for the purpose of determining whether a certain party was or was not in possession of the land in dispute at the date of the execution of the document Abdul Karim v Chhale Ahamed, 91 Ind Cas 688=A I R 1926 Cal 479

The plaintiff brought a suit against his son for recovery of possession of a land which stood in the name of the latter alleging that the same was acquired benami by him The defendant alleged that the land was purchased for him by his paternal grand father The plaintiff answered that his father had died before the property was acquired, and he produced a mortgage bond executed by him long before the date of the purchase in which he described his father as dead Held that the statement made by the plaintiff in the mortage bond to which the [illegible] admissible in evidence as against the latter with section 11, clause (2) of the Evidence under section 159 of the Act Sayeru [illegible] R 1923 Cal 378

Documents containing recitals that a particular plot of land belongs to a particular Will are admissible in evidence either under section 11 (b) or section 13 of the Evidence Act although they are no between parties to the suit Farzand v Zafar Ali 46 Ind Cas 119=132 P W R 1918 This case was decided relying on Dwarka Nath Bakshi v Mukunda Lal, 5 C L J 55 in which also reliance was placed in Vythilinga v Venkatachala, 16 M 194 and Dattari Mohanti v Jugabinahoo, 23 W R 293 But the case of Dwarka Nath v Mukunda Lal, 5 C L J 55 was overruled by Suraj Kuar v Umed Ali, 25 C W N 1027= 35 C L J 19

[illegible] he case of a house said to have been built [illegible] to who constructed it may not be easily [illegible] ing by whom it was built are admissible [illegible] 82 Ind Cas 582=A I R 1924 All 526

[illegible] and 4 sold a jote to defendant [illegible] subsequently colluded with the [illegible] sale, the statements previously [illegible] been a partition and they had [illegible] im, and the statements were [illegible] (2) of the Evidence Act. Ebi [illegible] 5 C 210, see also Naro Vinayat v Narhan 16 B 125

[illegible] e Will In Nana v Shanker, [illegible] s who attended on the testatrix [illegible] ement made to the witness [illegible] by Will The District Judge [illegible] in delivering the judgment of the Court Jenkins C J observed "For the appellant it is urged that it would be admissible under section 11 of the Evidence Act ... . The defendant on the other hand refers to Atkinson v Morris, L R 1897 P D 40 as a conclusive authority against its admissibility; for it was there held that statements made by a testator are not admissible to prove the execution by him of a Will This case, however, and the others on which it proceeds, are based on the fact that the English Wills Act prescribes a particular form of proof, while to the Will in this case no such rule applies (the testator being an inhabitant of Poona) Atkinson v Morris therefore, throws no light on the point, we have to decide and it must be determined by other principles Now this Will would only operate on that, which, in its absence, would devolve on Ganga's representatives, and a statement by her suggesting any inference as to the execution of a Will would be an admission relevant against her representatives and would therefore be admissible as evidence"

History of a family Where the history and status of a particular family, which is one of a group, is in question, evidence may be adduced to elucidate the history and status of connected families in the same group, and such evidence is admissible under this section Sarada v Uma Kanta 77 Ind. Cas 450=37 C L J 433=50 C 370

Absence of entry The fact that no [illegible] found in the defendant's books is relevant [illegible] Haji Jamil, 75 Ind Cas 327=A I R [illegible] v Manraj, 4 C W N ccvi, Imrit v Sr[illegible] Ali Nasir v Manik, 25 A 90, but see Queen Empress v Grees Chandra, 10 C 1024, In the matter of Jaggun Lal, 7 C L R 356, Ramprosad Singh v Lakhpati Kuar 30 C 231 (247)=7 C W N 162 So it is clear that on this point there is some divergence of judicial opinion It was pointed out in Imambandi v. Mutsaddi, 45 C 878=28 C L J 409=23 C W. N 50 P C and Imrit v Sridhar, ubi supra, the cases of Queen Empress, v Grees Chunder Banerjee, ubi supra and In the matter of J Juggun [illegible] the entries in a book of account are relevant to [illegible] Evidence Act such a book is [illegible] absence of any entry The [illegible] Davey and Lord Robertson in [illegible] at 247=30 I A 1=7 C W [illegible] Manraj ubi supra it was ruled, however, that the cases just mentioned did not decide that the fact of absence of an entry is no evidence at all under any section of the Indian Evidence Act, and that evidence that there is no entry in the account books, though not admissible under section 34 may be admissible under sections 9 and 11 The question arose again before a Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court in Sadhu Sahu v Raja Ram, 16 A 40 (F B)=A W N 1893, 200 and the Judges were divided in opinion The point may now be taken to have been set at rest by the judgment of the Judicial Committee in Imambandi v. Mutsaddi ubi supra, where the fact of absence of entry was held relevant, its effect to be determined in the light of the general evidence in the case This fits in with the opinion expressed by Turner J in Wise v Bhoobon Moyee, 10 M I A. 165 at 174 In that case, reliance was placed on the fact that a disputed Taluk was not mentioned in the Decennial or Quinquennial Settlement as such, the relevancy of the circumstances was not questioned, but Judicial Committee observed that even assuming the statements to be accurate, in the absence of particulars of the settlements, the fact did not seem to afford any strong inference against the existence of the Taluk, see also Dwarka Nath Roy v Horonauth W. R. (1864) 238, Tara Kumar Ghosh v Kumar Arun Chandra, 30 C L J 389=A I R 1923 C 261, Gauga Ram v Lachmi Ram, 28 Ind Cas 705=19 C W N 611.

Highly probable or improbable—Cases. Accused were charged with having obtained money from complainants by falsely representing that they were servants of one Akbari Begum, a wealthy lady of Rampur, who was anxious to lend money on easy terms held, that the evidence that at or about the very same time when the accused were alleged to have made such a representation to the complainants they had been making precisely the same representation to a third person, was admissible under sections 11 and 14 of the Evidence Act to corroborate the story of the prosecution and to prove the intention of the

held that a document of this nature was admissible in evedence under sections 11 and 13 of the Indian Evidence Act, altered his view in the decision in Abdulla v Kunj Behari 16 C W N 252=14 C L J 467 where he held that a document of this nature was not admissible in evidence under the provisions of sections 11 and 13 of the Indian Evidence Act, thus differing from the view which he had previously expressed Both the cases in Saroj Kumar v Umed Ali and Abdulla v Kunj Behari must be taken to overrule the decision in Dwarka Nath v Mukunda Lal 5 C L J 55 where it was held that a document of this nature was admissible under the provisions of sections 11 and 13 of the Indian Evidence Act See also Abdul Ali v Sayed Rajan 19 C W N 463 Cherig Ali v Mohini Bardhan, 19 Ind Cas 61, Sarat Chandra v Sarala Bala, 105 Ind Cas 61, Kumud Kumari v Dilsook, 45 C L J 138=101 Ind Cas 542 A lessor's statement in the pattah previously granted would not be said to be a fact within the meaning of section 11 and that section could not be invoked for admitting the statement Radha v Sarbeswar, 29 C W N 469=86 Ind Cas 674

Where certain lands are entered in the record of rights as chaukidari chakran lands so far as a stranger is concerned the only way in which those papers can be treated as evidence would be under this section Rahimuddin v Umesh Chandra A I R 1926 Cal 115=87 Ind Cas 694

A document relating to land on the boundaries of the land in dispute is not admissible in evidence for the purpose of determining whether a certain party was or was not in possession of the land in dispute at the date of the execution of the document Abdul Karim v Chhale Ahamed, 91 Ind Cas 688=A I R 1926 Cal 479

The plaintiff brought a suit against his son for recovery of possession of a land which stood in the name of the latter alleging that the same was acquired benami by him The defendant alleged that the land was purchased for him by his paternal grand father The plaintiff answered that his father had died before the property was acquired and he produced a mortgage bond executed by him long before the date of the purchase in which he described his father as dead Held that the statement made by the plaintiff in the mortage bond to which the defendant was not a party might be admissible in evidence as against the latter either under section 21, clause (3) read with section 11, clause (2) of the Evidence Act or under section 32, clause (5) or under section 159 of the Act Sayeruddin v Samiruddin 72 Ind Cas 985=A I R 1923 Cal 378

Documents containing recitals that a particular plot of land belongs to a particular Will are admissible in evidence either under section 11 (b) or section 13 of the Evidence Act although they are not between parties to the suit Farzand v Zafar Ali 46 Ind Cas 119=132 P W R 1918 This case was decided relying on Dwarka Nath Bakshi v Mukunda Lal 5 C L J 55 in which also reliance was placed in Vythilinga v Venkatachala, 16 M 194 and Dautari Mohanti v Jugabanahoo 23 W R 293 But the case of Dwarka Nath v Mukunda Lal, 5 C L J 55 was overruled by Suraj Kuar v Umed Ali, 25 C W N 1027=35 C L J 19

Recital in old documents In the case of a house said to have been built over half century ago direct evidence as to who constructed it may not be easily available and old documents mentioning by whom it was built are admissible in evidence Raghunath v Bindeshwari 82 Ind Cas 582=A I R 1924 All 526

Admission Where the defendants Nos 2 and 4 sold a jote to defendant No [illegible] subsequently colluded with the [illegible] sale, the statements previously [illegible] been a partition and they had [illegible] him and the statements were [illegible] (2) of the Evidence Act Bir [illegible] 5 C 210, see also Naro Vinayak v Narhari 16 B 125

Statements made by testatrix to prove the Will In Nana v Shanker 3 Bom L R 465, which was a probate case, a witness who attended on the testatrix during her last illness, was asked to depose to a statement made to the witness by the testatrix as to the disposition of her ornaments by Will The District Judge disallowed the question On appeal to the High Court, in delivering the judgment of the Court Jenkins C J observed · "For the appellant it is urged that it would be admissible under section 11 of the Evidence Act .... The defendant on the other hand refers to Atkinson v Morris, L R 1897 P D 40 as a conclusive authority against its admissibility ; for it was there held that statements made by a testator are not admissible to prove the execution by him of a Will This case, however, and the others on which it proceeds, are based on the fact that the English Wills Act prescribes a particular form of proof, while to the Will in this case no such rule applies (the testator being an inhabitant of Poona) Atkinson v. Morris therefore, throws no light on the point, we have to decide and it must be determined by other principles Now this Will would only operate on that, which, in its absence, would devolve on Gangu's representatives, and a statement by her suggesting any inference as to the execution of a Will would be an admission relevant against her representatives and would therefore be admissible as evidence"

History of a family Where the history and status of a particular family, which is one of a group, is in question, evidence may be adduced to elucidate the history and status of connected families in the same group, and such evidence is admissible under this section Sarada v Uma Kanta 77 Ind Cas 450=37 C L J 433=50 C 370

Absence of entry The fact that no entry of the alleged payment was to be found in the defendant's books is relevant under this section Kasam v Firm of Haji Jamal, 76 Ind Cas 327=A I R 1924 Nag 22, see also Sagurmull v Manraj, 4 C W N ccvii, Imrit v Sridhar 15 C L J 7=17 C W N 108, Ali Nasir v Manik, 25 A 90, but see Queen Empress v Grees Chandra 10 C 1024, In the matter of Jaggun Lal, 7 C I [illegible] Kuar, 30 C 231 (247)=7 C W N 16 [illegible] is some divergence of judicial opinion [illegible] Mutsadai, 45 C 878=28 C L J 409=23 [illegible] ubi supra, the cases of Queen Empress, [illegible]
In the matter of J Juggun Lal, ubi supra, assume that though entries in a book of account are relevant to the extent provided by section 35 of the Indian Evidence Act such a book is not by [illegible] absence of any entry The same vie[illegible] Davey and Lord Robertson in Ram F[illegible] at 247=30 I A 1=7 C W N 16 [illegible] Manraj ubi supra it was ruled, how[illegible] decide that the fact of absence of an [illegible] of the Indian Evidence Act, and that evidence that there is no entry in the account books, though not admissible under section 34 may be admissible under sections 9 and 11 The question arose again before a Full Bench of the Allahabad High Court in Sadhu Sahu v Raja Ram, 16 A 40 (F B)=A W N 1893 200 and the Judges were divided in opinion The point may now be taken to have been set at rest by the judgment of the Judicial Committee in Imambandi v Mutsaddi ubi supra, where the fact of absence of entry was held relevant, its effect to be determined in the light of the general evidence in the case This fits in with the opinion expressed by Turner J in Wise v Bhoobon Moyee, 10 M I A 165 at 174 In that case, reliance was placed on the fact that a disputed Taluk was not mentioned in the Decennial or Quinquennial Settlement as such, the relevancy of the circumstances was not questioned, but Judicial Committee observed that even assuming the statements to be accurate, in the absence of particulars of the settlements, the fact did not seem to afford any strong inference against the existence of the Taluk, see also Dwarka Nath Roy v Horonauth W R (1864) 238, Tara Kumar Ghosh v Kumar Arun Chandra, 30 C L J 389=A I R 1923 C 261, Gauga Ram v Lachmi Ram, 28 Ind Cas 705=19 C W N 611

Highly probable or improbable—Cases Accused were charged with having obtained money from complainants by falsely representing that they were servants of one Akbari Begum, a wealthy lady of Rampur, who was anxious to lend money on easy terms held, that the evidence that at or about the very same time when the accused were alleged to have made such a representation to the complainants they had been making precisely the same representation to a third person, was admissible under sections 11 and 14 of the Evidence Act to corroborate the story of the prosecution and to prove the intention of the accused Emperor v Yakub, 39 Ind. Cas. 673=15 A L J 241=39 A 273=18 Cr L J 529

Where in a case of a disputed deed of adoption the defendant alleged that the deceased executant had become shortly after the execution of the deed, aware of its existence, purport a ... cancel it or to nullify ... became admittedly a ... merely a relevant fact, but a very important fact in the case ; and the evidence offered by the defendant as to statements made by the executant in the interval of ... the view taken by him of the deed which he had conceived himself to ... irrelevant, but is admissible under section 11 of the Act Mir Sayed v Taiyaba Begam, 26 Ind Cas 547=1 O L J 591

Self serving statements are admissible where they make relevant fact highly probable or improbable or where they are res gestae Harihar Prosad v Kesho Prosad, A I R 1925 Pat 68=92 Ind Cas 954

A cablegram, purporting to be from one, in Calcutta was sent to P in London ... and expressly referring to it P posted a reply to ... ply to B would be a relevant fact under section ... that B was the sender of the cablegram C H ... 79=18 C L J 567=18 C W N 386=15 Cr L J 33, see also R v Derrington, 2 C & P 418

An admission made by one of the defendants in a previous suit (to which he was himself a party, as to the common character of a portion of a lane, may be used in evidence against other defendants even though they may not be parties to that previous suit. A statement to the same effect made by one of the defendants in a deed put in by him to prove his title to his own house is admissible in evidence to establish the common character of the entire lane as alleged by the plaintiff under section 11 of the Evidence Act Facts are relevant which make the existence of a fact in issue highly probable , therefore, the fact of common ownership in other parts of the lane should be treated as relevant to the issue as to the common character of the entire land Naro Vinayak v Narahari, 16 B 125

Where in a suit for rent under a lease of land, alleged to be purchased from and leased to the defendant again the defendant totally denied the sale and lease of the defendant proved that he did not sell the land the fact that he did not sell it would be inconsistent with the fact of the lease, and hence, relevant under 11 (1) King Hla Pru v San Paw, 3 L B R 90

Frequent transfers of the interest in a tank without any change in the terms of the holding, or in the amount of rent paid extending over a period of more than 60 years, were held to prove that the tenure was permanent and transferable, the fact of the transfer being inconsisteat with the interest being terminable at will Nidhi Krishna v Nistarini, 13 B L R 416=21 W R 316

On the question whether certain leases were perpetual, it was held that the fact that the intention implicated by the acts and conduct of the parties was to make ... , under similar circumstances, same was the intention with ... ating to these leases would be ... Dayal v Ram Narayan 30 C ... N 297 , Kamalashri v Kanhiri ...

In a charge of forgery, evidence of possession by the accused of other documents suspected or even proved to be forged is admissible under this section Reg v Prabhudas, 11 B H C 90

The statement of a witness for the defence, that a witness for the prosecution was at a particular place at a particular time, and consequently could not then have been at another place, when the latter states he was and saw the accused persons, is properly admissible in evidence, even though the witness for the prosecution may not himself have been cross examined on the point Reg v Sakharam, 11 B H C 166

When the question is whether a man is a habitual cheat, the fact that he belonged to an organisation formed for the purpose of habitually cheating in concert is relevant under s 11 of the Evidence Act Kalu Mirza v Emperor, 37 C 91=14 C W N 49=5 Ind Cas 29

The mental feelings of a person who is dead are highly relevant to the question of his religion and the expression of these feelings in a formal manner, such as in a Will executed by the deceased, are valuable evidence as to their existence Such statements are admissible both under s 11 (2) and s 21 (2) of the Evidence Act Leong Hone v Leon Ah Foom, 7 R 720=121 Ind Cas 796=A I R 1930 Rang 42

Where the suit related to rights to properties belonging to a math and the question as to dedication was put in issue and the gift of a certain item of property belonging to the institution was sought to be relied on as throwing light on the general question held that it was admissible under s 11 (2) of the Evidence Act Bhagwat Prosad v Bindeswar, 1930 A L J 964

In a charge under s 401, I P Code, a former judgment of 25 years old convicting accused of dacoity, was held admissible to show criminal tendency and not habit A I R 1925 Bom 195=26 Bom L R. 1223=26 Cr. L J 1391=89 Ind Cas 527

In a trial for an offence under s 4 (a) of the Prevention of Gambling Act, 1887, the evidence that he was previously convicted of similar offence cannot be let in either under s 54 or s 11 of the Evidence Act Emperor v Alloomya, 28 B 129

[illegible]

a period of extremely strained communal feeling enunciated that it was the

[illegible]

Emperor, 33 C W N 477=47 C L J 444=111 Ind Cas 396 Judgments inter partes are relevant as authoritative statements of facts as found by the Court Gopal Rao v Sitaram, A I R 1927 Nag 19 The author of a book was proceeded against by the Government for creating class hatred and the books themselves were forfeited The author applied to the High Court under section 99 of the Criminal Procedure Code to set aside that order It was dismissed The judgment was held admissible in a prosecution against the same person under s 153 A of the Penal Code Kali v Emperor, 25 A L J 846=A I R 1927 All 654=28 Cr L J 785 Batwara papers are admissible in evidence against strangers if they can be under s 11 of the Evidence Act Rahimuddin v Umesh 87 Ind Cas 694 Ex parte decrees for rent obtained by a landlord against the heirs of a tenant and satisfied by the latter, are evidence of the existence of the tenancy at the date of those decrees Anukul v Kamala, A I R 1923 Cal 270 Where the question was whether proceedings in lunacy held under Act XXXIV of 1858, are admissible in evidence in a subsequent suit to show that the defendant was a lunatic at a particular time it was held that the orders and reports made under the Act by the Judge before whom the lunacy proceedings were held, were admissible in evidence Srimati Padmabati v Bonomali, 24 C W N 378=58 Ind Cas 566 A full horscope perepared from a short one is admissible in evidence so far as the date of the birth and the parentage is concerned Harbahadur v Chand Raj, 21 O C 298=48 Ind Cas 400 An entry made in a register of indoor patients in a hospital is admissible in evidence to prove that the person mentioned in the entry was in the hospital on a certain date Amolak v Emperor, 56 P L R 1918=13 P W R Cr 1918=43 Ind Cas 429 The judgment and the proceedings in a civil suit against a vakil, out of which a charge of profesional misconduct is framed against him, are admissible in evidence in an enquiry into the latter charge [illegible] rt in not conclusive [illegible] Row, 23 M L J [illegible] e case was that a [illegible] lar occasion, then [illegible] ce or intimidation was made soon after the occurrence was a relevant fact under s 11 of the Evidence

Act and admissible in evidence Habib Ullah v Bakhl Bali Singh, 30 Ind Cas 292 On a charge against the accused of cheating by falsely representing that they were the servants of a wealthy lady and were entrusted to act on her behalf in the arrangements for loans, to be made with the complainants out of the money she possessed, and thereby obtaining money from them on one pretext or another in connection with this affair, held that evidence of instances of similar but unconnected transactions with other persons, during the period covered by the evidence of the complainants] is admissible under s 11 in order to corroborate the prosecution evidence in support of the particular offence charged Emperor v Yakub Ali, 15 A L J 241=39 A 273 Where the question was whether a channel was an old one or recently constructed, and what was the custom as to the flow of water a prior decision on these questions, though it is no evidence of the custom as against one who was not a party to it is, yet prima facie evidence of the fact of the existence of the chancel at the date of the litigation Kurupam v Merangi, 5 M 253 (254)

Illustrative cases Inadmissible evidence In a suit for rent a statement contained in an order for rent a statement contained in an order for delivery of possession as to the rent payable is not admissible in evidence Chandra v Sheiky, 87 Ind Cas 512 When the charges against the accused are of dacoity and rioting evidence that on the day after the occurrence, the accused who was a Mussalman wanted another a Hindu, to embrace Islam, and threatened to beat him if he did not, is wholly irrelevant to either of the charges and should not be admitted, notwithstanding that the riots in which the accused was involved were due to Hindu Muslim dissension Dargahi v Emperor 52 C 499=88 Ind Cas 733 Prior deposition of a third party is inadmissible to contradict the evidence or impeach the credit of a witness in a case Bobba v Bobba 78 Ind Cas 176=A I R 1924 Mad 537 Where a document has been admitted in evidence as evidence of a transaction the parties are often apt to refer to the recitals therein as relevant evidence But the recitals are not evidence especially if they are used as assertions by a person who is alive and who might have been brought before to Court as a witness Nihar v Kader, A I R 1923 Cal 290 The accused was charged with having caused grievous hurt to one of his wives and killed another The wounded woman on the day of occurrence on her arrival in hospital made a statement to a Magistrate to the effect that it was the accused who had attacked her and her co wife Held that the contents of the statement are not admissible under s 11 Emperor v Abdul, 23 C W N 933 A statement by a person who is dead in a petition for guardianship, that a certain person was born at a certain time, is not admissible in evidence under s 32 of the Evidence Act Such a statement alone is not admissible under s 11 of the said Act Ram Krishna Sadhu Khan v Moninda Mohan 20 C L J 302=27 Ind Cas 30 A witness's statement as to what a deceased person had said to him regarding the ownership of the property alleged to be stolen, is not admissible in evidence under s 11 or under s 32 of the Evidence Act In re Doraisami Ayyar, 16 Cr L J 640=30 Ind Cas 464 Where the suit was for ejectment, the fact that the proprietor of a neighbouring piece of land in describing the boundaries of his parcel stated that the land of the predecessor of the defendant was situated on that boundary is not relevant under section 11 Abdulla v Kunj Behary, 14 C L J 467 Proceedings before Magistrate for assault are not relevant in a subsequent civil ... 2=33 Ind Cas 583 P C At ... of the Penal Code, the Judge ... o years subsequently in some ... design and motive and illegal association and that a system had been pursued by the accused Held that the ... eged in the subsequent case ... 9 or section 11 or section 14 or ... Panchu Das, 58 Ind Cas 99=

In suits for damages, facts tending to enable Court to determine amount are relevant

12 In suits in which damages are claimed any fact which will enable the Court to determine the amount of damages which ought to be awarded, is relevant

Scope of the section In a case for damage no denial or defence shall be necessary as to damages claimed, or their amount, but they shall be deemed to be put in issue in all cases unless expressly admitted—vide Roscoe's Nisi Prius Ev 286 So in a suit in which damages are claimed, the amount of damages is [illegible]

Damage—definition of Damages may be defined as the pecuniary compensation which the law awards to a person for the injury he has sustained by reason of the act or default of another, whether such act or default is a breach of contract or tort, or, to put more shortly, damages are the recompense given by process of law to a person for the wrong that another has done him. Halsbury, Vol 10 p 302.

Amount of damages how ascertained Theoretically speaking the great underlying principle by which the Courts are guided in awarding damages is restitutio in integrum Per Bowen J in The Argentined, 13 P D 191 at p 200, 201 By this is meant that the law will endeavour, so far as money can do it, to place the injured person in the same situation as if the contract has been performed (Robinson v Harman 1 Exch 850, Bain v Fothergill L R 7 H L 150, Gray v Fowler, L R 8 Exch 249, France v Gandet, L R 6 Q B 199), or in the position he occupied before the occurrence of the tort [Philips v Landon and South Western Rail Co (1879) 5 Q B D 78, Livingston v Rawyards Coal Co 5 App Cas 25; The Mediana, (1900) A C 113] which adversely [illegible] plary damages the principle [illegible] ry damages are generally [illegible] Finlay v. Chirney, 2 Q. [illegible] re concerned, an exemplary damage is only awarded in the case of breach of promise of marriage Smith v. Woodfine, 1 C B N. S 660; Berry v Da Costa, L R 1 C P. 331 Such damages are generally awarded in an action for tort, as for instance, assault, trespass, negligence, nuisance, libel, slander, seduction, malicious prosecution, and false imprisonment Halsbury Vol. 10, p 307

Measure of damages in [illegible] contract such damages are to [illegible] been in the contemplation [illegible] probable result of the breach [illegible] where the contracting parties arrange beforehand among themselves at what sum the amount of damages for breach of contract shall be estimated, it is the duty of the Courts to enforce the [illegible] of law Palmer v The Secre[illegible] cannot recover as damages [illegible] Madhab v Lukhu, 9 W R [illegible] before a Court can give a decree for damages Kisto Mohun v Juggurnath 11 W R 236 The measure of damages in a suit for breach of contract is the [illegible] e date of breach [illegible] Sut, 1 L B R [illegible] v Messrs Gokul Chand, 27 C W [illegible] that of Hadley v [illegible]

Damages in cases of torts In cases of torts "one who commits a wrongful act is responsible for the ordinary consequences which are likely to occur, but generally speaking he is not liable for damage which is not the natural or ordinary consequence, unless it is shown that he knows or has reasonable means of knowing that the consequences not usually resulting from the act are, by reason of some existing cause, likely to intervene so as to cause damage" Sharp v Powell, (1872) L R 7 C. P 253

Aggravation and mitigation In actions of contracts as a rule the motives or conduct of the defendants are not to be taken into account in assessing damages, nor [illegible] wounded feelings, injury t [illegible] 323 In Hamlin v Great [illegible] 'Generally speaking, [illegible] entirely with the jury, [illegible] ry to the party's feelings and the pain he has experienced, as, for [illegible] xtent of violation in an action of assault, and many [illegible] find place in an action for tort or wrong [illegible] place whatever in an ordinary action of con [illegible] torts no [illegible] the Mediana [illegible]

moneys counted [illegible] of money which would [illegible] tion [illegible] person has undergone by reason of a th [illegible] recognises that as a topic upon which an [illegible] damages can be given [illegible] damages may be given by the defendant Thompson v Place 1 Mood [illegible] in giving such evidence the [illegible] al matters Simpson v Thompson [illegible] N C 279, Jebsen v East and [illegible] 0, Creevy v Carr, 7 C & P 64 [illegible] contracted claimed the difference between the [illegible] as a member of [illegible] showing that the [illegible] profitable work, and they had been [illegible] he J stopped this [illegible] ve judgment for [illegible] examination [illegible] damages In that [illegible] e loss had [illegible] for this [illegible] bility that [illegible] cting the [illegible] ant ought [illegible] the face [illegible] ould prob-

[illegible] of character The evidence of character is [illegible] of action or defence as the case [illegible] f character is not admissible to [illegible] which, [illegible] measure [illegible] slander [illegible] h still [illegible] to same measure of damages with one whose character is unblemished and is [illegible] mpetent to show that by evidence."—v. Moor, 1 M & S 281 In Edward v. Kansas City Times Co, 32 Fed 813, a leading American case, Brewer J puts it a little better. After stating repute, he impure, and entitled to

that I am known in the community, and justly so, as a common drunkard, a bar room loafer, one that every man despises as he meets, and one of you should circulate and publish a statement against me that I had told a lie, or that I had stolen money That may not have been my reputation before People may simply have looked upon me as a mere wreck, a dissipated and worthless man, and may not have looked upon me as one who was a liar or a thief Of course, in a certain sense, by the publication or statement you have injured my reputation; you have gotten people before but on the other hand, if I say 'Well, it does not hurt before as they do after the statement; my character and reputation in the community is not worth much, you cannot hurt that which is already injured" And inasmuch as the action for libel or slander is brought for the injury to the reputation the less valuable that reputation is, the less proportionate damage is suffered In the last mentioned case the learned Judge thus applies his reason-added to a bad reputation that she had already Now, in respect to her reputation you have the testimony of their witnesses as to what it was in that community; you have also the testimony of one witness in which he says that he saw this plaintiff and her brother having improper intercourse If it be true that she did have that incestuous intercourse with her brother, then, although it may not be of that intercourse, your common sense tell jured she has suffered very little by this defendant may show th was injured by reaso sum by way of damage v Mukund Roy, 17

thereunder

Conduct of the defendant In an action for libel the plaintiff may show that the libel was scattered broad cast when the defendant was under no duty and had not right to publish v Wellsley, 5 Bing 4 Miall, 15 L J Ex 179
of the suit, may aggrav 12 Q B 511 at pp 5 conduct in putting a prove and will not aban ant from the time rdict They may tion, and in Court

Q B D p 55
So also in cases of seduction the conduct of the d effecting the ruin of the plaintiff's daughter by fraud and under cover of a promise of marriage may be taken into consideration Halsbury Vol 10, p 325 So also where a insulting or oppressive hough actual injury is laden, L R 4 Exch 13;

Moore v Shelley 8 App Cas 285, 294 P C The defendant's conduct may also be proved in mitigation of damages Mountford v Gibson 4 East 441, Cook v Hostle 8 C & P 568

Proof of financial standing of defendant It comes rather as a shock to the lay mind that that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor although in the administra better of the community easily analysed We hav relevant in civil actions and that generally when admitted such evidence received to affect the measure of damages The stage marks one law for the man of good repute and another for him who is said to live evilly Under ordinary circumstances the financial situation and standing of the parties are wholly irrelevant The amount of damages depends upon the terms of the contract or in action of tort upon other circumstances wholly independent of the wealth or poverty of the parties but it is well settled that there is a class of cases in which the wealth of the defendant becomes a material fact, and which may be proved on the question of the amount of damages For example fortune Evidence of the wealth or standing of the defendant is relevant for the purpose of determining compensatory damages This is for the reason that the financial standing of the defendant is one of the elements cial environment and there are injuries by the fact that the persons responsible for Burr Jones Ev § 159 ' So far as the cause of action rests upon an injury to the character or an insult to the person compensatory damages may be increased by proof of the wealth of the defendant. This is upon the ground that wealth is an element which goes to make up his rank and influence in society and thereby renders the injury or insult resulting from the wrongful acts the greater ' Johnson v Smith, 64 Me 553 (555) Evidence of the pecuniary circumstances of the defendant is admissible in two may be ndant ct ons ible ly fall

n as a berate
with such gross
thers and in such 159 ple of awarding
at loss pondent
350=96
Ind Cas. 1018=A I R 19 Cal 383 (F B)

Breach of promise of marriage In estimating the damages, in an action for breach of promise of marriage where the plaintiff had been seduced by the defendant, the altered position of the plaintiff in relation to her house and family through the defendant s conduct towa Maung Hamaing v Ma Pwa Me, L B I Ducosta L R 1 C P 331, Hamlin v
Parshotamdas v Parshotamdas 21 B 23 Damages for a breach of contract of marriage may be awarded to a man But the fact that the man has merely become the butt of his acquaintances jests or has experienced a feeling of shame does not constitute an injury for which damages can be awarded in a suit of this nature Ma Ngwe Yin v Maung Po Taw 7 Bur L T 14=23 Ind. Cas 370

Defendant's fortune In an action for breach of a promise of marriage obviously tends to dultery (James
Taylor, L R 9

Q. B 79); nor for malicious prosecution; for it is nothing to the purpose, "that damages are taken from a deep pocket." Short v Story, Winton Sun; Roscoe N P Ev 86

Time and place In an action for assault and battery the circumstances of the time and place, when, [illegible] damages, thus it is a greater [illegible] in a private room Per Bath [illegible] v Oxford, 2 M & S 77 Merest v Harvey, 5 Taunt 412

[illegible] ssault and battery, the pecuniary circumstances [illegible] t, and condition of his family may be given in [illegible] specially where the case is one of exemplary [illegible] support of himself and fam [illegible]

[illegible] Jones Ev 101

Facts relevant when right or custom is in question

13. Where the question is as to the existence of any right or custom, the following facts are relevant.—

(a) any transaction by which the right or custom in question was created, claimed, modified, recognised, asserted or denied, or which was inconsistent with its existence ;

(b) particular instances in which the right or custom was claimed, recognized or exercised, or in which its exercise was disputed, asserted or departed from

Illustration

[illegible] A deed conferring the fisher [illegible] y A's father, a subsequent grant [illegible] the mortgage, particular instances in which A s father exercised the right, or in which the exercise of the right was stopped by A's neighbours, are relevant facts

Principle and Scope The general [illegible] may prove all facts tha [illegible] oe, 7 A & E 31[illegible] 's by cases of [illegible] incorporeal, as an ancient water course or a right of common, or corporeal, as a field, or a road strip In such cases every act of enjoyment or possession is a relevant fact, since the right claimed is constituted by an indefinite number of acts of user exercised animo domini But inasmuch as such acts are more or less discontinuous in their character—and in the case of ancient rights the evidence of them is by lapse of time rendered even more so—the question for the jury is whether the acts proved are so numerous and so connected that the right of possession may be inferred from them If they are so frequent and of such a character as to indicate the exercise of one continuous open claim at all times when it would be natural for the person claiming it to exercise it, the jury will ordinarily infer the general right inasmuch as the mere discontinuity of evidence is not in itself any ground of suspicion The acts of enjoyment from which ownership of real property may ... for instance, the cutting of timber (Stanley v ... of fences or banks (J ... v Williams, 2 M & ... of a manor or parish (Weeks v S ... taking of wreck on the fore shore (Att Gen v ... the granting to others of license (Rogers v. A ... which possession is taken and held (Bristow v Cornican, 3 App Cas 641) also the receipt of rents from tenants of the property (Malcolmson v O Dea, 10 H L ... total of enjoyment which chara ... 60, 61 In the absence of title ... Collector of Rajshahy v Doorga ... 2 W R 212

A custom may also be evidenced by distinct and repeated acts; the conditions being that they should be sufficiently numerous, and should have occurred under fairly similar circumstances In the field of contracts, the principle is applicable to proof of an agency by other acts of authorization to the same person about the same matter (Gibson v Hunter, 2 H. Bl 288, Barbar v Gingell, 3 Esp 61) to proof of a contract by other similar contracts with the same person (Bourne v Gatliff, 11 Cl & F 45) and even in some instances to proof of a contract by other similar contracts with other persons (Carter v Pryke, Peak, 95, Spenceley v. Wilmot, 7 East 108; Hollingham v Head, 4 C B N S 388; Smith v Wilkins, 6 C & P. 180, Woodward v Buchanon L R 5 Q B 286; Barden v Keverberg 2 M & W 61) As applied in proving prescriptive possession the principle sanctions the use of other acts of possession on premises so connected—i e parts of the same manor, estate, or the like—that acts done upon the one would be done only as a part of a system or habit of doing upon the rest (Stanley v White, 14 East 332; Barnes v Mawson 1 M & S 85, Doe v Kemp, 7 Bing 333; Jones v Williams 2 M & W 326, Doe v Robert, 13 M & W 520, Bristow v Cormican, L R 3 App Cas 641; Neill v Devonshire, L R 8 App Cas 135 (166) So also a custom in one place or one trade may be evidence of a custom in another place, provided the place or the trades are such that a uniformity of practice may be assumed (Noble v Kennoway, 2 Dougl 510; ... 3 B & S 360; Place v ... Q B 126, M'Fadden v Murdock, ... principle in England to customs o ... admitting in evidence the c ... or in the same township or other entity (Blundell v Howard 1 M & S 292, Jamison v Dayson, 9 M & W 540), and even in other manors where the conditions on the matter in question were presumably the same Moulin v Dallison, Cro Ca ... Somerset v France, 1 Stra 654 Fernea ... ker, 5 T R 26, 31; R. v Fle ... 1 M ... Anglesey v Hatherton, 10 M & W. 218:

Public or general rights or customs can also be proved by reputation or opinion of persons who are dead Higham v Ridgway, 10 East 109, 120, S 32, clause (4) But "the most cogent evidence of custom is not that which is afforded by the expression of opinion as to the existence, but by the enumeration of ... proof ... at the ... Khan, 1 A. 440 (441) So customs should be supported by actual examples of the usage asserted. Gopalayan v Raghupatiyyan, 7 M H C R 250, 254; see also Bhagwan Das v Rajmal, 10 B H C R 261 "Ownership may be proved by ... the land ... here the ... ted by a ... as man ... dgment in that case Coutts J said. "Now in the present case the question is of the existence of a right and the el rarnama comes both within clauses (a) and (b); it is both a transaction in which the right was claimed and an instance in which the right was exercised If authority, that course with a must under various conditions, are to be taken into account in determining the sufficiency of possession" Per Lord O Hagan in Lord Advocate v Lord Lavat, 5 App Cas 273 (288), cited with approval by Lord Macnaghten in Johnston v O'Neill, (1912) A C 552 (583) and by Lord Shaw in Kirby v Cowderoy, (1912) A C 599=81 L J P C 222

So title to real or personal property may be inferred from acts of ownership, done by the party for or against whom they are tendered, e g possession, receipts of rents and profits, or the discharge of burdens and repairs of the property. Planting or felling timber Ashburner, 21 L T 595), and aggınson, 4 M. & W. h facts are receivable proof is admissible

p
b
head of hearsay are usually classed those cases in which expired leases, grants, part of from w such ch

though
Dug 189, Bristow v Cormican, 3 App Cas 641 And such counterparts are evidence of seisin, though only executed by the lessee Doe v Palman, 3 Q B D 622, Magdalen v Knotts, 8 Ch D 709 C A ; Roscoe Ev 18th Ed p 53

Clause (a) Where the ques brahmattar right in a certain p that the father of the defendants brahmattar land, was produced clause (a) of section 13 if the requirements of that clause are satisfied The question being whether the defendants have a niskar brahmattar right, a deed conferring the niskar brahmattar right on the defendant's predecessor would be admissible as a transaction by which the right was created, but not a sale deed executed by the defendants in respect of that right. The word, claimed, need not be considered, as the word implies a demand ... of the party against whom such demand is made and either to comply with it or refuse it. Ther... 'recognition' or denial' in such a case as that of a deed of sale. The exercise of a right is not inconsistent with the existence of the right but is on the other hand inconsistent with its non-existence. The deed, however, is a transaction in which the right is asserted, for the sale involves an assertion of the existence of the right. As pointed out by Geidt J in ... Mir Amir Ali, 11 C. W. N. 703, the word 'by' and not '... at stress should be laid on the use of the wo... the view expressed by Seshagiri Aiyar J in the case of Sarripatti v. Kota, (1914) M. W. N. 779. The question therefore ... whether the assertion of the niskar brahmattar right in the deed is an ass... the deed, or in other words, ... between the vendors and ... the transaction is one by which the vendor asserted ... that he had such interest in the property ... all, and by this transaction the other ... The deed therefore does not come within ... Chandra, 99 Ind. Cas. 189 = 31 C. W. N. ... Cumming J said: "Now the transac... can it be said that the niskar right was ... not. All that could be said to be ... property ... vendor ... by ... was no doubt asserted in the document by which ... 'A ... sale. Clause (a) does not I think help the respondents ... in section ... therefore not ... A. I. R. 1928 Mad. ... derives his title can ... reference to the land ... Mooladar v. Alep 101 In... section 13 are very wide ... the right ... erted. Giving a ... interpre... it is sufficient. Ram Kumar ... R. 1926 Cal. 727. Documents containing assertions of the right of a tenure holder to hold the tenure at a certain rental are admissible under section 13 of the Evidence Act. Ram Dinamani v. Jagat Chunder, 23 Ind. Cas. 773. A document containing ... within the meaning of ... under section 13 ... 17 M. L. T. 271 = ... it is not enough ... in the course of which, the ... transaction will be relevant under ... was asserted or denied. Bansi ... possession of land in assertion of a ... title. Mahomed Ali v. The ... 36 C. 1 = 12 C. W. N. 1095 = 10 ... mahant were asserted a report ... prove the ... J. 961 ... to have a niskar ... ted to show ... as his niskar ... that the ... brahmattar land, was produced. In declaring the evidence not admissible under ... "To turn now to clause (b). The wording ... ects. It speaks ... be admissible ... An instance ... conceivable apart from the transaction by which it was created or modified and so the words 'created' or 'modified' are omitted in clause (b) There may be a transaction by which there has been the recognition of a right or custom, there may also be particular instances of its recognition, and so 'recognised' appears in both the clauses Instead of the words, "by which the right or custom is asserted or denied or which was inconsistent with its existence" we have the words 'in which the right or custom was exercised or in which the exercise was disputed, asserted or departed from' It is clear that in clause (b) instances of assertions fail to see any. I am therefore of opinion that a transaction or instance in which there is mere assertion or denial of a r 13 but only such a transaction is asserted or denied It has been urge view, but I do not see that it does question is whether A has a right to a fishery In such a case a deed conferring the fishery on A's ancestors should be a transaction by which a right to the fishery was created; so a mortgage by A's father would be a transaction by

Recitals in a deed are not transactions but instances of assertions or denials of the existence of the right. They come neither under clause (a) nor under clause (b) They are statements which unless they are relevant under some other provisions of the law e g, as admissions or statements of deceased persons, etc, are not admissible in evidence" Brojendra Kishore v Mohim Chandra, 31 C W N 32 (38, 39)

The word "claim," denotes a demand or assertion in relation to a thing or attribute as against or from some person or persons, showing the existence of a right to it in the claimant A bare statement may or may not be a claim according to the attending circumstances in which it is made It may amount to a claim or be a mere statement of claim though in some circumstances a statement may amount to a claim A statement in the pattah that the land to the west of a judgment may be an instance Sri Protap Chandra v Sri Raja Jagadish, 82

Right, meaning of In Gujju Lal v Fatteh Lall 6 C. 171 (F B), at pages 186, 187 Garth C J said "It may be difficult, perhaps, to define precisely the scope of the word 'right' but I think it was here intended to include those

3. properties only of an incorporeal nature, which in legal phraseology are generally called 'rights' ... word 'custom'
It is certainl ... t (see s 48 and sub section 4 ... eral 'rights or customs' and in s private rights of that is a right which may the expression is used in this limited sense is shown also, as it seems to me, ... the words with which it is associated The right mentioned in the section is on which can be 'created or exercised' which expressions are perfectly appropri... when speaking of an incorporeal right, but would be wholly inapplicable to th word 'right' when used in its more extended sense It would be quite correct t speak of the creation or the exercise of a right of way or of a franchise, but r lawyer would think of saying that a right to a chattel or to damages had bee 'created or exercised'" In the same case Jackson J said at pp 184, 185 "It seem to me as clear as anything can be, that the 'right' here spoken of is something qu distinct from ownership What is referred to in the section cited is evidently
... T
... on
... di
... ht
... th
... eal rights only, because in other pa...
... here the same words occur in conjunctio in that sense In the first place, it is b
... eal rights It is no
... or general natur
... orporeal, but it is b
... that the sectio
... atur
in question refers only to i ... ult t does not seem to me to be ... n th suggest a reason which
... ghts respectively
... v Rajoni Mohun
... anerjee J observed
... incorporeal righ
... limitation on th
... the view taken b
... ed of in Kaladhar
... Palakdhari, 12 A
... majority of th
Full Bench in Gajjul ... tation o the word 'right' ... er as d
Sir Charles Sargent C ... hoddas v Bapu, 10 B 439, that the majority of the Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court in Gujjulal v Fatteh Lall, put too narrow a construction on the word 'right' in s 13 and that 'right' there includes not only incorporeal rights but a right of ownersh p.
This view was also accepted by Ranade J in Laksmin v Amrit, 24 B 591 (599); see also Rama Sami v Appa, 12 M 9 (13), Venkata Sami v Venkatareddi, 15 M 12 Vythilinga v Venkatacha, 16 M 194, Stephen Dig Ev Article 5 The illustra tion to this section shows that the right mentioned in it, is not a public right only the right there mentioned being a private one viz A's right to a fishery Surja v Bishambhar, 23 W R 311 So right and custom in this section must be understood as comprehending all rights and customs recognised by law, and therefore, including a right of ownership Ranchhodas v Bapu, 10 B 439 (417) At present the balance of authority favours the extension of the term "right" to include every right known to the law Per Beaman J in Mahammad v Ilt an 31 B 143 (154) The whole context indicates that the section is dealing with continuous rights which may be interrupted without being necessarily destroyed Ibid at p 155 But a right wh ... bound up in a document does not admit ... of assertion and denial, and is, therefore, ... from all the rights denoted in this section Ibid p 154.

S.

Custom A custom is a particular rule which had existed either actually or presumptively from time immemorial, and has obtained the force of law in a particular lo[illegible] common law [illegible] 218 A cus[illegible]
general rig[illegible]

can never be considered binding until it has become a law by some act, legislative or judicial, of some sovereign [illegible] is to be found in one judgment of t[illegible] [illegible]ilaram Charlu, 1 Mad H C 424) [illegible] It is open to the obvious objection [illegible] could ever be judicially recognized for the first time A decision in its favour would assume that it was already binding The sounder view appears to be that law and usage act and re act upon each other A belief in the propriety, or the [illegible]

v Lsu 4 B 545; Mayne's Hindu Law, 6th Ed 56 So local customary law has its source in those immemorial customs which prevail in particular parts of a country and [illegible] in derogation of the general law of the [illegible] immemorial custom does upon occasion [illegible] respect of the former operation, it is [illegible] which as a source of law retains the distinguished as legal and conventional A legal custom is one whose legal authority is absolute—one which in itself and proprio vigore possesses the force of law A conventional custom is one whose authority is conditional on its [illegible] custom, prevelant or having the force of law in a particular locality only, or the general custom of the realm, in force as law throughout all over the country.—Salmond's Jurisprudence, p 211. The word 'custom' in this section

[illegible]

3. properties onl ... which in legal phraseology are generally called 'rights' ... conjunction with the word 'custom' It is certainl ... quent parts of the Act (see s 45 and sub section 4 of s 32), wh ... or general 'rights or
... and in s 13 ... o include both public or
... the illustration nstances That ms to me, by e section is one tly appropriate when speaking o ... pplicable to the word 'right' when ... quite correct to speak of the cre ... franchise, but no lawyer would think of saying that a right to a chattel or to damages had been ... In the same case Jackson J said at pp. 184, 185 "It seems
... ly a
... To
... ions
this interpretation, the object, the particular facts ... to the section, all seem to me to conduce" But in the same case Mitter J, in dis-... interpretation to the word 'right' Evidence Act, the e in other parts of cur in conjunction first place it is by l rights It is not general nature
al but it is by e section
e nature,
in question refers only to incorporeal ... fficult to does not seem to me to be warranted ... ween the suggest a reason which would justify the existence of a ... rights respectively, ... Mohun
... bserved
... al right.
... n on the
... taken by
On the other ... Kaludhun 12 A
of the
... on of
he interpre... hi k, however, as did the word 'right' ... in Ranchhoddas v
Sir Charles Sargent C J Bapu, 10 B 439, that the ... the Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court in Gujjulal v Fatteh Lall ... construction on the word 'right' in s 13, and that 'right' there incl... real rights but a right of ownership, This view was also acce... Lakshmin v Amrit, 24 B 591 (599), see also Rama Sami v ... nkata Sami v. Venkatareddi, 15 M 12, Vythilinga v Venkatacha, ... Article 5 The illustration to this section shows tha... ight only the right there mentioned bei... Suraj v Bishambhar, 23 W R 311 ... be ... prehending all rights and customs recognised by law and nership Ranchhodas v Bapu, 10 B 439 (441) favours the extension of the term "right" to law Per Beaman J in Mahammad v Hasan xt indicates that the section is dealing with ... necessarily destroyed ly bound up in a stances of assertion guishable from all

C 171. Although I always have a recognised in cannot see why

usage Dalglish v. Guzuffer, 23 C 427; ng to Sir John Woodroffe the word custom customs what th

place
may be ordinari
would be 'usage' within the meaning of the section" Dalglish v Guzuffer, 23 C. 427 (429); Saratullah v Pran, 26 185 In the Indian Evidence Act we find mention of three kinds of customs, (1) private, (2) general (vide s 48) and (3) public (Vide s 32 clause 4)

Private Custom—usage of a single family In Raj Kishen v Ramjoy, 1 C 186 (195, 196)=19 W R 8 P C their Lordships of the Privy Council said "Their Lordships cannot find any principle or authority, for holding that in point of law a manner of descent of an ordinary estate, depending solely on family

Family custom—how proved If a party rely upon the especial custom of particular family has from a long usuage obtained the force of law which must the general rule

3 I A 259 (285), Cas 43 Such a
v Janki, 3 Ind of comparatively period is wholly Narayan, 3 M L
h distinctness and certainty Seruman v. Palathan 15 W. R 47 P. C it is an acknowledged

3. Durga Charn v Raghu Nath, 18 C W N 55 (58) A family custom must be established by clear and unambiguous evidence Abdul v Sona 45 C 450-27 C. L. J 240; see also Lal Gajendra v Lal Mathura, 20 C W. N. 876, Nogendra v Raghu, W R (1864) 20

General Custom The words "general custom" are used in section 48 of the Evidence Act The term 'general custom' in that section probably includes 'public custom" Whitely Stokes, Vol II p. 884 According to English law the term includes the custom of banker's Brandao v Barnett 3 C Bank of Australia v White, 4 of gravel kind and borough english (Clement v Scudamore, 1703, 2 Ld Raym 1024-1026) i e such as have an extended local application Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 20 According to Mr Justice Woodroffe the expression "general custom" is defined to include customs common to any considerable class of persons and includes (a) local custom; (b) caste or class custom, and (c) trade custom or usage Woodroffe's Evidence 8th Ed p 169 If we are to take the analogy from public rights and "general rights" we must say that general customs are those in which some class of the community has a common interest, as for examples, those which are based on the customs of manors (Doe v Sisson 12 East 62; Crease v Barrett 1 C M & R 919), parish M D C [1899] 1 C are connected with hamlets (Thomas v of manors (Barness Wills Ev 2nd Ed 222 Public customs are those in which all the subjects of the king are interested

Local

manner already explained In order that a local custom may be valid and operative as a source of law, it must conform to certain local customs are binding on all y, 1 C 116; Satyanarain v Satya
v Barm 17 W R 316; Marquis
By Ben Reg IV of 1827, s 26 the of the Broach District, the though contrary to Mahomedan law Abas

R 36 As to pre-emption in village co
Kunwar Ahmad, 19 C W N 393, Madhab W R 210 Local custom or usage is termed desachar Field Ev 7th Ed 563

Caste or class custom Cutchi the whole of their property by will regards the succession amongst the Memon's Case, Perry Or Cas 110,
In re Haji Ismail 6 B 452; Ashabai, 9 B 115 As regards tribal custom, vide 16 B 470 (476) and 24 P L R 1903

Requisites of valid custom Under the English law a valid custom must fulfil the following conditions :—

[(a) It must be ancient i e, it must be in existence beyond the memory of man or it must go back as far as the reign of Richard I (Lenkharst v Cooper, 7 C & P 119)
(b) It must be reasonable.
(c) It must be certain
(d) It must have been continued
(e) Peaceable (Lala v Hira, 2 A 49)
(f) Compulsory
(g) Not immoral or unnecessary

Antiquity In the words of Littleton "No custom is to be allowed, but such custom as hath been used by title of prescription, that is to say, from time out of mind" So "no usage can be part of law, or have the force of custom, that is not 5 In London Corporation Co 'A custom originating within time at law." In Chapman v

Smith, 2 Ves 505, Lord Hardwicke, L. C. at p 510 said: 'Local, common law, S. practice

word "
if proved to extend for a hundred years may very well be called immemorial

) B 528; Hur Prosad v Sheo Dyal, L J. 306; Jugamohan v Manick, Gouria 6 B L R 238; Durg, v , 11 B H. C R 271, Mahamaya

Reasonableness A custom must be reasonable Co Litt 62 (a), Tanistry Broadbent v Wilkes, ovas 24 C W N H C 19, De Souza A 257, Kuarsen v 235; Hurpurshad v Shibnarain v Bhut- W N 735, Gauri 1 = 61 Ind Cas 132; Radha Prasad v Dinanath, 43 Ind Cas 451 (Pat) So even where a custom is established by evidence, it cannot be treated as a valid custom on the ground of sively proves that the usage, even though it may have existed from time immemorial, must have resulted from accident or indulgence and not from any right conferred in ancient times on the party setting up the custom Halsbury Vol . Johnson v Clark, (1908) valid must be reason Clark, ubi supra The s inception Mercer v Tyson v Smith, 9 Add & El 406; Sheikh v Behari Lall 6 Pat. L J 11 = 61 Ind Cas 132 A custom is not unreasonable where it is beneficial to a community but against the interest of a particular person Tyson v Smith, ubi supra

Certainty Tanistry Case (1608) Dov Ir at p 33; v Scott, Filz G 55 Blewitt v Tregon e, (1904) 2 Ch 534; Hurpurshad v S anja, 17 W R. 553, Luchman v Akb oy, 1 C 195 (196);

Raturaji v Pahlwan, 33 A 196 (F B); Lali v Hira Singh, 2 A 48; Krishna v Atul, 39 C L J 612, Lachman Bai v Akbar Khan, 1 A 440, Jamila Khatun v Pagal, 1 W R 250; Beni Madhab v Joy Kishna 7 B L R 152, Ram Mina v Ichamoyee, 27 C L J 587, Rai Jatindra v Hari Charan 20 C L J 476 Gopi v Abdul, 34 C L J 319, Tekact v Tekact, 20 W. R 157, Bhagawan Das v Balgobind, 1 Bo R S N (X) In Broadbent v Wilks, Wiles, 360, Wiles C J said "That every custom must be certain is laid down as a rule in all the books which treat of customs It is said of a custom as by way of definition, that consuetudo ex certa et rationabili causa privat communium legem, and it must be certain because, if it be not certain, it cannot be proved to have been time out of mind, for how anything can be said to have been time out of mind when it is not certain what it is?" There must be some definite limit to the right claimed to exist under an alleged custom—in respect of its nature generally, in respect of the locality where the custom is alleged to exist and in respect of the person alleged to be affected by the custom Halsbury Vol X p 227 228

Continuity A custom to be valid must be continued without interruption since time immemorial Halsbury Vol X 231, Tanistry Case, Dav Jr 32, Tyson v Smith 9 Ad & El 406 Simpson v Wells, L R 7 B 314, Abraham v Abraham, 9 M I A 242, Rama v Appaiu, 12 M 14, Subramanja v Muthu, 3 M H C 75, Beni v Jai Kissen, 7 B L R 152 It should be unaltered, uniform and constant Jameela v Pagul, 1 W R 250, Lala v Hira 2 A 49 In Ram Kishen v Ramjoy, 1 [illegible] 196 'It is the esse [illegible] -able, and continuous, and [illegible] destroy them This would [illegible] dental causes, [illegible] s been intentionally brought about b[illegible] also Tara Chand v Reeb Ram 3 M H [illegible] C A C J 113 In cases of a widely spread local custom want of continuity would be evidence that it had never had a legal existence Mayne's Hindu Law, p 58, see also per Jessel M. R. in Hammerton v Honey, 24 W R 603 There is however, a distinction between an interruption of the right which forms the subject matter of the custom, and an interruption in the possession of that right, or the user and enjoyment of that right. If [illegible] matter for how short a period, the right [illegible] revive it its revival would involve [illegible] ry and thereupon the custom would be void But as regards interruption of the possession or enjoyment of the right such an interruption may occur and continue for ten or twenty years [illegible] nterruption being merely [illegible] ury Vol X p 232 In L[illegible] The mere non-user dur[illegible] material, for it was no inte[illegible] but only of the possession See also Hamid Fatima v Bhola, 52 Ind Cas 869

Obligatory [illegible] having [illegible] Imm[illegible] own to [illegible] n the [illegible] Ver-

Lart v Vettivelu 11 M 459, 461, 462 A caste-custom which is against law ought to be established by very clear proof that the conscience of the members of the caste had come to regard it as binding Petal Vendra van v Patal Manilal 16 B 470 A custom to be valid must be acquiesced in Nitya v Provas 24 C W N 309

Not immoral or unreasonable A custom deserves to be recognized and enforced by the Courts, unless it is injurious to the public interests, or is in conflict with any express law of the ruling power Tarachand v Reeb Ram, 3 M H C 56, Khau v Sundrabai, 11 B H C 249, Mathura v Esu, 4 B 545 So a custom should not be immoral or opposed to public policy or unreasonable Raja Vurmah v Rabi Vurmah, 1 M 235, Lakhmi v Sadatula, 9 C 698 Lachmeeput v Sadaulla, 9 C 698, Krishna Swami v Vira Swami, 10 M 133 DeSouza v Pestonji, 8 B 408, Langa v Pengari 20 C W N 406=22 C L J 92, Syed Ali v Sarjan, 18 C W N 735, Krishna v Raman, 14 L W 329

Immoral custom is not recognized as valid Ghasiti v Umaraojan, 20 I A 149 (P C), Chinna v Tegarai, 1 M 168 S. 1

Transaction Transaction in its ordinary management of any undertaking or business been brought partly or wholly to a conclusion or obligations Standard Dictionary Worcester defines it as the act of transacting or conducting any business, negotiation, management a proceeding Webster, as t ment of any affair; performance, on as the derivation denotes persons by a cross or reciprocal action as it were Per Jackson J in Gujju Lall v Fatteh Lall 6 C 185 Whatever may be done by one person which affects another s rights and out of which a cause of action may arise, is a transaction Scarborough v Smith, 18 Kan 399, 406 It is a broader term than the contract for while every contract is a transaction every transaction is not a contract Roberts v Donovan, 70 Cal 108, 113 The term transaction is one of large import, and might although by o proceedings in a suit. Jackson J in Gujju Lall v transaction, vide post

The word 'transaction' in section 13 of the Evidence Act means a business or dealing which is carried on or transacted between two or more persons Written statements filed in suits are not transactions within the meaning of the section Where in the specified boundaries of an adjacent land the suit land is described as belonging to one of the parties it is transaction but not a e party is asserted claimed or even recognised dence under section 13 Sanpalli v Fota Ind Cas 747 A private transaction between

m) A transaction contemplated by section 13 is a genuine and bona fide transaction, but a benami transaction land was held admissible both under clause (a) and clause (b) of section 13 on the ground that it was a transaction in which the right was exercised In this case the Ali v Syed Rejanali 19 C W N 468 was dou Dulari Mahanti 194 and also upon the decision later Dasi a a as Previous transaction in respect of different property is not a transaction' within the section Radha Krishna v Sarabeswar Nag 29 C W N 469 86 Ind Cas 674 = A I R 1925 Cal 684, see also Abdul Ali v Rejan Ali, 21 Ind Cas 618.

Instar strative case, something Webster's Dictionary the right or custom which its section 13 of t of lands other than ular instance by or d or denied Abdulla tatement of an agent that his principal was a bastard was admissible under section 13 of the Evidence Act as establishing an instance in which the legitimacy of the person in question was denied Held also that a judgment referring to such illegitimacy was also admissible under the same section Raj Fateh Singh v Baldeo Singh 5 O W N 143 – 109 Ind Cas 310 = A I R 1928 Oudh 233 When a custom has been established, instances showing that there has been no variation in the custom are important and should be relied upon, no matter if such instances relate to transactions which took place after the suit involving the question of custom had been instituted Kishan Singh v Faqir, A I R 1928 Lah 66 Uncontested instances are by no means worthless evidence of the existence of right Muhammad Husain v Ghulam Muhammad 10 Ind Cas = 138 P L R 1911 Statements contained in petitions by members of a family recognizing the existence of a custom of primogeniture in the family, are relevant and admissible as evidence of particular instances in which the custom was recognized as affecting their own rights Shyamanand v Rama Kanto 32 C 6 Instances in the neighbouring sub divisions of a town are relevant on the question of custom in a particular sub division of a town under section 13 of the Evidence Act and they may be treated as evidence supplementary to the evidence afforded by instances in the sub division Admission by a vendee in a suit for pre emption that the custom for pre emption existed in the locality is an instance of the recognition of a right which is relevant under section 13 of the Evidence Act Sant Singh v Jowala Sahib 59 P L R 1903 = 42 P R 1903 Statements made by persons in a suit cannot be considered as instances although the whole litigation ending in a judgment can well be called an instance Sree Pratap v Sree Raja Jagadis 40 C L J 331 (363)

Proof of trade custom by particular instances In evidencing a custom or usage (i e the habit of a body of persons) by specific instances, the following general principle is applicable that is the instances offered (a) should be sufficiently numerous to indicate a regular course of business, and (b) should occur under conditions substantially similar to that in question Wigmore § 379

Number of instances Individual instances offered one at a time are receivable Doe v Mason 3 Wils 63 In Roe v Jeffrey 2 M & S 92 Ellenborough L C J said It is true that one act undisturbed does not make a custom, but it will be evidence of custom The alleged custom must be very satisfactorily proved by evidence of particular instances so numerous as to justify the Court in finding in favour of the custom Durga v Raghunath, 18 C W N 55 Lachman v Akbar, 1 A 440 Debendra v Pitamber 98 Ind Cas 43 = A I R 1927 Cal 177 Jugmohandas v Mangaldas 10 B 578 (543), Sarabjit v Indrajit 27 A 203, Chandika v Menia 24 A 273 = 29 I A 70

Custom should occur under conditions substantially similar to that in question It is obvious that there must be such a similarity or unity of conditions that what is done by one or more persons or sets of persons may be taken as indicating the probable general habit of the class of persons under similar circumstances The precedents illustrate all sorts of trade and usage and no detailed generalization seems feasible Wigmore § 376 To prove a custom of London as to the stowage of goods in regard to general average a similar custom in other English ports was received Milward v Hibbect 3 Q B 120 139 So also to prove a custom of trade between Liverpool and California, after incorporation with the United States as to discounts on freight, a similar custom as to trade with Texas after incorporation and as to other ports of British America, etc was received Falkner v Earle 3 B & S 360 Similarly in proving, usage as to bleaching linen in Nottingham usage at Loughborough was admitted by reason of the vicinity of the places and the interchange of trade In Fleet v Morton, L R 2 Q B D 126 = 41 L J Q B N S 49 the action was for the price of fruit on a sold note signed by the brokers only the dispute being whether in that trade brokers were liable on such notes for the default of principals The custom of trade being held to be involved in the contract, evidence was received with some hesitation, of the custom on the point in the colonial market. Blackburn J observed It seemed to be conceded in the trial that the two trades were so far allied to each other that the same usages would be likely to prevail in both, and I thought that upon the question of the liability of a broker evidence of his liability in a similar trade ought to be received' So it is enough to point out (1) that no particular circumstance is conclusive either pro or con, (2) that instances from another trade or another region are not necessarily without ... locality are not ... ther the offered ... ey are receivable ... unyway, 2 Doug ...

Customary rights in land, etc Custom in India is transcendent law But a custom cannot be established by a few instances or by instances of recent date Consequently, it is the duty of the Court when it has to pronounce upon the ... not only as to the sufficiency ... required to ...

sion of ...
the alleged custom has been acted upon, and by the proof afforded by judicial or revenue records of private accounts and receipts that the custom has been enforced" Per Turner J in Lachman Rai v Akbar Khan, 1 A 440 (441), see also Ashutosh v. Chandi, A I R 1927 Cal 177 = 98 Ind Cas 43 Though judicial ... the establishment of custom- ... Tara Chand v Reeb Ram, ... v Baboo Burm Narain Singh, ... t to establish a family custom ... clear, distinct and ...

... st be shown that the c... set up is pecu... Ashutosh v Cl... members of a family recognising the existence of a custom of primogeniture in the family, are relevant and admissible as evidence of particular instances in which the custom was recognized as affecting their own rights Shyamanand v Rama Kanta, 32 C 6 In Pal k Dhari Rai v Manners, 23 C 179, a suit by a landlord for ejectment of purchasers from raiyats having only a right of occupancy, on the ground that the holdings of such raiyats were not transferable without the landlord's consent, the defendants pleaded custom or usage in support of the transfers Questions arose as to the character of the usage required to be proved in such cases, and the nature of the evidence required to prove the usage In that case the Court observed at p... that he has been purcha... 200 kobalas of such lands ... which are on the record ... and by themselves would certainly establish neither a custom ... to such transactions We would here refer to section 13 of the Evidence Act as showing the character of evidence by which a right or custom may be proved Mr Manners' evidence is not of that description The Subordinate Judge next states that 'one of the purchases was made so long ago as in the year 1277' ... isolated instance, and it relates ... ced in evidence also ... ext refers to the fact ... of their other ...

not be properly regarded as a recognition of a ... consent of the landlord"

Instances occurring within the same manor, it is clear, will be received, because the original unity of the holding allows each instance to appear as merely one illustration of a general system working uniformly So in order to prove a custom of descent in the female line, particular instances were received of such descent in other estates of the manor, as well as of a general ... custom of descent in the manor, th... branches from the same root" P... 12 East 62 Similarly to prove cust... in the same township were admitt... Howard, 1 M & S 292, see also Jeu... 540, 566, Lendrum v Deaxley 4 L R Ire 63 On the same principle however, instances from other manors may be received, provided that, behind their apparent difference of conditions a unity of some sort can be shown which makes instances from the one equally illustrative of a general system including and operating in the other Wigmore § 380 In Moulin v Dallison Cro Car 484, the question was whether an estate descended by custom to the eldest daughter in manor S After showing that S was a part of a manor O, and thus establishing the unity of custom, the fact was received of the rule of descent in O see also Champion v Atkinson, 3 Keb 90, Somerset v France, 1 Stra 654 In Furpeaux v Hutchins 2 Cowp 807 Lord Mansfield C J said, "Proof of the custom in other parishes is no evidence to affect the parish in question unless the custom had been proved as a custom of the whole country" In Rowe v Brenton, 8 B & C 737, 758, the issue was as to the ownership of copper mines and the rights of a plaintiff who was a "conventionary lessee" in the copper on his land there were 17 manors in the duchy, and some of the above tenancies, renewable every 7 years, existed in each manor Evidence was received as to the terms of the customary right of such a tenant in those other manors Tenterden L C J said "The same character, whatever that may be belongs to them all It certainly belongs to all those called 'free conventionaries', in this district Must we not, then in fairness, in order to ascertain what are the relative rights of the lords and these tenants in one part of the district enquire what are the rights in another?" In the same case Bayley J said "I am of opinion that the usage which has prevailed in one part, is evidence to explain a grant expressed in similar terms to any other part of the district" Similarly in Anglesey v Hatherton 10 M & W 218 Abinger C B said "It should be established clearly and beyond all controversy that the two manors originally formed one manor there prevails throughout those manors a particular species of tenure, called tenant right, since in those manors all the tenants hold under the same right if it should happen that in one particular manor no example can be adduced of what is the custom in any particular case in order to explain the nature which is not confined to one manor but prevails in a great number you may show what is the general usage in respect to that tenure" He also approved Rowe v Brenton, ubi supra In the same case, Alderson B said, "If indeed there be some general connecting link between them—as, for instance if the custom in question be a particular incident of the general tenure which is common to two manors then you have a right to show what the custom of one manor is as to the tenure, for the purpose of showing what the custom of the other manor is as to that tenure; but you must begin by showing that there is a general tenure common to both, that fact fails here"

To prove a custom or usage that occupancy holdings are transferable in any locality, it is not sufficient to show simply that such holdings are sold in the village or neighbouring villages The essence of a usage of transferability is that transfers made to the knowledge of but without the consent of the landlord are valid and must be recognised by him Peary Mohun v Jote Kumar, 11 C W N 83

Transaction whether includes judgment "A transaction in the ordinary sense of the word is some business or dealing which is carried on or transacted between two or more persons If the parties to a suit were to adjust differences inter se, the adjustment would be a transaction, and by a somewhat strained use of the word the proceedings in a suit might also be called transaction, but to say that the decision of a Court of Justice is a tran... misapplication of the term' Per Garth C J ... C. 171 at p 186 A transaction, as the deri... has been concluded between persons by a cross ...

whe
trib den
the
of 22
Court admitted, in evidence against the defenda the itnamee right had been successfully asserte the tenure that was said to have created the defendant had not been a party Sir Richard ment of the Court said that he could not think that such judgments were intended to be excluded, and that the expression 'transaction' in section 13 was large enough to include proceedings in suits, and that the section did not require the suit to have been between the same parties, but left it to the Court to decide what weight attached to it In Narain Bikhanbai v Dipa Umed, 3 B 3, where the plaintiffs sought to recover arrears of a Chirda Lak, Westroff, C. J and Melville, J, adopting the views taken by Couch C J. of section 13, held that decrees establishing the right in prior suits between the same persons were admissible in evidence "for the purpose of been asserted, but recognized by the tribunals " In Ranchhoddas v Bapu, 10 B 439 at as is to be found in be understood as therefore, including doubted whether such was the intention of the framer of the code" In Tepu Khan Rooni Mohan, 2 C W N 501, (504) = 25 C 522 (F B) Banerjee J said: "If the meaning of clause

place,
ransac-
the insta sion
is,
B 143 "It seems to me the true point is, not that the judgments and decrees themselves are 'tran ere made was a transaction, and th place they are the best evidence Per kdhari, 12 A 1 (F. B); see also I per Sir William De Grey.

"Th says Pr
from sc quence
no long
In oth utteran
determining what are the terms of their act Wigmore § 24 tion of a transaction, is either voluntary or compulsory In the former instance it wh su
—the law insists, independently of the parties' choice that the transaction be embodied in ces attach the only in and negotiat
roll, as fina

3, as adjudicated, and this supersedes the miscellaneous mass of oral and written pleading, motions, and orders which have gone to make up the proceedings Ramsbotto in legal th and many strictness
need to appear in the record,—hence may be established without regard to the contents of the record This involves the whole theory of trials and appeals" From the above observation of Prof Wigmore, one of the greatest authority on the Law of Evidence it is abundantly clear that a judgment or decree is but an integration of various transactions When such transactions are relevant under section 13, a judgment or decree is also admissible under this section As regard the probative value of such judgments and decrees vide infra

Judgment whether relevant under this section Judgments in Courts of Justice on other occasions form an exception to the exclusion of evidence of transactions not specifically connected with facts in issue Step Intro 161 There are two kinds of judgments, namely judgments in rem and judgments in personam The former kinds of judgments are always relevant (Vide s 41) Judgments in personam bind only parties and privies to facts in issue (Vide Notes under s 40) So a judgment which operates as resjudicata is relevant in a subsequent suit (Vide s 40) So also judgments, orders, or decrees are relevant if they relate to matters of public nature relevant to the enquiry (Vide s 42) Now the question is whether judgments, which are not judgments in rem, nor public nature section Such is presumed to be faithfully recorded and as such is proof of its own existence, date and of its legal consequences not simply inter parties, but against all the world, but not of the truth of the fact on which it rested In other words, the law attributes unerring verity to the substantive as opposed to the judicial, portions of the record Phip Ev 392 Thus where A has been tried and acquitted of a crime against B and afterwards sues B for malicious prosecution the record in the criminal trial is conclusive evidence of A s acquittal, but it is no proof whatever that A was innocent or that B was the prosecutor, or actuated by malice Legath v Tollerey 14 East 302, Purcell v Macnamara, 9 East 36; Leyman v Latimer 3 Ex D 352 354 Phip Ev 392 Such judgments are also relevant under section 43 of the Evidence Act if the existence of such judgment is a fact in issue, or is relevant under some other sections (Vide section 43 Hill v Clifford, (1907) 2 Ch 236) Otherwise such judgments when tendered against strangers ar Fontaine Morean 11
more commonly on

11 C L R 530 Ordinarily a statement of opinion made by the Judge in a previous judgment not inter partes is no evidence in a subsequent case Harnath v Mohanlal, A I R 1929 Lah 123=10 L L J 519 Under section 13 a judgment is relevant if its existence is a transaction under clause (a) or its existence be considered an instance under clause (b) Tepu Khan v Rajoni 2 C W N 501 504 On this point there is some conflict of opinion and it is better to treat the decisions of different tribunals under separate headings

English Ca
to hereditament Cas 135; Bland
non repairs of and judgments for the recovery of prescriptive tolls (City of London ... Carth 181, Layborn v Crisp, 4 M & W 320) are admissible as relevant facts when the right to the land, the way, or the toll respectively is in question. S. Wills. Ev 61.

Calcutta Cases A judgment in a former suit brought by other parties tlnamee r 3, and as such Goroo Doss, 22 arose in 1880 in Gujju Lall v Fatteh Lall, 6 C 171, which was a suit to recover possession of the land covered by ... right, and alleges that B was ... passed, the former judgment woul ... rari right, see Sooromonee D ...

Krishna Behari v Brojeswari, 2 ...
Evidence as at present adm... in England, it would equally be considered conclusive, and, if not conclusive, at least as cogent evidence in the subsequent suit . Was it intended by the Evidence Act to declare such judgment as this irrelevant? But it would be irrelevant unless it be relevant either under s 11 or s 13 It is not relevant under s 40, because its existence does not by law prevent the Court from taking cognizance of the second s ... under the circumstances, I apprehend it wou ...

... at least in some cases not being admissible ... der ss 41 and ... ant under some ... tion' and 'right ... section Is ... setting ... al for ... not the ... le to be highly ... r these reasons I ... nce is relevant

However the d ... Full Bench in Gujju Lall v Fateh Lal ... C L R 528 (530), Ramnarain v Ramcooma ... C 207 and affirmed in Surender Nath v Br ... the case of Surender Nath v Brojendra Nath was followed ... Gobind Chunder v Srigobind, 24 C 330; see als ... the case of Surender Nath ... the Full Bench, McDonell and ... have contended before us tha ... the Evidence Act, and that the ... Gujju Lall v Fatte ... and it ... Bench ... gment ... must ... t Full ... Brojo Behari Mitter v Kedar Nath Mozumdar, 12 C 580 (F B), has ruled in a case where the parties were not arrayed as plaintiff and defendant in a previous suit but as co-defendants, that the judg- ... the ... ants ... een ... of ... has been shaken ... Privy Council decision in the case of P ...

... Council, although the Ju ... between the parties was not ... they still treated such judgment evidence in the case ... In the ... although not inter part ... nature of the possession ... the case Hira Lal Pal ... a rent decree of a ... character was used as evidence for the purpose of showing that rent was successfully claimed for the lands, which were in the subsequent suit alleged to be lakiraj ... It seems to us that the question raised before us is of considerable importance, and one which often arises in our Courts, and we therefore think it necessary to refer the following question to a Full Bench: Whether under the circumstances stated, the judgment in the previous case is evidence or not" But again the [illegible] Wilson, O K[illegible]

the question [illegible] think, concluded by the two Full Bench cases, Gujju Lal v Fatteh Lal supra and and Brojo Behari Mitter v Kedar Nath Mozumdar, 12 C 580 (F B)" The Full Bench neither discussed the question nor tried to distinguish the cases referred to in the order of reference Mitter J however dissented from the view taken by the Full Bench

The question again arose in a suit for rent in which the amount of land held by the defendant was questioned, and it was contended that the land must be measured with a hath of 21 ¼ inches and not one of 18 inches, as claimed by the plaintiff Zamindar Certain decrees obtained by the Zamindar against other tenants in the same pergunnah in suits in which 18 inches had been taken as the hath were tendered in evidence in support of the plaintiff s contention that the customary hath in the pergunnah was one of 18 inches In that case such decrees were admissible in evidence under the provisions of s 13 of the Evidence Act, as they furnished evidence of particular instances in which a custom was claimed Of course such decrees and judgments are clearly admissible under s 42 of the Evidence Act as being judgments and decrees which relate to matters of a public nature relevant to the enquiries, i e the measurement of the hath in the pergunnah But the Court admitted the judgments under s 13 of the Evidence Act Jamatulla v Romoni Kant, 15 C 233

In Jiaullah Sheikh v Inu Khan, 23 C 693 it was held that a decree for possession made by a Court under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act (I of 1877) in a suit beyond the pecuniary limits of that Court's jurisdiction, although not res judicata, is some evidence of dispossession by the defendant in a subsequent suit against the same defendants to recover mesne profits In delivering the judgment the Court observed at p 697. "It was argued for the respondent, on the authority of Gujju Lal v Fatteh Lall, 6 C 171 (F B); Brojo Behari v Kedar Nath, 12 C 580, and Surender Nath v Brojo Nath, 13 C 352 (F B) that the decree, if not conclusive evidence is not evidence at all; but the decrees which it was sought to put in evidence in those cases were not inter partes In Madhusudan Saha Mundal v Brae, 16 C 300, the Full Court held that an ex parte decree for arrears of rent did not [illegible] of rent res judicata, but the ques[illegible]
The case of Run Bahadur v Luc[illegible] although not conclusive eviden[illegible]
There the survivor of two brothers, claiming the whole estate by survivorship, brought a suit in the Court of the Subordinate Judge against the widow of the deceased brother who claimed her husband's share as her separate estate and the question was whether the brothers were joint or separate in estate The decision of a Munsif in a rent suit between the same parties was put in to show that the brothers were separate The Judicial Committee held that the judgment was [illegible] d as evidence to which some [illegible] hen the question again came up [illegible] Teju Khan v Rajani Mohun [illegible] n was whether a judgment in a previous suit by a co-sharer of the plaintiff for the recovery of possession of two thirds is admissible in evidence in the plaintiff s suit against the same defendants for the recovery of possession of the remaining one third share of the same property Mr Justice Banerjee in referring the case to the Full Bench observed at pp 524—528 If the cases of Gujju Lall v Fatteh Lall 6 C 171 (F B) and Surender Nath v Brojo Nath 13 C 352 (F B) upon the authority of which the lower Appellate Court has held the judgments tendered in evidence for the defendants to be inadmissible are good law the first ground urged before us must fail But if those cases have in effect been overruled by the decisions of the Privy Council in Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain 22 C 533—22 I A 60 and Bhitto Kunwar v Kesho Pershad 24 I A 10=1 C W N 265 then the question arises whether the judgments referred to are admissible in evidence In the two cases relied upon by the lower Appellate Court namely Gujju Lall v Fatteh Lall, 6 C 171 and Surender Nath v Brojo Nath 13 C 352 it was held by this Court that a former judgment which is not a judgment in rem nor one relating to matters of a public nature, is not admissible in evidence in a subsequent suit either as res judicata or as proof of the particular point decided, unless between the same parties or those claiming under them But in the case of Ram Ranjon Chakerbati v. Ram Narain Singh, 23 C 533=22 I A 60, it was he[illegible] that a judgment passed in a suit to which the plaintif [illegible] plaintiff as evidence showing the rent [illegible] Pershad, 24 I A 10=1 C W N [illegible] speaking of judgment in a former suit against one of the defendants Bacha Tewari, observe 'this decision is not conclusive against Bacha Tewari, if the suit [illegible] their Lordships agreed [illegible] ence against him These [illegible] in effect over ruled the [illegible] being so the question as to the relevancy of the judgment, that is, the circumstance that a particular judgment was passsed, is clearly a fact within the meaning assigned to the term in section 13 . Next as to relevancy of the judgment in suit no 732 of 18[illegible] under section 13 [illegible] transaction within the meaning of clau[illegible] terminating in the judgment took [illegible] meaning of the [illegible] the defendants [illegible] of the [illegible] ection [illegible] right [illegible] on on the meaning of the term as used in the section The judgment therefore is, in my opinion, relevant under section 13 If such judgments were not relevant under either of the two sections 11 and 13, they could not be admissible in evidence [illegible] two cases referred to above [illegible] such judgments in evidence [illegible] the Law of Evidence, (see Tay[illegible] no man ought to be bound by proceedings to which he was a stranger [illegible] conduct of which [illegible] judg[illegible] vidence, [illegible] to the evidence being left to the Court to determine And in the second place the reason stated above, though it is a good reason for excluding from consideration as against a stranger, the ev[illegible] so far as it is the opinion of a Court upon mate[illegible] Court the stranger could have had no [illegible] good where [illegible] by the [illegible] on and [illegible] rpo es, [illegible] h law [illegible] person, [illegible] of the [illegible] missible [illegible] before [illegible] with the [illegible] ed In [illegible] roperty [illegible] recover [illegible] suits is [illegible] ifferent [illegible] ight to [illegible] missibl [illegible] rt viz [illegible] Muth

Pal v Broja Nath Pal, have been referred to, I feel bound to express my opinion that having regard to the recent observations of the Privy Council in the case of Ram [illegible]

In Abinash Chandra Chatterjee v Paresh Nath Ghosh, 9 C W N 402 the Court agreed with the view taken by the Full Bench in Tepu Khan v Rajani [illegible] a quite [illegible] 44 the [illegible] e judg- [illegible] ed for [illegible] It is well settled that although a judgment not inter partes may be used in evidence in certain circumstances, as a fact or as a relevant fact, of possibly as a transaction, (Ram Ranjan v Ramnarain 22 C 583; Bitto v Kesho Pershad 24 I A. 24=1 C W N 265, Dinomoni v Brojo Mohini 29 I A 24=6 C W N 386, Tepu Khan v Rajani, 25 C 52=2 C W N 501; Malcomson v O'Dea, 10 H L C 593 and Bristow v Cormican, 3 App Cas 641) the recitals in the judgment [illegible] The principle is [illegible] from their [illegible] sumed to be [illegible] dence for or [illegible] istence, date [illegible] rendered, in [illegible] is opposed to [illegible] judgment of [illegible] therein and [illegible]

the first ground must prevail" [illegible]

[illegible] 1923 A I R Cal 240=36 C L J [illegible] in this connection we cannot over- [illegible]

[illegible] correctness of the pre- vious decision but the fact that there had been a decision that is established by the production of the judgment This is clear from the decisions of the Judicial Committee in Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain, 22 I A 60=22 C 533; Bitto Kunwar v Kesho Persad 24 I A 10=19 A 277, Dinomoni v Brojo Mohini, 29 I A 24=29 C 187, Ramprokash v Anand 43 I A 73=43 C 707=24 C L J 116, and Natal Land Co v Good L R 2 P C 121 and of the House of Lords in Malcomson v O'Dea, 10 H L C 593 and Bristow v Cormican, 3 App Case 641 This fundamental distinction was not fully appreciated in the Court below, and references were made to the [illegible] of inconclu- [illegible] tness [illegible] ment [illegible] B), [illegible] inter [illegible] a previous judg- [illegible] under section 11 or section 13 [illegible] certain circumstances may be [illegible] "The cases so contemplated [illegible]

produced a judgment he had obtained against Y which decided that title was in X Held it was a very strong piece of evidence against the tenant as to who was the landlord Purna Chandra v Ramesh Chandra 87 Ind Cas 753 = A I R 1925 Cal 1218 Where judgments not inter partes were filed to show that similar grants were resumed by the grantor or his heirs on the death of the grantee Held, they are admissible in evidence under the provisions of section 13 of the Evidence Act Syed Mahammad v Mahunaji Nim Narain, 7 C L J 90 Proceedings in and documents filed in a previous suit are relevant evidence against a person not a party to that suit Malan Chandra v Kaliram Biswas, 23 C L J 678 Orders for the appointment and discharge of the guardian of A, a minor, cannot be received in evidence to prove the date of birth of A from the recitals contained therein Hora Kumar Devi v Jogendra Krishna Roy 38 C L J 186 Where the question is whether a maintenance grant is alienable or not, previous judgments as regards the alienability of such grants are admissible in evidence as instances in which the right to alienate a portion of the subject of the grant was claimed and its exercise disputed and disallowed Bhima Durgay v Pande Fateh, 3 C L J 521, see also Madhab v Ram Sa at Kumari, [illegible] C W N 126

A judgment in a case under s 9 of the Specific Relief Act does not come either under s 41 or under s 42 of the Evidence Act and it is relevant only under ss 13, 40 and 43 of the Act, that is to say as evidence of a transaction or instance where the right to possession was claimed or disputed and [illegible] as evidence to show that there was such a judgment or decree in order [illegible] a further claim or to determine whether cognizance should or should not be taken of a suit or whether a trial should or should not be held The use to which a decree passed in such a suit may be put in a subsequent suit between the parties is only to show that a right to possession was asserted and it was denied and a suit was instituted and was either decreed or dismissed Chhadeck v Sured 85 Ind Cas 979; see also Radha Churn v. Zumuroonissa, 11 W R 83, Jiaulla v Inu, 23 C 693

For cases on this point which were decided before the Indian Evidence Act vide Kanhya Lall v Radh Charan, 7 W R 338 (per Sir Barnes Peacock C J), Jogendra Deb Roy v Faindra Deb Roy, 14 M I A 376, Mohammad Ali v Shams Ali, 8 W R 422

Decree [illegible] There is some conflict of opinion in [illegible] decree obtained by a co-sharer landl[illegible] rent in a subsequent suit for rent [illegible] the recent case of Kanta Mohan v Gopi Nath A I R 1928 Cal 355 Mr Justice Mullick held that such a previous judgment is admissible in evidence under section 13 in a subsequent suit In delivering the judgment he observed The whole controversy before me centred round the question whether the ex parte decree obtained by a co-sharer landlord was admissible in evidence or not The learned Subordinate Judge has held as I have said before that it was inadmissible, and for this he relied on the Full Bench case of Surendra Nath Pal v Brojo Nath Pal 13 C [illegible] which had followed the Full Bench decision in GujjuLall v Fatteh Lall [illegible] C 171 [illegible] C L R 439 But in another Full Bench in Teppu Khan v Rajoni Mohan Das [illegible] C 522 = 2 C W N 501 their lordships observed that the dictum in the case of Guju Lall v Fatteh Lall and Surendra Nath v Brojonath referred to above have been materially qualified by the observations of their Lordships of the Judicial Committee in Ram Ranjan Chakravarty v Ram Narain Singh 22 C 533 = 22 I A 60 In 1925 Cal Case it was held that a previous decree obtained by a co sharer landlord would be admissible in evidence in a subsequent litigation if the subject matter of the two suits be identical; otherwise not The learned Vakil for the respondents contended that the subject matter in the suit from which this appeal arises was not identical with, but different from that in the previous suit in which the ex parte decree was obtained by a co sharer landlord and in support of this contention he cited the case of Abdul Ali v Hari Chandra Das 10 C W N 1081 The facts of the case in Abdul Ali v Hari Chandra Das were very much similar to [illegible] the previous [illegible] as to the [illegible] ground that [illegible] why they

13 considered that the subject matters in the two suits were not identical It is difficult to understand how it can be said that the subject matters in the two suits were different The amounts claimed were no doubt different and the claimants were not the same But the real dispute in the two suits was as to what the amount of rent was Their lordships of the Judicial Committee in Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain 22 C 533 at p 542 held that the judgment in a previous suit would be evidence for the purpose of showing what the amount of the rent was It is to be observed also that in a case that was decided in this Court subsequent to the decision in Abdul Ali v Raj Chandra Das, 10 C W N 1084 namely in the case of Byom Kesh v Jagadishwar, 22 C W N 304=40 Ind Cas 442 it was held that a decree obtained by a co-sharer landlord is admissible in evidence as to the rate of rent in a subsequent suit for rent brought by another co-sharer landlord On a consideration, therefore, of authorities on the point and specially of the observations of their lordships of the Judicial Committee in Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain I am opinion that the learned subordinate Judge was wrong in law when he held that the decree in the previous suit was inadmissible in evidence In my opinion the decree was admissible, and that being so the case must go back to the lower appellate Court to have the appeal re heard" It should be noted in this connection that in this case as well as in the case reported in 22 C W N 304 the co sharer landlord plaintiff relied on the previous decree of his co sharer landlord against the tenant defendant who was also a party to the previous suit But in Kanto Mohun Mulick v Jadab Chandra Khara A I R 1928 Cal 353 which was decided by another Bench of the Calcutta High Court on the previous day and in which it appears the plaintiffs appellants were the same as in the case reported in 1928 A I R Cal 355, it was held that a decree obtained by a co sharer landlord in a previous suit was not admissible in evidence as to rate of rent in a subsequent suit for rent by another co-sharer landlord But in that case the distinguishing feature was that the tenants respondents wanted to use the previous decrees obtained by the plaintiffs co-sharer landlords against the plaintiff In delivering the judgment Mitter J said "On the merits it has been argued by the learned advocate for the appellant that the lower appellate Court has committed an error in law in deciding the appeal on inadmissible evidence It is said that Exs A, C and D are decrees which were obtained by plaintiff's co shares against the defendants, and as the plaintiff who represents the estate of the late Babu Manik Lal Seal was not a party to the said suit the decrees were not inter partes and consequently are not admissible in evidence Reliance has been placed in support of this contention on two decisions of this Court in the case of Abdul Ali v Raj Chandra Dass 10 C W N 1084 and Prem Chand Nan lal v Official Trustee of Bengal 27 C W N 56 of the notes portion The first two decisions support the appellant s case The last decision which takes the contrary view, was an ex parte decision in an appeal in which the respondents were not represented the learned advocate for the respondent argued that having regard to the decision of the Judicial Committee in the case of Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain 22 C 233=22 I A 60 such decrees by co-sharer landlords, as were admitted and acted upon by the learned Additional District Judge in this case could be treated as evidence, however weak the value of such evidence might be But the distinction between Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain and the present case lies in the fact that the observations of the Judicial Committee were limited to cases where the subject matter of the previous judgment was identical with the subject matter of the suit in which those judgments were sought to be offered as evidence and their lordships held that under s 13, Evidence Act such judgments could be treated as evidence of a transaction within the meaning of that section Here the suit by the co-sharer was in respect of his own share of the rent in the previous suit to which the present plaintiffs were not parties Consequently the decrees A C and D did not refer to the same subject matter to which the present suit relates That was a distinction which was noticed in the Full Bench case in Tepu Khan v Rajani Mohan Das 25 C 522=2 C W N 501 (F B) and the majority of the Full Bench held that, where the subject matter of the previous judgments was not identical with the subject matter of the suit in which such judgments were sought to be introduced as evidence the earlier judgments could not be held admissible "

In Abdul Ali v Rajchandra, 10 C W N 1084, although the plaintiff landlord wanted to use the decree of his co-sharer landlord against the same tenant defendant, it was disallowed by the High Court on the ground "that if such decrees for rent were obtained by a co sharer or co sharers for his or their share of the rent they are neither conclusive between the Plaintiff and the raiyat Defendant, nor are they admissible in evidence between them, the subject matter

a pro forma Defendant but which decree was obtained more than a year after the decision of the suit in question

Ex parte decrees for rent obtained by a landlord against the heirs of a tenant and satisfied by the latter are evidence of the existence of the tenancy at the date of these decrees Anukul Chandra v Kamala Kanta Roy, 67 Ind Cas 787 A decree obtained by a two anna co-sharer for enhancement of rent of his share is admissible in evidence in a subsequent suit for enhancement of rent by other co-sharers Sarat Soondary Dabia v Anund Mohun, 5 C. 273=4 C L R 448

Bombay cases The first Bombay case in which this point arose was the case of Naranji v. Dipa Umed, 3 B 3 In that case Westropp C J said at p 5 "Under the law as it stood before the Indian Evidence Act (I of 1872) came into force, those decrees were conclusive, in as much as the right to the churda hak was established by them as the foundation on which the arrears claimed in the suits in which those decrees were made, were recovered by the plaintiffs in those suits—Soorjomonee Dayee v Sudanand Mohapatter, 12 B L R 304 P C, Krishna Behari Roy, v Brojeswari Choudhranee 2 I A 283 If not conclusive since the Evidence Act (I of 1872) came into force, those decisions are, at least, admissible in evidence under section 13 of that enactment for the purpose of

of it will be very different where it was given in a suit to which the person against whom it is used was not a cases almost, if not quite, conclusive, it is clear e, etc." But in a sub Sargent C J dissented the learned Judge adopted the view taken by majority of the Full Bench in Gujju Lall v

4 B 591 at p 599 Ranade J in trying "The real question at issue was f the partition deed of 1885 Though the decision in the former suit will not estop the respondents defendants from contesting the claim as being res judicata, still the record and the judgment in that case, showing the conduct of the parties, and the admissions would be [illegible] section 13 The interpretation placed upon the 6 C 171 seems not to ss is questioned in ctor of Gorakhpur v ich judgments from Except where they are judgments not in rem, or where they relate to public matters, judgments inter partes have been always held not to be res judicata, but they cannot be wholly excluded for other purposes in so far as they explain the nature of possession, or throw light on the motives or conduct of parties or identify property. The cases show that such judgments may have very high value as evidence and may even shift the burden of proof—Neamut Ali v Gooro Dass, 22 W R 365. In a subsequent case it was said "The judgments thus rejected were not inter partes but were in suits brought by other creditors against the same defendants in which the existence of the partnership claimed in this suit was asserted with success. The admissibility of such judgments would, apart from authority be a question of some difficulty but it appears to me that the present case cannot be fairly distinguished from that of Lakshman Govind Shet v Amrit Gopal 2 Bom L R 386 24 B 591 recently heard and decided by Parsons and Ranade JJ who dealt most exhaustively with this question" Per Jenkins C J in Govindji Jhaver v Chhota Lal Velji, Bom L R 171. Assuming that to be so I think it right to point out that for a judgment to be admissible, it is not in all cases necessary that it should be either a judgment inter partes or a judgment in rem as will appear from the observations of the Privy Council in the cases of Ram Ranjan v Ram Narain C 33 and Bitto Kunwar v Kesho Pershad, 24 I A 10—19 A 277 (P C) and the remarks thereon in Tepu Khan v Rajani Mohun Das C 522. Speaking generally it may be said in this connection that though a judgment not inter partes may not be proof of facts there stated, it is admissible for the purpose of explaining the character in which possession of the estate has been enjoyed and matters of that class." Per Jenkins C J in Ganesh Dharnidhar v Dhundiraj 5 Bom L R 230. The Plaintiff, a Mahomedan, brought a suit against his brother, brother's wife and the widow of a deceased brother to recover possession of a house on the strength of a registered sale deed passed to the plaintiff by his deceased father. Subsequent to the sale to the plaintiff, certain mortgagees of the father brought a suit on the mortgage against the plaintiff his father and mother. In the said suit the sale to plaintiff was held to be a sham transaction and the plaintiff had to pay off the mortgage. In the suit brought by the plaintiff for the recovery of the house on the strength of the sale deed the defendant relied on the judgment in the suit on the mortgage to show that the sale was a colourable transaction. The first Court allowed the claim but the Judge in appeal dismissed it on the ground that the purchase by the plaintiff from his father was not proved to be bona fide. On second appeal by the plaintiff a question having arisen as to the admissibility in evidence of the judgment in the suit on the mortgage Russel A C J said "We have had addressed to us very lengthy arguments upon the question of whether that judgment is admissible at all or not and in my opinion it is impossible to hold that the judgment in that case comes within either the word 'transaction' in section 13 or 'particular instances' in that section. But although this is so the proceedings in that suit would come within the words 'particular instances in which the right was claimed' for I think that we are bound by the decision of Sir Charles Sargent in Panchhodlas v Bapu Nathar, 10 B 439 (442) where he says that 'rights and customs' in section 13 must be understood as comprehending all rights and customs recognized by law and therefore including a right of ownership. Further, for my part I cannot distinguish the present case from the case of Lakshman v Amrit supra, which was followed in Govindji v Chottalal supra and see also the case of Dharnidhar v Dhundiraj, 5 Bom L R 230 a decision of the Chief Justice and Mr Justice Batty. It appears to me, therefore, that proceedings in the suit of 1886 should be admitted as relevant evidence in the present suit for it must be remembered that the present plaintiff and the defendants either by themselves or their predecessors were parties to that suit of 1886. In the same case Beaman J observed "The question is whether that judgment not being inter partes is admissible and if so, what is its precise probative value? I should add that the plaintiff alleges that the sale was made to him by his father who was the judgment debtor in the suit of 1886. The relevancy of judgments of Courts of Justice is regulated by sections 40—43, Indian Evidence Act. Section 40 merely enacts that the existence of any judgment, order or decree which by the provisions of section 13 Civil Procedure Code, constitutes res judicata is a relevant fact. Section 41 without attempting any precise or exhaustive definition aims at and probably does let in all judgments in rem proper. Section 42 provides that judgments orders or decrees other than those mentioned in section 41, are relevant if they relate to matters of a public nature relevant to the enquiry. Section 43 declares all judgments, orders decrees other than those specified in sections 40, 41, 42, to be irrelevant unless the existence of the judgment is itself a fact in issue, or is relevant under some other section of the Act.... It is not contended that the fact of the judgment is itself a fact in issue, but it is contended that the existence of the judgment is relevant under some other provision of the Act In order to bring it in, a defendant has midable

partes

to exam

case were the registered instru-

is of course c

the Court to and another

dity of this

of consideration

first question

which are

exp

question is whe ther words

its

the Act

It certainly is not a fact in issue, but it is contended that it is relevant under section 13 To satisfy the requirements of that section the question must be served the purpose What class of cases the section was intended to meet is as plain as possible not only from its language but from the illustrations And those are cases in which the right or custom in question is regarded as capable of surv

may be

nizing

been gi

the Court should or should not decree it I confess I do not find it easy to understand how that language can without absurdity be applied to such a case as this Let us substitute it for the illustration "The question is whether a sale-deed is fraudulent, p that the same sale-dee

and particular instar genuine, but other per which is created by proof or disproof by particular instances of assertion and denial, and is therefore plainly and essentially distinguishable from all the rights which are denoted in section 13

ting of proof by cumulative instances and transactions, and not by a single and

The only question decisive a being whe

that the

That was

'custom'

since been dissented from and at present it must be conceded that of authority favours the extension of the term 'right', to include any and every right known to the law Against that opinion, might well be advanced the the Courts have been most particular conclusive but it is still conclusive of its own subject matter take the judgment qua judgment as relevant to the extent of its subject matter and contents, then cadit questio, for in that judgent it was held that the sale-deed ... Saying that while a judgment is relev ... the leading cases must, I ... t is not conclusive of the ... while relevant it is tively simple and to impair the integrity

icata, namely that no man was not a party. Bu

f its subject

offered a

I suppose conclusive

, it can onl

what is it

Judge or no

lgment, wh

that adopting the most comprehensive view, and allowing to right possible meaning, judgments brought in under section 43 and section 13 must either 'transactions' or instances All the best authorities, I think agree that contents, certainly is not such nplest and most convenient pro nstance, namely the assertion of the right. So limited, the the judgmen

admissible only as the simplest proof of a transaction, or an instance cannot be tak

than th

ge held th

te habit

ie improp

ason R

der which he slight

on that a pa

parties, for purposes of section 13, cannot be allowed to use its contents qua judgment virtually thereby converting it into a res judicata That is the distinction which I have set myself to bring out clearly and I hope simply and intelligibly." Mahamad v. Hasan, 31 B 143 In a suit for damages for malicious prosecution, the lowing

it as mages
v. Rai
of the Court
ntirely

contrary to that Court's decree The judgment although not inter partes is a relevant fact under section 42 of the Evidence Act and under section 13 is also a very important piece of evidence In re Enya Sidhya, A I R 1927 Bom 654=29 Bom L R 715=102 Ind Cas 546.

Allahabad cases In the Allahabad High Court the question was fully discussed in the case of the Collector of Gorakhpur v Palak Dhari Singh, 12 A 1 death P brought a suit against D, whom the Collector as manager of the Court of Wards had accepted as the minor son of K, and against the Collector as

Ayyar, J in Rama Swami v Appavu, a certain person was or was not the heir nor a fact within the meaning of s 13
Sargent C J. and Mr. Justice Nanabhai
B 439, that the majority of the Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court in Gujju Lall Fatteh Lall, 6 C 171, put too narrow a construction on the word 'right' in s 13 and that 'right' there includes not only incorporeal rights but a right of ownership There are no words in s 13 which could not be applied to a right of ownership, but it is difficult to see what could, within the meaning of s 13, clause (a), be a 'transaction by which the right' of a man to have it declar-

or that he is not er the meaning word 'right' in same. In my ies, may be a

alleged r in suit Pankuar

ne of eviins
as at
the

3. Legislature in framing s 13 that a party to a suit could not give evidence of particular instances in which a custom, for example, was exercised or recognised, ... recognised or had exercised ... such party could not give in
... been claimed and recognised without showing that the former suit was inter partes ... For the reasons already stated I am of opinion that the record of the previous suit in which the ... but not the judg-
... the extent already
... same case Straight
... at the judgments in which they were
... action took place they are the best evidence. Garth C. J remarks, (in 6 C 171) 'by a somewhat ... might also be called transac
... the commencement
... known Duchess of
... t were a natural and proper expression in connection with such a matter, thus —'what has been said at the bar is certain' ... between two parties in judicial ... In my opinion the suit of ... was a 'transaction' in w ... muman
Singh was asserted and recognised, and the judgments and decrees of 1874 are the best evidence of that transaction I should also have no difficulty, if it were necessary to do so, in holding that the defendant is entitled to put forward the suit of 1873 as an 'instance' in which the right of which I have spoken was claimed and recognised As I have remarked before, the question is not as to the existence of the judgments and decrees of 1874 as a fact in issue or a relevant fact under some other provision of the Evidence Act, but whether ... the defendant was assert
... evidence"
... is stated by Gajju Lall
... ing of the Statute (I of 1872) was that a judgment such as that of Mr Justice Turner and my brother Brodhurst of 1874 would be admitted in evidence" Before this case, in Shadal Khan v Aminullah Kahn 4 A 92 at p 96, Duthoit J said "The ... has been recently
... 6 C 171 and
... rty set up a cases in which a similar
of the Evidence Act.
Ind Cas 142 In a suit for foreclosure one of the defendants contended that he was a minor at the date of executing the mortgage, and so not competent to enter into a contract In
... judgments in proof of the defen Held that the judgments were not ... passed not being instances in which ... the defendant was ... or exercised or in which its
... Musammat Dulari
... though not conclu-
... show the conduct of parties or particular instances made by the parties or their predecessors in title or to identify property or to show how it had been previously dealt with Gobinda Krishna v Abdul Qayyam, 25 A 546=A W. N. 1903, 137
... nment for creating
The author applied
Code to set aside it to be relied on r s 153 A Penal Kali Charan v
85=A. I. R. 1927
All 604.

S. 1

Madras Cases In Subramanayan v Parmasuaran, 11 M 116 123 the Madras High Court concurred with the majority of the Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court. So also in Ramasuami v Appavu, 12 M 9 where a suit was brought by the trustee of a temple to recover from the owners of certain lands in certain villages money claimed under an alleged right as due to the temple and where judgments in other suits under the same right had been decreed were held relevant under s 13 of the Evider in which the right claimed had been as contended that such judgments not being 'transactions' or 'facts', they are not admissible under s 13 of the Evidence matter of a public nature within the meanin concur with the majority of the learned

Act, and that the
but the judgmen
in that case; the question for determination in the previous suits was whether payments then claimed, and which are in contest in the present suit, were claimable as of right, and in one case whether they are so claimable from a particular class of persons, viz Christians; and it appears to us that, when a right of the character now in question is at issue, such judgments are admissible in evidence as evidence of particular instances in which the right or custom was claimed' and in which its exercise was disputed asserted or departed from, and was further dealt with unde
there is ev denc
of such villages—that from those who hold lands in a large number of villages in the vicinity of the temple (see Exhibit F) the payment claimed is demanded as of right, and—that such payments have been made after suits from time to time brought and determined in reference to the liability of persons occupying lands in these villages, and this being so, we are further of opinion that the decisions in the former suits are decisions which relate to 'matters of a public nature' within the meaning of s 42 of the same Act.
from that claimed a of the Evi
the finding arily mad alleged cu plaint app
claim upc
evidence of custom in the sense of payments extending over a long series of years the existence of a right may, in connection with other circumstances possibly be inferred and the dismissal of the appellant's suits for the reasons nger by Ammalayyanger w suits brought by him in 183 layyanager then (deceased) as Varadayyanger, the adopt It has been objected on be are inadmissible as evidence

... 11 M 116 Copies of judgments and decrees ... erence to the decision of the majority ... in Gujju Lal v Fatteh Lall 6 C 1 ... of Judge ... As pointed out by this Court in B ju ... ma v Avulla, 15 M 19 (23) the sole object for which it was sought to use the former judgment in Gujju Lal v Fatteh Lall 6 C 171 was to show that in another suit against another defendant the plaintiff had obtained an adjudication in his favour on the same right and it was held that the opinion expressed in the former judgment was not a relevant fact within the meaning of the Evidence Act The case is clearly different where the previous judgment is produced not in order to prove an adjudication between third parties but in order to prove a statement made by a predecessor in title of the party against whom the document is sought to be used Cf Parbutty Dassi v Purno Chunder Singh 9 C 586 and Thanar v Kondan 15 M 378 Such is the case here and we have no doubt that the judgments in question are relevant under section 35 of the Evidence Act." A judgment is relevant under section 13 of the Indian Evidence Act only as instance of an assertion of a right against third parties The remarks in the judgment cannot be treated as evidence They are the mere opinion of a person who is not before the Cour ... upon the ground of that opinion and hence are nc ... v Kumara Raja 1) M L T 330 ... A judgment follow... a person to ... ining to an individual and is inadm ... Evidence Act. Venkata Rangappa v Subbaraya Gounda ... it judgments not inter partes will be admissible under section 13 of the Evidence Act as affording instances of a local custom or usage being recognised Sundaram Ayyar v Theeli Larappa 40 Ind Cas 159 Section 43 says that judgments orders or ... oned in sections 40 41 and 43 are irrelevant ... order or decree is a fact in issue or is ... e Act (e g section 13) Secretary of ... 67 Ind Cas 971=44 M 778=41 M L J 223=14 L W ... 6 (F B) The fact that the ancestor of a man failed in a contested suit to prove the relationship of his line with the deceased fifty years ago when such an issue was much more susceptible of proof than it is now is evidence against the existence of the right of that line to claim as heirs of the deceased within the meaning of s 13 of the Evidence Act. Secretary of State v Subraya Karantha 18 M L T 504=2 L W 1175=(1915) M W N 962 In Natesa Gramani v Venkatarama Reddi 30 M 5 0 the question was whether water in poramboke lands belonging to mirasdars can be said to be Sircar water and taxed as such "Very little evidence was tendered on either side The zamindar called the Karnam who said that the porambokes were the property of the zamindar but did not speak to any act done in assertion of his ownership The defendants on the other hand relied on a judgment of the District Munsif of Chingleput in original suits Nos 468 to 473 of 1855 suits between zamindars and some mirsadars to recover possession of certain *poramboke*s in the village in which it was held that the waste lands in this village are the property of the mirasdars We think the judgment was evidence against the zamindar in the present suit under section 13 of the Indian Evidence Act" In Seetha Pathi v Venkanna 45 M. 332=66 Ind Cas 280 at p 284 Kumaraswami Sastri J said I think the correct principle has been laid down by ... Kashi Nath Pal v Jagat Kishore Acharjee 20 C W N 643=93 ... held that although a judgment not ... nces as a fact in issue ... recital in the judgment ... rties

Oudh cases The question for decision was ... r the appellant was the legitimate daughter of one K and R The respondent contended that R was not the legally married wife of K and in proof of it produced a compromise and ... R and another person by which R obtained only a small ... and the decree passed a ... of the Evidence Act Farbat ... passed in a previous suit ... equent suit, is nevertheless admissible in evidence under section 13 of the Evidence Act to show the fact that the judgment was passed, and, therefore, it is necessary evidence of the following facts, who the parties to the previous suit were, what the land in dispute was; and who was declared entitled to retain possession For this purpose, and to this extent, it is ad one when the fact of possession at Mohammad, 65 Ind Cas 398=8 O whether a certain person is a legitimately born son, application for mutation with regard to revenue paying properties would be admissible under ss 13 and 50 of re ld be re Cas

4 vious
case in which a member of the family had brought a similar suit for possession and obtained a decree was held admissible and relevant on the question of the

and
the
W.
N. 73 Judgments relating to a particular right, although not inter partes but dealing with the same question are clearly admissible under s 13 of the Evidence Act suit against the appellants for possession of some lands in a village on the allegation that they had acquired title to the land in suit as well as the other land of the village by adverse possession They filed a judgment in a suit brought by their father for a declaration of his title to the lands of that village, the title being based upon mortgages alleged to have become irredeemable. The decision was that he was entitled to 22 bighas and the rest of the claim was dismissed In the course of that judgment the Court recorded an opinion that the plaintiff was proved to be in possession of the whole land now in suit but dismissed the claim except as to 22 bighas on the ground that the plaintiff though in possession had not proved title The judgment was inter partes Held that the question of possession of the land with regard to which the suit was dismissed was not res judicata A bare expression of opinion in a judgment upon a question of possession not given effect to by the decree is not a recognition of a right within the meaning of section 13 of the Evidence Act and is not admissible in proof of possession either at the date of the judgment or at any other time Karuna v Gobind, 7 Ind Cas 122

Patna cases Judgments not between parties to the suit pronounced by a mined o

the quest 1928 Pat
Section 1
Jhingur v

to the goddi of a Dharmsala to A decree having been made in defendant for held that the Evidence Act, to the goddi o
finding that a particular person was not of sound mind based on the letter of a medical man is not admissible, either under s 13 or section 43 of the Evidence Act, in a subsequent suit to prove that the person, whose mental condition is in question, was not of a sound mind where the previous suit was not between the same parties and no formal deposition on oath of the medical men was recorded Sher Mahammad v. Fatteh, 6 P R, 1902.

Nagpur Cases A Judgment though not inter partes may be admissible as evidence of title Yeshevant v. Daulat, 89 Ind Cas 663. Under section 13 ... tent jurisdiction in a ... either recognised or ... d Cas 699 But the ...

"Where a judgment was not in nor, between the parties to a subsequ
... ant for the purpose of the ... swing the question in the ... before the Bench that ... by their Lordships of the ... which reference is made ... In Bilia Kunwar v. Kesho Prosad, their Lordships of the Privy Council ... suit
suit
appl

of that fact in another case. It is urged that many Courts of India have decided the question under consideration in the affirmative If this is the case the pronouncement in Gopika Raman v Atal Singh, supra, shows that the decisions are incorrect I remark however, that in the rulings brought to the notice of the Bench either there is doubt whether there is decision of the question or the references to this question are in the nature of obiter dicta Such is the nature in Baleshwar Bagarti v Bhagirathi Dass, 35 C. 701 at p. 716 and Secy of State v Ahmed at p 801 of 44 Mad In the Madras case the question whether the decision in the previous suit was evidence was not referred to the Full Bench. In Inder Singh v Fatteh Singh, 1 Lah 540=59 Ind Cas 734, the question was emphatically answe in order to prove th existence of right property was deal section 11 or 13
in so far as they or conduct of part ancestors and also embody an authoritative statement of the facts which the investigation then held before the Court brought to light, such Judgments have very high evidentiary value and may even shift the burden of proof Gopal v Sitaram, 97 Ind Cas 694=9 N L J 215

Privy Council Cases Concerning the effect of previous judgments their Lordships of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council decided cases on

R 338,) that the decree in a former suit was not a judgment in rem, but a judgment inter partes

A zemindar claimed the proprietary right and possession of mouzas within was one of the year 1817, and another of 1843, to which the zemindar's predeces am of opinion that the documents produced by the defendants may be accepted as evidence in this case, as showing ancient possession, and that the title on which the defendants now rely was openly asserted as early as 1195, B S, corresponding to 1788 A D and at subsequent dates irrespective of the findings come to in those decrees The orders passed in these decrees themselves would

S. 13. not be evidence against plaintiff's title; but they may be accepted to show an cient possession an ... ted rightly or wrongly many years ago' The ... 'As regards the admissibility of the judgments to ... we observe that the lower Appellate Court has only used those judgments as evidence that there was litiga
... e It uses those
... was suing the co-
... those suits the
... s extent, we think
... he zemindar was
... it of 1817 a decree for rent of the mouzas now in question was given at the rate of Rs 35 per annum, aga ... of opinion that althoug ... s competent sion at and prior to that date, now nearly 80 years ago Taken with the other evidence in the case, the respondents have thus established possession at a time
... was and
... 60=
... 530
... erely
... n of
... ll as
... were
... ring
... land
in dispute was, and who was declared entitled to retain possession For this purpose and to this extent such orders are admissible in evidence for and against any one, when ... be ascertained Dinomani Chot ... see also Hosain
v Abjal, 40 C ... 1 Ind Cas 456

In a previous suit by H, a co-sharer of the plaintiff against the defendant to which the plaintiff was no party, H had recovered a decree for possession of H's share Subsequently a partition of the property was made by a deed between H, defendant, and plaintiff to work out the decree but without expressly referring to it Held, that the decree was not conclusive in plaintiff's suit to recover his share from the defendant and might, had it stood alone be ... Kumar
... C
... act
... in
... ar
... ider
Gopika Raman v Atal Singh, A I R 1929 P C 99 (102) A judgment inter partes holding that a partition of a certain estate was proved is only admissible under the provisions of ss 13 and 43 as establishing a particular transaction in which the partibility of the estate was asserted and recognised The reasons upon which the judgment is founded are no part of the transaction and cannot be so regarded nor can any finding of fact there come to, other than the transaction itself, be relevant to prove partition in a subsequent suit.
Gobinda v Sham Lall, A I R 1931 P C 89=1931 M W N 435=35 C
W. N. 521

... gnizing the
... relevant as
... another place
... cannot be
... L J 737=
... t or custom is
... e ognised or
... judgments are
... v Bibi Sona
... 115, Nizam v

Abdul, A I R 1930 S... Beuat, S.
7 W R 210; Nallathal ... Jhanda
10 A 585; Indra v ... C 233; Harnabh v Mandil, 27 ... v Bai Santok, 20 B 53; Dalg...

in evidence of a transaction the parties are often apt to refer to the recitals therein as relevant evidence and the distinction between the deed as a transaction and the recitals contained in the deed is frequently overlooked In the case of Dwarka Nath Bukshi v Makunda Lall Choudhury 5 C L J 55, which was a case in which a deed of sale and a mortgage deed though not inter partes containing recitals that a particular land belongs to a particular howla, was sought to be admitted in a suit in which the question was whether the land belonged to that howla or not, so far as can be made out of the facts from the report of the case, they were documents executed ... whose share the Plaintiff's father ... purp rting to rely upon the c...
Vythilinga v Venkata Chala, 16 M... section 11(b) and section 13 of the Evidence Act, and observed that they may be very weak evidence or even of no weight at all, but they could not be re... b... de...

observed "We know of no ... between persons who have no power to bind a person whose right is sought thereby to affect can be admitted ...

where the Court observed "It is argued that these documents are not admissible in evidence and the Courts below were not competent to take them as

S. 13 of the parties to the suit was mentioned as owner of the boundary land but recent decisions have finally settled the point At one time it was attempted to make such documents admissible in evidence under section 11 clause (2) of the Evidence Act ... was made to rest on section ... the Evidence Act It is not ... We are of opinion that a document between strangers to the suit in which mention is made of one of the parties or their predecessors as holding the land lying on the boundaries of the lands belonging to the executants of the documents is not admissible in evidence ' See also Brojo Mohan v Gaya Prosad, 30 C W N 761; Damodar v Jadunath, 91 Ind Cas 449, Kumuda v Dilsook, 45 C L J 138, Abdul Karim v Chhalle, 91 Ind Cas 688 (c), Hakim Ali v Amrit, 109 Ind Cas 264, Abdul Ghani v Faquir Mahammad, A I R 1929 Lah 78=111 Ind Cas 261, Lajpat Rai v Faiz Ahmad, A I R 1927 Lah 448=8 Lah 651, Sarat Chandra v Saralabala, 105 Ind Cas 61 The case of Imrit Chamar v Sirdhari Pandey, 15 C L J 7=17 C W N 108, which laid down that recital of boundaries in the lease was admissible against a person not a party took the contrary view There have been later decisions which have not accepted this later view and the trend of the recent decisions is not to admit evidence which have been offered in the case and the reception of which evidence is objected to either under section 13 of the Indian Evidence Act or under ... in Kumuda Kumari v Dilsook Ray ... o Radha Nath Banerji v Jadu Nath ... v Sarbeswar Nag, 29 C. W N 463 ... erson cannot be made admissible in ... of the decision of the ... Jeherbai, 49 I A. 36=41 ... taken ... re be ... Behari ... ssible ... held ... cases ... I am not prepared to differ from this decision ... ocument may also be admissible under section 13 ... word 'right in section 13 is not confined to an incorporeal right See also Farzand Ali v Zafar Ali, 46 Ind Cas 119, where ... followed and ... not followed ... L, 41 C L ... B B Ghosh ... nsidered in three aspects The first is, where the executant of a document is called as a witness and ... locum at ... be executed by ... nce admissible u ... ed given by the ... ted with regard ... in evidence The second aspect of the question arises where the executants are alive and do not give their evidence in the case In such cases there is a strong body of opinion that such documents are not admissible either under sect on 11 or 13 of the Evidence Act This has not been done in the present case ... any such documents ... not That such docu ... ct, has been held in ... here is no question that under the English law a statement in such documents would be admissible It is unnecessary to cite any English case other than the leading case of Higham v Ridgway, 10 East 109 Whether such evidence is admissible under the Evidence Act was considered in favour of its admissibility in several cases the ... 22 W R. 231 The ... Dharmappa ... ie case of ... our Court

6 C W N 252=14 C L J 467. S.

n the case of Naluar v Alkhu, 11 A.

followed in this Court in Imrit Chamar v Sirdhari 15 C L J 9=17 C W N 108 and in the case of Ambar Ali v Lutfe Ali, 45 C 159=25 C L J 619" See also Abdul Rahim v Janabali, A I R 1923 Cal 299, Promotha v Bijoy A. I R 1927 Cal 234, but see Promatha v Krishna 28 C W N 1092; Kumud Kumari v Dilsook, 45 C L J. 138, Ghulam v Kalim A I R 1928 Lah 428=10 Lah L J. 370 Trimbak v Ganesh, A. I R 1923 Nag 22

In Kiran Chandra v Srinath Chakravarti, 31 C W N 135, the plaintiffs sued for ... Zemindari in the d of rights as elied on three

by descendants

was the title

deed on which the defendant's claim was based as purchasers at an execution sale and the third showed that delivery of possession under the purchase was

see

first

the

descendants of the original grantee as rent-free brahmottar land, and the other two documents are connected with the title of the defendants One of them is in fact the title deed upon which the defendant's claim was based as purchasers at an execution sale The other document shows that delivery of possession under that purchase was taken"

Where in a suit between two persons the question is whether or not the adjoining piece of land is nazul land, the recitals made by successive vendors of one of these persons whereby they purported to transfer the house with all the paid off and the plaintiff purchased the sup rate of Rs 24, although there was no proof of such enhancement Held, that the mortgage deed was admissible in evidence as it was a transaction by which the right of the defendant to the land was asserted and for the definition of that

Abdul Munshi v Yakub Talukdar, on is whether a certain person is a with regard to revenue paying and 50, Evidence Act as assertions irza Abid, 73 Ind Cas 428=A I R 1924 Oudh 19 Assertions of title by a person dealing with property to section 13 of the Evidence or after dispute have little

Cas 389=1921 M. W N

en admitted in evidence as evidence of a transaction the parties are often apt to refer to the recitals therein as relevant evidence, but the recitals are not evidence especially if they are mere assertions by a person who is alive and who might have been garden plaintiff produced certain documents dealing with the garden in question officer in the discharge of his official duties and therefore furnish strong evidence of the authenticity of the facts stated therein Harihar Partap v Bisheshwar Baksh, 3 Luck 326 = 5 O W N 299 = 109 Ind Cas 422 = A I R 1928 Oudh 307, Wasiq Ali v Athar Ali, 110 Ind Cas 4 = A I R 1928 Oudh 409 Although an entry in the wajib-ul-arz is a means conclusive particularly not parties thereto Syed Tojam 752 = A I R 1926 All 43 An entry as to a custom recorded in a wajib ul-arz against the authenticity of which nothing is shown, is of great importance Chaudhury Abdul v Mt Tahira Banoo, 12 O L J 167 = 2 O W N 357 = 89 Ind Cas 51 = A I R 1926 Oudh 377 A wajib-ul arz being part of a Revenue record is of greater authority that a riwaj i am which is of general application and is not drawn up in respect of individual villages Gurbaksh v Partapa, 2 Lah 346 = (1922) Lah 232 = 66 Ind Cas 133 In a suit for pre emption, the plaintiff in proof of the custom produced an extract from the wajib ul arz of 1872, which was headed dustur i haq i shafa and provided that a co sharer who

Cas 810

Draft record of right The draft record of right cannot be used as evidence of the presumption of the correctness of the entry made therein but the draft record is admissible for the purpose of showing what was the entry made in the earlier proceedings before the publication Hardeo v Kapil, 108 Ind Cas 417 = A I R 1928 Pat 353

Order of a President of District Board A recitation in the orders of a President of a Union Board is not admissible under s 35 or 13 in evidence unless such president has been examined with regard to that recitation Doraisami v Kannappa Chetti, A I R 1931 Mad, 487

Road Cess papers An entry in a road cess return in which a former proprietor of an estate admitted the existence of a lakheraj, although not binding on the auction purchaser of the estate at a revenue sale, is evidence under section 13 of the Evidence Act Monmohini v Adwaita, 19 Ind Cas 549 Under me of the turn not plaintiff Manraj,

the meaning of

under section 13 of the Evidence Act to show the past history of lend support to where they can by other evidence be sufficiently connected with those facts.

said: "Ancient documents . . . purporting on the face of them to show

They are admitted in such cases as forming part of every legal transfer of title and possession by act of parties . . . . . Care is first taken to ascertain their

at the documents come any presumption or act which they accompany; and where long-continued enjoyment, and user of a right, has been proved, extending as far back as the duration of human life will permit, a deed or writing which is consistent with such usage and enjoyment, and expl affording and acted ments wc

by lapse as give i of, and w presumption as to the existence of the right according to that deed." Starkie's Ev. pp. 67, 68.

Admissible evidence—Illustrative cases. In a dispute relating to the

4 ... of the right of that ... of the Evidence ... =2 L W 1175= (1915) M W N ... he plaintiff to an easement is relevant and as such admissible under s 13 of the Evidence Act Giris Chandra v Ku ... the purchasers of a te ... defendant's tenure, a pe ... is made of ... nder section 13 Jogesh Chunder v I ... a suit for partition between the ... he widow of a deceased co parcener ... a particular plot of land belonged to her husband such statement is clearly admissible evidence ... v Iaidullinga Mudaliar, 33 Ind Cas 446 In a suit ... a recital of the ... it, was ... fore suit ... stitution ... laintiff's ... v Nitta ...

Inadmissible evidence—Illustrative cases Statements made in conveyan or mortgage that property is limited by certain boundaries are not admissib against person not party to the deed either under section 11 or under section of the Evidence Act Abdulla v Kunja Behari, 12 Ind Cas 149=14 C L 467=16 C W N 252 ... canno in the absence of proof ... been executed in accor ... the provisions of ss 13 c ... Panda v Sundar Narc ... possession of certain lands as plaintiff's nislar brohmattur, on behalf of th plaintiff, the will of the ... the recital the brohmattur title Held ... will wa not admissible under s ... on (13 (a Satindra Kumar v Krishna Kumari, 36 Ind Cas ... 13 of th Evidence Act, is of no avail where the transactions were in respect of land other than the disputed land as there was not any transaction or particula ... recognised, asserted o ... 467 Certified copies o ... of, not as constituting ... naries of statements made ... and as evidence of ... m 11 M 116 ... or bhaoli system of rent ... ined in a hebanama executed by the deceased grandfather of the tenant ... that the hebanama was not admissible in evidence under s 32(7) read with s 13(a) of the Evidence Act Bansi Singh v Mir Amir Ali, 11 C W N 703 Recitals of the claims contained in possessory orders passed under section 145 of the Criminal Pro Code, whether inter partes or not are not admissible in evidence to prove title under section 13 of the Evidence Act Ram Sunder v Haribala 37 Ind Cas 911

14 Facts showing the existence of any state of mind, such as intention, knowledge, good faith, negligence rashness, ill-will or good-will towards any particular person, or showing the existence of any state of body or bodily feeling, are relevant, when the existence of any such state of mind or body or bodily feeling is in issue or relevant.

Facts showing existence of state of mind, or of body, or bodily feeling

Explanation 1—A fact relevant as showing the existence of a relevant state of mind must show that the state of mind exists, not generally, but in reference to the particular matter in question.

Explanation 2*—But where, upon the trial of a person accused of an offence, the previous commission by the accused of an offence is relevant within the meaning of this section, the previous conviction of such person shall also be a relevant fact.†

Illustrations

(a) A is accused of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen. It is proved that he was in possession of a particular stolen article.

The fact that, at the same time he was in possession of many other stolen articles is relevant, as tending to show that he knew each and all of the articles of which he was in possession to be stolen

‡(b) A is accused of fraudulently delivering to another person a counterfeit coin which, at the time when he delivered it, he knew to be counterfeit

The fact that, at the time of its delivery, A was possessed of a number of other pieces of counterfeit coin is relevant

The fact that A had been previously convicted of delivering to another ... counterfeit is relevant

... hich B knew to be ferocious

... Y and Z, and that they had

(d) The question is, whether A, the acceptor of a bill of exchange, knew that the name of the payee was fictitious person

(e) A is accused of defaming B by publishing an imputation intended to harm the reputation of B

The ... will on the part of ... repu- tation by

The facts that there was no previous quarrel between A and B, and that ... as showing

... as solvent,

supposed to be solven

relevant, as showing

(g) A is sued b ...

A is owner, by the order of C, a contractor

A's defence is that B's contract was with C.

The fact that A paid C for the work in question is relevant, as proving that A did, in good faith, make over to C the management of the work in question, so that C was in a position to contract with B on C's own account, and not as agent for A

... of property which he

the place where A was, is relevant, as showing that A did not in good faith believe that the real owner of the property could not be found ... to s. 14,

by ... s 1 (l)

... (b) to s.

by

The fact that A knew, or had reason to believe, that the notice was given fraudulently by C, who had heard of the loss of the property and wished to set up a false claim to it, is relevant as showing that the fact that A knew of the notice did not disprove A's good faith

(i) A is charged [illegible] him In order to show A's intent the fa[illegible] ay be proved

(j) A is charged [illegible] Threatening letters previously sent by A to B may be proved, as showing the intention of the letters

(k) The question is, whether A has been guilty of cruelty towards B his wife

Expressions of their feelings towards each other shortly before or after the [illegible]

[illegible] A's death was caused by poison [illegible] ring his illness as to his symptoms are relevant facts

(m) The question is, what was the state of his health at the time an [illegible]

[illegible] the state of his health at or near the time in [illegible]

(n) A sues B for negligence in providing him with a carriage for hire not reasonably fit for use, whereby A was injured

The fact that B's attention was drawn on other occasions to the defect of that particular carriage is relevant

The fact that B was habitually negligent about the carriages which he let to hire is irrelevant

(o) A is tried for the murder of B by intentionally shooting him dead

The fact that A on other occasions shot at B is relevant as showing his intention to shoot B

The fact that A was in the habit of shooting at people with intent to murder them is irrelevant

(p) A is tried for a crime

The fact that he said something indicating an intention to commit that particular crime is relevant

The fact that he said something indicating a general disposition to commit crimes of that class is irrelevant

Scope of the section 'Section 14 seems to me to apply to that class of cases which is discussed in Taylor on Evidence 6th Ed ss 318 to 322,—that is to say, cases where a particular act is more or less criminal or culpable, according to the state of mind or feeling of the person who does it, as, for instance in act ons of slan[illegible] on where malice [illegible] dence is admis- [illegible] mity against the [illegible] nce is admissible [illegible] use he had other similar coins in his possession, or had passed such coins before or after the part[illegible] ge The illustra[illegible] w with sufficient [illegible] But I think we [illegible] to other cases [illegible] ual facts, and not [illegible] We have no right to prove that a [illegible] that he [illegible]

[illegible]

for which he is on trial, in other words, evidence of such collateral offence cannot be received as substantive evidence of the offence on trial, though S. 1 reduced to legal certainty by a conviction) to prove the existence of another missible to prove the main fact or the connection of the parties therewith, is receivable, after evidence aliunde on the points has been given, to show the state of mind of the parties with regard to such fact; in other words, evidence of similar facts may be received to prove a party's knowledge of the nature of the main fact or transaction or his intent thereto In general, whenever it is necesracter, and the acts tendered must also have been proximate in point of time to that in question It is plain that the principles thus formulated are of no assistance to the prosecution Amrita v King Emperor, 19 C W N 676 (692), see received from the mother on representation of their desire to adopt it, and whose

4 18 L J M C 215—Cod le Cas 99 See also R v Rhodes, (1899) 1 Q B 77 where it was held that such evidence w is admissible even when such acts were subsequent to the transaction in question, if they show a connected or entire scheme or system of operation "The matter may be roughly stated thus on connected conduct on other occasions is never admissible to prove the a tis other state of mind The rule

With regard to criminal charges

Bra j J summarised the law as follows —A careful examination of the cases where evidence of this kind has been admitted shows that they may be grouped under the three heads —(1) where the prosecution seeks to prove a system or course of conduct, (2) where the prosecution seeks to rebut a suggestion on the part of the prisoner of accident or by the prisoner of ales v Kerr (1908)

2 I alleged

he had contracted barber's itch, owing to dirty materials Evidence was allowed to be g had contracted such a complaint at the same shop, in order to show th defendan

This ite of mind or feel ing of r a relevant fact and of actual facts Pritchard v Emperor

Emperor 86 Ind Cas 970=29 C W

674 When the intention of the both or or and subse-

ne M Fa

ed simply

evidence

is partici pation either in act or design, in commission or perpetration, in an independent crime cannot be received as substantive evidence of the offence on trial in ection 14

Emperor 18

with assault

ok liberties

evidence of

s of proving

a thing to have been intentional by showing that it formed one of a series of similar occurrences Cun Ev 126

or any

e of such though

iciple in admitted.

mission

ie nature may have

5, see also Perkins

1, 232 In Reg v

Y for obtaining

g evidence

a shortly

mistake It is not conclusive for a man may be many times under a similar mistake or may be many times dupe of another, but it is less likely he should be so oftener than once, and every circumstance which shows he was not under a mistake on any one of these occasions strengthen the presumption that he was not on the last and this is amply borne out by authorities Where the crime charged is receiving stolen goods the possession of counterfeit money, or the like, the knowledge of the accused person becomes one of the material facts in issue, and other acts of similar nature are admissible Thus in Com v. Russel

156 Mass 196=30 N E 763, Baker J said 'The admission of such evidence is necessary, because gui evidence and can rarely conduct Similarly in said "It seems clear upon principle that when the fact that the prisoner has done the thing charged is proved and the only remaining question is whether at the time he did it he had guilty knowledge of the quality of his act, or acted under a mistake, evidence of the class received must be admissible See also R v Bleasdale, 2 C & K 765 R v Mogg, 1 C & P 364, R v Lloyd, 7 C & P 318, R v Bholu, 23 A 124 Such evidence which is more often resorted to the jury not to show that because the defendant has committed one crime therefore he would be likely to commit another but to establish the animus of the act and rebut by anticipation the obvious defence of ignorance, accident, mistake or other innocent state of mind Makin v Att Gen of N S Wales, (1894) A C 57, R v Bond, (1906) 2 K B 389, R v Armstong (1922) 2 K B 555, Phip Ev 167

States of mind or bodily feeling, how proved Facts are either physical or psychological Physical facts can be perceived by senses whereas the facts which are psychological can only be subject matter of consciousness These psychological facts are also called internal facts These are thoughts and feelings, love, hatred anger, intention, will wish knowledge, opinion, are all perceived by the person who feels them When it is affirmed that a man is affirmed that a man has a given intention, the matter affirmed is one which he, and he only, can perceive; when it is affirmed that a man is sitting or standing,

Fitzmaurice 29 Ch D App 483 These facts cannot be perceived by senses But nevertheless it can be testified by the party himself or can be proved by presumptive evidence It is the law in Albama in the United States that a person wheth
it may be,
other witnes
has been eve

on false representations, or the gift, or to any other state of testify to it Greenl Ev § 328 (

14. testimony, or any other whatever, to the fact of a person's intent or motive, is of course receivable only on the assumption that the intent or motive is a fact permissible to be proved under the substantive law involved in the case. This assumption conditions the admissibility of all evidence and of this sort in particular. Her ... n's intent or motive is not ... Wigmore § 581. But when ... a very little credit. Phip Ev 31, Whart s 508.

So far as presumptive ... of mind of being aware or ... be evidenced either (1) by o... are ... conduct of persons indic... ites of ... tion S... tward circumstances.

Two other questions arise in this connection, namely, (1) whether a person may testify to another person's intent or state of mind in general, this involves the principle of the adequacy of the sources of knowledge; (2) whether a person's testimony to another's intent or meaning ... by reason of the Opinion Rule. The ... evidence on the first ground is based on ... directly see or hear, or feel the state of another person's state of mind, hence ... testimony is based on conjectural and therefore on inadequate data. "This argument" says Prof. Wigmore, is finical enough, and it proves too much, for if valid it would forbid the jury to find a verdict upon the supposed state of a person's mind. If they are required and allowed to find such a fact, it is not too much to hear such testimony from a witness who has observed the person exhibiting in his conduct the operation of his mind" Wigmore § 661, see also ... Libel Act, 31 Geo. ... ly stated by ... t has been ... own breast, ... argument, ... it. A man's intentions may be manifested ... known, may be sworn to with as much ... witness undertakes to swear to a thing of ... ill value is at what it is worth.' As regards the second point i e exclusion of such evidence by virtue of Opinion Rule, it must be borne in mind that in ordinary human dealings, the formation and expression of estimates as to another's mental state is constant and necessary. There is no good reason why testimony about it, based on personal observation of the c... so far as the Opinion Rule is c... and re-state to the jury ... erved to convey the impre... (vide Frost's Trial, 22 H... 470, Watson's Trial, 32 H... Earl of Thanet's Trial, 27 ... 963.

So apart from ... y the operation of the Opinion Rule, it is settled that where there is a question whether a person said or did something, the fact that he said or did something of the same sort on different occasion may be proved if it shows the existence on the occasion in question of any intention, knowledge, good faith, malice or other state of mind or of any state of body or bodily feeling, the existence of which is in issue or is or is deemed to be relevant to the issue, but such acts or words may not be proved merely in o... speaking was likely on the occasion in qu... Dig Ev Art 11. The Court can ... of the requisite state of mind or bodily ... tate is a material fact in issue or a ... an accused person immediately after the occ... showing his state of mind, but where ... me body else said to the accused, the better statement must be proved by direct oral evidence of a person who heard is under section 60 of the Evidence Act Kakar Singh v. Emperor 81 Ind Cas 717

of

or which we may infer the moving cause In point of time, conduct is closely

(2) External facts (prospectant) pointing forward to the probable coming into existence of the quality, for example, the victim's gold, as pointing forward to the defendant's probable desire to rob him, or the reputation of A's insolvency, as pointing retrospectant indication, and n sorts, namely prior or subs time

alsc (1) to c

States of mind, knowled

...instance, where there is a question of fraud, malicious intention, or negligence Cun Ev 120

Intention meaning, of Motive is that to act in a certain way Intention must mental condition termed 'intention' is manife action It determines the nature of an act action It may be dependent on surrounding circumstances, or to causes beyond the person must have a motive, though it discover it So every sane person must have or not, unless his action is accidental or motive is important A man's loaf is stolen The intention w although the motive—to save a sta it is difficult to conceive that the intention can be good In a great many instances motive and intention are so closely related, motive being parent of the intention, that it matters little of which we speak But still it is desirable hd not would he did do the act which the law declares to be a crime? In the latter case the plea could generally be a good one In the former case it would always be bad It would only mean that he had formed a wrong opinion as to the legal aspect of conduct or as to the consequences to himself that might flow from it. For instance, a man is charged with killing a person by firing a gun at him. He says that he did not intend to kill him. If he means that the gun went off by accident, this is a good defence independent of s. 80 of the Penal Code, as it shows that he never fired the gun. If he means that he fired at the man to frighten him, and did not believe the gun would carry so far, this, if a reasonable belief, would negative the criminal intention necessary under section 299 but would be no answer to a charge under s. 304A which involves no intention to injure. If he means that he fired at him mistaking him for another person whom he had no right to kill, this is no defence whatever, as it is merely a description of the offence defined by s. 301. If he means that he fired at him in his house at night, believing him to be a burglar, this would be a good defence under s. 79, as it shows that he has committed no offence. If he means that he fired at him, intending to wound but not intending to kill him, this again would be no defence, if the natural result of hitting the man would be to kill him (s. 299 ... n it is act, but did not intend that the or... ded in merely to say that he expected ... the particular instance for his con...

Theory of evidencing intent. To prove intent, as a generic notion of criminal volition or wilfulness including the various non innocent mental states accompanying different criminal acts, there is employed an entirely different ... ly from the point of view of the ... ogical process which ... ances of the same ... them all. Without formulating any accurate test, and without attempting by numerous instances to secure absolute certainty of inference, the mind applies this rough and instinc... ...element might ... ur with ... he true ... let from ... is act ... he same ... in his ... rtainty) ... hooting ... another ... explana... currence ... s the fa... possibility of such an abnormal cause and points out the cause as probably a more natural and usual one, i. e. a deliberate discharge at A. In short, similar results do not usually occur through abnormal causes; and the recurrence of ... only with ... fa th ... hough ... nying ... ind of ... him a ... gmore ... is, L. ... en the ... only fact of the prisoner having done the thing charged is proved, and ... remaining question is whether at the time he did it he had a guilty knowledge of the quality of his act or acted under a mistake, evidence of the class received must be admissible. It tends to show that he was pursuing a course of similar ... acting under a mistake ... istake, or may ... so oftener ... der a mistake ... he was not ... on the last.'

S. 1

It will be seen that the peculiar feature of this process of proof is that the act itself is assumed on any feature of common purpose or general scheme as a necessary requirement for the other acts evidentially used It is not here neces

all the ac e act in qu stior t of a scheme was done with Intention mens rea criminal knowledge etc ... and intention ... ey together ... The doc- ... nated with Lord Coke, who enunciated the maxim actus non facit reum nisi mens sit rea (The act itself does not make a man guilty, unless his intention were so or the intent and the act must both concur to constitute the crime) Donough Ev 101. When the maxim originated criminal law practically dealt with common law offences, none of which were defined The law gave them certain names, such as treason, murder, burglary, larceny or rape, and left any person who was interested in the matters to find out for himself what these terms meant To do this he had to resort to the explanations of text-writers and the decisions of judges There he found that the crime consisted, not merely in doing a particular act ... but in doing the act ... led mental state was ... one was a criminal in each case the accused had the particular mens rea which proved him to be a criminal Under the Indian Penal Code such a maxim is wholly out of place Every offence is defined, and the definition states not only what the accused must have done, but the state of mind with regard to the act when he was doing it It must have been done, knowingly, voluntarily, fraudulently, dishonestly, or the like. And when it is stated that the act must be done with a particular knowledge or intention, the definition goes on to state what he must have known, ... Law §§ 8, 9 The rule is thus ... 1895) 1 Q B 918 "There ... a knowledge of the wrong- ... every offence; but that pre- ... ords of the Statue creating ... h it deals, and both must be considered"

Intention—Method of proving The criminal law merely defines the crimi- ... of criminal intent ... and the like; its knowledge, or of design has a bearing ... or design enter by the criminal law as ... other words, there is no special evidenc ... e, or design ... then whatever evidence ... but no new or pecu- ... tore § 242 In illustra- ... B by publishing an imputation intended to ... fact of previous publications by A respecting ... A towards B, is relevant, as proving A's

4 criminal intention to harm B's reputation by the particular publication in question. Here previous ill feeling shows motive of the publication. See also illustration (j). So also where the charge is of breaking and entering into a house with intent to steal obviously "intent" there signifies "design" or "plan" and whatever would otherwise be receivable to show design would also be here receivable—in particular the conduct throwing light on the design of the person's entrance. This is further illustrated by illustration (i). So on a charge of uttering counterfeit note knowing them to be spurious knowledge is an ingredient of the criminal intent and whatever evidence would be otherwise suitable to show knowledge would [illegible] separ[illegible]
and [illegible]
proof [illegible] more of these as ingredient it forms no separate title of proof for each of the ingredients is to be proved in the way proper to itself. Wigmore § 212. There [illegible] which is distinct from any of those above [illegible] different evidence. This is the element of [illegible] negative of inadvertence, accident. (Vide Section 15). The accused in a case of forgery and conspiracy had previously given evidence in a Court as to the genuineness of the document. Held that though the statement could not be [illegible] value [illegible]

Ali v Emperor, A I R 1929 Cal 559

Intention—Presumption from act. Every person is presumed to intend the natural and ordinary consequences of his act. If the tendency of the publication was injurious to the plaintiff the law will assume that the defendant by publishing it intended to produce the injury which it was calculated to effect. Haire v Wilson 9 B & C 643. So it often occurs in human experience that the mere fact that a particular act has been done affords the best evidence of the [illegible] eak and enter a [illegible] umption from his [illegible] uishment of the [illegible] was to be found [illegible] which money or [illegible] strong evidence [illegible] tler 69 Ia 18= [illegible] ng C J expressed [illegible] tention is to be gathered from his acts. A man must be held to have intended the natural and reasonable consequences of his act. That is one of the fundamental principles [illegible] e. Where a man does an [illegible] consequences, you are [illegible] Donough Cr Ev 105 [illegible] mming J in Harrat G [illegible] the same case Mukherji J [illegible] ly the rule of English [illegible] ences law that a man must be presumed to [illegible] of his act to the Indian criminal la[illegible] Penal C[illegible]

repeti[illegible] fy the logical demand. Yet in order to satisfy this demand, it is at least necessary that prior acts should be similar. Since it is the improbability of a like result being repeated by mere chance that carries probative weight the essence of this proba[illegible] erroneous [illegible] a bill [illegible] ause [illegible] occur [illegible] own favour in the same year and in the same book of accounts go to exclude the explanation of casual error, and leave deliberate intent as the more probable explanation. In short, there must be a similarity in the various instances in order to give them probative value,—as indeed the general logical canon requires

I.

of op

juried

offenc

It is hopeless to attempt or too much depends on inciple Wigmore § 302

ove intent the strength of the

on a given person's connecssible to negative accident or inadvertence, and to infer deliberate human intent, without forming any

Thus, if A's cellar window is found morning after a high wind, he may force of the wind blew the glass in; but again finds a window broken in the vailed the night before, he gives up the lenation, and concludes that a cause of the breakage, although of the doer It is thus clear the like—may be negatived by anonymous instances of the previous occurrence of the same or a similar thing After assuming or proving the accused's connection with the deed charged, then, to negative innocent intent, resort is had to the anonymous instances; and they may have equal force for that purpose, whether they are connected with the defendant or not This mode of proof is not infrequently resorted to The only limitation upon this mode of proof is that the defendant's doing of the act in issue must be shown by other evidence at some stage of the trial, and the anonymous instances should not be received until the trial Court is satisfied with the amount of evidence introduced or pledged for showing that connection Wigmore § 303

Theory of Evidencing Design or System When the very doing of the act charged, is still to be proved, one of the evidential facts receivable is the person's design or plan to do it This in turn may be evidenced by conduct of sundry sorts as well as by d conduct offered consists merely in that something more is required evidencing intent The object h intent at the time of the act charged, but to prove a pre-existing design, system, plan, or scheme, directed forwards to the doing of that act In the former

the present state of mind at features that the various acts are naturally to be explained as caused by Thus, where the alone is in issue,

ll tend to negative

ed—as, where the

id the object is to plan of working off a quantity of counterin this instance, the fact of two previous quate significance In Balke v

4. Assurance Co L R 4 C P D 91, 106 Lindley M R said; "I agree, that in order to prove that A has committed a fraud on B it is neither sufficient nor even relevant to prove that A committed fraud upon C D and E Stopping there, I admit that proposition But let it be shown that the fraud on B is one of a class of other transactions having common features, then I disagree altogether with that proposition The answer to the objection that evidence of frauds on other persons cannot be admitted is that this transaction is one of a class that there are features in common, the features in common being a false

[illegible]

... cases the act charged is assumed as done and the mind asks only for something that will negative innocent intent, and the mere prior occurrence of an act similar in its gross features—i e the same doer, and the same sort of act but not necessarily the same mode of acting nor the same sufferer—may suffice for that purpose But when the very act is the object of proof, and is desired to be inferred [illegible] features that will suggest [illegible] grade of similarit[illegible] occasional error in [illegible] limitations where o[illegible] are to be observed in the use of this class of evidence of design (1) Anonymous acts are not available, as they are for evidencing intent, for the whole purpose of the evidence is to fix a design upon the accused, as making it likely that he carried it out and thus that it was he who did the act charged. (2) The object being to argue to the act charged from a design or plan to do it the prior acts are received to show that system, since, however, it may require a number of acts and circumstances to furnish the desired mass of conduct illustrating this design or system, and since the production of only parts or fragments of it would in effect violate the principle and remain in evidence merely as affecting the accused's character the trial Court must pass upon the offer beforehand, to see whether if offered in its entirety it satisfies the proper test and is sufficient to go to the jury, and must, if the offer is sanctioned, require an assurance that it will be forthcoming in its entirety Wigmore § 304

[illegible] of being aware The not [illegible] precisely identical, but the [illegible] so far as concerns the modes of evidencing these mental states That feature is most nearly expressed by the term consciousness, i e presence in the mind of an impression as to a given fact Thus a person's knowledge of a city's streets may be inferred from his conduct in finding his way through them unerringly; his consciousness of guilt may be inferred from his conduct in fleeing from arrest; his belief in a [illegible] in trust- [illegible] usually asso- [illegible], the term [illegible] on present or future action, consciousness when thought of as bearing on past action, and knowledge when thought of in connection with the reality of external objects Wigmore § 300

External circumstances as evidencing knowledge, belief, or consciousness There are, in a broad analysis four kinds of circumstances (events or things) which may point forward to the probability that a given person received a given mental impression (i e obtained knowledge, formed a belief, or was made conscious);

(1) [illegible] the like, S.
(2) [illegible]
(3) [illegible] probably to an express communication,

(4) The intrinsic quality of the occurrence, as leading either to actual perception by his senses, or to express communication

Throughout all these four modes there run two considerations, affecting some modes more strongly than others. (a) the probability that the person received an impression of any fact at all; and (b) the probability that from the particular occurrence he would gain an impression as to the specific fact in question Doubt may arise upon either of these points and the various modes above are stronger or weaker in one or the other of these considerations The four modes may now be examined more in detail

(1) Direct exposure of the fact to the senses Here there is seldom any doubt as to the element (b) above the question usually is whether the fact in question [illegible] all [illegible] was [illegible] is that A read it But actual possession by A is not necessary, the posting of a placard in a street through which A habitually passes is some evidence that A ultimately came to see and understand its contents Occasionally the element [illegible] A is charged with selling [illegible] indicating A's knowledge of B's [illegible] brought before A, and the [illegible] informed him as to the further specific fact, namely, B's age

(2) Express communication Little difficulty can arise here There may be a question as to whether the communication came from a source which the person was fairly bound to consider authentic, but this would be a question of [illegible] the [illegible] nica- [illegible]; but [illegible] bative [illegible] that [illegible] linary

[illegible] depends on the situation

[illegible] s here combine the [illegible] the elements (a) and

charge of the apparatus, not only is the probability involved, but also the pr[illegible] revealed to him specifically [illegible] of violence by the deceased, in order to have any value to show the slayer's [illegible]

[illegible] of the act [illegible] act may be [illegible] for certain [illegible] ssession of [illegible] fences, such [illegible] her similar [illegible] of proving [illegible], 2 C. & K

307, Maule J. said "If a person were charged with having wilfully poisoned another, and it were a question whether he knew a certain white powder to be poison, evidence would be admissible to show that he knew what the powder was because he had ac ... In R v Cooper 3 Cox Cr 517, ... with the intent of ... by such means was offered ... to have stated on other occasions that he had obtained money by the same means that are stated to have been used in this case, is it not a fair inference to make to the jury that his object was to obtain money here?" Sarjent Ballantine, for the accused said in reply ... obtain money at this particul

... s intention was on the second occasion, ... proof of knowledge and that of intention" whether on this occasion he did an act with the object One step in the proof would be to show that a certain result would follow; and if it can be proved out of his own mouth that he was aware that such a result would be produced, it is one ingredient in the necessary proof that he contemplated it ... was that I attempted to procure abortion, the same or without it, if it could be before and that he knew that evidence against him Or if, had been used by the prisoner ... le to show that he knew the

Intention and Drunkenness Involuntary drunkenness, by operation of s 85 of the Penal Code, places a man exactly in the same position as if his aberration of intellect arose from any of the usual forms of unsoundness of mind ... requires it to be ... would have ... de, Mayne's ... his address ... intends the ... observe that ... it were so ... drink is the occasion of a large proportion of the crime which is committed but, although ... expense for crime, yet when the crime is such ... of its constituent elements ... considering whether he formed

... l Code drunkenness if it is volu... unkenness does not, of course, palliate any ... accounts as throwing light on the ques... n R v Ram Sahai, (1864) W R Gap No 24 This section was in accordance with the English law as obtained at that time In R v Monkhouse, 4 Cox C C 55, Coleridge J said: "Drunkenness is ordinarily neither a defence nor excuse for a crime, and where it is available ... to prove it, and it is not ... ible, unless the intoxication ... from committing the act ... forming any specific inten... son B, R v Thomas, C

... the law assumes a particular ... cannot be ... say ... that ... ther ... his mind, he would not be allowed to plead that through intoxication he imagined that his life was in danger. But where it is incumbent on the prosecution to ... the circumstances ... for instance, if a ... it to be such, the ... necessarily to be assumed, though it might be inferred, from the mere fact of passing the coin Suppose the fact to be established that the man had several good rupees in his ... would have to be made ... that he had the means ... be clearly admissible to show that he was in a hurry ... the coin, and I can see no reason ... be admissible for the purpose ... about just as much as drunkenness ...

S.

In England recently the liability of a person for voluntary intoxications has ... Till ... doctr ... self ... rend ... p 897; see also R v Davies, 14 Cox Cr. C 563 In R v Meade, (1909) 1 K B 395=78 L J K B 476, the Court said "It is not expedient to confer upon voluntary drunkenness a wider immunity than the partial immunity it has enjoyed since 1819. The presumption that every one intends the natural consequences of his acts, may be rebutted in the case of a man who is drunk by showing his mind to have been so affected by the drink that he was incapable of knowing ... proved, the presumpt... rebutted The languag... rule, and it did not ... murder to man slaught... or a drunken ... 1909 cited in Roscoe ... drunk ... Nothing ... R ... Beard, ... to a criminal charge ... the offence charged, ... that the defendant ... city, though it may establish a more ready tendency to some violent passion (than if defendant were sober), does not rebut the presumption of the existence of an intent to produce the natural consequences of his acts" Roscoe, Cr Ev 1152

Dealer with a Partnership ... The modes avail... one who has ... (1) exposure ... to see it, (2) ... as the first ...

receive evidence of the advertisement in the Gazette, but that unless it were proved that the party ... the evidence would be of little avail ... sible at all without proof that ... which such evidence was received was a case where a person ... inserted a notice in a provincial Sunday paper, and the Court held that it was admissible in evidence because it was probable that the party had seen it, since he took in the paper and ... See also In Lane v. Blizard 1 Stark

Prosecution without probable cause Where in an action for malicious prosecution or defamation, or for false arrest, the issue arises whether the prosecutor had reasonable grounds and acted in good faith, a bad reputation of a plaintiff is a circumstance bearing on this state of mind, and is admissible Vide, Fabrigas v Mostyn, 20 How St Tr 94; Rodriguez v Tadmire, 2 Esp 721, Downing v Butcher, 2 Mo & Rob 374; Wigmore § 258

The question is wheth ... knew that he was insolv ... bankruptcy, but bearing post mark before it, and containing refusals to lend him money, are admissible (after the fact of his insolvency has been proved independently) to show his knowledge of the matters referred to, but not the truth of the facts Vacher v Cocks, M & M 353, Thomas v. Connel, 4 M & W. 267, Phip Ev 68 Execution of a document will imply ... Cooper 20 Ch D 611; Phip Ev 4th Ed 127 ... ument will be implied where it is a party's duty ... 9 Ch D 329, Phip Ev 4th Ed 128 On a question whether a captain of a ship knew ... that it was ... tep Dig ... contents ... 306; ... 463 ... that ... he ought ... formation ... escribed ... erty Act ... efinition ... of these ... defined ... nstances of the case, upon a legal presumption, so strong that it cannot be allowed to be rebutted, that the knowledge must exist, though it may not have been ... T P. Act 2nd ... to an agent is ... l of notice is Whatever puts a party on enquiry, amounts in law to notice, provided the ... the facts by the ...

Greenshields, 9 Moo P. C. 18; Mancharji v. Kongoseoo, 6 B H. C R 69; Hakeem v Beejoy, 22 W R 8; Jugul Kissore v Kartic, 21 C 116; Bhikhi v Udit, 25 A 366; Kondiba v Nana, 34 I A 138

'o whether registration is sufficient Court mere registration does not W N 11, Monindra v Troylockho, n by Chief Justice Sir Arthur Collins Court in Shan Man Mull v Madras Bombay and Allahabad High Courts . Chenoasapa, 9 B 427, Chintaman v A L has been set at rest by the decision of the P Khedampal, 25 C W. N 49=48 C 1 (P C) cannot in all cases be imputed from the mere fact of registration of a document Whether registration is or is not notice in itself depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case, upon the decree of care and caution which an ordinarily prudent man would necessarily take for the protection of his own interest by search into the registers kept under the Registration Act Ibid, but now see Act XX of 1929 s 4

Knowledge— is obviously impossible to speak s that which the principles of testim it is, and that by the ows. ctly l his re in strictness concerned Wigmore § 650

Good faith 1897) a thing shall be deemed done honestly, whether it is dor acts apparently collateral may be proved, if they show good faith or prudence or the knowledge or information on which a person has acted when such fact is in issue These instances occur most frequently in cases of assignments for the benefit of creditors, the good faith of the holder of a bill or note, and of vendors and solvency e the Free- nce, tent The illustration (i) is based on the case of Sheen v Bumpstead, 2 H. & C. 193=32 L J Ex 271 In that case which was an action brought against the defendant for false representation as to the trustworthiness of W, the plaintiff as part of the representation had the state of mind of the defendant at the time he made the representation A plaintiff may ive evidence a however, prove ose the plaintiff was insolvent, r and obvious remark to the jury that the defendant must have known what was the common after the plaintiff is not that strong evidence—morally at least—from which the jury may infer that what was the common opinion of trade shared by the defendant and that in making faith" Norl Ev 136, Woodroffe Ev 193 examples of good faith Illustration (g) is based on the case of Chartier, 1 Com B 13 In that case Maule J observed 'The evidence was material and was properly admitted It intended to show that the defendant was not seeking to evade payments of goods ordered for his benefit but that he had actually paid the person with whom alone he had contracted It showed that the defendant conducted himself like a party who was dealing with C as a principal and not as an ments for the benefit of circumstances surrounding to support it is then a vital part of the proof to rebut the presumption of fraud Deus v Cornish, 20 Ark 332 Illustration (h) is based on the leading case R v Thurborn 1 Den Cr C R 387 In that case Parke B said "The rule of law on this subject seems to be that if a man finds goods that have been actually lost or are reasonably supposed by law to have been lost and appropriates them with intent to take the entire dominion over them really believing when he takes them that the owner cannot be found, it is not larceny But if he takes them with the like intent though lost, or reasonably supposed to be lost, but reasonably believing that the owner can be found, it is larceny In d rules questions of ed whether the person

l by evidence of his previous acquaintance with the ownership of the particular chattel, the place where it is found would be apparent, in other presumed that the do, at the time of taking conclude that he took it, —
The mere taking it up to eor believed

n e deceased owing that he had reasonable ground to fear violence and to show that he acted in self defence R v Hopkins 10 Cox Cr 229 In Allison v United States, 160 U S 203 Chief Justice Fuller said 'Here the threats were recent and were communicated, and were admissible in evidence as relevant to the question whether defendant had reasonable cause to apprehend an attack fatal to life or fraught with great bodily injury, and hence was justified in acting on a hostile demonstration and one of much less pronounced character than if such threats had not preceded it. They were relevant because indicating cause of apprehension of danger and reason for promptness to repel attack, but they could not prosecution as son threatened, with an actual
the absence of inference was that these sistent inference could not Long C J in Thomason
v Territory 4 N M 150 a New Mexico case where he said 'If there is even slight evidence to indicate that the act of killing was done under a present reasonable apprehension to himself of great bodily harm, prior threats should not be excluded ' Evidence of communicated threats is intended to shed light upon the mental attitude of the prisoner toward the deceased when homicide
of the ie good which hat he sertion
he believed at a certain

S 1

time is worth very little without some kind of confirmation from external conditions Derry v Peek 14 App Cas 337 In each case good faith as defined by the Indian Penal Code should be considered with reference to the general circumstances and the capacity and intelligence of the person whose conduct is in question Bhawoo v Mulji 12 B 377 (393), Emperor v Abdul, 31 B 293 (298), Arfan Ali v Emperor 41 C 66, Davey v Corey (1901) A C 477

In a case where an accused is charged with murder, he can assert that he has committed the crime in self defence In such a case the state of his mind at the time of the killing becomes a material fact An important element in determining his justification is his belief—in an impending attack by the deceased So reasonable fear of such an attack repels the conclusion of malice And the character of the deceased for violence has much to do in determining the reasonableness or unre Negligence whether proved by habit Negligence is in one aspect the not doing of a particular act but in another and more correct aspect it is the doing of one act in a manner which amounts to negligence in that some other ac

a
h
5
C
S
engineer and fireman, had some times passed the crossing during the preceding year without those precautions observed It would seem to be axiomatic that a man is likely to do or not to do a thing, or to do it or not to do it in a particular way, as he is in the habit of doing or not doing it But this must be understood of acts which are done or omitted to be done without any particular intent or purpose to injure any one, it ca intentionally object in purpose
any intention whatever and through mere give these signals on that occasion we think the enquiry was properly ma to what — had not grown h articular
In this evidence ome ably ame rd ys less not we
c? ut
n of probative

If negligence can be inferred from repair of machine high way or the like aft the con
which neglige
reason

4 of the injured person To improve the rely that more, contribu

again, by fencing or covering, or at any rate making safe the particular thing from which it arose That, however, is no evidence of, and I protest against it being put forward as evidence of negligence A place may be left for a hundred years unfenced, when at last some one falls down it, the owner like a sensible and humane man, then puts up a fence; and upon this the argument is that he has been guilty of negligence, and shows that he thought the fence was necessary because he put it up. This is both unfair and unjust It is making the good feeling and right principle of a man evidence against him"

Ill-will, malice, etc The term ill-will as used in the Act, is not the exact equivalent of the term the criminal intention
In a case of defama
the libel If for any reason this presumption is rebutted, it becomes necessary for the person ... to show actual malice In Heldutch v McIlwaine said "It is for the defendant to prove f the defendant does so the burden of the plaintiff; but unless the defendant tual malice' By the ex rely the criminal intention but a more positive mental technical nsaction is material

Roscoe Ev. 880, see also R v Mason, 8 Cr A R 121 (1912) riminal acts leading up to the one nd of the accused is admissible Trien
commit the crime for which a person is upon trial are constantly received as evidence against him, as other he has intention he has ch threats wards the he emotion itself is evidential as an independent circumstance to show the act So also where an emotion of hostility at a specific time is shown, the existence in the same person
admissible
What, that I stances
of each case,
Court
The
defama tory ways,
(1) a ound
for at the time of uttering the defamation charged, other utterances of the defendant may be offered, and the question arises whether and on what terms they are admissible The probative value of other utterances as showing malice at the time charged rests on a double argument (A) that the other utterance indicates malice at the time of utterance, and (B) that malice then indicates malice at the time charged Wigmore §§ 105, 396 401 In Barrett v Long, 3 H L C 395 (414) Parke B said "We are all of opinion that under such a plea the publication of previous libel on the plaintiff by the defendant is admissible evidence to show that the defendant wrote the libel in question with actual malice against the plaintiff A long practice of libelling the plaintiff may show in the most satisfactory manner that ...

the particular inadvertence,
practice, the m
more or less
that in questio
The length o may of course the admiss clear of oth him' ... Charlton v Barret Peake N P 22 ...

v, Westby 6 C
slander is only ac Davies, 7 C & rejected on the gr
words, and yet th
founded upon th
Lemaitre, 5 M &
"This ap damages, in the m
for that p against g prove it different c Denman
of mot ...

was rejected

Good will The term 'good will' is peculiar to the Act, and there is no equivalent for it in the English law, nor is used at all, except in a different sense The answer to a charge of 'express malice' would probably be the absence of express malice or some sort of defence that implied it. This moreover, seems to be the meaning of the last clause of the illustration Donough Ev 123

State of body or bodily feeling etc This section also provides for the admission of evidence regarding the state of body when that is in issue or relevant It would be in issue in all crimes of violence, or 'offences affecting the human body,' within the meaning of the Penal Code It would be relevant in all questions of insanity, legitimacy, life insurance, inheritance, and identity of persons Donough Cir Ev 127 Illustration (k) shows how persons' expressions of feeling towards each other at or about any particular time may be used to show what those feelings were and (l) and (m) show the same thing in regard to states of body Cun Ev 131 So whenever the bodily or mental feelings of an individual are material to be proved, the usual expressions of such feelings, made at the time in question, are also original evidence If they were the natural language of the affection, whether of body or mind, they furnish satisfactory evidence, and often the only proof, of its existence And the question whether they are real or feigned, is for the jury to determine Greenl Ev § 162 (a) cited in Taylor § 580 Thus the representations by a sick person of the nature and effects of malady under which he is labouring are receivable as original evidence whether they may be made to the medical attendant, or to any other person, though the former are naturally entitled to greater weight than the latter, in as much as a physician is far more capable than a man unacquainted with the symptoms of diseases, of forming a correct judgment respecting the accuracy of the statement Aveson v Kinnaird, 6 East 188 R v Blandey 18 How St Tr 1135, Grey v Young 4 M C 31; Gilchrist v Bale 8 Watts, 357 cited in Taylor § 580 Illustration (m) is based on Aveson v Kinnaird, 6 East 188 So also answers of patients to enquiries made by medical men and others are evidence of their state of health provided they are confined to contemporaneous symptoms and are not in the nature of a narrative as to how, or by whom such symptoms were caused Gardner Peerage Case Le March, 169, R v Nicholas, 2 C & K 246, R v Gloster 16 Cox 471, R v Gutridge, 9 C & P 471 The reason for the admission of such evidence is thus given by Mellish L J "Wherever it is material to prove the state of a person's mind, or what was passing in it, and what were his intentions there you may prove what he said, because that is the only means by which you can find out what his intentions were" Sugden v St Leonards L R 1 P D 154 This use of such statement is often spoken of as admissible under the res gestae notion or as 'original' evidence, i e not an exception to the Hearsay Rule But this seems clearly unsound There is one sort of evidence of mental condition which is in truth merely indirect or circumstantial, and therefore not subject to the Hearsay Rule, e g where the sharpening of a knife on the morning before a homicide is taken as evidence of a design to kill, or where the repeated infliction of blows indicates malice or where running away is taken as indicating fear But where a distinct assertion, in the form of words, predicating a mental state is offered,—as "I have a pain in my side" or "I have the intention of going out of town,' or "I do this for such and such a reason,'—this language is no less an assertion of the existence of a fact than is an assertion of any other sort of fact; in the neat phrase of Bowen L J 'The state of a man's mind is as much a fact as the state of digestion," and therefore such assertions, being taken on the credit of the declarant as testimonial evidence of the fact asserted, are met by the Hearsay Rule To admit them, then is to make an exception to the Hearsay Rule The different kinds of facts that may be the subject of such assertions may be roughly gouped as follows· (1) assertions of pain, or other physical condition; (2) assertions of plan, design, intention, (3) assertions of feeling, emotion, motive, reason (4) sundry assertions by a testator Greenl Ev § 162 a, Wigmore §§ 1714 to 1740 It is usually said that such declarations are receivable though they form the only proof of the given condition (Tay § 500), but this has been doubted and it has been considered to be the manifested condition and not the sickness itself which is the true res gestae to be explained (Thayer, 15 Ir L T. 141—143) Phip Ev 3rd Ed p 51. Mr. Cunningham thinks that statements in illustrations as to the circumstances in which he came to be poisoned should be admissible

Such Statements are exceptions to Hearsay Rule It has already been stated that such st[illegible] to the Hearsay Rule. I[illegible] 32) presents itself in a [illegible] on the consideration that, though the person's testimony on the stand may still be both actually and conveniently practicable yet the probability of their receiving from him testimony which shall be in value equal or superior to certain hearsay statements is small, thus, while there is hardly a necessity in the strict sense, ther[illegible] Applied [illegible] there is a [illegible] own cont[illegible] possible to obtain by circumstantial evidence (chiefly of conduct) some knowledge of a human being's internal state of pain, emotion motive, design, and the like; but in directness, amount, and value, this source of evidence must usually be decidedly inferior to the person's own contemporary assertions of those conditions It might be argued, however that the person's own statements on the stand would amply satisfy the need for his testimonial evidence The answer is that statements of this sort on the stand where there is ample opportunity for deliberate misr[illegible] or testing it by [illegible] at times when [illegible] of trustworthin[illegible] of Court and [illegible] is a fair necessi[illegible] of evidence eit[illegible] death, insanity [illegible] dent; and this has not been questioned Wigmore § 1714; see also section 21 clause (2)

In Aveson v Kinnaird, 6 East, 195, which appears as illustration (m) of section 14 Lord Ellenborough in admitting such statements observed "A witness has been received to relate that which has always been received from patients to explain,—her own account of the cause of her being in bed at an unreasonable hour with the appearance of being ill What were the complaints, what the symptoms, what the conduct of the parties themselves at the time, are always received in evidence upon such inquiries, and must be resorted to from the very nature of the thing The declaration was upon the subject of her own health at the, time which is a fact of which her own declaration is evidence, and that too made unwares before she could contrive any answer for her own advantage and that of her husband, and therefore falling within the principle of the case in Skinner to which I have alluded' (The case referred to by him was Thompson v Trevanion, Skin 402) So "the evidence is admitted on the presumption arising from experience, that when a man does an act his contemporary declarations [illegible] unless there be some reason for misrepresenting [illegible] Carter, 8 H N. 42 "Wherever the bodily [illegible] are material to be proved, the usual e[illegible] [illegible]inal and competent evidence These expressions are the natural reflexes of what it might be im[illegible] [illegible]xplanatory or cor[illegible] [illegible]istration of justice [illegible] upon which the [illegible]ast. 'Anything in nature of narration must be excluded" Per Swayne J in Insurance Co Mosley, 8 Wall. 397 So "such declarations made with no apparent mot[illegible] misstatement, may be better evidence of the maker's state of mind at the time than the subsequent testimony for the same purpose" Per Holmes J in Elmer v Fessenden, 151 Mass 359

State of body In Annesley v Anglesea, 17 St Tr. 1139, where the question was whether the claimant was the vast amount of evidence was gone condition of Lady Altham during , shortly before the claimant's birth in a belief to that effect cession, a question of legitimacy
d to be the heir to a dukedom and son of Lady Jane Douglas and the objector
to the bodily points consu situation of l
These were Slaunton, Not Tr, where four prisoners were charged with conspiring to cause the death of a woman of weak intellect by a slow process evidence was admitted regarding her bodily state at various intervals down to the date of her death "The object of his evidence" said Hawkins J "is to show that those who were about her and saw her from week to condition to which she was being re
The
physical strength of a person may be was peculiarly capable or peculiarly incapable of doing the act in question. Goodtitle v Braham, 4 J R 498

Owner of vicious animals "Whoever" says Lord Denman "keeps an animal accustomed to attack and bite mankind, with knowledge that it is so accustomed, is prima facie liable in an action on the case at the suit of any person attacked and injured by t ement of negligence

Jhonson, 36 L J. C P
(the knowledge of the f the animal is relevant,
'36 Particular acts of viciousness are also relevant, for the same reason Vide illustration (c) So l to show the owner's knowledge
P 3, see also Thomas v Morgan, Hudson v. Robert, 6 Ex 697,

Receiving stolen property—Proof of knowledge The act of possession is in this class of cases (except rarely) concealed, and the question is as to the possession
other times view of the er possession be such f the stolen character of warned the defendant

it may be assumed that the receipt of st likely to result in a warning, chiefly bec up and reclaim them, but also in part because a purchase not made in offer

in the transactions, i e that the same person comes to dispose of the Wigmore § 324
ing stolen goods edged, within five
l brought to the defendant by the same person was admitted " ... guilty knowledge" See also R. v Davis, 6 C. & ... & Rob 524=1 Cox. Cr 12, illustration (a) ... C 264 such evidence was held inadmissible. ... judgment said · "Here the evidence merely went to show that the prisoner was in possession of other property which had been stolen in December, and not that he had received such property knowing it to be stolen. Now the mere possession of stolen property is evidence, prima facie, not of receiving, but of stealing; and to admit such evidence in the ... prosecutor, in order to make out that a prison... knowledge, what had been stolen in March, ... December previous stolen some other property from another place and belonging to other person" The result of R. v Oddy, was a legislative change of the law in 1871 by Stat 34 & 35 Vict C 112 By section 19 of that Act "evidence may be given that there was found in the possession of such person property stolen within the preceding period of twelve months for the other purpose of proving that such person knew the property for which he is indicted to be stolen" But illustration (a) to the section makes no reservation as to ownership or time, so that it would seem that though the stolen property belonged to other persons than the prosecutor, and without the inference of knowledge from such particular transactions, it would not make the evidence inadmissible" See also R. v Ball, R & R 132; R v Ball, 1 Camp 324, R v Millard, R & R 245; R v Phillips, 1 Lew Cr C 105, R v Smith, 4 C & P 411, R. v Forbes, 7 C & P 224, R. v Ball, 7 C & P. 429 In R. v Froster, Dears Cr. C 456, to prove a guilty uttering on December, 12, an uttering of a similar piece on December 11 was shown, see also R. v Goodwin, 10 Cox Cr 534 In R. v Whiley, 2 Leach 985, Thompson J. observed "As to the cases put by the prisoner's counsel of uttering bad money,

Jones, 14 Cox Cr 3

Forgery and Counterfeiting The Chief form of offence connected with forged and other counterfeit documents or money are (1) making the false ...

... the knowledge ... 30; Blake v Albion Life Assurance Society, 4 C. P. D ... 204. In Mason's Case,

10 Cr App 169, which was a case of uttering a forged deed, evidence of possession of two other sets of forged deeds a fortnight and five months later was admitted See also R. v Foster, 24 L J M C 134 The possession of other forged or count ... different way to show knowledge The mere fact of ... may be relevant to show ... g a knowledge of ... tels wrapped in paper or counterfeit paper is kept ... also found, and thus the prior knowledge applies equally to the article in question Wigmore § 311

Illustration (d) Th ... case of Gibson v Hunter 2 H Bl 286 H drew ... n) or order and indorsed in F's name, ... ued G and in order to show that G knew this particular 1 as fictitious person, ... ered the fact of the former instance of such bills with irregularities and suspicious circumstances of such a nature that they must have made G aware of the fictitious ness of F's name, and it was admitted

Illustrations (i) and (... These two are illustrations of intention The case in (i) is that of R ... that of R v Robinson, 2 East P C 111 ... Nort Ev 137 The difference ... with intent to kill, (o) of murder outright ... admit other acts of the de ... to negative innocent intent and thus to establish the crimi ... officer and the like) No fixed ... ther act must bear, it ... ame ... ident

364 In R v Voke ... intent to kill The defence was accident. The fact of the accused ... way after the firing and concealed himself beside the road ahead and then firing again at the same person, was received to prove intent

Explanation I Illustrations (a), (o) and (p) refer to Explanation I The rejection of general facts rests on the ground that the collateral matter has been too remote, if, indeed, there was any connection with the factum probandum. Nort. Ev 139 The meaning of this explanation is that the state of mind to be proved must be, not merely a general tendency or disposition towards conduct of a similar description to that in question, but a condition of thought and feeling having distinct and immediate reference to the matter which is under ... The fact that a man is generally dishonest, generally malicious ... not bear with sufficient ... on or as to any particular ... ing his conduct what is ... ves and state of mind with immediate reference to that particular occasion or matter Illustrations (a) and (b) make th ... goods with guilty knowledge ... obability of his having been dishonest ... is increased ... he is found in posse ... ht on his ... ssession ... it, he was ... man, who ... stolen from ... Ev 122 ... in Holling ... Does the ... ilar act in a ... has done the same thing in the ... sion? To admit such speculation ... t danger" ... t of these illustrations, it is difficult to see why a m ... letting defective carriages for hire should be irrelevant in an enquiry as to his negligence in this respect on any particular occasion Surely the evidence of habit would have some probative value The same view has been taken by the Bombay High Court in regard to the second illustration, cl (o) It has been observed that on the issue of whether A actually shot B or not the fact that he had previously shot at him would have some probative force So too would proof of a general malignity of disposition by evidence that 'A was in the habit of shooting at people with intent to murder them, yet this evidence is excluded, even as proof of A's intention, either as too remotely connected with the particular intention in issue, or as raising collateral questions which could not be resolved in the case' per West J in Reg v Prabhudas, 11 B H C R 90 at p 92

"It is presumed that if evidence of 'habit' is not admissible as a 'state of mind' under section 14, it might be admissible as conduct' under s 8 Habit after all is only previous conduct which is provided for in section 8"—Donough Cr Ev 2nd Ed p 133

...it of the uniformity ...een to be such a ...A, to a particular ...casion in a given regularity of action, there can be no doubt that this fixed sequence of acts tends strongly to show the occurrence of a given instance But in the ordinary affairs of life a habit or custom seldom has such an invariable regularity Hence, it is easy to see why in a given instance something that may be loosely called habit ...ient regularity ...ice and in most ...lepend largely ...that arise in connection with such evidence, both of them, however, depending on other exclusionary rules (1) The idea of habit is sometimes difficult to distinguish from that of character—for example where negligent habit is charged, and if it is interpreted in the ... against the use of ... (2) Assuming the ... to be made by ... inference to a habi... character of a pe... probabilit... ...nadmis... sible Pe... difficulty ... (Dispositi...

another or more correct aspect, it is the doing of one act in a manner which amounts to negligence in that some other act is omitted which ought to have ... should not be used as ...of careful action Joy v ...ifficulties here seem to be ...ever be anything more than casual or occasional If it is, are we not really predicating a careless ...

well founded, and that such evidence is often of probative value and i at attended by the inconveniences of character evidence Wigmore § 97

... was only one explanation to the section By ... Amendment Act, 1891 (3 of 1891) these two ... the one original explanation Only slight verbal alterations were made in the original explanation and it was numbered as ' Explanation 1 The Explanation 2, is new This amendment was ... n of the Calcutta High Court in the ... 14 C 721 (F B) In that case ... whether in the trial of a person charged ... property, evidence could be given of ... empting to receive stolen property, ... The Full Bench decided on the 20th July 1887, that ...

the accused person has been previously ... but the fact that he has a bad character ... given that he has a good character in which case it becomes relevant Explanation —This section does not apply to cases in which the bad character of any person is in itself a fact in issue * By Act III of 1891, the said section has been amended in such a way as to render the previous conviction of an accused person irrelevant when it is sought to prove the conviction with the object merely of showing that the accused is a man of bad character and is therefore more likely to have committed the offence with which he is charged The fact that a person has been previously convicted of an offence has of itself little probative force to establish the fact that he has committed another offence and it is not expedient to admit evidence which can only prejudice the accused Statement of Objects and Reasons of Act III of 1891 The result of this amendment of the law is that the rule as to the relevancy of a previous conviction is to be contained in section 43 of the Act The existence of the judgment convicting the accused is only relevant if the fact of the conviction is a fact in issue or is relevant under some provisions of the Act Explanation 2 has been added to section 14 so as to allow a previous conviction to be proved in order to show a guilty knowledge or intention Statement of Objects and Reasons of Act III of 1891 As having regard to the character of the offence under s 400 I P Code, previous commissions of dacoity are relevant under s 14 of the Evidence Act so convictions previous to the time specified in the charge or to the framing of the charge ... the time ...

... section 4 (a) of the Bombay Prevention of ... the evidence that the accused was previously convicted of similar offe... Aloomiya 25 B ... Jacob, J dissenting) ... 139 the appellants were convicted, under section 401 of the Indian Penal Code of belonging to a gang of persons associated for the purpose of committing thefts The question was whether evidence of previous convictions of some of the accused of theft was admissible for the purpose of proving association for that purpose and bad character In rejecting the evidence the Court observed "It is sufficient to add in reference to the case now before us that the character of the accused was not in issue ... is not admissible ... v Th ... King Em... ent th... Court obs... a ... ciation for purpose of ... convictions whether for offence ... e find ... always been admitted, ... its and ... it would seem that of su... uld be more cogent than those for isolated thefts Such evidence must of course be weighed A single instance of theft for instance would count for little or nothing Ther to show habit, against the we Empress v. Nal

* In page 725 of I. C. this explanation is not given after section 54 although in the Act this explanation is given after section 14

four unreporte
such evidence".

bad character, is inadmissible under section 14 of the Evidence Act Emperor v Haji Sher Mahomed, 45 B 958 – 75 Ind Cas 67 = 25 Bom L R 214 The reason for admitting such evidence is thus given by Faucett J, in 46 B 958 "Such evidence clearly falls under section 1 a disposition on the part of the accu doubt produce evidence description to that in question, but not of the exact description in issue A person may be a habitual surreptitious night thief, but this goes very little way towards showing that he has a disposition towards dacoity of bad character which is excluded by See also Public Prosecutor v Boncge 1001 = 9 Cr L J 567, Emperor v Del

Emperor v Pachu Das, 47 C 671, is being tried for the offence of belonging to a gang of thieves, evidence that he was previously convicted of dacoity is relevant and admissible But if the conviction took place long before the second prosecution no weight can be attached to such evidence for the purpose of proving that the accused has a habit of committing thefts Moti Ram v Emperor, 89 Ind Cas 527 = A I R 1925 Bom ourse that the guilt 144 But purpose of affecting the punishment imposed Queen Empress v Nga Ian, (U B R 1892—1896) Vol I, 82

Seditious speeches—Intention Where certain speeches form the subject in respect of the speech nam v Emperor, 32 M 3 14 of the Evidence Act,

question is one of the intention of the accused in publishing these articles Did they intend to excite enmity to the governmen of certain government me or it may be proved nection with what such on another or other conspiracy as to a diary kept by her, that she kept it to show to her husband was admitted to evidence her feelings towards her husband. But in Walton v. Webster, 7 C. & P. 198, letters by a wife, offered to show her happiness with her husband, —

Stat
a state c
said
to be ta
do not prove it, but wherever it is material to prove the state of a person's mind, you may prove find out what
Tr. 442, Wilde J.

in itself a material fact of which such statements are the fair exponents But where those declarations are vouched to prove the fact that he had declared and embodied those intentions in a certain will they have no other title to confidence than the statements of any other person who had seen the will and could speak to its contents In this aspect they become mere hearsay" See also Keen v Keen, L R 3 P & D 107; Wigmore §§ 1718 1722, 1729, 1730, 1735, 1736

ably, defeated We do not mean to say that fraud can be established by any less proof, or by any different kind of proof from what is required to establish any other disputed questions of fact, or that circumstances of mere suspicion which lead to no certain result should be taken as sufficient proof of fraud, or some bearing in proving fraudulent intention by negativing the probability of good are made under by the ordina time with good f ential to produc se which,

involv re to b consid
transfers are made, (3)
On the whole, while se
may vary in each cas, here no fixed rule can be laid down Vide Wigmore § 333. The fraudulent intent of the transferor may be indicated by other circumstances not of the above sort,—such as the debtor's remaining in possession after the mortgage or sale the pendency of suits at the time of the sale and other circumstances suggesting their own significance and not raising any difficulty of principle Wigmore § 33

Illustrative Cases—Admissible Evidence A writing made some time after the committing of an offence under section 124 I P Code is admissible in evidence under s 14 of the Evidence Act Emperor v Phillip, 30 Bom L R 315=108 Ind Cas 30=29 Cr L J 320=A I R 1928 Bom 78 Former judgment more than 25 years old and convicting accused of dacoity is admissible in a case under s 401 I P Code for showing criminal tendency to commit theft and not habit of committing theft Motiram v Emperor, 89 Ind Cas 729= A I R 1925 Bom 193, see also Bonai v Emperor, 38 C 408=15 C W N 461, Emperor v Naba Kumar 1 C W N 146; Emperor v Haji Sher Mahomed 25 Bom L R 214=75 Ind Cas 67 In a trial for an offence under ss 235 and 243 I P Code of being in possession of counterfeit coins and instruments and materials for counterfeiting coin, evidence of the possession by the accused of counterfeit coins and instruments for their manufacture at his house in another district is admissible Misri Gossain v Emperor, 61 Ind Cas 647=22 Cr L J 407 On a charge against the accused of cheating by falsely representing that they were the servants of a wealthy lady and were entrusted to act on ... in the arrangements for loans, to be made to ... she possessed, and thereby ... in connect... transactu... complain... prove the ... A 273 ... ...ution to show that the acts charged a... ... of a series of similar acts committed by him, or ... ...t is concerned at or about the time in question Evidence of such other acts, whether previous or subsequent to the frauds charged against the accused is relevant for the purpose of showing whether or not the intention of the accused was honest or fraudulent Girdhari v Emperor 269 P L R 1914 In cases where the other evidence has established association for purposes of habitually committing theft, evidence of previous convictions whether for offences against property or for bad livelihood is admissible, not as evidence of character but as evidence of habit and of such evidence, convictions for bad livelihood would be more cogent than those for isolated thefts Bonai v Emperor, 9 Ind Cas 455=15 C W N 461=38 C 408

Illustrative Cases—Inadmissible Evidence Where the accused is charged under s 409, Penal Code, for embezzling three specific sums Held, that evidence of collateral offences in respect of other sums was not admissible Pritchard v Emperor, A I R 1928 Lah 382 Where in a particular trial under section 420, I. P Code evidence was let in with regard to a previous act of fraud which was alleged to have been committed by the accused person on the witness who spoke to the fact that on a particular occasion he was cheated by the accused in respect of a certain sum Held, that the evidence is clearly inadmissible in law and it cannot be brought in with the aid of s 14 or 15 of the Evidence Act Gokul v Emperor, 29 C W N 483=86 Ind Cas 970=26 Cr L J 906, see also R v Abdul Wahid 34 A 94 In a case of murder by administering sweetmeats the facts that the accused offered sweetmeats to boys and poisoned one of them is not evidence under section 14 of the Evidence Act Kashi Ram v Emperor, 73 Ind Cas 262=6 N L J 144 In a prosecution under section 209 of the Penal Code for having knowingly made a false claim in a suit against certain persons, evidence relating to other suits brought by the accused against other persons may be admissible against the accused under sections 14 and 15 of the Evidence Act, for the purpose of showing ill will or animus of the accused, and as systematic cause of fraud or a systematic series of fraudulent claims and for the purpose of rebutting the defence that the particular suit was brought in good faith or any suggestion that it was brought under some ... ke or misapprehension But evidence relating to simil... ... other persons is not admissible against the ... instituted by the accused are part of ... ...of a conspiracy between them Evidence which goes merely to the character or disposition of the accused as a person likely to have committed the offence is generally inadmissible against

S.

iot become inad-
e accused of other
N 491=19 Cr. was charged with nas in excess of tion evidence was produced t was inadm

Evidence

Cas 781=1912 M
of instances of acts of acts of misconduct
The defendant can justify the libel as true in substance and in fact by proving its truth, not the truth of other acts and occasions having nothing to do with the act in question, unless it is intended to show that those acts were parts of the habitual and ojshau, restrain having dence to the rule

being that a man must be taken to have intended the reasonable and natural consequences of his own act Uunna v Jauala 35 C 31 Where in a prosecu tion under s 304 I P Code it was taken part in a similar occurrence just p rash driving of his motor car certain

Bom L R 324=A I R 1930 Bom 157

15 When there is a question whether an act was accidental or intentional, *(or done with a particular knowledge or intention), the fact that such act formed part of a series of similar occurrences, in each of which the person doing the act was concerned, is relevant.

Facts bearing on question whether act was accidental or intentional

Illustrations

(a) A is accused of burning down his house in order to obtain money for

ach of which he fires A received ng to show that

It is A's duty to make entries in a book showing the amounts received by him He makes an entry showing that on a particular occasion he received less than he really did receive

The question is, whether this false entry was accidental or intentional

The facts that other entries made by A in the same book are false, and that the false entry is in each case in favour of A, are relevant.

*These words in s 15 were inserted by the Indian Evidence Act 1872 Amendment Act, 1891 (3 of 1891), s 2

(c) A is accused c
The question is,
The facts that, . . . delivered counterfeit rupees to C, D and E are relevant, as showing that the delivery to B was not accidental

Scope of the section Section 15 of the Evidence Act is an application of the general rule laid down in section 14 Emperor v. Debendra, 36 C 573=13 C W N 973=9 C L J 610 It lays down that where there is a question whether an act was accidental or intentional or done with a particular knowledge or intention, the fact that such act formed part of a series of similar occurrences in each of which the person doing the act was concerned, is relevant It is wrong to say that this section only deals . . lent The bracketed words were added by s 2 . . st not be overlooked in construing section 15 Emperor v Panchu Das 24 C W N 501 at p 525 F B But in the same case Mookerjee J took a different view At page 516 he observed "There was no room for any hypothesis that the death of the woman, whoever might have caused it, was either accidental or unintentional The medical evidence makes it incontestable that the act amounted to deliberate murder No question consequently arises whether the act was accidental or intentional or was done with a particular knowledge or intention In so far as the charge of theft was concerned, there was also no question, whether the act was accidental or intentional or was done with a particular knowledge or intention" Fletcher J agreed with Mookerjee J in that case According to Sanderson C J also this section has no application where there is no question of an act being accidental or intentional So evidence of other crimes is admissible if it bears upon the question whether the acts alleged to constitute the crime charged in the indictment were designed or accidental Per Lord Harschell in Makin v Att Gen of New South Wales 75 L J K B 693=(1906) 2 K B 389, see also R v Bond, (1906) 2 K B 389, R v Heesom, 14 Cox 40, R v Stephens, 16 Cox 387, R v Armstrong (1922) 2 K B 555 In Gunwant v Emperor, 38 Ind Cas 723=13 N L R 35, which was a case under ss 467, 471, and 193 of the Indian Penal Code in respect of a receipt of Rs 4,200 discharging a debt, the complainants were allowed in the lower Court to file certain certified copies intended to prove that four different documents namely (1) a will, (2) a receipt, (3) a deed of lease, and (4) another receipt written by the accused K were suspected to be false documents and were not acted upon by Court As regards the admissibility of these documents the Court observed. "There was no question here whether the writing, attestation, or production of the receipt for Rs 4,200 was accidental or intentional Each was admittedly an intentional . . . . knowledge of the . . . ents were . . ded . . far . the . of a . bject . hed . . . . decided is whether . knowledge or in . ilar acts be let in . of the kind of . Crown, 12 P R . had been charged under s. 420 I P. Code, for having received from the two complainants certain sums of money on false pretences that he had been authorised to recruit unskilled . . . . . he would be able . . . hat the . . ole of . . having . . d not . . llowed to show that in the course of this recruiting business the accused had defrauded other persons from whom he had received sums of money on false pretences of a similar kind

In general whenever it is necessary to rebut, even by anticipation, the defence of accident, mistake or other innocent condition of mind, evidence that the defendant has same specific kind as th Amrita Lal v. Emperor, systematic act mentioned here should not be confused with design or system. (Vide p 236.)

'Section 14 provides that facts showing the existence of any state of mind, such as intention or knowledge, are relevant when the existence of any such state of mind is in issue or relevant and section 15 provides specifically for allowing evidence of similar occurrence in each of which the person doing the act was concerned, whenever there is a question whether the act is done with a particular knowledge or intention' Per Fawcett J in Emperor v Harjivan valji, A I R 1926 Bom 231 = 50 B 174 = 28 Bom L R 115 This section ement is test to be merely
, 30 Ind
Bond, 75

he words
show the glish law
a nature disposing nature
Reg v harge of obtaining money on false pretences In that case Lord Coleridge, C. J said ...en the fact that the prisoner has done the remaining question is, whether at the time he quality of his act, or acted under a ved must be admissible' This amendment seems to have been overlooked by Jacob J in Emperor v Mhmiya Hussain, 28 B 129 = 5 Bom L R 805, where he states that this section invites consideration of the question of intention only as opposed to accident Woodroffe's Ev 8th Ed p 208 This case probably goes further than any other case, and the amendment which has been proposed of section 15 seems to provide sufficiently for the class of cases in which the peculiar nature of the offence makes this question the crucial test' In Reg v Ollis 69 L J Q B 918 Bruce J stated the law to be as follows "A line of cases has established the rule that when it becomes material to establish that an act charged in the indictment and proved to have been done, was intentional and not accidental, evidence is admissible of similar acts done by the same ...son (Rex v Gray, 4 F & 313), of false pretences J Q B 83), of coining te, 1 Bos & P N R 92 credit by fraud (Rex

as necessary to negative prisoner at the time of the offence charged against him, and, therefore negativing accident or mistake on his part in the last occasion'

Of course, such evidence is not admissible merely for the purpose of showing that the character of the accused was such that he was a person likely to commit the acts of cheating with which he is charged That is a totally different question and the distinction between the two classes of cases is well brought out by Channel J in Reg v Fisher, 26 L T R 122: "The principle" said the learned Judge 'was perfectly clear and if attended to the difficulty disappeared That principle was that the prosecution must not prove facts was of bad character and there- But if proof of the facts went to ence charged it was admissible the accused, that it showed that he , in a charge of embezzlement mistake, evidence could be given to show other instances of the same kind, because such evidence tended to show that he was not making a mistake on the occasion charged Whenever it could be shown that the question involved was whether there was a mistake or whether there was a system evidence might be given although it proved other offence that the prisoner's actions were systematic and fraudulent

In Reg v Rhodes 68 L J Q B 83=(1899) 1 Q B 77 the prisoner was indicted for obtaining eggs by false pretences and it was proved that he had falsely represented by advertisement in newspapers that he was carrying on a bona fide Dairyman's business Evidence was admitted that subsequent to the transaction in question he had obtained eggs from other persons by means of similar advertisements and the Court for the consideration of Crown case Reserved held that such evidence had been properly admitted In delivering the judgment of the Court, Lord Russel L C observed "It seems to me quite clear that if the transactions with Elston and Chambers had taken place before that with Boys and at a period not too remote the evidence of Elston and Chambers would have been admissible against the prisoner Is that evidence admissible although the transactions were subsequent to the offence charged? That depends as it seems to me on the question whether or not the case put forward for the prosecution was that the prisoner was not carrying on a real business but that the business in which he was engaged was from first to last a bogus or show business If the prosecution merely alleged isolated transactions of a fraudulent character against the prisoner with no connection between them I should certainly say that evidence of transactions which took place after the offence charged was not admissible more especially if such transactions took place two months after the offence But here as I have said, the charge to be made out was that of carrying on a bogus business and on the whole, I think the evidence was admissible on the ground that it showed part of a scheme to defraud persons by

In the same case H can only be shown do not see how in any other way If the t en prior to the offence charged lear that they would have be , if they were immediately after the act complained of If they formed part of the same system of fraud I think it can make no difference The only difficulty in the case is, I think, the long interval of time that elapsed between the act charged and the other acts Very often the only nexus between such transactions is their proximity in point of time That however, is not the case here, and had there been no other connecting link, I should certainly have thought that the transaction two months after was at any rate too remote But when it appears that the in and that it the charge was the evidence becomes admissible

So to come under this section it must be established that the act forms ... of the ... the ... ance some common ... nces had its own ... nces Per Mookerjee ... So "whether they were evidence or not depends upon whether they were evidence of similar transactions" Per Reading C J in Rex v Baird, 84 L J K B 1785 To admit evidence under this head, however, the other acts tendered must be of the same specific kind as that in question and not of a different ... proximate in point of time ... C W N 676 at p 692; see ... v Rhodes, (1899) 1 B 77 Section 15 of the Evidence Act covers both previous and subsequent similar occurrences Raghunath v Emperor, 22 C W N 494=46 Ind Cas 696=19 Cr. L J 776

In a case of cheating, it is open to the prosecution to show that the acts charged against the accused were parts of a series of similar acts committed by him or in which he was concerned, at or about the time in question Girdhari v Emperor, 26 P W R 1910 Cr; see also Emperor v Debendra 36 C 573=13 C W. N 973=9 C L J 610, but see Gokul v Emperor 29 C W N 483=29 Cr L J 906=86 Ind Cas 970 In the case of Blake v Albion Life Assurance Co, 4 L R C P D 97 at p 106 Lord Lindley observed "Nothing could, at first sight, seem mor... appearance of fraud; that the transaction precluded from doing ... answer to the objection that evidence of frauds on other persons cannot be admitted is that this transaction is one of a class, that there are features in common, the features in common being the false pretence and a knowledge of ... it that ... 5 L J ... cases ... in my opinion, that the case which the prosecution seeks to prove is that the prisoner has in his mind a scheme or plan, say for obtaining money by fraud, and the other acts, of which evidence is sought to be given, when proved will show the existence of the plan, and, therefore the guilty mind of prisoner"

Evidence of the commission by the accused of previous or subsequent offences—General Principle of In Makin v Att Gen of New South Wales, 75 L J K B 693, 708, 710 712=(1906) 2 K B 389, 409, 414 417, Lord Chancellor, Lord Herschell, said 'It is undoubtedly not competent for the prosecution to adduce evidence tending to show that the accused had been guilty of criminal acts other than those covered by the indictment, for the purpose of leading to the conclusion that the accused is a person likely from his criminal conduct or character to have committed the offence for which he is being tried On the other hand, the mere fact that the evidence adduced tends to show the commission of ... issue before th... whether the ac... were designed or accidental, or to rebut a defence which would be otherwise open to the accused" In Rex v Bond, 75 L J K B 693=(1906) 2 K B 389, Mr. Justice Darling and Mr Justice Bray called attention to the fact that Lord Herschell's last words quoted above must have been intended to apply only to a defence which is really in issue, and that the words of the Lord Chancellor should be read with that limitation Per Bankes J in Rex v Fallon (1913) 3 K B 168=82 L J K B 1070 In Rex v Bond, supra, Mr.

secondly, where the prosecution seeks to rebut a suggestion on the part of the prisoner of accident or mistake, and thirdly, where the prosecution seeks to prove knowledge by the prisoner of some fact In their judgments in that case it was pointed out by several of
of the Court that a single prior not be admissible as evidence of recent case of Director of Public Prosecutions v Ball, (No ...) ...
692, sub nom Rex v Ball, (1911, A C 47) the Lord Chancellor, in speaking ... Further of the grounds upon ... ter) had evidence was then ... object was previously carnally k... to establish that they had a guilty passion towards each other and that therefore the proper inference from their occupying the same bed room and the same bed was an inference of guilt, or—which is the same thing in another way—that the ... to fail' The ... dence suggests ... but the second ... admissible to

Evidence of death by poisoning The question is whether the administration of poison to A, by Z, his wife, in September 1848 was accidental or intentional The facts that B, C, and D (A's three sons) had the same poison ... March 1849, and April 1849, ... though Z ... rder D ... A ... ing the evidence Pollock C B observed I am of opinion that evidence is receivable that the death of the three sons proceeded from the same cause, namely, arsenic The tendency of such evidence is to prove, and to confirm the proof already given, that the death of the husband whether felonious or not, was occasioned by arsenic In this view of the case I think it wholly immaterial whether the deaths of the sons took place before or after the death of the husband The domestic ... receiv... four ... thing ... ring ... uling a tendency ... 394) A C in this case ... Heso 57 and has ... Crim
14 Cox 40, ... See also Sess Pap 1451, R v Klosowski, 137 Cent Crim Ct Sess Pap 4.1 ... In R v Roden, 12 Cox 630 (a trial for murder of a child by suffocation in bed) In R v Cotton, 12 Cox 400 (poisoning a child) evidence was admitted of the ... the same poison The prisoner and his mother by poison The prisoner's former ... his present wife was then their servant The ... her his second marriage and died in December ... ltural purposes, and there was evidence of administration by the prisoners of articles of food in which arsenic might be contained, ... evidence that three h... nce ... tally poison ... he was not suppos... mptoms evidently ar... to prove that the administration of the poison to the mother was wilful, evidence was ... wife, and to ... F 346, ... n which ... aracter ... Gen ... and agreed with ... nd F 1102 and that R v Winslow, could not therefore be treated as of much importance

Cr 2111 On an indictment for murder by poison of S, evidence was admitted of ... ices, and fro ... d; and it be ... t of the pr ... was also ad ... J and L by ... leesom 14 Cox 40, see also R v Flannagan, 15 Cox 403, where Brett J took a similar view 2 Russ Cr Ev 2112 In R v Armstrong (1922) 2 K B 555 = 91 L J K B 904, where the accused was charged with the murder of his wife by administering arse ... person with arsenic ... ted to rebut the def ... kept by the accuse ... 1191 = 12 Cr L. J

Causing death by other means On the trial for the murder of an infant, it was proved that the prisoners had alleged that they had received only one child to nurse before, and had give ... take the child, with whose murd ... their own for the payment of £ 3 ... other infants had been received ... upon payment of sums inadequate ... also that the bodies of several inf ... to that of the infant in question in ... occupied by the prisoners On ... vant to the issue and was rightly a ... (1894) A C 57, 2 Russ Cr 2112 Appellant was charged with the murder of B M a woman with whom he lived and with whom he had gone through a form of marriage She was found drowned in her bath Evidence was admitted that ...

defendant, by his cross-examination of prosecutor, had endeavoured to show that the gun might have gone off the first time by accident

... vi- ... ies ... he ... ies ... ns ... is ... he ... l charged the ... ig does not ... of innocent ... ground for ... representa- ... l test The ... mmon sense ... er which the ... the circum- ... are equally ... is the repeti ... he prohibi ...

been made innocently, we may assume that any given one might have been innocent, but cannot concede this when we notice the recurrence.

'When the very act of making the representations is to be proved and a system or design is to be argued from, the evidence is to be restricted by the r... ous rule applicable to that purpose, i e, there must be shown a connection of features

What is to ... where the ... is wholly ... ing on a c...

F... In Hall's case ... Ina ... bewitched by ... Sara ... her bewitching ... the ... was true, for many people had seen h... fas... the fasting was a fraud in that h... sec... was offered covering last two weeks of ... it ... the information charging him a... therefore objected to In admitting this evidence, Holt L C J said "It is an evidence of his cheating since that time and that one of the information (i e not charged) but it is an evidence also to prove that his pretended fasting before was a mere deceit for he then pretended to have fasted ten weeks before he came hither, and afterwards pretends to continue fasting in the same manner, if that be proved to be a fraud, it is strongly to be inferred that this pretended fasting was so too' In R v Roberts 1 Camp 399 the charge was criminal conspir... by representing themselves as wealthy people ... by the accused to other tradesmen was admit... Q B 77 where prisoner was indicted for obtaining eggs by fraudulently pretending by repeated advertisement that he was carrying on a substantial business, it was held that evidence was rightly admitted that persons other than the prosecutor had subsequently been deceived by similar advertisements, issued by the prisoner In admitting such evidence Lord Russell C J said 'On the whole I think the evidence was admissible on the ground that it showed part of a scheme to defraud persons by the pretence of carrying on an honest and bona fide business ... The ... were therefor... repeated by the advertisement ... L ... v Russell ... L ... been ... company acted fraudulently in obtaining a premium from A through their agent B who had represented to A that if he would insure B would procure him a loan from the company The fact that premium had previously been obtained by the same agent and by ... and benefit of the company, ... fraudulent character of ... D 94=40 L J C P 663, Tay § 340 Phip Ev 142 Upon a trial of an indictment for obtaining money by false pretences by means of worthless cheques evidence of other and similar frauds by the prisoner given in support of an indictment for a similar fraud upon another person in respect of which the prisoner was acquitted, is relevant and admissible as illustrating a course of conduct showing an intention to defraud Reg v Ollis 69 L J Q B 918=(1900) 2 Q B ... Upon a trial of a... of fraud evidence ... charged ... system of ... Rex v Wyatt, 73 L J K B 15=(1904) 1 K B 188, see also R v Walford, 71 J P 215, R v Mean, 69 J P 27 So evidence of the same kind of practice is admissible when only separated by a short interval of time as tending to negative accident or mistake, and to show system Rex v Walford, 71 J P 215 Upon the trial of an indictment charging the prisoner with having obtained goods and credit by false pretences, and also with having obtained credit by fraud other than false pretences evidence cannot be admitted that on two previous occasions the prisoner had obtained goods from other persons on credit by false pretences in as much as it does not tend to show that he is guilty of the offences charged in the indictment Rex v Fisher, 79 L J K B 187=(1910) 1 K B 149 On a trial of an indictment for endeavouring to obtain an advance from a pawn-broker upon a ring by the false pretence that it was a diamond ring evidence was admitted that two days before the transaction in question the prisoner had obtained an advance from a pawn broker upon a chain which he represented to be a gold chain, but which was not so, and had endeavoured to obtain from other paw be a diamond ring, but

Francis, 43 L J M

411=30 L J M C 11, pretences He was employed by his master to take order but not to receive moneys, and he was proved to have obtained the specific sum from B by representing that he was authorised by his master to receive it Evidence of his having, within a week afterwards, obtained another sum from another person by a similar false pretence, such obtaining not being mentioned in the indictment in any way, is not admissible for the purpose of proving the intent when he committed the acts charged in the indictment Reg v Holt, 30 L J M C 11 In R v Stinson, 12 Cox C C an order to be given of quality, for a book

orders of the same sort was received to show the intent

In R v Saunders, 1 Q B D 19, which was a case of false pretences by advertising to give work and requesting money by mail to pay for the preliminary instructions, the fact that a number of other persons have been induced afterwards by him in the same way to forward money on such advertisements was received to show intent In R v Smith, 20 Cox C C. 804, the charge was

The accused

Evidence of his

ent of M was convicted on an purchasing a ud The fraud

evidence to show his intention By the first transaction the prisoner obtained a sactions and we are of opinion that neither of those cases was of a similar character, and that the evidence of those two transactions was not admissible

Setting fire to b

Gray, 4 F & F 1102

in a note to this case

this case in R v Stan doubts its authority The fire had originated near the kitchen, where the accused stayed as servant prosecutor's shop

evidence is not without precedent and authority, moreover, ... Donellan for the murder of Sir Theodosius Broughton by administering him some poison, evidence was given that a certain tree which hung over a deep and dangerous brook near a spot where Sir Theodosius was accustomed to fish had been sawn almost in two by some unknown person. This was proved to show that some one entertained a design against the life of Sir Theodosius for he was accustomed to stand on the tree while engaged in fishing, and the natural presumption was that whoever cut the tree did so with the design of precipitating the deceased into the water. Those facts were given in evidence on the trial of Donellan for murdering Sir Theodosius afterwards and were received though quite unconnected with the prisoner, in order to show that some one entertained a design on his life and that the probability was that he had not come to a natural death. Of course the accused's doing the act complained of must be proved by other evidence direct or circumstantial. See also the observation of Telang J in R v Jagiram, 16 B 414, where he expresses the view that such evidence is admissible. Here the principle recognised is that the recurrence of a similar fire may tend decidedly to negative innocent intent even though the author of the other fires is not shown, thus the prosecution having negatived innocent intent in the present fire by whomsoever set, the accused may be shown to have kindled it. On an indictment for setting fire to a rick of straw it appeared that the rick had been set on fire by the prisoner having ... had been on ... a gun in ... It was ... rick on the previous day it ... mitting the evidence said ... of another felony that circumstance ... evidence is otherwise receivable. In many cases it is an important question whether a thing was done accidentally or wilfully. It is only by the conduct of the prisoner that ... But on ... act of the ... d ... ually ... could be ... v Regan ... turn the ... fact was admitted that on the same day articles were found on fire at four ... in different parts of the house.

Embezzlement Illustration (b) is founded on R v Richardson 2 F & F 343. On an indictment for embezzlement where the entries of sums were correct but the castings up incorrect, a series of similar errors in casting up ... both ... ferred were ... accidental ... 378, R v ... 514. In ... only with a view ... crime ... nother ... prisoner but only by way ... guilty did the act of which he was accused but innocently and without ... ed in him for the ... not with a ... t was done ... & F 79, ... n R op ... ibezzlement ... y perhaps that the entry was a mistake; but the probability of such mistakes would be greatly lessened by proof that other false entries of the same kind had been made at or about the same time by the same person "

Extortion and black-mail In R v Cooper, 3 Cox Cr 517, the prisoner was charged for feloniously accusing H C S of an assault with intent to commit an unnatural offence, with the intent to extort money Cresswell J held that evidence of declarations of the prisoner on a former occasion, on coming off guard, that he had obtained money from a gentleman by threatening to take him to the guard house, and accuse him of an unnatural crime, was admissible The evidence was not offered by way of proving simply that the prisoner had been guilty of the same crime before The question was whether on this occasion he did an act with the design of effecting a certain object One step in the proof was to shew that he would be likely to know that a certain result would follow, and if it could be proved ( result would be produced, it w contemplated it 2 Russ C argument as here applied, seemed somewhat forced, such knowledge being a matter of common understanding and not needing to be proved It is clear, however, that the intent argument is entirely applicable; i e the doing of similar acts at other times tends to negative the supposition that the demand on the occasion charged was made in good faith (for example with a genuine desire to obtain compensation for supposed injuries) This use of such evidence is generally sanctioned Vide Barnard's Trial 19 How St Tr 8?5, R v Winkworth 4 C & P 444, R v Egerton R & R 375, R v Boyle & Merchant (1914) 3 K B 339, but see R v McDonnell, 5 Cox Cr 153, Wigmore § 352, 2 Russ Cr 1168

Rape [illegible] -riety of admitting [illegible] be some limitation [illegible] There [illegible] nly purpose is to [illegible] assault on another [illegible] general desire to satisfy the test that is involved in this crime and no particular woman is essential for this Wigmore § 357 But mere liberties taken by the defendant with the [illegible] R v Lloyd 7 C & P 318 [illegible] ommit rape the evidence of [illegible] ht and having intercourse [illegible] Rodley's Case 9 Cr App
[illegible]
ten years tl which the pri
of subsequer
sible Wiles J said I shall allow all the matters to be proved in order to show the real nature of the case It has repeatedly appeared to me in cases of this sort that a man by a threat of violence deters the child from complaining and thus acquires a species of influence over her by terror, which enables him to repeat the offence on subsequent occasions, and this seems to me to give a continuity to the transaction which makes such an evidence properly admissible"

Abortion In R v Dale, where an instrument or appliance is used which might be properly employed for innocent treatment of woman Charles J ruled [illegible] ipted to cause [illegible] guilty intent [illegible] er a drug with [illegible] uments upon [illegible] s admitted on another woman three months later, to procure a miscarriage It should only facts "Such evidence should be admitted with great caution be admitted where the prisoner has suggested that the administration of the drug or the use of the instrument was legitimate or accidental on his part, and not where the defence is a denial of the act itself And proof of only one other similar case, without any special connection with the case charged in the

5. certain mysterious is at liberty to ref not have had their o
to the conclusion
evidence is not without precedent and authority, moreover, for on the trial of Donellan for the murder of Sir Theodosius Broughton by administering him some poison, evidence was given that a certain tree which hung over a deep and dangerous brook near a spot where Sir Theodosius was accustomed to fish had been sawn almost in two by show that some one entertained a for he was accustomed to stand on the natural presumption was that whoe precipating the deceased into the wate the trial of Donellan for murdering Sir Theodosius afterwards, and were received though quite unconnected with the prisoner, in order to show that some one entertained a design on his life and that the probability was that he had not come to a natural death. Of course the accused's doing the act complained of must be proved by other evidence direct or circumstantial. See also the observation of Telang J in R v Tajiram, 16 B 414, where he expresses the view that such evidence is admissible. Here the principle recognised is that the recurrence of a similar fire may tend decidedly to negative innocent intent even though the author of the other fires is not shown, thus, the prosecution having negatived innocent intent in the present fire by whomsoever set, the accused may be shown to have kindled it. On an indictment for setting fire to a rick of straw it appeared that the rick had been set on fire by the prisoner having fired a gun very near it. It was proposed to prove that the rick had been on [illegible] gun in It was on the [illegible] the felony

that circumstance does not render it inadmissible, if the evidence is otherwise [illegible]. In many cases it is an important question whether a thing was done both. So, where [illegible] of the prisoner that is a civil case in which the issue arises and the foregoing princi[illegible]. But on applicable. In almost everyone of the foregoing classes of cases there are instances of the application of the principles in civil litigation. The salient feature is the nature of the issue and the kind of evidence offered, not the penal or the civil form of the proceeding. Wigmore § 371

Copyright infringement In Copyright infringement cases the defence often is that the passage in question is taken from a common source. But the hypothesis of other sources is not available as an explanation where the same errors—either of fact or of [illegible] plaintiff's books. Accordingly the r evidencing to a high degr by B from A. Spiers v I is unsatisfactory on the question whether the defendant did use the p work [illegible] k that are contained in the [illegible] hich the ordinary and famili[illegible] used the plaintiff's [illegible]
extensive copying of other passages not otherwise shown to have been copied. This argument is always open, and its use has constantly been sanctioned, there can merely be a question of its weight in a given instance. Longman v Winchester, 16 Ves Jr 269, Lauman v Tegg, 2 Russ 385, Lewis v Fullarton, 2 Beav 6, Wigmore § 373

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES

Illustrative cases—Admissible evidence Accused were prosecuted for misappropriation by defalcation of accounts made in 1925 and 1926, evidence was adduced by the prosecution of similar acts done by the accused before 192[illegible]. Held that the evidence was admissible under section 15 to rebut the probable pl[illegible]

Naka reported this matter to the municipality The accused was charged under s 77 (2) of the Bombay District Municipal Act for introducing the said goods within the Octroi limits without paying dues Held that the evidence that the accused had been connected with similar cases as the one under charge was admissible to show his knowledge and intention Emperor v Hayinam Tahi A I R 1926 Bom 231-50 B 171-28 Bom L R 115 The accused on the 7th June 1909 administered dhatura poison to A and B both of whom died from the effects thereof and on the following day administered the same poison to C and D The former got ill and recovered but the latter died Held that the events which occurred or were said to have occurred on the 7th and 8th of June were relevant to the case of charge of murder of D as forming incidents in series of similar transactions occurring about the same time and tending to show system and intention and to negative the idea of accident Lala v Emperor 9 Ind Cas 731=32 P L R 1911 see also Kasiram v Emperor 73 Ind Cas 262= 6 N L J 141 Where in a trial upon a charge under section 399 of the Penal Code the accused pleaded that their presence at a particular spot, armed and in compa plea, a
which which in themselves that one or more me off

the accused were parts of a series of similar acts committed by him or in which he was concerned at or about the time in question Evidence of such other acts whether previous or subsequent to the frauds charged against the accused is relevant for the purpose of showing whether or not the intention of the accused was honest or fraudulent Evidence merely to prove that the accused person's character is such that he is likely to commit the act with which he is charged is not admissible Girdhari v Emperor 26 P W R 1910 Cr -6 Ind Cas 964 In a charge against the accused of cheating by falsely representing that he was the Dewan of an estate and could procure employment for the complainant and thereby obtaining a dishonest

9 C L J
C 402

Illustrative Cases—Inadmissible evidence Where the accused was charged under s 409 Penal Code for embezzling three specific sums Held that evidence of collateral offences in respect of other sums was not admissible Pritchard v Emperor, A I R 1928 Lah 382 substance and in fact by proving its truth not the truth of other acts and occasions having nothing to do with the act in question, unless it is intended to show conduc 130 previo

but had falsely charged and got convicted some other persons as murderers Gangaram v Imperator, 62 Ind Cas 54 = 22 Bom L R 1274 = 22 Cr L J 529 Two persons A and B were tried on 21st July 1919 for the offence of murdering D a woman of the town, on the 10th December 1914 of conspiring to rob her, of theft of property from her house and for abetment of murder and theft At the trial the prosecution wanted to adduce evidence (1) of the association of the two accused, (2) of their association in cases spoken of by other women of the town in connection with the charges of theft which they made against them and generally of a series of incidents from 1914 to 1918 that they used to go about together under different names A taking B with him as his durwan and introducing himself as a Babu to rich prostitutes of the town and this being followed by their subsequent disappearance and discovery of loss of money and ornaments Held that the evidence was not admissible Emperor v Panchu Das, 24 C W N 501 (F B) In a case under s 420 of the I P Code the question of the guilt or innocence of the accused depends upon proof of actual facts and not upon the state of the accused's mind Therefore evidence as to any previous act of fraud (committed by the accused) is not admissible under any provision of the law Gokul v Emperor 29 C W N 483 = 26 Cr L J 906 = 86 Ind Cas 970 (But see Emperor v Debendra 36 C 573 = 13 C W N 923 = 9 C L J 610, and other English cases) In a trial of an accused person for giving false evidence in respect of an alleged forged document "to judge of the intention and knowledge of the scribe and attesting witness by the opinion of other Judges on other documents written and attested by these persons in suits and proceedings to which they were not parties is a use of section 15 of the Evidence Act which was never intended by the Legislature Gunumut v Emperor, 38 Ind Cas 723 = 13 N L R 35

16 When there is a question whether a particular act was done, the existence of any course of business, according to which it naturally would have been done, is a relevant fact.

Existence of course of business when relevant

Illustrations

(a) The question is, whether a particular letter was despatched

The facts that it was the ordinary course of business for all letters put in a certain place to be carried to the post, and that that particular letter was put in that place are relevant

(b) The question is, whether a particular letter reached A The facts that it was posted in due course, and was not returned through the Dead Letter Office, are relevant

Principle Of the probative value of a person's habit or custom as showing the doing on a specific occasion of the act which is the subject of the habit or custom, there can be no doubt Every day's experience and reasoning make it clear enough Wigmore § 92 Customs may, like any other facts or circumstances, be shown where their existence will increase or diminish the probabilities of an act having been done or not done, which act is the subject of contest Per Flanlam J in Walker v Barron 6 Minn 508, 518, (Am) In another American case Sargent C J said, 'It would seem to be axiomatic that a man is likely to do or not to do a thing or to do it or not to do it, in a particular way, according as he is in the habit of doing or not doing it' State v Rail Road, 52 N H 528, 532 In Mathias v O Neal, 94 Mo 527 = 6 S. W. 25, (Am) evidence of a book keeper's custom of handing over collateral notes, to the teller, as indicating that it was done in this instance was admitted The reason of such admission is thus given by Sherwood J It is really immaterial, under the authorities cited, whether he was able to do more than to verify his entries and prove his invariable custom These things being proven the pre[illegible] therefrom that the usual course of business [illegible] instance Every one is presumed to govern [illegible] and consequently that he acquits himself of h[illegible] ev[illegible] it is established that one act is usual [illegible] of another, the latter being proved, the former will be presumed, for this is in accord with the experience of common life It is simply the process of ascertaining one fact deference of ne notion of

rregularity of action, there can be no doubt that this fixed sequence of acts tends to show the occurrence of a given instance But in the ordinary affairs of life a habit or circumstances of each case Wigmore § 92

Scope of the section In commercial transactions the presumption is that the usual course of business was followed by the parties thereto Henry v Bensita, 37 Fla 609 "Where the maxim of omnia praesumuntur rite et solemniter esse acta (all acts are presumed to have been done rightly and regularly)

a taken place on Tuesday

sday, is strong evidence

C & B 973 So to prove any general course of business or office, whether have been done there b

will be followed in a partic public offices, e g the Post Office Phip Ev 102 There is no presumption that is based on this case of a particular letter In

"You

must go further Som

from the table in the countin led the poster, and he had said ques-

Loan Assn, 47 Pac Rep 13 (Wash) it was said "The evidence that a letter left at the Tremont House and addressed to B actually reached him is of the same by post, it is prima facie proof, until the contrary be proved that the party to whom it is addressed received it in due course See also Saundersons v Judge, 2 H Bl 509, Woodcock ... Shipley v Todhunter, 7 C & P 680 (686), Ab ... Lowen, 1 Camp 175, Plumer's case, R & ... L Cas 351, Household Fire v Grant, 48 L J ... J K B 177, Huston v Levering, 6 Wheat 102 that it was delivered to a cler letter, took all letters deliv

Camp 193, Trotter v Mc Lean, 13 Ch D 571; Phip Ev. 3rd Ed 97, Skilbeck v Garbett, 7 Q B 846, Ward v. Londesborough, 12 C B 252; Percy Super Ch v Whyte, 106 L T Jo 308 But without any proof that it was properly addressed, stamped and posted, there is no presumption of its receipt Best v German Ins Co 68 Mo (Aps) 520 (U S) So where a person refuses a registered letter or notice he cannot afterwards plead ignorance of its content Lutf Ali v Pran Mohan, 16 W R 223, Jogendra v Dwarka Nath, 15 C 681 Girish Chandra v Keshore Mohan 23 C W N 319; Louis Dreyfus v Hunan Das, 50 Ind Cas 191

A telegram properly addressed is delivered to a telegraph company The presumption is that it was received by the addressee Oregan Steam Co v Ott 100 N Y 446, Gerding v Harlem 21 N Y S 630 To prove that a certain indorsement had been made on a (lost) licence entered at the custom house it is relevant to show that the course of the office was, not to permit the entry without such licence Butler v Allnut, 1 Stark 222, Pupson 3rd Ed 97, Taylor § 183 A; Van Omeron v Dowick, 3 Camp 44, Waddington v Roberts L R 3 B 579

In an action against the acceptor of several bills of exchange which were made in November, 1850, and became due on February 5th and March 12 1851 the defence is that they were accepted by the defendant while an infant It is proved that the defendant came of age on March 11th, 1851 The presumption is that all the bills were accepted before he attained his majority Roberts v Bethel, 12 C B 779 The reason of this presumption is thus expressed by Jervis C J 'There is nothing on the face of the bill to show when it was accepted Why then is it that this evidence is sufficient? It is because it must be presumed that the bill has been accepted during its currency, and consequently before the commencement of the action, because it is the usual course of business to present bills for acceptance before the time for the payment of them has run out and within a usual time after the drawing of them I decide this case upon this broad ground, that we are to presume, unless the contrary is shown that a bill of exchange has been accepted not on the day of its date, but within a reasonable time afterwards It is not to be presumed that the acceptance took place after the maturity of the bill That view disposes of the case as to all these bills—as to five of them because they became due before the defendant attained the age of twenty one as to the sixth, because a reasonable time for its acceptance had elapsed before the defendant's majority "And Maule J added "Although it is not usual to accept a bill on the day on which it is drawn, it is usual to do so at some early opportunity after that day Therefore, where the drawer and acceptor are both living in the same town the presumption is that the bill is accepted shortly—within a few days—after it is drawn, it being manifestly the interest of the drawer to have a negotiable instrument made perfect as early as conveniently may be The date of the bill, therefore though not evidence of the very date of the acceptance is reasonably evidence of the acceptance having taken place within a short time after that day regard being had to the distance the bill will have to travel from the one party to the other Upon the same principle upon which that presumption rests it may be presumed in this case that the bills were accepted before they arrived at maturity ' It is alleged in a bill for relief that a certain agreement was in writing The presumption is that it was signed Rist v Hobson, 1 Sm & Stu 553

Course of business meaning of—The expression "course of business" must mean the ordinary course of a professional avocation or mercantile transactions or trade Ningappa v Bhurmappa, 23 B 63 (66) The usage in a private house, however methodical, cannot carry the same weight as the ordinary routine of office Ibid

Regularity in Public Office It has already been stated that the fixed method and systematic operation of the Government postal service have long been conceded to be evidence of the due delivery to the addressee of letters notices etc duly placed for that purpose in the custody of the authorities The only requisites to raise a presumption of due delivery are that the letters are duly stamped addressed and posted Walter v Haynes, Ry & M. 149, Skilbeck v Garbett, 7 Q B 846, Percy Super Club v Whyte, 106 L T Jo 308 This presumption is so universally conceded that the strength of the evidence of this kind has been even raised to a presumption (vide illustration (f) to section 114, Mahapatlo's Case, 10 L J Ch 39) Of course it is always open to show circumstances which would rebut that pre a requirement nt, has given ri he strength of this presumption is so great that provisions have been made in certain Statutes for the serv ... Indian which expor ouch, 2 Camp 44 Taylor § 180 An envelope produced bears the post mark and date of a certain off letter was mailed and sent at this time 15 Conn 206 (Am), see also Fletche Collin 7 M & W 515, R v Johnson, 7 Sangels v Thompson 2 Camp 623 R v Plumer R & R 264, Butler v Mountgarrel, 6 Ir L R N S 77 Taylor, § 179

Course of business in private firms The habit of a private house doing systematically a similar service being equally relevant the principle has been applied to an exp s transmission of telegra g v Scott 112 Cal 369(plication of the se of business to of a notice or usiness followed urther evidence whereas in the case of private business the system alleged to have been followed must be proved like all other facts The course of business of an individual firm may under the circumstances not appear sufficiently fixed to be of that probative a) was placing posting 61, the house to send circulars on every change in the firm was admitted In the course of his judgment Lord Wenger said That does not show that a particular person received a circular except upon the presumption that a jury may make upon the general habit In Woodcock v Houldsworth, 16 M & W 124 Parke B said He has certainty or 1 H L C Babcock 3 accustomed to ... case of injury at a high evidence was admitted highway Hall v Bro preceding month was admitted to show a specific sale In admitting such evidence the Court observed Where there is a question whether a particular act was done, the existence of any course of business according to which it ... Shaw, 28 H N 73 a receipt for rice was was admitted Isher

In Lucas v Novosilieski 1 offered ...

workmen Birch 3 Camp 10 which was ed over to his employer over the receipts daily was have been consigned to

S In Vaughan v R Co 63 N C 11 (1m) where the question wa whether goods have been received by a railway company evidence of its customer to weigh and mark goods was received in showing that they would have been found marked In Hine v Promeroy 21 Vict 211, 214 (1m) the question was whether an attorney had directed a process server to take N and M as receiptor Evidence of h uniform course of business to give no instructions as to receiptors was admitted as corroborative In Howard v Sherwood, L R C P 148, the question was whether the defendant s servant who had warranted a horse sold to the plaintiff had authority to do so To how probable non-existence of such authority, evidence was offered of a usage among horse dealers not to warrant under the circumstances

Refusal of a registered letter The use of a post mark in evidence involve at least three distinct principles In the first place, the question arises, may it be inferred from the presence of what purports to be the official mark that the mark was genuinely affixed by an officer of the Post Office concerned? This is a question of authentication and may be answered in the affirmative, though there had been some fluctuation of judicial opinion on the subject. In the second place the question arises whether if the post mark be taken as genuine it is evidence that the cover bearing it was stamped on the date the impression bears The answer is in the affirmative In the third place, the post mark is evidence that the place or office mentioned therein was actually the place where it was affixed The mere fact of a notice bearing a certain date is no proof that it must have been posted on the same date An article posted and delivered may be inferred to have been delivered in due course of post Gobinda v Dwarka 20 C L J 455 = 19 C W N 489

Telegrams—Times of delivery The documents kept by the Post Office showing the terms of receipt and delivery of telegrams are not admissible in evidence as public records in as much as they are kept only a short time are not accessible to the public are not the result of public enquiry and do not deal with a general public right but are merely kept for the purpose of regulating the pay and the work of the post office servants Heyne v Fischel, 110 L T 264 = 30 T L R 190

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES

Admissible evidence—Illustrative cases A notice was sent by the plaintiff firm to the defendant firm by registered letter which was posted to the correct address of the latter, but was returned with the word "refused" endorsed upon it by the Post Office Held that under section 16 of the Evidence Act the presumption was that the letter had reached the Kothi of the defendant firm Louis Dreyfus & Co v Chimand 50 Ind Cas 195 = 2 S L R 142 see also Jogendra v Dwarka Nath 15 C 681 Balram v Bai Pannabai 11 Ind Cas 351 = 13 Bom L R 378 The question is whether a letter was sent on a given day The post mark upon it is deemed to be a relevant fact. R v Canning 19 St 370 Gobinda v Dwarka, 20 C L J 455 = 15 C W N 489 = 26 Ind Cas 967 In a suit by one banking firm against another firm for the recovery of the balance of an account between them it was held with reference to the keeping of the firm s account books and their periodical transaction to the principals that it was reasonable to presume that that which was the ordinary course was pursued in that case Dwarka v Baboo 6 M I A 88 (90)

Inadmissible evidence—Illustrative cases An endorsement on the cover of a registered letter that the cover had been tendered to the addressee on a certain day and had been refused by him, is at best a record of the statement by the peon and would be admissible either under section 32(2) or section 33 of the Indian Evidence Act, if the requirements of those sections are fulfilled If it be not admissible under sections 32(2) or section 13, in th c the events recited therein by the peon must be proved by calling him a Govinda v Dwarka 26 Ind Cas 962 = 20 C L J 455 = 19 C W To prove the posting of a letter written by A to B —evidence by on ks that he habitually copied all letters written by A then return seal, and that afterwards, when A gave back, the witness or anot them, held in the absence of ev d to show that A had retur letter to the clerk this is no ting Toosey v Wills Tr 97 So also wh erk, proved that the letter

the S. ands
an is ceive it (Re London etc e also Ram Dass v Official posted to H at Bristol,
" is insufficient Walter v.
Haynes, Ry & M 149

ADMISSIONS.

17. An admission is a statement, oral or documentary, which suggests any inference as to any fact in issue or relevant fact, and which is made by any of the persons, and under the circumstances, hereinafter mentioned.

Admission defined

Admissions, meaning of An admission is defined by Stephen to be "a statement, oral or written suggesting an inference as to any fact in issue or relevant or deemed to be relevant to any such fact, made by or on behalf of any party to any proceeding" Ste. D. E. Art 15 "An admission" says relevant fact made by a party to an action, or by a person deemed to be entitled to make such statement on his behalf An admission is a relevant fact as against such party" Solicitors' Journal Vol XX p 894 The definition given in the section eliminates the implied statement as to the existence of a probative or res gestae fact arising from the acts of a party, "admission by conduct" so called In English law the term admission, means any statement made out of the witness box by a party to the proceedings, whether civil or criminal, or by some person whose statements are binding on the party against his own interest. Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 149 "In our law" says Mr Taylor "the term admission is usually cases, restrict by an other t

the ad
the fac
admission been tendered in evidence to establish the charge or any misapplication of the money by the noble defendant, it would clearly have been rejected The law was thus stated by Lord Chancellor Erskine "This first step in the proof" (namely, the r in now on trial may be affected it by the pay-master would in itself convict him of a crime" Lord

, Taylor § 721 citing verbatim from

by itself
not,
ent,
made by an accused person is an admission only, or amounts to a confession, a reference must always be made to the terms of the statement. Every statement, oral or documentary which suggests any inference as to any fact in issue or relevant fact, made by an accused person is an admission under ss 17 and of the Evidence Act, which is provable against the person making it, unl

6 In Vaughan v R Co 63 N C 11 (fm) where the question was whether goods have been received by a railway company evidence of its customer to weigh and mark goods was received as showing that they would have been found marked In Hone v Promeroy, 24 Vict 211, 214 (fm) the question was whether an attorney had directed a process server to take N and M as receiptors Evidence of his uniform course of business to give no instructions as to receiptors was a limited as corroborative In Howard v Sherwood, L R C P 148, the question was whether the defendant's servant who had warranted a horse sold to the plaintiff had authority to do so To show probable non existence of such authority evidence was offered of a usage among horse dealers not to warrant under the circumstances

Refusal of a registered letter The use of a post mark in evidence involves at least three distinct principles In the first place, the question arises, may it be inferred from the presence of what purports to be the official mark that the mark was genuinely affixed by an officer of the Post Office concerned? This is a question of authentication and may be answered in the affirmative, though there had been some fluctuation of judicial opinion on the subject In the second place the question arises whether if the post mark be taken as genuine, it is evidence that the cover bearing it was stamped on the date the impression bears The answer is in the affirmative In the third place, the post mark is evidence that the place or office mentioned therein was actually the place where it was affixed The mere fact of a notice bearing a certain date is no proof that it must have been posted on the same date An article posted and delivered may be inferred to have been delivered in due course of post Gobinda v Dwarka 20 C L J 455=19 C W N 489

Telegrams—Times of delivery The documents kept by the Post Office showing the terms of receipt and delivery of telegrams are not admissible in evidence as public records in as much as they are kept only a short time are not accessible to the public, are not the result of public enquiry and do not deal with a general public right but are merely kept for the purpose of regulating the pay and the work of the post office servants Heyne v Fichel, 110 L T 264=30 T L R 190

ILLUSTRATIVE CASES

Admissible evidence—Illustrative cases A notice was sent by the plaintiff firm to the defendant firm by registered letter which was posted to the correct address of the latter but was returned with the word 'refused' endorsed upon it by the Post Office Held that under section 16 of the Evidence Act the presumption was that the letter had reached the Kothi of the defendant firm Louis Dreyfus & Co v Chimandas 50 Ind Cas 195=2 S L R 147, see also Jogendra v Dwarka Nath 15 C 681, Balaram v Bali Pannabai, 11 Ind Cas 351=13 Bom L R 328 The question is whether a letter was sent on a given day The post mark upon it is deemed to be a relevant fact R v Canning 19 St 370 Gobinda v Dwarka, 20 C L J 455=15 C W N. 489=26 Ind Cas 962 In a suit by one banking firm against another firm for the recovery of the balance of an account between them it was held with reference to the keeping of the firm's account books and their periodical transaction to the principals that it was reasonable to presume that that which was the ordinary course was pursued in that case Dwarka v Baboo 6 M I A 88 (90)

Inadmissible evidence—Illustrative cases An endorsement on the cover of a registered letter that the cover had been tendered to the addressee on a certain day and had been refused by him is at best a record of the statement by the peon and would be admissible either under section 32(2) or section 33 of the Indian Evidence Act, if the requirements of those sections are fulfilled If it be not admissible under sections 32(2) or section 33, in that case the events recited therein by the peon must be proved by calling him as a witness Govinda v Dwarka 26 Ind Cas 962=20 C L J 455=19 C W N 489 To prove the posting of a letter written by A to B —evidence by one of A's clerks that he habitually copied all letters written by A then returned them to A to seal and that afterwards, when A gave back, the witness or another clerk posted them held in the absence of evidence to show that A had returned that particular letter to the clerk this is no proof of posting Toosey v Williams, M & M 129, Phip Ev 97 So also where A's clerk, proved that the letter had with several others that the plaintiff ha l said to the defendant "You always promised to marry one, and you don t keep your word' held that this was "material evidence

Stein (1877) 2 C P D 265 (270), I

Admissions are statements, i e assertions in words and it is their inconsistency with the party's other assertions that discredits the latter Hence conduct cannot has been suggested that an an infirmative fact diminish present evidence, should he take the stand as a witness and to his position in the case if he does not So far as the suggestion emphasizes the truth that there is, in principle, no distinction between statements of a party and the other facts introduced by him to the tribunal, it seems sound and helpful An admission however presents no necessary implication of inconsistency or other injury to the cause of the declarant Undoubtedly former statements are frequently used to show inconsistency between the declarant s present position and one which he occupied at an earlier time Such statements are not strictly speaking admissions A former admission may be used to prove the truth of the fact stated Such a statement may be used as a mere verbal act to show inconsistency But such is not the only use which may be made of it It may be used as true or as contradictory Either party, in proving his own case may, instead of introducing evidence to a certain effect show that his adversary has unequivocally

Chamberlayne's Ev § 1286 (N)

There are two kinds of admissions according is first formal admission, which may be and may be made by a party in his pleading, by stipulation or by statement in open Court Secondly there is a statement of a fact at some previous time inconsistent with a fact to be established at the time of trial a statement which, when of evidence direct or circumstantial, an inference or inferences as to the trut

§ 64 As to the formal admissions little need be said They simply fix the relation between the parties as to the facts They help to define the issues concerning which evidence is to be heard but they are not in themselves evidence As to the second kind of admissions, those which may be called evidential lusiveness, that tantial evidence, case they are likely in themselves to carry conviction McKelvey's Ev § 65

Direct Admissions Direct and express admissions are practically the same They are direct statements of main facts in issue As regards this kind of admissions there is nothing to be said, except that to be available, the statements which constitute the admissions must be proved in the ordinary way The form in which the admission is made is immaterial so that it amounts to a statement of fact, and is not a statement of opinion or promise Driscol v City of Taunton, 160 Mass 486 (Am) The proof of a direct admission is usually by the introduction of testimony, oral or written, as to the language constituting the admission The statement constituting the admission may be oral or written Its form is immaterial So, also, are the place and circumstances attending its making It may have been heard by witness over a tel phone Wolfe v Railway Co 97 Mo 473=10 Am St Rept 331 (Am)

7 t a lmissions are in the natur of c reum indirect admission may be found in the image From o the damage lustration just to cover h s tle caused the ission some und in a ca e killed them offered evidence that X any more sheep

the direct admission is the statement which by omission becomes evidence of some fact When we go still further from the direct admis on, we finally reach the field of a lmissions by conduct, or in what are frequently spoken of as implied a lmissions, and which are simply c reumst intial evi lence According to Bo t 'implie l admissions are those which result from some act or failure to act of the party Bouvier s Law Dict They may also arise from ac quiescence An implied admission is prove l by intro lucing testimony as to such con luct as shows as acknowledgment of the truth of the fact in question There are various cases of implie l admissions strictly speaking In most instances when actions or conduct are introduced as bearing upon the truth of a fact it is as circum stantial proof of the fact itself and not as proof of an admission The term 'implie l admission is often really the element of admission is frequen A lmis- sions by conduct are not inclu le a lm s sion is a statement oral or documentary An admission by con luct has been dealt with in section 8 Such admi sions are admissible not as an except on to the Hearsay rule They are usually original circumstantial evidence of the fact to which they relate Best Ev I 58 citing West Chester v McElure, 67 Pa St 311 (Am) Presumpti has been seen in th nature of admission actions and repres evidence of fact"
which treats as admissions by a party, statements made in his presence and denied by him provided the circumstances were such as to make a denial necessary Ibid

es admiss ons may one made on the r is offered in evide Court for the purp in the course of judicial proceedings in a case of record or in connection with judic classed as extra judicial Chamberlayne s Ev § 1233 party says rue may be

I 664 see
e says Mr consists of nfess on or admits to be taken hose who ons n y ordinary n oath is administered to a witness in order to impose an additional obligation on his conscience and so to add weight to his testimony, and he is cross examined to ascerte ... ans of knowl lge as well as l s intention to speak the truth S.

But w ... onfesses a crime, there is little occasic ... human conduct are sufficient warrants ... are generall declaration
nothing in made against the person s interest The simple and broad rule for receiving them is, in the language of Chief Baron Pollock that if a party has chosen to talk about a particular matter his statement is evidence against himself (Darby v Ouseley 1 H & N I) and the theory of their use seems to be that they are to a party what prior inconsistent statements are to a witness viz, a means of discrediting ... other times made a smaller or ... the stand that he saw the plaintiff ... r statement of his that he saw fift ...

hat
so
th ... ply
to get a prior statement of the party against the statement now advanced by him in his pleadings or through his witnesses, and thus discredit the present claim by its inconsistency with the former one Greenl Ev § 169, see also Phip Ev p 221

' Mr Gulson while allowing that admissions are evidence of the truth of the fact admitted, considers them not to be exceptions to the Hearsay rule, because the inference of truth involved is independant of the personal credibility of the declarant, but regards them rather as relevant facts, evidentiary of the facts

I v 221

' But even from this point of view, they have two kinds of probative value
"(a) One is the ordinary value o ... value depending on his capacity to bias or interest or lack of it, and so on satisfied, but that is a rule of law

... probative value as those of any

... hey have additionally the same
Just as a witness testimony is discredited when it appears that on another occasion he has made a statement inconsistent with that testimony so also the party opponent is discredited when it appears that on some other occasion he has made a statement inconsistent with his present claim against him The witness speaks in Court through his ...

his part includes the whole testimony relied on by him T party opponent may be used against him as an admission, provided it exhibits

Indirect Admissions Indirect admissions are in the nature of circumstantial evidence An illustration of indirect admission may be found in the following A sues X for damage done by X's cattle on A's crop and for the purpose of showing an admission on the part of X that his cattle had caused the damage A offers the testimony of a witness to the effect that X had told witness that he had offered A a certain amount of money to cover the damage From damages although not equivalent to a direct admission that the cattle caused damage, is nevertheless very nearly so An illustration of an admission somewhat further removed in character from a direct admission is found in a case where A sued X for the loss of his sheep charging that X's dog had killed them and as a proof of the fact of the evidence that X had killed his any more sheep Anderson v H

the direct admission is the statement which by omission becomes evidence of some fact When we go still further from the direct admission, we finally reach the field of admissions by conduct, or in what are frequently spoken of as implied admissions, and which are simply circumstantial evidence According to Bouvier "implied admissions are those which result from some act, or failure to act of the party Bouvier's Law Dict They may also arise from acquiescence An implied admission is proved by introducing testimony as to such conduct as shows an acknowledgment of the truth of the fact in question There are various cases of implied admissions strictly speaking In most instances when actions or conduct are introduced as bearing upon the truth of a fact, it is as circumstantial proof of the fact itself, and not as proof of an admission The term "implied admission is often ... really the element of admission is frequen... Admissions by conduct are not include... sion is a statement oral or docu... has been dealt with in section 8 Such admi... Hearsay rule They are usually... which they relate Best Ev 158 ci...

which treats as admissions by a party, statements made in his presence and not denied by him, provided the circumstances were such as to make a denial necessary Ibid

may ... admissions the r... made on evidence An extra judicial adm... offered in purposes of the case on trial in ... for the course of judicial proceedings in a c... the of record or in connection with ... ugh classed as extra judicial Chamberlayne's Ev § 1255

Principle on which admissions are received "Whatever a party says is evidence against himself what a party himself admits to be true may be presumed to be so' Per Parke B in Slatterie v Pooley, 6 M & W 664, see also R v Turner, (1910) 1 K B 346 'Another class of evidence says Mr ... consists of ... admits to ... be taken administered to a witness in order to impose an additional obli... conscience, and so to add weight to his testimony, and he is cross examined to

...bative value, but not being ...ility explains the proposi- ... equivalent to affirmative ... pt to stress this distinction ... sis of any instruction on

... statements of ... been stated that ... on principle not ... tements used as admissions do happen to state facts against interest, admissions are generally treated as obnoxious to the Hearsay rule, and are only allowed as exceptions to it (Vide Taylor Ev § 723) In such cases, as the statements are against the interest of the persons making it, their trustworthiness is supposed to be guaranteed That this is a mere local error of theory and in no sense represents a rule anywhere obtaining may

... been enforced for the use of a party's admissions (Vide Woolway v Rowe, 1 A & E. ... ion of that ... e they are ... which is not ... it satisfies

... must contravene, to the knowledge ... interest In case of an admission, ... obative weight, it would not, however, be essential to admissibility To secure that, it is sufficient that the statement should be the voluntary act of the party and cover a probative or res gestae fact. (c) The declaration against interest is secondary ... the declarant is shown to be dead, absent from ... some other sufficient cause. The admission, o... and is competent though the declarant be prese... (d) An admission may be made at any time The declaration against interests is incompetent if made post litem motam. (e) The admissibility of a declaration against interest is governed by the rules of sound reason That of admission is determined largely by procedure. Chamberlayne's Ev. § 1235.

Admissions whether subject to rules of testimonial qualifications such as personal knowledge, infancy, Opinion Rule etc.—"A primary use and ... claim by ... l whether ... stimony of ... that gives ... a party's ... v although ... r 277; R. ... r. Taylor

"whether oral or in writing, contain matters stated as mere hearsay, it may be questionable whether such matters can be received in evidence. If rendered against the party making the statement, they are clearly entitled to very little weight, and unless connected with a further admission, that he believes them to be true, they would seem, like hearsay declarations against interest, to be inadmissible Lord Trimblestown v. Kemmis 9 Cl & F. in 780, 784" Taylor § 737 Mr. Justice Chamber, in the case of an answer in Chancery, read against the party in a subsequent suit at law, thought that portion of it not admissible for' he added, 'it appears to me, that where one party reads a part of the answer of the other party in evidence, he makes the whole admissible only so far as to waive any objection to the competency of the testimony of the party making the answer, and that he does not thereby admit as evidence all the facts which may happen to have been stated by way of hearsay only in the course of the answer to a bill filed for a discovery But where the answer is offered as the admission of the party against whom it is read, it seems reasonable that the whole admission should be read to the jury, for the purpose of showing under what impressions that admission was made though some parts of it be only stated from the hearsay and belief Greenl, Ev § 203, Taylor Ev § 737 But Stephens J in Kitchen v Robbins, 29 Ga 713 766 (Am) expressed contrary view where he said 'Are no admissions good against a party unless founded on his personal knowledge? The admissions would not be made except on evidence which satisfies the party who is making them against his own interest that they are true, and that is evidence to the ... do not come in on the ground that the party making ... wledge but upon the ground that a party ... ll unless they are true The fact that he makes them against his ... reasonably explained only on the supposition that he is constrained to do so by the force of evidence The source from which a knowledge of fact is derived, is a circumstance for the jury to consider in estimating the value of the evidence but that is all" See also Wigmore § 1053, Bishop of Meath v Marquis of Winchester, 3 Bing N C 183 (203) Bulley v Bulley L R Ch App 739 (747) But such considerations do not apply when a party wants to use testimonially his own admission in his own favour under clauses 1 to 3 of section 21 In such cases personal knowledge seems to be necessary In R v Walker 1 Cox 97 where the question was whether, A was an infant at the time of making a certain contract, an admission by A that R was so was received against him although founded on hearsay See P v Symonds 4 Cox 277 Re Peston 53 L T 706 As to statements by an agent containing hearsay or opinions vide The Actaeon 1 Speaks E & A 780, The Solway 10 P D 137 cited in Phip Ev 196 216

On the same principle the admission of an infant party would be receivable O Neill v Read 7 Ir L R 434 See also Dharamaji Vaman v Gurrar Shrinivas 10 B H C R 311 Theoretically, the admissions of a lunatic party would stand upon the same footing, although the weight to be given them might be nil Wigmore § 1053 The opinion rule also does not limit the use of a party's admission Doe v Stell, 3 Camp 115 But a bare statement that a party is informed without addition of his belief in the information will not amount to an admission Trimblestown v Kemmis 9 C & P 780, Roe v Ferrars 2 B & P 584, Phip Ev 196

... —Admission is usually applied ... cases which do not involve ... ally used in Criminal Court as ... in a criminal case may make admissions, just as a pa... ying things inconsistent with the present points of proof Admissions in the sense of inconsistencies are not peculiar to civil cases Greenl Ev 170 Admission in a civil suit that a document is genuine cannot in a forgery case be regarded as confession at all Per Rankin C J in Ambar Ali v Emperor A I R 1929 Cal 539 'A confession says Prof Wigmore "is one species of admissions namely, an admission consisting of a direct assertion, by the accused in a criminal case, of the main fact charged against him or of some fact essential to the charge" Wigmore § 1050, Taylor Ev § 724, Steph Dig ... ements and a 'species of admissions ... 3 (259) =A I R 1927 Cal 17 ... of admissions, it has not bee... Lal 6 A 509 (539) But ... on in the Evidence Act R v ... Tagrup 7 A 646, Empress v Pandhari ... 589, Empress v Dabee Pershad 6 C ... fession is only an

7. answer in Chancery, read against the party in a subsequent suit at law, thought that portion of it not admissible 'for" he added, 'it appears to me, that where one party reads a part of the answer of the other party in evidence, he makes the whole admissible only so far as to waive any objection to the competency of the testimony of the party making the answer, and that he does not thereby admit as evidence all the facts which may happen to have been stated by way of hearsay only in the course of the answer to a bill filed for a discovery But where the answer is offered as the admission of the party against whom it is read, it seems reasonable that the whole admission should be read to the jury, for the purpose of showing under what impressions that admission was made though some, parts of it be only stated from the hearsay and belief Greenl, Ev § 203, Taylor Ev § 737 But Stephens J in Kitchen v Robbins, 29 Ga 713 766 (Am) expressed contrary view where he said 'Are no admissions good against a party unless founded on his personal knowledge? The admissions would not be r ... ence which satisfies the party who is making them against his ... evidence to the jury that they are true Ad ... them is speaking from his personal knowledge, ... will not make admissions against himself unless they are true. ... makes them against his interest can be reasonably explained only on the supposition that he is constrained to do so by the force of evidence The source from which a knowledge of fact is derived, is a circumstance for the jury to consider, in estimating the value of the e... ence but that is all' See also Wigmore § 1053, Bishop of Meath v Mar ... N C 183 (203) Bulley v Bulley L R Ch App ... not apply when a party wants to use ... under clauses 1 to 3 of section 21 In such cases person... necessary In R v Walker 1 Cox 99 where the question was whether, ... infant at the time of making a certain contract, an admission by A that R was so was received against him although founded on hearsay See R v Symonds, 4 Cox 277 Re Peston 53 L T 706 As to statements by an agent containing hearsay or opinions, vide The Actaeon 1 Speaks E & A 780, The Solway, 10 P D 137 cited in Phip Ev 196, 216

On the same principle the admission of an infant party would be receivable. O Neill v Read, 7 Ir L R 434 See also Dharamaji Vaman v Gurrar Shrinivas, 10 B H C R 311 Theoretically, the admissions of a lunatic party would stand upon the same footing, although the weight to be given them might be nil Wigmore § 1053 The opinion rule also does not limit the use of a party's admission Doe v Stell, 3 Camp 115 But a bare statement that a party is informed without addition of his belief in the information will not amount to an admission Trimblestown v Kemmis 9 C & P 780, Roe v Ferras, 2 B & P 584, Phip Ev 196

Admission and confession distinguished—Admission is usually applied to a civil transaction and to those matters in criminal cases which do not involve a criminal intent While the term confession is usually used in Criminal Court as denoting an acknowledgment of guilt The accused in a criminal case may make admissions, just as a party in a civil case, i e by saying things inconsistent with the present points of proof Admissions in the sense of inconsistencies are not peculiar to civil cases Greenl Ev 170 Admission in a civil suit that a document is genuine cannot in a forgery case be regarded as confession at all, Per Rankin C J in Ambar Ali v Emperor A I R 1929 Cal 539 "A confession", says Prof Wigmore "is one species of admissions namely, an admission consisting of a direct assertion, by the accused in a criminal case, of the main fact charged against him or of some f... essential to the charge" Wigmore § 1050, Taylor Ev § 724, Steph Dig Art ... species of 'statements' and a 'species of admissions'" ... 1 253 (259) =A I R 1927 Cal 17 The ... gory of admissions, it has not been defined in the ... R v Babu Lal, 6 A 509 (539) But there is a distinction between an admissio... nfession in the Evidence Act R v Macdonald 10 B L R App 2; Empress v Jagrup 7 A 646, Empress v Pandharinath, 6 B 34, Empress v Meher Ali, 15 C 589, Empress v Dabee Pershad, 6 C 530 Empress v Nilmadhab, 15 C 595 A confession is only an

v Ram Chunder, 2 C. 341 (350) P C; Sree Dhiram v Narain, 41 M L J 525. So also an admission in pleading cannot be dissected, and if it is made subject to a condition, it must either be accepted subject to that condition or not accepted at all Mitakhor Mulli v Mulji Harilal, 19 C W N 713=19 B 599; Sanatan Ali v Chand Bibee, 9 W R 100, Sheik Surfaraz v Sheikh Dhunno, 16 W. R. 257, Jaboonath v Burda Kant, 22 W R 220, Niamutoolah Khalum v Ilmmun Ali, 22 W R 519, Paltu Behwree v Wilson, 9 W. R 190, Baikanthanath v Chandra Mohan, 1 B L R (A C) 133; Ishan v Hiran 11 W R. 525; Tarree v Dwarka 15 W R 421, Sheikh Shurfuraz v Sheikh Dhunoo 16 W. R 257

"The chief difficulty in the application of the rule lies in determining when statements are so connected together as to form a whole within the meaning of the rule The matter does not depend on the statements being contained in one single document but on the nature and degree of connection between them; and it may be said that the rule embraces these two propositions: () When a party's admission is so qualified or explained by some other statement made by him at the same time that the latter is in fairness necessary to present the true intention and meaning of the former, then the party is entitled, if his admission is given in evidence against him to have the qualifying statement put in evidence as a part of the admission () when the admission of a party refers expressly or by implication to some antecedent statement either of himself or his opponent or of any third person then the statement so incorporated or referred to forms a part of the whole admission within the meaning of the rule" Wills Ev 2nd Ed 159 This rule will not generally justify a party in insisting that separate letters or documents, or even distinct and separate parts of entries in one entire collection of documents, as letter-books court rolls, etc, shall all be put in evidence by the party producing and reading any one of them unless they are on the face of them connected with the one alrady in evidence, and they seem to be the rule whether the documents be of a public or private nature Where any such separate entries or distinct parts are favourable to the opposite party, he must put them in evidence as part of his own case Thus, though the defendant is entitled to have the whole of a particular entry in an account book read, he cannot insist upon reading distinct entries in different parts of the book unconnected with the one read Catt v Howard, 3 Stark 6; Remmie v Hall, Mannings, N P Q Index 376; Roscœ N P 180 Where the plaintiff called for the production of the defendant's letter book, and read letter of the defendant from it, the defendant was not therefore permitted to read from it on his own behalf, other letters not referred to in the letters read by the plaintiff Starge v Buchanan, 16 Ad & E 598, Roscœ N P 180 So also the answers of a party given in the course of conversation should not be proved against him without also giving in evidence the questions which drew forth these answers Pennel v Myer 2 Moo. & Rob 95, Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 160 But this rule is not applicable where the party gives in evidence a statement made bp his opponent in the course of conversation on some previous occasion Prince v Samo, 7 A & E 634, Wills Ev 2nd Ed Distinct matters, however, though relevant to the case cannot be introduced Davies v Morgan 1 Cr & J 587

This general principle, however, raises two sorts of questions, first whether the party offering the admissions must, as a preliminary condition put in the whole, or other parts, of the conversation, document, etc, secondly, whether the party whose statement it is may afterwards, by way of explanation, put in the remainder, or other parts, or other statements It does not seem to be generally required that the party offering the admission must put in at the same time any more than that which he desire to use—whether a speech or conversation (Eaton's Trial, 23 How St Tr 1030, R v Connell 5 State Tr N S I, 196) or a writing (Cornish's Trial, 11 How St Tr 423, Sizer v Bust, 4 Dm, 426); and so far as the portion of it allowed to be given is concerned, the substance is sufficient, without precise words, whether of an oral statement or a lost writing (R v Edmonds, 1 State Tr N S 785, 820, Hardy's Trial, 24 How St Tr 681) For the party against whom the admission is offered, he may, by way of explanation, put in only so much as is necessary for his purpose i e, to qualify or explain the portion put in against him Price v Samon 7 A & E 627 Greenl Ev § 201 But the Court may believe a part and disregard the rest The rule only requires that what is in favour of the party making the admission should be favourably and liberally considered and weighed with other evidence Of

17. Abbott C J in Queen's Case, 2 B & B 287; Thomson v Austen, 2 Dowl & R 361; Fletcher v Froggatt, 2 C & P 566, Cobbet v Grey, 4 Ex R 729 So it is a well settled rule of law that the whole of a declaration or statement contains

Bholanath v Emperor 26 A L J 1331=A I R 1929 All 1 In the United States the rule is thus laid down by Mr Justice Field in Mutual Benefit Life Ins Co v Newton, 22 which a party relies is to be taken as an en with the qualifications which limit, modify

This rule, together with its reason, is thus stated by Mr Best "Where part of a document or statement is used as self harming evidence against a party, he has a right to have the whole of it laid before the jury who may then consider and attach what weight they see fit to any self serving statements it contains" Best § 520, see also Bermon v Woodbridge, 2 Doug 788, per Lord Mansfield, Smith v Blondey, Ry & M 259, Cray v Halls, cited in Ry & M 259, White v Wyer, 11 Mass 6 10, see also Sooltan v Chand Bibee, 9 W R 130, Rajah Nilmoney v Ramanugarh 7 W R 29, Sheikh Shurfuraz v Shaikh Dhunoo, 16 W R 257, Lallah Probhoo v Sheonath W R 1864 Act X 27, Ishan v Haran 11 W R 525, Bala Jwala Das v Pr ant Das, 34 C W N

Ind Cas 746 P C "Where, taking the

he party completely avoided, agent before delivering it jotted down upon it with his master's authority a note of a counter-claim which the defendant had against the plaintiffs, and the plaintiffs sought to give the account alone in evidence as an admission of the amount of their claim it was held by Lord Mansfield C J. that the whole document must be taken together, since the defendant's statement was made "all in one breath and he never admitted the account as distinct and independent from the counter-claim Randle v Blackburn 5 Taunt 245 So also if part of a letter is offered as evidence, other explanatory parts may be offered, if a party is sought to be charged or affected by a letter received in evidence, his reply thereto is admissible, and where one party uses as evidence a number of a series of the letters written by the other party, the letter may introduce the entire series Burr Jones § 294 It is a well established principle of law that if a plaintiff wishes to rest his case solely on the admission of the defendant, he must accept the admission as a whole It is not open to him to pick out some part of it as may be favourable to him and neglect the rest Syed Ismail v Hamidi Begum, 2 Pat L T 658 If a Court takes into consideration an admission in a deed to bind a party the whole of the statement therein should be consindered Admissions must be taken ugh a party cannot by admission make ight to be used as an admission against him, taken even if they operate in his favour

, 41 M L J 525=(1921) M.W N 639 An admission must be deemed to be exhaustive It must be read as it stands and it is not permissible to take one part of an admission and reject another part Bar Bahadur v Raghubir, 49 A 707=25 A L J 572=100 Ind Cas 1037=A I R. 1927 All 385 Ordinarily a Court is bound to take the whole of an admission together, but a Court is not bound to give equal weight to all portions of it, Radha v Chunder Monee, 9 W R 290, see also Govind Pershad v Chatturbhuj, 60 Ind Cas 138, Shib Nath v Annada Prasad 11 C L J 382, Konwaer Doorga nath

v Ram Chunder, 2 C 341 (350) P C, Sree Dhuram v Narain, 41 M L J 525. So also an admission in pleading cannot be dissected, and if it is made subject to a condition, it must either be accepted subject to that condition or not accepted at all Mulathoy Mulla v Mulji Haridas, 19 C W N 713=39 B 399, Sanatan Ali v Chand Bibee 9 W R 100, Sheik Surfaraz v Seikh Dhunno, 16 W R 257, Jadoonath v Bunds Kant, 22 W R 220, Niamutoolah Khalim v Hurmu Ali 22 W R 519, Paltu Behari v Watson, 9 W R 190, Baikunthanath v Chandra Mohan, 1 B L R (A C) 133, Ishan v Hiran 11 W R, 521, Tarinee v Dwarka 15 W R 421, Shaikh Shurfaraz v Shaikh Dhunoo 16 W R 257

"The chief difficulty in the application of the rule lies in determining when statements are so connected together as to form a whole within the meaning of the rule The matter does not depend on the statements being contained in one single document but on the nature and degree of connection between them, and it may be said that the rule embraces these two propositions: () When a party's admission is so qualified or explained by some other statement made by him at the same time that the latter is in fairness necessary to present the true intention and meaning of the former, then the party is entitled, if his admission is given in evidence against him to have the qualifying statement put in evidence as a part of the admission ( ) when the admission of a party refers expressly or by implication to some antecedent statement either of himself or his opponent or of any third person then the statement so incorporated or referred to forms a part of the whole admission within the meaning of the rule" Wills Ev 2nd Ed 159 This rule will not generally justify a party in insisting that separate letters or documents, or even distinct and separate parts of entries in one entire collection of documents, as letter books court rolls, etc, shall all be put in evidence by the party producing and reading any one of them unless they are on the face of them connected with the one alrady in evidence, and they seem to be the rule whether the documents be of a public or private nature Where any such separate entries or distinct parts are favourable to the opposite party, he must put them in evidence as part of his own case Thus, though the defendant is entitled to have the whole of a particular entry in an account book read, he cannot insist upon reading distinct entries in different parts of the book unconnected with the one read Catt v Howard, 3 Stark 6, Remmie v Hall, Mannings, N P Q Index 376; Roscœ N P 180 Where the plaintiff called for the production of the defendant's letter book, and read letter of the defendant from it, the defendant was not therefore permitted to read from it on his own behalf, other letters not referred to in the letters read by the plaintiff Sturge v Buchanan, 16 Ad & E 598, Roscœ N P 180 So also the answers of a party given in the course of conversation should not be proved against him without also giving in evidence the questions which drew forth these answers Pennel v Myer 2 Moo. & Rob 96, Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 160 But this rule is not applicable where the party gives in evidence a statement made bp his opponent in the course of conversation on some previous occasion Prince v Samo, 7 A & E 634, Wil's Ev 2nd Ed Distinct matters, however, though relevant to the case cannot be introduced Davies v Morgan 1 Cr & J 587

This general principle however, raises two sorts of questions, first whether the party offering the admissions must, as a preliminary condition put in the whole or other parts, of the conversation, document, etc secondly, whether the party whose statement it is may afterwards, by way of explanation, put in the remainder, or other parts, or other statements It does not seem to be generally required that the party offering the admission must put in at the same time any more than that which he desire to use—whether a speech or conversation (Eaton's Trial 23 How St Tr 1030 R v Connell 5 State Tr N S l, 196) or a writing (Cornish's Trial, 11 How St Tr 423, Sizer v Bust, 4 Dtn, 426), and so far as the portion of it allowed to be given is concerned, the substance is sufficient, without precise words whether of an oral statement or a lost writing (R v Edmonds 1 State Tr N S 785, 820, Hardy's Trial, 24 How St Tr 681) For the party against whom the admission is offered he may by way of explanation, put in only so much as is necessary for his purpose i e, to qualify or explain the portion put in against him Price v Samon 7 A & E 627 Greenl Ev § 201 But the Court may believe a part and disregard the rest The rule only requires that what is in favour of the party making the admission should be favourably and liberally considered and weighed with other evidence Of

S. 17. course, the one offering admissions of this character is not bound by the statements which are favourable to the declarant He may rebut such statements or show them to be erroneous Burr Jones Ev § 293

Probative force In treating of the probative force of admissions, it is necessary constantly to distinguish between those which are judicial and those which are extra judicial The judicial admission is pre eminently a matter of procedure, under the direct control of the adn and the force and effect of an admission of this are determined by procedural rules on the other judicial admission is determined by logic It is not assigned or established by a rule of procedure Substantive Law goes no further in this connection than to determine that the existence of statement will be received as evidence of the fact asserted in it, either in an action at law or in a suit in equity It will not, in this connection be deemed material whether the extra judicial admissions were made before or after the suit is brought. They are rated entirely at their logical value Chamberlayne's Evidence § 1236

Judicial and extra judicial contrasted in probative force Logic may have its appropriate effect in case of the judicial admission when used as probatio rather than as levamen probationis When used as proof, the more deliberate and, as it is said, solemn nature of the circumstances under which the judicial admission is made may confer upon it a probative force not characteristic of the average extra judicial admission The former having been made in solemn form, in a court of justice constituting the foundation, or a part of the procedure in causes pending, in which the rights of the parties are stated, and by which the courts are called upon to pass judgment, and upon which they must solemnly decree the rights of the parties, are for those reasons entitled to greater consideration and weight than when casually or incautiously made, at a time and place, and under circumstances not calculated or intended to affect the rights or interests of others and, perhaps unmindful of all the facts and circumstances of the case Chamberlayne's Ev § 1236

Value and weight of extra judical admissions With all verbal admissions it may be observed that they ought to Lang 3 A & E 702, Curtis v Hunt, 1 C as it does in the mere reception of ora tion and mistake; the party himself eit clearly expressed his own meaning or t It frequently happens, also, that the wit of the expressions really used, gives an effect to the statement completely at variance with what the party actually did say Greenl Ev § 200, Taylor § 861, Earle v Pickeen, 5 C & P 542 (n), Rex v Simons, 6 C & P 540, Williams v Williams, 1 Hogg Consist 304, Hope v Evans, 1 Sm & M Ch 195 "In a somewhat extended experience of jury trials, we have been compelled to the conclusion that the most unreliable of all evidence is that of the oral admissions of the party, and especially where they purport to have been made during the pendency of the action or after the parties were in a state of controversy It is not uncommon for different witnesses of the same conversation to give precisely opposite accounts of it, and in some instances it will appear that the witnesses depose to the statements of one party as coming from the other, and it is not very uncommon to find witnesses of the best intentions repeating the declarations of the party in his own favour as the fullest admissions of the utter falsity of his claim When we reflect upon the inaccuracy of many witnesses in their original comprehension of a conversation, their extreme liability to mingle subsequent facts and occurrences with the original transactions and the impossibility of recollecting the precise terms used by the party or of translating them by exact equivalents, we must conclude there is no substantial reliance upon this class of testimony The fact, too, that in the final trial of open question of fact, both haracter, in the majority of ly to distrust its reliability." Greenleaf's Evidence, 12th Ed
I A 74 (79) Oral admissions testifying to the admission is careless in his mode of testifying, that he does not accurately remember the statements, that he is willing to misconstrue them, or that the declarant was

S.

misinformed, or did not clearly express his own meaning. A fortiori, where the admission is that of one deceased, the caution should deepen into suspicion, for reasons that are obvious and without corroboration is of little value Burr Jones Ev § 295 In Kenney v Murray, 170 Mo 674 (Am), the Court said: "Evidence of such declarations, it is true, is admissible, but it never amounts to direct

be contradicted are in

Hence it is obvious :

upon the circumstances under which they were made as shown by the testimony, as well as upon the degree of accuracy and truthfulness with which they are related, Burr Jones § 295 But where the admission is deliberately made and precisely identified, the evidence it affords is often of the most satisfactory nature Rigg v Curgenven, 2 Wills, 395, Greenl Ev § 200, Taylor § 861 In such a case it is neither weak evidence, nor does it require corroboration. Commonwealth v. Galligan, 113 Mass 202 On the other hand, when admissions are so proved, they may have great inherent force as evidence. Dicker v Fitchburg, 22 Wis. 675

So what ... ed to be true and ... im v. Mahomed, 65 I ... Ind Cas. 876, Vir Singh v Harnam, 1 Lah. 137=56 Ind Cas 191 A statement in a document should prima facie be accepted as true as against the explanation unless it can be shown by independent evidence to be false Irshad v Mt Kariman, 22 C W. N 530=28 C L J 173=20 Bom L R 790 P. C Unless admissions are contractual or unless they constitute an estoppel they are not conclusive, but are open to rebuttal or explanation, or they were mistaken or were untrue, and is not estopped or concluded by them unless ... lter his condition In such a case ... as against that person (and those ... it as to third parties he is not ... ord Denman approved and adopt- ... an, in re Simpson, 2 Ch D 72 at p 89 and Trinidad Asphalte Company v Coryat, (1896) A C 587 in effect illustrate the same principle Rani v Chaudhuri, 11 C W N 321 P C, Girish v Issai, 1 ... Burr Jones § ... each particul ... party may confess ... ow mistake (Bright ... that the response ... a jocular manner; ... of the facts Burr Jones § 296; Sibu v Netai, 9 I ... representation of fact is of ... admission is a female Talok Bindoo 20 W R 112, Lodh S ... admission can be withdrawn ... Muhammad v Husain 26 C 8 ... Pershad v Thakur Dei, 23 In Cas 26=A I R 1928 Lab 72

S. 17. y were m d . Lalla Prosad . . . witness admits that a statement previously made by him relative to a certain fact is a false statement, he ought to be asked in re examination by the prosecution or at any rate by the Court why he made a statement which was false The mere fact that the

sumption Junnu Lal v M ... 75 Ind Ca 1027=1924 Lah they are found untrue

... Emperor, 7 Lah L J 259=6 Lah 437=90 Ind Cas 145=A I R 1925 Lah 418 The admission of a wife in a divorce proceeding unsupported by corroborative proof should be received with utmost circumspection and caution L v L 108 Ind Cas 416 (F B), Oter v Oter, 91 Ind Cas 20=49 B 368 If a person admits a right, it is necessary implication that he also admits the legal consequences of that right Guru Charan v Surendra Krishna 22 Ind Cas 690=19 C W N 263 Where a guardian is appointed to a minor for purposes of litigation in order to look after his interest any admission made by the minor against his own interest is waste paper Pailah v Dharmraji, 32 Ind Cas 368 A statement made by a person in his own favour is inadmissible in evidence on his behalf Naqina Singh v Sunder 24 P W R 1916=33 Ind Cas 487 Title by law cannot pass by admission when the statute requires a deed Mathura v Ramkuar, 23 C W N 270=43 C 790=23 C L J 26=35 Ind Cas 305, see also Jadunath v Puglal 4 C L J 22 16 C L J 436; 22 C L J 380, Jadia v Dina 6 L W 147=(1917) M W N 583=41 Ind Cas 595, Balkishen v Narain, 13 N L R 121, Ajudhia v Jagannath, 20 O C 18=38 Ind Cas 605 A purchaser cannot be prejudiced by admission subsequently made to the debtor whose property has been sold does not bind the parties Beni v Dudha Nath 27 C 156 P C=26 I A ... 4 C W N 274, Dwar v Fati 26 C 250=3 C W N 222

Admissions are always evidence against the party who makes them but marriage is a question merely of adjective ... Act Its probative value must depend on the ... Fatima v Mt Jiandi, A I R 1927 Sindh 20 ... account book is not sufficient to charge a person with liability still with regard to admissions i e entries, against the producer's own pecuniary interest the law dispenses with all proof save that the book has been kept by or under the authority of the producer Mathai ... v ... 96 Ind Cas 429=A I R 1926 Mad 955 sibility' Best Ev § 528. So it is, in general, immaterial to whom the admission was made. Thus, an admission made to a stranger is as receivable as one made to an opponent; though it is said that an admission, in order to support an account stated, must have been made to the creditor or his agent, and an acknowledgment of debt made to a third person, neither agent nor privy to the creditor, will not defeat the Statute of limitations, since it is not evidence of a promise of which he could not take advantage (P... v. C... [illegible]

[illegible]

v. [illegible], 17 W R 990; Whart § 1128); as are admissions made to himself in mere soliloquy (R v Simmons, 6 C. & P 540)' Phip Ev ...nd Ed p. 191.

[illegible] general, im- [illegible] Ev 7th Ed [illegible] of evidence, between direct admissions and those which are incidental or made in some other connection or involved in the admission of some other fact. Greenl Ev § 144. Frequently letters of a party are competent purely as admissions, and because some inference may be drawn from them unfavourable to the claim or defence of the writer. Burr Jones Ev § 269, Sital Prosad v Monohur, 23 W. R 325. When letters of a party are in the nature of admissions, they are competent although written long before or after the commencement of the litigation, even though written to persons not parties to the litigation, on proof of their genuineness. Burr Jones Ev § 269. When letters are otherwise competent as admissions, they need not be signed or actually written by the party, provided they are sent by his direction. Barlett v Mayo, 33 Me 518. Except for the purpose of readier reference, there would be no need to deal with other written admissions. The law is practically the same with regard to them as to letters, and is, that [illegible] properly be used in [illegible] matter may relate [illegible] memoranda written or authorized by a party may be offered as admissions against him like his oral statements. If self disserving in their character, it is immaterial in what form the document may appear. Burr Jones § 270. This rule has been applied to receipts [Harrison v Remington Paper Co, 140 Fed 385, (Am), Gahan [illegible] 27], bills of lading [illegible] Macomber v Paul [illegible] Ill 585, (Am)], [illegible] person making the admission (Edward v City of Watertown, 59 Hun, 620), maps (Bridgman v Jennings 1 Ld Raym 734 Haronath v Preonath 7 W R 249, Craven [illegible] T R 48, Doe v [illegible] rsh (Ky) 238], cer[illegible] Van Voy, 31 N J [illegible] Ald 606, Graves, [illegible] s in the books o[illegible] an action against its president ([illegible]ney v Chadsey 7 R I 224). Burr Jones Ev § 270.

[illegible] admissions, evidence against [illegible] 41) and, of course, equally [illegible] make them, against the party [illegible] eynolds 121 Cal 74 (Am).

[illegible]

of the defendant that the particulars contained in the entry were true Narain Coomar v Ramkrishna, 5 C 864=6 C L R 286. Similarly partnership books

S. 17.

' of the several partners and to be tri al

troversies between the members of the firm each member Daji Ibaji v Govind 10 Bom L R ... be with knowledge and consent, although the presumption may be rebutted by proof that the partner or ... or ... against whom the entries are offered, have not had access to the boo incorrect Burn Jones
the defendant under ss Goundan 17 M 134
in affidavits or in answers to interrogatories in the same or former proce are also competent Phip Ev 4th Ed p 21 , Fleet v Perrins L R 3 Q B 536, Harish v Prosunno 22 W R 303; Legal Remembrancer v Motilal Ghose 41 C 173, Bhugwant v Lall Jha, Marsh 48 Evidence given in Extradition proceedings by an accused person on his own behalf is an admission and is prima facie admissible No particular formality is required to let it in as an , 11? Ind Cas 50=29 Cr L J 962=1929 Sind 15 judicial admissions those contained in pleadings by reason not only of these presumedly solemn contents, but with regard to the time at which they were made, their use in the action of which they form the basis, their use dehors that action the change in lment, in brief by the circumstances
... making them includ...

speak only from information and belie in their pleadings, these pleadings may be offered in evid... parties as admissions of the facts so alleged Girish Chander v Shama Charn 15 W R 437 Austen v Feast 2 Gr App 91 (Am) A statement in the plaint unchallenged and made by the putnidar after his interest had been transferred is in no way binding upon the transferee Jalhnomull v Saroda Prosad 7 C L J 604 The plaintiff may also rely upon the defendant's admission in the Pleadings or Affidavits or Answers to Interrogatories Tarinee v Dwarka Nath 15 W R 451, Re Cohen (1924) 2 Ch 515 But admissions contained in a statement filed in plaintiff's name are not proof that they have been made by her Asmutloo v Alla Hafiz, 25 W R 125 to as evidence in plaintiff's favour Radha Churn v Chunder Monee 9 W R
W R 519 But it does not bind his co defendant Lochman v Jansu...
395=A W N 1884, 136, Azizullah Khan v Ahmad, 7 A 353=A W N 1885, 54 So also admissions may be made in verified petitions Girish v Shama
15 W R 437, Mohun v Chutto, 21 W R 24, Gour v Mohesh 14 W R 481
An admission in a Akhoy, 19 C L J 1 An admission in Bibee v Achmat
14 B L R App , J 186; Re Hoyle
(1893) 1 Ch 84

Conditions of Admissibility—Statement must be one of fact The extra judicial statement of ... conditions of admissibility as would apply to the ...
of all essential that be one of fact i e affir While inference is ... admission may be a psychological one, e g, belief Ibid

Admission on Matter of Law Parties cannot, by their admissions of law
... the court to adopt their view
... adm...

from certain facts, his 'opinion' as it is frequently called are not ... for an admission except in cases where the declarant might, if present as a witness, have testified to the same inference or conclusion Chamberlayne's Ev § 1293 An admission on ... S. v Sunker, A I R 192 ...

Nag 313; R v Furse, 8 ...
13 Cox 178; R v Lan ...
L R 1928 Lah 779 = 113 Ind Cas 93; A I R 1927 Lah 281; A I R 1926 Oudh 341, 92 Ind Cas 732 An erroneous admission by a counsel on a point of law is of no effect and does not preclude the party from claiming his legal rights in the App llat ... 27 C L J 147 = 15 Ind Cas 953; ... 309 = I A Sup 17; Beni Parshad ... Johnston, 12 Heisk (59 Ten) 155, ... h v Asraf ... 16, 7 C L J 152; Ramsaran v Khakhan, 11 C W N 310 So also an erroneous admission of the pleader of a party on a point of law cannot bind the party. Dear Bux v Fatik 3 C W N 222, see also Kishna v Rajmal, 24 B 360, Narayan v Venkata, 28 B 408

Statements made under constraint or duress In regard to admissions made under circumstances of constraint, a distinction is taken between civil and criminal cases, and it has been considered, that on the trial of civil actions, admissions are receivable in evidence, provided the compulsion under which they are given is legal and the party was not imposed upon or under duress Thus, in the trial of Collector v Lord Keith, 1 Esp 212, the testimony of the defendant, ... tes in which he admitted the vindicate his conduct. In that case Le Blanc J, remarked that the manner in ... atter of observation to the jury, ... a issue, he was bound to receive ... las v Ramlabanya, 106 P R ... s extends also to answers volun... given to questions improperly asked, and to which the witness might successfully have objected So the voluntary answers of a bankrupt before the commissioners are evidence in a subsequent action against the party himself, ... he whole examination was ... obtained by imposition ... led by Lord Ellenborough ... When such admissions ... Stockfield v De Castel, 4 Camp 11, Robson v Alexander, 1 M & P 448

...

Erroneous admission An erroneous admission may be withdrawn Sita Ram v Pir Baksh, A I. R 1931 Lah 6, see also A I R 1923 All 575, A I R 1928 Lah 726; 77 Ind Cas 875, 65 Ind Cas 368

Statement must be certain An admission must be certain, and consistent, definite and clearly proved It must, in addition, be couched in language reasonably capable, without forced or strained construction, to bear the interpretation placed on it While conjectural and suppositious statements are excluded absolute precision is not demanded in case of a declaration offered as an admission A statement is not inadmissible because of a possibility of ambiguity Chamberlayne's Ev 1295 A vague admission is not enough 83 Ind. Cas 904 = 21 A L J 869

Statement must be voluntary It is further required not only that the statement should be one of fact but that it should have been voluntarily made by the declarant. A distinction should, upon principle, be drawn between the admission obtained by the use of duress, where the will is overpowered or controlled and ...

...

the bare custody of an officer is not sufficient to exclude a statement otherwise

S. 18 voluntary Nor is it ground for rejecting the statement as not voluntary that it was given by the declarant as a witness in response to compulsory process whether in Court, before arbitrators, commissioners in bankruptcy, or in other judicial proceeding As the only important matter is the fact that the declaration was made by a party, the circumstances under which he made it are apt to be regarded as unimportant provided he knew what he was doing and desired to do it Chamberlayne's Ev § 1294

Admission—by party to proceeding or his agent;

18. Statements made by a party to the proceeding, or by an agent to any such party, whom the Court regards, under the circumstances of the case as expressly or impliedly authorized by him to make them, are admissions by suitor in representative character;

Statements made by parties to suits suing or sued in a representative character, are not admissions unless they were made while the party making them held that character

Statements made by—

by party interested in subject matter;

(1) persons who have any proprietary or pecuniary interest in the subject-matter of the proceeding, and who make the statement in their character of persons so interested, or by person from whom interest derived

(2) persons from whom the parties to the suit have derived their interest in the subject-matter of the suit, are admissions, if they are made during the continuance of the interest of the persons making the statements

[illegible]

[illegible] ...sibility attaches primarily if not exclusive[illegible] ...logical reasoning as a condition of ad[illegible] stated, in case of a probative fact, to [illegible] gestae fact, to its constituent quality in rela[illegible] rather than to the relation existing bet[illegible] which it directly alleges A statement competent as an admission may in many cases, be one in an independently relevant rather than an assertive capacity Thus the offer of one accused of crime to plead guilty under certain conditions while receivable against the declarant, is plainly not within the operation of the Hearsay rule Admission of this type are perhaps more pre-eminently those of co however, being made by t partly as belonging to person making them and they are offered in evi persons not parties to the su admissibility of statements against the interest of the part utterance, when made thus represents the party's own belief (Vide s 20). By adoption, the party may assent to a statement already uttered by another person, which thus becomes effectively the party's own admission By privity of interest and by agency the party's rights may in the substantive law be affected by the acts of another person and thus the other person's admissions may equally be available evidentially Wigmore § 1070 In order that an admission may be who made it had one interest of section 18 of the Evidence Act 711; see also Ma Sheu e v Maun

r, 5 W R 268

A general Procedural Requirement From the historical point of view, it seems clear that the practical development of the subject of admissions was materially affected by the existence of procedural rules now practically obsolete These forbade a party to call his antagonist as a witness and thus confined a proponent, as to facts within the latter's knowledge, to such statements as he may have made with regard to them But an earlier and more potent formative influence, whether the admissions were judicial or extra-judicial, has been that emands good faith
the Courts should
It is prescribed for if he does not like his story. It punishes a party who attempts to deceive the Court by false The same principle en to talk about a Darbey v Ouseley, is held to explain
any statements he may have made in the matter Chamberlayne's Ev § 1234

Scope of the section This section deals with admissions in general The R 434 "No to a suit. The

th admissions
made by nominal parties, e g, consignees suing in the name of consignor. When the Court considers the admission of such a party fraudulent, it should be rejected at once See notes to Bannerman v Radenius, 2 Sm L C 363" Nort Ev 143 Admissions under this section are only evidence against the persons

S. 18. making them. Under section 32, infra, the admissions there enumerated are evidence against all the world

In order to render the admission of one person receivable in evidence against another, it must relate to some matter in which either both were jointly interested or one was derivatively interested through the other; and a mere community of interest will not be sufficient. Thus, where two persons were in partnership and an action made by the only of co part

Rawstorne v Gandell, 15 M & W 304 Phillips v Elaget, 11 M & W 84 So, of the contractors, nothing bind the personal represen

23; Fordham v Wallis 10

& R 75), nor can the admissions of the executor bind the survivor Seater v Lawson, 4 B & Ad 350, Hathaway v Haskel, 9 Pick 24 Neither will the admissions of one tenant in common is receivable against his co tenant, though both are parties on the same side of the suit Dan v Brown, 4 Cowen 483 (492), Taylor § 751

Where a party sues in a representative capacity—i e as trustee executor, administra and only a statements

admission

in his pers

sentative (

ad litem begins to end with the litigation, and consequently his extra judicial admissions are not receivable at all Wigmore § 107, citing Pindell v Rubenstein, 115 Atl 859; Stevens v Continental, 97 N W 862; Chapman v R Co, 12 Utah 8 (Am)

Where procedure still the real and beneficial action

I am t

for the

enefit of the owner admissible evidence real party in legal interest, and his statements cannot be received as admissions of the corporation Wigmore § 107 But a contrary view was early taken in England for parish inhabitants R v Hardwicke, 11 East 578, 585

Sub clause (2) is the converse of sub-clause (1) There the statement was that of the representative; here it is of the party through whom he derives his right to sue Thus, if an executor were to sue for a debt, the declaration of his testator that the debt was paid would be evidence against him Pocock v Billings, 1 R & M 227; Smith v Smith, 3 Bing N. C 29 In the same way the declaration of the ancestor respecting his title to the land held by him is evidence against the heir (Doe v Pettet, 5 B & A 229), and the declarations of the former owner of goods that he had sold them have been admitted against the lord of the manor who claimed them as heriot Ivat v Finch, 1 Taunt, 141, Nort Ev 148

Statements made by a party to the proce ... been stated affect by his admissions the substantial rights of one for whom he is acting other words, in all these relations, substantive interest rather than form of record is regarded as the determining factor One who is to receive the fruits of successful litigation procedure holds responsible for his statements in connection with its subjects matter. Chamberlayne's Ev § 1311 In the Court of Chancery, in England, evidences are not received of admissions or declarations of the parties, which are

For example, the admis-
ule. In an action by A against X for prosecuting a suit contrary to an agreement, to prove the prosecution of the suit by X, A offered admissions by X of the obtaining of the judgment and issue of execution. They were objected to, on the ground that they were not the best evidence, and that a certified copy of the judgment should be produced

In Smith v case of the admis
grounds. The a l belongs to parol evidence from other sources A party's own statements and admissions are, in all cases, admissible in evidence against him, though such statements and admissions may involve what must necessarily be contained in some writing, deed or record Thus the statements of a party that certain land y deed as the admits against himself may reasonably be taken to be true" A statement made by defendant in another suit may be used as an admission within the meaning of this section Hirish v Prosunno, 22 W R 303; Mohun v Chutloo, 21 W R. 34; Lala v Digambar, 22 W R 304 N; Forbes v Mahomed, 11 W R. 28 P C, its simplest form when the admissions are made by one who is a party to the record and who is also a real party if he made the statement When the statement proven is between the parties to the transaction it has always been the rule that one party could prove the of the action Such admissions, prima facie, conclusive against the party who

S. 18. making them Under section 32, infra, the admissions there enumerated are evidence against all the world

In order to render the admission of one person receivable in evidence against another, it must relate to some matter in ed or one was derivatively interested throug of interest will not be sufficient Thus, and an action was brought against them as partners of a vessel, and admission made by the one, as to a matter which was not a subject of co-partnership but admission as executor or the like would not be receivable against them as in his personal capacity A guardian so far as his powers place him in a representative capacity is subject to the same rules, but the function of a guardian ad litem begins to end with the litigation, and consequently his extra judicial admissions are not receivable at all Wigmore § 107, citing Pendell v Rubens tem, 115 Atl 859; Stevens v Continental, 97 N W 862; Chapman v R. Co, 12 Utah 8 (Am)

Where procedure still permits a the real and beneficial party in not that the declarations of the real Smith v Lyon, 3 Camp 455, which of the owner on a charter contract Ellenborough L C J said "Although action is in the name of the master it is brought for the benefit of the owner, I am therefore of opinion that anything said by the latter is admissible evidence for the defendant." A share holder of a company is not the real party in legal interest, and his statements cannot be received as admissions of the corpor rly taken in England for 85

There the statement was that of the representative, here it is of the party through whom he derives his right to sue Thus, if an executor were to sue for a debt, the declaration of inst him Pocock
29 In the same land held by him
the declarations of the former owner of goods that he had sold them have been admitted against the lord of the manor who claimed them as heriot Ivat v Finch, 1 Taunt, 141, Nort Ev 148 has no beneficial interest in the issue of the litigation will not be p in affect by his admissions the substantial rights of one for whom he is acting the previous assignment. Henderson v. Wild, 2 Camp. 651". Greenl Ev § 172. S.

"In modern prac
has no interest in prejudice of Bumstead, 99
party is even l
L. C. & D Ry
Payne v. Rogers, Doug 107.

A nominal party may be affected by the admission of a real party, who though not named in the record, has a substantial interest in the result. Falcon v Famous Players, (1926) 2 K B 174; Bell v. Ansly, 16 East 113.

Tacit Sepsi law to do J in 8 Scott. N. R 830 "The agency may be constituted by an express limited authority to make such contract or a larger authority to make all falling within the class or description to which it belongs, or a general authority to make any;
a relation existed between the parties r instance, that of partners, by which y law the agent of the other for all rticular partnership whether general or special, or usually belonging to it, or the relation of husband and wife, in considers the husband to make his agency may be created

is quoad hoc, precisely the same as a real authority given by the defendant to the agent This representation may be made directly to the plaintiff, or made publicly, so that it may be inferred to have reached him and may be made by

of the case, as expressly or impliedly authorised by him to make them' leave it open to the Courts to deal with each case that arises upon its own merits Field p. 44

The principal constitutes the agent his representative, in the transaction of certain business, whatever therefore, the agent does, in the lawful prosecution of that business, is the act of the principal whom he represents Greenl Ev §

n the Innes, any says
So a ances ough
,652).

S. 18.

as his mere intsrument. So whatever contract for his principal or at the time, any act, within the scope of his authority, and in the course of a particular contract or transaction in which he is then engaged, is in legal effect, said by his principal, and admissible in evidence not merely because it is a dec that being made at the time is treated as the declaratio the res gestae, a part of the if in fact made by himself own authority, and not accompanying the making of a contract or the doing of an act, in behalf of the transaction to which they re part of the res gestae and general rule of law, exclud statement by an agent of wh not a part of the transaction,

The declarations by agents are original evidence and not hearsay, a being regarded as verbal acts, they are receivable in evidence without calling the agent himself to prove them Doe v Hawkins, 2 Q B 212; Tay § 602 They are the ultimate facts to be proved and not an admission of some other fact, and the only question is whether the declarations were made and relied upon It often happens, however, that the declarations of an agent are admissible as part of the res gestae and that they form no part of any contract and contain no element of estoppel in which cases they are of course, open to explanation or may be shown to be incorrect, like admissions in general. Burr Jones § Tne admission of an agent that he purchased as agent is evidence that the purchase was made by him in that capacity and not on his own account Goreebollah v M R G D Boyd 2 W R 10, see also Mohesh Lal v Basunt, 6 C 340 (352), Govindji v Chhotu, 2 Bom L R. 651; Parameswara v Vijathen, 20 Ind Cas 637

Admission by agent—When receivable. The admission of an agent cannot always be assimilated to the admission of the principal The party's own admission, whenever made, may be given in evidence against him, but the admission or declaration of his agent bind him only when it is made during the

§ 1078 The b
in Fairlie v in 1788 had set some time before the true principle was defined and accepted Ibid,
(1) As the case of Fairlie v Hastings, 10 Ves 123 (1804) is of some importance as well as of interest the judgment of Sir William Grant, Master of the Rolls is given in extenso "The subject of this cause is a loan of money by the late plaintiff, Maharajah Nabokissen to the defendant Warren Hastings As it is not by bill in equity that money lent is to be recovered, it is incumbent upon the Court for sum by instalments; that a bond remain with a Cauntoo Baboo, an agen should be advanced, and then should ever received the bond, Cauntoo Baboo in S.

read, and could not read any part evidence of declaration by Gobin is whether these declarations ... the bill. Upon that question my opinion is, that these declarations do not come within the principle upon which they are supposed to be admissible. As a general proposition, what one man says, not upon oath, cannot be evidence against another man The exception must arise out of some peculiarity of ... agent may, un-
... his agreement,
... be what constitutes the agreement of the principal, or the representations or statements may be the foundation of or the inducement to, the agreement Therefore, if writing is not necessary by law, evidence must be admitted to prove that the agent did
... with regard to acts done, the words
... uently tend to determine their quality
... must be affected by the words But except in one or the other of those ways, I do not know how what is said by an agent can be evidence against his principal The mere assertion of a fact cannot amount to proof of it, though it may have some relation to the business in which the person making that assertion was employed as agent For instance, if it was a material fact that there was the bond of the defendant in the hands of Cauntoo Baboo, that fact would not be proved by the assertion that Gobindee Baboo supposing him an agent, had said there was for that is no fact, that is, no part of any agreement which Gobindee Baboo, is making, or of any statement he is making, is inducement to an agreement It is mere narration, communication to the witness in the course of conversation, and therefore ... ice of the fact" The bill was dismissed ... put by Mr Justice Gibbs in Loughborn ... 'When it is proved that A is agent to B, whatever A does ... agent of B, is admissible which he makes for B, and the agent's account of what also Kahl v.

C 335
... a coal merchant for a penalty for selling short measures a witness was proceeding to state what was said to him by one Peely who managed the defendant's business, as to a sale about to take place Lord Ellenborough admitted the evidence saying 'Peely
... iness, what he
... t, or on another
... said respecting a sale of coals, then about to take place and respecting the deposition of the
... s in the course of
... affect his master"
... Railway Company
... master to a Police
... y s servants, were received as admissions against the company, the station master being the proper agent to make such statements Ibid In that case Cockburn C J said "I

Archibold J said 'Being in charge of the station at the time a felony was committed, it was his duty to put the police in motion That being so, I think he was acting within the scope of his duty, that he had power to bind the

S. 18. company, and therefore that t scarcely a case of "cause of em master may be responsible in him, if done in the course of employment But in contract, and as regard admis . Cockle Cas 177 In Peto expression "course of emplo the scope of authority of an in the course of employ ment. But to be within the scope of authority, the statement must apparently be made in the course of employment. Cockle Cas 178

Where an agent, acting within the scope of his authority, wrote to his princip money on their account, and they replied. was held that the agent's state ment he money Coates v. Bainbridge, 5 Bing 58, Powell, 438 So the declarations of an agent bind the principal only so far as the agent had authority to make them Faussett v Faussett, 7 Ecc & Mar Cas 93 95, Hogg v Garrett 12 Ir Eq R 550 If goods were deposited with a pawnbroker in the ordinary course of business, a declaration of the shop-man that his master had received the goods would probably be admissible against his master, because it might be assumed that the shopman was authorised to answer in them, but it immediate business al hundred pounds
Garth v Howard
C R 127 In the former case Tindal J said. "It is dangerous to open the door to declaration by agents beyond what the cases have already done The declaration itself is evidence not given upon oath; it is made in his absence, when he has no or any

trains at a certain station in the course of which the night inspector

after the transaction G O Ry Co v Wills, 34 L J C P. 195=13 C S 748 In rejecting the evidence Earle C J said · "I am of opinion that this admissions

as a co princip form p

business and in the ordinary to past or present events (Prof arse, if the transaction or business subsequent admissions regarding are not it will be rejected as will 210 ' So properly within the scope ased, the when the agent's right to an by his principal can no longer be Fairlie v Hastings, rn v Allroll, 4 Taunt
M & W 58, 569,
, Stockton v Demuth, mesuar v Vigatten,
agent can be received,
hari Mohan, 3 B. L

...nd Cas 709. So S.
be an agent is
... Ali 633 (Am) and not by the declarations themselves even when accompanied by acts purporting to be acts of agency Montgomery v. Leith, 162 Ala 246 (Am) Unless and until the agency is so proved and the declarations, acts or admissions of the agent come within the rule laid down, the evidence is not admissible Such proof need not be invariably introduced in the first instance, the order of proof being within the discretion of the Court Burr Jones § 255; see also Chamberlayne's Ev. §§ 1338, 1339, Emperor v. Ritbaram, 19 Cr. L J. 789. Declarations and acts are competent to prove agency if there is proof of former similar acts or declarations recognized or approved by the principal. Burr Jones § 255. Agency may also be proved by proving that the agent has acquired credit by acting in that capacity and that he has been recognized by the principal in other instances of a similar character to that in question In Watkins v Venee, 2 Stark, 368, a guarantee signed by a son for his father was admitted upon three or four
...n v Towse, 1 Camp.
Whitefield v Brand,
...o the general agent, special power to do a particular act need not be shown Ram Buksh v Kishori Mohan, 3 B L R A C J 273

Agency may be either general or special, and it may be express as when it

...

and be an equivalent to an original authority; Omnis ratihabitio retrotrahitur et mandato priori æquiparatur (A subsequent ratification has a retrospective effect and is equivalent to prior command) So, where A and B were jointly interested in a quantity of oil, which A contracted to sell without B's authority, and B at first ... agreement on hearing of it, but afterwards assen... made the contract binding upon him Shom... The point to be regarded in this clause is no... n agency, as to which the Court must be satisfied, but that there was authority given sufficient to cover the particular statements relied on as admissions Though the maxim is qui facit per alium facit per se, the identity ceases where the agent exceeds the scope of his authority, and his admissions in such a case will not bind his principal Nort Ev 144

...nfant because an

...

ner agreement to make a new contract for the future occupation of it, will be
...wife should have this extensive power
...e of conducting the business of the ...2, Tay § 605
...mpliedly constitues a third person his agent for the purpose of

...

impliedly authorised to make t...
Fateh v Baldeo, 5 O W N 155 = A I R 1928 Oudh 233

S. 18.

19 Pick (Mass U S) But the opinion or conclusion of an agent ... legal effect of acts and transactions is not binding on his principal unless the ... n his behalf and are not admis- admitted but is rized to make a principal Burr upon the personal ation, inferences ts of acknowledg- Limitation Act (IX of 1908)

Evidence is Primary Admissions by an agent have the same quality of primary proof which characterizes other admissions The declaration is equally competent though the declarant be in Court and available as a witness The evidence furnished by the fact of an admission is primary So also, the statement continues competent after the death of the principal, if made by the agent before that event It is entirely unaffected by the death of the agent Chamberlayne's Ev § 1343

Agents ... ass ... tions, which ... ns of the latter will on ... nt make them (a) in ... l tran- tion, or (b) in pursuance of an authority to make statements or reports as to matters affecting his principal s business or interests; or (c) in the due execution of a general authority to carry on the business of his principal or a particular department of it with full discretion and powers of management Wills' Ev 163 So a letter written by the secretary of a company by order of the acting directors, stating the number of shares held by M was admitted on behalf of his executors in proceedings against them Meux s Executors Case 2 D M & G 522, see also Natural Exchange Com ... 9 Moo 103 But a statement made by the chairm ... Act, 1862, at a general mee ... against the company In ... Roscoe N P 70 in rejecting the admission of the chairman Fry J said ... could possibly be admitted ... his agency If that were so the statement would be admissible ... He for it was made ...

So also the secretary of a projected company has not by ... any power to bind the members of the provisional committee by adm ... Burnside v Dayrell, 3 Exch 225 In Bruff v Gt N Ray Co, 1 F & F ... Willes J rejected an admission of the secretary of a company as to the receipt of a letter And an admission by the board meeting of a company regi ... consisting of a less number of directors than was required by the deed of settlement was rejected in Ridley v Plymouth Banking Co 2 Exch 711 Admissions by servants of a ... not allowed ... the company, in ...

dants in action ... to who was responsible ... ened, when made at the time of ... tent, is against the company, on the ground that his employment did not carry with it authority to make declarations or admissions at a sul[illegible] performed his duty; and that [illegible] which the injuries arose and was [illegible] then engaged, but that it was a mere narration of past occurrence. But as has already been pointed out, that there is a class of cases in which [illegible]

S. 1

[illegible] business, [illegible] are made [illegible] Kirkstall [illegible] lis, 18 C. [illegible] v. London Tramway Co, 27 L T 193; Mayhew v Nelson 6 C & P 58; Loughboro [illegible] 389. But in [illegible] the agent's [illegible] do. Warden [illegible] So in every case the question invariably [illegible] by the agent in the scope of his authority or, as it is sometimes put, in the time of his duty? If so, it is admissible against the corporation. The declarations [illegible] npo [illegible] on [illegible] by him. Burr Jones Ev. § 357.

[illegible]

[illegible] contracts, give receipts, compromise [illegible] business. Kishan v Har, 38 I. A. [illegible] V N 321 He can maintain suit on [illegible] es and can receive payments and [illegible]

Ramkrishna, 15 Bom L [illegible] v. Ram, 35 A 380; Sarka [illegible]

S. 18. the transaction was really for the benefit of the family, he can not rely upon an acknowledgment of the liability, made by one of them as an acknowledgment duly made on behalf of all co ot

, save under special circumstances, bind the other adult co-parceners suami v Krishmer
is also not open
make an acknowle
those who claim through the person acknowledging Ram Kishan v Hardi Lam 71 Ind. Cas 737 = 1923 Lah 135

It field in the ample, if A may not his be received against the employer? Because made in performance of any wo been asked by a brakeman whet point, and had then mentioned receiving certain instructions from the despatcher, this statement might be regarded as made in the course of performing his appointed work. Wigmore § 1078.

Admission by agents in criminal cases. The rules of admissibility are in general the same for the trial of civil and of criminal causes. Not only in practice, but in principle and in spirit there is no occasion for a distinction upon the division of opinions whether under the circumstances of the the testimony of captain Coit to the facts stated in the record, was admissible. That testimony was to the following effect That he, Captain Coit was at St. Thomas while the General Winder was at that island, in September 1824 and was frequently on board the vessel at that time, that Captain to
16 Cox 460,

of the authority of the master, the nature of the fitments, and the accomplishment of the voyage, being thus laid, the testimony of Captain Coit was offered as confirmatory of the proof, and properly admissible against the defendant. It was objected to, and now stands upon the objection before us. The argument is, that the testimony is not admissible, because, in criminal cases, the force of the argument. In general, the rules of evidence in civil and criminal cases are the same. Whatever the agent does, within the scope of his authority, binds his principal, and is deemed his act. It must be shown that the agent has the authority, and that the act is within its scope; but these being conceded or be con-

S.

poison.

sitive or circumstantial, but this is matter for the consideration of the jury and not of the legal competency. So, in the cases of conspiracy and riot, when once the conspiracy or combination is established, the act of one conspirator, in the prosecution of the enterprise, is considered the act of all, and is evidence against all. Each is deemed to consent to or command what is done by any other in furtherance of master was just as the purview of the

The evidence here offered was not the mere declarations of the master upon other occasions totally disconnected with the objects of the voyage. These declarations were connected with acts in furtherance of the objects of the voyage, and within the general scope of his authority as conductor of the enterprises. He

y for the

Captain

ons were all made with reference to that object, and as persuasive to the undertaking

he is; an principal

they had

An ad

criminal, as defendant him

sible for a lett

letter was wr

it was written

Where a pers

agent, then it

S. 18. as where the agent is dead, ... is the best evidence of the ... which can be produced ... decided that a receipt give ... Lord Mel ... 's attorney ...

proved in the other, each particular fact is to be proved ... evidence" Mr Plumer on the opposite side: "I desire it may be distinctly ... that the rules of evidence are the same in ... evidence ...

between the agent and ... or said by the other; ... Chancellor Erskine in adm... the proof must advance ... cases, for a fact must ... to be followed by a crimin...

... is admissible ...

the statement of his servant, the ... strictly proved It is not sufficient to say that because a man acco... another to the thanna the former is a servant of the latter Rabaram v Emperor, 46 Ind. Cas 709=4 P L W. 120=19 Cr L J 789

Admission by wife The admission of the wife will bind the husband, only where she has authority to make them Emerson v. Blomden, 1 Esp 142, Anderson v Sanderson, 2 Stark, 204 ... 4 Camp. 92 ... This authority does not result, by opera... wife; but is a question of fact, to be ...

inference of ... with great ... Greenl. Ev § 185, Gregory v Parker, 1 Campb 485, ... 2 Esp 511 ... M 422, Riley v. Snydam, 4 Barb 222, Palethrop v Furnish, 2 Esp 511 ... Where a wife is authorised to manage business of her husband, during his absence, her admission is evidence against her husband. Clifford v Burton, ... 109 The law on this subject is that laid down by Alderson B in ... a wife can not bind her husband by her ... may be may be his agent to make admissions with respect to matters connected with the trade" A wife's admission has been rejected to prove a slander by her husband Tait v Beggs, (1905) 2 Ir R 525 An admission of a daughter is not binding on the father. Buch v Lulee, 2 Agra 20.

Admissions by Pleaders, Attorneys and Counsels A vakil in this country has not ordinarily any greater power to bind his client than that which is possessed by an attorney in England Woodroffe Ev 237, Prem Sukh v Pirthee Pa

. . has authority to act as agent in as it is to be implied from the mere been enlarged in the particular case, extends only to the management of the cause. Yet, conversely, all his admissions during the management, including utterances in the pleadings do affect the client Wigmore § 1063 "The attorney is not the agent of the client for the purpose of making admissions, except in the cause and for the purpose of the cause All that appeared here was that one of the plaintiff's witnesses by a ly because they Ev Art 17

An a ng on the ala, 10
W R.
as 18
is not evidence in the cause Young v Wright, 1 Camp 139, Petch v Lyon, 9 Q B 147 (154) The reason for this distinction is found in the nature and extent of d for the management of the also Parkins v Hawkshaw ilson v Turner, Taunt, 398 If the admission is made appears that the attorney was Cliff, 4 Camp 133, Ellis v Bishesuar, 5 Pat 777 = 1927 Pat 61 But in Wagstaff v Wilson, 4 B & Ad 339 a letter threatening legal proceedings, but written before action begun, was excluded See also, Doe v Richards, 2 C & K 216 So in the absence of any retainer at that time in the ke the admissions
ss 185; Burghart
34 Greenl Ev §
If an attorney
herein binds the liams 2 B & Ad
845, 855; Standage v Greighton, 5 C & P 406, Tailor v Foster, 2 C & P 195, Griffiths v Williams 1 T R 710, Trusolie v Burton, 9 Moore 64, Lord Owen & Co v Wood, 120 Ia 303 (Am) wards be withdrawn" Taylor § 783 citing Harve v Croudon Union, per Ct. of here there was no counsel is the N 82, Mr. Justice to conduct his

to make binding ie ca e" See al o Jata, 10 W R 3?2, Venkata ... Chambara, 21 M 274, v Minns ... 13 A 272; Mathews Bhasya ... B 122; Venkata v v E I Ry Co, 52 C 386, see also Sen v Chuni Lal, 51 C 385, Askaran authority is less extensive than that of a solicitor ... Muthu v Muthu, 105 Ind Cas 5 A counsel's 896, R v Greenwich 15 Q ... Richardson v Peto, 1 M. & G
... Gaya, 1923 (Pat) 307
... l is not binding on the

... to bind his client by 486, but see Bansi Lal v. Emperor, 30 Bom L. R 646 = A I R 1928 Bom 241 the absence of express authority. R v Downer, 14 Cox

If a plaintiff relies upon any statement by the defendant or his plea ... made in a previous litigation between the parties, that statement mu t ... regularly proved On proof of such statement the question arises as to ... weight to be attached to it Mani Lal v Uma Charan, 19 C L J 541

A judgment deliberately recording the admission of a pleader must ... presumed to be correct, unless contradicted by an affidavit, or the Judge's ow ... admission that the record was wrong Hur Dyal v Hura Lall, 16 W R 107

Oral testimony on behalf of a litigant in a litigation with A cannot ... admitted as evidence against him in a litigation with B on the footing of a ... admiss on by counsel The case lodged by ... not strictly a ... Lords ... in it, although ... atement ... any subsequen... arded ... British Insulate... Co v ... Jo 252 = 156 L T Jo 440 ... 203 = (1923) W N 344 (Eng) = 68 Sol ... 160 = 93 L J Ch 467 = 131 L T 683 Per Russel J affirmed an appeal in (1924) 2 Ch

Partners and joint contractors ... virtue of ...

... ner concerning partnership affairs
... by this Act is evidence against the Mo 131 = 220 ... See also Cal C C P 1872 § 1870 ...

... member ...
By the ...
... Er ...
... Taunt 101; Pethering v Turner, 1 Taunt 104, ... v Marsh, 2 B & Ald 673; Wood v Bradlik, Fox v Clipton, 6 Bing 792, R v Hardwick, 11 East 578, Cour, 1 M & S 249; Nicholls v Dowding, 1 Stark. R. 81; Lucas v De ... Kali v Gope, 2 C W N 166, ... Whitcomb v Whiting, 1 S L C 644 = 2 Doug 652, Partners and joint contr... making admissions against ... or joint cont... 588 (591) ... to the admis... admissible o... 281 (Am); ... who are pr... one of them, ... within his ... within the su... partners ... have been ob... made during ...

action, are admissible against both; and entries in the partnership books made by a partner during the continuance of partnership are admissible against both Admissions of one partner are admissible against all to prove the execu-e admissible Although one admissions may be received, uestion of credibility." Burr received against another on ord, but on the ground that they are business and within the sco

Kowsulliah v. Mukta, 11 C. 588 (591), Steph Dig Ev art 17; Re Whitely, (1891) 1 Ch 598; Calho v. Jhoro, 39 C. 995 While the firm thus created exists, it speaks and acts only by the several members; and of course when the existence ceases by dissolution of the firm the act of an individual member ceases to have the effect as by the agreed. Bel.
v. Braddick,

admi
15 (A Dore doubt is nc
the statement made during the existence of the partnership, it is undoubtedly binding on and evidence against the other members of the firm Burr Jones § 248. In Wood v. Braddick, 1 Taunt, 104 (1808) which was an action brought to recover from the defendant the sale proceeds of certain linens, which the bankrupts, in the year 1796, had consigned for sale to America, as the plaintiffs alleged, to the defendant jointly with one Cox, who was then his partner, but, as the defendant contended, to Cox only, the plaintiff produced a letter from Cox, dated 24th June, 1804, stating a balance of £919 to be then due to the bankrupts upon this consignment It was in proof that on the 30th of July 1803, Braddick and Cox dissolved their partnership, as from the 17th of November, 1800 Cockell and Lens Serjts, objected that this letter, being written after the dissolution of the partnership, was not admissible evidence to charge Braddick In rejecting the contention Mansfield C J said "Clearly the admission of one partner, made after the partnership has ceased, is not evidence to charge the other in any transaction which has occurred rights created lear that one
t principle is it joint contract
one person in regard to past
s last exception
Myl 191, 199,

200, wher payment, against th
Whiting,
Deane V

S. 18. others, admissions made by the signatory at a time other than the execution of the contract were held inadmissible Taft v Church, 162 Mass 527 (Am) And where one partner after having given a note in his own name said it was for the partnership h Smith, 21 Wind ( partnership, that for the rest, in con .
that relationship for himself in simi goods, either of t into the same business, at the same place, on his own account. The legal presumption is, when a person purchases a thing, he purchases it for himself In such case, the vendor, in order to charge another person as a partner, must show the purchase was made for the firm or that it went to their use. So where a member of a partnership bought a mule, ostensibly for himself, and when it was sent home he said it was for the firm, his declaration so made after the purchase was not of itself competent to bind them It is a general rule of the law of evidence that the against all the rest, evidence is admis

received when the rule of interest in the cause excluded the witness" But all the partners, and kept more or less lso generally be received as prima facie evidence inter se Gething v Keighley, 9 Ch D 547, 551; Lindley on Partnership p 566 Daji De G M & G

the books of against them a tion If one ground for an
to exclude an allegation of a mistake or erroneous omission or insertion The only question is whether the books are prima facie evidence between partners and their estates In my opinion they are" But it is not conclusive evidence agin if he can by clear evidence show that there is an
I R. in Gething v Keighley
9 Ch D 549, c
App 587, Hutchison v
5 Ir
Daji .

with
So an
But representation or m respect to some partnershi 2 B & A 795, Thwaites
R 81, per Lord Ellenborou of several parties in fraud s fact by the innocent parties, cted by the Court Rawstorne v One member of a firm can borrow notes and such promissory notes sa, 40 M 727, Karmali v Karu
39 B 261.

Limitation—Saving of, by acknowledgment of one partner An acknowledgment or a payment by a parter without special authority is binding upon another partner. Under section 21 of the Limitation Act a partner ipso facto has no authority to acknowledge or to make a part payment, but if he has general authority to contract debts or make payments he has implied authority to keep the debt alive and it is unnecessary to make out a special authority.

Chegamull v Govinda Swami, A I R 1923 Mad 972 So in the absence of S.

v. Veera-
18=(1918)
Ind Cas.
1 Ind. Cas.
552=35 M. 112; see also K. R. Firm v Sathyavada, 21 Ind. Cas 635=37 M. 146=25 M. L. J 501

In Premji v Dossa, 10 B 358, Scott J said at p 362. "It must be shown that the partne plied to do so to be presumed bad High Court in Gadu Bibi v Parsotam, 10 A. 418 and Candy J of Bombay High Court in Dalsukhram v W R 145; Lalta v Babu, 32 A

) and though the nership (Watson v circumstances be treated as continuing where, for instance, the retirement of a partner is kept secret and payments of interests are made in the name of the firm In re Tucker (1894) 3 Ch 429=63 L J Ch 737), see also Abdulali v Ranchodlal, 38 Ind Cas 872=19 Bom L R 86 (95), Karamali v Boralasingji, 26 Ind Cas 915=39 B 261=19 C W N 837 of payments by s of Limitation as to

of that particular form of liability is of first importance, and the solution lies in stripping the proposition to the bare statement of the authority, express or implied, with which the declarant was invested at the time of the declaration The discussion is limited to admissions made after dissolution Prior to it, and whether the admission be regarded as a new contract or an extension of an old one, there need be no question of the partner's ability to charge his co partners with the act which bars the Statute But after dissolution the agency and its cessation, or rather the exact time of the determination of the agency regulates the period when such admissions or payments which operate as admissions become, as to the other partners, ineffectual Burr Jones § 249 partnership does not Similarly a partner of o authority to give an 36 Ind Cas 225=

8 L B R 363

Parties suing or party is receivable as interest, i e, a relation to be affected by the ac evidence as that other person may have furnished by way of admission This privity may be Where the p administrator, and only adn
statements ma

S. 18. admissions as executor or the like would be receivable against him as a party in his personal capacity Wigmore § 1076 The admissions which are thus receivable in evidence, are those of a person having at the time some interest in the matter afterwards in controversy in the suit to which he is a party The admissions, therefore, of a guardian, or of an executor or administrator, made before he was completely ...

... prochein amy, made before ... against the ward or infant ... of heirs, devisees and ... (Webb v Smith, R & M. 106; Fraser v Marsh, 2 Stark 41; Cowling v Ely 2 Stark 366), though it may bind the person himself when he is afterwards a party, suo jure, in another action A solemn admission, however, made in good faith, in a pending suit for the purpose of that trial only is governed by other considerations

Generally the competency o... which they are made But it is an ... that if the admission is made by ... tive capacity only, it must be made ... capacity Freeman v Brewster, 93 ... dispute in England In one case, Chief Justice Tindal is reported to have received an admission of a person, who was serving as an assignee now called the trustee of bankrupt, though it ... Morgan, 2 B & Rob 257 But Lord ... the same point Fenwick v Thornto... the admission by an Official Assignee made before his appointment See also Metters v Brown, 32 L J Ex 140, Plant v M'Ewen, 4 Cox 544; Taylor § 755 So statements of an executor or administrator ... his appointment, cannot be received ex... Church v Howard, 79 N Y 415, Lamor... Butler, 48 N H 161, Hilton v Snyder ... v Edmonds, 25 L J Ch 125, 140 141 ... startling proposition' says Taylor 'that the assets of a testator, and the consequent rights of legatees may be affected by some inconsiderate statement which the executor, before the death of the testator, may have been induced to make' Taylor § 755 But statement of such persons is competent, if made while representing the person beneficially interested, and in the transaction of business or in performance of the trust in such manner as to be part of res gestae Church v Howard, 79 N Y 415 (Am), Fox v. Walters, 12 A & E 43, Concha v Concha, 11 App Cas 541 543 So an affidavit of guardian of an infa... infant in anoth...

... 'If he was a ... while actually ...

... Vaughan Williams J in New Trustee v Hunting, (1897) 1 Q B 607, 611, affirmed (1897) 2 Q B 19 ... Land etc Co, 28 Colo 320, the Court ref... fraudulent admiss...

... 544, Fox v Walters, 12 A & E 43, ...

v. Russell, 53 Hun 17=4 N Y Supp 781 ...

operate as a waiver Kailas v Sheikh Chheau, 12 C 516, Woodroffe, 232.

§ 1076(2); (see al... guardian of the person of an infant as to the property right of the latter are not ... for other purposes ... as 825, see also ... i, 10 C L R 377, ... ammal 24 I A ... rt of Wards, made ... bind or prejudice ... Cas 825=29 C L J. 577; Ram Autar v Rajah Mahammad, 24 C 853=1 C W N 117, 21 W R 253 An acknowledgment of debt ... period of limitation Ram Charan v ... J. 375; Sobhanadari v Sriramulu ... 456, Annahaganda v Sanjadiqyapa, ... 292; Chhata v Bilto, 26 C 51, ... guardian of a Hindu minor has no power to keep debt alive against the minor Ramaswamy v Kashinath, 108 Ind Cas 529=A I R 1928 Mad 226

... t in receiving ... to the party is ... same person ... that view that ... llows that the ... become receiv- ... other words, the admissions of one co-plaintiff or co-defendant are not receivable against another merely by virtue of his position as a co-party in the litigation This is necessarily involved in the notion of an admission, for it is impossible to discredit A's claims as a party by contrasting them with what some other party B has elsewhere claimed, there is no discrediting in such a process of contrast, because it is not the same person's statements that are contrasted Moreover ordinary fairness would forbid such a license, for it would in practice permit a litigant to discredit an opponent's claim merely by joining any person as the opponent's co-party and then employing that person's statements as admissions It is plain, therefore, both on principle and in policy, that the statements of a ...

... who happen to be joined as parties to the ...t" See also In re Whiteley L R. (1891) 1 Ch 558, Azizull... Lachman v Tansukh 6 A 395; Amrita... W R 214=2 I A 113, Chandeswar... lal v Himmut Ali, 23 W R 519 ... by one defendant can not be read in evidence either for or against his co-defen-... ...dant be read in ... hens v. ... Johns- ... being, ...ve been

S. 18. afforded for cross examination (Jones v Turbeville, 2 Ves 11, Morse v Royal, 12 Ves 355, 361, 363), and moreover, if such a course were allowed, the plaintiff might make one of his friends a defendant, and thus gain a most unfair advantage Wych v Meal, 3 P Wms 311" Taylor § 754

But the situation has often been obscured by the circumstance that the co party's admissions are received against himself, and that they are sometimes received also against the other co party because of a privity of obligation or of title But it is not by virtue of the person's relation to the litigation that this can be done, it must be because of some privity of title or of obligation, which would indeed have admitted the statements even had the declarant not been made a co-party Wigmore § 1076 In R v Hardwicke, 11 East 578 Ellenborough L C J said "Evidence of on[illegible] defendants in trespass will no[illegible] But if they be established to[illegible] declaration of the one, [illegible] evidence against all [illegible] object" The payment [illegible] the principal debtor cannot create a new period of limitation for the surety's debt Gopal Dass v Gopal Bin, 28 B 248.

In Ambar Ali v Lutfee Ali, 45 C 159 = 25 C L J 619 = 21 C W N 500, at page 999 Mr Justice Mookerjee said "There can be no room for controversy that the admission is good evidence against the maker of conveyance, but the question arises whether it is admissible against the other defendants These defendants it will be observed, are jointly interested in the land now in dispute, along with fourth and fifth defendants, in fact, they claim under a common lease from the landlord, and have on the basis thereof, taken a common defence to defeat the suit of the plaintiffs But these defendants were not joint owners of the property covered by the conveyance of 1894, and were strangers to that transaction They consequently press the view that an admission made by the owners of that property cannot be received in evidence against them, merely because, since the date of the alleged admission, they have jointly acquired the property now in suit. In our opinion this contention is well founded and section 18 of the Evidence Act is of no assistance to the plaintiffs The principle which regulates the reception in evidence of an admissio[illegible] another defendant, was formulated in [illegible] Sundari 11 C 585, Chatho Singh v [illegible] muddi, 44 C 130 = 20 C W N 1217 [illegible] are jointly interested in the subject mat[illegible] these persons is receivable not only [illegible] defendants, whether they be all join[illegible] relates to the subject matter in d[illegible] character of a person jointly intereste[illegible] is tendered The requirement of the [illegible] in legal interest between the joint owners is of fundamental [illegible] Blakeney v Bishop, 11 Beav 134. [illegible] joint owner-ship [illegible] Blakeney [illegible] person cannot [illegible] interest in the [illegible]

[illegible] consequently it is not by virtue of the [illegible] to the litigation that [illegible] the oth[illegible]

[illegible] of the admission against the co-defendant

S.

the words of section 18 were perfectly clear and in as much as he made the statement when he had parted with his interest in favour of his co-defendant in the present suit, the admission made by him could not be treated as evidence of admission against the co defendant Rambillan v Ubon Bagh 30 C W N that the brothers were not joint at the date of the sale and that the properties were exclusively owned by U put in a deposition given by another brother K in the suit in which the money decree against U was passed in the course of which K stated that the family was not joint and the properties belonged exclusively to U Held, that the deposition of K in the previous suit was not including defendant No 6 constituted a joint family and that a certain property was joint family property The defendant No 6 in the course of his deposition as a witness on behalf of the representatives of Upendra Nath Ghose in suit No 127 of 1911 stated that on the death of the plaintiffs' father Upendra separated from his brother and that there was no joint family The defendant No 6 therefore was not claiming any interest in the property in question and in the 'admission' made by him in the previous suit he did not fulfil the character of a declarant jointly interested with the party, in respect of the property conurther more, it is ay that at the time

No 6 there was thers" Nogendra
v. Laurence Jute Mills, 25 C W N 89 (94)=61 Ind Cas 544 An admission of one defendant in a written statement in a suit will not be evidence against the
by examining that defendant who Ind Cas 974, see also Appavu
4 M L T 117=25 M L J 729, s 2, Hiat Bakhsh v Lachmuna, a confession of judgment by one of nce against the other defendant 129, Amrito Lal v Rajanee Kant,
2 I A. 113=23 W R 214=15 B L R 10, Narindar Singh, v C M King, A I R 1928 Lah 769, Saidu v Meher, 101 Ind Cas 589, Jones v Turberville 2 Ves Jur 11, Hay v Gordon, 10 B L R 301=18 W R 480 P C, Gopal v Gopal, 28 B 248, Morse v Royall, 12 Ves 362, Daniel v Potter, 1 M & M 503, Chandraeshwar v Chuni Ahir, 9 C L R 359 A co party cannot, indeed, as a rule use the statements of his associate on the record as against the opposing interest He may, however, employ them in his own favour as against the declarant Chamberlayne's Ev § 1316

interest, and may be easily applied Many other cases arise which cannot be brought under any certain rule but must depend largely upon the facts as to identity of interest, as they are brought out at the trial In either case the authority should clearly appear before the statement of one should be considered binding as against another Bare statements by an agent unaccompanied by o doing of his principal's business, ess it were shown that the principal In most cases the statements of an l with acts in such a way as to be part of the res gestae. McKelvey Ev
§ 125; Greenl. Ev § 109

S. 18. Admissions of persons having joint interest

... persons seized jointly are seized of the whole, each being seized of the whole, the admission of either is the admission of the other and may ... Nagendra v Lawrence Jute Co, 25 C C 159 = 21 C W N 996 = 25 C L J ... An admission made by some of several defendants in their character of persons jointly interested with the other defendants in the matter in respect of which the admission is made is binding on the other defendants Bhika Mal v. Ganga Ram, 69 Ind Cas 35; Meajan Matbar v Alimuddi Mea 31 ...

... and his fellows, whether they be all jointly suing or sued provided the admissions relate to the subject matter in dispute and were made by the declarant in his character of a person jointly interested with the party against whom the evidence ...
Meajan v Alimuddin, 34 ... v Mukta, 11 C 588 ... in evidence against anoth... were jointly interested, ... mere community of interest will not be sufficient Taylor Ev § 750 An apparent joint interest is obviously insufficient to make the admission of one party receivable against his companions, where the reality of that interest is the point in controversy A foundation must be laid, by showing ... facie that a joint ...
not be est...
but this ...
against th...

... for a sum of money, the other brother is not bound by such admission Mama v Madho, 21 Ind Cas 165

In ad...
who ...
releva...
be made ...
tial interes...
one entitl...
D' Alton, ... interest is ...

party in in... example, ...

... the admissions of party in interest Thus the interest of cestui qui trust of a bond, in a suit by the trustee, is an original interest, and not a mere incidental interest in the result of the suit, so also, the interest of persons in a policy effected in another's name, for their benefit It is also a requisite that the statements should have been made during the continuance of the interest. Declarations, made after the declarant has ceased to have any interest in the matter are not admissions, but mere hearsay Burr Jones § 238 The admission of one executor does not conclude another. Chunder Kant v Ramnarain, 3 W.

R 63 The admissions of the executor of a donor may be treated as the admission of the donor. Dwarkanath v Chundeechurn, 1 W R 339. The admission of a ryot of the rate of rent at which he holds a tenure cannot be treated as evidence against another ryot to prove the rate at which he holds the tenure Nuroohurry v. Naraince, W R (F. B) 23=1 Ind Jur O S 9.

Privies in Obligation. So far as one person is privy in obligation with another, i e, is liable to be affected in his obligation under the ... by the acts of ... admissions of ... Not ... here ... who ... interests ... one or two other classes of liability Wigmore § 1077.

Joint Promisors Co promisors like principal and sureties are also privies in obligation, and on principle the admission of one should be admissible in evidence against the other provided the other conditions are satisfied The rule is that, in the absence of fraud, if the parties have a joint interest in the matter in suit, whether as plaintiffs or defendants, an admission made by one is, in general evidence against all Such was ... laid down ... opriety and ... questioned ... al, 2 Bing. ... Brandram ... and to each ... Thus also ... period of limitation by one of several ...

... the act of one member of a class is liable to be taken as the act of all So acknowledgment of a judgment ...

Ashanullah v Dakhini, 27 ...

... Cas ... nt by ... st be ... 21 of ... eived ... decisions

18. of English Courts are by no means uniform in this respect Thus in an action against joint makers of a note, if one suffers judgment by default, his signature must still be proved against the other. Gray v Palmer, 1 Esp 135, Shirref v Wilks, 1 East 48

Principal and surety. Principals and sureties are privies in obligation i e one is liable to be affected in his obligation under the substantive law by the acts of the other Wigmore § 1077 So where the effect of a contract is that a surety shall be responsible for the acts and admissions of the principal, such admissions are competent evidence against the surety Burr Jones Ev § 238 So the entries of the principal were evidence against the surety because they were made by the collector (principal) in pursuance of the stipulation contained in the conditions of the bond Whitnash v George 8 B & C 561; Goss v Watlington 4 B & B 132 (137); see also Jordon School District v Gaets, 23 D L R 739 (Canada), Sanders v Keller, 18 Ida 592 But ordinarily where a principal is not a party to the suit his declarations are not admissible, unless they are made while the employment in which the principal was engaged continued, and in such manner as to be part of the res gestae Burr Jones § 238 The principle is thus laid down by Greenleaf "The admissions which are thus receivable in evidence mu... as we have seen be those of a person having at the time some inte... in the suit to which he is a party ... looks chiefly to the real parties in in... same weight, as though they were parties to the record ... of the cestui que trust of a bond; those of the persons interested in a policy effected in another's name, for their benefit; those of the shipowners, in an ... of the identifying creditor, in an action ... deputy sheriff in an action against the high ... ty, are all receivable against the party making them And in general, the admissions of any party represented by another, are receivable in evidence against his representatives" Greenl Ev ... incidental or contingent interest in ... for the introduction of hearsay ... n interest Burr Jones § 238 ...

so as to become part of the res gesta otherwise not The surety is cons... party, and not for whatever he might ...
to proof of his conduct by original evidence, where it can be had, exclu... all declarations of the principal, made subsequent to the act to which they relate, and out of course of his official ... Greenl Ev § 187 So in an action against a surety the I...
of any admissions ... the surety Rambhaj ... v Sreedevi, 25 M L ...
D 668, Lush J sa...

had rece...
receivab...
Chesney,
one bec...
a clerk, ...
confessions of embezzlement made by the principal after his dismissal, ... admissible in evidence (Smith v. Whittingham, 6 C & P. 78. Goss v Watlington ...

37), though, Whitnash : McGahey v. case of Ex it even a decree against the principal to the amount of debt, but see Drummond v. Prestman, 12 Wheat 515 the money that the wife's admissions of the receipt by her of the carriage and horses were admissible Francis v Lewis, 10 Johns 35, Greenl Ev § 187 So when A guaranteed the performance of any contract that B might make with C, the admissions and declarations of B were held admissible against A, to prove the contract Meale v McDowell, 5 Bing 195; Greenl Ev § 187.

But where the surety, being sued for the default of the principal, gives him notice of the pendency of the suit, and requests him to defend it, if judgment

they operate against the surety Greenl Ev § 188

Privies in Title The admissions of one who is privy in title stand upon the same footing as those of one who is privy in obligation (Vide supra p 343) Having precisely the same motive to make correct statement and being identical with the party (either contemporaneously or antecedently) in respect to his ownership of the right in issue, his admissions may, both in fairness and on principle, be 1080
The grounds u with the party maki Rowe,
1 A & E 1 J in Gibblehouse v and admissible evidence of any fact admitted by them to be true, and may be given in evidence to prove it, notwithstanding the confessions might be such as to show non ex
when making
party extends not only to the admissions of them against himself, but against all who claim or derive their title from him, in other words, between whom and himself there is a privity There are four species of privity privity in blood, as between heir and ancestor privity in representation as between testator and executor, common privity of confessions . . It is asked, why not swear him? The answer is, the other

S. 18. party likes his declarations better. He may, from the same motive, vary his statement, and the party offering this evidence is alone to judge '

Admission ... land is so identified in ... title, that his admissio ... vested with title, are rece ... t the self interest involved in the ownership of tit' truthfulness of statement against interest m 19 Ill 383, Taylor, § 787 It is imperative pri ... of ... sta ... aff ... Kel ... and ...

suc ... we think they are receivable on the ground of identity of interest The fact of his being alive at the time of the trial, when, perhaps, his memory of facts was impaired, and when his interest was not the same, does not in our opinion, affect the admissibility of those declarations which he formerly made on the subject of his own rights" Woolway v. Roe, 1 Ad & E 114 So the declarations of former owners or occupiers, made while in possession, have been admitted as evidence of the nature and extent of their title against those claiming in privity of estate Taylor § 758, Doe v Austin, 9 Bing 41; Davies v Pierce, 2 T ... 367, Jackson v Bord, 1 Johns 230, 234, W ...

... ect ... claran ... R 2(... scheme between the grantor and grantee, e g ... that the declarant, if at the time owner ... possession, and conversely, that his being in ... does not make his declaration competent as an admission ... v Dalton, 109 Cal 662 (Am) ... books of survey, ... on this ground, wh ... under whose direc ... they are offered ... So, as to receipts fo ...

... successor, in an ejectment for the same property, in right of his vicarage Doe v Cole, 6 C. & P 359 The receipts, also, of a vicar's lessee, it seems, are admissible against the vicar, in proof of modus, by reason of privity between them Jones v Carrington, 1 C & P 329, 330 n); Maddison v Nuttal, 5 Price 485 An answer in Chancery is also admissible in evidence against any person actually claiming under the party who put it in, and it has been held prima facie evidence against persons generally reputed to claim under him, at least so far as to call upon them to ... er Earl of Sussex v Temple, 1 Ld ... Roberts, 16 East 334, 339. The ac ... contain ed in a mortgage deed is ... sentatives in interest of the original ... A 191 = 11 A L J 221, Brajesu ... Hid. 5, 10 A L J 390 Bakhshi v Lal Jhai, 35 A 353, Birbal v. Behari, 20 Ind Cas. 815

The admission of a zamindar that the holding of certain tenants is Mokurruree at a given rent is binding on any zamindar who succeeds him without being an auction purchaser at a sale for arrears of revenue. Watson v Nobin, 10 W R. 72.

S.

Sales for arrears of Revenu

bind v. Rakhal, 12 C

Hossain v Girdharee Lal, Bom L R P C 78; Poreshnath v Ananta Nath, 9 I A 147, Watson v Nobin, 10 W. R 72 The auction purchaser at a revenue sale acquired all the rights, which the original seller at the date of perpetual settlement had Forbes v. Meer Mahomed, 20 W R. (P C) 44 He is not also bound by the admission of the previous owner Rungo v Raj Coomaree, 6 W R 197; Radha v Rakhal, 12 C 3?; judgment debtor Dinendro v Ram Kumar, 7 C 107 P C = 8 I A 65 = 10 C. L R 281, In Lala Prabhu Lal v Mylne, 14 C 401 (413) it was held that an auction purchaser is not a representative of the judgmen... vidence Act See also Gour S... aj Coomaree 6 W. R 197, 1... purchaser is not barred... Koodep v Govt of India, 11 B L R 71 (P C) = 14 M I A 247 Where the property is sold in execution of a decree, it can not be correctly said that the owner gives any right to the purchaser, Mulji v Kashi Bai, 10 B... judgment debtor to the exte...

his wish, and he is not bound by some of the acts of the judgment debtor, such as alienations made by the latter to defeat the decree but that does not show ... is not the ... ny purpose ... hari v Hem ... not in any ... By this ... In a later ... representative ... o Prosonno ..., 26 C 250 ... purchaser held in execution of a simple money decree against a judgment debtor is a representative of th...

the representative ... the nature of the qu... is between the judgment-debtor and the auction purchaser and the interests of the two are conflicting, the auction purchaser can in no sense be considered to be a representative of the judgment debtor Narotam v Sukhraj, A. I. R 1928

S. 18.

ckson v McCall, 10 Johns (N Y) 73), to show that the ancestor had ence would have been admissible 69 N Y. 404 Stating the rule ver the admissions of an ancestor are admissible against an heir claiming under him by descent The principle upon which such evidence is devisor are competent against the devisee, those of an intestate against his administrator, and those of a testator against his executor Broaddus v Jan s

80 Conn 446, see also Meath v Winchester, 3 Bing N. C 183, Mad... v Nuttal 13 M. & R 15, Carr v Mostyn, 5 Ex R 369; Doe v C..., 6 C & P 559 So also the admissions of a testator that his tenant was to pay no rent, are admissible against his executor Cox. v Baird, 11 N L J. 105-19 Am Dec 386 And the declarations of an intestate are admissible against his administrator, or any other claiming in his right Smith v Smith, 3 Bing N C 29; Ivat v Finch, 1 Taunt, 141 A statement by the testatrix suggesting any inference as to the execution of a will would be an admission relevant against her representatives and would therefore be admissible as evidence Nana v Shanker, 3 Bom L R 465 applying the rule that a man's d his privies, care must be taken r life and that of a tenant in ... by some statute, prejudice, by in adm ... tail is ... does, wi ... So the ... in tail ... Giff 45 ... Kanhai ... Hindu ... and I ... 82 Ind. Cas 1052; 86 Ind Cas 853 But by Act I of 1927 ... as regards acknowledgment have been made absolute The declarations of the tenant for life, do not bound the remainder man, as there is no privity ... them, for a privy in estate is a successor to the same estate, not to a ... estate in the same property, and the statements of the tenant for years are not admissible against the owner in fee. Hill v Roderick, 4 Watts & S

Landlord and tenant Mortgagor and Mortgagee etc A similar relation ... s, parol declarations of a for fraud are admissible where such declarations ... n v, Meyers, 11 Wend ... ce established it tely, and the of his

... in possession of ... relation of ... Ind Cas 644 = 10 ... or in title of ...

S 18[illegible]

[illegible] same rights of property [illegible] that the rights of [illegible] of the latter. [illegible] property. In [illegible] owner [illegible] may [illegible] mentioned, [illegible] rights in respect of [illegible] same as that [illegible] for them [illegible] there is no [illegible] who [illegible] charged [illegible] against the [illegible] that has [illegible] Dec. [illegible] are [illegible] there[illegible] object[illegible] in these cases [illegible] and [illegible] evidence, [illegible] of [illegible] ma[illegible] com[illegible] the [illegible] is not [illegible] Court [illegible] is true [illegible] rule [illegible] against [illegible] only, [illegible] Cal. [illegible] W [illegible] as a [illegible] in [illegible] inter [illegible]

[illegible] relevant [illegible] Co. [illegible] admission [illegible] identi[illegible] Where [illegible] claims [illegible] as [illegible] recei[illegible] would [illegible] 517 [illegible] of a [illegible] bro[illegible] 2 [illegible] to pr[illegible] [illegible] has been admitted [illegible] 7 [illegible]

S. 18. Am . . dary [Jackson v McCall, 10 Johns (N Y) 377)]; . Wis 373), to show that the ancestor had made . ch evidence would have been admissible again . Founer, 69 N Y 404 Stating the rule more whenever the admissions of an ancestor would . ng they are admissible against an heir claiming under him b . received is that the decla . his interests were such . of his title or possession . would have to his own . Chadwick v Founer, 69 N. Y 404. In the same manner the admissions of a devisor are competent against the devisee, those of an intestate against his administrator, and those of a testator against his executor Broaddus v James, 13 Cal App 464 Thus in an action by an administrator against the widow of his intestate for the conversion of property, declarations of the intestate that his tenant was to pay no rent are admissible for the defendant Mooney v Mooney, 80 Conn 446, see . N C 183 Madison v Nuttal, 1 M. . 6 C & P . no rent, Cox v. Baird, 11 N. L . Am De. . intestate are admissible against his administrator, or any other claiming in his right Smith v Smith, 3 Bing N C 29; Ivat v Finch, 1 Taunt, 141 A statement by the testatrix suggesting any inference as to the execution of a will would be an admission relevant against her representatives and would therefore be admissible as evidence Nina v Shanker, 3 Bom L R 465

Life estate . admissions are . to distinguish be . tail A tenant for life cannot, unless empowered by some statute, prejudice an admission, the interest of a remainder man or reversioner, but a tenant in tail is regarded as representing the inheritance, and, therefore, what he says or does, will often be binding on the person entitled in remainder Taylor § 730 So the remainder man is bound by release of equity of redemption by a tenant in tail in possession Reynoldson v Perkins, Amb 563, Pendleton v Rooth, . Somdal . 4 71, that . were not . Venka . Rao, 82 Ind Cas 1052; 86 Ind Cas 853 But by Act I of 19.. the . decisions as regards acknowledgment have been made absolute The declarations of the tenant for life, do not bound the remainder man, as there is no privity between them, for a privy in estate is a successor to the same estate, not to a different estate in the same property, and the statements of the tenant for years are not admissible against the owner in fee Hill v Roderick, 4 Watts & S (Pa) 221

. . . such declara- . ere . Meyers, 11 Wend . v, . established it . once . . ly, and the . or remo . nts of . . owledgme . predecessor as though they were his own Jackson v Davis, 5 Cow. (N.Y.) . An admission made by landlord, after creation of tenancy is not binding on tenant An agreement between two proprietors to become joint proprietors not binding on tenants Puran v Dhanpat, 52 Ind Cas 739 But the declarations of the tenant are not admissible to affect the title of the landlord Jones § 243

The admissions of mortgagor as against mortgagee are on the same footing as those of grantor and grantee, and evidence only in so far as they affect estate mortgaged, and are limited in point of time to those declarations made before the signing of the mortgage Foote v Beecher 78 N. Y 155 An admission by the surviving daughter of a member of a joint Hindu family, that the children of her deceased sister were entitled to her father's share was held to be evidence of the existence of the title before the suit Gour Lal v Mohesh, 14 W R. 181

S. 1

Vendor or Assignor of personalty The same principle holds in regard to admissions made by the assignor of a personal contract or chattel previous to the assignment, while he remained the sole proprietor, and where the assignee must recover through the title of the assignor, and succeeds only to that title as it stood at the time of its transfer, in such case, he is bound by the previous admissions of the assignor, in disparagement of his own apparent title But this is true only where there is an identity of interest between the assignor and already stale, or otherwise infected with circumstances of suspicion Harrison v Vallance 1 Bing 15, Greenl Ev § 190, Taylor § 790 citing from Greenl Ev § 190 Thus, the declarations of a former holder of a promissory note negotiated is not to be cut down by the acknowledgment of a former holder that he had no title Barough v White, 4 B & C 325 explained in Woolway v Rowe 1 Ad & El 114 116, Shaw v Broom, 4 D & R 730, Beauchamp v Parry, 1 B & Ad 89, Hackett v Martin, 8 Greenl 77 So, so far as choses in action are concerned, this is one exception to the general rule already stated Therefore declarations of a former owner of negotiable paper are not admissible against one of the indorser made while the interest was in him are admissible in evidence for the defendant Bayley on Bills, 502, 503, Pocock v Billings Ry & M 127

Admissions of [illegible] the act of insolvency, evidence against ano
ram v Radha 34 C L J 107=49 C 93 66 Ind Cas 15, see also Re v Tollemache, 13 Q B D 720 Re Bottomley, 84 L J K B 1020 So also evidence taken in the public examination of an insolvent cannot be used as against a third party to prove or disprove a title Jnanendra v The Official Assignee, 30 C W N 346, Re Brunner 19 Q B D 572 In re Cooper 19 Ch D 580 Madhoram v Official Assignee, 27 C W N 611

Illustrative cases of Admissible evidence In order to be a relevant admission, it is necessary to show that the person who made the statement had an interest at the time when he made the statement Jogeswar v Akhoy 19 C L J 1=22

as admissions only when the admissions are of a date prior to the date of their deriving interest Statements made by persons in possession of property and qualifying or affecting their title thereto are receivable against the party Galstaun v Mirza
by Te is rtue 39= ame foot

they allo

S. 18. A I R ... by accused to a Police officer are ... under ss 17 and 18 of the Evidence ... his favour Azimudin v. Emperor, 44 C L J 253 = A I R 1927 Cal 17 A statement made on oath by the accused before the Coroner at the time of the inquest is admissible in evidence at the trial as a statement made by a party to a proceeding under ss 18 and 21 of the Evidence Act Emperor v Ramnath, 28 Bom L R 811 = 50 B 111 = 93 Ind Cas 690 A statement in a case drawn up by an attorney for the opinion of a pleader is admissible in evidence as it must be regarded as a statement of the persons on whose behalf he was acting and what is said or done by him in the course of his business and within the scope of his authority is said or done by the persons on whose behalf he was acting Chandiesuar v Bisesuar A I R 1927 Pat 61 = 5 Pat 777 A party is bound by ... questions of facts, whether

... A I R 1 ...
Ganesh, A I R 1929 All 146 The admission ... unsupported by other proof, should be rece... and caution Mrs L v W L A I R 1928 Sind 55 = 105 Ind Cas 410 A statement made by an agent to the effect that his principal was a bastard was admissible in evidence as an admission under section 18 of the Evidence Act Raj Fateh Singh v Baldeo Singh, 3 Luck 416 = 109 Ind Cas 310 = A I R 1928 Oudh 233 An admission if gratuitous, can be withdrawn at any time and therefore such a confession though against the interest of the party making it, is of little value Badhu Ram v Uttam Chand, A I R 1925 Lah 726 A Batwara paper signed by the Partition Deputy Collector and containing entries required by the provisions of Ch 7, is a record made in the course of official duty within the purview of s 35, Evidence Act It would also be evidence against the proprietors under ss 18 and 13, Evidence Act, because they ... A I R 1929 Pat 32 = ... tion ... such ... him Jamuna v Ka las A I R 1929 Pat 254 = 10 P. L T 183 A p... has authority to admit certain facts so as to dispense with the necessity of further proof in a criminal case at the appellate ... I R 1928 Bom 241 = 36 ... be proved by the plaint...

... accused under section 18 of the ... his favour Azimuddy v Emperor, 44 C L J 253 = A I R 1927 Cal 17

Illustratives cases—Inadmissible evidence An admission made by a creditor after transferring his debt to a third person to the effect that the debt had been paid to him in part or whole before he had sold the claim, is not binding upon the vendee under section 18 of the ... v Wasawa Singh 25 Ind Cas ...

... with the ... Ind Cas 566 ... made by his Mukhtear ... of the authority con... I R. 1923 P 37. An ... emptor by another p... suit between plaintiff ... vendees Ahmad v Jawahar, 84 Ind Cas

257=A. I R 1923 Lah. 16. A party cannot be bound by admission of his pleader as to law in as much as the parties must be presumed to know what is correct law. Chanloo v. Murlidhar, A. I. R 1926 Oudh 311=13 O L J. 138=92 Ind Cas 732; Fateh Ali v. Ahmad Din, A I R 1927 Lah 281=100 Ind Cas. 833; Panjabai v. Bhaguan, 31 Bom L R 88=A I R 1928 Bom 89, Muthia Chetti v Muthu, A. I R 1927 Mad. 852=26 M L W. 465=39 M. L. T. 240; Ulchi v. Nallamali, A I. R 1928 Mad. 90 Recitals, regarding the boundaries in a document not inter partes and statements made by third parties cannot be admitted. Sarat Chandra v. Sarala, A I. R 1928 Cal 63=105 Ind. Cas 6 [illegible] one of several defendants in [illegible] Narindar v C M. King, A. [illegible] I R 1929 Lah. 129 Kishan v. Lachman, A I. R 1930 Lah 138 Neither the declaration of a donor nor the declaration of [illegible] evidence as against the [illegible] R 1928 Oudh 111 [illegible] capable of being regarded as a stale or time barred claim, it is to his interest to make allegations which would save the claim from the bar of limitation Having [illegible] were actually made Ammallu [illegible]

Admission by one of the defendants that the land in a suit is ancestral is not binding on the others when they are not represented by him and have independent rights of their own Kishore v Lachman, 122 Ind Cas 109=A I. R. 1930 Lah. 230

The Mohants of Deva Pritha Saheb are managers A Chela must first be nominated [illegible] cannot be regarded as admissions [illegible] Worshippers are not bound by the admissions of previous Mohants Ram Parshad v Shivomani, A I R 1931 Lah. 161; but see Vidya Purna Tritha v Vidyanidhi Tiratha, 27 M 435; Hargian v. Baldev, 127 P R 1908=123 P W R 1908 (F B)

19. Statements made by persons whose position or liability it is necessary to prove as against any party to the suit, are admissions, if such statements would be relevant as against such persons in relation to such position or liability in a suit brought by or against them, and if they are made whilst the person making them occupies such position or is subject to such liability.

Admissions by persons whose position must be proved as against party to suit

Illustrations

[illegible]

A statement by C that he owed B rent is an admission, and is a relevant fact as against A, if A denies that C did owe rent to B

Scope of the section Ordinarily statements by strangers to a proceeding are not relevant as against the parties Coole v Braham, 3 Ex 183 But in some cases, the admissions of third persons, strangers to the proceeding are receivable Greenl Ev § 181, Taylor § 759 The admission of a third person against his own interest, when it affects his position or liability and when that [illegible]

S. 19. to add to the category of persons by whom a statement may be made before it can be considered to be an admission within the terms of the Indian Evidence Act The statements referred to in section 19 become admissible only provided that the ... as regards their nature and section 21 or an ... heir liability. Per Tyabji J in Appasu ... person whose position in relation to prope... to prove against another, is in the nature ... has not been ... statements are admissible ... of such persons at a particular time; in which case the practice is ... evidence in general as would be legally admissible in an action between the parties themselves Greenl Ev § 181 Thus in actions against the sheriff for not executing process against the de... ... of the debtor admitting his debt to be due to the execution ... the sheriff Kempland v Macaulay, ... 42, Re Brunner, 14 Q B D 572 ... person has been held sufficient evidence, on the part of the defendant, to support a plea in abatement for the non joinder of such persons as defendants in that suit; it being admissible in an action for the same cause Clay v Longslow, ... of a bankrupt, made before the act of ... Jarret v ... bankruptcy, ... use of the ... Ev § 181 ... Edwards ... D 72 ... Re Tollemache, 14 Q B D 415, ... his being An admission made by a land... proprietors of certain land and others, ...

Mal, 11 Lah. 503 = A I. R 1930 Lah 579 = 128 Ind Cas ... title, proceedings in a previous title suit instituted by defendant against third persons are relevant under this section Jairam v. Loke Nath, 125 Ind Cas. 782 = A I R 1930 Pat 405

Illustrative Cases—Admissible Evidence Where in a case of a disputed deed of adoption the defendant alleged that the deceased executant had become shortly after the execution of the deed aware of its existence, purport and ...

taken regarding it, cannot be excluded as irrelevant, but is admissible ... Evidence ... sections 18, 19 or 21 or section 11 of the Evidence ... in a ...

... for a long time is an admission in the defendant tenant's favour and ... amount to setting up a custom Janaki Kuar v. Usman, 62 Ind Cas 417, see also Rameshwar ... An admission made by a person ... against ano... from the for... ... question at issue was ... whom her mother was ... it was alleged, ... she was described as ... which she stated that she had been living with the alleged father for 10 or 12 years, even if admissible is of no weight for the reason that her statement does not amount to an admission that she was living in adultery Maqbulan v. Ahmad Husain, 26 A. 108 P. C = 8 C. W. N. 241 = 6 Bom L R. 233 = 31 I A. 38

Admissions by persons expressly referred to by party to suit

20. Statements made by persons to whom a party to the suit has expressly referred for information in reference to a matter in dispute are admissions.

Illustration

The question is whether a horse sold by A to B is sound A says to B—"Go and ask C; C knows all about it" C's statement is an admission

Principle If a party, instead of expressing his belief in his own words, names another person as one whose expected utterances he approves beforehand, ement; and it

" said Ellen-

another upon

s third person

by himself."

ontaining the true account of a particular matter, thereby making it evidence in regard to the particulars for which he has so vouched its correctness Bricknell v Hulse, 7 A. & E. 468, Richards v. Morgan, 33 L J Q B 114, Wills' Ev p 162

Admission by persons expressly referred to by party to suit. It not cases, the party is bound by the declarations of the persons referred to, in the same manner and to the same extent as if they were made by himself Burr Jones, § 263, Soloman v Herne, 2 Esp 695, Williams v Bridges, 2 Stark 42, Kempland v Macaulay, Peake's Cas 65 In such a case the admission of a third person are receivable in evidence, against the party who has expressly referred another to him for information, in regard to an uncertain or disputed matter This species of admissions is well rec unfairness in

Esp 145, on a

to A, and he

ing "Where

, what he says

if it is connected with the business which is referred to him, is evidence" In Daniel v Pitt, 1 Camp 364 note, defendant said, "If C will say that he did deliver the goods, I will pay for them" In the circumstances C's admission was held admissible Similarly in Brock v Kent, 1 Camp (note) defendant desired the plaintiff to enquire of Jones about it, Jones being a person who had paid money Jones' statement was held admissible. In Garrett v Ball, 3 Stark 160, which was an action of trover for a horse the plaintiff had said "if the defendant would take his oath that the horse was his, he should keep him" The fact of the defendant's affi

1 C & P 532 the defendant

"him" he meant one H was admissible In Sybray v to a horse, the defendant sai

the horse was killed was to charge the defendant, beca agents" In R v Mallory, receiving stolen goods by the accused, the accused referred the police to his wife for a list of the prices and dates of purchase of the goods, stating that he did

S. 20. not know them, and the next day the wife handed the police the list in his presence The list was received, as an admission of the prices and dates This

he principle of awards by rests on a contractual basis

s pronouncement Wigmore ct, infra. Such statements which were in the nature of awards required no stamp even when in writing Tay § 701.

What questions may be referred In the application of this principle, it matters not whether the question referred be one of law or of fact; whether the persons to whom reference is made, have or have not any peculiar knowledge on the subject; or whether the statements of the reference be adduced in evidence herefore where two parties had on the construction of a Statute, ated was held bound thereby

& Sel 105; Downs v Cooper, 2 can be referred to a third party

Sybray v White, 1 M & W 435; Taylor § 761

Reference must be express This rule must not be understood as giving the force of an admission to statements made by a witness as against the party who calls him Gardner v. Moult, 10 A & E 468, R. v Latchford, 6 Q B 567, 577, Bricknell v Halse, 7 A & E 456 There must be an express reference for information in order to make the statement an admission Thus if A says, "I will pay ... the matter will

Killinger, 8 Wall (U S) 480 (Am) Thus, where a defendant stated that a book keeper would furnish whatever information was contained in the books, the party makes the referee his accredited agent for the purpose of giving such answer. Evatt v Hudson, 97 Ark. 265 If a party, on motion before a Judge, uses the affidavit of another person to prove a certain fact deposed to therein, such affidavit is on any subsequent trial evidence as against him of this fact, and that too, though the person who made the affidavit is present in Court Brickell v. Aulse, 7 A & E 454, Boilen v Rutlin, 2 Ex. R. 675 (679), Pritchard v Bughshaw, 11 Com B 459, Johnson v Ward Esp 47; White v. Aowling, 8 Ir L R 128, Tay, § 764 does not affect the a neces ary witness irrespective of the referees McElwee v Troubridge, 68 Hun 28 = 22 N Y Supp, 674 (Am); Burr Jones § 263

s bound by the same

Lord

had reced

S.

n to have caused

o that ordinarily mere admissions are not conclusive as is provided in section 31, but admissions

Gordhan v Husain, A I R 1927 All 659=103 Ind Cas 34, Himanchal Singh v Jatwar Singh, A I R 1924 All 570=46 A 710=10 Ind Cas 16, Muhammad Imtiaz, A. W. N (1898) 200; Keshoram v Piari, 71 Ind Cas 761, China v Venkata, 42 M 625

Admission by interpreters To render the declarations of a person referred to equivalent to a party's own admission, it is not necessary that the reference should have been made by express words but it will suffice if the party by his interpreter should be considered a nd are in no sense hearsay, nor is it neces- that his interpretation A wife's statement Schutter v Williams ed by two persons ication with each statements of what circumstances is during a trial is Schearer v Harber, cannot be admitt People v. Ah Yute, 56 Cal 119 (1m)

Depositi of a party's w the House of 21 ings as admissions British Thomson Houston v British Insulated etc Co (19) 2 Ch 160, Phip Ev 214 Unle s an express reference has been made to a witness on a certain question his statement will not constitute an admiss on as regards that question L R 2 All 209

Criminal Cases This section is applicable to criminal cases as well Th s where the accused told a constable that his wife would make out a li t of certa n property, a list afterwards m de out by her was held evidence agam t h r st was handed to the J expres ly refrain d effect of the pr son r e evidence and where he had asked for certain inquiries to be made, facts elicited in direct an wer or mere hearsay, are evidence aga nst h m v Cambell, 8 Cr App R 75, R. v Westcod

Illustrative cases—Admissible Evidence The plaintiff and the defendant in a suit signed a wr the parties that G shall statement that he may against the plaintiff Held that the statement of G must be taken to be an admission made in the suit by a nominee of a party thereto which was effectual as an admission by the party himself Himanchala v Jatuar 80 Ind Cas. 16 A I R 1924 All 570, see also Gordhan v Husain, A I R 1927 All 609=103 Ind Cas 34, Sitaram v Piari 47 A 921, Muhammad v Imtia , A W N (1898) 200

Illustrative cases—Inadmissible Evidence A party to a l t gation is not bound by the statement of the mukteer of the opposite side who was cross-examined by the parties Mt Srimati Ausanbati v Ram Jas, 4 U P L R 9 (Rev)

21 Admissions are relevant and may be proved as agun t the person who makes them, or his repre en tative in interest, but they cannot be proved by or on beh lf of the person who makes them or by his representative in interest except in the following cases —

Proof of admissions against persons making them and by or on their behalf

(1) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it, when it is of such a nature that, if the person making it were dead, it would be relevant as between third persons under section 32

(2) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it, when it consists of a statement of the existence of any state of mind or body, relevant or in issue, made at or about the time when such state of mind or body existed, and is accompanied by conduct rendering its falsehood improbable

(3) An admission may be proved by or on behalf of the person making it, if it is relevant otherwise than as an admission.

Illustrations

(a) or is not forged

A n

a statem

himself that the deed is genuine, nor can B prove a statement by him the deed is forged.

(b) A, the captain of a ship, is tried for casting her away

Evidence is given to show that the ship was taken out of her proper course.

A produces a book kept by him in the ordinary course of his business day to day, and

A may prove

ird parties, if he were dead, under section 32, clause (2)

(c) A is accused of a crime committed by him at Calcutta

He produces a letter written by himself and dated at Lahore on that day, and bearing the Lahore post-mark of that day.

The statement in the date of the letter is admissible, because, if A were dead, it would be admissible under section 32, clause (2) (d) A is accused of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen.

He offers to prove that he refused to sell them below their value.

A may prove these statements, though they are admissions, because they are explanatory of conduct influenced by facts in issue

(e) A is accused of fraudulently having [illegible] and told him it was genuine.

A may prove these facts for the reasons stated in the last preceding illustration heads are receivable is discussed under each topic (vide infra)

to a ci

the general rule as an admission Abdul Ghani v Emperor, A. I R 1931 Lah. 763 The primary rule in section 21 is that an admission is relevant and may be proved as against the person

Gulab v. Fadali, 68 Ind Cas evidence against him Lachman

Ma Tha, U B R. (1897-1901)

be proved in a criminal case just as much as an admission by the defendant in a civil suit under section 21 of the Evidence Act But an admission under that section is one made by the party against whom it is tendered before the proceedings in which it is sought to be given in evidence It does not refer to pleadings in the case or to an admission contained in such pleadings Jeemma v Vas 1? Ind Cas 961=10 M L T 506=(1911) 2 M W N 576 A statement whereby of money is in most cases an

S. 21

to a police officer is not if he is on his trial as an accused person yet it is acceptable in a civil suit as an admission under sections 17, 18 and 21 of the Evidence Act Bishendas v Ram Labhaya, 32 Ind Cas 18=106 P L title which was non existent thoug making it if the title admitted had

37 Ind Cas 983 A a member of a Hindu joint family, whose house was at Lucknow, practised as a pleader at Hardoi, and made considerable savings from his professional earnings He eventually became managing member, but was all along District.

earnings i

so entered

he purchases in the name of B

B was a statement against his own

Suraj Narain v Ratanlal 40 Ind Cas 988=21 C W N 1065=20 O C 211=19 Bom L R 737=15 A. L J 684 A written agreement by a tenant to pay the Swantantram or Thanduvaram is admissible as an admission of the evidence of custom unless the tenant explains away the admission and its effect can not be discounted or neutralised on the ground that the admission is recent Kumarappa v Manavala, 44 Ind Cas 699=41 M 374=1918 M W N 350 (F B) An oral confession by an accused person not being open to exception under section 24, 25 or 26 of the Evidence Act is as an admission by an accused person a relevant fact, and may be proved at his trial under section 21, and therefore such a confession made to a Magistrate is relevant, and may be proved by the evidence of the Magistrate Feroz v Emperor 45 Ind Cas 843=11 P R 1918 Cr =19 Cr L J 651, see also Per Heward J in Emperor v Maruti, 51 Ind. Cas 465=21 Bom L R 1065=21 Cr L J 65, contra Per Shah J in Ibid. The statement of an accused person as a witness in a previous case is admissible against him under this section to prove admission of relevant facts made by him in that statement Emperor v Banarsi, 77 Ind Cas 829=22 A L J 144=46 A 254=25 Cr L J 477 An entry in the body of the bond that no further account is outstanding against the debtor does not bind the creditor in any way and is merely an admission by the debtor in his own interest. Gurdilla v Nabi Bakhsh A I R 1926 Lah 381=93 Ind Cas 996 The statement that a document is a copy of the original ... when made by a deceased person in a docume admission under s 21 Seethaya

W N 578 (P C) Entries in purchase for clie

Ram v Madan

581 (P C) An

weight, but it i operates as an e

after him his hei — were untrue Bai Dev

v Rabishankar — L R 109, see also Hiranand

v Ahmed, 1923 — statements made by a soldier before a military — evidence against him on a criminal charge in a Civil Court R v Colpus, (1917) 1 K B 574=86 L J

K B 450

164 and 61 of the Code might be proved as admissions by the accused, wholesome provisions elaborately laid down in these two sections practically reduced to a nullity. Queen Empress v Bhairab, 2 C W. N 702 An oral

r section 24, n, a relevant ession made Magistrate. J 651; see 2 P R 1837 Cr; Rajkumar v Emperor, 9 Pat. L T. 449=A I R 1928 Pat 473; Madan Guru v Emperor 4 Pat. L T 381=73 Ind Cas 963=24 Cr L J 723; R v. Crowe, 81 J. P 28 against his co accused D to a Police officer may m, 106 P R

sible as admission Satish v Bresuar, A I R 1930 Cal 559 But an admission of judgment by one of several defendants is no evidence against his co defendant Rashiduddin v Naziruddin, 11 Lah L J 401=A I R 1929 Lah 721

18 of not ct of ined If tive uty tion 32, of the Evidence Act, or it must be relevant otherwise than as an admission In either case its value would be slight Tarak Chandra v. Prosanno, 78 Ind Cas 719=28 C W. N 679=39 C L J 389

Representative in interest would be admissible against him claiming under him by descent, and the same manner as they would Greenl Ev § 189, Davis v Melson of one having or claiming title him, they are competent against persons subsequently deriving title through or from him Burr Jones § 242 An admission against her own interest by the predecessor in title of the defendant is relevant under ss 18 and 21 of the Evidence to shift the burden Ind Cas 700 The term "legal representati C. P. C. cannot be the estate of the deceas Narain v Jai Kishen are of three kinds, namely (1) privies in blood, such as ancestors and heirs (Weeks v. Birch, 69 L. T 759) (2) privies in law, such as executor of a testator or

. 21. administrator to an intestate, and (3) privies in estate or interest as vendor and purchaser, grantor and grantee, donor and donee, lessor and lessee etc (Lilbourne v Brougham, 9 App Cas 307) Phip Ev 4th Ed p 219 The term "representative in interest" is rather vague (Ishan v Beni, 24 C 62, 72) but it seems to include most of the privies in blood, law or estate Vide notes under section 18, Woodroffe Evidence p. 255 So a party is bound by the admissions of his father and 1 A & E 114, Doe v Pettell, 5 B & A 22 . Meath v Winchester 3 Bing N C 183; also a statement by a party s predecessors Doe v Lalin, 7 C & P 481 But such admission is not binding on the successor if the statement is made after he has parted with his interest. Doe v Webber, 1 A & E 74, Pocock v Billing, 2 Bing 269 An auction purchaser in a money decree is a representative of the judgment debtor. Ram Coomar v McQueen, 18 W R 166=I. A Sup Vol 40; Unnopoorna Dassee v Muffer Poddar, 21 W R 14, Ishan v Beni, 24 C 62, Kishore Lal v Ganga Ram, 13 A 28, Harlhayal v Narayan, 1924 Nag 208, Mahomed v. Kishori, 22 C 909, Badri v Jadnath 16 A 483, Sundara v Venkatavarada, 17 M 228, but see contra Manohar v Sumitra 17 A 428 A purchaser at an execution sale is in privity with and the representative in interest of the judgment debtor within the meaning of section 21 of the Evidence Act, so as to be bound by his admissions Where therefore in a mortgage suit the mortgagor ... to a prior mortgage, the purchaser of the mortgagors and their representatives in interest under section 21 of the Ev... Act Podam Kuwar v Nahu Singh, 39 Ind Cas 635=1 P. L W 413, Pa... Nath v Jadoonath, 7 W R 441, Gadian v Veerappa, 26 Ind Cas 999=28 M L J 92, Bulal v Bihari, 76 Ind Cas 815; Bakshi v Liladhar, 35 A 303 ... admissible in recital as to the passing of cons ... evidence against the transferee ... Act Narain Singh v Bhikha ... tawa 17 Ind Cas 444=10 ... =11 A L J 221=35 A 194 ... admissible against another re... through the former Golab v Tadali, 68 Ind Cas. 568

...

Admission cannot be proved in favour of the party making it Admissions are not admitted as testimony of the declarant in respect of any facts in ... State v Willis, 71 Conn 293 P's carriage was driven against M s carriage, whereby M s thigh was broken On the trial of an action by M against P for ... for M

... to be ... Sutherland v ... rejected because ... itself favourable ... had a weak case ... suborning witnesses to speak to having heard him make such statements A vast mass of the most worthless evidence would thus be imported in the case Can Et P 136, see also R v Hard 21 How St Tr 1093 94 ... Letcherine, 7 Cox 82—8... 352 ... hearsa... by a person can... in favour of his ... certain exceptio... person is admiss... stances which g...

an admission made by the plaintiff's lessor in his own favour and was consequently not admissible under any of the provisions contained in section 11, 13, 21 or 32 of the Evidence Act Radha v Sarbeswar, 86 Ind Cas. 674 = 29 C W. N 469 = A I R 1925 Cal 689

Ev § 520, Phip Ev p 223 The framers of the Indian Evidence Act in this and (3) of the section The reason for these exceptions are thus given by Mr Cunningham "This rule (i e admission cannot be proved in favour of the person making it) however, if enacted without any relaxation would work harshly as there are some statements which though they are in the interest of the person making them, are yet from some particular circumstaces deserving of special credit Such for instance, are the statements mentioned in section 32 of the Act, to which illustrations (b) and (c) refer Practically the effect of this and the following exception is to let in a very large number of admissions as evidence in a man's favour, given to them" Cun Ev. 137.

tive force An admission again evidence, not only against privies in title, but also against strangers Rajcoomar v Bissessur Dyal, 10 C 688.

Clause (1) The securities which have been devised by municipal law for insuring the veracity and completeness of the evidence given in Courts of Justice vary, as might be expected, in different countries, and with the systems of law to which they are attached Several of those are principally relied on by the English law, such as the publicity of judicial proceedings, the compulsory presence of witness in open Court and the right of cross examination, etc Best Ev § 51 Of these safeguards against false testimony confrontation and cross-another, cannot be received in any criminal Court to affect anybody except, him Every individual who stands upon his trial in a British Court of Justice has a clear right to have the witness brought in front of the Court, to be submitted to his cross examination, that he may have an opportunity of interrogating him respecting all the particulars of the fact.' We have seen that this rule is not violated when an admission is received against a party making it But the same principle is not available when the admission made by a party is received in as a relevant fact must have some probative force So in eight cases where such statements are made admissible by section 32, the circumstantial guarantee of trustworthiness has been shown Clause (1) lays down that an admission by a person may be proved by or in behalf of the person making it, when it is of such a nature that, if the person making it were dead, it would be relevant as such admission is always admissible Section 34 of the Indian Evidence Act enacts that entries in books of account regularly kept in the course of business shall be relevant evidence though not sufficient of themselves to charge any person with liability Josuant v Sheo Naraın, 16 A (157 (161)=21 I A 6 The admission of such entries on behalf of a person making them is an exception to the general rule laid down in section 21 of the Act But where the documents are not proved to be account books regularly kept in the course of business their admission is illegal because proof of the entries therein would be in violation of

ments against proprietary interest custom or matter of public int sions of behalf of pay
fall within the language . . tion of section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act and although they ar section 21 of the Act purchased the holding the entry in the sale certificate might be used in evidence in favour of . landlord Manik v Jagadındra, 24 Ind Cas 283 see also Faral v. Prosonna, 73 Ind Cas 719=28 C W N 679–39 C L J 389 Statements as to the date of birth of a person contained in his depos . n and in . ff lavits filed by him are admissible in evi Act, if made b or hearsay Ra

M W N 208
inter alia that by one of the pl
in suit arose w 266 A statemer certificate, obtai decree against th
sion by him or his predecessor in title, and it cannot be used as evidence, . does not come under any of the exceptions to section 71. Ramani v Mahanath, 31 C 380 So also a recital in a writ of attachment is not admissible in favour of maker of the statement and is against persons who claim under an independent title Moheeruddin v. Sumera, 15 Ind Cas 310 On the question whether the Courts below should or should not have rec . ved in evidence the testimony of a docu perso
suit
Act,
Babu Madho Das, 19 A. 77 P. C.

S.

section 21 of the Evidence Act and exclude road cess returns which are sought to be admitted in favour of the person by or on behalf of whom they have been filed against persons other than the one who has made the return. Chalho v. Jhaio, 39 C. 995. A cess-return file by a stranger against anothe Dina Nath, 43 C. L J 425. of any person who claims t tive in interest. Lachmi v. Jag Mohan, 18 C. L J 633 (636), but see Ramprosad v. Lala Sham Narain, 6 C. L. J 22, where it is ruled that section 95 of the Road Cess Act has no application to the case where the parties who tendered road cess returns in evidence were not the persons who filed them, in pursuance of the provisions of the Act Road cess returns are admissible in evidence against the person by or on behalf of whom they are filed. Hem Chandra v. Kali Prosonno, 30 C 1033 P C = 8 C W N 1, Swarnamoyi v. Sourendra, 89 Ind Cas 747 = 42 C. L J 14 The effect of section 95 of the Cess Act is to prohibit the admissibility of return when tendered in favour of person of filing it, and it has, and was intended to have no immaterial whether it was put in evidence directly to prove an admission or indirectly for some other purpose Ram Narain v Hara Narain, A I R 1926 Cal 727 = 92 Ind. Cas. 104.

Clause (2) "Clause (2) has received no illustration in the Act, probably because it has already been 21. relevant admission when religion of deceased person is a fact in issue Leong v Leon, 7 R 720= A. I. R 1930 Rang. 42.

oncomitants of illness and of phy cal mplain of pain and distress I think ity of the case" Denis J in Callwell n State v. Davidson, 30 Vt. 383 (Am) party are received to show the extent general ground that such injuries are incapable of their effect"

It would be character of pa stateme
should removes 513; se
such ac above followir able '
that th
suffering In some cases it seems to be required that the person be otherwise in an apparent condition of bodily ailment, of which his statements are the natural product Penn Mutual L J Co v Wiler, 100 Ind. 103 (Am); McMurray v. Rigby, 80 Ia 325 (Am), Wigmore §§ 1718, 1719

Who may testify as to statements The extrajudicial statement of one suffering pain or conscious of other bodily sensation may, as well as his coherent or incoherent ejaculation on the same subject, be testified to by any one who heard it Accordingly, a wife, parent, daughter, nurse, other attendant, or even a mere by stander is permitted to detail the statements to the Court. Even the declarant himself may testify as to his own statements. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2625.

to be of any degree of coherence Whatever this may be, whether that of a single word, or series of words, a disjointed or completed sentence, the evidentiary purposes is the same. We are dealing with circumstantial evidence, logically tending to establish the existence of a relevant bodily condition On this ground exclamations indicative of present pain suffering or distress, are normally received without objection. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2626

Kinds of fact narrated—statements of past events and conditions ex- of because they do not relate to an internal state and thus other evidence is to narrative is admissible as to who caused R. v Gloster, 16 Cox Cr 471 (473) The rule Cleveland C C & J R Co v Newell, 104 Ind esent existing pain and of its locality are admitted upon

whether pain

beyond the ne

ings, pains or symptoms

principle of guarantee of trustworthiness, for they are not naturally caused by the existing pain or other symptoms, but being deliberate accounts of past occurrences, to the toms, a

ed in the same way. Wigmore § 1722.

Clause (3) This clause is intended to apply to cases in which the statement is sought to be used in evidence otherwise than as an admission, for ins xplaining a inadmissible

by reference

21 = A I R

is relevant

11, clause (1), as inconsistent with a rele-prisoner's innocence by circumstances they will be excluded as

So also "care must likewi

res gestae The language

N 91 = 25 C 210, where the defendants

1 which they obtained under a parti

he plaintiff and denied the said partition sly made by them, which went to show that there had been a partition and they had changed their attitude could be proved as against them and the statements were admissible evidence under sections 21 (3) and 11 (2) of the Evidence Act An admission may be proved on behalf of the person making it under section 21 clause (3) of the Evidence Act if it is relevant otherwise than as an admission If self serving statements are made in the presence of the opponent, and not denied by him, they are evidence for this purpose, so in the case of taking accounts, or where the entries are of a public nature (ss 35—37) or

In the case of a house said to have

Raghunath v Brendeshwari L R 5 A 231 = 82 Ind Cas 582 = A I R 1924 All

21. which the defendant was not a party, might be admissible in evidence as against the latter either under section 21 clause (3) read with section 11 clause (2) of the Evidence Act, or under section 32 clause (5) or under section 157 of the Act. Sayeruddin v Samiruddin, 72 Ind Cas 985 = A I R 1923 Cal 378 Self serving statements are admissible where they make relevant facts highly probable or improbable or they are res gestae Harihar Prosad v Kesho Prosad A I R 1925 Pat 68

Party can show mistake or fraud "There is no doubt that the express admissions of a party to the suit or admission, implied from his conduct are evidence—and strong evidence—against him, but we think that he is at liberty to prove that such admissions were mistaken or were untrue, and that he is not estopped or concluded by them, unless another person has been induced by them to alter this condition, in such a case the party is estopped from disputing their truth with respect to that person (and those claiming under him) and that transaction, but as to third persons he is not bound It is a well established rule of law that estoppels bind parties and privies, not strangers Per Bailey J in Heans v Rogers, 9 B & C 586 The person against whom an admission is proved is at liberty to show that it was mistaken or untrue When an admission is duly proved and the person against whom it is proved does not satisfy the Court that it was mistaken or untrue there is nothing in the Evidence Act and there is no general principle or rule of law to prevent the Court from deciding the case in accordance with it. Maung Mya v Ma Tha U B R (1897 1901) Vol II, 377 An erroneous admission does not bind the person making such admission Mangni v Shamnand A I R 1923 All 575 When in a petition there is an inadvertant admission as to the nature of certain property it is open to both sides to give evidence as to whether the person who made the admission was or was not acquainted with the incidents of the property when he made the statement Dinabandhu v Manilal 52 Ind Cas 113 Statements made by a party at a previous proceeding without any definite knowledge of his rights and liabilities do not operate as an estoppel. Where the previous proceedings were compromised at an early stage without any decision of Court the party can show in a subsequent suit that the statement previously made was untrue Mahamed v Pir Mahomed 65 Ind Cas 363 = A I R 1922 Nag 67

Statements Post Litem Motam If the analogies of other exceptions be followed [vide clause (5) section 32] all statements made post litem motam are to be rejected as untrustworthy But it is questionable whether an absolute exclusion based on this distinction is either just or necessary Wigmore 1721

Illustrative cases—Admissible evidence Where in a suit for mortgage the defendant admits the execution of the document he also admits the receipt of the consideration Seth Majanmal v Dalbortal, 21 N L R 40 = 47 C L J 222 = 107 Ind Cas 113 = A I R 1928 P C 39 The fact that a co defendant took part in certain batwara proceedings in which the land in dispute was measured and a map was prepared [illegible] plaintiff's title was a limited, is admissible in evidence though it is n[illegible] on the other defendants who claim under an in[illegible] 90 Ind Cas 643 = A I R (1926) Cal 286 [illegible] the accused under s 342, Cr Pro Code prematurely at a time [illegible] sufficient to co[illegible] them with the crime, with the commission of which [illegible] charged, had b[illegible] it was held that although the Magistrate was wrong in [illegible] Criminal Procedure Code when it was impossible [illegible] the purpose of enabling them to explain any circumstance [illegible] nce against them, still their statements actually made cannot, if apparen[illegible] e and voluntarily given, be rejected as inadmissible in evidence on account of this irregularity of procedure; and that prima facie as admissions, these statements were relevant under section 21 of the Evidence Act Queen Empress v Narayan, Rat Un Cr C 679 = Cr Rg 15 of 1893 The statements of an accused person, from which his guilt may be inferred are admissions and may be proved under section 21 Raj Mal v Empress 3 P R 1880 Cr Mt Mehro v Crown, 8 P R 1907 Cr = 5 Cr L J 182, Haroans v King Emperor, 8 O C 335 = 2 Cr L J 811, Nga Po v King Emperor, 5 Cr L J 300

Illustrative cases—Inadmissible evidence Under section 21, a Court is bound to receive in evidence admissions of a party but no such rule applies to denials Janki v. Emperor 49 A 482=25 A L J 327=A I R 1927 All. 383. A statement in an order for delivery of possession as to the rent payable in respect of the land is inadmissible in evidence in a suit between the landlord and the tenant in which the rent payable is in dispute Chandra Mohan v Sheikh Elim A I R 1926 Cal 415=87 Ind Cas 512 An admission by an agent in favour of his principal cannot be relied on by the latter to prove his title to property Maula Baksh v Jafar Ali, 4 Lah L J 437 A respondent's admission in a divorce suit is not evidence against a correspondent. Gordon v Gordon, 58 P R 1870. A party's income-tax paper may be used against him but not in his favour Shah v Emamun, 9 W R 275 A party cannot use in his own favour an admission by his predecessor in his own interest Bijoy v. Kalipada, 20 Ind Cas 78=17 C W N 1013=18 C L J 347

When oral admissions as to contents of documents are relevant

22. Oral admissions as to the contents of a document are not relevant, unless and until the party proposing to prove them shows that he is entitled to give secondary evidence of the contents of such document under the rules hereinafter contained, or unless the genuineness of a document produced is in question

Origin of the rule In evidencing the contents of a document, it has at least, his oral accounted for as advanced in early

English rulings, in a forceful op sion, Parke B declarations wer for w th that mentioned in the schedule, although such admissions involved the contents of a written instrument, not produced, and I believe my Lord Abinger, who was not present at the argument, entirely concurs. Indeed, if such evidence were inadmissible, the difficulties thrown in the way of almost every party himself admits to be true, may reasonably be presumed to be so' The an unprofessional or ignorant man may be led to believe it may be so and so, where is the real and true meaning may be the very reverse or something very

. 21.

again t 2) of the the Act 78 Self highly Pro al

A I R 1925 Pat. 68

Party can show mistake or fraud "There is no doubt that the express admissions of a party to the suit, or admission, implied from his conduct are evidence—and strong evidence—against him, but we think that he is at liberty to prove that such admissions were mistaken or were untrue, and that he is not estopped or concluded by them, unless another person has been induced by them to alter this condition, in such a case the party with respect to that person (and their · but as to third persons he is not

privies, not strangers' Per Bailey J in person against whom an admission is mistaken or untrue When an admission is duly proved and the person against whom it is proved does not satisfy the Court that it was mistaken or untrue there is or rule of law, Maung Mya v Imi s n does not bind the person making such admission Mangru v Shivanand, A I R 1923 All 575 When in a petition there is an inadvertant admission as to the nature of certain property, it is open to both sides to give evidence as to t acquainted with the bandhu v Mannal proceeding without operate as an estoppel ly stage without any decision of Court, the party can show in a subsequent suit that the statement previously made was untrue Mahamed v Pir Mahomed 65 Ind Cas 563=A I R 1922 Nag 67

Statements Post Litem Motam If the analogies of other exceptions be followed [vide clause (5), section 32], all statements made post litem motam are to be rejected as untrustworthy But it is questionable whether an absolute exclusion based on this distinction is either just or necessary Wigmore 1721

Where in a suit for mortgage locument he also admits the rec it Moorilal, 21 N L R 40=47 C L J 222=107 Ind Cas 113=A I R 1928 P C 39 The fact that a co defendant took part in certain batwara proceedings in which the land in dispute was measured and a map was prepared in which the plaintiff's title was admitted is admissible in evidence tho on the other defendants who claim u 90 Ind Cas 613=A I R the accused under s 342, sufficient to connect them with the crime, with the commission of which ld that although the Magistrate 342 Criminal Procedure Code under section 21 of the Evidence Act Queen Empress v. Narayan, 1893 Cr C. 679=Cr Rg 15 of 1893 The statements of an accused person, from which his guilt may be inferred are admissions and may be proved R. Mehro v Crown, section 2 R. 1907 peror, 8 O C L J 811 ie party tendering them is with-) admission assumes a degree to possess as of a construction e Judge may direct the docu-F & F 653, Boulter v Peplow,

J C B 133) ;—Phip Ev 226

Scope of the section This section departs from the English law as laid down in Slatterie v Pooley 6 M & W 664 Following Mr Taylor, the views expressed in Lawless v Queale 1 Ir L R 352 has been adopted in the present Act Oral admissions as to provided in this section are excluded sions as to such matters, are howe Cun Ev 140 So when the existence conditions or contents of the original have been proved to be admitted in writing by the person against whom it is proved or by his representative in interest, such written admission is admissible Section 65 clause (b) But written admission mentioned here must be distinguished from written admission made under section 58 This section does not exclude admissions which the parties or their agents agree to admit at the

8 B H C R A C J 163 (165) Oral admissions as to the contents of a document are admissible when the party is entitled to give secondary evidence of the contents of such document under sections 65 and 66 of the Act Such admissions are also admissible when the genuineness of the document produced is in question "Where the question is" says Norton "not what are the contents of a document, but whether the document itself is genuine—that is, in the handwriting of the party whose writing or signature it is alleged to be—evidence ess of the document produced is in question The effect of the last clause of this section seems to be that if such a document is produced, the admission of the parties to it, that it is or is not genuine, may be received Nort Ev 153 Even where the contents of a document may be established by admission they cannot can the be so pro is not necessary Phip Ev 226

Oral admissions of contents In 79=13 C L R 271 their Lordships ioney is lent on terms an, the lender suing promissory note If promissory note is a case indepen-

3 (182)=A W N
ala v Alhoychurn,

In
ippears to m
of sections 91,
denied that th
See also Damo

Rule in t on this point fiedly approve

23. final judgment a former action against the defendant. The Court used the following language The admissions of a party are not open to the same objection which belongs to parol evidence from other sources A party's own statements and admissions are in all cases, admissible in evidence against him though such statements and admissions may involve what must necessarily be contained in some writing deed or record Thus the statements of a party though the conveyance the production of written admissions of parties as what a party admits against himself may be reasonably taken as true The weight and value to the statements and admissions will vary according to the circumstances and must be determined by the jury Smith v Palmer 6 Cush (Mass) 513 So the admissions of a party have been received to prove the contents of letters and of a deed [Loomis v Wadhams 8 Gray (Mass) 557], the existence of a partnership 6? Pa 374) the terms of a and the contents of a telegra other hand there have been that there is no principle in t the declarations of a party ev They point out the danger of mistake or misconception as to the terms of written evidence and also the danger of falsehood or fabrication and the difficulty of detection and the danger of following record titles to be lost by testimony so uncertain in character They lay down the rule that admissions rank only with oral testimony and that unless made in open Court, they are competent only where parol evidence would be admissible to establish the same fact Halliberton v Fletcher, 22 Ark. 453, Bivens v McElroy 11 Ark 23, Flournoy v Newton 8 Ga 306, Burr Jones § 208

Admissions in civil cases when relevant

23 In civil cases no admission is relevant, if it is made either upon an express condition that evidence of it is not to be given, or under circumstances from which the Court can infer that the parties agreed together that evidence of it should not be given

Explanation—Nothing in this section shall be taken to exempt any barrister pleader, attorney or vakil from giving evidence of any matter of which he may be compelled to give evidence under section 126

Principle of excl on principles which examination it would factory It would b the principles laid dow

r a lous not tc 298

character has always been excluded and the rule has been so broad as exclude all admissions thus made Another instance of exclusion of testimony is that of an offer of one party to another to pay a sum of money or other valuable consideration with a view to a compromise of the matter in controversy It must be permitted to men to endeavour to buy their peace without being prejudiced by a rejection of their offers Hence, evidence of such offers or proposals is irrelevant, and they are not to be taken as admissions of the legal liability of the party making them But here a distinction exists between the cases of an offer to pay money to settle a controversy, and an admission of particular facts, connected with the case, made by a party pending a negotiation for a compromise The more convenient rule might have been that which is applicable to communications between client and attorney, excluding as testimony, everything communicated in this relation, which rule, if applied here, would exclude every admission made during the interview which was had for such compromise To some extent this rule was attempted to be introduced, excluding all admissions of the parties, even admissions of particular facts, where it appeared that they were expressly stated at the time 'to be made without prejudice' But the exception was soon introduced, that the evidence was competent where it was the admission of a collateral fact This theory is consistent enough with general theory of privileged communication, (vide ss 126 129) namely, that expeditious and extra judicial settlements are to be encouraged and that privacy of communication is necessary in order to encourage them, and there is indeed a privilege for a party's statements to an official conciliator In policy however it may be doubted whether the recognition of that the supposed privilege does not fit the rule of law as it is everywhere accepted and applied Wigmore § 1061(a) appar

entered into any contract by it if the offer contained in it is not accepted Similarly Lindley L J in Walker v Wilsher, L R 23 Q B D 335, said "What ... I think they mean, ... f the terms he ... e accepted, a ... hout prejudice, ... 'This theory ... contained in ... be used for its ... it contain the express words 'without prejudice', may still be inadmissible in evidence and conversely'. Wigmore § 1061 (b)

Taylor § 795 'The essence of an offer to compromise ... Thomson v Austen, 2 Drol & Ry 358, 361, 'is that the party making the offer ... on" 'Money paid upon

23. final judgment a former action against the defendant The Court used the following language 'The admissions of a party are not open to the same objection which belongs to parol evidence from other sources A party's own statements and admissions are in all cases, admissible in evidence against him though such statements and admissions may involve what must necessarily be contained in some writing deed or record [illegible]

[illegible] the best evidence does not apply to the admissions of parties as what a party admits against himself may be reasonably taken as true The weight and value to the statements and admissions will vary according to the circumstances and must be determined by the jury" Smith v Palmer 6 Cush (Mass) 513 So the admissions of a party have been received to prove the contents of letters and of a deed [Loomis v Wadhams, 8 Gray (Mass) 556], the existence of a partnership based on a written contract (Edward v Tracy 62 Pa 374) the terms of a lease in wr[illegible]

[illegible] point out the danger of mistake or misconception as to the terms of written evidence and also the danger of falsehood or fabrication and the difficulty of detection and the danger of following record titles to be lost by testimony so uncertain in character They lay down the rule that admissions rank only with oral testimony and that unless made in open Court, they are competent only where parol evidence would be admissible to establish the same fact Halliberton v Fletcher, 22 Ark 453 Bucns v McElroy 11 Ark 23, Flournoy v Newton 8 Ga 306, Burr Jones § 208

Admissions in civil cases when relevant

23 In civil cases no admission is relevant, if it is made either upon an express condition that evidence of it is not to be given, or under circumstances from which the Court can infer that the parties agreed together that evidence of it should not be given

Explanation—Nothing in this section shall be taken to exempt any barrister, pleader, attorney or vakil from giving evidence of any matter of which he may be compelled to give evidence under section 126

covered by this section are excluded rently by different Courts But on xplanations are more or less unsats- the cases and to try to find out whether satisfactory

Principle anologous to that of privileged [illegible] When an

[illegible] nu the usual way by which [illegible] privilege is by stipulating that the Ibid In Dickinson v Dickinson, 'The rules of evidence, exclude to [illegible] the declarations and admissions of a party Thus, the more fully to protect the rights of parties litigating all their communications with counsel are held to be privileged Evidence of this character has always been excluded and the rule has been so broad as to exclude all admissions thus made Another instance of exclusion of testimony is that of an offer of one party to another to pay a sum of money or other valuable consideration with a view to a compromise of the matter in controversy It must be permitted to men to endeavour to buy their peace, without being for granted, not because they are true, but because good policy constrains the temporary yielding of them to effectuate a greater good, is not admissible, truth being the object of evidence" 'The preliminary question always is,' says Doe C J in Colburn v Groton, 66 N H 151, 156, 'not merely whether an admission of a fact was made during a settlement or negotiation, but whether a statement or act was intended to be an admission It is a question, not of time or circumstances, but of intention ' So it is apparent that the occasion of the utterance is not decisive, that is, it may or may not have been accompanied by a reservation or an injunction of secrecy, and it may or may not have occurred during negotiations for a settlement or a compromise. What is important is the form of the statement whether it is hypothetical or absolute If, making all implications from claim

will a therefo

the pl

claim

is abs

occurrence in the course of compromise negotiations or in other words a conces-

Wallace v Small, 1 M & M 449 An offer of compromise, in the sense of a peace offer, may be made by an where the authority of the alleged agent for example, a wife acting for her husl ment will be rejected Chamberlayne's Ev. § 1448 An offer to compromise might be very well made, without restriction as to confidence Ibid So also to pay money by way of compro ... with a view to buy peace is not evidence

Bretton, 4 C. P 462, Gregory v Howard, 143; Turner v Railton, 2 Esp 474, on v Benson, 1 P Wms 495 In In re

was whether a written notice sent by a had suspended or was about to suspend

... to be written "without prejudice" was admissible in evidence to prove an act of bankruptcy upon the hearing of a bankruptcy petition In admitting the written notice, Vaughan Williams J said 'Ir prejudice'

with anot

23. See also Grace v Baynton, 21 Sol Jour 631. But now the question is whether the same rule applies in India also Such a question arose in a Bombay case but it is left undecided by the Appellate Court Madhavrao v Gulabbhai, 23 B 177 In that case the defendant pleaded limitation In reply the plaintiff relied on an acknowledgment of the debt by the defendant The alleged acknowledgment was written on a post card sent by the defendant by the plaintiff It was in Gujrati and was as follows —"I was bound to send Rs 30 according to my vaida (fixed time) but on account of the receipt of the intelligence of the death of my father I have not been able to fulfil my promise But now on his obsequies being over, I will positively pay Rs 30 at Sneth Meruanji's You, Sir should not entertain any anxiety whatever in respect thereof As to whatever debts may be due by my old man, I am bound to pay the same as long as there is life in me

Therefore I w

"without prej

inadmissible

and they dism

that even if acknowledgm

by limitation observations

evidence To exclude it from evidence it would be necessary to hold that the words 'without prejudice' amounted to an express condition that the card should

In England apparently the card of Vaughan J in In re Daintry,

Judge in the Court of first instance quoted, are not, as the Subordinate Judge supposes, mere obiter dicta They state documents marked without prejudice' has in dispute or negotiation with another, and the dispute or negotiation This rule is to be found in many cases

"Probably a person ma

his demand being proved at t for until the claim is not only to enable negotiations to be entered into to settle an existing dispute.

marked 'without prejudice' but which contains the terms be not accepted, can be admitted

v Spence, 58 L T 438=57 L J Ch 2 an anecdote of a young attorney who has d always that he brought an action for breach of promise of marriage against him When his letters he merits of the cause a her means" For the purpose the parties, a letter written without prejudice prevents it being read at the trial (Pollock v Forrester 3 Bkey 33),

Forrester,

has even

ter clearly

the correspondence should be privileged

Peacock v Harper, 26 W. R 109, Oliver v Nautilus Steamship Co (1903) 2 K.

B 639, Powell 293 The same rule is applicable in the case of conversations Unless there be a clear break between the conversation which is clearly without prejudice and subsequent conversation no admission of a party in the latter part of the conversation can be given in evidence Thompson v Austin 2 Dowl. & Ry 361 Correspondence marked "without prejudice" can be seen s Waller v Walsher, 23 Q B awarding costs. Ibid They r these are marked "without prejudice" In re Dimtrey (1893) 2 Q B 116: Peacock v Harper, 26 W R 109. the statements made during It is ordinarily against public A conviction based on such mperor, 11 C W N 26 N, see a dispute between two parties, 446), or where an agreement, though purporting to be a compromise, has been finally concluded (as, where it nd executed), Frognell v Lewelyn, 9 Pr 122, , 20 C. W N. 1217. Where certain letters we the plaintiffs it prejudice' and the defendant's under s 23 of the Eviden regards the letters it must be intended to claim the sam 6 O W N 1088 = A I R 1930 Oudh 193 Section 23 is no bar to the use of admission in compromise which is not rejected Sadhu v Botha, 11 L L J. 446 = A I R 1930 Lah 293

S. 2

In Healey v Thatcher, 8 C & P 388 Gurney B excluded a letter beginning ddock v ully M. empt to Thomas, Jorden adverse party with a view to a compromise, or to an action, you must look with very intention to admit liability to the extent of the claim" Meajan v Ammuram, 41 C 130 = 20 C W N. 1217 = 25 C L J 12

24. Facts adn
can be proved the witnes "he question in di
the defendant, of money on compromise" and therefore to be admissible. Thomson v. Austin, 2 Dowl &

348=4 Pat L J. 676=(1920) Pat 52.

which the Court can infer, etc This section d the words "infer that it was the intention of the fer that the parties agreed together that." In England there has been some difference of judicial opinion as to whether admis be drawn almost as a matter of course from the nature and circumstances of the case" Wills' Ev 299 This difficulty is further more obviated by the words used in the section

Explanation The explanation refers to the obligation on the part of Barristers and others to answer questions as to professional communications made to them in furtherance of a criminal purpose or as to any fact observed showing the commission of a crime or fraud since the commencement of their employment Cun Ev 141

Illustrative cases Admissibl ... person to it is for the Court dealing with the proper to such an admission Punjab Singh v Ramautar, 52 Ind Cas Admission made by the tenant defendant before the pleader of the plaintiff landlord, to whom one of the defendants went before the suit for compromise is admissible in evidence in the absence of any express or strongly implied condition that evidence of the same would not be given Meajan v. Alimuddin Mean, 20 C W N 1217=44 C 130=34 I A. 571.

A I. R 1926 Lah 509=92 Ind Cas 319

24 A confession made by an accused person is irrelevant in a criminal proceeding, if the making of the confession appears to the Court to have been caused by any inducement, threat or promise, having reference to the charge against the accused person, proceeding from

Confession caused by inducement, threat, or promise, when irrelevant in criminal proceeding a person in authority and sufficient, in the opinion of the Court, to give the accused person grounds which would appear to him reasonable for supposing that by making it he would gain any advantage or avoid any evil of a temporal nature in reference to the proceedings against him

S. 2

merel ackno
in ex.
fact c what defined in the Indian Evidence Act" says Mahmood J in Queen Empress v Babu Lal, 6 A 509 (F B) at p 539, "it, however, occurs under the category of admissions, and to make my meaning clear, I adopt the definition given by Mr Justice Stephen in Art 21 of his Digest of the Law of Evidence, by saying that a 'confession is an admission made at any time by a person charged with a crime, stating or suggesting the inference that he committed that crime" In Queen Empress v Jagrup, 7 follow the definition given "was written in view of a pr i the

, and kept out the spot to the effect that he whether those statements amounted 25 Held that the above statements as they suggested the inference that not intended by the accused, as a confession of guilt they were an admission of a criminating circumstance and would form a very important part of the evidence against the accused as showing

B 635 where at page 636, Chandavarkar J said Evidence Act makes a clear distinction between an admission and a confession. It is only under s 3 accused persons jointly as against the rest affect both the person confessing Yesuada taken by themselves do not fall within that category As held by the Allahabad High Court in Emperor v Jagrup, 7 A 646, the word 'confession' must not be construed as including a mere inculpatory admission which falls short of being an admission of guilt Section 30 must be strictly construed. The learned Sessions Judge has construed the statement into a confession by a process of inferential reasoning which is not what the terms of section 30 countenance" See also Emperor v Nani Gopal, 15 C. W. N 593 (612) = 38 C 569

In Queen v. Mac Donald, 10 B L R App 2, Phear J observed that there is a distinction in the Evidence Act between admissions and confessions, but the judgment contains no definition of the term This case was followed by 24. Prinsep J p.

the subject Tribhoran M
statements which it is proposed to prove against an accused person to establish an offence or in other words what admissions do amount to confession, remained unanswered Mullick, 15 ( meaning of between admission and confession In Queen Empress v. Nilmadhub, 15 C 595, Petharam C J also said at p 607 "If the contents of the document did not amount to a e relevant as an admission under s 21 of the learned Chief Justice admitted the ex and confession but did not give any definition of the word 'confession'. The High Court of Madras is silent on this p reported Madras
sion" one shoul Empress v Jagru
the Law of Ev time by a person committed the cr
26 Ind Cas. 161
ting the guilt o
committed the c followed th of the Law
it has been admission made at any time by a person ing the inference, that he committed that which amount to a direct acknowledgme inculpatory statements which although they fall short of being of guilt, yet suggest an inference of guilt or from which an inference of guilt follows The factor determining whether a statement amounts to a confession
.. but the fact that it leads to an
. Tha v Emperor, 5 L B R 131= 16 P R 1886 Cr;

ing the inference that he committed the crime Hakiman v. King Emperor
P L R 1905=20 P R 1905 Cr; Queen Emp (707), Superintendent v Lalit Mohan Singa, In Queen Empress v. Jave Charan, 19 B 363 him; it was no admission whatever of criminating circumstances It was therefore, admissible. The statement held to be inadmissible in Imperatrix v. Pandharinath, 6 B 34 was of a different char admitted possession of a cheque alleged one of the criminating circumstances which against the accused. In the present case the statement does not amount or indirectly, to an admission of any criminating circumstance, and is, therefore, outside the principle of the ruling cited." "In the result," says Carnduff J. in Barındra Kumar Ghose v Emperor, 14 C W N 1114 at p 1197=37 C 467 "it seems to me that each case must be decided as it arises with reference to the question whether the particular statement concerned, whether it be positive or negative, verbal or expressed by conduct, is or is not a confession See also Muthu Kumar Swami v King Emperor, 35 M 397; Emperor v Cuna, 22 Bom L R 1247, Ganapati v Emperor, 6 N L R 180=12 Cr L J 60=8 Ind Cas. 1181 "By confession I understood not necessarily a full confession of guilt, but any statement made which, being relevant to the issue, may be put in evidence against the person making it" R v Wong Chin Kuai, Roscoe, Cr. Ev 37 Confessions of other crimes not relating to the charge e g showing or admitting a general tendency even to the crime charged, are inadmissible R. v Cole, 1810, Roscoe, Cr Ev 37

In Smith v Emperor, 13 Ind Cas 605, at p 611, Phillips J said "There is no definition of confession in the Evidence Act but I take it that it must be something more that a mere admission In Emperor v Kangal Mali, 26 Ind Cas 161–15 Cr L J 713=41 C 601 when dealing with the admissibility of statements, it . . . they were put . . . of the accused as . . . be found to amount to confessions Accepting both these propositions I would add that in order to make . . .

. . . inating, I am doubtful whether the fact that it does become incriminating owing to subsequent events would make it a confession" See also Pan Gong v. Emperor, 19 Cr L J 42; Jasoda v Emperor, 53 Ind Cas 691.

An admission of all the ingredients required to constitute an offence is a confession A confession is an admission made at anytime by a person charged with . . .

. . . associates and the police recovered stolen articles from the house of the person making the confession and from the persons named by him, held, that the confession was not rendered untrue merely because the person making the statement minimised his share in the dacoity 126 Ind Cas 498=31 Cr L J 1017=A I R 1931 Oudh. 74 A statement of the following . . . sion of complicity in an offence "I told . . . kill my husband, they were at liberty . . . against them But when they arrived at . . . t, I endeavoured to restrain them and was . . . r threats to kill me and my son if I . . . part in the murder, nor did in any way assist the murderers after my husband was put to death" Bhag Singh v Emperor, 4 Ind Cas 429=21 P W. R 1909 Cr=153 P. L R 1909 A statement of an accused to the effect that under threats of death he was forced to sit outside the . . .

. . . Gul Hossain v Crown . . . A confession must . . . tute in law the offence . . .

. . . R. 133 Where the . . . complainant, it is unfair for the Magistrate to treat the circumstance as an indication of the accused's guilt. In re Abdul Rahman, 4 L W 556=17 Cr. L J 462=36 Ind Cas 142 To constitute a 'confession' under the Evidence Act, it is not necessary that the person confessing should make a full and explicit . . .

24. of his guilt so clean as to leave no other hypothesis tenable. Smith v Emperor, 43 Ind Cas 605=19 Cr L. J 189 The fact that the accused did not claim a piece of cloth as his own before the Police but admitted at that time that it belonged to the deceased might have been due to this that the defence is not forgery case be regarded as confession ...

1920 Cal 539

Confession, meaning of—English Law Stephen defines that "a confession ... with a crime, stating or ..." If the words 'any time' ... ime they seem too wide

2 K B 108 Phip Ev 255

Confession, meaning of—American view The general rule that a confession, a statement by one accused of crime directly or by necessary inference admitting his guilt, is receivable in evidence, provided it complies with certain requirements of procedure, is not questioned in any quarter It necessarily follows from the very definition of a confession that it must, as a total, incriminate the declarant, as to the crime charged in the indictment. But while every confession must be an incriminating statement, it by no means necessarily ... The confession ... confession as to ... to the knowledge ... or not conceded, ...

... ession, but ... to be established"

"A confession in a legal sense is restricted to an acknowledgment of guilt made by a person after an offence has been committed and does not apply to a mere statement or declaration o... may be inferred" State v Reinhar... Ev § 1476; Wigmore § 821 ... that an acknowledgment ... an inference of guilt is properly desig...

... or subordinate fact, or ... of facts which could be true whether the main fact existed or not" Riley v State, 1 Ga ... marked difference ... the main f... admitting ... with innoce...

On the other hand, the term confession has been strictly confined, by ... Ind Court, to distinct concessions of liability, nothing being left to inference So "to constitute a declaration a confession within the legal meaning of the term it must amount to a confession of the crime charged, or participation in such commission, as distinguished from admissions or other statements tending to prove guilt or innocence, or of facts from which, taken together, guilt is directly deducible" Encyclopoedia of Evidence, Vol III, p 298

Confession
of admissions,
a criminal charge
exists and a special rule based on the general testimonial principle of trustworthiness exists, and a special rule, based on the general testimonial principle of trustworthiness of narration, becomes applicable. That rule satisfied, the confession occupies the status of ordinary admission; its relation to other rules of Evidence is therefore determined by its quality as an admission For example, as an extra judicial statement, it would ordinarily be obnoxious to the Hearsay rule but admissions are either not within the prohibition of that rule, or are an

law that it will not force any man to accuse himself; pain and force may compel men to confess what is not truth of facts, and consequently such extorted Gilbert Ev 6th Ed (1801) p 123, Wainwright, 8 A & E 691 (700), Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 150, Taylor § ived on the same principle as that d, viz, the presumption that a against his own interest Taylor § K B 346 So it is clear that Hearsay exception for statements a qualified witness, and could to day be so regarded, where the accused, not being compellable, fails to take the stand Vide section 32, clause 4 and notes thereunder; Wigmore § 816 (Foot note) As in the case of admissions, certain vicarious admissions, i e those of agents and other persons are often receivable, so also in the case of confessions, the confessions of co accused, co conspirators, and others are also receivable. Wigmore § 816 matter begins to be considered, and it is recognised that some confessions should an examina

Wigmore §
Leach Cr
by threats o

24.

suspicion of all confessions to repudiate them upon the of changing the law or the practice" Wigmore § 817.

The Evolution of Reason To a certain extent, the history of the evolution of the law of confessions is that of most rules in the law of evidence. As is said elsewhere the early history of t be witnesses down to the close decreasingly one of administrati as part of the executive of the cro jurors as to what they might were practically no rules, certainly none having the force of law At mo action of the judges in this respect was determined by the custom, or practice of the various circuits of the King's Courts The effort was to administer the customs of the realm or other provisions having the force of law with legal reasons, as that term was then understood, for the attainment of substantial though, of course, conventional

In respect to confessic fessions by way of pleas of gu make sure that the prisoner was fully aware of the conse
the penal code then in force, for comparatively unimporta accused laboured, it seemed but just that before the judge should allow a pris undefended by counsel without the aid of witnesses, and hurriedly tried, often plea of not necessarily be taken at his word, he was to be warned and even, occasio the advised to retract his plea Of this judicial administration, as of any other, the characteristic guide and test was reason

The political events of the seventeenth century in England, to which brief reference is elsewhere made, were united with the assumed necessity for concealing valuable judicial legislation, the temper and philosophy of the times and much else, to evolve the use of reason into the direction of establishing rules of law in place of those of practice or administration During the eighteenth and most of the nineteenth centuries the rules of evidence were being formed To a very large extent, this development was marked by a change from administration, as represented by the practice on the several circuits, into rules of substantive law relating to procedure Positive regulation of admissibility establishing classes of facts to be received or rejected had taken the place of legal reasoning as freely applied in the administration to the facts of the individual case It might almost be said that practice had hardened into to law It seemed to the mind of the e protection of individual liberty as of the reasoning faculty, that a species character and the like, which substantial justice

From this period or stage of legal evolution has come the multiplicity of the conflicting decisions, each having the force of precedent, concerning

S.

[illegible] of confessions, claimed to have been involuntary, naturally, it has resulted from the rule of substantive or procedural law that all confessions made after certain [illegible] have been [illegible] to the defendant by designated classes of persons shall be rejected because in many cases such statements would be calculated to mislead a jury, that miscarriages of justice have been many and conspicuous. To a certain extent this evil consequence has been found to attend the operation of any rule of law which excludes entire classes or species of facts regardless of their probative effect in any particular instance, even where any alternative proof cannot be secured in any other way. It has therefore come to be felt as one [illegible] should be applied to the individual case rather than employed in the creation of arbitrary classes to which the quality of admissibility is once for all assigned or denied by the substantive law relating to procedure. In other words, while the feeling of the last century in favour of having a rule of law with regard to the conduct of legal business and the rights and liabilities of [illegible] and [illegible] far-reaching judicial distinction of [illegible] regarding the work of the courts [illegible]. Where the matter is one relating to rights or liabilities where certainty is important, a fixed rule of law, having the force of precedent and capable of collection, results from [illegible] judicial action in any particular case. Should, on [illegible] civil law, the law of actions, the [illegible] to be attained, the enforcement [illegible], the expediting of trials and the [illegible] are to be reached. At this point sound legal reasoning, the flexibility of administrative action, properly takes the place of the rigid rule of law, the precedent enforceable on appeal. Into this stage of legal evolution, the increasing admixture of the element of reason, the modern law of confession is and for some time has been, gradually emerging. Chamberlayne's Ev. §§ 1017, 1018.

Narration as affected by Motives to Confess guilt. "The trustworthiness of confessions of guilt has been a constant theme of argument in the administration of justice. From the point of view of logic, the question is whether the confessional narrative is explainable by any motive other than that of a consciousness of guilt arising from actual guilt. Obviously a double inference is involved,—first from the utterance of the confession to a consciousness of guilt as its motive cause and secondly from that [illegible] cause than the actual doing of the deed. There have been false confessions [illegible] in each case whether at [illegible] the confession to the [illegible] words, of the confession being a voluntary one, the process was one of choice of motives. If the confession was a false one, [illegible] of utterance with [illegible] non-confession [illegible] who is [illegible] confessor chooses [illegible] though damag[illegible] of damaging [illegible] gence, his physical condition (hunger, fatigue, fear), and his environment. E.g. in the old English case where (under the then trial rules of Evidence) a confession was excluded because some one had promised the accused a glass of beer if he would confess, we could hardly conceive of ourselves making such a choice of motives; but we might have to believe that this particular man did make it, after we learn all the data about him. So, too, the oft-repeated case between the observer's idea of the choice of motives that he would make and the choice of motives that the accused being what he is, is alleged to have made. And the observer finds it difficult to judge the choice from any but his own experience and standard. The alleged choice of false confession by the accused could have been due only to the dominance of a motive so unlikely and so queer (from the observer's experience) that the explanation seems far-fetched and improbable.

4 in China of a man falsely confessing and impersonating the guilty one out of ecution, rests on motives which would not be merican

Hence the decision in such cases calls for wide acquaintance with the human nature of confessions and an estimation of the probabilities that one of the rare or unusual motives is indeed present and dominant in the case in hand.
—Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 222

Same—Motives for confession. 'The confession is a very extraordinary psychological problem. (1) In many cases the reasons for confession are very obvious, the criminal sees that the evidence is so complete that he is soon to be convicted and seeks a mitigation of the sentence by confession, or he hopes through a more honest narration of the crime to throw a great degree of the guilt on another. (2) In addition there is thread of vanity in confession—as among young peasants who confess to a greater share in a burglary than they actually had (easily discoverable by the magniloquent manner of describing the actual crime). (3) Then there are confessions made for the sake of care and winter lodgings. The confession arising political criminals and others). (4) There nobility, from the wish to save an intimate such as occur especially in conspiracy are m of the real criminal or for the destruction of in the latter case guilt is admitted only until the plan for which it was u has succeeded, then the judge is surprised with a well founded regular and successful establishment of an alibi. (6) Not infrequently confession of small crimes is made to establish an alibi for a greater one. (7) And finally there are the confessions catholics are required to make in confessional and (8) The death bed confessions. The first are distinguished by the fact that they are made freely and that the confessee does not try to ... his crime, but aiming to make amen nite penance. Death b the desire to prevent person. (9) A number of cases may perhaps be explained through ... of conscience persons who are would appear o ceases, etc. If the confessor only intends to free himself from the ... means of confession, we are not but more or less with disease ... it where such hallucinations are the confession is made freely in response to mere pressure, we have a cause of conscience. There is always considerable difficulty in explaining these causes. To deny that there are such is comfortable but wrong, because we each know collection of cases in which no effort can bring to light a motive for confession. The confession is ... because the confessor wanted to make it, and that is the whole story." Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 223 citing from Hans Gross, Criminal Psychology.'

confessions are either ... rough mistakes are the mistakes a corpse for ... inding the body ... nfeintent result a rob he imagine sion is ma confession facts corre confession

but [illegible] know that legally he is not guilty (R v [illegible], 5 C [illegible], [illegible] R, [illegible] 401). In [illegible] false confessions are intentionally made to escape vexation [illegible] all those false confessions which are extorted from a prisoner [illegible] or mental torture. A second motive is a desire to [illegible] which may be illustrated by the [illegible] of a man falsely accused of a [illegible] confession to throw off [illegible] of greater magnitude which he has already committed. A third [illegible] of life. A fourth motive, originating in the relation of sexes is thus described by [illegible], to whom we are originally indebted for the [illegible] question — "In the relation between the sexes," says [illegible] in treating of the subject of false confessions, "may be found the source of the most natural examples [illegible] of many other [illegible]. The female [illegible] punishment as for seduction [illegible] the [illegible] for the purpose of keeping off rivals [illegible] the alliance. The female married—the like [illegible] even though [illegible] with a view to marriage through [illegible]. A fifth motive is vanity. Best takes the following extract from Bent [illegible] — vanity without the aid of any other motive, has been known (the force of moral sanction being in this case [illegible] against itself), to afford an interest strong enough to engage a man to sink himself in the good opinion of one part of mankind under the notion of raising himself in that of another." A sixth motive is the desire to benefit others. A seventh motive is the desire to injure others, this [illegible] the crime [illegible] revenge [illegible] expense of their own [illegible] [illegible]; also [illegible] 1368 § 560—573, Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 223.

[illegible] psychology of the true confession has not [illegible] more than one kind of motive is found [illegible] that in the normal person (not an habitual criminal) the consciousness of guilt of a serious crime, plus the nervous strain of avoiding detection lead naturally to a confession upon being detected and arrested.

The process is one of a suddenly relaxed inhibition. Upon doing a heinous act the person is conscious of an emotional shock at violating common morality and at finding himself in danger of punishment and ruin upon discovery. He therefore now inhibits every form of conduct that could reveal his guilt. The nervous strain of these multiple inhibitions cumulates hourly [illegible] If, finally (and as [illegible] for the murder of X, he [illegible] if facts are stated [illegible] so all the inhibitions [illegible] released. A flood of normal nervous consciousness returns. A full nervous relief is felt—equal to the physical relief given by a purgative after long constipation. There is no longer any strain of inhibition. And the [illegible]

[illegible] condition, however, lasts only a short time. The normal coolness [illegible] reasonable hope of escaping discovery; Empress v Dade Ana, [15 B 452 (479)].

and half savage nature of the accused (Taylor's Trial of cases, para 135 cited

24 in China of a man falsely confessing and impersonating the guilty one out of ... ecution, rests on motives which would not be ... merican ... between the observer's idea of the choice of motives that he would make and the choice of motives that the accused, being what he is, is alleged to have made And the observer finds it difficult to judge the choice from any but his own experience and standard The alleged choice of false confession by the accused could have been due only to the dominance of a motive so unlikely and so queer (from the observer's experience) that the explanation seems far-fetched and improbable

Hence the decision in such cases calls for wide acquaintance with the human nature of confessions and an estimation of the probabilities that one of the rare or unusual motives is in deed present and dominant in the case in hand" —Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 222

Same—Motives for confession "The confession is a very extraordinary psychological problem (1) In many cases the reasons for confession are very obvious, the criminal sees that the evidence is so complete that he is soon to be convicted and seeks a mitigation of the sentence by confession or he hopes through a more honest narration of the crime to throw a great degree of the guilt on another (2) In addition there is thread of vanity in confession—as among young peasants who confess to a greater share in a burglary than they actually had (easily discoverable by the magniloquent manner of describing their actual crime) (3) Then there are confessions made for the sake of care and winter lodgings The confession arising from 'firm conviction' (as among ... confessions arising from

of the real criminal or for the destruction ... in the latter case guilt is admitted only until the plan for which it was ... has succeeded, then the judge is surprised with a well founded regular and successful establishment of an alibi (6) Not infrequently confession of small crimes is made to establish an alibi for a greater one (7) And finally there are the confessions catholics are required to make in confessional and (8) The death bed confessions The first are distinguished by the fact that they are made freely and that the confessee does not try to mitigate his crime, ... aiming to make amen... nite penance Death b... the desire to prevent ...
person (9) A number of cases may perhaps be explained through ... of conscience ... persons who are ...
would appear o... ceases, etc If the confessor only intends to free himself from the ... means of confession, we are not ... but more or less with d... it where such hallucinations are ... the confession is made freely in response to mere pressure, we have a cause of conscience There is always considerable difficulty in explaining these causes To deny that there are such is comfortable but wrong, because we each know collection of cases in which no effort can bring to light a motive for confession The confession is made because the confessor wanted to make it, and that is the whole story" (Criminal Psychology' —Wigmore's Principles of Judicial Proof § 223 citing from Hans Gross

... are ... her ... akes are the ... corpse for ... body lif less ... nfe-

charge . . . . According to the rules of evidence, what a prisoner has said respecting a particular fact is admissible evidence, not in the nature of a confession, but as evidence of the particular fact.' "The distinction between a confession and an admission, as applied in criminal law, is not a technical refinement but based upon the substantive differences of the character of the evidence deduced from each. A confession is a direct acknowledgment of guilt on the part of the accused, and, by the very force of the definition 'excludes an admission which, of itself, as applied in criminal law, is a statement by the accused 'direct or implied' of facts pertinent to the issue, and tending, in connection with proof of other facts, to prove his guilt but of itself is insufficient to authorize a conviction'." Per Holloway J in State v. Guie 56 Mont 485=186 Pac 329.

What are confessions and what are not confessions were very lucidly explained by Hamilton J in State v. Porter 32 Or 135=49 Pac 964 (966) where he said: "We take it that the admission of a fact or of a bundle of facts, from which guilt is directly deducible, or which within and of themselves import guilt, may be denominated a confession but not so with the admission of a particular act or acts or circumstances which may or may not involve guilt, and which is dependent for such result upon other facts or circumstances to be established. It is not necessary that there be a declaration of an intent to admit guilt; it is sufficient that the facts admitted involve a crime, and these import guilt, or as put by Mr Wharton, I am guilty of this, and "this" imports the admission of all the acts constituting guilt. It is necessary however, that the accused should speak with an animus confitendi or an intention to speak the truth touching the specific charge of guilt and when he with such intention, narrates facts constituting a crime the guilt becomes a matter of inference, a resultant feature of the narration without an explicit declaration to that effect. So that we conclude that whenever the statements or declarations of the accused, voluntarily made, are of such facts as involve necessarily the commission of a crime, or in themselves constitute a crime then the facts admitted import guilt, and such admissions may properly be denominated confession." So it is admitted on all hands that there is a distinction between admission and confession. R. v. Macdonald, 10 B L R App 2, Empress v. Debee Prosad, 6 C 530=7 C L R 531, R v Buddho 3 N L R 51=5 Cr L J 131, Emperor v. Mahomed, 5 Bom L R 312, R v. Gopal, 7 C 96=8 C L R 171, R v Chooramoni, 11 W. R. Cr 25, 26, R v. Jay Gomar, 2 C L R 62, R v Meher Ali, 15 C 598, Empress v. Nilmadhab 15 C 595 (607), Q v. Jaffir Ali, 19 W R Cr 57(62); Taju Pramanik v. Empress, 25 C 711, R v. Hurribole, 1 C 207, Hari v. Emperor, A I R 1927 Lah 650.

Confessions—Division of Confessions may be divided into two classes — Judicial and Extra judicial. Roscoe Er 37. Judicial confessions are those which are made before the magistrates, or in Court, in the due course of legal proceedings, and it is essential that they be made out of the free will of consequences of the

as a complainan

Magistrate, or in Court, this term embracing not only explicit and express confessions of crime but all those admissions of

ions of this kind

be weighed by the

itself to support

e Cr Ev 47 An

ite person R v

Cr 69 The word

R v. Gopee Nath,

Oral confessions

may be in any form. A favo

. 24 confession may properly be in written form and the accused may either prepare it for himself or adopt it as his when prepared by another For example a prisoner s confession taken down by some one else and signed by the declarant is as much his written declaration as would be one prepared by his own hand As to the manner in which a written confession should be authenticated to the tribunal, no established rule exists That some authentication is necessary is obvious Chamberlayne s Ev § 1572 In case no written document exists covering the confession, its statement may be proved by the evidence of any person who heard them Ibid § 1571 It may be in the form of a letter Booh v R 15 Cr L J 55=18 C W N 386

Form of confession writing—Best Evidence Rule Where a confession has been reduced to writing by the witness and signed by him the document itself is preferred in proof of it being the best evidence' Parol evidence therefore will not be received until the absence of the document has been explained to the satisfaction of the presiding Judge Chamberlayne's Ev § 1573 But when some body else has it down the confession may be proved by oral evidence of some witness who heard it made R v Layer 19 Win Abr 96

To whom Extra judicial confession is Made An extra judicial confession can be made to any person or collection or body of persons (Harbans v K E 8 O C 395, Chanon v Crown, 21 Ind Cas 468=14 Cr L J 596, Keshri Mal v Emperor, 15 Cr L J 502=24 Ind Cas 590 It is not necessary that the statement should have been addressed to any definite individual It may have 85 Ga 69) The great majority by persons in authority, upon the Though it is in connection with confessions so made that th carefully scrutinized, no reaso what has been said to him even the trial judge are equal voluntary confession by one statements made, or letters written prosecutor (R v Heal 69 J P 224), 2 K B 108 where the letter wa

Gardner, 85 L J K B against him, if independently proved And it is immaterial whether the per Welsh 3 F & F Ev 261 It is be received with lieved when it clear, consistent and convincing The evidence of an admission of guilt to villagers may be as strong evidence against an accused person as a confession before a Magistrate It requires no corroboration The Court is to decide whether the persons before whom the admission is said to have been made are trustworthy witnesses Mannu v Emperor, 134 Ind Cas 1018=A I R 1931 Oudh 415

Extra judicial confession—Proof of corpus Delicti as corroboration Whether extra judicial confessions uncorroborated by any other proof of the corpus delicti are of themselves sufficient to found a conviction of the prisoner has been gravely doubted in England In the Roman Law such naked confessions amounted only to a semi plena probatio, upon which alone no judgment could be founded, and at most the party could only in proper cases be put to torture But if voluntarily made in the presence of the injured party, or if reiterated at different times in his absence and persisted in they were received as plenary proof Greenl Ev § 217 Taylor § 868 In each of the English cases usually cited in favour of the sufficiency of this evidence, some corroborative circumstance will be found Ibid In the United States the prison held receiving and weighing the evidence of confessions in other cases, and it seems countenanced by approved writers on this branch of the law. Greenl. Ev. § 217; Taylor Ev. § 868; Guild's Case, 5 Halst. 163, 185; Long's Case, 1 Hayw. 524, 2 Russ. C. & M. 825 826.

Weight of confession. The evidence of verbal confessions of guilt is to be received with great caution. For, besides the danger of mistake, from the misapprehension of witnesses, express his own meaning, that the mind of the prisoner and that he is often influenced by motives of hope or fear to make an untrue offenders, persons
which are exaggerated into sufficient proof, together with the character of the persons necessarily called as witnesses, in cases of secret and atrocious crimes, all tend to its rejection,
Ev. § 214
decided conflict of of confessions. On affirming the slender a classical predeces-sor's language. O in equally positive
kind of evidence
side of the controv

judicial confession has been made testimony. Such testimony is often associates, angry victims, and over ze testimony of these persons the suspicio

S. 24 of all evid c III, section 8, see also Greenl Ev § 214, Earl v Simmons, 6 C & P 540 That remark is sions and for the following rea o 'Proof m y are often misreported—whether throu h ignorance inattention, or mal t, he is equally affected in either case, and they istruction, and without this, evidence is not in disproved by that sort of negative evidence by which the proof of plain facts may be and often is confronted In other words, the suspicion that he has found it neces sary to entertain is directed entirely to the work of proving an alleged confes ion "This is the rea on above sugge ted as the real cause of the distru t we are ready enough to trust the confession if there really was one, but we are going to doubt and suspect for a long time before we accept it as a fact ' Per Bell r J in Damas v People, (1917) 62 Colo 418 Mr J Earle touched the kernal of the subject when he it is the best e This seems to if we distinguish the confession as evidence, we find that few have ever really doubted value, while the second is always to be susp

So the remarks that "confession should be received especially oral confession' (U S v Mc Ken ie, 35 Feb Rep 826) and that the books are full of admonitions from the wisest and best Judges in this re pect" (Per Grover J in Teachout v People, 41 N Y 7, 19) are applicable to the evidence of confession and not to the confession as evidence Emperor v Pramatha tal 30 C L J 503, see also Mellor v Muthia Chetty, 48 Ind Cas 981=35 M L J 518, R v Nazir, 9 C W N 474 The reason for this caution is that under the charge of a highly criminal offence, the mind must always be agitated and may be influenced by hopes or apprehensions which it is difficult, if not impossible sometimes to comprehend U S v Nott, 1 Mc Lean (U S) 499 Besides being satisfied that the witness who testified to the confession speaks truly the jury must be satisfied that the witness could not be, or was not mistaken in the substance of the confession U S v Hughes, 34 Fed Rep 732 In the last named case Mc Cormick J in charging the jury at p 736 said 'For want of an ex and make who made the confession

But it is generally agreed that voluntary and deliberate confessions of guilt are among the most effectual proofs in law, on the presumption that a rational being will not make admissions prejudicial to his interest and safety, unless urged by the promptings of truth and conscience Moore on Facts § 1151, Greenl Ev § 215

Conclusions from witnesses are not to be accepted In Queen v Soobjan, 10 B L R 332, (335) Phear J said Now, it is to be observed that these statements are in general terms and so are merely statements of a conclusion at or o for the opinion formed by the Court, because, it may turn out that the taken together with the questions and the circumstances under which the questions were put, do not in truth amount to a confession of guilt such as the witness chose to represent it ' See also R v Ali Husain 23 A 306 309, Kha Hlaw v Emperor, 4 L B R 116=7 Cr L J 82 Nawab Bibi v R 22 P R 1883, Queen v Babu Lal, 6 A 509 (519), R v Mohan Lal, 4 A 46, Nur Ali v Emperor, 81 Ind Cas 530=5 L 140 But where the actual words used in the confession are not given it does not affect the admissibility but the weight to be given to such evidence Ibid, see also Desraj v Emperor, 1923 Lah 38=29 P L R 486 There is no rule of law which requires an extra judicial confession to be recorded 11 P R (1918) Cr , 21 P R 1881 Cr, 21 Bom L R 1065, 111 P R 1887 Cr.

Confessions made by signs or gestures Under this head we may group direct ... made in ... the pers ... a case ... because ... ponse to ... the ... gestur ... canno ... often ... and vehement language "A direct confession ... whenever the spoken or written word would be excluded" Underhill Cr Ev § 141 But where an accused, not shown to have understood English, is asked ... responsible for the act and he nods his ... act does not amount to confession It is ... used understood to be the meaning of remarks addressed to him as to his complicity in the crime and without being satisfied that the accused exactly understood the meaning and the import of the ... standing by themselves ... erstood what was sought ... which were intended to be ... his questioners ... nproved and so ... Cas 539=31 Cr L J 111=A I R 1930 Lah 81

Confession—Test of Truth A true confession made by a person who takes part in a murder invariably adds something to the knowledge already possessed by the investigating officer and that is the greatest test of its truth. Mata Din v Emperor, 132 Ind Cas 228=32 Cr. L J 854=A. I R 1931 Oudh 166

Confession must be taken as a whole When a confession is used against an accused person, the whole confession must be introduced So where an accused person makes a confession, the confession is evidence in his favour as well as against him and must be taken as a whole Queen-Empress v Dada Ana, 15 B 452, Kalu ... 88 Ind Cas 455=26 Cr L J 1142 Emperor v ... 1 (F B), Queen v Greedhory, 7 ... Po, 1 Bur 324; Wafadar, ... v Sahadu Rat Un Cr C 771, ... 22 C W N 834; Sinnas v E ... justice to the accused person ... a confession to ... tion therewith, ... Com 10 Bush ... 2 Alt 154, 160

... part which is against him, and disbelieve that which is in his favour R v Higgins, (1829) 3 C & P 603, R v Clewes, (1830) 4 C & P 221; R v Steptoe, (1830) 4 C & P 397, Halsbury Vol IX p 398, Taylor § 870, Kamoda v Emperor, 46 Ind Cas 705 There were earlier rulings to the contrary R v Jones, 2 C & P 629, Bosanquet Serjeant; R v Llyod, 1 Phill Ev (3rd Ed) 399 In determining whether the statement is true or not, the jury should consider wh ... in ... Jo ... an ... it ... go

S. 24. only fair measure is to take confession as a whole Maung Po Thin v Queen Empress, L. B. R (1872-1892), 324; Queen-Empress v Ehgit, L B R (1872-1892), 327; Crown v Summundur, 4 P R 1872 Cr; Queen v Bishoo, 9 W R Cr. 16, Queen v Sheikh Boodhoo, 8 W. R Cr 38, Queen v Chaka Khan, 5 W R 70; Queen v Sonaoolah, 25 W. R Cr. 26; Golole v Magistrate of Chittagong, 25 W R. Cr 15; R v Gour Chandra, 1 W R. 16(17); R v Beshor, 18 W R Cr 29; Pika Bewa v R, 16 C W N 1055; Pulin v Emperor, 40 C 873, Queen v Soobjan, 10 B L R 332 So a prosecutor is not to be allowed to give in evidence part of a confession made by a prisoner, but it must be put in proof as a whole, so that the jury in one case, and the Judge and the assessors in the other may have the fullest means of testing its accuracy and forming their opinion as to whether the whole or part, and what portion of it, can be believed For example, if a passage in a statement made by a prisoner standing by itself amounts to an [illegible] passages quali[illegible] merely because [illegible] point Empre[illegible]

1926 Lah 554, [illegible]
Ind Cas 178= [illegible]

[illegible] with the general tenor of the confession Queen v Nityo Gopal, 24 W R Cr 60 The mere fact that the accused has been interrupted, and therefore has not stated all that he might [illegible]

[illegible] consequences (1) The prosecution must put in the whole of the accused's statement, including the portions favourable to himself as well as those unfavourable But this does not prevent the use of statements which are separate in themselves though not forming all the accused's utterances nor of such fragments of a [illegible]

[illegible] ion of a crime, the [illegible] has a right to lay before the Court the whole of what was said in that conversation not being confi[illegible] against him, [illegible] occasion, relat[illegible] Queen's Case, [illegible] C 46 § 5, R. [illegible] Case, 9 Leigh [illegible] the whole is [illegible] which [illegible] whole [illegible] any p[illegible] the jury for their consideration, precisely as in all other cases where one part of evidence is contradictory to another, [illegible] of a confession are entitled to equal cr[illegible] charges the prisoner, and reject that w[illegible] grounds for so doing Q E v Jhina Vali, Rat. Un Cr C 436, Reg v [illegible] 10 B H C R 500; Kamoda v Emperor, 19 Cr L J 785 (Nag), R. v [illegible] Rat Un Cr. C 370 Mata Din v Emperor, 1930 Oudh 113, Lakshmayya v Emperor, 1930 M W. N 785 If what he said in his own favour is not contradicted by evidence offered by the prosecutor, nor improbable in itself, it will generally be believed by the jury; but they are not bound to give weight to it on that account, but are at liberty to judge of it like other evidence, by all the circumstances of the case (1) And if the confession implicates other persons by name, yet it must be proved as it was made; not omitting the names, but the Judge will instruct the jury, that it is not evidence against any but the prisoner who made it " Greenl Ev § 218

A Judge ought to decide the question of the admissibility of a confession first an[illegible] should [illegible]
in its en[illegible] ordinar[illegible]
him an[illegible]
coming that this can be pressed to the extent of requiring that no part be accepted as true without accepting the whole Hasun v Emperor, 53 Ind Cas 145=20 Cr L J 737; see also Kamoda v Emperor, 16 Ind Cas 705=19 Cr L J 785, K E. v Injleo, 15 A L J 15, Q E v Lma, Rat. Un Cr. C 371

[illegible] of the guilt of [illegible] are false Mata Din v Emperor, A I R 1930 Oudh 113

Uncorroborated confession, evidentiary value of If there is no reasonable [illegible] oof [illegible], a [illegible] ted [illegible] nce [illegible] or

Shue Pat v Queen [illegible] accused's confession [illegible] sion of the crime w[illegible]

[illegible] v Sangappa, Rat Un [illegible] H C 137 But convic[illegible] [confe]ssion alone Probhu v Crown, 21 P W R 1907

[illegible] cannot appropriately be [illegible] [con]fession The statements

S. 24. of an accused person are not subject to an examination on oath compelling his other than the deponent Emperor v Yellamaddi, 6 Bom L R 7 3 The ble violence used to the accused for h ised in the police custody for more than . the marks on his person, were held to have vitiated the voluntary character of his confession, which was, therefore thus confirmed by the fact is proved to be true, and not to have been fabricated in consequence of any inducement It is competent, therefore, to inquire whether the prisoner stated that the thing would be found by searching a particular place and to prove that it was accordingly so found, but it would not be competent to inquire whether he confessed that he had concealed it there 1 Phil Ev 411 Warickshall's Case 1 Leach Cr Cas 293, Mosey's Case 1 Leach Cr Cas 301 N, R v Gould, 9 C & P 364; R v Harris, 1 Mood Cr Cas 338 This limitation of the rule was distinctly laid down by Lord Eldon who said that where the knowledge of any fact was obtained from a prisoner, under such a promise as excluded the confession itself from being given in evidence, he should direct an acquittal, unless the fact itself proved would have been sufficient to warrant a East P C 657; Harvey's is 130, Greenl Ev 231 and delivered them up to the prosecutor, notwithstanding it may appear that this was done upon inducements to confess, held out by the latter there seems no reason to reject the declarations of the prisoner, contemporaneous with the act of delivery, and sign ly tu

it

prisoner, thus improperly induced, and of the information given, by and proof search for the property or person in question proves wholly ineffectual no proof of either will be received The confession is excluded, because, being made under the influence of a and information of the pr firmed by the finding of The influence w groundless condu
Confession
out the place of dacoity and buri
with the aid of the jury Naga Methu v Emperor, (1911) 2 M W N 191 = Cr L J. 488 = 12 Ind Cas 96

Where the circumstances of the case compel a tribunal to reject all the other evidence and act only upon a confession the confession must be used literatim et verbatim, and due effect must be given to every statement contained therein whether in favour of the accused or against him Jagdeo v Emperor, 15 A L J 15

The law does not require that the confession of an accused person should be corroborated before it can be acted upon It is for the Court to decide whether it believes a confession or not Emperor v Dhani, 52 Ind Cas 881 = 20 Cr L J 721 The fact that the confession was retracted before the committing Magistrate would not deprive it of its voluntary character. Sheo Prosad v Emperor, 52 Ind Cas 50 = 20 Cr L J 562

S. 2

272 Apart from ... inadmissible in evidence, they are not of such a nature as entitles them to any weight, because it is impossible to ascertain the exact words used by the person To base a conviction on such a confession is not safe Des Raj v Emperor, A I. R 1928 Lah 858=29 P. L R 186 The evidence of an admission of guilt to villagers may be as strong evidence against ... Magistrate. It requires no corroboration ...

... 698 When ... which clearly ... r the convic-prisor ... anoth ... them down, or by some one else who heard them In the case of Munger Bhoo jan, 10 W R Cr. 56

Confession how construed Where people are so ignorant as the Burmans are, of the ... an admission ... the acknowle ...

Circumstances strengthening Testimony to Admissions or Confessions Among these would be the fact that the confessi...

jury; that the witness and th... and both of them addicted to dri...

... oof of them lessens its probability but does not necessarily establish the untruth of the main feature Moore on Facts § 1182

... ions ... the ... ney ... l of ... 390 ... d in ... I of ... the ... the Section 164 of the Cr Pro Code and Judicial Confessions Judicial confessions indicate confessions which are made on a magisterial investigation

S. 24.

sion, ...
other than the deponent Emperor v. Yellaraddi, 6 Bom L ... admitted ill usage, viz. the unjustifiable violence used to the accused for his arrest, illegal detention of the accused in the police custody for more than twenty four hours after his arrest, and the marks on his person were held to have vitiated the voluntary character of his confession, which was, therefore, not admitted ... 1 Bom L R 307 The object of a ...

R. v Gould, 9 C & P 364; R v Harris, 1 Mood Cr Cas 338 ... tion of the rule was distinctly laid down by Lord Eldon who said that where the knowledge of any fact was obtained from a prisoner, under such a promise as excluded the confession itself from being given in evidence, he should direct an acquittal, unless the fact itself proved would have been sufficient to warrant a ... 2 East P C 657, Harris ... 430, Greenl Ev 23 ... and delivered them up ... but this was done upon ... seems no reason to reject the declarations of the prisoner, contemporaneous with the act of delivery and ... they may amount to a confession ... act of delivery, is to be rejected And if ... prisoner, thus improperly induced, and of the information given ... search for the property or person in question proves wholly ineffectual no proof of either will be received The confession is excluded, because, being made under the influence of a promise, it cannot be relied upon, and the acts and information of the prisoner under the same influence, not being confirmed by the finding of the property or person, are open to the same objection The influence which may produce a groundless confession may also produce groundless conduct Greenl Ev § 232

Confession four days after the offence and the fact of the accused pointing out the place of the burial of the body is admissible in evidence In a case of dacoity and burial of the corpse, the Sessions Judge need not have tried it partly with the aid of the jury Naga Methu v Emperor, (1911) 2 M W N 197=1 Cr L J 488=12 Ind Cas 96

Where ... of the case compel a tribunal to reject all the other evidence and ... et verbatim, ... tained ... whether in favour ... peror, 15 A L J 15 ... should ...

... trate would not ... 52 Ind Cas 50=20 Cr. L J 562

No doubt the extra-judicial confession is of great importance but it must be a true extra-judicial additional evidence to be a weak cau the question wheth evidence, they are not of such a nature as entitles them to any weight, because it is impossible to ascertain the exact words used by the person To base a conviction or ! . . ! " Emperor, A. I. R 1928 Lah 858=29 : . .. . of guilt to villagers may be as . . . . s a confession before a Magistrate. !. . . . to decide whether the persons before whom the admission is said to have been made are trustworthy witnesses Emperor v. Ba lal, A I R 1928 O 393=5 O W N 698 When the accused were unable to explain away their confessions which clearly indicated the guilt, held that the confessions alone were sufficient for the conviction Sitai v Emperor, 5 O W N 968

Confessions of prisoner in another case—how proved The confession of prisoner in one case in which he was convicted cannot be used against him in another case, unless they are deposed to on oath either by the person who took them down, or by some one else who heard them In the case of Munger Bhooyan, 10 W. R Cr 56

Confession how construed Where people are so ignorant as the Burmans are, of the most elementary legal principles, it is extremely dangerous to accept an admission as a plea of guilty without the closest scrutiny of the meaning of the acknowledgment Mi Nyein v Q E, U B R (1897-1901) Vol I, 72

but does not necessarily establish the untruth of the main feature Moore on Facts § 1182 ons the ne k of 390, d in l of the the , 65

Section 164 of the Cr Pro Code and Judicial Confessions Judicial confessions indicate confessions which are made on a magisterial investigation.

24 Section 164 of the Criminal Procedure contains the provisions for recording confessions by Magistrates The evidence of witnesses who are sent up by the police for the purpose of having their statements recorded under s. 164, Criminal Procedure Code, and who have been presumably in police custody until their production before the Magistrate, should not be recorded by such Magistrate, unless he has some assurance that their attendance and statements were voluntary. King Emperor v. Bhutnath, 7 C W N 315 The provision of this section is imperative Indar Dath v. E . . r, 32 Cr L J 818=A I R 1931 . . . e to presume when an accused p . . . Code before him is to ask him, . . . If he says he does not, the . . . If he does, the Magistrate shou . . . the statement . . . be) and ask the . . . ascertain clearly wh . . . be made with a view . . . as though h . . . Gaya Singh v . . . recording a . . . been in custo . . .

. . . ubt upon . . . ror, 133 I . . . should . . . it was made. Emperor v Patey Singh, 133 Ind Cas 593=A I R 1931 All 609 A Magistrate must not put any question to accused which tends to incriminate h . . .

. . . section 164 and prepare a record Lalu v Empress, 4 P R 1893 Cr Great care and circumspection are necessary in recording a confession under section 164 of th . . . is necessary to reco . . .

. . . and has not been procured by threats or inducements Kandhai v Emperor, 15 Cr L J 633=25 Ind Cas 833, see also Kesho Sing v King Emperor, 20 O . . . Kura, 1882 A. W N 166, Imperator . . . 1 Cr L J 385 Balgirala v Cro n . . . what . . .

. . . ad of ascertaining whether the accused . . . hat the Magistrate had not acted properly . . . e Rayappan, 2 Weir 136; In re . . . should ascertain whether a confessional . . . beginning of the statement, and not at the end In re Rayappan, 2 Weir 136 . . . O. C 191 Pal . . .

. . . There is no provision for the admission in evidence of a confession made to a Magistrate unless it is recorded in the manner prescribed by law, and even if such confession may, under special circumstances be proved otherwise, where the confession of the accused is shown to have been made under the inducement, such fact deprives the evidence of its value Nga Myat Kyan v Queen Empress, U B R (1897—(1903) Vol I, 41 Where a Magistrate inadvertently omits to certify the voluntariness of a confession recorded by him under section 164, Cr Pro Code, the defect may be cured by the evidence of the Magistrate Ram Sanchi v Emperor, 9 Ind Cas 118=12 Cr L J 15 Queen Empress v ... alayan, 22 M 15, Empress v J... 8 C P L R Cr ... Lana Singh v Emperor, 89 Ind Cas 1026

S. 2

Section 164 of Cr Pro Code does not enable a Police officer, who has obtained a ... made by some person to send such ... under custody, to have him examined at ... enquiry or trial for fixing him down to that statement in the subsequent judicial proceeding Q E v Jadub 27 C 295=1 C W N 129

Section 164 of the Criminal Procedure Code, absolutely prohibits the employment of a Police officer to t... n accused person ... wn such a confes...

... on the Magistrate ... ed person but he ... e facts of the case ... C W N 864 But he may ask as regards any ambiguity in the statement Ibid v Emperor 128 Ind Cas 793 Under s 164 Cr Pro Code and s 24 Evidence Act, a confession made under an inducement to confess, is not a voluntary confession, and as such is inadmissible in evidence Queen Empress v Nga Shwe, L B R (1893—1900), 52 Where the accused pleads not guilty, a conviction cannot be based on a confession which is not recorded in the manner prescribed in ss 164 and 364 of the Cr Pro Code Nga San Ya v Emperor, 11 Cr L J ... 9=U B R 1909, Vol. I, ... form without showing ... re it appears that the ... strictly with the law ... Queen-Empress U B R (1897—1901) Vol I 47, Queen Empress v Karim, S C 102 Oudh

Where there is no positive ... at the precautions required by s 164 ... n and the certificate required by sub ... f the confession, the presumption is ... were duly taken Majhi v Emperor ... =104 Ind Cas 247=A I R 1927 Lah 682, Aheman v Emperor 6 Lah 58=88 Ind Cas 18, Pratap Singh v Emperor, A I R 1925 Lah 605 The Code contains no provision as to a confession being made in open Court, and where it is of ... th, a Magistrate may avoid its being ... ase the proper procedure is not to return ... until it is fully recorded Nilmadhub ... 09=27 Cr L J 957=A I R 1926 Pat ... 30 C L J 503=21 Cr L J 266,

... rding a statement ... question of the ... 29=23 A L

... L R 1 2=7 Lah L J 170

Cr. L J 1279=88 Ind Cas 1055 A

S. 24 a Magistrate under sectic ... in exculpatory nature, ... Gulam v Emperor, 4 Pat ... =86 Ind Cas 811 A statement recorded by a Magistrate is admissible in evidence under section 164 Cr Pro Code, whether taken on solemn affirmation or not Bahadur v Emperor, 26 Cr L J 1063=88 Ind Cas 7=A I R 1925 Sind 289

A confession recorded in answer to the only question viz (after due warning) "do you want to say anything?" cannot be accepted as being in accordance with law in the abse... any indication as to what due warning wa... 129=59 Ind Cas 551=22 Cr L J 119 A ... in accordance with the provisions of section 164 ...

... greatest value is a fact relevant to the probability or improbability of his guilt Madan v Guru, 4 Pat L T 381=73 Ind Cas 963= 24 Cr L J 723

perso... Magistrate on questioning the made ... to believe that it was voluntarily ... express form of question is prescribed and the extent to which a Magistrate should question the person making the confession must large... depend on the particular facts of each case Thibu v Emperor, 4 Pat L T 2... =73 Ind Cas 569=24 Cr L J 649=A I R 1923 Pat 356, see also Pul... Tanti v Emperor, 40 C 873=22 Ind Cas 169=15 Cr L J 25 It is highl... desirable that a Magistrate in recording the confession should put variou... questions to an accused to enable him to decide whether the confession is voluntary one or not Emperor v Dewan Kahar, 72 Ind Cas 961=24 Cr L J 497=4 Pat L T ... mperor 25 Cr L J 116=76 Ind Cas 180 ... Magistrate, showing that he observed all the ... Procedure Code, is sufficient and the con... Emperor, 3 Pat 872 Magistrates recording ... hand of the persons making them, should ... to ascertain how long such persons have ... police and, in recording their reasons for ... forth all the information they are able to obtain on the subject Empress v Madar, A W N 1885, 59 (F B) Section 164 of the Criminal Procedure Code does not apply to any statement of the accused taken by the Magistrate holding the enquiry Empress v Chattar, A W N 1884, 84.

trate ... t the Magis... questi... , and upon ... voluntarily; and that the ... order that the confession to be recorded is made ... and true account of the statement made by the Magistrate should contain a full ... Emperor, 2 L B R 317 When the Magistrate who recorded the confession took all possible precautions to satisfy himself ... n was made volunta... at the time ... e would get ... Mohipal v ... =26 Cr L J 752=1 Luck 223 Where the confession was recorded on a sunday and at the house of the Magistrate and the Magistrate while certifying and stating ... satisfied himself that the accused wa... ot record the questions put and a... that the evidence was recorded in ... that the irregularities in recording ... Abdul v Emperor, A I R 1931 Lah 163=133 Ind. Cas 55; see also Khanum v

Crown, A I R 1930 Lah 171=31 Cr L J. 759 Where the confession of a prisoner is made in a language foreign to the recording Magistrate, and is interpreted to him by some person who is not an official interpreter, such confession can not be regarded as properly proved by the testimony of the Magistrate which is only hearsay evidence The signature of the accused in the translated record of the confession is no evidence of its correctness, when there is no proof of the record having been accurately translated to the prisoner Queen Empress v. Lakhsmya, Rat. Un Cr C 835

Section 364 of the Criminal Procedure Code —The rules laid down in section 364 of the Criminal Procedure Code are applicable to the examination of the accused under section 342 Emp v. Nagar, 4 Bom. L R 161 All that a Court has a right to do under s 364 Criminal Procedure Code, is to ask the accused person to explain the circumstances wh him Tufani v King-Emperor 15 C L J 32 283 In examining an accused person under improper to ask him such a question as ' If yo who did ? " Chelan v King Emperor 7 O C person to a statement re presence and under the con Bhika, Rat Un Cr C C statement by a prisoner in Majji v Chenlramma, 2 Weir 437 Where the Magistrate instead of asking separate questions to the accused puts him a long composite question, the examination of the accused is irregular and not in accordance with law Hasu v Emperor, 103 Ind Cas 847=28 Cr L J 767=A I R 1927 Lah 650 If the prisoner is not prejudiced in questions put to him does not make t in any way in his defence

1=100 Ind Cas 821=A I R should be strictly observed, and they are applicable also to confes presiding officer of the Court The whole of it need not be in the Court's handwriting Empress v Riaz Ali, A W N 1900, 203 The recording of confessions should be made by Magistrates with their own hands Criminal Cir Memo No 7 of 1873 But a confession recorded by a clerk, under s 164 of the Code, in the presence of a Magistrate, in the form of a narrative and without the questions being recorded would not be illegal if the accused was not prejudiced cused makes a statement in be inferred that the statement held that such a statement is Procedure Code Emperor v Taranath, 37 C 735=8 Ind Cas 653.

error has not injured the accused as to his defence on the merits' Section 533, Cr Pro Code, is intended to apply to all cases in which the directions of the law have not been complied with, without any distinction between omissions to comply with the law and infractions of it Under that section, if the record of a confession is inadmissible owing to failure to comply with the law such as omissior documer Act, ma
proved,

24 that it has not affected the merits of the defence Queen Empress v Raja, 23 B 221. Section 533 is to be interpreted liberally, and though a confession recorded by a Magistrate was in the first instance and by itself inadmissible as not being in the form of question and answer, not being recorded in the vernacular of the accused, and not bearing the signature or mark of the accused, it will become admissible by the taking of the evidence of the Magistrate that the accused duly made the statement recorded Empress v Tularam, 8 C P L R C 91 not to a Police officer and not improperly the Evidence Act is always admissible nj-Emperor, 8 O C 395=2 Cr L J 811

ts to certify the voluntariness of a confession recorded by him under s 164, Cr Pro Code, the defect may be cured by the evidence of the Magistrate Ram Sanchi v. Emperor, 9 Ind Cas. 148=12 Cr L J 15; see also Khudiram v Emperor, 9 C L J 55 The Sessions Judge as a witness nor was evidence taken that the accused duly made the statement so recorded Held, that as it could not be presumed without some evidence that the statements had to be recorded in English as they could not be recorded in the language in which they were made, there was no justification for their being record could

taken

Judge was wrong in admitting such a record of the statements against the accused Bawa v King Emperor, 10 O C 112=6 Cr L J 94; but see Ludai v Queen Empress, S C 277 Oudh

A defe person by the confessi

Code, provi

person "dul

either the Magistrate himself or some other person who was present when the statement was recorded Empress v Mussammat Ituari 8 C P L R Cr 6, r s 164

J B R

he was

H, th t

under

volun

tarily made Ma On Nyun v King-Emperor, 1 U B R (1902—1903) Cr Pro Code, 13

This section has no

made of a confession

211=19 Ind Cas 307=3

Magistrate shall record

making it, he has reasc where laid down that the

he has put to the perso made voluntarily But it is advisable that the Magistrate should always record a memorandum showing that he has, by questioning the person making it, satisfied himself that the confession is made voluntarily Kheman v Emperor, 6 Lab 58=8 P L R 316=A I R 1925 Lab

315; d Cas 1029=26 P L R 5 J

26 C Under section 533 Cr Pro Code

1882,

in accordance provisions have

that the confession or other statement was duly made Queen Empress v Bhairab, 2 C W N 702

Section 80 of the Evidence Act and confession So far as section 80 of the Evidence Act is concerned, the Court is bound to make the presumptions specified in that section in respect of the document purporting to be a confession of the accused San Bau v Crown, I L B R 310 F B Both the memorandum and the certificate required by s 164 should be attached to the confessions The effect of these is to afford proof of the accuracy of the record, of the presence of the Magistrate, and of the voluntary nature of the confession. Reg v Shivya, 1 B 219; Pratap v E [illegible] R Cr 5, 18 [illegible]

"Magistrate" [illegible]
India R v [illegible]
R, 9 Cr L J [illegible]
169 = 16 Bom L R 261 = 15 Cr L J 433

[illegible]

...essions, so made by a prisoner, to any person at any moment of time, and at any place, subsequent to the perpetration of the crime, and previous to his [illegible] ...ived in evidence as [illegible] Best Ev § 524; Will's [illegible] promise of benefit, or a threat of harm, it is untrustworthy because it has been associated with an attraction too strong to reject [illegible] person which causes our dist[illegible] two alternatives, one of which [illegible] truth or falsity —Wigmore § 82[illegible] is a pseudo confession It is not a confession at all It is not made animo confitendi It is merely a self serving statement masquerading in the garb and under the name of a confession Accordingly, it has not the relevancy of a true confession, a self disserving statement, and is, in consequence, rationally to be regarded with suspicion As [illegible] ...ous impairment of probative value due to [illegible]

[illegible] The object of the rule relating to the exclusion of confessions is [illegible] ...y the prisoner being [illegible] ...self to be guilty of an [illegible] J in R v Court, 7 [illegible] every case it is for the [illegible] ...ner and under such [illegible] ...is to induce the prisoner to make a confession of guilt whether such confessions were true or no"

Declaration must be voluntary Confessions it is said, must be voluntary The reserve statements that a confession will be received in evidence, are equally familiar The difficulty experienced in understanding precisely what, in [illegible] ...ese expressions given out of the fact [illegible] other words several distinct ideas [illegible] by it Perhaps at the present day the most commonly and widely accepted meaning of the term "voluntary is that which is employed when a confession is rejected as involuntary because the speaker has been over persuaded, coaxed by hope or driven by fear into making it [illegible] statement [illegible]
it was true [illegible] matter covered by his declaration and honestly endeavoured to state it An incriminating st[illegible]

[illegible]

S. 24. under a misleading inducement is therefore, said to be involuntary Chamberlaynes Ev § 1479

Meaning of the term voluntary' The terms voluntary and involuntary are apparently used in respect of confessions indiscriminately in three but not entirely separable situations —(1) Where the will of the declarant has been left entirely unconstrained to his judgment in such a incriminating statement for s the declar
statement subject, (3 cular statement To put the incriminatory declaration b misleading inducement, by a judicial compulsion to break silence or a the states of fact is found to exist, and what are the real considerations attending question of admissibility in any particular case in which they are present Chamberlaynes Ev § 1480 A confession may reasonably be deemed to be voluntary' when it is made with the concurrence of the will,—where the volition is not for a voluntary one,

the exact truth r
however a confess mental influence
rejected by a rule of procedure,—even though as a matter of experience of this incriminating statement, though subject to criticism or the argument of counsel would still warrant the jury as reasonable men in acting in accordance with it Chamberlaynes Ev § 1483

Scope of section 24 In this section the framers of the Act perhaps properly avoided the use of the word voluntarily or involuntarily which is of doubtful import but stated the circumstances under which a confession if made by saying that a confession is o of receiving some benefit on with pending proceedings in authority over the course
Section 24 of the Evidence Act provides that a confession of an accused person is irrelevant in a criminal proceeding if the making of the confession appears to the Court to have been caused by any inducement having reference to the charge against the accused of voluntariness' 2 Bom L R J 228 The reason for rejection of confessions thus stated by Eyre C B A confession forced from the mind by the

S. 2

, when given to But a counsel —of the a conse- mes the You are overestimating it The law does not presume it is untrue, but rather that it is uncertain whether a statement so made is true" Lord Campbell, C J added "I doubt whether the rule excluding confessions made in consequence of an nfession is , and that lrawn from same case Pollock C B said "There is no presumption of law one way or other . There is no presumption that it is false, or that the law considers that such a , but such confessions are rejected because it erous to leave such evidence to the jury" nsfield 11 Cox Cr 639 Williams J said. "It aving the truth elicited that these confessions are excluded, but the law is jealous of not having the truth" Similarly in Scott's Case, 1 D & B 58, Campbell L C J reiterated ' It is a trite maxim that the confession of a crime, to be admissible against the party confessing, must be voluntary, but this only means that it shall not be induced by improper threats or promises, because under such circumstances the party may have been influenced to say that which is not true, and the supposed confession can not be safely acted upon" ' The principle upon which all this class of cases is founded is that by inducement being held out to the prisoner, he may be led to suppose that he will be more mercifully dealt with if he confesses and that temperament, may falsely acknowledge guilt This possibility arises wherever the innocent person is placed in such a situation that the untrue acknowledg-preferable' The law cannot attempt to weigh testimony before even listening to high tion of a it Thus conceivably than silence unless a con of a confes gmore § 822 ection 24 of the Indian Evidence Act Section 24 contains an absolute rule which is not affected by the proviso made for a different purpose in section 27 When the Legislature wished to make an exception to the absolute rule, it did so by a separate section, namely confession rendered irrelev that are irrelevant under other section of the Act promise can be relevant, e King Emperor v Nga Po Min, 2 L B R 168, Nga Sanya v King Emperor, U B R 1909 1st Qr Evidence 3 = 11 Cr L J 41 4 Ind Cas 759, but see Amiruddin, v Emperor, 45 C 557 = 22 C W N 213 A confession to be

S 24. But, in coming to a decision law and principles which Justice and should not be in recording what should be evidence adduced Nga Shwe v Queen Empress, L B R (1893—1900) 145

A confession by an accused person is not made irrelevant if otherwise relevant merely because the accused person has been sworn or affirmed Raj v Empress, 3 P R 1880 Cr An oral confession by an accused person no ... s 24, 25 or 26 of the Evidence Act is, as an

Emperor 45 C 557=22 C W N 213=27 C L J 148=44 Ind Cas ... Cr L J 305, but see Emperor v Nga Aung, 35 Ind Cas 962=17 Cr L J 402=U B R (1916) Vol II 114 Tara Singh v Emperor, 29 Ind Cas 817 11 P R 1915 Cr =16 Cr L J 545

If the case against the accused entirely rests on the confession made by the accused and there is a conflict as to the manner in which the confession was obtained, the accused is justified in asking the Court to give him the benefit of doubt Rahman v Emperor A I R 1930 Lah 88 Where a person of sound mind and of full age makes a confessional statement in ordinary simple language after he has been warned he must be bound by the language of the statement and by its ordinary plain meaning and a subsequent retraction of the same is of no effect Hazari v Emperor, 124 Ind Cas 247=A I R 1930 Oudh 353=31 Cr L J 1210 Where the confession made before the police was found by the Court not to have been voluntary it cannot be corroborated by the confession of the accused as an approver, subsequently retracted Safi v E ... A I R 1930 Nag 259=124 Ind Cas 459=31 Cr L J 661 A confession made by an accused person is not invalid merely because it was made under the ... benefit by making it Public Prosecutor ... I R 1929 Mad 92 A confession is ... a criminal case The making of a counterfeit coin is not a statement and hence the evidence of persons who say that the accused made counterfeit coins in their presence is not barred by s 24, 25 or 26 Braj Nandan v Emperor 133 Ind Cas 154=A I R 1931 All ... A confession alleged to have been made by the accused person in the jail to the warder in the absence of any evidence on the part of the prosecution to prove ...

... 45 A 900=21 A L J 143=73 Ind Cas 62=24 Cr L J 526 ...

v Emperor, 26 Cr L J 937=86 Ind Cas 1001=A I R 192...

Where the Magistrate who recorded the confession took all possible precautions to satisfy himself that the confession was made voluntarily and that the accused ... confession ... and he ... Held that the con... Ind Cas
... 30 Cr L J 702=8 A I C R 116

The mere fact of a person being in custody cannot be a good basis for a inducement, ... ceding from ... fited ... J.

... used ... ng it ... con- ... 24, Evidence Act Dip Singh v. Emperor, 27 Cr L J 158=101 Ind. Cas 891=A. I R. 1926 All 216.

... that a certain set of words used in a particular case has been held to be in the nature of an inducement Kunja Subuddhi v Emperor, A I R 1929 Pat 275 Where there is veiled threat as well as inducement, a confession so obtained is invalid Kunja v Emperor, A I R 1929 Pat 275

Made A confession made to one person by the accused is irrelevant, even where the inducement, threat or promise is held out by a different person if the ... C R 416 But un- ... ession by the use of a ... to carry either into ... e time of making the confession, would ... upon his mind, and the confession ... ommonwealth v Tuckerman, 10 Gray ... s seems to be that a confession is not ... exhortation, or admonition, or other ... r time from some one who has nothing ... prisoner, for a promise made by a perso... of this kind is not to be presumed to have ... prisoner as to induce him to confess tha... innocent' 3 Russ Cr p 393

Accused person The expression "made by an accused person" in this section, means that person must be an accused person at the time of the confession Per Sundara Ayyar J in Kumara Swami v K E 35 M 397 (535) see also Empress v Jadab 4 C W N 129 ... ised, ... e in ... n 24 ... the ... sion it is sufficient if the person ultimately comes to be an accused person with reference to the charge in respect of which he is said to have made the confession Per Shah J in Emperor v Chima ... Bom L R 1247= ... Ind Cas 324, ... R 1931 ... matter of ... be applied ... the time ... e when he

24. was present when the deceased was killed, then stated that he and not the accused had shot the deceased, is properly excluded unless the person whose statement is offered shall be produced as a witness Selby v Commonwealth (Ky) 80 S W 221 The prisoner may of course, disprove his guilt by proving the guilt of some other person But he cannot do that by introducing the extra judicial confession or declar commit, or that he had committed th never conclusive upon the declar because of this so called confession,
To receive such statements as exculpatory proof would be to open wide the door for the practice of fraud whereby the acquittal of the real criminal would be assured Underhill Cr Ev § 145

If it appears "The words lend some colour to the argument that the confession ought to be made to appear to the Judge to have been improperly induced—in other words that the onus probandi is in the first instance on the prisoner I do not accede to that argument A confession may appear to the Judge to have been the result of inducement on the face of it, and apart from any proof at all In every case, I contend, where a prisoner says he has been forced to confess the Judge is put upon judicial enquiry, and as I ended before, I end now, that enquiry should precede the admission of the confession and any examination into its truth" Lex, 2 Bom L R (Journal) 163 "A confession ... been made voluntarily ... med in section 24 of the ... same Act When ad ... , and acted on only if it is believed t ... admitted in 2 Bom ... Basuanta 25 B 168= ... The use of the word ... probability than would ... perhaps in a particular case fairly hesitate to say that it was proved that the confession had been unlawfully obtained and yet might be in a position to say that such appeared ...

case, it appears to the Court that there is reason to suspect that a confession was ...

take into consi ... ached on surmise conjecture Em ... Ind Cas 961= Cr L J 497= ... bility of a confession depends upon a ... evidence antecedent to ... hat it is liable to rejection und ... nd upon this issue and deci ... upon the contents of the con ... =26 Cr L J 937=
Ind Cas 1001=A I R 1925 All 606

In Emperor v Panchkari Dutt, 29 C W N 300=52 C 67=86 Ind Cas 111=26 Cr L J 782=A I R. 1925 Cal 587, Mr Justice Mookerjee ...

S.

"There are words and expressions in this section to which one must pointedly direct his attention in order to construe the section There occurs the word 'appears', the 'inducemen against the accused person' is said is to the person inducement, threat or promise would in the opinion of the Court be sufficient to give the accused person grounds which would appear to the accused person (and not the Court) reasonable for supposing that by making the confessions he would gain an advantage or avoid an evil of the nature contemplated in the section It will be seen therefore that the mentality of the accused has to be judged rather than that of the person in authority That being so, not merely actual words, but words accompanied by acts or conduct as well on the part of the person in authority, which may be construed by the accused person situated as he then is, as amounting to an inducement, threat or promise, will have to be taken into account A perfectly innocent expression, coupled with acts and conduct on the part of the person in authority together with the surrounding circumstances may amount to inducement, threat or promise In scrutinising a ct the Court will t, to determine

ertain grounds,
d to see whether pposition that is the confession

appears to have been caused in consequence of the inducement, threat or promise The use of these vague expressions has been deliberately made with the object this direction A study of the cases, bearing upon the question, which are too numerous to mention, would show that anything ranging between the barest suspicion on the one hand and absolute certainty on the other has been held to be sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the section In this connection reference may be made to Reg v Balavant 11 B H C R 137, Shafi v Emperor A I R 1930 Nag ina 15 B Empress v

u Pramanik
tion is not
h is not as strong an expression as proved N 1112=A I R 1929 Cal 226 The true view seems to have been taken in the case of ...

Thompson, (1893) 2 Q B p 12 matter, with regard to which there opinion in this country as well of the Indian Evidence Act and also to the presumption attaching to certain recorded confessions and arising under section 80 of the Act the true and been obtained by use of threat, persuation etc Anything from the barest

24 suspicion to positive evidence would be sufficient for a confession being discarded Raghav v Emperor, 23 A L J 821 = 89 Ind Cas 903 = L R 6 All Cr 161 = 6 Cr L J 1431 = A I R 1925 All 627 P C

Burden of proof—English law The question of voluntariness is for the

2 Q B 12, R v Rose, 18 Cox 717, Ibrahim v R (1914) A C 599 (610, 611) = 18 C W N 705 (P C) where all the English cases have been reviewed, Ph ... 18) 1 K B 351 But Prof Wigmore interpreted Thompson in a different way He ... middle path, and seems to receive the confession ... improper inducement, and then in case of doubt leaves upon the prosecution the burden of convincing the Court of the admissibility R v Thompson (1893) 2 Q B 12, 18, Cave J (in case of doubt) See also Chamberlayne's Ev § 1579

Burden of Proof American view 'Under the early English procedure which has been followed and still prevails in a majority of American Courts (R v Thompson, [1893] 2 Q B 12, R v Warringham, 2 Den Cr 447, Thompson's Case, 1 Leach Cr L 3rd Ed 328 Emperor v Bhagi, 8 Bom L R 697) the burden of evidence is upon the prosecution to satisfy the Court upon the tender of the confession in evidence that it was voluntarily given, to the extent at least, of showing that no threats promises or other misleading inducements were held out to the declarant by the person to whom the confession was made Where objection is taken to a confession as 'involuntary' its voluntary nature must be affirmatively established in the first instance by the prosecution to the reasonable satisfaction of the presiding Judge This may be done either by direct or circumstantial evidence Such a requirement will, however, receive a fair construction The state need not show beyond a reasonable doubt that there was not the slightest fear or the least possible hope of benefit in the mind of the declarant ' Chamberlayne's Ev § 1579 The view has also found representatives that the prosecution must not merely in the above circumstances, but in all cases show the absence of an inducement from any one else and not merely from the person receiving the confession (State v Garvey 28 La An 929) This is an absurd extreme A few jurists regard the confession as prima facie admissible and require the defendant to show that the alleged improper inducement existed ... for there ... reason to object to the ... to Of course he should ... the Court's ruling, ... layne's Ev §§ 1577 1578

Introduction of confession into Evidence It is a natural, if not inevitable' says Mr Chamberlayne 'result of the rules of procedure rejecting confessions deemed, for some reason 'involuntary' that a prisoner's counsel is tolerably certain to contend that his client's statement of guilt was not a 'voluntary' one Usually the chance for success on the main issue of the trial is entirely dependant upon his ability to keep that confession from the jury Much ... ve, as a rule, been expended upon the subject ... therefore, constantly present themselves ... manner the question of the voluntary nature ... preliminary to its admission into evidence In the absence of statutory regulation, or binding precedent, the presiding Judge will be called upon to consider (1) Shall he decide the question of admissibility upon ... the prosecution or shall ... examine the governm ... (2) Is it better that ... jury or after their retirement from the counter room? (3) Would it be, ... of whole, sounder admini ... the prisoner's statemen- alternative instruction they find that it was not 'voluntary' as that term is defined by the ... procedure?—Chamberlayne's Ev § 1577

1112; Emperor v Panch Kori, 29 C. W. N 300=52 C 67, Wigmore § 861, Bolton v State, 107 Ala 108; Emperor v Keshav, 11 Bom L R 332 The right

both parties, at the stage of voir dire, to enter upon an extended range of enquiry into all facts bearing upon the voluntary nature of the confession, tracing any attendant circumstances under which it was made and also the physical, mental and moral characteristics of the declarant The Judge, on the other hand, as is elsewhere said, may receive the confession in evidence upon a prima facie showing by the prosecution that it is relevant;—leaving to the defendant at an appropriate later stage, an opportunity of showing that the confession was in fact involuntary ' Among considerations tending to exclude the evidence of the accused at that stage is the very important one that it is not customary to consume time by hearing affirmative defences resting upon controverted fact on voir dire It is not, moreover likely that a Judge will overlook the further consideration that evidence, as a rule, is admitted whenever the jury might reasonably act upon it, and that, unless the facts are such that probable that it would be within short, conclusive point dispos expediting the trial of receiving the evidence at once is obvious It has been said that where, the burden of evidence is upon the defendant to show the heterodox rules prevalent in in admitting evidence 'In

"(1) The Judge must hear the defendant's evidence (including evidence may be introduced

R 338=A I R 1930
voluntarily made and was it in evidence once it not Emperor v Kesav, 11 Bom L R 332=2 Ind Cas 917

The maxim of the English Courts is the influence used, or decide upon its
... 36 But the Indian Act places

In Reg v Navroji Dadabhai 9 leaves it entirely to the Court to fo evidence which would be rejected in

S. 24. suspicion to positive evidence would be sufficient for a confession being di car d Ragjha v Emperor, 23 A L J 821=89 Ind Cis 903=L R 6 All Cr 161=b Cr L J 1431=A I R 1925 All 627 P C

Burden of proof—English law The question of voluntariness is for the Judge; and it is now settled that it lies upon the prosecution to establish, and not upon the accused to negative the element, it being the duty of the prosecution to satisfy itself therefore before putting the statement. R v Thompson, (1893) 2 Q B 12; R v Rose 18 C W N 705 (P C)
Ev 7th Ed 256; R v
the ruling laid down in modern English rulin unless attacked by evidence of an improper inducement, and then in case of doubt leaves upon the prosecution the burden of convincing the Court of the admissibility R v Thompson, (1893) 2 Q B 12, 18, Cave J (in case of doubt)" See also Chamberlayne's Ev § 1579 view 'Under the early English procedure prevails in a majority of American Courts (R v Warringham, 2 Den Cr 447; Thompson's Case, 1 Leach Cr L 3rd Ed 328, Emperor v Bhagi 8 Bom L R 697), the burden of evidence is upon the pr of the confession in evidence least, of showing that no threats, held out to the declarant by the person to whom the confession was m Where objection is taken to a confession as 'involuntary' its voluntary nature declarant' Chamberlayne's Ev § 1579 "The view has also found representatives that the prosecution must not merely in the above circumstance, but in all cases, show the absence of an inducement from any one else and not merely from the person receiving the confession (State v Garvey, 28 La An 925) This is an absurd extreme A few jurists regard the confession as prima facie admissible, and require the defendant to show that the alleged improper inducement existed This is the reason

Of cour the Co
layne's Ev § § 1577, 1578

Introduction of confession into Evidence "It is a natural, if not inevitable' says Mr Chamberlayne, 'result of the rules of procedure rejecting confessions deemed, for some reason, 'involuntary', that a prisoner's counsel is tolerably certain to contend that his client's statement of guilt was not a 'voluntary' one Usually the chance for success on the main issue of the trial is entirely depend Much learning subject Nice qu selves to a trial
nature of the stat
evidence In the absence of statutory regulation, or binding precedents presiding Judge will be called upon to consider (1) Shall he decide the question jury or after their retirement from the counter room? (3) Would it be confession, it is obvious that the various situations can be best grouped according to the nature of the inducement But as the strength of the inducement depends more or less upon the power of the person offering it, the rule of law must first specify the kinds of persons from whose mouths the inducements may be [illegible] Though a too restricted [illegible] "person in authority" in this [illegible] had authority to interfere in [illegible] be sufficient to give him that authority Emperor v Kutul 57 C 188=A I R 1930 Cal 633 Unless the person attempting to obtain a confession has the power (apparently to the confessor) to carry out the threat or promise, there is no reason for treating the [illegible]

facts which may amount to a confession, and such statement, if not privileged by reason of the relation between the accused and the party to whom it is made may be used For example, X, who is charged with the murder of A, is induced by the chaplain of the jail to confess his sins He accordingly confesses the crime with which he is char[illegible] voluntary Reg v Gilham, 1 [illegible] tried at Exeter Summer Assize [illegible] prisoner to confess a murder [illegible] the denunciations of scriptur[illegible] it could be used against him, and Best C J refused to allow the clergyman to [illegible] that it was improper in the clergyman to [illegible] by the prisoner, and expressed a strong [illegible] les cited Peake, 78, Williams, v Williams,

On principle, such a promise should be of no consequence unless the promisor was one having (apparently) the power to arrest or prosecute Wigmore § 829 In England the older and more usual view was that inducement to exclude must come from a person who has legal interest or authority in the arrest and prosecution R. v Row R & R 153, R v Gibbons, 1 C & P 97, R v Warringham, 2 Den C C 447, R v Taylor, 8 C & P 734 In 1839 Lewin in his note to his 2 Lew Cr C 125 said "The cases seem to establish the principle that where a confession is obtained through the medium of a [illegible] the prisoner can have nothing to hope [illegible] R v Dunn, R v Slaughter, 4 C & P [illegible] telling a prisoner that it will be better [illegible] confession made to him See also R v Spencer, 7 C & P 776 Finally in 1852, the earlier view was confirmed, and the existence of a legal interest in the prosecution was taken as the test—not the mere existence of actual control or influence growing out of social or commercial relations of the persons. Wigmore § 829 In connection with an inducement held [illegible] Moore, 2 Den Cr C 522 said [illegible] (when it was

S. 24. England without a moment's hesitation" 2 Bom L R J 227 But it must be remembered in this connection that the English practice which is based on drastic procedural rule has provoked much unfavourable comment from Judges seeking to operate a rational system of judicial administration Vide Per Baron Parke in R. v Moore, 2 Den Cr C 522 (527), Chamberlayne's Ev §§ 1507, 1508

Was the inducement sufficient by possibility to elicit an untrue confession of guilt While no one seems to have questioned the fundamental principle of exclusion of confessions, there has been a decided difference of practice in the kind of test used in applying the principle It has been seen that the reason for distrusting a confession arises when the person is placed in such a situation that an untrue confession of guilt (more correctly, a confession of guilt irre alternatives h features of th present silen and associate relative adva
over silence, perhaps apt
benefit or a t is that this duplicate form of statement is not essential, it indicates educible to the single form , of pardon) is the inducement edom which will accompany false confession more attractive at the moment than the mere possibility of freedom, coupled with temporary restraint, which attends silence Again, where a mob's threat of hanging has induced a confession, the alternative of present certain and future possible safety proves naturally more attractive than present certain death Thus in both cases—a promise and a threat—the confession is untrustworthy because it has been associated with an attraction too strong to resist In general, then, the position of the confessing person which causes distrust is that of being compelled to choose between two alternatives, one of which involves a confession of guilt irrespective of its truth or falsity Each instance pre confession (
of non-confe
what it is,
averagi
the thr evidenc (involvi degree, and roughly, was the inducement such that there was any fair risk of a confession? Wigmore § 824

of the Person in authority procedural rule' says M

or, in other respects, to direct the co y, 14 Q B 789. Authority in this connection may be delegated expressly or by implication (R v. Garner, 2 C & M
The term 'person in authority' may therefore extend so far as to designate any one who acts in the presence colour of his power in the matter on questions of this nature and in authority, and must have some relation to the crime charged inadmissibility of a confession depends on the relative strength of the inducement to confess falsely, as measured against the prospects attached to

S.

. 358 (368) W a travelling auditor ilcations
. went to id added
after which the prisoner was brought before the Traffic Manager, in whose presence

, not
C J e a ould
seem to be 'had the person authority to interfere with the matter?' and any concern or interest in it would appear to be held sufficient to give him that authority as in Queen v Warringham, 2 Den C C 447 N, where Parke Baron held that the wife of one of the prosecutors, who was concerned in the management of their business, was a person in a down in Archbold's Criminal Practice' the prosecutor Ashutosh Dutt v The induce-ing to do

ound that the confession
, 53 Ind Cas 605=19 Cr to the words "persons
A village Magistrate is a =2 Weir 733, but the son of a village Magistrate is not a person in authority In re Kuppa Thachan, 2 Weir 733 So also is a police patel (R v Rama Birappa, 3 B 12), a police constable (R. v Luchoo, 5 N W P 86), a Police Inspector (R v Ramdayal), 15 P R 1885 A travelling auditor of a Railway is a person in authority so far as a Railway clerk is concerned 9 B H C R 358 or not the accused had intercourse with the r admitting that they were guilty of murder, held that the provisions of section 24 of the Evidence Act, could not be members of the Punchayat were not in a of that section, reference to any A 46=A W N 1881 84 B is was leading the accused to believe that he had that authority, held that a Court would be justified in holding that he was 'a person in authority' within the meaning of section 24 Nazir v Emperor, 9 C W N 474=2 Cr L J 256; Emperor v Josha, 11 C W N 904 But a member of the Punch is not a person in authority Emperor v Philip, 4 Bom L R 785 A jaildar is a person in authority Mutsaddi v Crown, 221 P L R 1911=12 Ind Cas 642=12 Cr L J 554, Karam v Emperor 34 Ind Cas 642, so also is the thugyi or headman of a village Nga Kya Nan v Emperor, 15 Cr L J 681=26 Ind Cas 129, see also 10 Bur L T. 270 A zamindar is a person in authority Imperator v Dabud, 4 S L R 209=9 Ind Cas 718=12 Cr L J 119, Debendra v Emperor, 101 Ind Cas 881 A president of a panchayat is a person in authority King Emperor v Aushi Bibi, 20 C W N 512=23 C L J 477=17 Cr L J 183=33 Ind Cas. 828 Zamindars qua Zamindars are not persons in authority under section 24 of the Evidence Act. Crown v. Long, 10 S L R. 140, see also 49 A. 57.

S. 24. But wherever Zamindars are directly concerned in the investigation by the direction of the Police, then they clearly are persons in authority within the meaning of s 24 of the Indian Evidence Act Crown v Long, 10 S L R 140 A headman is a person in authority Zeta v Emperor, 18 Cr L J 106=37 Ind Cas 314=10 Bur L T 270 A confession made to a police patel is invalid Emperor v Ramadhan, 31 Ind Cas 340=17 Bom L R 898=16 Cr. L J 740 A Lambardar is [illegible] un, 4 Lah L J 235=A I R 1922 [illegible] ayatdars are not persons in authority [illegible]

The expression [illegible] than the actual prosecutor and the test is, 'has the person authority to interfere in the matter and any concern or interest in it is sufficient to give him authority Smith v Emperor, 43 Ind Cas 605=19 Cr. L J 189 The mere fact that the accused [illegible]

185=A I R 1931 Lah 408

An Artificial Rule, repudiated [illegible] person extending a misleading indu[illegible] and necessarily, to be a person in au[illegible]

[illegible] ere yet the confession is voluntary [illegible] admissible So intangible a distinction between actual and ostensible authority has, very reasonably failed to commend itself to certain distinguished courts who extend the function of "persons [illegible] the language of the Supreme Court of [illegible]

[illegible] be fairly supposed by him to [illegible] mised, or to influence the threatened [illegible]

Confession made before coroner In England, it is now the practice to admit statements or depositions of the prisoner before the coroner if properly proved Formerly there was some doubt as to their admissibility and the cases on the subject were conflicting Vide 2 Russ Cr (8th ed) [illegible] R v Wheeley, 8 C & P 250, R v Owen, 9 C & P 83, 238, R v Haworth, Greenw Coll Stat 137, R v Sandys C & Mar 345 In [illegible] [illegible]

S.

A statement made on oath by the accused before the coroner at the time of the inquest is admissible in evidence at the time as a confession made by him where the accused was told he need not make any statement but he insisted upon doing so. Such a statement is a pure voluntary statement. Section 20 of the Coroner's Act provides that a coroner shall be deemed to be a Magistrate for the purposes of section 26 of the Evidence Act. Emperor v. Ram Nath, 28 Bom. L. R. 111=50 B. 111=93 Ind. Cas. 690=A. I. R. 1926 Bom. 151; Emperor v. Mahomed, 30 Bom. L. R. 86. But it would be wrong of a coroner to examine an accused person on oath on the ground that he did not know that the person was an accused person and thereafter use that evidence in a trial for a charge based on that evidence. Emperor v. Kazis, 28 Bom. L. R. 79=50 B. 56=A. I. R. 1926 Bom. 141.

Confession when caused by inducement, threat or promise. The terms of the ... promise, a threat of pro ecut... veness if it is (Wills' Ev. 2nd ... and fast rule as to what constitutes inducement. The question is one for the discretion of the Judge, and its decision will vary in each particular case. Nort. Ev. 161. The inducement need not be expres... Cox 69) it need not be made to the ... and does come to his knowledge. R. v. ... Il Ev. 106. "Before a confession, either judicial or extra-judicial, can be received as such it must first be shown that it was in every respect freely and voluntarily made ... y any sort of threat or ... ever slight the hope ... And while circumstances are usually invoked to determine whether the confession is voluntary yet as a safe general rule, it may be said that the statement will be presumed to be volunt... procured... Underhill ... 'voluntar... obscure th... choice be... subject to a choice. As between the rack and a false confession the latter would usually be considered the less disagreeable, but it is none the less voluntarily chosen. The term 'voluntary' then, as describing the absence of the vicious element which excludes a confession is, in ultimate exactness unsound. All concious verbal utterances are and must be voluntary, and that which may impel us to distrust one is not the circumstance that it is involuntary, but the circumstance that the choice of false confession is a natural one under the conditions. The choice of false confession is associated with a prospect (namely ... oting that it is not human nature to resist ...

... whether the confession has been obtained ... by a third person to the prisoner's mind. But this after all is merely one of several tests or rules which have been employed as representing a general principle underlying these differently phrased tests. 'The foundation of all rules upon this subject rests upon an anxiety to ...

... petent is not because any wrong is done to the accused in using them, but because he may be induced, by pressure of hope or fear, to admit facts unfavourable to ...

S. 24. found only in frequent ment held out to the one" R. v Thomas, 7 1 Den Cr C 331; R whether there had been a ... of such a nature that from fear of it the prisoner was likely to have told an untruth If so, the confessions should not be admitted Its exclusion rests on the connection with the inducement, they stand to each other in the relation of cause and effect If it is apparent that no such connection exists, there is no reason for the exclusion of the evidence" Williams v State, 63 Ark 527, Greenl. Ev § 219 (a) "The well recognized misleading motives under the influence of which procedure anticipates danger to judicial administration under certain circumstances, are hope and fear The risk run by a tribunal in relying upon incriminating statements so induced has found judicial expression of great frequency ... as distinguished ... infirmative consi... influenced ...

... hope or fear are such as to make them unsafe as evidence

It is much more common to ... probability ... state that ... or a threat is made thre... and this has or promise 155, Bonne... early, histor... confession w... so indefinite... tion with the ... in as a subordinate test Thomson's Case 1 Leach Cr C 293, R v Fennel 7 Q B D 150, R. v. Thompson, (1893) 2 Q B 17, State v Jones, 54 Mo 479, Greenl Ev § 219 (a).

A confession induced by a false allegation is irrelevant even if it is true. Queen Empress v Chintaman, Rat Un Cr C 153 When the statements made by the accused amount to saying that the other accused were really guilty, and any share they had in the offence was owing to compulsion, they are not confession which can be used against the other accused Queen v Kuso, 7 W R. 8

Confession was made by the ... Judge did not disbelieve it ... by the accused under the belief ... this was not a confession in ... is not invalid. Public Prosecut...

The question whether or ... as being a confession or not usually arises in the ... a Police officer or ..." the police Ambar ...

For a threat ... as to give the accuse... would gain an adv... In this case, before the accused confessed the Magistrate said to him "It is no use your trying to get out of it You were seen with the pair of shoes" Held that though the language used might be considered to overcome the mind of an uneducated and inexperienced boy, yet, it was not sufficient to overcome the mind of a man of the age, experience, education, and position of the accused, so as to induce him to make a confession, and, that it therefore, did not invalidate the confession Mukherji v. Queen Empress, L B R (1897–1901) Vol. I, 147

A punchayat is not a Police officer, but only a person in authority within the meaning of section 24 of the Evidence Act. Therefore a confession made by an accused before a Panchayat is admissible in evidence, if the Panchayat does not make use of any inducement to admit his guilt Emperor v Jasha Bewa, 11 C W. N 901=6 Cr L J 151 But where an inducement to confess a crime proceeds from a member of the Panch, the confession made in virtue of such inducement is not bad under s 24 of the Evidence Act, the member of the Panch not being a person in authority Emperor v Philip Ju e Fernand, 4 Bom L R 785

Even in cases where certain words used by the Police officer to the accused amounted to a threat, that fact would not render inadmissible in evidence the information given by the accused which led to the recovery of articles which are the subject matter of the offence Emperor v Pilak, 17 Cr L J 33=32 Ind C[illegible]

[illegible] es the admission of a confession [illegible] the latter telling him to speak [illegible] ss the case against him would not come out Zeta v Emperor, 18 Cr L J 106=37 Ind Cas 311=10 Bur L T 270

[illegible] to the [illegible] Act in [illegible] W N 451=45 Ind Cas 284=19 Cr L J 524 When a confession was made after Police custody for several days and [illegible] and the investigating Police officers [illegible] the confession was made under ci[illegible] Mobarak Ali v Emperor, 23 C W N 886=53 Ind Cas 929, Emperor v Pramatha, 30 C L J 503; Rasna Teli v Emperor, 54 Ind Cas 881=21 Cr L J 177

[illegible] sion was made was called [illegible] him were made freely, [illegible] hen drawn up that at the [illegible] nt, that the hand cuffs [illegible] told the accused that he was a [illegible] ated, held that the confession [illegible] voluntary and truthful Daulat [illegible] sion made by an accused person [illegible] ce officer in a subtle way in the [illegible] Magistrate is inadmissible in

[illegible] mprisonment made a statement [illegible] the offence for which he had [illegible] a witness he denied implication [illegible] t made to the Magistrate was [illegible] was convicted Held, that the [illegible] Khan v Emperor, 18 A L J 18=54 Ind Cas 893, see also Emperor v Canna, 59 Ind Cas 324=22 Bom L R 1247=22 Cr L J 68

[illegible] el informs [illegible] it becomes [illegible] is inadmis-

[illegible]

24

Misleading Inducements—Hope The real question is whether there has been any threat or promise of to tell an untruth from fear of thre v Reason, 12 Cox Cr 229 " be seen that his mind is entirely free from every false hope or fear that would be likely to operate upon his mind and induce him to say that which is not true That is the principle upon which all these cases are decided R. Hornbrook 1 1 Cox Cr 54

Misleadi nection with fear which lea certain circu
the truth for f
to the resulting statement a high degree of probative force In like manner a fear lest an innocent person should suffer for the crime and a feeling that therefore an obligation exists to tell the truth at all hazards naturally calls to the emotion instilled by duress It is the fear of the coward of the man colloquially speaking, is but for the reason tha worse off, in connection statement apparently desired Such an emotion, united to a lively imagination may possess many of the elements of terror and render a declaration affected by it entirely worthless for evidentiary purposes Under its influence backed at times by the counsel of injudicious friends perfectly innocent persons have not only confused but of wrongs which of crimes which in degree of fear, assumi

ment is not material so far as the exclusion of the statement is concerned if the fear has been applied in connection with the proceedings by some person in aut
in que effect

general principles to withdraw the confession from the jury In like manner the operation of fear in a given case may have been such that the will of the declarant has been actually forced and controlled, the act is not his centuries It is the subordination of reason exercised on the facts of particular cases to reliance upon a general rule for which certain instances furnish a reason A hearsay statement may mislead a jury, therefore all hearsay statements whether actually prot confessions induced declarations so influe of a confession, can be regulated or measured In Hope v People, 110 the Court observed, "The admissibility of such evidence so largely d

S. 2

t it is difficult, cases, as the , and since his Courts have wisely forbor n the limits of admission and exclusion ' anguage used to the prisoner would, under case, constitutes such a threat or promise The sex, age, disposition, education, experience, character, intelligence and previous training of the prisoner are elements to be considered in Williams geous and nity, as a State, 97 Ma l 6, 7, Underhill Cr Ev § 1?8

Inducement at an end ' If the impression produced by the promise or threat is clearly shown to have been removed e g, by lapse of time or by intervening caution given by some person of superior (but not of equal or inferior) authority to the person holding out the inducement, a confession subsequently made will be strictly received Phip Ev 255 R v Clewes, 4 C & P 224, R v Howes, 6 C & P 404 R v Richards, 5 C & P 318, section 28, infra

Having reference to the charge against the accused The charge here means a criminal charge or a charge of an offence in a criminal proceeding The words "having reference to the charge against the accused read with the words "in a criminal proceeding antecedent and the words 'in reference to the proceedings against him' following imply that the inducement, threat or promise must be with reference to the charge of an offence in the Criminal Courts of the country, and the language is wide enough to admit of the construction that the charge need not have been framed nor any criminal proceedings begun at the time of the confession In other words, the object of the person ain a confession of having comm which will be, the subject of a with the intent that the confession may be used in the subsequent criminal proceedings In this view it is difficult to understand Queen v Hicks 10 B L R. App 1, 5 M L J Art p 26 The inducement must have reference to any charge against the accused person R v Mohan Lal, 4 A 46, R v Garner, 2 C & K 920 A promise or threat to render a confession irrelevant, sonably imply that the prisoner s r worse according as he confesses Ed 210 302 An inducement to confession as to another and different one R v Warner 3 Russ Cr 6th Ed 459 (n) But this rule is not applicable where the two offences are so blended together as to form in fact but one transaction R v Hearn, 1 C & M 109 Tay Ev § 891 Where a confession has been obtained by an inducement having no connection with the charge without the charge being stated upon a confession was made, it was 1 D & P 245=6 Cox C C 213 been obtained from the accused by an inducement relating to some collateral matter unconnected with the charge Roscoe Cr Ev 43 out the inducement or threat But a rule has been laid down in different

24. precedents by which we are bound, and that is, that if the threat or inducement is held out actually or constructively by a person in authority, it cannot be received, however slight the threat or inducement, and the prosecutor, Magistrate, or constable, is such a person and so the master or mistress may be If not held out by one in authority they are clearly admissible" So also section 24, whilst offered by a person in authority, leaves it entirely n opinion as to whether the inducement, threat or the prisoner to suppose he would derive some temporal nature by confessing. Per Sarjent C J in Reg v Navroji, 9 B H C R 358 (367); see also Per Farle J in R v Garner 2 C & K 920.

Sufficient to give accused grounds . . avoid any evil The Courts have construed these words liberally in favour of prisoners Considering the ignorance of the people of this country and their dread of persons in authority, the holding out a hope of forgiveness from God would therefore be admissible evidence In Empress v Mohan Lal, 4 A 46, the threat employed was ex communication from caste for life. This was an evil probably temporal L J J 29

Misleading inducements—Hope and Fear—Necessity for determining Actual mental State For several reasons, it may be essential to determine in any particular case, the actual effect produced upon the mind of the declarant by the offered that the falsifying motive actually operated on the mind of the accused Logically considered however, it is frequently essential to determine the actual influen him

in ord involu
on the who h
was the actual result produced, under the circumstances disclosed, influence exerted A secondary consideration, also requiring the determination of this question of actual mental state, is that it may become the province of the jury, to find the probative weight to be accorded the confession, the infirmative consideration arising out of the inducements Should the q be submitted to the psychological effect to his will in view of layne's Ev § 1488

or wa deter
with calculated to create such an impression may be considered by the Cou confession made und to appear that the
each other in the r

of cause and effect.

Such an enquiry will divide itself roughly, into three main lines (a) A consideration of the resisting power of the declarant's mind (b) Examination of the kind and strength of pressure brought to bear upon it (c) What administrative or procedural assumptions may properly be made as to the continuance of any mental state once shown to exist In other words, the effect of a misleading inducement upon the mind in any given case is a resultant of two factors —

it

ed

in its objective aspect It will then remain to examine the extent, if any, to iding inducement may be taken to have declarant at the time of making his

(A) Subjective considerations In deciding in any given case, what was the actual effect of a misleading inducement it is necessary to consider not only the quantity and quality of the pressure but the resisting power of the person whose confession is offered in evidence The logical test of admissibility is the question Have the emotions of fear or hope, either as aroused by himself or orthiness

itution

hibition

is tending to direct or coerce it into a particular channel While a statement if made on account of its truth, is not rendered incompetent because it is the utterance of a person labouring under some mental disability, natural or superinduced by his voluntary act, in judging whether a given statement is true the mental capacity of the declarant to resist capacity may be natural, as feeble minded persons, idiot case of insanity, or intoxication —Chamberlayne's Ev § 1490

Children, Feeble minded etc Whether a confession of guilt made by a child shall be deemed relevant because truthful, is a question for the decision of the Court in view of the special facts of each particular case under proper circumstances, the incriminating statement of a child legally special readily

sons in quence,

y if at

may well entirely control the volition of a will he fail to notic confession by one of it is probably less

Feeble minded persons

tion very similar to that occup is such that the presence of Subjective considerations—Intoxication A confession is not rendered was furnished him by one in authority for the express purpose of inducing him to talk, and by leading the conversation in certain directions, to persuade him to confess, do not suffice to exclude a declaration so secured Such a course of conduct ranks as a mere deception like any other, and, unless more appears than the mere fact of unguarded loquacity brought about by intoxication, no ground for rejecting the confession is furnished In other words,

24 loosening the ... the brai is n t sufficient to ... and incompe nt. So long as the ... knows what he is talking abou, ... nlsbu 7 (C & P 187) When the later stages c... longer knows the effect of ... because entirely untrustworthy

(B) Objective considerations—Hope The objective strength of the inducement which operates by way of hope or fear to bring about a confession may be as varied as is the subjective strength of individual accused to resist them Things promised may range, in intrinsic value from those deemed highly desirable by persons of well balanced judgment down to considerations so slight as to render the conduct in question practically unmotivated If hope should in any case be regarded as having induced a confession it is essential that the latter should have been made at such a time that the inducement may fairly be regarded as still operative It is further necessary if hope is to be regarded as in action, that some benefit, not necessarily specified should have been distinctly presented to the mind of the declarant and his ability to obtain it conditioned upon his confessing Any mere suggestion as to the general desirability of confession or of confessing of guilt is not sufficient to show the influence of hope Should the declarant before ... a promise of benefit had been ... confessing his guilt and the ... d to have acted in accordance ... As intimated it is not essential ... confession ... would be

... worse off ... way of hope ... something ... in connection with the ... if he speaks ... need not be specified it may be left in dubi ... tween a mere exhortation to confession because it is right and the vague promise of material benefit in the same event is not in all cases one easy to draw Chamberlayne's Ev § 1495

Inducement must be material The thing hoped for must be of a material nature Admonition to speak out based on moral grounds, e g, that confession is a better thing than guilty silence is not, legally speaking, an inducement, R v Akhilesuar 4 P 646=89 Ind Cas 961 The words used in the section are of a temporal nature The word "temporal" is opposed to spiritual or religious A confession induced by holding out a hope of forgiveness from God would therefore be admissible In Empress v Mohan Lal 4 A 46, the threat employed was excommunication from caste for life This was an evil probably temporal 5 M L J 29 But confession induced by moral or religious exhortation will not be excluded R v Gilham 1 Moo C C 186 R v Ja... C L R 1 C C R 96 R v Reeve L R 1 C C R 362, R v Hall 1 Moo C C 459, R v Sleeman 6 Cox C C 245 A simple request for a clean breast ... a given matter, though made to the accused by the person aggrieved fails to affect adversely a subsequent confession made in accordance with it Chamberlayne's Ev § 1496

Influence of a religious or of a moral nature In R v Radford 1 Mood Cr C 102 a clergyman ... dwelt on the heinousness of the crime charged and ... the denunciations o... thereby But Best ... be dangerous after ... to receive the ...

crime of which he was not guilty, or that a man under ... falsehood, ... spiritual relation with God could hope to please God by a falsehood, ... if his confidence created' between him and his pastor, or the being thrown off his guard by his confidence should induce him, not to confess (that it ... naturally do if he were guilty), but induce him to confess falsely Such spiritual convictions, or spiritual exhortations, seem from the nature of religion, the most likely of all motives to produce truth. They are therefore of a class entirely different from those that exclude confessions. A confession is excluded because the motive which induces it is calculated to produce untruth because it is likely to lead to falsehood. If temporal hope exists they may lead to falsehood. Spiritual hope can lead to nothing but truth" Joy Confessions, 51, R v Gilham, 1 Mood. Cr C 186, R v. Gilney Jebb Cr C 15, R v Wild, 1 Mood Cr C 452; R v Sleeman, 6 Cox Cr 245. Proof that an incriminating statement was made by one accused of crime under the influence of a moral or religious inducement to make a statement, is in reality a ... rment of its probative force. ... exhortation to tell the truth by ... Emperor v Wilesuar, 89 ... I R 1925 Pat 772. The fear ... trustworthiness of a confes-

Threats made but not influencing the accused. Where threats are made to the accused but the accused made the statement deliberately, i e uninfluenced by the threats this section does not apply. Emperor v Inandarao, 19 B 612=27 Bom L. R 1034=89 Ind Cas 1016=26 Cr L J 1478.

Advice that it would be better to tell the truth. 'On principle, says Prof Wigmore the advice by any person whatever that it would be better to tell the truth cannot possibly vitiate the confession, since by hypothesis the worst that it can evoke is the truth, and there is thus no risk of accepting a false confession. The confessor is not obliged to choose between silence and false confession ha ... utterance of ... is nothing in t ... for if it has ... But that theory does not obtain in England. A confession obtained after the advice that it would be better to tell the truth is excluded in England. R v Enoch, 5 C & P 539; R v Hearn, C & M 109, R v Laugher, 2 C & K 225; R v Garner, 1 Den Dr C 329, R v Baldry 2 Den Cr, C 42, R v Waringham, 15 Jur 318, R v Gellis 11 Cox Cr C 69, R v Bate, 11 Cox Cr 686, R v Dogharty, 13 Cox Cr 23, R v Fennell 7 Q B D 147, R v Enoch, 5 Car 539, Queen v Uzier 8 W R Cr 13, R v Thompson (1893) 2 Q B 16, 18 ... 'It can hardly be said ... to confess what he ... 96 Kelly C B said ... meaning that they ... confessions. Some cases have gone the length of saying that a statement is inadmissible if it is ... er tell the truth. For my part, I ... that he had better tell the truth ... had better confess, when you do not know whether he is guilty or innocent.' Per Peacock J in In Nobodey Chandra, 1 B L R Cr 15. 'Much conflict, says Mr Chamberlayne exists among the ... as to whether ... ere exhortation, advice or suggestion that received in evidence a statement prima facie so induced. The ruling seems justified as, upon the surface the inducement if any, held out to the declarant is a moral one. It is required that no threat or promise or favour by one in authority should have accompanied the suggestion. On the contrary the use of but slightly varying expression such as 'it will be better for you to tell all you know' or 'you had better tell the truth', has been held to exclude a confession so induced.' Chamberlayne's Ev § 1517. A mere exhortation to

S. 24. the accused to speak the truth could not be construed into an inducement, threat or promise, and, least of all, into an inducement to make a false confession and is not enough to exclude evidence of a confession ... ess, 9 P R. 1894 Cr ... s made by a superior ... 24 of the Act Nga Pye ... U le car 5 Cr R 3?

the moral or religio... an officer or other p... the latter s presence ... goes so far as to pro... will do what he can ... The subsequent co... statement of the person in authority frequently both in tone ... language ... ake The ... better for ... covert thre... case if he ... frequently ... tion with the proceedings, will accrue in the manner requested There is plainly danger in such a situation ... volition of the accused be over-powered, that he will state the truth not as it is but as he thinks will be pleasing to the officer, or other person in authority to have him say that it is Adopting this distinction the Courts of several jurisdictions have regarded the statement of an accused person thus influenced as inadmissible under the rule, because involuntary' Chamberlayne's Ev § 1516 1518 or perhaps under the violent pain of the rack, he thinks of nought ... present relief from agony which his confession will gain him Wigmore § 833. A confession is not admissible, which has been made immediately after the prisoner with others had been threatened with a loaded rifle It was immaterial that the threat was not made to extort a confession, but to suppress an attempt at mutiny Queen v Hicks, 10 B L R. Ap 1 It is a mistake to suppose that a confession cannot be irrelevant under section 24 unless it can be alleged that there was torture leaving marks of personal violence Under the section the confession becomes irrelevant if the making of it appears to have been caused by any inducement, threat or promise Queen Empress v Narayan, 25 B 543= 3 Bom L R 122

Promise of pardon A confession by promising immunity from prosecution of another case is not admissible against the confessor Kaloo v R. 12 P W R 1907 Cr =5 Cr L J 437, see also Abdul Karim v K E, 1 A L J 110=1 Cr L J 211 Mahommad Shafi v Empress 1 P R 1899 Cr Crown v Radha Kissen 9 P R 1869 Cr R v Ashjar 2 A 260, Nga Io v Queen Empress L B R (1872 189?) 396 Ina v Emperor, 45 A 633, Emperor v ... Inant 32 C L J 201=60 Ind Ca 417=22 Cr L J 225, Queen v ... W R Cr 53, C 50 (73), In re Kora Govindan ... Gilhs ... Baidulla v R. 10 P R 1895, ... Was ... 11 Cox Cr 69, O Hojan J ... and ... against the prisoner induced by a person in authority to make the information ... I think ing himself by the hope of obtaining the immunity of an approver that he was He became a Crown witness in a reasonable expectation that he would escape punishment as a return for his accepted services in bringing offenders to justice ' Where a promise of safety was made by a Police officer to whom the accused confessed, which confession was repeated before the committing Magistrate and the accused also made a confession, although differ... in

...it the confession before the S.

...l is an inducement or threat ...ithhold my matter within ...voluntary statement given ...in evidence as against him Reg v Alibhai, 8 B H C. Cr 103

Inducements involving a higher punishment, mild treatment in prison or a reward of money "It is scarcely conceivable" says Prof Wigmore "(except ...

...persons for the ends of justice, be encouraged ...ey do so they will receive lenient punish-... entirely wrong impression and to be ... King Emperor, U B R (1916) 2nd Qr. p 113=17 Cr L J 102=35 Ind Cas 962, 820, People v Johnson, 41 Cal 153, Smith v ... in treatment while in confinement cannot ... a false confession R v Green, 6 C & P 655, Com v Dillon, 4 Dall 116 Although ...ld be voluntarily bartered ...s result has some-times bee... ...lackburn, 6 Cox. Cr. 337 ...esser offences are often con... ...be housed and ...

...and to reject absolutely a confession so induced Where the circumstances of a ...obably thus induced, let it be excluded ...the basis of so unusual a contingency ... Evidence" Wigmore § 835

Promise of cessation of prosecution release from arrest etc A promise ...has ...ich ..."If you will tell me where my goods are I will be favourable to ... Could J ...cy are ...secutor ...if he ...o R v Simpson, 1 Moody Cr C 410 In ... was disallowed as it was obtain... do all he could Similarly in R ... because there the prosecutor said if you will not tell we of course can do ... ...ent was ...ch But ...promise ...v Mans... ...ase 6 Cr ...exclude ... 3rd ed

Assurance that "what you say will be used for you" or "used against you" The advice of one in authority promising that "what you say will be used for you" was regarded in many cases as excluding a confession As regards confessions thus obtained Coleridge J said "I cannot conceive a more

24. direct inducement to a man to make a confession than telling him that what he says may . R v Dieu, 8 C & P 140 The learned . v Hornbrook, 1 Cox Cr 55, where he

430 by Lord Campbell C J, Pc
But in R v Moore 2 Den Cr C 5 that "however slight the threat
Wigmore § 837

Assurance that "you had better confess" The phrases "it would be worse for him if he did not confess or better for him if he did" (East Pl Cr ; 654, R v Kingston, 4 better for you to tell Cr C 410), "you had 6 C & P 353), "you h
7 C & P 579), "if any other person had to do in the case, it is better you ... tell,' (R v Moody, 2 Cr & D 347), "you may as well tell me" (R v Croydon, 2 Cox Cr 67), 'because it would save him the shame of a search warrant" (R v Collier, 3 Cox Cr 57), "it would be best for him if he would tell how it was transacted" (R v Warringham, 2 Den Cr C 447, "if you do not tell, it would be worse for you" (R v Cheverton, 2 F & F 833, R v Coley 10 Cox Cr 536) and "it will be right thing for M to make a clean breast of it" [R v Thompson (1893) 2 Q B 12, 18] were held to be vitiating inducement "In a given case" says Prof Wigmore "the exclusion may occasionally not be improper under all the circumstances, but that such a phrase, or its equivalent, should in itself and as a rule operate to vitiate the confession is wholly bad on principle and in common sense' Wigmore § 838 "The mental effect of a suggestion that the accused had better confess is much the same as that of a declaration that he had better tell the truth; although, in form at least the injunction to tell the truth presents an alternative of self exculpation which the ... on the surface does not As however, the advice to tell the ...

confession
tendered
when offered ... be deemed to hide a threat, equally intangible, in case the admonition had disregarded Viewed in this light an intimation to the declarant that he had better confes ... if he does not, has been treated as an ... may reasonably be assumed to ... the wish that the accused should make ... authority or made to him by the injured person does not impair a confession given in compliance with the suggestion" Chamberlayne's Ev § 1520 proceedings 5 M L J ... e to the proceedings ...

1 L ...
must Naır
must
that ... W P ... d (Empress v ...
entence, that he will ...
he like—5 M L J

Art p 29

Retracted confession—Corroboration of To use a confession as evidence against the accused, the Court must be satisfied (1) that it is voluntary, and (2) that it is substantially true Moreover, it is a general rule of practice not to act upon retracted confessions, unless they are corroborated on material points by credible independent evidence. Crown v Motan, 2 S L R Cr 31=10 Cr L J 20), Muhammad v Crown, 5 P L R 1915=3 P W. R 1915 Cr =16 Cr L J. 157=17 Ind Cas 221 Harprosad v Emperor, 36 Ind Cas 133=17 Cr L J. 453; Sher Khan v. Crown, 2 P W. R. 1917 Cr =75 P L R 1917 Cr , Queen Empress v Gunu, Rat Un Cr C 817 It is a recognised rule of the Law of evidence, that a retracted confession may be used against the person making it, but not against other accused jointly with him Chet Singh v. Crown 28 P W R 1907=7 Cr L J 227, Yasin v Emperor, 28 C. 683 A Judge should in the first instance, see whether a retracted confession is voluntary or has been improperly induced The mere fact that prisoner puts in a plea of guilty made it by allegation nduced That is a

If, upon weighing it appears to the Judge that the confession has been improperly induced, no matter how true it may be, he is bound to exclude it, it then becomes evidence and liable to be appreciated and weighed with the rest of the evidence in the usual way Emperor v. Bhagi Vedu 8 Bom L R 697=4 Cr L J 332, King Emperor, v Durga 3 Bom L R 441, Majhi v Emperor A I R 1927 Lah 682=104 Ind Cas 247, certified by a Magistrate, is not enough unduly induced Queen Empress v

by credible and independent evidence, it is unsafe in the majority of cases to found a conviction on a retracted confession A retracted deposition does not of itself afford a sufficient corroboration of a retracted confession Empress v Chutia 13 C P L R 107 Queen Empress v Bharmappa, 12 M 123=2 Weir 376, Empress v Tila Ram, A W N 1886, 52; Queen Empress v Rangi 10 M 295=2 Weir 361, Queen Empress v Ranu 19 M 482=2 Weir 745, Empress v Balai Ghosh 124 Ind Cas 486= A I R 1930 Cal 141, Safi v Emperor, 124 Ind Cas 409=31 Cr L J 661= A I R 1930 Nag 259, Miran v Crown, 30 Cr L J 340=A I R 1929 Lah 597, Sheonarain v Emperor, 8 Pat 262=A I R 1929 Pat 212; Kunja v Emperor, 8 Pat 289=A I R 1922 Pat 275; Bijan Singh v Emperor, 30 Cr L J 1046

an approver had been made
should be examined at the trial,
is a witness preferring to deal with him as a co accused, his retracted confession would be irrelevant under s 34, notwithstanding the special provisions of cl 2 of s 339 of the Criminal Procedure Code Mohammad v Empress, 1 P R 1899 Cr, Crown v Radha Kishen, 9 P R 1869 Cr, Yasin v King Emperor, 28 C 689=5 C W N 670

Where a confession was made before a Magistrate under circumstances not liable to suspicion, and, to all appearances, fulfils the requirements of the law, the fact that it is retracted in the Sessions Court does not negative the presumption of the genuineness of the confession Queen Empress v Bindu, A W N. 1890, 173

A confession before the Magistrate, though afterwards retracted in the Sessions Court, is evidence against the party making it Queen v Jema, 8 W.

S 24. R. Cr 40; Chit Sun v. ... 17 W R Cr 4, R v Gharya, 19 B ... Jaikulal, 20 A 153, R v. Kelvie 29 A 434; ... be laid down a an absolute rule of law that a confession made and subsequently retracted by a prisoner cannot be accepted as evidence of his guilt, without independent corrobor ... depend ... d confession must
and the ... as originally given,
... the reason given by the prisoner for his retraction Sajjad Hussain v. Emperor, 16 P. R. 1903 Cr = 153 P L R 1903; Emperor v Bueswar Dey, 26 C W N 1010 Pada
Prya v Queen Empress L B R (1872-1892) 423, Nanhey v Emperor, 134 Ind
Cas 876 = A I R 1931 Oudh 412

A confession though made voluntarily by an accused person before a Magistrate, if subsequently retracted, is not sufficient by itself to justify a Sessions Court in acting upon it Queen Empress v Balya, Rat. Un Cr C 90, ... 842, Nga Pha v Queen Empress, L B R. ... n, 38 P W R Cr 1910 = 24 P R 1910 = ... h is explained away is like a retracted ... A I R 1927 Lah 519 A retracted ... sufficient to warrant conviction Rahaman v Emperor, A I R 1930 Lah 88 = 30 Cr L. J 1080; Nawab v Emperor, 6 O W N. 545 = 118 Ind Cas 757 = A I R 1929 Oudh 381; Sanual Das v ... v Emperor, 1929 M W N 791, ... 29 M W N 901 = A. I R 1929 Mad. ... r, 31 Cr L J. 26 = 120 Ind Cas ... 35, Durga v. Emperor, 132 Ind Cas

... value of confession seems to be this of an acc ...

voluntary ...
and simpl ...
the use to ...
matter rat ...
up its min ...
to believe ...
that, in the ...
convict or ...

... the retraction, notwithstanding its having kind that not only confirms the general story of the crime but also, unmistakably, connects the ...

P. L R 1914 = 15 C ...
R 1914 Cr; see a ...
Chitsun v Crown, 1 ...
Cal. 633 It can ...
made and subsequently retracted by a prisoner cannot be accepted as evidence of his guilt without independent corroborative evidence The weight to be ...

retracting them were true. An omission on the part of the Judge to ... circumstance ... to the Jury amounts to a misdirection ... Weir 533; Queen Empress v Bhagi, Rat. ... ya, 19 B. 728. If a Judge believes that a confession made by a prisoner although subsequently withdrawn, contains a true account of that prisoner's connection with a crime, the Judge is indicate that it is a natural narrative of what took place in the presence of the man making it, and is not at variance with any evidence in the case which is believed mouth

224; Qu
Empres
W
fession
was not liable to be convicted on the confession alone Queen v Hardeua, 5 N W P. 217 But confession of a co accused, though subsequently retracted is admissible in evidence against his co accused Sardara v Emperor, 125 Ind Cas 639=31 Cr L J 877=A I R 1930 Lah 667 Where the confession made before the police was found by the Court not to have been voluntary, it cannot be corroborated by the confession of the accused as an approver, subsequently retracted Safi v Emperor 121 Ind Cas 459=31 Cr L J 661=A I R 1930 Nag 259

In capital cases, the jury should often refrain from convicting on retracted confessions Queen Empress v Ruppya, Rat Un Cr C 245=Cr Reg 12 of in a criminal case was the confession of the but subsequently retracted, and where it the prisoners who confesse ly retracted, such a very good corrobora-

ground that it was ter admission, is to be Evidence Act, and the proper course for the Judge to take evidence about the circumstances before admitting the given in the W N 380

understood in another
what statement was made by the accused It is not the practice to base a conviction upon a retracted confession, unless it is corroborated That a person, and while not ignoring the difficulties that surround retracted confessions, it evidence by reason of the person making it having retracted it before the committing Magistrate Sahib v Empress, P L R 1900, 19 Cr There is nothing in section 30 of the Evidence Act which would exclude, as against

S. 24. persons being jointly tried for the same offence, a confession made by one of the accused duly proved, simply because at the trial the confession is withdrawn or denied Aung Thein v Crown, 1 L B R 133 Certain accused persons made confessions which led to the arrest of certain other persons The confessions were subsequently retracted, but were corroborated by the evidence of the approver Held that the retracted confessions taken behind the back of the
made them, conviction
J 73=13
of J by fracturing her skull C made a confession before a Magistrate, which she retracted in the Court of the trying Magistrate Except the evidence of one witness, who said he saw the two wom whatever to show that C committed the cr convict the accused person on his retracted borated Held also, that production by
with
n Mt Chandan v Crown, 3 P W R 1901
-38 cannot be accepted as proper corroboration of a confession made to a Magistrate and retracted at the sessions trial, especially when that confession was not fair Empress v Jadub, 27 C 295=4 C where a confession was recorded und when it was corroborated in material King-Emperor v Mohiuddin, 25 M 1 made under the 164 of the Crimina if retracted afterwards
Nga Thin v Queen

A confessing prisoner should not be condemned upon a retracted confession unless it is corroborated in material particulars Emperor v Mussamat Jawat 70 P L R 1918=19 P W R Cr 1918=44 Ind Cas 179=19 Cr L J 213; Har Prosad v Emperor, 36 Ind Cas 133=17 Cr L J 453; Behari v Emperor 60 Ind Cas 789=22 Cr L J 293

An accused's confession subsequently retracted and not tallying with the other evidence in the case, cannot be pressed as strong evidence against him. Emperor v Tilak, 32 Ind Cas 321=2 O L J 468=17 Cr L J 33 In the absence of corroboration in material particulars, it is not safe to convict on a retracted confession, unless from the peculiar circumstances in which it was made and judging from the reasons, alleged or apparent, of the retraction, there remains a high degree of certainty that the confession, notwithstanding its having been retracted from is genuine Khushi v Emperor, 31 Ind Cas 821=16 Cr L J 815 But it cannot be laid down as an absolute rule of law that a confession made and subsequently retracted by a prisoner cannot be accepted as evidence of the plaintiff without independent corroborative evidence The weight to be given to such a confession must depend on the circumstances under which n and the circumstances under which it was

N 1010=24 Cr L J 145=A I R 1923 Cal 217; Bassireddi v Emperor, 9 L J 613=18 L W 607=33 M L I H C 37, Manna Lal v Emperor O & A I R 947, Moti Ram v Emperor, 75 Ind Cas 153=24 Cr L J 201

The duty of a Judge presiding over the trial by Jury is to prevent the production of inadmissible evidence, whether it is or is not objected to by the

They will be admitted only if they are voluntary If the Judge is satisfied as to the truth of a confession but doubts voluntary character he is bound to exclude it under the law, though such rejection amounts to excluding truth from the Court Emperor v Panchkari Dutta 29 C W N 300–52 C 67=86 Ind Cas 414–26 Cr L J

It cannot b and subsequently guilt without and of a confession is a matter to be decided by the Court in the circumstances of each particular case Manna Lal v Emperor, A I R 1925 Oudh 1 In deciding whether a retracted confession is to be admitted in evidence it is necessary to examine not only the statement of the prisoner as to how he came to make it, but all the circumstances of the case There is no rule of law which compels a Court to raise an inference of improper inducement from the mere fact that a confession is retracted Partab Singh v Emperor, 6 Lah 415=7 Lah L J 482= A I R 1925 Lah 605, Mohor Sing v Emperor, 96 Ind Cas 747=27 Cr L J 982 Confession though retracted, although certain detailed confession
explained the con
381 Conviction based on retracted confession which was voluntary and was sufficiently corroborated is legal Iqbal v Emperor 103 Ind Cas 112–28 Cr L J 656

Procedure to be followed—Where admissibility of confession is objected to—English Practice Now the uch alleged admission A voluntarily It must have

...ed to make it by any promise or favour, or by any threat held out by a person in authority R v Thompson, (1893) 2 Q B at p 15 So the only question in these cases really are—was any promise or favour or any menace or undue terror made use of, to induce the prisoner to confess? And if so was the prisoner induced by the evidence R v Thomp 15

It is also important to note that the question as to the admissibility or otherwise of the alleged confession is a question for the Judge and not for the Jury

" No
until objec prosecutio
gist of it, has been determined by the Judge

Very often, however especially in cases at quarter sessions it is not unusual to ment was into the pro of the evidence is to be taken by the defence And then when the evidence in chief is be statement,
of the det
the Judge in the absence of the Jury

"It must be obvious to any person that such a procedure must be very damaging to the accused because even if the objection is sustained the Jury must naturally conclude that something not in the prisoner's favour is being withheld from them

S. 25. "What then is the correct procedure to be adopted in such case It is

be followed in such cases And that procedure appears to be as follows The prosecution, in opening, should make no reference whatever to the accused's statement, and should not even mention the fact that the accused made a statement.

"In examining his witness or witnesses, the prosecution must in the same way refrain from asking the witness whether the accused made a statement. When, however, that st defence should state this stage of the proce

"In the absence o witness or witnesses examined and re-exami be entitled to call witn can be called in support seems to be a moot point Thus, in Salvage's case application was made by the defence to call the prisoner to give evidence in support of the allegation that the confession was made involuntarily, but such application was refused by the Judge

"It is difficult to see, however, on what grounds the Court can refuse to hear the prisoner on the question of admissibility

"It is submitted that the prisoner is entitled to call other persons to prove that the confession was made involuntarily, persons, for example, who would say that they were present when the alleged confession was made, but that it was made in response to an inducement ... to the

If the Judge has ruled out ... all to the statement must be made If, on the other hand, he has hel prosecution will continue their examination such evidence stopped in order to allow the q of the evidence to be argued in the absence statement will, of course, be given It wi examine the witness again, but before the ment was made involuntarily, the Judg the Jury the reason why their retirement was requested, and also his reason deciding to admit the evidence

"The defence in opening will, inter alia deal with the question of the ... other

... case cited in 33 Cr L J pp 1 2 (Journal)

When
accused is the truth or form an a were so, pr
Emperor, 88 Ind C is 283 = 26 Cr L J 1115

Confession to police officer not to be proved 25 No confession made to a police officer* shall be proved as against a person accused of any offence.

Difference between English and Indian Law "Sections 25, 26 and 27 differ widely from the law of England and were inserted in the Act of 1861 (from a

*In the Upper Burma insert " who is a Magistrate," see s 4(3) (c) of the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (13 of 1898).

which they have bee[illegible] police for the purpose England confes ions o[f] threat or promise R v Kerr 8 C & P 176, R v Berryman (1854) cited in Roscoe Cr Ev 19, R v Best, (1909) 1 K B 692, R v Man 17 Cox C C 689, R v Kershaw, 18 T L R 357, R v Dougal, 67 J P 325, R v Leibling, 2 Cr A R 315, Rogers v Hawkins 19 Cox 122, Ibrahim v R (1914) A C 599=18 C W N 705 P C., [illegible] 206, R v Hirst, 18 Cox C C 374, R v [illegible] Harris, 24 Cox C C 66, Darling J said [illegible] be done to induce or threaten, but short of that, if the person is not in custody, it is certainly not the law that the constable may not make enquiries which may lead to his getting evidence from a person which he may use against the person" But a constable has no right to elicit admissions from those he suspects R v Mathews, 14 Cr A R 23, see also R v Voisin, (1918) cited in Roscoe Cr Ev 51.

Reason of the Rule This law is applicable only in India The following extract from the First Report of the Indian Law Commissioners shows the reasons which prompted the Legislature in enacting ss 25 and 26 The Police in the province of Bengal are armed with very extensive powers They are prohibited from enquiring into cases of a petty nature but complaints in cases of the more serious offences are usually laid before the police daroga who is authorized to examine the complainant, to issue process of arrest, to summon witnesses to examine the accused and forward the case to the Magistrate or to submit a report of his proceedings according as the evidence may in his [illegible] lence taken by the [illegible] sessions of 1832 and [illegible] abundantly shows [illegible] ses of extortion and [illegible] y exercised by the [illegible] the conclusion that [illegible] the facilities which [illegible] ssession of such [illegible] Regulation XX [illegible] y confession it [illegible] ns for preventing character of the confession confessions are frequently extorted or fabricated A by getting up a case against parties whose circumstances and character are such as are likely to obtain credit for an accusation of the kind against them This is not unfrequently done by extorting or fabricating false confessions and when this step is once taken there is of course impunity for the real offenders

25. result of which is to constitute a written document This of course will not prevent a police officer from receiving any information which any one may voluntarily offer to him, but the police any statement made by a party accused

As regards sections 25 26 and 27 v Babu Lal, 6 A 509 at pp 521 522 I have stated the effects as introductory of the observations which I am about to make that the rules contained in ss 25 26 and 27 of the Evidence Act were not originally treated in British India strictly speaking rules of evidence, but rather as rules governing the action of police officers, and as matters of criminal procedure I may take it that no such rules existed either in the Muhammadan Law or in the English rule of evidence the only two systems to which the Courts resorted for guidance on questions of evidence in criminal matters' Then after making mention of previous legislation on the subject he added at p 523 These legislative provisions leave no doubt in my mind that the accused persons Section prisoners accused of offences Solam v Emperor 43 Ind Cas in Queen v Hurribole 1 C 207, 4 A 198 (204) The reason confession made by an accused it be made in the immediate apprehension that a police officer persons may unwillingly excite terror in their minds and extort false and involuntary confessions and his duty to investigate criminal cases and to detect offenders and bring them to justice may make him feel tempted to obtain confessions from accused persons by threat promise or other improper influence Queen Empress v Bij 2 C W N 71

Origin of the section As far back as the year 1817, the Legislature repealing the older rules upon the subject passed Regulation XX of that year which inter alia had for its object the

can be as in the rule section provided that no compulsion is to be used either towards parties or witnesses for the purpose of obtaining any ned not on any occasion or prehended upon a criminal s of a prisoner by holding sunding or inti-

any species of landholder or farmer, or by any other person whatever, whether with a view to extort a confes sion or to procure information will subject the offender to ex... punishment, on con... ying down these ... whenever a confes... lice thana
the sp... o darogah's report ... event mal practic... ns in order to gain ... XX of 1817 remained undisturbed in the statute-book up to a recent time when they were l Procedure Code of s 19 of Regulations

... The next three sections 148 149 and 150 contained even more important rules which perhaps did not properly belong to the province of of Criminal Procedure but to that of Evidence ...

... person accus...
amounts to a fact discovered

only fit and p...
Evidence which 150 of Act XXV of 1861 were exiled from t... they found no place in the new Code Act ... proper place as ss 25 26 and 27 of the Admissions They have been imported bodily in the Code of 1861 they are ...

Scope of the section In section 25 the criterion for excluding the con To whom was the confession made? If officer the law says that such confes in evidence because the person to whom ving such a confession, and he is more

25. over Queen
R 11

made, in the first instance, to two policemen, and taken down in writing, and the prisoner was then brought before the Deputy Commissioner of Police Mr Lambert, in the Police Office in Calcutta, when he again affirmed the truth of his former statement to Mr Lambert, and Mr. Lambert, in his capacity of a confession made by a prisoner in custody, to any person other than a Police Officer, shall be admissible, unless made in the presence of a Magistrate I am of opinion that is the true meaning of the 25th section Its humane object is ... any undue ... to which ... for reading ... R, 11 ... 198, In re ... cer by an ... a fortiori it is inadmissible against a co accused Emperor v Hari Singh, 12 Bom L R 899 = 8 Ind Cas 622 = 11 Cr L J 690; Nga Phakin v Emperor, 36 Ind Cas 480 = 17 Cr L J 512 This section is absolute Kodangi v Emperor, A I R 1932 Mad 24 A confession contained in a statement made by an accused person to a stranger in the presence of a Police Officer while he was in the custody of a jailor does not fall within the purview of s 25 or s 26 of the Evidence Act and is admissible in evidence Nadu v Crown, 3 P R 1914 Cr = 214 P L R 1914 = 15 Cr L J 480 = 21 Ind Cas 365 A confession made by an accused to a private person in the presence of the Police is inadmissible in evidence against him Chanan v Emperor, 20 Ind Cas 468 = 37 P W R 1913 Cr = 320 P. L R 1913 = 14 Cr L J. 596 Section 25 of the Evidence Act ... that a confession to a Police officer shall not b... not say that such a confe... a confession may be used ... subsequent judicial confessio... Ind Cas 693 = 6 L. L J 54 "a person" in this section me... only to the proof of a confession as against the maker so it should be ...

confession as a whole is excluded, whether by reason of the section ... much of the information given by the person ... he was an accused and in custody, as distinctly ... discovered becomes admissible Amiruddin v Emperor, 41 Ind Cas 321 = 22 C W N 213 = 27 C L J 118 = 19 Cr L J ...; but see also In the Matter of Hiran Miya, 1 C L R 21; Emperor v Hira, 21 ... L R 724 A confession made to a Police officer is inadmissible even if the ... Bahadur v was convicted on the evidence of tw offered them Rs 10 per ball of large quantity of illicit opium from had been also enrolled as Police

A confession, therefore, made to accused of any offence is ina only to section 25

the use,
to Police statement
L T. 1=
examined
this section Empress v Jadabdas 4 C W N 129 In that case the Court

Confession—Definition of A confession is an admission made at any e, stating or suggesting the inference, statements which amount to a direct y statements which et suggest an in The factor deter
not the motive of e of guilt Mi Ein
11 Cr L J 153,
338 Confession
an accused person, which it is proposed to prove against him to establish an offence Queen

Police officer, meaning of "In construing the 25th section of the Evidence Act of 1872, I consider that the term 'police officer' should be read not in any strict technical sense, but according to its more comprehensive and popular, meaning" Per Garth C J in Queen v Hurribole, 1 C 207 (215) A Deputy

S. 25. Commissioner of Police in Calcutta is a Police officer Ibid Primarily the term "Police officer" in this section means the same as it does in the Police Act but it can be extended beyond the definition in section 1 of the Police Act to cover only those persons who like Police officers coming within that definition, are o any member of the commu
... for doing so That

Police officer whoever that officer may be British territory or a Police officer in foreign ...
v. Nagla, 22 B 235, Mabli v Emperor, 87 Ind Cas. 520=26 Bom L R 706=26 C L J 984; see Salam v Emperor, 43 Ind Cas. 111; Nadir v Crown 15 Ind Cas 800 A village headman in Burma who is authorized to arrest without warrant is not a Police officer so as to make a confession made to him inadmissible Nga Myain v Emperor, 3 Bur L J 11=81 Ind Cas 540=25 Cr L J 924 The widest and most comprehensive extension of the term "Police officer" cannot make it include a Kotwar in the Central Province Sukhuaria v. Emperor, 25 Cr L J 147=76 Ind Cas 291=A I R 1924 Nag 29, see also Bhaguatdin v Emperor, 59 Ind Cas 88=21 Cr L J. 568 A member of a frontier constabulary is, for the purposes of sections 25 and 26 of the Evidence Act, a Police officer, and admission made to him, and not in the presence of a Magistrate by an accused person cannot be proved against the maker Khuaja Hassan v Emperor, 71 Ind Cas 360=24 Cr L J 136 In the Punjab a village Chaukidar is not a Police officer within the meaning of section 25 of the Evidence Act Khuda Baksh v Emperor, 43 Ind Cas 84=19 Cr L J 52=42 P. R. 1917 Cr See also Dal v Emperor, 17 Cr L J 62=26 Ind Cas 654. A chaukidar, although he is not a Police officer under Act V of 1861, is one under Reg XX of 1817 and Act I of 1872, and a confession made to him is inadmissible Empress v Indra Chundra, 2 C W N 637, Nazu v R, 9 C W N 47

Police
to hi
Sin v

21), a police Sub Inspector (Addu Sil
19 W R Cr 51), a darogа (R v police (R. v Luchoo, 5 N W P 86) 10 B. L R. v Babu Lal, 6
confession ma
There is so ... other High Courts ... In excise peon having the power to detain, search, seize and arrest any person whom he believes to be guilty of any offence under the Opium Act or Bombay Abkari Act has powers which are very similar to those exercised by a Police officer r the provisions of L R 19, Nanjo
1196=51 B 75=93
n L R 674=97
But the Calcutta
is admissible in section 25 of the n Sao v Emperor,
J 579=A I R.
C W N 831=45
... 151, Jura Sardar

v Emperor, 52 C L J. 177; Moti Lal v Emperor, 36 C W N 163; contra Ibrahim v Emperor, 35 C W N 601; 9 Mys L J 71 following 51 B 18; Maung san Myin v Emperor, 7 R 771=121 Ind Cas 715=31 Cr L J 303=A. I R 1930 Rang 19 An excise officer is not a Police officer within the meaning of section 25 of the Evidence Act Emperor v Budhu, 99 Ind Cas 594=A I R 1927 Sind 112, Tillibai v Emperor, 83 Ind Cas 151=25 Cr L J 1223; Meclu v Emperor, 88 Ind Cas 32=26 Cr L J 1088=A I R 1925 Nag 340; Emperor v Wazir Singh, 11 Ind Cas 588=3 P R 1918 Cr=19 Cr L J 361; Muhammad v Emperor, 39 Ind Cas 977=21 C W N 694=18 Cr L J 3 Cr L J 165=15 Ind Cas 305=5 Bur L. ot a Police officer and confession made to him under s 25 of the Evidence Act Queen Empress v Sama Papi, 7 M 287=2 Weir 235 A confession made to Ywathugyi should not be admitted in evidence He is the head of the rural police and has police duties to perform He is, to all intents and purposes, a Police officer though he may not be so designated Maung Wun v Queen Empress, L B R. (1833—1900) 22

Confession made to a police officer whether admissible A confession made to a Police officer cannot be used in evidence E v Thakur A W N 1883, 188, E v Pancham, A W N 1882, 21 1 A 198 Confessions recorded

A Cr 153=106 Ind Cas 442=26 A L J 92 A confession made to another person in the presence of a Police officer, who has asked or instructed that other person to take the confession in such a way as to be his agent, where the confession takes place under such circumstances that the Police officer is in such proximity as to make his presence likely to affect the mind of the confessing person is in substance a confession to a Police officer Emperor v Mt Har Piari, 97 Ind Cas 44=44 A L J 958=A I R 1926 All 737, see also Channan v Crown 21 Ind Cas 468 Rule 195 of the Madras Councils Rules of Practice is not a rule of law but merely a rule for the guidance of village Magistrates and ter the police investiga-the Magistrate know Emperor, A I R 1927

Mad 974
Where a house was searched and the recovery list, held that the fact of the accus recovery list is not admissible in evidence

8 Lah 326=28 P L R 119=100 Ind Cas 707=28 Cr L J 323 If after out the route taken by them in going to commit the offence of dacoity and the

25. 178=23 Cr L J 197 A first information of murder was lodged at the Police station by the accused himself on the morning following the murder and in it after stating the narrative of events prior to the night of occurrence he confessed that he had committed the offence sions of section 25 of the Evidence in its entirety, yet, in so far as it spo it was admissible in evidence if and 62 Ind Cas 578=25 C W N 788=
Police by an accused person is admissible to prove the ownership of property in respect of which he is accused Ganpat v Bani, 55 Ind Cas 62=21 Cr L J 414. Statement made by the accused in presence of a Police officer is admissi
R 724
fession
v Emperor, 48 Ind Cas 883=36 P R 1918 Cr made by a complainant in his first report at the Police station is not admissible as proof of the facts therein mentioned and cannot be used as evidence against the accused in his trial Dal v Emperor, 16 Cr L J 62=26 Ind Cas 62. Accused went to a Police station and made the report I have killed my wife and her corpse is lying in my house," in consequence of which the Police proceeding to his house, discovered the corpse of his wife in an inner room of the house Held, that the provisions of ss 25 and 26 of the Evidence Act apply to the circumstances of the case Surendra Nath v Emperor 16 A L J 478=47 Ind Cas in an investigation
made
must be taken to be a state
ns were put by the Police officer himself or by somebody else in his presence But incriminating statements made by accused persons while in Police custody, in answer to questions put by a
excluded
from evidence unde ror, 13 Cr
L J 106=37 Ind
the time of making an incri defend a withdrawal of the plea can be allowed if the accused wishes to withdraw it Emperor v Shuldan, 28 Ind Cas 145=44 P W R 1914 Cr

The only evidence against the first accused was that in consequence of information given by him property was produced theft before the police conviction of the first acc not lead directly to the recovery of the property In re Ippari ham 3 M L T 333=7 Cr L J 398 Where a confession was made before an invesunder s 25 of the Evidence Act Lee Bein v Queen Empress, L B 1892) 479

confession
Act, 1889
committed a to a Police was in a pla
was a conf
Evidence of

to a Police officer and Act Queen Empress v Ja made by an accomplice, tender of a pardon by an Assistant Commissioner acting in his

S. 337, Cr Pro Code was held to be Empress, 10 P R 1895 Cr Section 25 confession made to a Police officer shall not be proved as against an accused person It does preclude an accused person from proving, on his own behalf, a confession made to a Police officer by another accused person tried jointly with him Ibrahim v Emperor, 12 Cr L J 79=9 Ind Cas 449 Confession to a Police officer of having given false information cannot be it and charged under s 182 and s 211 of Nga Thet, U B R (1897 1901) Vol I, 156 or rioting During , and, dmis l the information was not a confession under s 25 of the Evidence Act, and as against the person other than the informant, it amounted to an admission of evidence against them Hazir v King Emperor, 11 C L J 301=5 Ind Cas 305=14 C W N 593

Where a Police officer read over to the accused the statement which he (Police officer) had taken from others and then told him 'I know the whole thing now,' and the accused, thereupon made a statement in consequence of which he was arrested and his confession was duly recorded held that the confession nd voluntary and was perfectly Hanmat 3 Bom L R 401 accused person it is illegal or a confession which is open to grave suspicion of having been produced by ill treatment of the police Khair Din v Crown, 21 P W R 1907 Cr=6 Cr L J 266

ting statement made to a Police officer by an accused person in custody Queen Empress, v Mathews, 10 C 1022

admis

The evidence for the prosecution consisted of certain confessions made to the Police found some stolen cloth for the Police he confession was inadmissible under s 25 mentioned did not justify his conviction under the section Empress v Nanhe Beg, A W N 1883, 126

Admissions not amounting to confessions whether admissible when made to a Police officer Every statement is not a confession Tiho v Emperor, 19 S L R 6=A I R 1925 Sind 257 An incriminating statement to a police officer, though on the face of itself exculpatory is inadmissible Emperor v Chandra, 5 Cr R 15=49 B 612 89 Ind Cas 1046 The question whether a particular statement whether it be positive or negative, verbal or expressed by conduct, is or is not a confession, must be decided on the facts of each case Umer Durang v Emperor 86 Ind Cas 410=26 Cr L J 778=A I R 1925 Sind 237 After a fight in which death was caused, several accused drove certain cattle belonging to the deceased to the pound Two of them made a statement to a Sub Inspector of Police that they were in the

S. 26 fight and that the deceased had attempted to interfere with the seizure of the cattle Held that the statement did not amount to a confession in a much as it was only an explanatory statement of the circumstances under which the cattle had been seized and was not an admission of guilt but rather in the nature of a complaint against the deceased and was not therefore inadmissible in evidence Jodal v Emperor 81 Ind Cas 347 = 25 Cr L J 811 A I R 1923 Lah 232 A statement by one accused to the police that certain property which he produced had been given to him by two other accused who were charged with hi as being an admission Act Emperor v She
A statement made by confession may nevertheless be used against him and more particularly it is statement t
it amounts t under sectic
making the 23 Cr L J
confined to from which

Ram Gang v Emperor nce Act does not say that it excludes only confession to them, there bei which are statem statements which is charged Furt

leading to discovery whether such statements amount to confession Emperor v Kanaal Mali 6 Ind Cas 161 = 15 Cr L J 713 = 41 C 601, E v Buddhu 3 N I R person to a Police admissible in evidenc 14 Cr L J 252 A amount directly or indirectly to an admission of any incriminating circu is admissible in evidence, hence where the accused was found carrying a box at night and when asked by a policeman on duty about the ownership the box stated that it belonged to him the statement was held admissible him fes
by a offence For such a purpose confession other purposes would be admissible under s (s 21), in his character of one setting up an interest in property in in litigation, or judicial enquiry and disposal Queen Empress v
9 B 131

26 No confession made by any person whilst he is in the custody of a police-officer, unless it be made in the immediate presence of a Magistrate, shall be proved as against such person

Confession by accused while in custody of police not to be proved against him

* Explanation —In this section "Magistrate" does not include the head of a village discharging magisterial functions in the Presidency of Fort St. George or in Burma or elsewhere unless such headman is a Magistrate exercising the powers of a Magistrate under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882 †

*This Explanation was added to s 26 by the Indian Evidence Act (Amendment) Act (III of 1891) s 3

† See now the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act 5 of 1898).

nsed on section 149 of the Criminal S.

III of 1891, s 3 The rules cor

in British India

governing the

Queen v. Babu

er as rules

Procedure.

, 35 M 397

persons through any undue n

Per Garth C J in Queen

the rule seems to be that the

of coercion for extorting conf

s section deals with confessions made in the the custody of an accused person that is, presence of a Magistrate, in which case the confessing person has an opportunity of making a statement uncontrolled by any fear of the police Per Ainslie J in In the matter of Hiran Miya, 1 C L R. 21 Section 26 is not to be read as qualifying the plain meaning of s 25 Queen v Hurribole, 1 C 207, Queen v Duman, 12 W R Cr 82 Section 26, cannot be treated as an exception or proviso to s 25, there being no words to justify such an interpretation The criterion adopted in s 26 for excluding confession is the answer to confession made? If the ans the custody of a police offic be excluded from evidence, unless it v Babu Lal, 6 an accused person v. Mathews, 10 C makes no distinct substantive rule L J 290 This section does not make admission dependent upon knowledge of

M L T 1=13 Cr L J 352=35 M 397=14 Ind Cas 896 But it may be admissible in favour of a co accused R v Pitamber 2 B 611 The general rules applicable to confessions made by prisoners whilst in the custody of a police officer is contained in section 26 and the proviso contained in section 27 Coomer Sahib 12 M 153, T to a Police Superintendent on the day ne...

M was arrested but neither of the other two accused was suspected of having

S. 26.

Magistrate under s 164 of the evidence. Nathu v Emperor, A incriminating statement made in person while in police custody who is not produced before the Magistrate with a view to record his confession can be proved by oral testimony of the Magistrate when it has not been reduced to writing In the absence of any provision of law making it obligatory on the part of the Magistrate to record a confession it is not a matter required by law to be reduced to the form of a document. Jograj v Emperor, supra

Police custody — Magistrate for recording he had been, remained should be treated as st Lakshmya, Rat. Un Cr
her husband was taken into the custody of the police, a friend of hers accompanying her, and the policeman in charge of the woman left her with her friend for the purpose of procuring fresh horse, any confession made to the policeman was away, would not be admissible be regarded to have been in the custody temporary absence of the policeman while in police custody, was inadmissible under s 26 Queen Empress v Singh, 12 P R 1900 Cr = P L R 1900, 56 Cr As soon as an accused or suspected person comes into the hands of a Police officer, he is, in the absence of clear and unmistakeable evidence to the contrary, no longer at liberty and is therefore in custody within the meaning of ss 26 and 27 of the Evidence Act Maung Lay v Emperor, 25 Cr L J 381 = 77 Ind Cas 429 = A I R 1924 Rang 173 The meaning of the words ' in the custody of a Police officer " in this section, cannot be extended by implication to cases beyond what is absolutely necessary, that is, where the person is really under arrest or in strict supervision and is merely allowed to go for a few moments to converse with the person to whom the confession is made But where the accused is not arrested or supervi

would be ma Mahon,

as against the accused
When an accused confession, it is under section 164
accused has been in custody If there is no record of that fact, it is

S.

Confessions made in police made to a Police officer, but not n Queen-Empress v Ali Baksh, S 26 M L J 352=15 Cr L J

which was made by the accused when not in Police custody is admissible in evidence Harbans v King-Emperor, 8 O C 365=2 Cr L J 811, see also Raj Kumar v by an acc his house,
back to pc

C L J 524=92 Ind
he was sent by the which involved an examination of the patient in private Two police men took the accused from the lock up to the dispensary At the dispensary the police men waited outside on the verandah while the accused was inside undergoing examination at the hands of the doctor, and during the few minutes that he was with the latter he made a confession Held, that the confession was inadmissible in evidence under section 26 of the Evidence Act, in as much as the accused remained in the

would be found in a heap of rubbish close to his house and after making the statement he took out the property from the heap in the presence of two police

27. constables Held that admissible in evidence, in the heap of rubbish
845=24 M L. J 352=15 Cr. L J 533

Where an accused person promised, while in police custody to re tore the stolen property, held, that the promise was an incriminating statement suggesting the inference that the a 'therefore' a confession v King-Emperor, 20 P

A statement made
if it is an admission of Queen Empress v Jaccharam, 19 B 363; Queen Empress v Nana, 14 B 260 F B

Confession made in the presence of a Magistrate A confession to a Magistrate while in Police custody is not inadmissible Nazir Singh v Emperor 9 Ind Cas. 806=27 Cr L J 134=A I R 1925 Lah. 557, Queen v Manmohan 24 W R Cr 33, Queen v Shahabat, 13 W R Cr 42; Queen v Nilmadhab, 15 C 595 A confession made by an accused person before the Administrator in Portuguese territory, who is not a Magist ... 26 of the Indian Evidence Act It is immaterial that the confession was made was not himself the case Emperor v Mhalu Rana, 26 Bom L R 706=1924 Bom 480

Police officer, meaning of The word Police officer in this section ...
"police-officer" in Native St C 855=Cr Reg 22 of 1896, 22 B 235, Q E v Sunder Si
257 It is doubtful whether Nazu v Emperor, 9 C W N 174=2 Cr L J 255 The words "police officer" in this section are used in the same sense in which they occur in section 25, and

L J 981 A Deputy Commi
Queen v Hornbole, 1 C 215 A v is not a police-officer Queen
Anand Rao, 49 B 492=89 Ind C Badan Singh v King Emperor, 2 P R 1909=7 P. W. R 1909; Lu per Anand Rao, 49 B 642 A police officer in a French Territory is a police officer R v Viraraghava, 11 M L T 407 A police patel is a police officer R v Rama Birappa, 3 B 12

Magistrate The word 'Magi Native States Queen Empress v
Kala, 22 B 235, Queen Empress v Ind Cas 257, R v Bhima, 17 B in the district in which he has been

Crown 8 P. W. R 1914
, see also R v. Vahali Jetu 7 n of the French Government is a licate presence are admissible in ted to the Magistrate exercising Panch v Nath Pillai v Emp
Administrator is not a Magistrate Emperor v Mhabli, 87 Ind Cas 20=26 Bom L R 706

Explanation Previous to the enactment of this explanation by Act III of 1891, it was held that a village Munsiff falls within the purview of this section and as such he was a magistrate Empress v Ramanjiyya, 2 M 5, see also R v Ranga, 10 M 295

27. Provided that, when any fact is deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a police-officer, so much of such

How much of information received from accused may be proved.

information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved

Principle
any circumstance to be influenced b
T

been induced to say ch of the confession as 35 notes (a) to R v 197 This section was intended not to let in confession generally, but only such particular part of it as set the person to whom it was made in motion, and led to his ascertaining the Per Straight C J in Queen Empress v Certain statements, made under certain , because the Legislature has, in such cases, considered them unworthy of credit, but the taint is removed by the finding upon search, of articles connected with the crime or other facts 5 Mad L Jour Article at p 80 "The prisoner's statement as to his knowledge of the the admission of the exception to the general rule The fact discovered shows that so much of the confession as immediately relates to it is true" Queen Empress v Babu Lal 6 A 509 (513, 517) supports other testimonial exclusions) and the tests worked out are often more or less artificial, but the principle underlies the whole body of rules If now a circumstance appears which indicates that the law's fear of untrustworthiness is unfounded and counteracts the significance of the improper inducement by demonstrating that after all it exercised no sinister influence, the confession should be accepted This is the theory of confirmation by subsequent facts, about excluding afess on otherwise firm it in material

points, the possible influence which through caution had been attributed to the improper inducement is seen to have been nil, and the confession may be accepted without hesitation" Wigmore § 856

"But it should seem, that so much of the confession as relates strictly to the L C J. states the reason for such admission thus "Because it leads to the Origin of the rule The section 150 of Act XXV of 1861 (The Criminal Procedure Code) ran as follows. "When any fact is deposed to by a police

27. officer is discovered by him in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or admission of guilt or not as relates distinctly to the fact discovered by it, may be received in evidence" That section was thus altered by Act VIII of 1869 "Provided that when any fact is deposed to in evidence as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence or in the custody of a police officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or admission of guilt or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered may be received in evidence" Section 150 of Act XXV of 1861 was re embodied in section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act Queen Empress v Babu Lal, 6 A 509

Scope of the section In Mahmood J held that s 27 can down in s 25, but only that c Cr 13, 9 W R Cr 16, 11 C 6 A 509 (F B) the question Empress v Kuarpal, A W N J said, at pp 520 521 "The question raised by this reference is one of interpretation of the Statute, and it may be briefly stated to be, whether the proviso contained in section 27 of the Evidence Act governs only the last preceding section, or also s 25 In order to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion upon this point, it seems to me advisable to trace the history of the rules contained in ss 25 26 and 27 of the Evidence Act, so as to ascertain how these provisions find a place in the Code of Evidence for India I have stated these facts as introductory of the observations which I am about to make that the rules contained in ss 25, 26 and 27 of the Evidence Act were not originally treated in British India as, strictly speaking rules of evidence but rather as governing the action of police officers and as matters of criminal procedure" Then stating that s 150 of Act XXV of 1861 was repealed and re-enacted by Act VIII of 1869 he went on "What was the exact change of language introduced by the new section? Why was it introduced? What was its effect? These are questions which must be considered ...

rendering the language of s 150 a mere ... immediately preceding section 149 which is expressly limited to confessions made by a person 'whilst he is in the custody of a police officer' they (sections 25, 26 and 27) are identical in the rules which they lay down, though the language has been improved by some verbal alterations which require no special mention except the omission of the word or from the clause 'a person accused of any offence or in the custody of a police officer' In the place of the omitted word, 'or' a comma has been substituted, officer' a parenthetical clause for confession would fall under the se remarkable and, if it has any ef proviso" But the majority of not only to section 26, but also to information given by the accus ... confession or not as related distinctly to the fact thereby discovered might be proved Queen Empress v Babu Lal 6 A 509 (F B), see also Queen v Lagura 19 W R 51, Reg. v Jora Hasji, 11 B H C R 242, Empress v Rama Birapa, 3 B 12, Empress v Panchanan, 4 A 198 Ilu v Queen, 11 C 635 Queen v Kamalia 10 B 595, Queen v Nana, 14 B 260, Surendra v Emperor, 16 ... 178, Imaruddin v K E 24, 22 C W N 213, Superintendent v Bhajoo ... C W N 106. That the view taken by Mahmood J in Queen Empress v Babu Lal, supra is the correct view was reiterated by Lort Williams J in Superintendent v Bhajoo Singh, supra at p 111 It has also been pointed out by ...

C. J. in a very recent case, that an anomalous position has been created by follow- S. 2 express mention of it is made therein, see also Empress v Pancham, 4 A 198 "The reasons given for and against the view that section 27 controls section 25 also apply with equal force to the question whether that section likewise controls lous that an

t receives a y leads to ient may be g Emperor, ng Emperor hurm Dutt, peration of tody of the custody of confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered may be proved Per Oldfield J in Queen Empress v Babu Lal, 6 A 509 (F B) at p 513, 514 This police officer or by other wn in these two sections 1 of it in accordance with nly to the extent of so stinctly relates to the fact Per Straight C J in Queen Empress v Babu Lal 6 A 509 (F B) at p 544 But Mahmood J said in the same case at p 541 'I hold that the rule laid down by the Legislature in s 24 (read with s 28) of the Evidence Act, is a rule absolutely independent of the question of discovery or non discovery to which s. 27 relates, that the state of things in India has induced the Legislature to frame in section 25, an equally absolute rule in regard to confessions made to police officers which are presumed to have been made under conditions prohibited by s 24 that the s prohibited the admission s by the accused whilst in rules but only the last rule so enunciated, is made subject to the saving clause contained in section 26 rendering confession admissible, if they are not made to the police officer but to a third person, 'in the immediate presence of a Magistrate' which affords a guarantee that the confession was not extorted, that the proviso contained in section 27 is not intended to qualify the absolute rules contained in ss 24 and 26, which relates rsons whilst the In short, I hold the same as the rule laid down by Lord Eldon in Harvey's Case 2 East P C 658 and that improperly question of

S. 27. in so far as they do lead to such discovery are properly admissible. Wh... be the nature of the fact discovered that fact must, in all cases be itself r... to the case and the connection between it and the statement made must... been such that that statement constituted the information through which the... covery was made in order to render the statement admissible. Other state... connected with the one thus made evidence and thus immediately, but... necessarily or directly, connected with the fact discovered, are not admis... That a witness says that a plan was prepared in his presence is not suff... reason for admitting the plan in evidence unless the witness also says th... his own knowledge the plan is correct. Rex v Jora Hasji, 11 B H C... 242. In a very recent Calcutta case Mr Justice C C Ghose said: "It is clear beyond all dispute that section 27 is one of those sections which con... the three earlier sections namely, sections 24 ... 26. In the ... police officers or whe... confessions are in... have just mention... may in certain circumstances lead to the discovery of the facts, etc in co... quence of the information received from the person in custody. Therefore first thing that has got to be ascertained before section 27 of the Evide... ther or not the information, such as t... other facts came from a person in cu... ation has not come from a person in... 27 would hit the admissibility of s... statement in evidence and under no circumstances that I can think of ha... regard to the provisions of the law, is such a statement admissible in evider... Durlou v Emperor 36 C W N 373(375).

No part ... a confession not written b... to by is adm... either against ... unless it has to the discov... Act, Cro... Shuttlam 14 P W R 1914 Cr (F B), Duarla v Emperor, A I R 1... Oudh 119-14 O L J 210.

Section 27 of th... deal with what may... fession ... J 631. Sections 24... the proviso made fo... Po 2 I B R 108 ... Nga Sanya v King ... 41-4 Ind Cas 759, Empress v Akarpala, A W N 1882, 225, ... v Emperor supra.

in po... of the ... 00 Cr ... P R 1900 Cr. Wher... wh... to the facts discovered ... was given while th... police custody. Ganja v Empress 30 P R 1895 Cr.

Bald evidence introduced through the mouth of a prosecution w... prove the confession of an accused under cover of section 27 ought to ... very little credence by the Court more especially when the accused ... charged with grave offence as an attempt to murder and particularly ... more direct evidence to prove the same points are available to the ... and which they do not take care to ...

in the case but indeed receives corroboration in respect of many points, then the confession should be held to be true as implicating the person making it unless he can make up a story to the contrary It is not necessary that the confession of an accused should receive direct corroboration as to the fact that the accused was concerned in the offence It is sufficient that there is such corroboration of the confession as to indicate that the accused had such knowledge of the circumstances of the offence as would suggest his taking 1=68 Ind Cas 17=9 O L. J.

whether by reason of s 26 or 25 information is set the pol Aminuddin v Emperor, 15 ( Cas 321 Section 27 of also s 24 all three of which

Crown 11 P R 1915 Cr.

This section has got nothing ... fact discovered is or is not relevant ... I R 1929 Lah 344 (F B) Recoveries alc ... Sham of the accused to admissible in evidence, the fact force, independently of the confession, would be admissible in evidence In re Choda Achanna, 2 Weir 735=3 M H. C 318 peror, 36

oint out to 27 of
, it has roviso to
It is a

S. 27.

is a result of it. That is the present case. It cannot be admitted in evidence because the man was not in custody, which of course is thoroughly absurd. [illegible]

There seems to me to be nothing in section 24 or section 25 to prevent evidence being given 'In consequence of something said by the accused I went to such and such a place and there found the body of the deceased'. In cases under section 27 the witness may go further and give the relevant part of the confession."

Any fact. The fact discovered by a statement must be a material thing and not a mental state induced in another person by that statement. Emp. [illegible] to show how the fact that was discovered is connected with the accused so as in itself to be relevant evidence against him." Per Straight C J in Queen-Empress v. Babu Lal, [illegible] dar v. Queen-Empress, 11 C. 635. The test [illegible] information received from an accused person in [illegible] 'Was the fact discovered by reason of the information, and how much of the information was the immediate cause of the fact discovered, and as such a relevant fact?' 5 Mad L Jour p. 80 (Article).

Deposed to. It is necessary, in order to bring a case of discovery within section 27, that the fact discovered should be deposed to by the person to whom the statement was made. 5 Mad Law Jour p. 80 (Article).

Discovered. [illegible] meanings, firstly, [illegible] known before to [illegible] something, the exist[illegible]
It is in the latter, and not in the former, sense that the word is employed in s. [illegible] of the Evidence Act, and this will be made evident upon considering the principle underlying the section. 5 Mad L J pp. 80, 81. From this definition of 'discovery' it follows that simple statements, or statements made while pointing out the scene where the crime was committed or while producing articles, and showing the connection of the place or thing with the offence, are not rendered admissible under section 27, but only statements preceding the finding, upon search or inquiry, of articles or other facts connected with, or referable to the crime. Ibid see also R. v. Jora Hasji 11 B. H. C. R. 242, R. v. [illegible]

[illegible] re already known to persons other than [illegible] Latif, 49 C. 167 = 25 C. W. N. 788. The word discovered is very important. The test is that the fact discovered must be discovered in the sense, that the proof of the existence of the fact no longer rests on the credibility of the accused's statement but rests on the credibility of the witnesses who depose to the existence of the fact. The rest of the information is not admissible But if the accused wishes to challenge the veracity of the statement that it was on his information that the thing was discovered he

S.

r
s f
o

words deposed to is concerned, they are still governed by the provisions of s 27 which must be construed as favourable to the accused as possible for it is a section which makes an exception against the accused contrary to the general sections, namely 25 and 26 which are in his favour Karam Din v. Emperor, A I R 1929 Lah 338

soner [vide

made a staten

344 (F B)
1929 Lah 338
the word 'information' cannot be used as synonymous with the word 'statement' There is no reason why the word 'information' should have been used instead of the word 'statement in the section if by information' statement alone was *intended The word information' as distinct from the word 'statement' con*notes two things namely a statement or other means employed for imparting that information' also includes knowledge derived by the person informed from the informant'

Statements made while p sion of murder made to a soner's saying "that is the pla 11 B H C R 242, Empress v Rama Birapa 3 B 12

If the prisoner himself nected with the crime and the act of production

or delivery its panying statem
discovery in suc
3 B 12 (17)
recorded confes
his pointing ou nected with the

Queen Empress, 11 C 635

27. In consequence of information. "Whatever be the nature of the fact discovered, that fact must in all cases, be itself relevant to the case, and the connection between it and the statement made must have been such that the statement constituted the information through which the discovery was made, in order to render the statement admissible" Per v. Jora Hasji, 11 B H. R 242 It rged under section 411 c property. In the cours the police where the pro buried the property in the fields. property was concealed, and with in which the property was kept out the spot to the effect that he had buried the property there It was contended that those statements were n was in custody of the police ment said "As regards s 27, the property, it is said, was not discovered in consequence of the information given by the accused to the police, but by the act of the accused himself on the

in accordance
the property police in mo accused to ing on the p
and was the natural consequence of the information they had received from and so connec causa causans consideration
thereby disco
Courts in dealing with proximate and remote cause of damage, namely, whether what followed was the natural and reasonable result of the defendant's act It being of great importance that the law should, in a matter of such common occurrence, be distinctly settled, I am glad that my doubts have been removed, and this Court is not divided in opinion But to avoid our judgment being applied to circumstances beyond its meaning and beyond the policy of the law to statements that cannot be regarded as proximate causes, I would refer to Lord Blackburn's decision, where he discusses Lord Bacon's Maxim "It were

ulty of drawing
Q B at p 267, ondon and South
t case I am of his earlier sta
usual course tef
Section 27 was not cular parts of ot ascertaining the
v. Babu Lal, 6 A R 51, where it was held that ct of the party, even there it was he information But in Empress a contrary view In Empress v laid down a distinction between a discovery by the act of the party, and one from his information See also Queen Empress v Babu Lal, 6 A 509, Queen Empress v Kamalia, 10 B 595

The view as expressed in R. v Nana, 14 B 260, has also been adopted by the Calcutta High Court Legal Remembrancer v. Chema Nashya, 25 C. 413, R v Pagree Saha, 19 W. R Cr 57.

The fact deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received or confession made to the police by an accused person must be a fact relevant to the case in which the evidence is sought to be given if it is sought to be admitted in evidence under section 27 Gokul Chamar v Emperor, 105 Ind Cas 683=28 Cr L J 791=6 Pat 611 If arms are recovered in consequence of information supplied by the accused, the statement made by them are, admissible under section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act Ali Ahmed v Emperor, 1923 Lah 134

From a person When a fact is discovered in consequence of information ... sons charged with an offence, and when others ... ould not be treated as discovered from the ... ould be deposed that a particular fact has been information as relates distinctly ... v Ram Churn, 24 W R Cr 36 It ... J observed "I ... where two person ... or 'they said that,' ... that both the persons should speak at once, and it is the right of each of them to have the witness required to depose ... individually used And I may ... constable as having been made by ... covered a certain fact or certain ... on the witness so that there may be ... In dealing with statements of this ... to the discovery it is of the essen... should be precisely and separately state... this point, and the witness refused ... paid no attention to it" See also Rama Singh v Crown 50 P R 1915=7 Cr L J 12 Where all the accused persons jointly pointed out the place where blood stains were found and subsequently the place where the dead body of a person was discovered buried such evidence is not admissible at all against any of the accused unless it can be shown who made the discovery first Faquira v Emperor A I R 1929 Lah 665 Adam Khan v Emperor, 101 Ind Cas 488=28 P L R 187=28 Cr L J 456, Ditto v Emperor A I R 1931 Sind 151, Emperor v Shivaputraya A I R 1930 Bom 244=32 Bom L R 574

In my opinion section 27 of the Evidence Act ought to be strictly construed were in the custody of the police it is quite clear that the statements of the persons other than the first person who made the statement can not be used in evidence The statement made by the first individual under section 27 and in the circumstances described therein may be treated as evidence against him but it is not allowable under the provisions of the law to treat the evidence of the other persons who may have made statements of the description referred to in section 27 as evidence admissible under the provisions of that section This persons who m...

. 27.

based on the ... police that they are untrustworthy ... rebuts that pre[sumption] ... subsequent discovery ... a guarantee of ... If therefore two ... of both ... subsequent to the discovery are irrelevant. Crown v. Sulleman, 10 S L R 7 = 17 Cr L J ... 36 Ind Cas 174.

Where a material fact, for instance, the manner in which a theft was committed, has already been discovered by some other means, an accused's subsequent statement relating to the same fact, while in police custody, is not admissible against him under s 27 of Act I of 1872. Mannu v Emperor, 9 Ind Cas 232 = 12 Cr L J 35 = 3 P W R 1911

Where the Police succeeded in discovering property in consequence of information received from an accused, it is not competent to the Police to replace the property in the place where it was discovered, and to ask the other accused to produce the property, because there is no further discovery under s. 27 Evidence Act as against the other accused Queen Empress v Bishya, 2 Bom L R 1089.

Accused in Police custody. The words used in section 150 of Act VIII of 1869, (which is re enacted as section 27 of the Evidence Act, 1872) are "a person accused of any offence, or in the custody of a police officer." The only alteration in section 37 is the omission of the word "or" before "in custody" but this only shows that the operation of the proviso is restricted to information from an accused person in custody of the police, and does not apply to information from accused persons not in custody of the police Per Oldfield J in Queen Empress v Babu Lal 6 A 509 (513) The meaning of the words in the Evidence Act ... appears ... it is n... in custo... person ... (b) in custody but not accused besides under the circumstances mentioned ...

and is ... limits ... Emperor ... tion in ... under the "(... when the circums... custody person but not accused (c) accused but not in custody, notwithstanding any fact of discovery in consequence thereof

"(2) A confession made to a police officer by a person who is at the time (a) neither accused nor in custody (b) in custody but not accused (c) accused but not in custody, is wholly exc... in consequence thereof A con... is not in custody of the police, could not fall under the purview ... the custody of a police officer (Queen Empress v. Babu Lall, 6 A 509, ... Mahmood J and see per Oldfield J p 513 ...) ...

became senseless" On receipt of the information the police went to ...

and found the corpse. Held that the statement to the police was not admissible S. 2

tion contained in it unless the person who confesses is a person accused of any

King Emperor v Nga Aung Ba, 402 = 35 Ind Cas 962. For the does not necessarily mean detention or confinement, but submission to custody by word or action under s 46(1) Cr Pro Code may be taken to amount to custody Where the accused, who was suspected after the first report had been made, made a statement and pointed out the dead body to the police and his name was subsequently mentioned in second report Held that the accused was not in any kind of custody at the time he made the statement and that it was consequently not admissible under s 27 Jalla v Emperor, 131 Ind Cas 93 = 32 Cr L J 650 = A I R. 1931 Lah 278

So much of the information as relates distinctly to facts thereby dis as to the extent of the informa-he first view is in favour of clates distinctly," so as to a limit ectly and immediately to the discovery of the fact ...

Superintendent v
'Relates to' means distinctly' means
"clearly' or 'definitel ... r 'undoubtedly'
In Queen v Pagaree Singh, 19 W R Cr 51, the accused stated to the Sub-Inspecte ... e deceased) by the neck, and pushed ... a plantain tree, and broke that the woman then and there remove the body took from it a concealed in the neighbouring jungle '
In consequence of this information, the accused was taken to the jungle pointed out by him, and he then produced from a concealed place, the necklace and sed of the and might be proved against the accused So it is clear from this case that the Court in this case followed the first view But West J in Reg v Jora Hasji, 11 B H C R 42, took a as will be is not all sta which are a

S. 27. this would guard prison
For instance killed Rama
went to the confession o

prisoner has said, 'I placed a sword or knife in such a spot,' when it was found that too, though it involves an admission of a particular act on the prisoner's part, is admissible, because it is the information which has directly led to the discovery, and is thus directly and independently of any other statement connected with it But if, besides this, the prisoner has said what induced him to put the knife or sword where it has been found, that part of his statements it has not furthered, much less caused, the discovery, is not admissible' T submitted that the case of Queen v Pajaree Saha, 19 W R 51 is not reconcilable with the principle laid down in Reg v Jora Hasji, 11 B H C R 242, Empress v Rama Birapa, 3 B 12, Queen Empress v Babu Lal, I. L R 6 A 509 ... Shikdar v Queen Empress 11 C 635; Queen Empress v Commn Sahib 13 M 153, Queen

Adu Shikdar
to the assault subsequent discovery
refers to his taking the ornaments and concealing it in the jungle" 5 Uni Law Jour Article 12

In R
of views o
subject of counsels and at the Bench at the o of very eminent Judges of the High Courts in India A I R 1929 Journal 101

In Sukhan v Emperor, A I R 1929 Lah 344 (F B) the question of the admissibility of an incriminating statement made by an accused while he is in the custody of a police officer was considered The prisoner in that case was tried for the murder of a boy who his disappearance but the ornaments recovered from a well At the trial ... Sub-Inspector of ... fact that in consequence of information received from the prisoner he had recovered from one Illah Din silver Karas (bangles) which were proved to be the Karas which the boy was wearing when he was last seen The witness was then asked to disclose the information communicated to him by the accused which caused the discovery of the fact deposed to by him, and he stated that the prisoner had during the investigation, made the following statement "I had removed the Karas, had pushed the boy into the well and had pledged the Karas with Illah Din" The trial Ju Tek Chand and Aga Haidar J J referred to the Full Bench, the confession

Shadi
said "No
confession

S. 27

ore solving
in evidence,
cer If this mining the

cludes, not only the physical fact which can be perceived by the senses, but also the psychological fact or mental condition of which any person is conscious. It is in the former sense that the word is used in section 27 The phrase 'fact discovered' used by the legislation refers to a material and not a mental fact The fact discovered may be the stolen property, the instrument of the crime, the corpse of the person murdered or any other material thing, or it may be a material thing in relation to the place or the locality where it is found Taking the present case as an illustration, the fact discovered is, not the Taras simpliciter, ary to united to be their possession by Illah Din of the i

s 27
limitati accusec fact. This condition follows from the phrase discovered in consequence of information' and also from the expression thereby discovered used by the

The information

h the fact As I have pointed out, the wording of the section shows that the requirements of both the conditions specified above must be satisfied before an incriminating statement can be received in evidence These conditions when combined lead us to the mation is provable which was the
the fact Anything which is it does, an exception to the general rule , must receive a strict construction but also conforms to the principle upon which the exception is founded The real difficulty arises in applying the test to the facts of a particular case To illustrate this of a confession be separated by the accused of judicial opinion, and it has been laid down in some judgments that the

S. 27. whole of the statement can be given in evidence, and that it is not competent to the Court to split up the language used by the accused in conveying the information, to strike out some words which are objectionable and to admit only those which relate strictly to the discovery. There is considerable force in this argu . . . thrown round an accused person . . . dependent upon the . . . nuity of . . . composing the sentence which conveys the information. Suppose a prisoner on being asked about the weapon of offence says "I buried a hatchet in my field. I killed A with it" Now, it is indisputable that the recovery of a hatchet from the field renders only be let in as soon as it is amalgamated with the admissible statement. In determining the extent of the statement, which should be provable on the ground of its being the proximate cause of the discovery, the Courts must have regard not to the composition of the sentences in which the statement is concluded but to its substance

. . .

"The information received from an accused person is usually proved by quoting the words used by him, and this is certainly desirable in order to ensure accuracy But it is not always possible to observe this salutary rule If the witness, to whom the statement was made, has not reduced it to writing and does not remember the exact words used by the accused, he can depose to it only in his own language And there is no valid reason why he should not be required to do the same, if the admissible portion is so mixed up with the inadmissible one as to render it necessary to give the former in the words of the deponent" Regina v Gould, 9 C & P 361, see also Santa v Emperor, 19 Ind Cas 190, Tara Singh v Emp . . . Gaure v Empress, 28 P R. 1894 Cr , G . . . P L R. 1918, Gula Khan v Emperor, . . .

In a recent Calcutta case, . . . art is concerned the more . . . he section and it appears to be . . . to go in as . . . correct view of . . . think it can . . . containing a . . . drawn betwee . . .

. . .

. . . Emperor v . . . r v Mela, 10 Lah L J. 531 = . . . A I R 1931 Pat. 115 = 10 Pat. 153 the . . . n that case the accused said to the Police . . . was contended that the Sessions Judge wrongly admitted this statement in evidence and that what should have been admitted in evidence amounte . . . dead body will be found in the meline" . . . The question then what was the . . . police. . . . former As I said in my opinion, it was undoubtedly couched in the term of . . . statement which is therefore admissible in evidence To accept the argument of the learned advocate as well as the view expressed in Superintendent v Bhajoo

S.

fessional portion thereof given by the prisoner which relates to the fact "includes not only the concrete thing discovered by the investigating officer, but also its its connection with the crime of the information can be ere is no legal justification for defeat the very object with ust be proved in Emperor, A I. han v Emperor,
of the majority
no hesitation in d the boy into the well is wholly inadmissible, as it relates to a separate matter and had no connection with the possession of the ornaments by Alla Din which was the only fact discovered. Nor do I think that the statement that the prisoner had removed the karas from the boy can be regarded as immediate cause of the discovery A man may remove the ornaments from the boy, but he may not give them to t the statement is admissible

ju v Emperor, (1914)
In
observe stateme
but in is cont

whole confession of a prisoner here the confession includes a the offences charged that part the discovery of the weapon Sogiamuthu Padayachi, 50 M.
. Bhai v Emperor, A I R 1926 expressed by Horle and Jalal JJ in the minority judgment of Sukhan v.

27. I... A I R 1929 Lah. 344 (F B) as well as in Harnam Singh v Emperor, ... So it is clear that the Full Bench case in ... English Common Law ... the section while the Madr... Iforle and Jalal JJ. ... interp... and ... Ifor... Act ... Eng... useful ... effect of section 27, it must ... where is in Eng... a confession made to a police officer by a person in custody is admissible in evidence, provided the prosecution first sh... it has not been obtained by any improper means such as coercion, ... section 26, Evidence Act, proh... confession ... it comes within the ... on the subject pr... rarely arises In ... once it has been ...

... Prof Wigmore. "It will be observed ... confession as relates strictly to the ... words, the confirmation admits the part confirmed, and ... falls something short of the logic of the case, for a confirmation on material points produces ample persuasion of the ... the whole It can hardly be supposed that at certain part ... began, and that by a marvellous coin... which a subsequent search (more or ...) confirm Such a differentiation is purely ... mental processes, either of the confessor or of the ... distrusting any part, we should cease distrusting all" Wigmore § 857

"If the exclusion of the confession rests altogether upon the probability that the confession is untrue, as we have seen, then if the prosecution produce evidence tending to show and sufficient to warrant the jury in finding that it is true, it ought to be received, for in such cases the reason of the exclusion is done away with All the Courts recognize the propriety of this reasoning, but illogically decline to pursue it to its logical results If one, accused of larceny, being put to torture, confess the crime and produce the goods from his own possession or disclo... their concealment, and they are afterwards found in the place ... evidence the fact of the finding of the ... you may not in the same ... the prisoner's statement that he deposited ... But, I assert, in the case ... tends to corroborate ... declaration ...

confessed to be ... admissible

A statement ... under section 27 ... only

The words ... so much of such ... distinctly to the ... information received, may be ...

175 Such portion of the confession made to the ... to the discovery of any fact are admissible under section 27 of the ... Jajana Dhanuk v Emperor, 5 Pat 63 = 93 Ind Cas. 884 = 7 Pat L T ...

e also Emperor of Police that committed Held that were all parts of one transaction and the words used by the accused were admissible in evidence Bahadur v Emperor, 88 Ind Cas 7=26 Cr L J 1063=A I. R 1925 Sind 289

A statement made by an accused may be proved under section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, so far as it relates to any material fact discovered in consequence, statement was made Naina Malai
ing an information by accused under ion must have had the direct effect of y Ramasami Boyan, In re, 11 L W 8=54 Ind Cas. 479 The accused made a statement during who is afterwards proved to be a dacoit is not the aning of s 27 of the Evidence Act. The test of of the Evidence Act, if an information received from an accused person in the custody of a police officer, is whether the fact so discovered was a direct natural and necessary consequence of the information so received Salam v Emperor, 14 N L R 192=43 Ind Cas 111=19 Cr L J 79

Under s 27 it is legitimate to record evidence that an accused person said "I will point out certain property" if such statement leads to a discovery, but it cused said 'I will point out are of the booty in the dacoity"
W R (1918) Cr =44 Ind Cas
The King Emperor, 105 P L R, 1908=21 P W R 1908 Cr

It is not all statements made by an accused person connected with the production or finding of property immediatel connected or directly ointed out, in the had taken the Panchu, 13 A
L J 1077

ence
t the 7 Cr

cused
, was naki,
2 Weir 736.

27. Emperor, A !
A. I R
Sukhan v. rulings of the well as Fforde and Jalal JJ only the language of the sect and very probably b ... by the consideration as observed by Fforde J in Hornam
Act has been drafted,
English principles o.
useful guides to the interpretation ... where is in Englan effect of section 27, it must be borne in mind that where is in England conf ... son in custody is admissible evide ... obtained by any ... section Evide
it comes within on the subject
rarely arises

Prof Wigmore "It will be observed confession as relates strictly to the words, the confirmation admit s falls something short of the l ... persuasion

parts the possible fiction stopped coincidence the truthful parts are ned to confirm. Such a difference actual mental processes, either of th re to cease distrusting any part, we should cease distrusting an ... altogether upon the probabil

"If the exclusion of ... produc that the confession is untrue, evidence tending to show true it ought to be received, of this rea
if one, accused of larceny ne goods from his own and they are afterwards possession or disclo found in the place in the finding of the
you may not in the same case, according to the received opinion he goods in the place where ssert, in the case supposed, the not only tends to corroborate the and there, but also his declaration that he stole them and concealed them at the place, if he make this statement absurdity, that while In o passi
Cour prob (that confessed
A st
under sec
The
so much c
distinctly to the fact which is deposed to as discovered information received, may be proved Illahibux v Emperor, A I. R 19 175 Such portion of the confession made to the investigating officer as lead to the discovery of any fact are admissible under section 27 of the Evidence Act.
Jagan a Dhanuk v Emperor, 5 Pat 63 = 93 Ind Cas. 884 = 7 Pat L. T 390 = 27 different purpose in s 27 When the Legislature wished to make an exception to the absolute rule, it did so by a separate section, namely section 28, which declares under what circumstances a confession rendered irrelevant by s. 24 may become relevant Statements that are irrelevant under one section of the Act may be relevant under some other section of the Act No confession made under inducement, threat or pr provided for by s 28 King E. a confession must be taken in the confession which it disbelieves

Cr L J 785

Did inducement come into existence at all The inducement is almost always addressed to the person in question, and thus becomes known to him as a on It was intended to be for him as an induce-dressed to the person, but mine whether it was in fact present as an inducement? This will of course be a pure question of fact for the Judge, and no ruling can serve as a precedent, the conduct and language of the person will show whether he had the inducement in mind The important rectly or such a hope that sponsible by e said to have son who hears hope that it would not be

Was the inducement brought to an end,? "Here" says Prof Wigmore ' five questions may arise (1) Must it be shown clearly that an improper
Are there any situations
, and thus the inducement, n? Can the same person who has offered the inducement put an end to it so as to make admissible a confession afterwards made to himself? (4) Are confessions made subsequently, but to a person different from the one offering the inducement, to be treated as not made under the inducement, or must it be shown to have been negatived by the second person? (5) What suffices, in general, to end the inducement? Wigmore § 855

Subsequent ending of improper inducement There must be strong and cogent evidence that the influence of the inducement really has ceased In R v Sherrington, 2 Den C C 123, Patteson J said ' There ought to be strong evidence to show that the impression, under which the first confession was made, was afterwards removed, before the second confession can be received I am of lered to have made the first, the interval of the result of reflection suspected of stealing ld forgive her if she was taken before a Magistrate and, no one receivable in evidence, as the promise of the mistress must be considered as still operating on the prisoner's mind at the time of the statement, but that if the mistress had not been present it might have been otherwise R v Hewit, 1 Car & M. 534; R v Rue, 13 Cox Cr 209 So the general principle is universally conceded that the subsequent ending of an improper inducement

S. 28. must be shown, it is as umel to have continued until the contrary is shown Wigmore § 855, see al o R v Cleverton, 2 F & F 833 This inducement may be removed by sub equent caution R v Hornbrook, 1 Cox Cr 51 R v Ha r 1 Cox Cr 361, R v Collier, 3 Cox Cr 57; Benj m's Case, 1 Ir Cir C R 117 R v Bryan, Jebb Cr 157, R v Howes, 6 C & P. 101

Can inducement be irrevocable? The next question raised by Pr Wigmore is whether there is any situation in which it cannot be shown that inducement, once offered has been brought to an end? In answering th question he said "There is nothing permanently irrevocable in an inducement, whether it has been brought to an end is, as all concede, alwa open to inquiry" Wigmore § 855

A person who has offered inducement can put an end to it. It has n been decided specifically whether the same person may put an end to an induc ment of his own creating But there is no reason why he cannot Wig § 855 Where a Magistrate told a prisoner that if he did not strike the fat blow and would tell all he knew, he would u e his influence to pro ect him b afterwards communicated to the prisoner a l tter from the Secretary of Sta declining to give pardon
C & P 221 Nort I think that this declarati with Magistrate after given by the Coroner mu t be taken to have completely put an end to all th hopes that had been held out" Inducement offered by one person and confession made to another "There is on principle no reason for assuming that a promise or a threat made by one person will be treated by the accused as equally to be attributed to some other person who had no share in the other s conduct and shows no power or inclination to corroborate his promise or threat Neverthele s, the inducement may on the facts, prove to be in effect the second person's as much as the fir one s. It should thus be a ques ion to be determined in each ca e, no general rule can be laid down Wigmore § 855, see also Carty's Trial, (Ire) 26 How St. Tr 889 R. v Bell, McNally Ev 13 R. v Tyler, 1 C & P 129, R v Clewe 4 C & P 223

What suffices in general to end an inducement If the impression produced by the promise or threat is clearly shown to have been removed—e g, by lapse of time or by an intervening caution given by some person of superior (but not of equal or inferior) authority to the person holding out the inducement—a confession subsequently made will be strictly receivable Phip Ev, ... Where a pri oner confessed some r ort In 107 R v Bate 11 Cox ...

Magistrate had told the prisoner that, if he would make a disclosure, he do all that he could for him The prisoner after he was committed made a statement to the turnkey of the gaol who had held out no inducement to him to as the ir caution superior

prevent the superior from carrying his promise into effect' Russ Cr p 2181, see also R v Gilham 1 Mood 136, per Littledale J Where a collecting pan-

S.

removed therefrom Emperor v Ganesh, 74 Ind Cas 261=50 C 127, Queen v Luchoo, 5 N W P 86, Reg v Navroji, 9 B H C R 358

In the opinion of the Court It is for the Court to decide whether the impression caused by inducement threat or promise has been fully removed So where promises or threats have been once used of such a nature as to render a confession inadmissible, all subsequent admissions of the same or like facts will be rejected, unless from the length of time intervening, from proper warning of the consequences or from other circumstances there be good reason to presume, that the delusive hope or fear which influenced the first confession has been effectually dispelled Joy on Conf 69, R v Hewett, C & Marsh 534, R. v Cooper, 5 C & P 534, R. v Rusa it appears to the satisfaction away with before the confession w Ev § 221 So, where the prisoner had been induced, by promises of favour to make a confession, which was for that cause excluded but about five months by two Magistrates that he ade a full confession this Case, 5 Halst 180 In this the length of time intervening or from proper warning of the consequences of confession, or from other circumstances, that the delusive hopes or fears under the influence of which the original confession was obtained were entirely dispelled Guild's Case, 5 Halst 180, R. v Cheverton 2 F & F 833 But otherwise the evidence of a subsequent confession made on the basis of a prior one unduly obtained will be rejected Com Harman 4 Burr 269 In the absence of any such circumstances the influence of the motives proved to have been offered will be presumed to continue, and to have produced the confession, unless the contrary is shown by clear evidence, and the confession will therefore be rejected State v Roberts 1 Dev 259, Greenl Ev § 221 If there

2 Q B 12=62 L J M C 93=17 Cox Cr 641, See also R v Rose 18 Cox Cr 717=67 L J Q B 289 R v Smith (1897) Roscoe Cr Ev 47

Confession otherwise relevant not to become irrelevant because of promise of secrecy, etc

29 If such a confession is otherwise relevant it does not become irrelevant merely because it was made under a promise of secrecy, or in consequence of a deception practised on the accused person for the purpose of obtaining it, or

. 29. when he was drunk, or because it was made in answer to questions which he need not have answered, whatever may have been the form of those questions, or because he was not warned that he was not bound to make such confession, and that evidence of it might be given against him.

Rule criticised "The rule of procedure" says Mr. Chamberlayne "which rejects so-called 'involuntary' confessions induced by threats or promises by those in authority is based entirely upon an [illegible] In reality, like other rules of procedure, it is [illegible] tive law controlling the normal exercise of the [illegible] As at present conducted it proceeds upon [illegible] and even, as has been suggested, frequently operates against him by substituting private, irresponsible investigation for responsible official inquiry. The rule assumes that those in authority over legal criminal proceedings ought, in the public interest, to refrain from placing pressure upon the free will of their prisoners. What injur [illegible] of private persons is none [illegible] actually a person in [illegible] he sees fit in connection [illegible] by way of hope or fear be not one as to a benefit or injury connected [illegible] proceedings it is not important that it be held out to the accused by one in authority. Neither situation brings into operation the special work of procedure or substantive law in this connection. This consists in rejection without weighing the statement itself."—Chamberlayne's Ev § 1538.

Scope Confession procured by deception or under promise of secrecy are not, on this account alone, rendered inadmissible. This, of course applies to confessions which otherwise satisfy the conditions prescribed for admissibility [illegible] of obtaining a confession [illegible] regard to it R v Shaw [illegible] onfession inadmissible. It [illegible] a confession obtained by fraud or [illegible] Mc [illegible] been [illegible] however [illegible] the staten [illegible] merely bec [illegible] Magistrate, [illegible] even though [illegible] the Promise of secrecy "If no inducement has been held out relat[illegible] the charge," says Mr Taylor, "It matters not in what way the confession has been obtained" Taylor § 881. It is not necessary that it should have been the prisoner's own spontaneous act. So it will be received, though it were induced by a solemn promise of secrecy, even c[illegible] R v Shaw, 6 C. & P 372; Com v Knapp, 9 Pick 496, (5[illegible] the prisoner had been committed on a [illegible] him, 'I wish you would tell me how you murdered the boy, pray [illegible] prisoner said "Will you be upon your oath not to mention what I tell you. The other prisoner went upon his oath, and he hoped, if he told that he might [illegible] It was [illegible] made a statement [illegible] inadmis-

S. 2

s. 1538 (a)

Deception A free and voluntary confession is not inadmissible because it was originally obtained by an artifice practised on the accused by officers having been in charge, or by other persons, if the means employed were not calculated to cause him to make an untrue statement. People v McMohan, 15 N Y 384 So it is no ob that some ol artifice has be Ev (7th Ed
also where a into the pos

gave it to the visiting Garrow B, held that the l making an objection, when at the b who overruled it I hemp, 1 B L R Cr here
the confession, ting that the accus J in Act expressly says that a confession made in consequence of deception is not to be excluded" The question, h importance The main point t true? (People v McMahon, 15 N turns, not so much upon the the mot obtaine

said charge
on the
the tru guilt.
officer,
a priso
made to him, or nature'
of decoy were in promise sanction

29 always been in regard to confessions made by a person when under arrest to those in authority over him, they have not gone so far as to exclude them simply because they were procured by deception provided they were voluntarily made. They are careful, however, to leave the credibility of the witness who practised the deception and the circumstances under which the confession was made to the consideration of the jury." In America it has been held that a confession procured by a person who by falsely representing himself to be an attorney obtained the confidence of the prisoner, was inadmissible Cotton v State, 87 Ala. Jones v Commonwealth, 77 S W 63 "A man who will deliberately ... says Underhill "ingr betraying the every means in confession of
the downfall of
of a very high thing is really g evidence" In where Itony J said but as a matter of law called forth an admissi
Cr 228

False personation A confession is none the less admissible because ... ter of the person to who ...

sympathetic fellow prisoner He may ... the admissibility of the confession is ... Li § 1538(b)

Confessions over heard statements made while asleep A person wh... may over hear the remarks of a prisoner made to himself or to another per... as his wife or an attorney or spiritual adviser, who is incompetent as a witne... to privileged communications may testify to what he has heard Rex v S... 6 C & P 510 see also Queen v Sajina 7 W R Cr 56, R v Gardner 11 Cr A R 265—But not to incriminating declarations made during sleep for the declarant is then unconscious of what he was saying People v Robi... 19 Cal 40 (Am), R v Elizabeth Kent Sum Ass 1839, Gore v Gibson 13 M & W 623, Best Ev 11th Ed 511 A confession constituting a part of a prayer may be proved by one who overheard it, though he may not be able to prove the whole prayer Woodfoll v State 85 Ga 69 (Am) A confession mad... to another prisoner, under the erroneous impression that one prisoner cannot testify against the other, is not for that reason inadmissible State v Mitchell, Phil (N Car) p 447 (Am) A confession to a fellow prisoner in jail, procured by the latter's spiri... not to be rejected
v State, 55 Ga
was again char...
cating H were read by a sergeant to the three together, purposely to ... the admissions, though evidence of what then took place is strictly admissible the trial Judge, if satisfied of such a purpose ought to exclude it R v Gardner 11 Cr A R 265, R v Grayson 16 Cr A R 7, R v Pilley 16 Cr A R 1... R v Turner, 19 Cr A R 191

Misleading inducements Illegality Not only may deception treachery any unfair treatment" says Mr Chamberlaine "be employed for the attainment ...

reliable and trustworthy, merely, because obtained by means of an ... violation of the prisoner's privilege against compulsory self incrimination is entirely without support in legal analogy The confession, viewed as extorted by one act of duress, stands in a different position It is not the act of the declarant Accordingly, he is not responsible for it" Chamberlayne's Ev § 1539

When he was drunk. Confessions made by the accused when under the influence of liquor are not thereby rendered inadmissible R v Spilsbury, 7 C & P 187 In the last named case Coleridge J said "I am of opinion that a statement made by a prisoner while he was drunk is not therefore inadmissible, it must be obtained either by hope or fear This is matter of observation for me, upon the weight that ought to attach to this statement when it is considered by the jury" This is the rule, even where the intoxication was produced by liquor given to him by the officers having him in charge for the sole purpose of cated as to be incapable of understanding what he says or does his confession should not be used against him Com v Howe 9 Gray (Mass) 110 Eskridge v State, 25 Ala 30 The question as to the mental condition of the accused at the

the confession the Court would not submit the confession to the jury at all McKelvey's Ev § 92

Some recent cases of America, however reject confessions thus obtained because of the trick practised But the general rule has been sustained even where the accused was suffering from delirium tremens if he was mentally and physically able to describe past events and to state his own participation in the crime The intoxication of the accused at the time of making a confession may fession as evidence

It is by no means for with men of a and exaggerated state permitted to show that statements made with a he has done this the him speaking that he appear ll Cr Ev § 136
not in general binding but this is subject to some exceptions which will be found collected in the case of Molton v Camroux, 2 Exch 487, Best Ev § 529

Confession in answer to questions A confession is also not to be rejected merely because it has been elicited by questions put to the prisoner Taylor § 891 But this statement of law must be read subject to the provisions of sections

a polic ngland (Hale prisoner l v question nly the form of the question is immaterial even though it assures the prisoner R v Hall 1 Moo C C 152, R v Thornton 1 Moo C C 27, R v Kerr 8 C & P 179, per Park J A confession, in other respects admissible is not made so because it is not the spontaneous utterance of the prisoner The fact that a confession was obtained by the employment of persistent questioning alone exclude it, (State v Penney, 113 Iowa, 691) but the practice confession by putting questions after questions to the accused is conducive to the procurement of truth, and the mode in which the

S. 29 was elicited may always be considered by the jury to determine whether they shall believe it. Underhill Cr Ev § 110 In R v Ellis, Ry & Moo 432, Littledale J admitted a statement of an accused on examination before a Magistrate without threat or promise but upon questioning and after refusal to allow counsel. The case was decided by following an unreported ruling of Holroyd J and disapproving Wilson's Case i e R v Wilson, Holt N P 597, where Richards C B in disallowing such statements said "An examination of itself imposes an obligation to speak the truth; if a prisoner will confess, let him do so voluntarily". Mr Joy also adds his authority as to the practice in his book on confession Joy Confession, 40 see also R v Dabby, 5 C & P 530, R v Lucas 7 C & P 177 R v Wheeley 8 C & P 250, where this practice was accepted indirectly. An answer given by the prisoner to a question put to him by a Magistrate was rejected by Earle C J in R v Berriman, 6 Cox Cr 388, Queen v Nabadip 1 B L R Cr 15.

The mere fact that a statement in a confession was elicited by a question put by the Magistrate recording it does not make it irrelevant as a confession. But the fact may be very material to an enquiry as to whether the confession is voluntary or not. Barendra Kumar v The Emperor, 14 C W N 1114 = 37 C 467. In King Emperor v Promotha 30 C L J 503 the Court in rejecting a confession obtained by continued questioning observed "His confession in our opinion cannot upon the case made by the prosecution, be said to be voluntary. The evidence is that he was kept at a little distance from the Post Office in charge of a head constable and was being questioned by the Sub-Inspector and that after being in that condition for 3 or 4 hours, to use the words of the learned Judge 'under the continued questioning to which he was subjected he finally broke down'". If there is reason to think that the confession was induced by the pressure of questions by one in authority or in order to escape from his custody it should be rejected. R v Knight 20 Cox 711 = 69 J P 106.

In England the controversy on this point is now closed by Rex v Best (1909) 1 K B 692 = 78 L J K B 658 where Lord Alverstone C J said "In our opinion it is quite impossible to say that the fact that a question of this kind has been asked invalidates the trial. There are many cases in which the prisoner is entitled to give an explanation as to anything found upon him, and he may be able in answering the question to say and show that the thing found was his own property. In our opinion Reg v Gavin 15 Cox C C 656 was not properly decided; it is commented on in a note printed at the end of the report. The decision has not been followed to its full extent as appears from Reg v Brackenbury 17 Cox C C 628. The statement of law as set out in the report is too wide and requires qualification." So this case practically overruled Reg v Gavin 15 Cox C C 656 and Reg v Male 17 Cox C C 689. In R v Miller 18 Cox Cr C 54 Hawkins J said that it was impossible to discover the facts of a crime without asking questions, and as he held that the questions there were properly put after due warning he admitted evidence of defendant's answers saying that every case must be decided according to the whole of the circumstances. Roscoe Cr Ev 10, see also R v Hirst 18 Cox Cr C 374 R v Histed 19 Cox Cr C 16, Lewis v Harris 24 Cox Cr 66 = 110 L T 337. All these authorities were considered in Ibrahim v Rex, 83 L J P C 185 = (1914) A C 599 = 24 Cox C C 174. A private in an Indian regiment murdered one of the officers. Shortly afterwards, while he was in custody the commanding officer asked him "why have you done such a senseless act?" and he replied "Some three or four days he has been abusing me, and without doubt I killed him." The confession was admitted. Lord Sumner in delivering the judgment of the Judicial Committee (Lord Haldane L C Lord Atkinson, Lord Shaw Lord Moulton and Lord Sumner) said "if the matter is one for the (trial) Judge's discretion depending largely on his views of the impropriety of the questioner's conduct and the general circumstances of the case" it was not improperly exercised. Then after reviewing a large number of cases, he added "The English law is still unsettled strange as it may seem since the point is one which constantly occurs in criminal trials. Many Judges, in their discretion, exclude such evidence, for they fear nothing less than that the exclusion of all such statements can prevent improper questioning of prisoners by removing the inducement to resort to it. Having regard to the particular position in which their Lordships stand to criminal proceedings, they do not propose to intimate what they think the rule of English Law ought to be, much as it is to be desired, that the point should be settled by authority, so far as a general rule can be laid down where circumstances so greatly vary.

Want of warning A voluntary confession is evidence, to whomsoever it may have been made, . . . that what he might sa[y] . . . was not so warned R v . . . Long, 6 C & P 179; R. . . . Empress v U...eer, 10 C . . . of the duty of a Magistrate to tell an accused person that anything he may say will go as evidence against him" See also Queen v Nobodeep, 1 B. L R. Cr 15 = 15 W R. Cr 71 Answers to questions under that section are admissible in evidence, even if the Magistrate has omitted to warn the accused that he need not answer Dinoo Roy and others 16 W R Cr 21, 5 Mad H C. App 9. But sub-section (3) of section 164 of Criminal Procedure Code enacts "A magistrate shall, before recording any such confession, explain to the person making it that he is not bound to make a confession and that if he does so it may be used as evidence . . . shall record any such confession unless, upon . . . he has reason to believe that it was made . . . Act XVIII of 1923 . . . C 775 Now the . . . Balam Singh v . . . , 6 Lah 183 = 26 . . . Hari, 30 C W N . . . hue Sin v King . . . Lah 325 A statement of an accused, a suspect, made at an inquest before a Coroner is clearly admissible, either as a confession under s 26 or as a statement made by a party to proceeding under ss 18 and 21 of the Evidence Act As regards the objection that such a confession is not relevant in as much as the Coroner did not warn Pendse referred to section 164 of the Criminal Procedure Code as containing a general principle to the contrary But that is a special enactment applying only to certain statements made in particular circumstances contemplated by s 164.

R v Ellis, Ry & Moo 432 and R. v Gilham, 1 Mood Cr C 186, 191 are mo[s]t

30. When more persons than one are being tried jointly for the same offence, and a confession made by one of such persons affecting himself and some other of such persons is proved, the Court may take into consideration such

Consideration of proved confession affecting person making it and others jointly under trial for same offence

S. 30. confession as against such other persons as well as against the person who makes such confession.

* Explanation.—"Offence" as used in this section, includes the abetment of, or attempt, to commit the offence.

Illustrations

(a) A and B are jointly tried for the murder of C It is proved that A said— B and I murdered C " The Court may consider the effect of this confession as against B

(b) A is on his trial for the [illegible] was murdered by A and B, and [illegible]

This statement may not be [illegible] as B is not being jointly tried

Principle This section is entirely [illegible] no such provision either in Act II of 1855, [illegible] of 1861 and 1872 Before the passing of the [illegible] of an accused person was only evidence against himself, (Queen v Kally Churn 6 W R 84 Cr) and it could not be taken to be corroborative evidence or any evidence at all, against any body other than himself Queen v Budhu 5 W R 35 Cr So the confession of one prisoner could not be used as corroborative evidence [illegible]
"Until the [illegible] could not [illegible]
the legislature [illegible] tion such [illegible]

by the confessing person [illegible] it were of the sanction [illegible]

* This Explanation was inserted in s 30 by the Indian Evidence Act (18[illegible]) Amendment Act, 1891 (3 of 1891) s. 4 another, but confessions guaranteed

The reason
character is Judges are provision, that, when more persons than one are tried for an offence, and one of them makes a confession affecting himself and any other of the accused, the

r the Indian Evidence Act, he ion, in fact, was one of those rules , which though well adopted to trials for Jury, are meaningless and out of place on occasions where the functions of Judge and Jury are cont to consider whether the prosecutors and under the present system it is better to follow the wise advice of the writer cited by Justice Cunningham, where he says 'The policy of the dangerous innovation Per Glover J in Queen v Jaffir Ali, 19 W R. 57 (64) Cr; Queen v Sadhu Mundle, 21 W R 69 (79) per Phear J · 5 Mad L J Journal and was a confession

Lalaram, 81 Ind Cas 817

Sadhu Mund
N S. 19
section 30, Act I of 1872, be 'considered' as against other parties then on their trial with them, but such confessions, when used as evidence against others, trial jointly for the same offence, can be used under s 30 of the Evidence Act

30. The section is not to be treated as though the words "at the trial" were inserted after "made" and the word "recorded" substituted for "proved." Queen Empress v Tanga, Rat. Un Cr C 510 = Cr. Rg 30 of 1890 Confessions made by an accused person may be considered against persons who are tried with him, but they cannot be accepted as evidence of any fact necessary to constitute the offence In re Kaliyappa Goundan, 2 Weir 711. In order that a confession of an accused person may be admissible as against the other accused tried with him, it is not necessary that the confession should have been made in the latter's presence 2 Weir 745 When this section lays down that the Judge may consider a fact in certain circumstances it plainly declares that fact to be relevant in those circumstances Gobraya v. Emperor, A. I. R 1930 Nag. 243 (F B) = 26 N L R 229 = 125 Ind Cas. 673

Section 30 does not refer to statements made at the trial but the statements made before and proved at the trial Govinda v. Emperor, A. I. R 1929 Mad. 28-; Emperor v Mahadeo Prosad, A I. R. 1928 All 322 = 45 A. 323, Empress v Ashutosh Chakravarty, 4 C 483 = 3 C L R 270, but see In re Bali Reddi, 33 M 302 = 22 Ind Cas 157 = 15 Cr L. J 13, where Ayling J held that there was no reason why confession[illegible] taken into consideration u[illegible] J. in Emperor v Mahadev [illegible] accused person is entitled [illegible] called upon for a defen[illegible] is no mere form but with certain exceptions closes the door to any further evidence against him" "If a prior confession is to be proved, he can attack it by cross examination of the witness who prov[illegible] the dock after the prosecution case has cl[illegible] Per Waller J in Govind v Emperor, su[illegible]
Act is not limited to cases where the [illegible]

[illegible]

stances of each case [illegible] tion of the confessio[illegible] accomplice evidence [illegible] K. B 658, a c[illegible] to lay down r[illegible] applicable to [illegible] tion does not [illegible] the accompli[illegible]
3 Cox C C [illegible]
Magistrate w[illegible] evidence thus [illegible] person to wh[illegible] trate's Court when examined as a witness in the Sessions Court. Queen Emp v Nagu, A. W N 1891, 184 Section 30 merely enacts a special exception to the general rule that a confession (admission) can be proved (only) against the person who made it It does not limit the operation of s. 32 Illustration (b) to section 30 cannot be construed to have this effect Aga Po Im v King Emperor, U B R 1906, Evidence 3 = 5 Cr L J 300 Where an accused person makes a confession, the most that could be taken into consideration on such a statement against a co-accused would be, under sections 27 and 30 of the Evidence Act, so much of the information as was the immediate cause of the discovery of some relevant fact against him In re Sankappa Rau, 18 M. L. J 66 = 31 M 127 = 3 M L T. 270 = 7 Cr L J. 325. Prior to the Evidence Act the rule not accused. Shambhu v Emperor A I R 1932 All 228 = 1932 A L J 162

S. 3

L. W 474

section
ore the iminal ssions nplate Pat
intly'
fence
con fession of one prisoner the confession, applies prisoner tried at the

the other accused and the confession was evidence against them all King Emperor v Dep, 37 A 347

A person escaping from custody during the trial but, before charge, who has been tried separately after re arrest, cannot be said to have been jointly tried with the person whose trial, from a stage prior to the charge, was separate owing
, first tried, was joint Hassan

abetment of it before hand and being present during its commission, were held to be jointly

S. 30. tried for the same offence within the meaning of s. 30 ... 3 P R. person;

mmitted the murder ed upon his trial—the used the statement of ... the first. Held that accused person's statement was not admissible against the first, either under section 327, Cr Pro Code, 1872, or ss 30 and 133, Evidence Act Crown v Jhobu, 13 P R 1878 Cr.

s when the confes- . he be called still join r this section against co-accused. In Reg v Kalu Patil 11 B H C R 146 ... Court observed ...

which the Assistant Judge, in framing his judgment took his evidence into consideration " Imperatrix v Balu Patel, 5 B 63; Venka Sami v Queen, 7 M 10 Imperat... 1895 ...

is also ... Pachayi, 19 ... Pirbhu, 1895 A ... trial taken with Cas ... person this w... evider...

the trial without convicting those of the accused who pleaded guilty, yet it is unfair to defer convicting them merely in order that their confessions may be considered against the other accused who are being tried with them Queen-Empress v Paltua, 23 A 53 = A W N 1900, 192; Emperor v Akoraju, 30 A 540.

Where the statements of two of several co-accused persons followed their plea of guilty, held they were not entitled to be considered as evidence against the other accused persons and that, in those circumstances, they ceased to be statements of persons ... that plea of guilty Queen v Shuldham, 44 P ... v Rerumat, 33 C 440, ...

essarily end as soon as he pleads guilty ... other of these courses has been expli guilty is left in the dock merely to him, though the Court intends In such a case, it will not be fair to allow his confession to be considered as taken into consideration against them under s. 30, Evidence Act, appears to he is still an accused person and is, therefore, not a competent witness against trial was good. Sukdev v. Emperor, 9 C. L J 291=13 C. W. N 552.

A. I. R. 1928 Lab. 880=111 Ind. Cas 387=29 Cr. L J. 835; Kanhaya v. Emperor, 15 P. R. 1911=12 Ind. Cas. 381=54 P. W R Cr. 1911; Fakhruddin v. Emper 302; Emperor

A a A confessed ions
Judge subsequently conceded the charge against A into one of abetment B, who was new trial.
Evidence
could not be allowed in appeal since the two charges were so nearly related, and there was no such material prejudice as would under ss. 447 to 449 of the

S. 30.

is tried but of a minor offence, it does not satisfy the requirements of the Evidence Act In ... confession made by a ... case but not in the pre... sion was inadmissible ... 70=61 Ind Cas 793 ... of the Cr Procedure C... co-accused, the provis... to a case like the present. Ambirulla v Emperor, 22 C W N 403.

Two persons were jointly tried, the former for criminal breach of trust and the latter for the abetment of that offence. The only evidence against the latter was the conf... such unsup... sion made ... thug, and in ... tried alone, ... v Jita Singh, A W N 1881, 164.

An accused person and another co-accused were tried together for an offence The accused, though only liable for abetment of the offence, was found to have been present at the time of the commission of the offence Held, that under s 114 I P Code, the accused stood in the same position as if he himself had committed the offence; that his trial with the co-accused was proper, and that the confession made by the co-accused in such trial could be taken into consideration under s 30 of the Evidence Act against the accused Thakur Singh v ...

... having before it the definition ... ld in enacting s 30 Evidence Act, ... d in the latter section included the "abetment of an offence" also if the intention really was that section 30 was to be so understood But if the offence abetted is committed as the result of an abetment and the abettor is present at its commission, the abettor must be held to have committed the substantive offence. Queen Empress v Kalidin, S C 143 Oudh (but now this objection has been removed by adding of the explanation by Act 3 of 1891); but see Teja v Empress, 30 P R ...

... pa, Rat. Un ... Cr. C 450 ... tried under s. 411 I P ... 457, cannot be considered ... P. Code, are distinct offences ... within the meaning of s 30, Evidence Act Nga Po Tok v K E, U B. R 1911, 4th Qr 158=20 Ind Cas 136=14 Cr L J 376. Where two persons were ... another of an ... held that ... evidence ... that the ... , though it appeared to the Magistrate ... charged with abetment of the offence with which ... Empress v Hira Lal, A W N 1890, 63, see also Maya Singh v. Empress, 9 P R 1886 Cr.; Nur Ahmed v Crown, 8 P R 1974 Cr, Badi v. Queen Empress, 7 M. 579, Empress v Bala Patel, 5 B 63=5 Ind ...

Ghena v. Emperor, A. I. R. 1932 Lah. 180.

Confession. This section must be strictly construed. It makes a clear distinction between an admission and a confession It is only under this section that the confession of one of two or more accused, jointly tried for the same offence, can be taken into consideration against the rest. It must be a confession to be so admissible, that is, it must affect both the person confessing and ... must not be con- ... ort of being an ... istruction ... It is one ... is against whom it is tendered" ... A 114; see also Empress v Daji ... 9 W R ... Queen v. Belat Ali, 19 ... Queen v Khukree Oara ... Queen v Nago, 23 W ... Choudhury, 25 W R. ...

for which they are being ... to the section abetments ... A I. R 1931 Mad 177

A statement by an accused person consisting of the vague accusations of a ... who was not charged with ... 5 Cr The confession of a ... he does not substantially implicate himself to the same extent as the other accused, but on the contrary ...

Keshub Bhomia, 25 W R Cr 8, see also Kusir Bap v Emperor, 14 Cr L J. 586=21 Ind Cas 378 A confession must be one of guilt. The accused must inculpate himself ... 167=94 Ind Cas ... v King Emperor, ... Where a person ... makes a confession ... the Evidence Act. Emperor v Aunaji, 26 Bom L R 614=A I R 1924 Bom 445 Merely because a confession by one of the accused is not a complete and detailed confession up

S. 30. to him, it cannot be rejected against the co-accused Lalkhan v Emperor A. I R 1924 A. 511. A statement by an accused that he and his co-accused ... the deceased in exercise of their right of private defence, is in no sense a confession and cannot be taken into consideration against the accused ... v Emperor, 6 ... =85 Ind. Cas. 371 Confess... recorded in ... Pro. Code, even though made the conviction of persons based solely on a retracted confession of a co-accused which does not implicate the confessor to the same extent as the co-prisoner Upendra v Emperor (1918) Pat 175=46 Ind. Cas. 842. Statements made by one set of prisoners, criminating another set of prisoners, when each individual prisoner made a case for himself in which he was free from any criminal offence ought not to be taken into consideration under s. 30 of the Evidence Act against the prisoner of the second set, when the two sets although tried together were tried upon ...

Queen v. I ... before a ...
this section ...
the confe...
L. R. 261=2 Bom Cr C 192=15 Cr. L J 433.

Made "The word 'proved' in s ... hand" Per ...
Imperatrix v ...
section 30 is ... trial' were inserted after ... word 'made' and the word 'recorded' substituted for 'proved', that therefore ...

Cr L J 305=21 A L J 179=(1923) A I R. All. 323=45 A 323, see ... Queen Empress v Pirbhu, 17 A 524; Queen Empress v Pallua, 23 A 53 ... seems to me that ...
evidence at the trial ...
confession, and to ...
by the section" M ... before a charge is ... restricted to an unretracted confession ... is proved ...

... 1911 Cr =22 P. W R 1911 Cr.=12 Cr. L. J 267, Sri Ram v ...
2 A. L J 100=2 Cr. L. J 59.

accused Raj Kumar v. Emperor, A. I. R 1929 Pat. 475=9 P. L. ...
Ind Cas 721.

S. 3

v. Queen Empress, L. B. R. (1893-1900) 7. The rule that the statement of one extent as he implicates the other co-accused and who tries to throw the entire blame on the other co accused is of very little value at least as against the other co accused. Kunja Subudhi v Emperor, A I R 1929 Pat 275 = 8 Pat 289, Topandas v. Emperor, 25 Cr L J 761 = 81 Ind Cas 249 = A I R 1925 Sind. 116 It is not the law that unless a confessing prisoner implicates himself as fully as his co-accused the statement will not be admissible, the

as the accused. Suka Raut v. Emperor, 4 Pat L T 505 A confession in order to be admissible under this section, must implicate the confessing prisoner

Bag Shah v. Crown, 3 P. R 1879 Cr.

S. 30. to him, it cannot be rejected against the co-accused. Lakhan v. Emperor A. I R 1921 A 511. A statement by an accused that he and his co-accused took against the person making the statement, but it may be unsafe to use it against a co-accused Jasoda v. Emperor, 53 Ind Cas 691 It is not safe to support the conviction of persons based solely on a retracted confession of a co-accused which does not implicate the confessor to the same extent as the co-prisoner Upendra v Emperor (1918) Pat 175=46 Ind. Cas. 812 Statements made by one set of prisoners, criminating another set of prisoners when each individual prisoner made ought not to the prisoner o tried upon t Queen v. Khu before a Ma this section the confessio L. R 261=2 Bom Cr C 192=15 Cr. L J 433.

Made "The word proved' in s. 30 must refer to a confession made before hand" Per Gar Imperatrix v Ta section 30 is no word 'made' and confession made trial for the same the other accused The duty of the the guilt of the ac in existence at the time when the charge is made, and the expression 'Judge a confession' is to my mind, inapplicable to the procedure where the asks questions and an accused person gives explanations under a special provided for that purpose" Mahadeo Prasad v. Emperor, 76 Ind. Cas 10.5 Cr. L. J. 305=21 A L. J 179=(1923) A I R All 323=45 A 323, under section 24 of the Evidence Act cannot be taken into consideration a co accused as well Emperor v Umda, 166 P L R 1911=10 Ind Cas 9 P R 1911 Cr=22 P. W R 1911 Cr.=12 Cr L. J. 267, Sri Ram v Emperor 2 A L. J. 100=2 Cr. L J 59.

accused Raj Kumar v Emperor, A I. R 1928 Pat 473=9 P. L Ind Cas 721.

Chunder Bhattacharyee, 24 W. R 42. The expression "proving a confession" is inapplicable to the question and answers under s 364 Cr Pro Code Mahadeo Prosad v Emperor, 45 A. 323=21 A L. J. 179=A I R 1923 All 332 When a confession is taken in the absence of other prisoners and the latter have no opportunity of denying or even of knowing what their fellow prisoner has said e. g when it has not even been read over to them afterwards, it cannot be proved Empress v Chunbhanath, 7 C 65; 121 After proper proof, such confession can be ess v Lakshman, 6 B 121 The word "proved" in this section means proved before the case for the prosecution comes to an se or proved in some accused made from the taken into consideration by the Court and such confession cannot be made the basis of the conviction of the other accused Maradumuthu Padayachi, In re, 54 M 783=61 M L J 358=1931 Mad 820, Mahadeo v Emperor, 45 A 323 but see Ganpat v Emperor, 27 N. L R 163=32 Cr L J 1222=A I R 1931 Nag 169=131 Ind. Cas. 686

Court. The word "Court" in this section means and includes in a trial by jury, both Judges and Jury Empress v Ashutosh Chuckerbutty, 4 C 348=3 C. L R. 470 (F B)=1 Shome, L R Cr 79

every confession is of that the word "may" consideration if it is so on must be exercised iving it a decision that scretion to exclude a confession by an accused altogether from consideration against the co accused if it is so disposed Gobraya v. Emperor, A I R 1930 Nag 212 (F B)=26 N. L R. 229=125 Ind Cas 673

May take into consideration The words "take into consideration" in partial or qualified admission of guilt on the part of the accused himself and by a limited physical facts pointing to his connection with the crime imputed to him, they are not precluded by law, any more than by reason, from finding of guilty thus sustained Queen Empress v Bayaji, Rat Un Cr C 311=Cr Rg 64 of 1886 The words "may take into consideration" mean may treat as evidence The weight to be attached to it as evidence against the accused,

Khanjan v section does confession is e against the may be taken sayii his c ques one dera

J in Queen v Chunder Bhattacharjee, 24 W. R Cr 42 This section does not say that the confession referred to therein is relevant but only says that the Court

s. 30. may take it into consideration against the co-accused The Court may take into consideration such confession with or supplementary to relevant facts which may form the basis of a judgment. As a matter of judicial prudence a confession implicating others must be regarded with suspicion Sallu v Emperor A I R 1922 Nag 146 = 65 Ind Cas 561 = 23 Cr L J 129 The confession of a co accused can be taken into consideration, but the Court requires corroboration before acting upon such a confession King Emperor v Baker ib 21 C L J 192 = 19 C W N 584 = 42 C 789 = 28 Ind Cas 657 = 16 Cr L J 391, Mar Crown, 19 P W R 1916 Cr = 17 Cr L J 156 = 33 Ind Cas 136, Ghula ... v Crown, 31 Ind Cas 332; see also Daulat v Emperor, A I R 1930 Nag ...

rated as evidence of a defective character, and that they require special scrutiny before they can be safely relied on Queen v Sadhu Mandal, 21 W R Cr 69 ... are not evidence within the definition ...
Empress ...
S 384, Queen v Khukree, 21 ...
Weir 3rd Ed 494 Queen ...
C R App 15, R v Dynaram, 37 A 217

In Queen Empress v Naga, 23 W R 24 Cr Phear J said We find the Legislature avoids saying that confessions of this sort are evidence and may be used as evidence ... it says merely the Court may take into consideration such confession Jackson J in Queen v Chunder Bhattacharjee, 24 W R 4? and Markby and Morris JJ in Queen v Naram Tel, 27th May 1875 (mentioned and overruled in 4 C 185) also took the same view But in Empress v Ashu ... Chuckerbutty 4 C 483 the Full Bench said that the Legislature has not ... calling the confession of an accused person evidence against a co-prisoner ... has ... the phraseology of the Act So according to the F... does ...
same ...
of evidence wh...
make them ex...
not giving his ...
liberty of cross ...
Rathagan ...
co accused ...
and consi...
existed or ...
circumstances of the particular case to act on the supposition that ... existed the Court should then ...
J in ibid The confession of a ...
of great weight against the oth... means "may b...
must be treated ...
confession of o...
a joint trial for ... ib, 42 C 789
and if uncorrobo...
Amir Hossein, 2 C W N 719 A confession under section 30 ... is taken into consideration but cannot be treated as substantial evidence In the matter of Ram Mulla, 1 I G ... Naga 23 W R Cr 24 The words "taken into consideration" in th... accused are not to have the ...

... fact and though ...

st
m
a
or

S. 30.

connection with the crime imputed to him, they are not precluded by law any more than by reason from finding of guilty thus sustained R v Bayaji Kom Julu, 11 Ind Jur N S 381; see also Empress v Sundra, A W N 1881, 38

sions which affected the accused by connecting or tending to connect him with the crime Scott C J remarked (pp 469, 470).—'If the confession (of a co-accused) is corroborated by other evidence it matters not whether, in proving the case at the trial, the confession precedes the other evidence, or the

of each case' On this point Scott C J differed from a doctrine of Macleod J in Emperor v Gangappa Kandeppa, 38 B 156=21 Ind Cas 673=15 Bom L R evidence Both decisions agree that the confession of co-accused could not

l In Emperor v

is nothing in s 30, after taking the

Courts of India

had laid down a rule of practice which had all the reverence of law that a n as leading based on the attacharya v

A I R 1927

If evidence of degree of proof referred to in section 3 of the Evidence Act has been received or not King Emperor v Nga Po Tha U B R 1913, 2nd Qr 170=21 Ind Cas 166=14 Cr. L J 566, The Nayan v Queen Empress, L B R (1893 1900) 368 No higher value can be put upon such a confession than upon the statement of an accomplice Emperor v Abani, 8 Ind Cas 770=15 C W N 25=11 Cr L J. 710=38 C 169

S. 30. although such evidence is admissible in evidence under section 30 no ... can be given to it unless it is corroborated Queen v Jaffar Ali, 19 W R Cr 57 Queen v Kunjoo, 20 W R Cr 1, Queen v Sadhu Mandal, 21 W R 69 Queen v Naja, 23 W R 21, Queen Empress v Dosa Jiva, 10 B 231 So, such a confession must be ... evidence before it can be acted upon Queen ... Imperatrix v Ga ... 11 Ind Jur N S 20, ... Weir 3rd Ed 499 Queen v Bajoo Choudhury 25 W R 63; Queen Empress v Khandu, 15 B ... Empress v Bhawani 1 A 664; Empress v Ramchand 1 A 675, Keher Singh v Emperor, 59 Ind Cas 913, In re Lilaram, 81 Ind Cas 817, Reg v ... 1 M 163=2 Weir 740, In re Kuppam, 9 Cr L J 30=5 M L T 300 ... v Amir Hossein, 2 C W N 741, Rajhubir v Emperor, 11 O C 3... In re Ramasami Boyan 54 Ind Cas 479, Queen v Malapa 11 B H C R 19, Queen Empress v Jadab Das 27 C 295=4 C W N 129, ... v Emperor 10 C W N XVI, Mlunya Behari v Empress 5 C W N ... Emperor v Gangappa, 38 B 156 Nga Po Kaul v Emperor, 95 Ind Cas 71 ... Cr L J 718=A I R 1926 Rang 127, Nga Po Kya v Emperor 12 Cr L J 465=11 Ind Cas 1001, Queen v Dubaroo, 13 W R Cr 14, Kamal v Emperor, A I R 1932 Lah 73 Confession is not sufficient evidence of co-accused's guilt Manna Lal v Emperor, A I R 1925 Oudh 1 The confession of a co prisoner can not per se sustain conviction and in order to achieve that object it must be corroborated aliunde by independent evidence in some material circumstance Kher Singh v Emperor, 59 Ind Cas 913=22 Cr L J 161 It must be corroborated by independent testimony and in material particulars Ramasami Boyan In re, 11 L W 8=54 Ind Cas 479=21 Cr L J 79, see also Emperor v Azimuddin 57 Ind Cas 462=21 Cr L J 638 Emperor v Sabit Khan 51 Ind Cas 537=43 B 739=21 Bom L R 418 20 Cr L J 479 But there is no rule as to what constitutes sufficient independent corroboration in a particular case That must depend upon the circumst... the st...
must conse...
tion
when those confessions are retracted at the trial is very low, as pointed out Yasin v King Emperor, 28 C 689=5 C W N 670 and in Lalitmohan's case (Emperor v Lalitmohan, 10 Ind Cas 1583=38 C 559=15 C W N 95 Per Heaton J in Emperor v Sabit Khan supra Ugappa v Emperor 30 L W 403=1929 M W N 272=A I R 1929 Mad 491 "Very possibly there may be material to ... ... reason place is not

21 W R 69 Reg v Balthu 1 B 475, R v Kalappa Weir 3rd Ed 494 ... v Dosa, 10 B 231, Queen Empress v Rama Satar, 8 A 306, Pame M ... v Emperor, 89 Ind Cas 889=26 Cr L J 185 The rule as I understand it ... upon nt eye witnesses or of ...sions by the co-prisoner implicating him, but the difficulty arises in case of circumstantial evidence

...ien it consists of circum-
...s?

... support a conviction from the co prisoners—it was sufficient corroboration A similar view seems to have been corroborative 6 Mad L J Article 97 But in Empress v Ashutosh Chakra-uttu, 1 C ... old that an

...d's confes
onstituting tion, is to he question support a ling about Emperor, fessing

state-
Cr L alone
... before ull, In re, 20 L W 202=25 Cr L J 1041=81
The self inculpatory confession of an accused act upon which alone the conviction of his . Nor can such a confession even if it be corroborated by other evidence which is insufficient ... st in the ...nviction
Judge is and as r, 26 N L
ill not be
I R 1925
corroborated
by the confession of another accused as against the accused person who has not confessed at all; but the confession of one co accused may furnish the corroboration of the confession of another co accused as against the latter and vice versa Gangaram v Crown, 60 Ind Cas 786=22 Cr L J 290, Emperor v Gangapa, 15 Bom L R 975=2 Bom Cr C 143=21 Ind Cas 673=14 Cr L J 625=28 B 156 Emperor v Budhu, A W N 1881 18 The conviction based on the confession of a co accused not corroborated in material particulars by independent evidence is illegal Amir Shah v Empress, 20 P. R 1880, Empress v Pirua, A W N. 1885, 320, Empress v. Bhawani, 1 A 664; In re Kappan, 5 M. L T 355=9 Cr L. J 308=7 Ind Cas. 547.

the only evidence
evidence, which,
... Kishen v King-

S. 30. There is uncorroborated against him caution and cir
on its truth or fa it Aga Tun v Emperor, 11 Cr L J 179=19 Ind Cas 179=6 Bur L T 41

Value of retracted confession is sufficient evidence for convictn it to be true As regards the per on any corroborative evidence form i 127 Ind Cas 871=A I R 1930

Ind Cas 185

Retracted confession and co accused. And retracted confession is admissible but should have no weight attached to it unless either corroborated in material particulars or unless the tribunal comes to the conclusion that the statement as a whole is a truthful statement In either of these cases retracted statement n co accused Sheona
The Evidence Act
tracted confession deration against the accused though it may be that less weight would be a to a retracted confession Gour Chandra v Emperor, A I R 19 9 C I II Mahomed v Emperor 81 Ind Cas 62 A retracted confession is evidence and there is no provision in this section by which a confession is to be received one way or another The use to be made by a Court of a confession whether retracted or not is a matter of procedure rather than law, the business of the Court being to make up its mind in accordance with the dictates of common sense whether it is safe to believe the confession or not. Mt Amna v Emperor 130 Ind Cas 641=A I R 1931 Lah 196

But a mere retracted confession of a co accused cannot be sufficient to sustain the conviction of another accused Pala Singh v Emperor, A I R 19 3 Lah 329=29 Cr L J 267=107 Ind Cas 614 Because "experience and common sense show that in the absence of corroboration in material particulars it ... cum tan in ... rent of the retr ... ession not wit ... v Emperor
30 ... R 1911
but ... ted confe
sio ... king then car ... Dile Jra
v Emperor, 8 Pat L T 566=101 Ind Cas 881=28 Cr L J 497=A I R 19 Pat 257 A retracted confession is not th ... of an accomplice within the meaning of section 133 of the Evi 40 C L J 551=A I R 1925 Cal 406 law with regard to a retracted confessi series of cases of which Emperor, 28 C 689 and Emperor, should carry ted confession should

... it

not made the maker fullest cor demanded
v Emperor, 2 Pat L T 776=60 Ind Cas 56=22 Cr L J 200

S. 30

Where a confession made by an accused person is subsequently retracted by him and he does not implicate himself one of the conspirators, held the confes

v. Imperator, 62 Ind Cas 515=22 Cr L J 529, Emperor v Narain, A. I R. 1931 Oudh 83=131 Ind Cas 72 Where the confession of a co-accused retracted before the trial, was not corroborated in a material particular viz, the connection of the other accused with the cause of the death, that other accused must be acquitted In re Manicka Padayachi, 14 L W 174.

The retracted confession of accomplices may be taken into consideration under s 30, where there is evidence tending to conviction, but they cannot form the basis of a conviction when there is no evidence whatever Reg v Timaya, Rat Un Cr C 108, Queen Empress v Sahadu, Rat Un Cr C 771, Alya v Crown, 5 P R 1911 Cr=11 P L R 1911=27 P W R 1911, Emperor v Kheshri, 29 A, 931 So the retracted confession alone of an accused is not sufficient to justify a conviction of a co accused but where such confession reasons
s known used, the evidence is admissible and is strong piece of evidence against the co-accused Wazid v Emperor, 32 Cr L J 42=A I R 1930 Oudh 412, see also Sheo Ratan v Emperor, 111 Ind Cas 771=A I R 1929 Oudh 162, Arjan Singh v Emperor, 30 P L R 616=119 Ind Cas 325, Rahamot v Emperor, 11 Lah L J. 5=113 Ind Cas 65, Sordora v Emperor, 125 Ind Cas 638 Confessional statements of accused cannot be used in corroboration of the evidence of the approver in as much as tainted evidence is not made better by being corroborated by other tainted evidence Daulat v Emperor, A I. R 1930 Nag 97=31 Cr L. J 153

Against such other persons as well as against the person making the confession A confession by one of several prisoners which is irrelevant or is latter Imperatrix v Pitambar, 2 admissible under ss 24 26, against (provided it otherwise satisfies its

Jour Article 108 In the case of a a maker under s 27, it is admissible, only when the admissible part is a ects himself and other persons' If the both persons, it cannot be first rejected as against the co prisoner, on the ground that the whole confession was unduly corroborated and the mere discovery for the conviction of A, in the last case abo f (apart from evidence to show that propert nd probably put there by him) corroborate A in the theft Ibid

Confession of
of an accused perso considered as the s
to in section 133 of th

S. 30. be examined as a witness This being so, the provision that a conviction is not illegal merely because it proceeds upon the uncorroborated testimony of an

the wordings of the latter section that it contemplates that the accomplice be examined as a wit not illegal merely accomplice, has no a into consideration as against a co-accused jointly tried with accused under s 30 All the Chartered High Courts of India have held that an accused person cannot be convicted solely on such a confession made by an accused Empress v Karimbux, 9 C P L R 37 Cr, Empress v Govinda 9 C P L R Cr 35 So it is clear that such a statement cannot alone form the basis of a conviction but that it could only be taken into consideration along with other evidence in the case. Emperor v Lalit Mohan, 38 C 559=10 Ind Cas 582=15 C W N. 593; Queen v Chunder Bhuttacharji, 24 W R Cr 42

testim probat
Gangappa Kardeppa, 21 Ind Cas 673=38 B 156=15 Bom L R.
Cr C 143=14 Cr L J
'I think it will be a
Reading, L C J in R v 115 L T 473=25 C

ation as lending support to other evidence in the case But if there is evidence in the case, it is not a proper basis for a conviction It is not strengthened by the fact that it is supported by the other confessions whether they have been made in such circumstances as to preclude the theory that there has been connivance between the persons making the confessions or not Nga San Ngein v King-Emperor, U B R (1917) 1st Qr 3 Statements of co-accused persons are not entitled to even as much consideration as the testimony of an accomplice Queen Empress v Nana Raju Rat Un Cr C 408=Cr Reg 9 of 1889, Queen Empress v Uma, Rat Un Cr C 370-Cr Rg. 19 of 1888 Empress v Ganapabhat, Rat Un Cr C 456 The practice when there is a joint trial, of refusing to accept the plea of guilty and proceeding to try the accused in order that his confession may be taken into consideration against his co accused is illegal and an abuse of the process of the Court Muhammad v The Emperor, 35 C W N 490 Queen Empress v Lakshmayya 22 M 491, Q E v Pirbhu 17 A 529 Q E v Paltua 23 A 53, Emperor v Kheorje, 19 B 195, Q E v Pir 19 B 195, Subramaniya v K E, 25 M 61, contra Q E v Ch Pavonola, 23 M 151, Suldeb v K E, 13 C W N 552, Kesho v Emperor 13 Cr L J 742

Explanation —Under the explanation to section the word 'offence' always includes abetments and attempts In re Periya swami Moopan, 54 M 75=59 M L J 471=129 Ind Cas 645

desire to obtain wise produce But this course is not essential Muhammad v C W N 490=A I R 1931 Cal 341

S. 3

31. Admissions are not conclusive proof of the matters admitted, but they may operate as estoppels under the provision hereinafter contained.

Admissions not conclusive proof, but may estop.

Admission—meaning of. The word "admission" as used in this and in the previous sections is rather misleading. "The law of Evidence" says Prof. Wigmore, "has suffered in its most vital parts, from an ailment almost incur-

[illegible]

mass of nsider the Procedure issions as such admis sions may operate as a waiver relieving the opposing party from the need of any evidence and any party may at any stage of a suit, where admissions of fact have been made, either on the pleadings, or otherwise, apply to the Court for such judgment or order as upon such admission he may be entitled to (Vide Order XII, rule 6, Civil Procedure Code) So judicial admission

[illegible]

ment of parties which become in themselves the foundation of independent right for other persons, by virtue of some doctrine of substantive law, —in other words from binding estoppels, warranties and representations Wigmore § 1057.

[illegible]

at liberty to prove that such admissions were mistaken or untrue, and is not nduced by them m disputing their and that tran- n v Ram Sebuk, enath v Bindo 13 M I A 585; 18 W R 485, 21 W R 422, d Cas 33 An

[illegible]

estoppels of judicial admissions have no quality of conclusiveness, and on principle cannot have. Wigmore § 1059, Loveridge v. Botham, 1 B & P. 49;

S. 30. be examined as a witness. This being so, the provision that a conviction is not illegal merely because it proceeds upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice, has no application to the case of an uncorroborated confession taken into consideration as against a co-accused jointly tried with the confess[illegible]

the wordings of the latter section that it contemplates that the accomplice [illegible] be examined as a wit[illegible] not illegal merely [illegible] accomplice, has no a[illegible] into consideration as against a co-accused jointly tried with the confess[illegible] accused under s 30 All the Chartered High Courts of India have held that an accused person cannot be convicted solely on such a confession made by an accused Empress v Karimbux, 9 C P. L R 37 Cr ; Empress v Govinda 9 C P L R Cr 35 So it is clear that such a statement cannot alone form the basis of a conviction but that it could only be taken into consideration along with other evidence in the case. Emperor v Lalit Mohan, 38 C [illegible]

Gangamma Kardeppa, 21 Ind Cas 673=38 B 156=15 Bom L R [illegible]

ened by the fact that it is supported by the other confessions, [illegible] have been made in such [illegible] been connivance betwe[illegible] Ngein v King-Emperor, [illegible] persons are not entitle[illegible] accomplice Queen Empress v Nana Raju, Rat Un Cr C 468=Cr [illegible] of 1889, Queen Empress v Uma, Rat Un Cr C 370=Cr. Rg. 19 of 1889, Empress v. Ganapabhat, Rat Un Cr C 456 The practice when there is a joint trial, of refusing to accept the plea of guilty and proceeding to try the accused in order that his confession may be taken into consideration against his co-accused is illegal and an abuse of the process of the Court Muhammad v The Emperor, 35 C W N 490 Q. E. [illegible] Empress v Lakshmayya, 22 M 491; Q E v Pirbhu, 17 A 529, Q E v. Paltua, 23 A 53; Emperor v Kheorje, 19 B 195, Q E v [illegible] 19 B 195, Subramaniya v K E, 25 M 61; contra Q E v Paronolu, 23 M 151; Suldeb v K. E, 13 C W N 552; Kesho v Emperor 13 Cr L J. 742

Explanation —Under the explanation to section the word 'offence' always includes abetments and attempts In re Periya swami Moopan, 54 M. 75=59 M L J 471=129 Ind Cas 645.

[illegible] pass a sentence completely [illegible] joint trial to give evidence [illegible] his evidence with a mind [illegible] ling punishment and the desire to obtain immunity to himself at the expense of the prisoner might otherwise produce But this course is not essential Muhammad v Emperor, 35 C W. N 490=A I. R 1931 Cal 341

S. 31

Admissions not conclusive proof, but may estop.

31. Admissions are not conclusive proof of the matters admitted, but they may operate as estoppels under the provision hereinafter contained.

Admission—meaning of. The word 'admission' as used in this and in the previous sections is rather misleading. "The law of Evidence," says Prof. Wigmore, "has suffered in its most vital parts, from an ailment almost incurable,—that of confusion of nomenclature. The term 'admissions' exhibits this misfortune in one of its notable aspects." Wigmore § 1058. According to that learned author the term "admissions" as mentioned in these sections should be termed "quasi admission." "The true admissions, in the fullest sense of the term" says Prof [illegible] totally distinct principle." Ibid [illegible] a method of [illegible] is kind of [illegible] mass of [illegible] nsider the [illegible] Procedure [illegible] ssions as [illegible] h admissions may operate as a waive[illegible] any evidence and any party ma[illegible] fact have been made, either [illegible] for such judgment or order as upon such admission he may be entitled to. (Vide Order XII, rule 6, Civil Procedure Code). So judicial admission, is a formal act, done in the course of judicial proceedings, which waives or [illegible]

[illegible] ment of parties which become in themselves the foundation of independent right for other persons, by virtue of some doctrine of substantive law,—in other words from binding estoppels, warranties and representations. Wigmore § 1057.

[illegible] rodits, in greater or less [illegible]

[illegible] at liberty to prove that such "admissions" were mistaken or untrue, and is not [illegible] nduced by them [illegible] m disputing their [illegible] and that tran- [illegible] n v Ram Sebuk, [illegible] enath v Budo, 13 M I A 585, [illegible] 18 W R 185, [illegible] a, 21 W R 423, [illegible] d Cas 33. An [illegible]

[illegible] estoppels of judicial admissions have no quality of conclusiveness, and on principle cannot have. Wigmore § 1059, Loveridge v Botham, 1 B & P. 49;

31. Newton v Belcher, 12 Q. B D 921 924, Newton v Liddiard, 12 Q B. D ...
Such an admission does where it has been acted upon by the party to whom it is made Jiban Choudhury v Doolar, 18 W R 347, Prosonnodoy v Chairman Dacca Municipality 20 W R 233, Vasant v Puttu 14 B 313, Chandra Kant v Pearce Mohan, 5 W R 209 Admissions resemble presumptions in th... unless the party again... by them or explain the... the essence of an estoppel that the party who is estopped cannot bring forward any evidence to contradict his former conduct—in other words, an estoppel is a conclusive admission Cf R. v Del Lem (1896) 2 Q. B at p 270, Powell Ev p ... Dharmu v Gunar, 10 B H C 311

Scope of the section Admissions by a party to the record out of Court are evidence and primary evidence, of the facts so admitted Roscoe N P Ev 61 The value of the admission depends on the circumstances under which it was made, ... no further ... p l Ev 61 ... are within sections 115 to 117 of the Evidence Act, they are not conclusive, ... evidence open to rebuttal or expla... And this applies equall... ance with the circums... established, and must ... held binding The party may confess its untruth, he may show ... that the response which formed the admission was made not in a serious but in jocular manner or that the admission was made in ignorance of the true state ...

Rep 220, Thomas v White 1 Tyro & G 110 Express admissions of a ... to the suit or admissions implied from his conduct are evidence and strong evidence against him, but he is at liberty to prove that such admissions were mist... unless anoth... the ... clain... Abdul Karim v Rashiuddin 131 Ind Cas 903—A I R 1931 ...
Admissions cannot be rebutted or explained by other statements of the declarant made at another time, for such other statements are not admissible for that purpose, unless they form part of res gestae Lee v Hamilton 3 Ala 5 9 Roberts v Trawick 22 Ala 490 Burr Jones § 296 Informal admissions may be either in writing or oral or even by conduct They may have been made in business correspondence or casual conversation long before any litigation began or was even contemplated, and with no intention of making a binding adm... but if They are therefore more easily explained away than formal admissions sufficiently clear they shift the onus of proof Powell on Evidence, 430

This section declares that admissions are not conclusive proofs of the ... s. An admission is the ... the witnesses are closely ... re is a certain ... on ... iss ons may operate is an ... l of saying that ... not

The person ... was mistaken and untru... When the admission is duly proved and the person against whom it is proved does not satisfy the Court that it was mistaken or untrue, there is nothing in the Evidence Act, and there is no general principle or rule of law, to prevent the Court from deciding the case in accordance with it Maung [illegible] v. Ma Tha Yi, U. B. R. (1897-1901) Vol. II, 377, see also Serajuddin v. Johur Jan, 131 Ind Cas 555=53 C L J 222, Abdul Kareem v. Bishaludin, 131 Ind Cas 903=8 O W N 306=A I R 1931 Oudh 216 What a party himself admits to be true may reasonably be presumed to be so Where the defendant is not a party to the deeds, and there is, therefore no estoppel the party making the admission may give evidence to rebut this presumption, but unless and until this is satisfactorily done, the fact admitted must be taken to be established The express admissions of a party to the suit, or admissions implied from his conduct, are evidence and strong evidence against him, but he is at liberty to prove that such admissions were mistaken them unless another person [illegible]

In which case the party [illegible] person (and those claiming under him) and that transaction, but as to third parties he is not bound [illegible] Chandra v. [illegible], 9 Bom L R 267=11 C. W N 321=4 A L J 102=5 Cr L J 115=17 M L J 103=2 M L T. 100. Those admissions which have not been acted upon, either because they were originally made without any intention of being acted upon, or because for any other reason they, in fact, remain unacted upon or have not altered the situation of the opposite party are not conclusive, though they are receivable in evidence whether the person who made the admission was or was not acquainted with the incidents of the property when he made the statement. Dinabandhu v. Munnu Lal, 32 Ind Cas 443 An admission by one defendant against another, which admission the Court finds to be collusive, cannot relieve the plaintiff from the burden of starting his case against the repudiating defendant, nor can it shift the burden of proof to the shoulders of the latter from off the plaintiff Sheikh v. Ma[illegible] Das, 6 W R 299 Where there is no privity of contract between the parties an admission made by one party will not bind another. Ganesh Das v. Dularan, 1[illegible] Ind Cas 7=12 L L J 187

Admissions not conclusive proof. Under this section admissions are not conclusive evidence of the matters admitted. Jagannath v. Kalidas, 8 Pat. 776=10 Pat L T 191=A I R 1929 Pat 215, see also Sadu v. Jadu, 131 Ind. Cas 128=32 P L R 245, Secretary of State v. [illegible], A. I. R 1929 Lah 748, Dawinlar v. Lachmi, A I R 1930 Lah 905 A party is not bound by his own representations wher[illegible]

If treated as admissions [illegible] that they were not true [illegible]

sion is conclusive only, [illegible] made Janan Chowdhur[illegible]

where its circumstances [illegible]

Ramsebul, 12 W R.

Where the defendant wants to make [illegible] plaintiff is at liberty to show the real nature of the transaction Musammat Lotufunnissa v. Gour Saran, 18 W R. 455 493 An admission not explained, though not conclusive, is strong evidence. Hunsa Kour v. Sheo Gobind, 24 W R. 431; Sankaracharya v. Manali, 51 Ind Cas. 876; Ambar Ali v. Lutfe Ali, 21 C. W N 996 A deliberate confession though not operating as an estoppel casts upon those making it the burden of explaining [illegible] rately asserted was not the fact. [illegible] 5 B L R. 529; Sreenath v. [illegible] , 24 W R. 431; Vir v. Harnam, [illegible] 184=11 C W. N 381 P. C.

S. 32. If the defendant admits any sum to be due, that admission, irre pective of the proof offered by the plaintiff, is sufficient to warrant a decree for that amo t in the plaintiff's favour Ishan Chunder v Noboduecp 6 W R 132 Sec Dhur v Sreenath 18 W R 331 If in a suit for specific performance of an agreement, the defendant admits the terms of the agreement and its execution, the plaintiff need not put the document in evidence nor prove its execution Burjorji v Mancherji 5 B 153, Mc Gowan v Smith 26 L J Ch. 8, see also Alexander v Mir Mahomed 5 B L R 5 9 (P C)=14 W R P C 29-13 M I A 438

The weight to be given to such admissions depends on various circum stances If the pleading is sworn to and hence it is deliberate and sol statement of the party its admissions may afford evidence agai t l not easily rebutted When the allegations are made on information a belief they are still admissible in evidence, as this fact only detracts fr the weight of the testimony Doe v Sleel, 3 Camp 115, Pope v Allis 1 U S 363

... trial Court or an appeal, where properly pr s... ed in a transcript or case made so long as they remain a part of the record I the statements or admissions were made by himself of by his counsel under a honest mistake or misapprehension of what the facts really were, and he desires to be relieved from the effect ... Court for leave to withdraw such adm... to do so make a showing of good faith should be granted or denied in the f... an action is in that action conclusivel... expressly makes in the pleadings, or are formally entered into for the purpose of dispensing with proofs Bur Ju ... § 274

... character are entitled to great weight, but they are not conclusive again t ... and do not constitute an estoppel Doe v Sleel, 3 Camp 115 Cameron v Lightfoot 2 W Black 1190, Studdy v Sanders, 2 Dowl & R 345, De W... ... dale v Milburn 5 Price 485 ...

be... ca... Acuton v ... The doctri... have turn... rest upon... embrace al... ein it c... purely... and...

eking the int... to the rul... s Legal ... Lord Ke... with ... truth ... private...

tying under oath is more than a wi... behalf ... n of the judicial power in his ... which contraria non est audiendus' ... 130, expresses in technical language ... man should not be permitted to ... the san... transaction, or in ... o c... ng allegations accord... Smi... oston Eleva ed Ty Co,

STATEMENTS BY PERSONS WHO CANNOT BE CALLED AS WINESSES.

S. 32.

32. Statements, written or verbal, of relevant facts made by a person who is dead, or who cannot be found, or who has become incapable of giving evidence, or whose attendance cannot be procured without an amount of delay or expense which under the circumstances of the case appears the Court unreasonable, are themselves relevant facts in the lowing cases:—

ses in which statement of relevant fact person who is dead innot be found, etc., relevant

(1) When the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death, in cases in which the cause of that rson's death comes into question.

hen it relates to se of death,

Such statements are relevant whether the person who made em was or was not, at the time when they were made, under pectation of death, and whatever may be the nature of the ceeding in which the cause of his death comes into question.

(2) When the statement was made by such person in the ordinary course of business, and in particular when it consists of any entry or memorandum made by him in books kept in the ordinary urse of business, or in the discharge of professional duty; or of acknowledgment written or signed by him of the receipt of oney, goods, securities or property of any kind; or of a document ed in commerce written or signed by him; or of the date a letter or other document usually dated, written or signed him.

s made in course of iness;

(3) When the statement is against the pecuniary or proprietary interest of the person making it, or when, if true, it would expose him or would have exposed him to a criminal prosecution or to a suit for damages.

against interest of ker;

(4) When the statement gives the opinion of any such person, as to the existence of any public right or custom or matter of public or general interest, of the existence of which, if it existed, he would have been likely to be aware, and ien such statement was made before any controversy as to such ght, custom or matter has arisen.

gives opinion as to blic right or custom matters of general erest;

(5) When statement relates to the existence of any relationship* [by blood, marriage or adoption] between persons as to whose relationship* [by blood, marriage or adoption] the person relates to existence relationship,

---

* These words in s 32, cls (5) and (6), were inserted by the Indian Evidence t Amendment Act (18 of 1872), s 2

S. 32. making the statement had special means of knowledge, and when the statement was made before the question in dispute was raised

(6) When the statement relates to the existence of any relationship* [by blood, marriage or adoption] between persons deceased, and is made in any will or deed relating to the affairs of the family to which any such deceased person belonged, or in any family pedigree, or upon any tombstone, family portrait or other thing on which such statements are usually made, and when such statement was made before the question in dispute was raised or is made in will or deed relating to family affairs,

(7) When the statement is contained in any deed, will or other document which relates to any such transaction as is mentioned in section 13, clause (a).

or in document relating to transaction mentioned in section 13 clause (a),

(8) When the statement was made by a number of persons, and expressed feelings or impressions on their part relevant to the matter in question.

or is made by several persons and expresses feelings relevant to matter in question

Illustrations

(a) The question is whether A was murdered by B, or tively to the murder, the rape and the actionable wrong under consideration, relevant facts

(b)

An kept in the course of business, er and delivered her of a son is a relevant fact

(c) The question is, whether A was in Calcutta on a given day

A statement in the diary of a deceased solicitor, regularly kept in the course of business, that on a given day the solicitor attended A at a place mentioned in Calcutta, for the purpose of conferring with him upon specified business is a relevant fact

(d) The question is, whether a ship sailed from Bombay harbour on a given day

A letter written by a deceased member of a merchant's firm, by which she was chartered, to their correspondents in London, to whom the cargo was consigned, stating that the ship sailed on a given day from Bombay harbour, is a relevant fact

(e) The question is, whether rent was paid to A for certain land

A letter from A's deceased agent to A saying that he had received the rent on on a certain day The fact that a letter written by him is dated on ... relevant.

* These words in s 32, cls (5) and (6), were inserted by the Indian Evidence Act Amendment Act (18 of 1872), s 2

(h) The question is, what was the cause of the wreck of a ship

A protest made by the Captain, whose attendance cannot be procured, is a relevant fact

The question is, whether a given road is a public way statement by A, a deceased headman of the village, that the road was is a relevant fact.

The question is, what was the price of grain on a certain day in a particular market A statement of the price, made by a deceased banya in the ry course of his business, is a relevant fact

(k) The question is, whether A, who is dead, was the father of B.

A statement by A that B was his son, is a relevant fact.

(l) The question is, what was the date of the birth of A

A letter from A's deceased father to a friend, announcing the birth of A on iven day, is a relevant fact.

(m) The question is, whether, and when, A and B were married

An entry in a memorandum book by C, the deceased father of B, of his daughter's marriage with A on a given date is a relevant fact

(n) A sues B for a libel expressed in a painted caricature exposed in a shop window The question is as to the similarity of the caricature and its libellous character The remarks of a crowd of spectators on these points may be proved

... as witnesses Sections 32 and ... which exclude hearsay The ... esirability of getting the person, ... der that he may be examined as a witness in the regular way But this is practically impossible in many cases Markby Ev 32 So the first principle on which these statements are admissible ...

regards ...

ments ar ...

Indian ...

who is d ...

giv ...

of ...

rea ...

evi ...

such evidence is receivable, are consonant with reason and general convenience Nort Ev 174

Nature of Hearsay as an Extra Judicial Testimonial ...

utterance in his hearin ...

qualified to testify, so th ...

... stimony to it In other words,

S. 32 been asserted on the extra judicial occasion in question by the extra judicially stating or narrating witness" Book VI, Ch IV of Bentham's Rationale of Judicial Evidence The Hearsay rule tells us that B's assertion cannot be accepted because it has not been made at a time and place where it could be subjected to certain essential tests or investigations calculated to demonstrate its real value by exposing such latent sources of error Wigmore § 1361

Form of Hearsay In respect to form hearsay statements may properly be regarded in one of two ways The rule of exclusion applies indifferently to them all As distinguished from each other by the nature of their source unsworn statements in their assertive capacity may be treated as composite or individual

Composite hearsay may be defined as a compound or blended extra judicial declaration of an indeterminate number of people so mingled that the separate voices can no longer be distinguished

Individual hearsay, on the contrary, may be regarded as an extra judicial statement shown to have been made by a particular person or set of persons So far as classified by means of the which through which the utterance is presented to the tribunal they may be conveniently considered as being oral, printed or written Chamberlayne's Ev § 2737

Composite Hearsay Composite hearsay, as above defined, usually presents itself to the tribunal, with increasing vagueness as Reputation, Rumour or Tradition Individual expressions of opinion, though persistent, do not constitute reputation Chamberlayne's Ev § 2738

Hearsay Rule and its exceptions—its Historical development etc There is a great head of the law of Evidence' says Prof James Bradley Thayer "comprising indeed, with its exceptions much the largest part of all that truly belong there forbidding the introduction of hearsay The true historical nature of the rule is hinted by the remark of an English Court, two centuries ago and over when they checked the attempt of a woman to testify what another woman had told her The Court,' it was quietly remarked 'are of opinion that it will be proper for Wells [illegible] (Elizabeth Canning's Case 19 How St Tr 38[illegible]

communication, by that time be veyant, a hearer a say as the witn audivi, [illegible] When juries who [illegible] by the selves testimo[illegible]
of what they were sa else [illegible]
to [illegible]
fou[illegible]
insi[illegible]
opi[illegible]
they might act on [illegible] cou[illegible] might form a judg[illegible] they not do this, or re[illegible] thought, or 'believed,' or had heard from others, or had inferred [illegible] of the now call circumstantial evidence This contrast between the function define [illegible] criminate and [illegible] number of so-ca[illegible] pendent rules whose opera[illegible] [illegible] generality of this other [illegible] for

We find these used by a complaint witness as far back as [illegible] evidence to the jury in 1721 Such declarations in early times, and even in [illegible]

S. 3

times, had a pe… say seems alwa… loped, used to… know what the… stances, was … the aspect of family reputation; and reputation was often reckoned an adequate ground for judicial action. In the thirteenth century we find a witness, in proving another person's age, giving as the basis of his testimony the fact of the mother's recording the age in the records of a Priory, which record he had seen. In matters affecting a whole parish or a large number of persons, the hearsay and reputation of those belonging in the given community was always regarded as good.

"There was another class of unsworn statements which had always been resorted to in judicial proceedings and admitted to the jury, namely, written ones, entries in registers, in a person's books, in the account books of the stewards, in a merchant's books, in contracts, deeds, wills, and other documents. Documents had always been shown to juries,—long before witnesses were received to testify to them. In the early days they did not stick, it would seem, at showing the jury any document that bore on the case, without even thinking of how the writer knew what he said, … ently authenticated were one … one. It appears, then, that … pro-hibition came in under … in, or rather, so to speak, stayed in, simply because they had always been received, and no rule against hearsay had ever been formulated or interpreted as applying to them. Such things, continuing at the present day, are e. g., the admission of old entries and writings in proof of ancient matters, written declarations of deceased persons against interest, and in the course of duty or business; and, to … a thing … of 1800, … qualified … ly never … s in them … tion, there … deceased … rations of … has the … made; or … ed, such … same fact itself admissible, and declarations of present intention or present physical sensa… subject. … w relating to hearsay from … and from an uncertainty whether and how far … ictly limited, … to hearsay is … In a leading … question of … 'I base my judgment upon this that no … ery case when a document could be received, and clearly, unless it is to be brought within some one of the exceptions, it would fall within the general rule that hearsay evidence is not admissible.' (Sturla v. Freccia, 5 App. Cas. 623) On the other hand, Sir George Jessel, in a very different tone, in 1876, had declared it to be the Court's duty to extend the exceptions to the hearsay rule, out of 'regard to the reasons and principles which have induced the tribunals of this country to admit exceptions in the other cases' (Sugden v. St. Leonards, 1 Pro. Div. 154). It seems a sound general principle to say that in all cases a main rule is to have extension, rather than exceptions to the rule; that exceptions should be applied only within strict bounds, and that the main rule should apply in cases not clearly within the exception. But then comes the question, what is the rule, and what the exceptions? There lies a difficulty. A true analysis would probably restate the law so as to make what we call the hearsay rule the exception, and make our main rule this, namely, that whatsoever

S. 32 been asserted on the extra judicial occasion in question by the extra judicially stating or narrating witness" Book VI, Ch IV of Bentham's Rationale of Judicial Evidence The Hearsay rule tells us that B's assertion cannot be accepted because it has not been made at a time and place where it could be subjected to certain essential tests or investigations calculated to demonstrate its real value by exposing such latent sources of error Wigmore § 1361

Form of Hearsay In respect to form, hearsay statements may properly be regarded in one of two ways The rule of exclusion applies indifferently to them all As distinguished from each other by the nature of their source unsworn statements in their assertive capacity may be treated as composite or individual

Composite hearsay may be defined as a compound or blended extra judicial declaration of an indeterminate number of people so mingled that the separate voices can no longer be distinguished

Individual hearsay, on the contrary, may be regarded as an extra judicial statement shown to have been made by a particular person or set of persons So far as classified by means of the which through which the utterance is presented to the tribunal they may be conveniently considered as being oral printed or written Chamberlayne's Ev § 2737

itself

Tradi

tute reputation Chamberlayne's Ev § 2738

Hearsay Rule and its exceptions—its Historical development etc There is a great head of the law of Evidence" says Prof James Bradley Thayer "comprising indeed, with its exceptions much the largest part of all that truly belong there forbidding the introduction of hearsay The true historical nature of this rule is hinted by the remark of an English Court, two centuries ago and over when they checked the attempt of a woman to testify what another woman had told her The [illegible] of opinion that it will be proper for Wells [illegible] th Canning's Case 19 How St Tr 38 [illegible] went to the medium of communication, [illegible] dinary testimony had by that time be [illegible] t it must be u i oya d et veyant, a hearer and seer, as they said in the older Year Books, one who could say as the witnesses to Courts in older times always had to say quod vidit et audivit, it must not be t [illegible] When juries who were them selves originally witn [illegible] testimony of other witn [illegible] of what they were sa [illegible]

[illegible] state it if they did, were not to say what [illegible] inferred from what [illegible] now call circumstantia [illegible] ween the function of [illegible] discriminate and define [illegible] doctrine, rules which were coeval with the doctrine itself or much [illegible] example, it seems always to have been true, in cases of homicide, that the dying declarations of persons killed were reported and acted on in judicial proceedings. We find these used by a complaint witness as far back as 1202, and used in evidence to the jury in 1721 Such declarations in early times, and even as late

S. 3

times, had a peculiar credit allowed them say seems always to have been resorted to loped, us know wh ly, if confirmed by circumstances, stimony Family hearsay had the aspec. is often reckoned an adequate ground for judicial action In the thirteenth century we find a witness, in proving another person's age giving as the basis of his testimony the fact of the mother's recording the age in the records of a Priory, which record he had seen In matters affecting a whole parish or a large number of persons, the hearsay and reputation of those belonging in the given community was always regarded as good.

een
s,— in a merchant's books in contracts, deeds, wills and other documents Documents had always been shown to juries,—long before witnesses were received to testify to them In the early days they did not stick, it would seem at showing the jury any document that bore on the case, without even thinking of how the writer knew what he said authenticated were one
It appears, then, that hibition came in under the head of written entries or declarations; they came in, or rather, so to speak, stayed in, simply because they had always been received, and no rule against hearsay had ever been formulated or interpreted as applying to them Such things, continuing at the present day are e g, the admission of old entries and writings in proof of ancient matters, written declarations of persons against interest were received, and, in England even oral declarations of deceased persons in the course of duty or business And not only has the scope of these old titles been enlarged, but new exceptions have been made; or perhaps they are rather old ones coming to be recognized and formulated; such me fact genera y, from

whether and how far as being mere exception should apply in cases n question, what is the rule, true analysis would prol hearsay rule the exception,

S. 32. is relevant is adm exceptions, but this classification rule would have i that it shows a sp particular instances, while rejecting it generally. For example there is, some to say the contrary or as part of a series of statements or a class of them wh are usually careful and accurate and the like; credit amply enough in point o reason to ent tle th on to be rece ... when once the absence of th r tendency to p be as parts of the fact itself pars rei gestae lying under the course of hearsay, but received, by way of exception, on account of this special intimacy of connection with the adm sible fact This part of the subject presents an instructive spectacle of confu sion resulting from the desire on the one hand to hold to the just historical theory of our cases and on ... that be n aware of the size and complex ... entire upon Thayer's Prel Treat

Theory of Hearsay Rule The principle of exclusion of hearsay evidence Credit being derived from attestat n fountain from whence it flows and when there was such a speech made ... for rat rely to be affected by it, had no opportunity of cross examining him' Ibid cf Wigmore § 1362 "It seems agreed that what a stranger has been heard to say is in strictness no manner of evidence either for or against a prisoner not only because it is not upon oath but also because the other side, hath no oppor r of a cross-examination' Hawkins Pleas of the Crown C H C 46 § 44 In also the objection of Pelham in R Wright v Tatham, 7 A & E 313, Co an oath furnishes some guarantee for of cross examination gives an opportunity of testing the foundation value of it' In the same case Alderson B said "The general rule is th facts are to be proved by testimony of persons on oath and subjected to cr examination In Grasham Hotel v Manning Ir R 1 C J 125, O Brien J said "The statements and declarations of opinion received in evidence in this case were made by parties not examined upon oath or subject to cross examination and would not be exempted from the general rule excluding hearsay evidence

In some of the cases great stress is put on the right of cross examination "In
In Dysart Peerage Case, L R 6 App Cas 503, Lord Blackburn observed

S. 3

the evidence of a man who is not pro- not be cross examined, as a general rule ... Ley v. Earl of Anglesea, 17 How St Tr ... So "the general rule is that ... that such statements are ... r ascertaining their truth,—the author of the statements not being exposed to cross examination in the presence of a Court of justice, and not speaking under the penal sanction of an oath, with no opportunity to investigate his character and motives, and his deportment not subject to observations" Marshall v. R. Co, 48 Ill 476, see also Berkeley Peerage Case, 4 Camp 406 Doe v Ridgeway, 4 B & Ald 54; R v. Davlin, Jebb Cr C 127; Smith v. Blakey L R 2 Q B 326, R v. Jenkins, L R. 1 C C. R 193; Sugden v. St Leonards, L R. 1 P D 154.

'Of the two main facts' says Mr Chamberlayne' which impair the probative force of an unsworn statement used as hearsay, lack of oath and the absence of cross-examination probably the later is, at the present time regarded as being by far the more serious Indeed, the importance of the oath is more frequently regarded as an incident of cross examination, than as a valuable guarantee for truth in itself considered While, therefore, lack of sanction of an oath is spoken of by judges as being an infirmative consideration in relation to hearsay of practically co-ordinate importance with absence of cross-examination, such can scarcely be regarded as the fact The real reason for thus joining the two requirements of oath and cross examination is that cross-examination, in a juridical sense, takes place under oath An extra judicial statement give under oath, is as objectionable to the present rule, if not tested by cross examination, as an unsworn statement would be" Chamberlayne's Ev § 2712.

Reason for Hearsay Rule—Inherent weakness—Absence of cross examination. The absence of a cross-examination is a more serious matter Not without withstood the probing of a well conducted cross examination A proponent whose witness is stating the truth can ask for no better help for the establishment of regarded

break a p

is composed is sound or rotten In much the same way, in the absence of the searching test which cross-examination alone makes practically possible, the tribunal has, as a rule, no satisfactory data upon which to estimate the probative

h circumstances judicial admissbeing misled A presiding Judge ring that such a statement was irrelevant, without probative force, or that the jury could not reasonably act upon it

On the other hand, the use of a rigid rule of procedure to the effect that however necessary the extra judicial statement may be to the proponent in prov-

S. 32. that instance, that the statement offered is free from the risk of inaccuracy and untrustworthiness, so that the test of cross-examination would be a work of

for the evidence—may be examined more closely, taking first the latter

(1) Where the test of cross examination is impossible of application by reason of the declarant's death or some other cause rendering him now unavailable as witness statements w
The question the latter or t policy of ch

test of cross-examination

(2) There are many situations in which it can be easily seen that such required test would add little as a security, because its purposes had been already substantially accomplished If a statement has been made under such circumstances that even a scep ordinary instance) in on a test whose chief o exists, the statement cou from that person was the Hearsay ex

Jessel M R in Sugden
w of some other country ersons who are dead in all cases where they were made under circumstances in which such evidence ought properly to have been admitted, that is, where the person who made them had no interest to the contrary, and where they were made before the commencement of the litigation That is not, however, our law As a rule the declarations whether in ons, are not admissible in evidence at this subject, so frequently has it shut ently could it have ca a most crying and intolerable injustice, that a large number of exceptions have been made to the general rule Now I take it the principle which underlies all these exceptions is the same In the first place, the case must be one in which it is difficult to obtain other evidence, for no doubt the ground for admitting the exceptions was that very difficulty In the next place the declarant must be disinterested, that is, disinterested in the sense that the declaration was not made in favour of his interests And, thirdly, the declaration must be made before dispute or litigation, so that it is made without bias on account of the existence of a dispute or litigation which the declarant might be supposed to favour Lastly, and this appears to me one of the strongest reasons for admitting it, the declarant must have had peculiar means of knowledge not possessed in ordinary cases" Chamberlaynes Ev § 2763 notes a greater or less necessity for reso (1) The person whose utterance offered may now be d unavailable for the palpable reason. It seven ensuing ones

out in the rules, but the general notion is clear and unmistak acknowledged in these exceptions with more or less directness and strictness . . . but we cannot expect, again or at this time, to . . . the same or other sources This appears more or less fully in the exception section 6), for reputation, and it (as in the first case) with the entire some valuable source of evidence . . . convenience, can be predicated But the . . . 1121, Chamberlayne's Ev § 2761 Hearsay . . . here is better evidence There are certain . . . their very nature, admit of the production . . . ationship character, custom, prescription and . . . R. Act X Rule. 30.

Second . . . second princi[illegible] untested, is [illegible] cross-examin[illegible] . . . ability of accuracy and . . . not quite equivalent to . . . The cir-stances presuppose. It is merely that common sense and experience have from time to time pointed them out as practically adequate substitutes for the ordinary test, at least, in view of the necessity of the situation Wigmore § 1422

Witness qualifications, and other Rules, also to be applied to statements admitted under these exceptions The Hearsay rule is merely an additional test or safeguard to be applied to testimonial evidence otherwise admissible T[illegible]

declarations The English ruling in R v. P[illegible] [illegible] ion it is relevant, though, possibly

Scope of Section 32 This section provides an exception to the general may have spoken hastily, inaccurately or even falsely Moreover the person who is really responsible for the statement did not make it on oath ; he was not

S. 32. cro -examined upon it, and the Court had no opportunity of observing his demeanour when he made it. It is a fundamental principle of our law that evidence ...

are as follows :—Statements written or verbal, of relevant facts when made by a person (a) v ... incapable of ... an amount of ... to the Court unreasonable, are admissible : (1) when it relates to the cause of his death or (2) when it is made in course of business, or (3) when it is against the interest of the maker ; or (4) when it gives opinion as to public right or custom, or matters of general interest ; or (5) when it relates to existence of relationship, or (6) when it is made in will or deed relating to family affairs, or (7) when it is made in document relating to transaction mentioned in section 13, clause (a) ; or (8) when it is made by several persons and express feelings relevant to the matter in question In the absence of the conditions prescribed by section 32 of the Evidence Act a plaint filed in a prior litigation is not admissible to prove a statement by a superior landlord Lakshan v Tukin, 39 C L J 90=28 C W N 1033=80 Ind Cas 357 A recital in a document is admissible in evidence against parties who are not parties to the document, only where the conditions laid down in section 32 of the Evidence Act are fulfilled. Ram Sarup v Bhagwant Prosa ... be admitted as corroborative ... of collection of rent at a certain ...

... re corroboration ... Chantter Rai v Kailash Behari 44 Ind Cas 422

Requisites of admissibility under section 32 Statements oral and written made by persons not parties to the suit, and not witnesses therein, are not admissible ...

... of the rule itself The first of these is that of necessity ; i e the situation in which it is no longer possible to subject the person to oath and cross-examination, so that if his statements are to be had at all, they must be had without applying these securities (i e securities guaranteed by oath and cross-examination) for trustworthiness The law on the subject is thus laid down by Tindal C J in Garwood v Dennis, 4 Bing 328 "It is objected that however impressive the declaration of a man of character may be, yet the law admits the word of no man in evidence without oath The general rule certainly is so, but subject to relaxation in cases of necessity or extreme inconvenience" The second notion is that, even though a necessity exists for relaxing the Hearsay rule, nevertheless this is not to be done unless there is in the particular case of declarations offered, some ... which shall—in some degree, at ... otherwise required Greenl ... Conn 507, Loomis J said ... oath and the test of cross-examination as a pre-requisite ... verbal testimony, unless it discovers in the nature of the ca... or test equivalent for asce... ing the truth" So statemen... by persons who are dead or other... pacitated from being ca... are admitted in the cases me... 32 and 33 Steph... principle of necessity t... ding hearsay is relax... under which statements ... e section guaran... ness of the statements ... 3. The whole ...

ossible in the 17 "Section 32
y persons who
The object of those restrictions and the reasons for them are plain The basic principle of legal evidence being that the Court must always have the best, it follows that where persons can be, they must be brought before the Court to tell what they know at first hand Their veracity can then be best tested by the art of cross-examination Where however witnesses cannot be brought before the Court idence of a kind that a Court
The conditions which when
, are imposed upon its admis-its truth As there is no tement will not be
, t e ordinary course, a true statement."

Per Beaman J in ibid

Written or verbal The rule as regarding hearsay is so sweeping that it excludes all written hearsay irrespective of the mode in which it is presented—very often in the form of official records, but more frequently according to the particular commercial transaction to which it relates Of course the fact that the written hearsay is in the form of letters or telegrams does not avail to make it admissible The fact that hearsay is printed no matter in what form, does not alter the application of the rule Burr Jones § 298 So considered as hearsay, an unsworn consideration
of the writ Temporary,
against hea § 2756 As it is but pro
of the exceptions to that rule

"'Verbal' means by words, it is not necessary that the words should be spoken If the term used in the section were 'oral', it might be that the statement must be 'confined to words spoken by the mouth' But the meaning of the word 'verbal' is something wider the words of another person may be so adopted by a witness as to be properly treated as the words of the witness himself" Per Petheram C J in Queen Empress v Abdulla 7 A 385 (397) F B In the same case Straight J said 'I am also of opinion that the signs made by the deceased Dulari in response to the question put to her, may be given in evidence erial from which the inference may properly oted or negatived the matter of such questions
s is established satisfactorily to the that such questions taken with her assent or titute a 'verbal statement' as to the cause 32 of the Evidence Act I am not rely technical distinction is to say that while questions adopted or negatived by a mere 'yes' or 'no' constitute a 'verbal statement' within s 32, they become inadmissible when assent or dissent is expressed by a nod or a shake of the head' But Mahmood J expressed a different view in the same case At page 398 he said 'I should accept the
not to interpret the
the meaning of
word' to me
'verbal' cannot mean more than 'by means of a word or words' Nodding the head or waving the hand is not a word" As regards dying declarations Prof Greenleaf observes "The testimony here spoken of may be given as well by signs as by words, thus, where one, being at the point of death and conscious of her situation, but received, was asked the wounds, and, if s squeezed his hand, consideration of the jury" Greenl Ev § 159(b) In Mockabu v Com. 78 Ky.

S. 32. 382 Hines J said "Dying declarations are not necessarily either w spoken Any method of communication between mind and mind adopted that will develop the thought, is the pressure of the hand a nod head or a glance of the eye" See also R v Lowe, 10 Br C 1,3 9, R 12 Cox Cr C 168

Rejection of evidence by the lower Court When the Court had rejected the evidence of certain witnesses on the ground that it was [illegible] and had not conformed with section 32 of the Evidence Act, and on the the evidence it was sometimes uncertain whether the witnesses were from their own personal knowledge or from information derived from but the Court had considered it from both points of view and held it [illegible] the Judicial Committee saw no reason to differ from the estimate which th had formed as to the credibility of the witness in the former case nor, latter case, to question the manner in which the Court had applied the pr of section 32 Shafiq un nissa v Shaban Ali Khan, 26 A 581=9 C 105=6 Bom L R 750

Relevant facts. This section lays down that the statement written or verbal, Per Pither in Queen-Empress v [illegible] examination" says [illegible] employed as hearsay, or, more properly, [illegible] determinate, evidentiary value to a declaration not so tested, has led [illegible] administration as is most clearly seen in connection with the exception hearsay rul [illegible] vancy objectiv subjective, [illegible] to be recei evidence [illegible] the absence o a demonstration of overwhelming forensic necessity on the part of the pro as would warrant incurring some hazard by way of misleading the Chamberlayne's Ev § 2725 Facts which are objectively relevant are relevant [illegible] and 5 [illegible] Bhusana [illegible] not rele [illegible] "If a fa [illegible] Facts n [illegible] learned [illegible] i e, rel [illegible]

[illegible] I cannot see that the [illegible] other portions of the Ev [illegible] rations is to the dec [illegible] ndoubtedly the identity murderer is a fact in issue in a trial for [illegible] most [illegible] These [illegible] would [illegible] cannot have been the intention Legislature Facts in issue are facts about which there is a question in between the parties and although all relevant facts are not necessarily fa issue, I cannot understand how the facts that are in issue can be other relevant to the determination of the suit, and this I think is clear from language of section 6" But see Patel v Patel, 15 B 565

Subjective relevancy If the objective relevancy of a hearsay [illegible] is tacitly assumed as a matter of course the question of subjective relev stands in quite a different p [illegible]

[illegible]

much nicety In connection with two conditions of subjective [illegible]

Adequate Knowledge and Absence of Controlling Motive to Misrepresent, this difficulty is almost entirely confined, in case of hearsay, as of other statements, to the latter. Adequate Knowledge like Objective Relevancy, raises in practice, but little difficulty in its determination. It can be finally settled, once for all almost on inspection. But in the case of Absence of Controlling Motive to Misrepresent, the situation is quite different. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2731

Subjective Relevancy—Adequate knowledge A qualification required in case of every witness is that he should be shown or can reasonably be assumed to possess a knowledge commensurate with, sufficient to give evidentiary value to, the evidence which he proposes to offer. Should the matter be one covered by direct observation, it must facilities and opportunities fo Where the fact to be stated is o appear or be justifiably assum knowledge helpful to the jury. Should it appear that the proposed testimony is not based upon adequate personal knowledge gained from observation or otherwise, it is subjectively irrelevant and should be rejected. The fact may be as stated but cannot be credited. The requirement is by no means restricted to the judicial use of unsworn statements. But it is naturally insisted on in such a connection so far as can reasonably be done. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2732

Subjective relevancy—Absence of controlling Motive to misrepresent "The credibility and consequent admissibility of an unsworn statement is thus seen to rest upon its subjective relevancy and this in main, upon the existence of the motive to misrepresent. The question is a crucial one and of some nicety and difficulty when viewed from the standpoint of Procedure. To exhibit to the jury by the aid of cross examination facts out of which may be thought to arise motives tending to pervert, consciously or unconsciously, the desire to truthfully narrate facts known to the declarant is a comparatively easy matter. The provisions of Procedure have been greatly taxed in an attempt to formulate general rules as to what may or may not have been omitted which may to a certain extent supply the place of judicial testing. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2733

"Secondary evidence In considering the use of hearsay statements at the present day under enlightened judicial administration by the use of reason it would be natural in case of a hearsay statement to adopt the rule that in order for the declaration to be subjectively relevant it must appear that the declarant was not so far under the influence of bias, self interest or other controlling motive to misrepresent as to render it irrational that the jury should credit his story. Chamberlayne's Ev. 2733

"In dealing, however, with the exceptions to the hearsay rule where the assertive unsworn statement is treated as secondary evidence, it is important to bear in mind that we are dealing, as it were with the stone age of judicial evolution. The temper of the times during which the hearsay rule and its exceptions were formulated is procedural rather than administrative. Pre-appointed equivalences, the ability to state one fact in the terms of another take the place to which the judgment deduced by reason from legal principles might more properly lay claim. Thus in relation to subjective relevancy Adequate Knowledge in case of a declaration regarding Pedigree must be shown by membership in the family. Absence of controlling motive to misrepresent is established by the fact that the assertion was made before the warmth of partisanship or the beguiling of self interest had been aroused by a Lis Mota. In other words, to secure admissibility on account of subjective relevancy the hearsay statement must have been made ante litem motam. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2733

Primary Evidence
equivalences characteristic cases in which modern ju sufficient guarantee

In course of legal evolution the existence of one of two forces was found to furnish a sufficient guarantee to this effect. These are (1) the Force of Spontaneity and in certain cases (2) the Force of Habit. In either case, experience showed that the

S. 32.

is the probative force of assertive judicial decisions ... happened to modern judicial administration that the evidence is not secondary as originally regarded by procedure but is, under modern conditions, primary there being no species of proof of a superior grade in connection with matters to which they relate" Chamberlayne's Ev § 2733

Person "This argument was based entirely upon the provisions of the General Clauses Act which says that 'person' shall include 'persons', it was contended that 'person' in section 32 must be read as persons' I do not think that this ingenious argument is entitled to succeed" Per Maclean C J in Chandra Nath v Nilmadhub 3 C W N 85(89) = 26 C 236 (237) So a statement relating to the existence of a ... document signed by several persons some only ... under clause 5 of section 32 of the E... document is dead, the statement made by ... section 32, if it comes under one or other of its clauses, being thus the statement of a person who is dead Ibid

... dered to be sufficient to satisfy ... an, 10 Conn 11, Williams J said ...

... writing by such a person filed before ... was held to be inadmissible in evidence as ... Jagat Lal v Jogeshar, 25 A 149 P C Before ... adm ... Queen v Gopalao 12 W R Cr ... C 236 = 3 C W N 53 So also ... witness who has been fully examined and cross examin... the suit In such a case ... for the admission of the previous statement made by the witness ... Kusum Kumari 46 Ind Cas 929 = 5 Pat L J 161 Where a person making a dying declaration chances to live, his statement is not admissible Emperor v Ram Sattu, 1 Bom L R 434

Who cannot be found ... is in effect unavailable f... disappearance is shown by ... search The only objectio... the possibility of collusion between ... to be satisfied that there had bee... bona fide, this objection loses its forc... find a witness, then he is as if were dead ... may be read "so as the party make oath that he did his endeavour to find witness, but that he could not see him nor hear of him" Anon Godbold 3 ... In Oates Trial 10 How St Tr 1227, 1285, Oates "My lord, I will then produce what he swore at another trial ; L C J Jeffereys "Why, where is he? Is he dead?" Oates "My lord, it has cost a great deal of money to search him out; but I cannot anywhere meet with him and that makes my case so much worse that I cannot, when I have done all that man can do to get my witness ... , when I thought my trial would ... ar of him ' L C J, "Look ye ... use to admit of any ... we will indulge you so f... found within the juris... residence or in the country is not sufficient Thomas v ... 174 ; Pope v State, ... making a dying declaration chances to live, his statement cannot be admitted in evidence as dying declaration under s 32 of the Evidence Act, but it may be relied on, under s 157 of the Evidence Act, to corroborate the testimony of the complainant when examined in the case Emperor v Rama Sattu, 4 Bom L R 131

Incapable to give evidence. In a murder case one of the witnesses for the evidence

rded is Samaobserv-during l he his section aning of as been fully discussed

for the sale
by plain accounts to se account ritten statements of relevant facts made by persons whose attendance could not be procured without unreasonable delay and expense, such statements having been made in the ordinary course and written or signed 238 But the mere is not a ground for ad previous statement made by him on the ground that his evidence cannot be procured without unreasonable delay or expense Kadappa v Tirupathi, 86 Ind Cas 576=21 L W 210=A I R 1925 Mad 111 Vide also under section 33

CLAUSE I.

Dying declarations—Principle of Admission The grounds of admission of dying declarations are (1) death, (2) necessity, for the victim being generally the only eye witness to such crimes, and (3) the sense of impending death, which creats a sanction equal to the obligations of death R v Woodcock, 1 Leach 500 (504); R. v Perry, (1909) 2 K B 697, Phip Ev 308

The injured person being dead, ary proof, the testimony of these ances the charge could scarcely be made out except by th facts of the transactions of the real facts The received unless there is to be a failure or miscarriage of justice While these

S 32 is considered by the law as creating an obligation equal to that which is imposed by a positive oath administered in a Court of Justice." Per Eyre C B in R v Woodcock, 1 Leach 500 501 "Taking men as they are at present the world as ... the guarantees for truth telling in case of ... so high as early administration was ... ument in favour of the establishment of the exception that a sense of impending death created a sanction equivalent to the administration of an oath may be conceded Is it quite certain however that the sanction of the oath remains the same at the present time as in earlier days? Changes in religious ... a growing disbelief in the once universally accepted doctrine of eternal ... themselves registered in ... Yet, regardless of the fact ... punishment is still insisted on ... no period of its use have the result ... Perjury has always been a curse of judicial administration ... So ... keener than the ... Even ... the ... therefore ... a species of ext... under which ... an oath is by ... truth telling ... judicial service —Chamberlayne's Ev § 2819

Dying declarations when admissible under English Law A declaration made by a declarant as to the cause of his death or as to any of the circumstances of the transaction which resulted in his death is deemed, to be relevant only in trials for murder ... and only when the declarant is shown to the sat... of death and to have given ... ation was made Steph Dig Ev Art 26 So declarations are ... upon charges other than homicide or as to homicides other than that of the declarant The deceased must be proved to the satisfaction of the Judge to ... in actual danger of death ... v ... Eli ... 309 Sus ex Pr ... 0, R v Pirray, (1909) 2 K B ... de So the application of the ... is strictly and absolutely limited to cases in which the death of the person who made the declaration is the subject of enquiry, or is part of the same transaction R v Mead 2 B & C 605 So dying declaration is not admissible on an indictment of perjury Ibid So when on an indictment ... administering savin to a woman pregnant but not quick with child ... intent to procure ... declaration was ... (the woman being ... the declaration might ... were adm... of enquiry ... L J M ... has been ... are also ... 337 In ... in a cake, ... and his maid servant who was present and had made the cake, ... not afraid of it, and thereupon ate of it, and was in consequence poisoned and died Her dying declarations (made after she knew of her master's death and was conscious of her own approaching death) as to the manner in which she had made the cake, and that she put nothing bad in it and that the prisoner was present eating his breakfast at one end of the table while she was making the cake at the other end of it, were tendered in evidence, and objected to on the ground that the only person whose dying declarations could be received in evidence was the person whose death formed the subject of enquiry at the trial But Coltman J after consulting Parke B admitted the evidence on the ground

32, S. ch
be

to
the eath [Sussex
R. v Perry,
, i e. was in
Leach 500.
s of persons
son making such declaration
an account to his Alderson B said
he is in the san sanction of an oath
ed equal to an oath, but they are nevertheless open to observation For though the evidence of such declarant inadmissible ' If the above conditions concur, it is immaterial under the English law that the declarant lingered for several days, or even weeks (R v Bernadotti, 11 Cox 316, R v Craven 1 Low 77) or of the name of Edwards, very much been recently executed for a high way he had

of the consider-Villette's knowledge upon this subject had proceeded from the solemn declaration of a dying man, it was admissible evidence in favour of the prisoner The Court observed "It would be inconsistent with the rules of evidence which are rules of justice, to examine a witness to the declaration of a person dying under the circumstances described received is, that the mind
, acts under a sanction el by a solemn appeal to ined convict, would be carrying the rule of evidence beyond its possible extent, even if the person were alive, for as an attainted convict, he could not have been admitted to give testimony upon oath, and the dying declarations of such a person cannot, consistently with the principles of justice, be considered as better evidence than his testimony on oath would have been if he had been alive. The fact, however, that a man resembling the person of a prisoner was executed, may be g prob

the w satisfied', and be inadmissible.
they were made
F & F 857;
owell, 1 Den 1
Danger existed
The deceased clearly thought he was dying, and had no hope of recovery,

S. 32. There is no ground for holding his declaration inadmissible' In a trial for murder a written declaration of the deceased made under the following circumstances was tendered in evidence for the prosecution; the declaration had been made on oath to a Magistrate's clerk about thirteen hours before death, the clerk asked the deceased before he took down her statement whether she thought she was likely to die; she said ' I think so from shortness of my breath', her breath was then extremely short, the clerk said, "Is it with the fear of death before you that you make these statements? Have you any present hope of your recovery" She said, None' The clerk then wrote out her statement and added to it the above conversation in the form of a statement by the deceased, but he omitted the word "present before "hope" He then read over to the deceased what he had written, and she then added the words 'at present' after "hope and signed the declaration It was held that the statement was not admissible in evidence, as it did not appear to have been made under a settled hopeless expectation of death, inasmuch as the deceased had expressly qualified the words 'no hope' by inserting after them the words "at present" R v Jenkins (1869) L R 1 C C R 187 Kelly C B in his judgment said "The result of the decisions is that there must be an unqualified belief in the nearness of death a belief without hope that the declarant is about to die. If we can look at reported cases and at the language of learned Judges we find that one has used the expression 'every hope of this world gone' (Per Eyre C B in R v Woodcock, 1 Lea C C at p 502), another "settled hopeless expectation of death' (Per Willes J in R v Peel, 2 F & F at p 22), another 'any hope of recovery, however slight' renders the evidence of such declarations inadmissible (Per Tindal J in R v Hayward, 6 C & P at p 160) We as Judges must be perfectly satisfied beyond any reasonable doubt that there was no hope of avoiding death. See also Will's Ev 196 There must be a belief ... indeed in an instant or immediate death (as held in R v Osman, 15 Cox 1 ... Lush L J and R v Mitchell, 17 Cox 503, per Cave J), but in an imminent ... impending, as distinguished from a deferred one (R v Perry, [1909] 2 K B ... R v Austin, 8 Cr App R 27), Phip Ev 309

History—English Law "This exception' to the rule against hearsay ... most of the others existed long before the rule itself, an example of ... occurring in ... Cr Seld Soc 11, 27; see also Plac Ab 1 ... and Cl. Glanv ... stances of its admission ... the establishment ... 6 How ... 1333-4. Dow ... declarations ... in the case of civil ... Dryden 1 M & W 615 629) Thayer ... Ed) 349 360, Salmond's Essays 52, Wigmore Ev ... Ed 305

Difference between English and Indian Law In England dying declarations are admissible in criminal cases in the single instance of homicide, that is murder or manslaughter where the death of the deceased is the subject of the charge, and circumstances of the death are subject of the declarations, ... Anglo Ind Code Vol II 32... see also 1 East P C 353, R v Mead, 2 B ... 605, R v Hind, Bell 253 R v Hutchison 2 B & C 608. The observations of the Court in Stobart v Dryden 1 M & W 613, render it very doubtful whether dying declarations would be admissible in civil proceedings ... Cr. 2084, 1 Phill Ev 290; Taylor Ev 10th Ed § 714. But in India they are admissible in civil suits as well as in criminal prosecutions for rape or any other offence [Vide illustration (a)] This illustration is probably based on ...

The earlier law admitted dying declaration in civil cases Jackson v Kniffen... burgh, 1 John 159 163 (1806) Thus it has been received where a subscribing witness being in extremis acknowledge the forgery ... will Wright v Littler 3 Burr 1244 (1761). So the statement of a dying w... with regard to the paternity of her child ... be have died with a ... her mouth and her ... in her hand" Douglas ... ise, 2 Harg Col ... 357, 35... (17...

In that case Parke B ... opinion ... which is now ... early exploded) that any ... remis was a ... n the ground that the solemnity of the occasion ... t to a declar...

S. 3

Bissorunjun Mookerjee, 6 W R. Cr. 75, Lalji v. Emperor, 6 P. 747, Queen v. Ujrail, 2 N. W P 212 In that case where in admitting dying declarations in a case of rape the Court consisting of Kemp and Markby JJ said. "It seems pretty certain that the law in England on the subject has been much narrowed of late years. There are instances in the older books in which dying declarations have been admitted in civil cases, and in no rule as laid down in Neither in the party making the statement is the apply with equal force to its admissibility in which dying declarations are admissible rant is in a less likely under the

put on a level with a deposition, technically so called, which is admissible in is it the reason why this evidence is admitted, but, even if it were so, that necessity is just as likely to exist where the deceased person has been robbed, or raped or assaulted, as where he has been murdered" see also Queen v Ujrail, 3 N W. P 212 In England, to render a dying declaration admissible, the declarant must have been in actual danger of death, he must have been fully aware of this danger, and death must have ensued Taylor Ev § 718, Sussex Peerage Case, 11 Cl & F 108, R v Curtis, 21 T L R 87, R v Woodcock, 1 Leach, 500, R v Osman 15 Cox 1; R v Gloster, 16 Cox 471, R v Forester, It is not necessary

John, 1 East P C 337; R v Woodcock 1 Leach 500; R v Morgan, 14 Cox. 337 But in India the statem was or was not at the time when v Digamber, 19 W R Cr 44, v Premananda, 52 C 987=29 C dying declarations for under s facts made by persons who are dead are themselves relevant facts when the statement is made by a person as to the cause of his death and as to the nature which its are ho are

S. 32. examined in Court before the presiding Judge S 32 provides an exception to ... ce must be given in Court by ... ne sea ... 1932 Lah 14 Before the passing of the Indi ... India was somewhat on the point that of I ... t XXV of 1861, the declaration of a deceased ... the deceased, at the time of making such declaration, believed himself to be in danger of approaching death although he ... 29 of Act II ... shall be recei ... declaration, and then thought himself to be in the danger of approaching death,' etc "Both these enactments, then required that, before a dying declaration is received in evidence, it should be proved that the person making it ...

statement shall be received in ev ... Tinoo 15 W R 11 at p 13 see ... 76, R v Syumber Singh, 9 W ... point even with the English law ... entertain no hope of recovery ... (XXV of 1861) and the old Evi ... tained a hope of recovery By the present Act it matters not whether ... existed even any exception of death at the time of making the declaration ... Ev 175; Empress v Blechynden, 6 C L R 278 A dying declaration made at the time when a person is in a precarious condition does not cease to be ... and become inadmissible under s 32 of the Evidence Act merely because ... few days more Thakur Singh v E ... =A I R 1929 Lab 64 According ... declarations are admissible when ... on died in a hospital after being assaulted ... o the injuries but was caused by pneumonia ... s, held that the dying statement of such person is not admissible in evidence in a trial of the person who assaulted the deceased under s 324 Wali Mohammed v Emperor, 126 Ind Cas ... 31 Cr L J 1903=A I R 1930 Oudh 249 So also where a woman who was alleged to have been raped and who committed suicide three days after the incident was proved to have made a statement shortly after the rape to one of her relations. Held that the rape not being the cause of death her statement was not admissible in evidence under s 32 (1) Kappinaiah v Emperor, A. I R. 1931 Mad ... 1930 M W N 702.

the necessit ... from any ... i e the dec' ... wrong ass... ... to the cause of ...

(o) Its limitations are heresies of the last century which have no ... sanction of antiquity They should be wholly abolished by legislation ... Ev § 1436

Subject matter of dying declaration A declaration made by a declarant S. 3

Pt 509 The deceased declarant must be the person whose death is subject of the charge R v Mead 2 B & C 605, R v Hind, 8 Cox 300=23 L J M C 117 In R v Mead, the dying declaration of Law after giving an account of the circumstances under which he was shot by Mead, proceeded to negative his having been present at, or having had any concern whatever in, the smuggling transaction deposed to delivering the judgment cannot be received
ed to a confession by the party himself of a very heinous offence he had committed The same observation applies to the case of Wright v Tettler, 3 of the charge, and the circumstances of the death the subject of the dying declaration ' See also R v Hutchison, 2 B & C 608 (notes) R v Murton 3 F & F 492 So the statements of a deceased person made prior to his death as to the cause of his death, or as to any of the circumstances of transaction which brought about his death are relevant as against all the accused Mama v Crown 67 P L R 1905=2 Cr L J 237; see also Hur v Emperor 81 Ind Cas 964=4 Lah 151 Wali Mahomed v Emperor 126 Ind Cas 511=A I R 1930 Oudh 749 The reason of the rule is thus stated by Kingman, C J in State v Lohan, 15 Kan 418 Mr Pelfield states that this evidence is not received upon any other ground than that of necessity, in order to prevent murder going unpunished Its admission can be justified only on an extent, where the death of any one else than the declarant is the subject of the inquiry, as to justify the adoption of rule admitting such testimony ' So the declaration may not concern any and all topics It must concern facts leading up to or causing or attending the injurious act which has resulted in the supposed necessity for the foregoing limitations it will as introduced by Serjeant

East in Pleas of the Crown Vol I p 353, where he said Besides the usual evidence of guilt in general cases of felony there is one kind of evidence more particular to the case of homicide which is the declaration of the deceased after the mortal blow as to the fact itself and the party by whom it is committed Evidence of this sort is admissible in this case on the fullest necessity, for it present to be an eye witness to the n of other felonies namely, the party o further and equally necessary results

(1) If the killing was not secret, or if other and adequate testimony as to the circumstances of the death is at hand nevertheless the dying declaration is admissible even though in strictness it is not needed

(2) Where the fact of the killing is conceded the dying declaration under the spurious principle is by hypothesis unnecessary, nevertheless, this result is not recognized, the declaration is admitted even where the killing is conceded Wigmore § 1435

Where in committing a dacoity the dacoits caused the death of a person the latter's dying declaration as to what was done by those concerned in the dacoity, in which the murder was caused was held to be not only relevant against the person who actually caused the death but also against those concerned in the dacoity In re P Subbu Tevan, 2 Weir 750, see also R. v Baker, 2 M & R. 53

S. 32. The dying declaration must the mouth of a witness—e g, I Tay Ev § 720, R. v Sellers, Carr be, it must be complete in itself; to qualify it by other statements, which he is prevented by any cause from making, it will be received Taylor Ev § 621. Section 32(1) does not cover only statement made by the person when he is dying from the result of the injury which caused his death but also covers the statement, as to the circumstances of the transaction which r causing the death was inflicted 50 B 683=28 Bom L R 10
1924 Nag=115, Emperor v Faiz, 20 P R 1916 Cr.=35 Ind Cas 998=41 P L R 1917, but see Autar Singh v The Crown, 1 Lah 451=A I R 1924 Lah 253, where it was held that dying declarations are statements made by a dying person as to the injuries which have brought him to that condition or the circumstances under which the injuries were inflicted and as such, statements person and that treatment is the cause though not the direct cause of the dea the whole affair, ill treatment and subsequent suicide, forms one transaction and, therefore, statements, made by the deceased, as to the cause of his death are admissible in evidence under section 32 (1) of the Evidence Act Emperor v Faiz 35 Ind Cas 998=20 P R 1916 Cr =17 P L R 1917. The motive for a crime is of course a rele Where the statement reference to the motive it cannot be deemed of the circumstances of tl admissible under s. 8(1) any act of the deceased d her make the statement Venkatsu )31 Mad 689 Where the deceased, who had having wounded him stated that another u ed, held that such statement was not adm 17 P R 1901 Cr In the proceedings before a M witnesses,

prosecution

42=8 C L R. 273 A statement of a witness as to what he heard from and not by Surendra Nath, 574=28 C 39 necessity, i. e that the injured perso witness and so is likely to know more or as much about the circumstances of his death than or as any other person So this doctrine does not apply where the object of the trial is to ascertain whether certain persons are the dacoits or not—a matter which has nothing to do with the declarant's death Nga Te v King Emperor, 20 Ind. Cas 90=14 Cr L J 510

. 25 Cr. L J. 29. "The cases all S. 3 a case where the evidence would observed by him, the in by the jury so that the witnesses' inferences become superfluous Now since

Ev § 2849, see also Hanely v Comm, 5 Cr Law Mag 47; R v Scaife, 1 M. & R 551.

Scope of declaration—Emotion excluded. The dying declaration must be fore, be cannot
for the
is free er have accused Cham-berlayne's Ev. § 2850.

the a
officer
ment in respect thereto is therefore admissible, where deceased was in a position to know the truth Indeed, even where a certain element or degree of inference is necessarily present, e g, where the assailant is masked, or in ambush the fact absent, and the evidence as contained in the dying declaration will be rejected In the absence, however, of evidence on the point, intrinsic or extrinsic the

the statement should directly charge the accused with being the assailant Where dying declaration was as to the identity of the accused, it was held that the declarant might be impeached by showing that the deceased was in the habit of mistaking her friends for persons whom they did not resemble Chamberlayne's Ev § 2851

Scope of dying declaration—Inference So far as practicable, administration confines the dying properly take were he a witne or judgment, is to be excl employing it Very plain c statement by the deceased that he had been told such was his intention The mental state of a third person is not subject to direct observations The statement of a dying declaration in regard thereto may therefore be rejected as an inference The declarant's own mental state, being a subject upon which he might properly testify as a witness, may, however, be established in this way A sufficient adminis-

S. 32. trative necessity for accepting an inference or conclusion in a dying declaration is furnished where a large number of minute phenomena, often so intangible and interblending as to forbid effective individual statement, are given by the declarant in the form of a collective fact, often the only way in which the speaker can well express himself Thus a declarant may properly state that a given shooting was an 'accident' or that he had been 'butchered' by the mal practice of a doctor, and so forth Chamberlayne's Ev. §§ 2832, 2833

Testimonial qualification of the are admissible only as to matters to if sworn in the case Taylor Ev declaration of a child of such te doctrine of a future state was rejected See also R v Drummon 1 Leach 338, R v P
Donnelly v
witness wou
in People v same footing as the testimony of a witness sworn in the case, and are governed by must have h he relates I ham are not where a Court could npetent wa

under s, 118 of the Evidence Act Samaidin v King Emperor, 5 O C 246 time or by conviction of crime, or by subsequent or prior inconsistent st Wigmore § 1446 In State v Thawley, 4 Harringt. Del 562 general evidence of the declarant s intemperate habits and of his low state of health at the ti himself responsible for his own death or that the fatal result was ca accident or, as the earlier law used to say, by misadventure, may be within t proper scope of a dying declaration and even add to its probative force. To b received in evidence a self-disserving statement must, however, fulfil the c tions laid down for the reception of a dying declaration Chamberlayne's Ev §§ 2816, 2817

Form of dying declaration The f ... in making a been inflicted on her, that she was at that time unable to speak, but was conscious and able to make signs. Evidence was offered by the prosecution and admitted by the Sessions Judge, to prove the questions put to the deceased, and the signs made by her in answer to such questions. Held by the Full Bench (Mahmood J dissenting) that the questions and the signs taken together might properly be regarded as "verbal statements" made by a person as to the cause of her death within the meaning of s. 32 of the Evidence Act, and were therefore admissible in evidence under that section. Queen Empress v. Abdulla, 7 A 385 (F. B)

nods mind nod mber- se to questions put, it is admissible in evidence. In such cases, however, the statement should be a true record of what in point of fact occurred, and should bear on its face the questions put and the nature of the gesticulation made in response. Bulla v Empress, 2 P R 1886 Cr. Where a person whose throat had been cut as a result of which death ensued later, made certain gestures in reply to questions put by the police. Held, the gestures were admissible in evidence. The interpretation of the gesture is for the Court alone and the opinion of witnesses as to their meaning is not evidence. Chandrika v Emperor 1 Pat 401=3 Pat L T 771=(1922) P 535=71 Ind Cas 353. Where shortly after the deceased had received the injury a Magistrate proceeded to record her dying declaration in the hospital and although she could not speak in answer to questions put to her pointed out the accused as the assailant. Held that questions and answers taken together might properly be regarded as verbal statements made by a person as to the cause of her death within the meaning of section 32 of the Evidence Act and were therefore admissible. Emperor v Sadhu Churn, 26 C W N 111=49 C 600=A I R 1922 Cal 109=77 Ind Cas 993; see also Ranga v

Ev § 152 (b), Mocabi

Steele, 12 Cox Cr C

Patchatt his story, then when dying and being asked what happened, he said, "Tell him, Patchatt" and Dr Patchatt reported the story in declarant's presence. In admitting it 'himself'

declaration

a deceased

shown by the witness to have reference to the infidelity of deceased's wife. Chamberlayne's Ev § 2811. So it is clear that dying declarations may be communicated by any adequate method of communication whether by words or by signs or otherwise provided the indication is positive and definite, and seems to proceed from an intelligence of its meaning. Wigmore § 1445 nd answer is not admis and so must the questions seem to me to be useless been made for another purpose as the message to the wife of the injured man. No requirement is imposed, for example that the declaration should all have the deceased to give out names of certain accused ... unsafe to attach any weight to such a dying statement. Bishan Singh v Crown, 8 L L J 296=96 Ind Cas 215 27 P L R 181=27 Cr L J 903=A I R 1926 Lah. 196.

First Information Report The First Information Report is admissible under this section as a dying declaration where it is the statement of a person

32. who is since [illegible] which resulted in death Ka[illegible] J 475=A I R. 1930 Lah [illegible]; Gayan Singh v Emperor, A. I R 1931 Lah 103=1931 Cr C 167.

[illegible] ing declaration is admissible A [illegible] admissible even when the charge is [illegible] of [illegible]

of l [illegible]

[illegible] Evidence Act [illegible] R Cr 75, that [illegible] of English [illegible]

A dying [illegible] charged with the offence of homicide Dusadh v Emperor, 6 Pat [illegible] Cas 698=29 Cr L J 106=A I R. 1928 Pat 162.

Dying declarations made by an accomplice The dying declaration of an accomplice is admissible where the prisoner is charged with assisting the accomplice to commit suicide. R v Smith, (1897) 18 Cox 470, R. v Bexley, (1906) 70 J P 263, R. v Stevens, (1904) 4 N S W State Rep 727; Russ Cr 2051 R v Tinckler, 1 East P C 353 In R. v Jessop, 16 Cox. 204, on an indictment charging with murder the survivor of two persons who had agreed to commit suicide together, Field J admitted statements by the deceased, made when purchasing poison in the absence of the prisoner, on the ground that the acts and words of the deceased in carrying out a pre arranged plan were evidence against the prisoner Dying declarations in favour of the party charged with [illegible] an influence on the [illegible] 2 Lew 150, Archbold's [illegible] accomplice, as in an [illegible] v Sadler, (1911) [illegible] accomplice incriminat[illegible] admissible under the [illegible] clause but is admissible under clause (3) Sheik Shafi v Emperor, A. I R 1930 Nag 259=124 Ind Cas 459=31 Cr L J 661; see also Umra v. Emperor, A I R 1925 P C 52=6 Lah 45=52 I A 121 P. C.

Proof of dying declaration A dying declaration may be either verbal or written A verbal dying declaration recorded by a Magistrate cannot be accepted in evidence, when it has not been proved by taking the statement of the Magistrate Sha [illegible] v Crown, 17 P R 1911 [illegible] 1912=14 Cr L J 131 [illegible] 18 Ind Cas 883 When what purpo[illegible] person is not taken down by the com[illegible]

[illegible] Haider Ali, S C 29 [illegible] the dying declaration of a deceased p[illegible] [illegible]stable is admissible in evidence un[illegible] [illegible] is to put in the document itself and [illegible] [illegible]ot to allow him to give evidence orally as to [illegible] C P L R Cr 14. So a dying declaration [illegible] [illegible]ertified in Court that he had recorded it [illegible] proof of its own contents, and it is unnecessary that the person who recorded it should repeat exactly what was said [illegible] Singh v Emperor, 7 Lah 91=92 Ind Cas 167=27 Cr L J 215=A I R. 1926 Lah 310, Emperor v. Balaram Das, 49 C 358=A I R. 1922 Cal 332

Wh[illegible] may arise whether it is his narration [illegible] ed or otherwise approved it after [illegible] may be offered as his declaration [illegible] the written statement of the pers[illegible] The dying statement of a deceased [illegible] accused; if not so taken, the writing cannot be admitted to prove the statement made The statement may be proved in the ordinary way by a person who heard it, and the writing may be used for the purpose of refreshing the witness's memory Empress v Samiruddin 8 C 211, Sarat Chandra v Emperor, 52 C 116=88 Ind Cas 860=26 Cr L J 1211=A. I R. 1925 Cal 821 A declaration made by a person in expectation of relevant fact to be proved was the statement made by the deceased person admissible under section 32 of the Evidence Act That statement is not the document

n
rd
n
section 512
by the oral
g at liberty

to refresh his memory by referring to the note made by him or read over by him at or about the time the statement was made I would lay stress upon this because in many cases irregularities of this nature have led to a miscarriage of justice or to great delay in the trial of cases I may note that the record by the Magistrate is in English It clearly does not contain the exact words used by the accused which alone would detract considerably from its value as a true

v. Emperor, 67 Ind Cas 577=23 Cr L J 417=1 U P L R (L) 43 Gowridas v Emperor, 2 Ind Cas 841=36 C 659=13 C W N 680=10 Cr L J 186 A dying declaration was recorded in the presence of a witness, read over to the deceased in the presence of the witness and admitted by the deceased to be correct If the witness, who heard that statement swears that the written statement correctly reproduces the words used by the deceased, that is sufficient to prove that the deceased did use the words contained in that statement Emperor v Balaram 49 C 358=(1922) A I R 38? A dying declaration recorded, in the absence of the accused, by a Magistrate, who held the enquiry preliminary

289 P L R 1912=18 Ind Cas 883 The proper method of proving the oral stat... heard it that... otes he mad... r L J 243 ... 1129 In ... should rep... ent if

S. 32. the presence of the witness, the witness would be entitled to refresh his memory if he so wanted, by referring to such writing; otherwise the writing itself is not relevant unless it is in the nature of a deposition taken in the presence of the accused Where the deceased dictated his statement and it was taken down and he then signed the statement after being satisfied as to its accuracy such writing may be regarded as a statement of the deceased in writing admissible under s 32 of the Evidence Act But even if what was stated was taken down by some one in writing a witness who heard the
And ordinarily it would to reproduce from memory what he heard the deceased stated in addition to R 1870, se made by t

the accused Magistrate,
dence Act,
the stateme
stated therei
be verbal o with the questions have been held to be verbal statements If written precise statements made should be proved either by the person who recorded or by some one who ... Magistrate mere signature
there must be dying declarat examined at th deceased also and the dying
person who re
there can be no
was not read
inadmissible
M L J 404 Although a dying declaration is not recorded in writing evidence of what the deceased said is receivable In re Hanumadu 2 Weir 7...
... also ... 1921, Kusal Singh In re Weir 753, ... A statement made by the deceased t... , cannot be used in either
... ied as a witness Lachmi v Emperor, 3 Ist A statement of a deceased person as to
... in case of his not having a ...
... jag Kumari v Sita Prosad, 12 C L J ...
95 Ind Cas 355 Dying declaration of one dacoit about circumstances of dacoity is not admissible against other dacoits Dannu Singh v Emperor, 85 Ind Cas 613—26 Cr L J 517 = A I R 1925 All 227

Section 164 of the Criminal Procedure The deceased made a full statement, about an assault which resulted in his death, before a Third Class Magistrate The statement was not taken into consideration by the Session
... not competent to
... Jodh. H B J at
... ... v E... ...
... statements made by
... where the case
... Magistrate who recorded the statements was empowered under s. 164 is immaterial Rahman v. Emperor, 131 Ind. Cas. 117 = 32 Cr L J 1118. S.

Rule of Preferring Written Testimony. "The principles which determine whether a written report of another person's statement is to be preferred to oral examination; for such a person has no duty or authority by law to report dying declarations, and it would be solely by virtue of an express duty that a Magistrate's report could be preferred to other witnesses (b) When a written memorandum or report thus made is read over to the declarant and signed or assented to by him, the writing thus becomes a second distinct declaration by him. The first oral statement is not merged in the latter written one, because,

(c) Where the declarant makes one oral statement, and afterwards at another time a second statement, the latter being in writing or reduced to writing, there are here two distinct statements, and either one may be offered without testifying to the other; for the principle of completeness requires only that the whole of a single utterance should be offered together, and in the present instance the

theless making

It is thus clear

written one has been proved; (2) that, even before or without proving the written one, the separate oral ones are admissible—though on the latter point the Courts are not always explicit' Wigmore § 1450, see also R v Reason and Tranter 16 How St Tr 83 In that case Pratt L C J said 'You know in the Court of Chancery when the party is examined on his oath, he gives in a first answer the same person that enquired of him before, and all this is done in order to perfect and consummate the examination whether you will not take them both together as one entire account given by the deceased?' In the same case Fortescue J observed "I think we should allow what was said at other times to be given in evidence, because the first is no examination, because no Justice of the Peace was then present, so that the examination stands distinctly by itself' The opinion of Fortescue J prevailed Wigmore § 1450

Evidence Act, to corroborate his evidence Emperor v. Ram Sattu, 4 Bom L R 431

. 32. Stage at which dying declaration should be made The necessity of recording a dying declaration arises only when the hopes of life of the man are given up. Upendra v Emperor, 129 Ind. Cas. 676=32 C L J 425

English and American ... following (1) The ... all deceit'. There ... be furthered (2) If a belief ... Higher Power upon human ill doing, the fear of this punishment will outweigh any possible motive for the p... tion, and will even counter balance the inclination to gratify a possible spirit of revenge (3) Even without such a belief there is a natural and instinctive awe

... to be shown (profane language) was important in another point of view It strikes at the very foundation of the reasons upon which dying declarations are admitted at all There are certain guarantees of the truth of dying declarations, growing out of the solemnity of the time and circumstances under which they are made . It was clearly the right of the accused to show . . that the deceased in making the statement was not in that frame of mind which the law presupposes and requires in such cases that the deceased was in a reckless irreverent state of mind and entertained feelings of ill will ... towards the accused"

Secon... then... state... child... in her mind could have had that idea of a future state which is necessary ...

... was received ... heaven if he told the truth" ... under English and American law Vide Woodcock's Case, Leach Cr ... Nicholas ... "When I ... rule of ... the Jury I think I ought not ... fully convinced that the deceased was in suc... appears from the ... recover, as he was ... kind who have no conviction that their death is near approaching, and that ... very near, and that ... of his ...

I think there is no sufficient proof that he was without any hope ... and that I, therefore, ought to reject the evidence." But even in cases where ... the guarantees of the trustworthiness of dying declarations are present, we must receive it with certain degree of caution It may be seldom that a dying the his or ack rk- by ury

generally given by relatives and friends of the deceased who had watched by his bed side, and bias in his favour is to be expected And even if given by police officers it should be carefully scanned The declarations are liable to be misunderstood, and to be reported by an unfaithful memory, especially if much time has elapsed since they were made, and the evidence goes to the jury with mind emotions of deep sympathy against the accused There is credulous of the entire integrity of clarant is apt to make his own ...se and to be rid of the importunity and annoyance of those around him, he may say whatever they choose to suggest So, too, as respects the declarant's statements, it is to be remarked that many persons, even in serious conversation, assert as facts those things of which they have only strong convictions and not knowledge derived from senses If the declarant related his opportunities for observing the facts stated and they appear to be ample, this would add to the repeated his statements rationally and speech " Moore's Weight and Value o, After a dying declaration, or any other e to be given to it is a matter exclusiv not believe it, ' by rules of law to have been c though they do suppose him to have been thus conscious they may still not believe the statement to be true In other words, their cannons of ultimate belief are not necessarily the same as the preliminary legal conditions of admissibility whose purpose is an entirely different one Wigmore § 1451 In deciding as to its credibility the jury should consider all the evidence in the case, including any which may have come to their attention during the preliminary hearing on voir dire The credit which the jury may be disposed to give may one of fact, on the So, as to whether a duress is a question for them The jury may reasonably find that the probative force of the dying declaration is increased by the fact that the speaker is not possessed in favour of his own side of the contention The facts stated in a dying declaration thus seem to be not conclusive upon the jury Chamberlayne's Ev 2858

Weight for the Jury—Impeachment When the statement of a witness previously made is used as evidence under the provisions of this section then any other statement made by that witness can be used by virtue of s 158 for the purpose of contradicting that witness as if such witness had appeared in Court

S. 32 is clearly within the rights of the accused. The effect, however, of the most conclusive demonstration of the falsity of the dying statement in some particular as where the declarant enumerates among his assailants one who could not have been present, does not affect the adm[illegible] only its weight The accused may [illegible] declaration by showing that the [illegible] other times Niamat v Emperor, A. I R 1930 Lah 409=31 P L. R [illegible] Indeed, it is his right to establish that fact if it is within his power to do so The existence of such inconsistent statements, even that of a contradictory dying declaration does not warrant the rejection of a[illegible] in evidence or require that it be striken out, [illegible] probative efficiency of the latter Should it [illegible] may, relies upon a dying declaration of the d[illegible] to impeach the latter in any way appropriate to a witness For this purpose [illegible] may show, if it can that the declarant has made inconsistent or contradictory statements

The accused may at all times introduce evidence tending to show that the deceased was without a proper sense of moral accountability, or that a sense of impending death would fail to clear his mind of bitterness or falsehood leaving a controlling desire to tell the truth That he was in the habit of using profane or indecent language or suffered from other moral obliequities e g, the habit of drinking intoxicants to excess, may be shown Conviction of crime may be a relevant fact in such a connection Similarly, while evidence is not admissible to establish the general bad character of the deceased, the accused may prove as he might in case of a witness, that th[illegible] believed and that this reputation for truth [illegible] where he resided That the actual state [illegible] accused at the time of making his statement was one of great animosity, recklessness and thirst for revenge is also a relevant fact Lack of belief in a future state of rewards and punishments naturally affects, as has been noticed the [illegible] [illegible]arant and the fact may be [illegible] the credibility of his state[illegible] Disbelief of such a nature will not be assumed but must be affirmatively shown. Chamberlayne's Ev §§ 2864, 2865, 2866.

Mental state of the declarant. To enable the jury properly to judge of the probative force of a dying declaration, the jury are entitled to be fully informed of the circumstances under which it was made Prominent among these is the mental condition of the declarant. This they are entitled to view from all angles, reaching a conviction of their own as to an actual sense of impending death experienced by the declarant at the time of making his statement and as [illegible]

[illegible] declaration to be admissible, must have been the utterance of a s[illegible] Chamberlayne's Ev § 2867.

Value of [illegible] value of dying declarations in [illegible] nanda, 29 C [illegible] important · 'In the case of a dying declaration which by the law of [illegible] assumes a character very widely different from what it is under the English Law, which is relevant under the Evidence Act, whether the person who made it was or was not at the time when it was made under expectation of death, and the weight to [illegible] expectation of death which is a guarant[illegible] which it w[illegible] made of it, [illegible]

S.

be relied upon or not" So statements made by a dying man relating to the cause of his death are admissible in evidence against person causing his death, but too much reliance cannot be placed upon the details of such statements as they are hearsay Emperor v. Sadhu Bena, 76 Ind Cas 389 It is not safe to base a conviction on the uncorroborated dying declaration of a deceased person, for it is well known that the inhabitants of the Punjab will often in a dying declaration not only accuse the actual offenders but will also include the names of other enemies. Bakhshish Singh v Emperor, 86 Ind Cas 826 = A I R 1925 Lah 519, see also Stephen's History of Cr Law Mr Justice Stephen also said known in the Peshawar division that a dying declaration as to the cause of the declarant's death is admitted in proof of the matter stated The effect of this was that whenever a man was mortally wounded, and found himself dying

This is very far indeed from the way in which a dying Punjabee looks at the subject His ... of doing ... ns it' ... When ... alue of his dying dec ... as 322 'Dying declar ... rule in England Very often the murdered man himself, before his death implicates every male member of his su

... n Madappa Kone, ... trustworthy dying ... of the faculties and proved by the clearest and most reliable evidence to be the exact words of the person making it, and corroborated by the surrounding circumstances, is sufficient to support a conviction for murder under s 302 I P Code Karim Khan v Crown, 4 P W R 1909 Cr = 9 Cr L J 156 = 1 Ind Cas 100 But a Court sh ... violence ... confusion ... deceased

Crown, 117 P R 1866, Sher Ali v Crown, 8

202 N Y 494 (500) Much weight must be given to the dying declaration recorded by the Magistrate where it is supported by the consistent evidence led on behalf of the prosecution Sawan Singh v Emperor 10 Lah L J 281 It ... cts itself in its various ... for the sake of argument ... such declaration is for all practical purposes negligible Inayat Ali v Emperor, 108 Ind Cas 526 =

32.

dent corroboration of facts and circumstances to prove that offence Ballu Singh v Emperor, A I. R 1929 Pat 249 In England questions of admissibility arise chiefly with respect to the mental condition of the declarant. To make such declaration admissible in England there must be a "settled hopeless expectation of death not qualified by any prospect of recovery, however slight. In India they are n . under the section ;

h, that statement is relevant not entitled to particular after the occurrence it may for his friend to suggest falsehood But if the man is in bed in hospital for four days after the event and a month before he dies and makes a statement, that statement carries no more weight than if he made it in the witness box, and rather less, because he has never been cross examined Under these circumstances it is incumbent on the ... corroborated Dying ... regarded as ... to questions, ... & P 238, ... 711, R. v Bottomley, 118 L T 88; R v Fitzpatrick, 46 Ir L T 173 ... But in R v Mitchell, 17 Cox C C 503, Cave J said "Where a statement is not the ipsissima verba of the person making it but is composed of a mixture of questions and answers, there are several objections open to its reception in evidence, which ... in cases in which the person has no oppor... may be leading qu... declaration there is ... without their force and effect being freely comprehended In such circum... what the form of the declaration should be such ... was the question and what was the answ... suggested by the examining Magistrate and how much was ... person making it ' See also R. v ... Smith, ... 17 T L R 552 On the other ha... the form of 311=115 L T J 88, Lawrence ... question and answer was admissible, although the answers only and not the questions had been taken down In R. v Corbitt, (1903) Queensland St. Rep ... Griffith C J said, that R v Mitchell, unsettled what had before been the law and followed R v. Smith saying further that it is not essential that a dying declaration should be proved by ... Pleadings 24th Ed ...

P ... Ind ... is ... to c ... the exact ... statement when W. N 72 ... d contains a note ... ed told the police Emperor v Sikandar, ... patric (1910) 16 Ir L T. R 173, it was ... the weight ... the examinat... gating a wit... the value and credibility of the declarations. Therefore, it is no objection to their admissibility that they were made in answer to leading questions, or obtained by pressing and earnest solicitation Russ Cr. 2092; R v Reason, 1 Str. 499; R. v Woodcock, 2 Leach. 51; R v Welburn, 1 East P. C. 358; R. v. Smith, L & C. 607, R. v. Steele, 12 Cox. 108, R v Whitmarsh, 62 J. P. 683, 711.

it mu
by the
he is 2092 expressed by the declarant; it must be complete as far as it goes. But it is immaterial how much of the whole affair of the death is related, provided the § 1448 Administration by no means requires that the extra judicial statement to appear, the dying declaration will be rejected as incomplete Chamberlayne's

26 Cr L J 1256 = 52 C 987 It must be taken as a whole and a portion of it cannot be allowed Rafiz v Emperor, A I R 1930 Cal 211 = 50 C L J 584; 22 M. L J 435 prisoner there seems no reason to doubt the propriety of admitting a dying declaration which is in favour of the prisoner Indeed, almost every case of man-slaughter, in which such declarations have been admitted, is an authority him, but rath

"Owing to for homicide
it has sometimes been argued that the declaration cannot be used by the accused But the argument has no foundation whatever, and has been generally repudiated' Wigmore Ev § 1452, see also Mattox v U S, 146 U S 151, Moore v. State, 12 Ala 767; People v Southern 120 Cal 645, Com v Bednorcilu, 264 Pa 124

Nature of dying declarations "Where statements are made by the deceased at different times, all may be proved as his dying declarations if all are administrative precedence over the remainder. And one among several written statements may be proved without producing the others Naturally, there is no

S. 32 preference between oral statements made under similar condition at diff t times' Chamberlayne's Ev § 2847

Dying d captured in i ration as to th
the circumstances causing his de ... admissible to prove his own participation in the dacoity but was not adm ... against the other accused Danna Singh v Emperor, L R 5 A 201 Cr When the declaration of a person wounded by the accused in committing dacoity was made on the 13th August 1899, and he died on the 20th of that month and there was no other evidence wounds received at his death, the High C in evidence Imperatr x v P dra 25 B 13=2 Bo L R 331 In a case of murder the staten presence of a head 1872, that section who made the state
tion of death Qu
certain statements relating to the cause of the the investigation of a criminal case, held, tl Bahawala v Empress, 17 P R 1886 Cr A was dying at the time he made it is a dying term and is admissible under this section, the lingered for six days afterwards and then died Thakar Singh v Emp A I R 1929 Lah 64=10 L L J 163 The statement of a deceased person was recorded in the absence of the accused Subsequently in the presence of the accused, the statement was read over and the accused were allowed to cross examine the dying person Held that the statement was not a dying deposition under s. 33 of the Evidence Act, and was not admissible under section 32 (1) unless it was proved by examining the Magistrate who recorded it or some one who heard it made Njo Po v Emperor, 14 Cr L J 396=20 Ind Cas 201 Bur L T 68 The statement of a deceased person that she was confined in the house of an accused, that H was keeping watch over her and that another accused had raped her on account of which she had become pregnant and that they were getting ready to give her medicine to miscarry and so to put an end to her life is admissible under s 32 (1), as a statement made by a person as to the circumstances of a transaction which resulted in her death in a case in which the cause of death comes into question Wahid Bux v Emperor A I R 19.. Sind 250

CLAUSE II

facts asserted oral declarations

C 277 ...
here ...
Engl ...

namely (i) the necessity th ... a person having personal knowledge, (ii) that it should entry of any collateral fact person entering it to record the Legislature, so that Co any evidence which falls within the terms of the present section ...
Ev 163

Principle. ... with clause (a) such evidence is admi ... ely, (1) the ... principle, and (2) ... of Trust ...

Necessity principle On the principle of Necessity this exception ... the use of statements by persons whose testimony, though not necessarily the sole evidence available on the subject, is yet the only testimony now available

S. 3

affords the greatest security for truth Their declarations verbal or written, must, however, sometime in order to prevent a f absconded and can no longer be traced, his extra judicial declaration made in the course of business or official duty will be received in evidence Chamberlayne's Ev § 2879 Section 32 provides that written or verbal statements made by a person who is dead or cannot be found are relevant facts in certain cases Rama Swami v Rama Nandan, 22 Ind Cas 627=(1914) M W N 240=1 L W 136.

ments fairly trustworthy

(1) The habit and system of making such a record with regularity calls for he influence of racies and to Dicas, 1 Bing
what is false, ly incurred

accuracy

(3) If, in addition to this, the entrant makes the record under a duty to an employer or other superior, there is the additional risk of censure and disgrace from the superi powerful and Tindal C J. sai
ould be likely hich the entry false would or Ev § 697, layne's Ev. §§
2888, 2892

32. Section 32 imposes restrictions upon the admissibility of statements made by persons who cannot be brought before the Court to give their own evidence. The object of those restrictions an principle of legal evidence being follows that where persons can be what they know at first hand of cross-examination. Where however witnesses cannot be brought before the Court, their previous statements are at best indirect evidence, of a kind that The conditions which , are imposed upon
s truth. As there is to be no chance of testing a man by cross examination his statement will not be admitted unless it has been made under conditions which, looking to the ordinary course of human affairs raise pretty strong presumptions that it was a true statement. Thus the whole scope and object of section 32 centre upon securing the highest degree of truth possible in the circumstances for the statement.' Per Beaman J in Sethna v Mirza 2 Bom L R. 1017 at p 1048.

Statement made in ordinary course of business. This clause provides that a written statement of a relevant fact made by a person who is dead is itself a relevant fact ordinary course of bu
the exact meaning more than one place
the existence of any course

4 Camp 193. The course plaintiff's counting house methodical cannot carry the So too by section 114 the Cou it thinks likel natural event
to the facts of public and p public busine
such a case was meant to or business, illustration (
its well known tran act on or trade. Aga in the explanat n to ection 47 it is sa per
in per me
of a broke
'Ag
course of Spinning
the Privy
118=4 C
in evidence
none of or (as in banks) from hour to hour as transactions take place. These said) are, I think regularly kept in the course of business.'

Having regard, then, to the above considerations there can, I think, be no doubt that the expression 'in the ordinary course of business' in section 32(2) must be read in the same sense. It may in one sense be true that it is in the ordinary course of business, for a mortgaged deed to contain recitals of the boundaries of the land mortgaged. But that would not make the recitals evidence. The question is, whether the mortgage deed itself is a statement made in the ordinary course of business. Looking at the particulars set out in clause (2) of section 32 the nature of the statements 'made in the course of business and looking at the sense in which the expression is apparently used in other sections ed deed executed by an fession, trade, or business' Act) of an agriculturist a v Bharmappa, 23 B 63 at pp. 65-67. In the same case Fulton J at p 70 observed 'It can hardly be said that the execution of a mortgage deed is an act done in the ordinary course of business. Doubtless when a person has determined to mortgage his land, the

v. Jeonandan, 13 C. W. N. 71) The phrase was apparently used to indicate the current routine of business, which was usually followed by the person

W. N 71.

been ford, course
the ex
v Rac
expre
of bus
Mass 481, State v Phair, 48 Vt 378; Dure v Sayer, 29 Me 119 So also in America and Englar
"This may be defined performed in one's mode of obtaining a l of doings kept merely for one's personal satisfaction, but it would not exclude admitted Similarly in R v Cope, 7 C & P 726, an endorsement of service on an order of the aldermen, the writer's duty being to serve orders and endorse

C L J 155 Where account books are admitted in evidence before the Commissioner under section 32 of the Evidence Act, as having been kept in the ordinary course of business by persons deceased, it is in the discretion of the Court to hold that they are sufficient evidence of the transaction to which the entries and 10 Bom L R. 81 unately died before 1 32 (2) of the Evidence Act as being statement made by a dead person in the ordinary course of business and in the discharge of his professional duty Mohan Singh v.

S. 32. Emperor, I L R 6 All 49=55 Ind Cas 647=26 Cr L J 551—A I R 19?5 All 413 Jama wasil baki, and Jamabandi papers can be admitted in evidence under this clause but it must be clear that the persons who made them are dead and that the papers were made in the ordinary course of business An entry as to the rate of rent cannot be distinguished from other entries therein as are not made

...

business one, nor even that it should be a secular one, it follows that a register marriages or the ... , is admissible Kennedy Doyle, 10 All Ma ... "An entry made in performance of a ... valuable than one made by clerk, or messenger or notary or attorney or solicitor, or a physician in the course of his secular occupation "

A deed of conveyance was tendered in evidence which purported to be the mark of G, as vendor, and which was duly attested by four witnesses however, denied that she had ever executed the deed, and said that the mark was not hers All the attesting witnesses were dead A witness was called who kn

...

11 B 690 In a suit to recover loss sustained on the sale by plaintiffs, of goods consigned to them by the defendant for sale by their London firm account sales are good prima facie evi... substantive evidence put fo...

...

26 Bom 253. Entries in ... jajman cannot be admitted under this section as the register is not of such a character as to enable the Court pronounce affirmatively ... the ordinary course of business Ma ... C)=16 M L J 511 ... mark is that of the executant is admissible in evidence under this clause the writer is dead and it is proved that the document is written by him. Lal ...

...

v Rangayan, A I R 1923 P 111=67 Ind Cas 57 Where a family pedigree was sought to be proved by books kept by a family chronicler, held that under section 32 (2) they would be admissible as books kept in the ordinary course of business by a professional ... such a book Mohan Singh v ... Ind. Cas 235; see also ... Gobind, 48 Ind Cas 375 But entries in the diary of a deceased ... relating to birth and death are not admissible under this clause ... Gobordhan, (1919) Pat 352=37 Ind Cas 421=2 Pat L J 42

Statement includes verbal statement The statement may be written or verbal (vide s 32) The general prevailing doctrine in America requires the declarations to be in writing; the exception relates to entries strictly speaking, and does not extend to oral statements Wigmore § 1523 In England, however, it seems settled that an oral statement is equally admissible ... By the Sussex Peerage Case, 11 Clark & F. 85, Lord Campbell says at p 113 ... law of England the declarations of deceased persons are not generally admissible unless they are against the pecuniary interest of the party making them. There are two exceptions First, where a declaration, by word of mouth or by writing, is made in the course of business of the individual making it, there it may be received in evidence, though it is not against his interest" See also Stapleton v. Clough 2 El & Bl 933, 937; Eddie v Kingsford, 14 C B 759 (763) In Reg v Buckley, 13 Cox Cr Cas 293, which was a trial for murder, the prosecution offered to show the verbal report of the deceased, who was a constable, to his superior officer as to where he was going on the night of the murder. It seems he had reported that he was going to watch the accused, who on a previous occasion had been convicted of larceny, chiefly on the evidence of the deceased It was held admissible But in a recent case it has been held by one English Court, that a declaration made by a physician ssible, and it

uson, 22 T

Review 301

Since in that jurisdiction the third motive of trustworthiness (vide supra under the head circumstantial guarantee of trustworthiness) is regarded as most important, and the statement must be made under a duty to a third person, it may be conceded that an oral statement would be scarcely inferior to a written one in trustworthiness In this country, however, where that limitation does not obtain, the trustworthiness of an oral statement would seem to be far inferior to that of a written one, especially as affected by the second reason for the rule (vide supra under the head circumstantial guarantee of Trustworthiness) Nevertheless, in the actual conduct of business by subordinates in mercantile or industrial houses (practically the only class of persons by whom oral reports are regularly made), the elemen where it does exist English

, there is written statements and of the

made in most of the other exceptions" The words 'and in particular" in s 32 (2) seem to point to the superior force of written over verbal statements Nort Ev. 177

Section 32 (2) and section 34 In Rampyaribai v Balaji, 28 B 294=6 Bom L R 50, the plaintiff relied on entries in the hand writing of her deceased husband kept in the ordinary course of business The lower Court rejected certain items for want the judgment observed

support of her claim

The accounts are relevant both under section 34 and under section 32(2) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 The learned Judge has considered that corroboration the accounts without corroboration the only point being that the law does not require corroboration' See also Musst Rani v Firm Bahadur, 62 Ind Cas 946 So also where entries in Jama bandi papers began over 70 years before the action was tried, the presumption was that the person who made them was dead and could not be called and as they were made in the ordinary course of business by the land-lord's agents, they were relevant without any corroboration, as evidence against the tenant under sub section (2) of section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act which does not require corroboration as under section 34 Dhukha Mandal v, persons who ... Chantar v Kailash, 44 Ind ... pers may be evidence u ... they can be admitted, a ... is dead and the entrie ... med th v Nawab Khaja Habibulla, 31 C L J 68 = 47 C. 266 = 56 Ind Cas. 38, Dulu v Jogadish, 90 Ind Cas 564 = A I R 1926 Cal 359 Jonah Biswas v Sita Kumari A I R 1927 Cal 855 But in Gopesuar ... Cal 854, Mr Justice Mookerji said "The ... entry relevant under s 34 and one relevant under s 32 cl (2) ... former case the person who made the entry may be available as a witness while in the latter case he is not I find it very difficult to appreciate on what ground the legislature could intend to exempt entries relevant under s 32 cl (2) from the disability that it imposed on entries relevant under s 34 by the second part of that section, and personally I have always felt inclined to take the view that such entries, no matter whether they are relevant under the one section or under the other, are not to be considered as alone sufficient to charge any person with liability" English Law A declaration is deemed to be relevant when it was made by the declarant ... the discharge of professional duty ... 3 B & Ad 82 ... irrelevant ex... the ordinary c... by a person duly authorised to make them Steph art 27 The leading ... this rule is the case of Price v Earl of Torrington, 1 Salk 285 = 2 Smith L C 320 The short report of it in Salked is as follows "The plaintiff being ... the Earl of Torrington for beer sold and ... to charge the defendant was, that the usual ... that the draymen came every night to the clerk of the warehouse and gave an account of the beer they had delivered out which he set down in a book kept for the purpose, to which the draymen set their names, that the drayman was dead but this was his hand set to the book, ... and this was held good evidence of ... singly, without more' That cas... Previous to that in Pitman v Maddox, 1 Lord Raym, ... Judge the plaintiff produced ... shop book written by one of ...

. 32.

to be good evidence within the year alone Thayer Cas. Ev 511

Origin In England, formerly a party to an action was not permitted to testify in his own behalf An apparent exception to this rule, however existed in the application of the so called "shop-book rule" In early times in England parties were permitted to show, by entries made in their books, the sale of goods or performance of labour, ... doctrine that a Statute of 7 Jac 1, C 12 was pass... The relevant portion of the ...

before the same action brought, except he or they, their executors or ...

tors, shall said debt,
or admini

year next after the same wares delivered, money due for wares delivered, or work done" Later developments narrowed the rule to the cases where the entries less, seemed to be a witness ntries made by he entries was required by the clerk who made them, if living and within reach; if he was not, proof of his handwriting was considered sufficient Pitam v. Maddox, 1 Ld. Raym 732; Price v. Earl of Torrington 2 Ld Raym 873 The rule with respect as evidence through no absolute necessity, but by reason of a presumption of necessity only, inferred from the nature of commerce' See also Woodnath v Lord Cobham, Bomb 180, Ford v. Hopkins, continued to go in, when the entries were the dead. There is reason to think that the when made in a stranger's books grew out of the practice in the case of a party's own "shop books' Thayer Cas Ev 509

jected on the ground that he is responsible R v 558, Trotter v Maclean, on v Walmesley, (1904) 2 d surveyor, employed by en a duty to do the very thing recorded Smith v Blakey L R 2 Q B 332 See also Polini v Gray, L R. 12 Ch D 411 Lyell v Kennedy 35 W R. 725, Sturla v Freccia, 5 App Cas 623 In Chambers v Bernasconi 1 C & J 451, the Court rejected the

which the person is employ the entry relates, and then

S 32. the duty must be proved by other independent evidence Bright v Leferton 2 Deg F & J at p 614 The Henry Coxon 3 P D 156, Doe v Turford L R ? Q. B at p 332, Perc
R 347 Personal c towards any person
of costs delivered by him are not admissible on the ground that it was his duty to keep proper books, or that they were made out in the cour e of duty Pow Ev 321 see also Bright v Lejerton 2 Deg F & J at p 617, Hope v H (1893) W N 21, Ecroyd v Coulthard (1897) W N 25, contra Rawl s v Richard 28 Beav 370 The acts must have been done by the declarant and not by third person Smith v Blakey, supra, Ryan v Ring 25 L R Ir In Polini v Gray supra, James L J held that entry must not be to some thing said learned or ascertained by the declarant, but something done by, or to him and in Lyell v Kennedy supra Brown L J approved the statement Phip Ev 7th Ed 270 The office or employment to which the duty is attached may be private, as in the case of ordinary clerk or public as in that of a Sheriff (Chambers v Bernasconi 1 C M & R 347) of a notary public (Poole v Dicas 1 Bing N C 649), or of a Magistrate (Wa v Little and another, 29 L J Ex 267) Wills Ev 2nd Ed 180 The duty must have been to record or otherwise report it at the time Smith v Blakey Supra, Polini v Gray supra, Doe v Turford, 3 B & A 890, Ryan v Ring 25 L R Ir 184 The Henry Coxon, 3 P D 159, Poole v Denne (1903) 2 Ch 538, Sturla v Freccia (1880) 5 App Cas 623 (640) 'This limitation' says Prof Wigmore 'is a reminiscence of the early history, and is needlessly strict.'

Duty to a third person—Necessity under this section Under the Indian Evidence Act, the report or record need not be made in the course of a duty to a third person "The stat Act must relate to a so far as the question of
with the performance c
Whether this fact naturally finds a place in the narrative what is the nature of duty and its connection with the fact the statement of which was a matter of duty and whether this connection was such as to information or observation must however ting the weight due to such evidence when Field Ev 7th Ed p 98 So in India the following observation of Denham in Chambers v Bernasconi 3 L J Ex 373=1 C M & R 347 has no application 'We are all of opinion that, whatever effect may be due to an entry made in the course of business any officer reporting facts necessary to the performance of a duty the statement of other circumstances however naturally they might be thought to find place in the narration, is no proof of those circumstances' A register of marriages kept by Istahad since deceased who celebrated a marriage, and in which register was entered the amount of the dower, was held to be admissible and relevant as evidence of the sum fixed, being an entry in a book kept in the discharge of duty within section 32, cl (2) Zakeria v S 19 C 689=19 I A 159

Indian Evidence Act
made at or near the
in order to cordin
the tr

declarations in the cour of [illegible] to prove [illegible] at the time it purp Similarly in Poole v I any doubts whether ought to go down to tr Ryan v Ring 25 L
v Peck 1 Stark 3-6,

S. 3

not made until two days after the event it was held not contemporaneous The Henry Coxon, 3 P. D 156 But in Price v. Torrington, 1 Salk 285 a record in the evening of an act done in the morning was admitted in evidence. The provisions of the Indian Evidence Act contain no similar restriction as to the admissibility of this kind of evidence; but in determining the weight to be allowed to it in particular cases, it will always be important to consider how far the statement or entry was contemporaneous with the fact it relates Field Ev. 7th Ed 98; Cun Ev Tenth Ed. 163

Personal knowledge The declarations are only evidence of the precise of which consequently he had

In Brain v Preece, 11 M & W

£4 15s for coals alleged to have been sold by the plaintiff's testator to the defendant At the trial it appeared person of the name of Baldwin to make entries in the books from what he, Yem, told him Both Harvey and Yem were dead, but in order to prove the delivery of the coals, Baldwin was called as a witness who produced the book, and stated that he made it out from Yem's directions and that every evening he read over

ness for the

There was not app

conclud

book

other en

case wl

dictation by another man who is dead, is widely different As regards the case of Price v Lord Torrington, it is better to adhere to that case as it stands, and

a deceased

it the entries

relate to an act or acts done by the deceased person and not by third parties" There can be no doubt that the general principle of testimonial evidence should person who had no personal knowledge of the supposed facts recorded Avery's Executors v Avery, 19 Ala 195, Walling v Morgan Co, 126 Ala 326 In the regular course of business, of a transaction lying in the personal knowledge of the latter, there is no objection to receiving that entry under the present exception [illegible]

S. 32. Court, Melville J. said at p 616 "But the Indian rule of evidence (Evidence Act, section 32 clause 2 and section 34) simply requires that entries in accounts should, in order to be relevant, be regularly kept in the course of business and although it may be no doubt important to show that the person making or dictating the entries had, or had not a personal knowledge of the facts stated, this is a question which, according to the Indian rule of evidence, affects the value not the admissibility, of the entries" But in Jagat Pal Singh v Jogeshwar Baksh Singh, 25 A 143 P C a geneological table purporting to have been made by a person since dead, but which was shown to be merely an exhibit binding on him for th judgment Lord Robertson at p different position Its alleged at But the exhibit in question is Gurdat in a claim made by him proceeding was to make himself this admittedly was untrue I ut His relation to the document is from the personal knowledge and belief statement of a deceased person which is admissible in evidence For aught that appears, the geneological table in question might never h been entirely the worl

this observation of the
of which require "speci To reject a declaration would cause great incon sale of this produce? Are not the entries thus made in the usual course of business of this extensive trading establishment, and as a part of th who prove them not only the best, practicable to secure? We have no hesi and convenience require them to be admitted The weighers, wharfingers and numerous subordinates who handled this cotton kept no books They report to the clerks who keep the books of the concern, and their functions are performed remember the multitude of trans npose a different rule upon th commerce and amount to a denial of justice"

Extrinsic proof Extrinsic proof must be given of the death or other disability of the declarant Duki v Jagadish, 90 Ind Cas 551, Chandra v Kailas, 44 Ind Cas 422 = 4 Pat L W 213 be properly

C & P ere, how uced from proper custody, the hand ate one, be presumed (vide been acted on in the case of declara

we have nothing to do in this c : must also be proved by extrinsic .. proof of acting therein is sufficient , .. , Phip. Ev. 279

. : . it is made in writing, there Any mark or sign that is . North Bank v. Abbot, 13 Pick. 417 ; Wigmore § 1531.

Cases under clause (2). A mortgage bond purported to be executed by three persons who were all dead at the time of the suit The signature of each of an it ese statements were proved to have been written by a deceased professional bond-writer who wrote the whole document in the ordinary course of business The two attesting witnesses are also dead and the signature each of them was satisfactorily proved to be in his handwriting Held that there was sufficient proof of the execution of the bond, and that the statement in writing of the deceased bond-writer was relevant under s 32(2) of the Evidence Act Harta v. Manak Chand, 11 N L R 9=27 Ind Cas 866 In order to prove that a certain reply to notice had been signed and sent by the 1st defendant, plaintiff's Karyasthan was called, who deposed that he was told by the writer of the notice in question that he wrote it at the request of the 1st defendant The writer was made the statement to the plaintiff's the writer's business Held, that the the Evidence Act Kolongorath v 33.

On a trial of a lading for the purpose sent from Delhi to C in Calcutta, advising the despatch of the goods, was tendered in evidence under section 32 cl 2 of Act I of 1872, but the Court refused to receive it, and intimated a doubt whether it fell within the instances specified in the section Queen v Tarinee Charun Dey, 9 B L R App 42 In a suit on a bond, the defendant, though admissible under section 32 (2) of the Evidence Act, have very little probative value when they are not signed by the transferors and are not supported by the evidence of persons who purport to sign them as witnesses My Po Nyein v. Maung My, 27 Ind Cas 777=8 Bur L T 85 A statement made in a deed of conveyance or mortgage deed is not made in the course of business within the meaning of cl (2) of s 32 Abdulla v Kunj Behary, 14 C L J 467 In a regis adjoi in a was Evid statn executed by a deceased person in the ordinary course of business and consisting of an acknowledgment written or signed by him of the receipt of money, is admissible in evidence under s. 32, and not under s 13 Ahmad Shah v Jamat Ahmad, A I R 1928 Oudh 218; but see Abdul Ali v Rejan Ali, 19 C W N 468=21 Ind Cas 618; Soraj Kumar v Umed Ali, A I R. 1922 Cal 251 Where ordinary course of business and they are admissible under s 32, sub-section (2). Abinas v. Pratul, 55 C. 1070=32 C. W. N. 759=108 Ind. Cas 585=A. I. R.

S. 32 1928 Cal 448 The entries in Jama Wasil baki, Jama bandi, Sheya and Karcha papers ar Nath 47
lands in recited t v Kumu
ficate of Melapi v Walayot, A I R 1930 Oudh 97 An endorsement on the cover of a registered letter that the
and had been refused by would be admissible either under s requirements of those sections are fulfilled Gobinda v Dwarkanath, 20 C L J 455 Where it is proved that a village watchman has been sending weekly reports of deaths in the village, an entry in the report as to the death of a person on a particular date can be presumed to be correct and can be used as a proof of the fact of death at that time Cas 883 A statement of a not be admissible under s 11

Account Books In a suit by a landlord under section 105, Bengal Tenancy Act for settlement of fair and equitable rent the tenants produced dakhilas to prove that certain holdings had been held than 20 years In order to rebut a landlord tendered in evidence certain ac lower Court admitted them under s office in the absence of the tenants and they were uncorroborated sufficient ground for refusing to attach any value to the entries in those books as evidence Mon Mohan Roy v Hari Nath, A I R 1928 Cal 408 see also Rampyaribai v Balaji Sridhar, 28 B 294=6 Bom L R 50; Dulha Mandal v W N Grant 16 C L J 24=16 Ind Cas 467, Altauh v Tarak Nath 16 C L J 328=17 Ind Cas 266=17 C W N 774, Umed Ali v Khaja Habibulla, 47 C 266=56 Ind Cas 38=31 C L J 68 The fact that collection papers may be admissible under section 34 of the Evidence Act does not prevent them also being admissible under section 32 of the Act if the conditions prescribed by section 32 are establ Though an entry in tion, no corroborati

Maniel Chand v Parakujo 9 Mys L J. 337

Dakhilas Receipts of rent purporting to have been given by the former landlord as genuine is not to be legally presu disputed by the landlord Kirtibas be expected that a ryot should in landlord that they owner or genuine,

Ram Jadu v Laksmi 241, Mohiuddin, 9 W. R 241, unendra, 82 Ind Cas 974, Banoo, 12 W R 34,
12 W R. 30; Indra v Golak, 12 W shown to be authentic, are prima facie evidence of payment of rent, but not conclusive evidence. Amir Baksh v 9 W R 189

v. Kali Prasanna, 26 C 832 (838) But section 95 of the Bengal Road cess Act (IX of 1880) is not exhaustive. It was intended to restrict the operation of s 21 of the Evidence Act, and a road cess return may be admissible in evidence as : is made the return Chalho Singh v.
Gource Sankar, 22 W R 192, Hem
A. 177. The road cess return filed by a person in his capa sible in evidence in favo be regarded as a perso v Ajodha, 39 C 1005
Swarnamoyi v Sourendra, 12 C L J 11=89 Ind Cas 717=A I R 1925 Cal 1189

Deposition of Patwari. A deposition made by a Patwari of a village in ent under the Bengal
32 of the Evidence Act
yan v Dwarka Prosad,
9 Pat. L T 679=109 Ind Cas 136=A I R 1928 Pat 129 clause See e illustration rtion of the

CLAUSE III

Scope of clause (3) This clause makes declarations against interest admissible in evidence Illustrations (e) and (f) apply to this clause This section makes three classes of declarations against interest admissible in evidence namely, Ist, where they affect the declarant's pecuniary interest, 2ndly his propri chargi 179.

sible against the interest of the person through whom he claims Ram v Khagendra, 31 C 871 P C=9 C W N 71 Under this clause the tests of admissibility of statements against interest made by deceased persons are that (1) the deceased must have had personal knowledge of the facts he was stating, (2) the facts stated should have been to the immediate prejudice of the deceased (3) the statements must have been, to the knowledge of the deceased contrary to his interest, and (4) the interest must be either pecuniary or proprietary Ramanathan v Murugappa, 33 Ind Cas 969=3 L W 216=(1916) 1 M W N. 208

English law According to English law declarations against interest are statements made by deceased persons adverse to their pecuniary or proprietary interest; and the guarantee of their credibility consists in the fact that they are iterest, since it is the general experience of de are likely to be true Middleton v Milton, Atkin, (1833) 1 C & M 410 (425), R v
I C 63, 67, Brady v Atkinson, (1879) 13 Ch interest in other sense as for instance an

32. v Exeter, (1869) 4 Q B 311, Hayes J observed: "Having regard to the gr[illegible] changes that have in recent times been made in admitting the evidence of [illegible] interested witnesses, when alive, it would be most objectionable to lay down any narrow restrictions upon the reception of declarations in any way against inter[illegible] which have been made by persons since deceased, and which are frequently the only evidence that can be obtained on the subjects to which they refer and where the Courts are frequently obliged to supply the want of evidence by presumptions"

In Taylor v Witham, 3 Ch D [illegible] is no doubt an established rule i[illegible] agai st the interest of the man who [illegible] death for all purposes What is [illegible] I adopt the view of Baron Parke in t[illegible] C 333, that it must be prima facie [illegible]

speaker is admi ible even if when the fact are f rther examined, it m[illegible] making it and "not an admission which may or may not turn out at some [illegible] quent time to have been against his interest" See also Smith v Blakey, L R 2 Q B 326, Massey [illegible]

In Tucker v Ol[illegible] 608, Lord Justi[illegible] that the stateme[illegible]
In this state [illegible]
Court of Appe[illegible] Company, (191[illegible] sought to be put related to an acknowledgment of paternity and a promise [illegible] by the deceased to marry the mother of the child, who claimed compensation under the "Workman's Compensation Act," as a dependant on the deceased Lord Justice Hamilton, after making an incidental observation that as between the dicta of Blackburn J, in Smith v Blackey, 2 Q B 326=36 L J Q B 1[illegible] that the statement must be one which never could be made available for the person himself, and that of Jessel M R that it is sufficient that the statement is prima facie against the interest of the person making it, he is inclined to the former view, "if there is any real difference between them", proceeds to lay down categorically the tests of admissibility of statements against interest According to the learned Lord Justice, (a) the deceased must have had personal knowledge of the facts he was stating, (b) the fact should have been to the deceased s immediate prejudice, (c) the statement mu t have been to the knowledge of the dec ased, contrary to his interest, and (d), the inte[illegible] must be either pecuniary or proprietary The ca e went up to the House of Lords Lords Loreburn and Moulton ap[illegible] the statement [illegible] the la[illegible]
to agr[illegible]
A' C[illegible]
this p[illegible]
groun[illegible]

time when she was not of sound mind, memory or understanding Under [illegible] which had been destroyed her husband took a life interest in her estate after [illegible] under an ante nuptial settlement he was, in the events that had happened entitled absolutely to her estate. A statement by the husband, who had died before the suit was broug ... sound mind when she destroyed ... ing in disparagement of his own ... tles, 27 T. L R 202.

departure from English ... h would subject the decla- ... ble. This seems to be a ... Case, 11 C & F 108 In that case the question was whether A was lawfully married to B A statement injuriously affect the interest of the party making them Nor it is true, that ... s to certain ... These are ... , in that case ... l be liable to prosecution, that, therefore, the instant the grave closes over him, all that was said by him is to be taken as evidence in every action and prosecution against another person, is one of the most monstrous and untenable propositions that can be advanced." Nort Ev 184 So "the interest involved must, according to the English Law, be one of a pecuniary or proprietary nature, no other interest will suffice But the Indian Law, as laid down in sub section (3) of section 32 of the Evidence Act, extends the scope of this exception and put a penal interest on the same footing as a pecuniary or proprietary interest." Per Shadi Lal C J in Mahomed v Emperor, A I R 1926 Lah 54 = 89 Ind Cas 252 (258) So a statement which would have exposed the declarant to a criminal prosecution or to a suit for damages, would be admissible as a piece of evidence in any proceeding in which such evidence is relevant to the issue or issues being tried in such proceeding Per Fforde J in Mohammad v Emperor, 89 Ind Cas 252 (254)

Principle The exception presupposes, like most of the others, first a necesely to have been stated untruthfully. Wigmore § 1455

, as here applied, signifies the impo ... the same source, the declarant being ... ver the witness is practically unavailable, his statement sho ... his case being regarded as ... must show that a particular fac

Manley v Curtis, 1 Price 229, Phillips v Cole, 10 A & E 106, Barrows v White 4 B & C 328, Spargo v Brown, 9 B & C 936 In Fitch v Chapman, 10 Conn 11, Williams J said The cases where such evidence is admitted seem to proceed generally upon the principle that, by th ... principle ... insanity ... from juri ... evidence ... incapacity.

S. 32 v Blades, 3 Camp 458, the declarant had suffered from an apoplectic fit and was declared by his physician to be in extremis The question was whether the declaration of such a person Ellenborough L C J said and I am afraid to establi patient is past all of evidence permitted there cover
this section of the admis
the declarant is lance could not b procured without an amount of delay or expense, which under the circum appears to be unreasonable Asiatic Steam N Co v Bengal Coal, 35 C 751

Subjective relevancy—Adequate knowledge In connection with the with the other exceptions to the hearsay rule, judicial attention is concentrate upon the subjective relevancy shown by the declarant Here as elsewhere the elements of such subjective relevancy are two, Adequate knowledge and Absence of controlling Motive to Misrepresent

Adequate knowledge may ap surate with the inference or state sufficient, in the opinion of the pres men, in acting in accordance with extent on the part of the declarant must be shown in order to warrant reception of a declaration against interest as secondary evidence of the facts asserted It is not regarded as sufficient, for example, to show that such an extra judicial statement was found, after his decease, among the papers of the person purporting to be the declarant He must be affirmatively shown to have made the statement and it must also appear that he knew what he was talking about Chamberlayne's Ev § 2772

Circumstancial Guarantee or Absence of controlling Motive to Misrepresent The basis of this exception is the principle of experience that a statement asserting a fact distinctly against one's interest is entirely unlikely to be deliberately false or heedlessly incorrect, and is thus sufficiently sanct though oath and cross-examination are wanting In Smith v Blakey L R Q B 326, Blackburn J said " When the entries are against the pecuniary interest of the person making the himself there is suc admitted after the Talor 4 L R Ire, tatement appears which after the deat Mercers Admr v taught us that when one makes a declaration in disparagement of or interests it is generally true, and because it is so the law has deemed it the exception to likely to make a false posed to be the
, when a person
making a declaration prejudicial to his own interest says something cessat ipsa lex Per Lah 54=89 Ind Cas
446=57 I A 14 (P C)=34 C W

Origin of the rule In Anon Bunbury 16 (1719) rentals or wed at Winchester and Dor v Brock, 3 Woodeson's it is said "On a similar princ idence, because the habit or Roe d Brune v Paulin,
' The contents of the possession of it, it dimin interest in the fine on renewal, in the same proportion as it raised the reserved The paper was written by a confidential agent at least, though it does not appear that he was the immediate steward of the estate at the time but in evidence the following entries from the day book and ledger of a man mid wife who had attended the mother of William Fowden junior at his birth, and was since deceased —

S. 3

Day Book Entries

'22nd April, 1768.

38* Richard Fallows's wife Bramhall Filius circa hor 9 mututin cum forcipe, etc paid'

Then followed in the same page the entry in question without any intervening date —

'Wm Fowden junr's † wife, 79 ‡

Filius circa hor 3 post merid nat etc

Ledger Entry

'Wm Fowden junr, 1768

Aprilis 22 Filius natus, etc

	£	s	d
Wife	1	6	1
26th Haustus purg	0	15	0
	2	1	1

Pd 25th Oct, 1768"

These entries were tendered in evidence to show the precise day of the birth of Wm Fowden, jun The evidence was objected to But the jury found on this evidence that Wm Fowden, jun was not born on the 2nd but on the 22nd April should
would been established for the security of life, liberty and property but in declaring our opinion upon inadmissibility of the evidence in question we shall lay down ie limits
Warren
ks of a making ve been entries ?

I think the evidence here was properly admitted, upon the broad principle on which receiver's books have been admitted namely that the entry

* The figure 38 referred to the ledger

† This was the designation at the time of the father of Wm Fowden jun in question

‡ These figures referred to the ledger the entry in which follows

. 32.

in his own handwriting repels the claim which he would otherwise have had against the father from the rest of the evidence as it now appears Therefor the entry made by the party was to his own immediate prejudice when he had not only no interest to make it if it were not true, but he had an interest the other way, not to discharge a claim which it appears from the other evidence that he had beginning with Warren v 279, is that if a perso declaration of that fact, w his death, if he could l Ibid But in Gleadown v expression reported to h is 'if he could have been c not introduced in any any such qualification and I have great doubts whether I ever used the expr sion If I did, Scotle v. Lord Barrington and Bosworth v Cotchett, decided in the House of Lords, are against it" Thayer Cas Ev 485

Statements against pecuniary interest 'Statement of a fact against pecuniary interest when its tendency is to take away or lessen the pecu position is worse

may include both verbal or written ones, documentary evidence, and particularly in books of account Where the books of collectors of taxes, stewards, bailiffs, or receivers subject to the in pe tion of others, and in which the first entry is generally of money receiv
, within the principle of this rule llington 3 Brod & Bing 13 Icaton, 4 T R 669; Short v Le 556, Dean v Caldecott 7 Bing 133; Marks v Lahee, 3 Bing N C 408; Wynne v Tyrwhitt, 7 B & Ald 376.
De Rutzea v Farr, 4 Al & El 53, Plaxton v. Dare, 10 B & C 17 But it has been extended still further, to include entries in private books also, though retained notice in this exception Greenl Ev § 150, Ridgway, 10 East. 109; Middleton v a mere memorandum of an agreement is not sufficient.

attempted to be pro of his deceased m them, and of subsequent payments of for the entries were not made against the ble unless the service were performed, nor were they made in the course of his duty or employment R v. Worth, 4 Q B 132 In general, the interest or burden involved in the fact stated must be a positive one and of the declarant (
A given fact may circumstances; for example, that one is a partner may or may not be against his interest according to the state of the firm's assets Ramses v Ramses, 30 Ala 128, Humes v. O'Bryan, 74 Ala 428 In the last named case A brought a suit against X and Y as partners Y having died, the suit was pressed against X alone X denied his partnership with Y and to prove his case offered declarations made by Y to the effect that he (X) was not a partner It appeared that the Y made these ie declarations
t be noticed,
the absence of that Humes
st his interest
This is so because, if true, it would entitle, Humes to a half interest in the partnership assets . The assertion, therefore, that Humes was not a partner, having been made at a time when the partnership business had failed, it was a declaration exonerating him from a pecuniary liability for the partnership debts, and, if true, to this extent doubled the ultimate amount of Glover's (Y's) liability " So it is clear that whether a statement is against interest or not depends upon circumstances A statement by Y that X is not a partner is not against the interest of Y when the firm is solvent, but it is so when the firm is insolvent.

of money received by him on behalf of his cestui que trust, and for which he was liable, held admissible against the cestui que trust Bright v Legerton, 29 L J Ch 852. In an action by a statement by the testator debt is admissible Watson testator are evidence again trator Smith v Smith, 7 Car & P 401 In an action of trover to recover a watch, the defendant pleaded that it was not the property of the plaintiff It appeared that the watch had formerly been the property of the father of the plain-

S 32. made it is not sufficient that it might possibly turn out afterwards to have be against his interest Edwards Ex parte, 14 Q B D 415

Against Proprietary interest An equal guarantee of trustworthine s furnished when the extra judicial statement is opposed to the propr etary int of the declarant 'By declaration against proprietary interest we mean s a in the property The principle on which these declarations are rece ved in the presumption of absolute ownership arising from pos ess on Wh n party in possession of land a lmits that he holds a less estate t an a fee s mp as for instance, that he is tenant in tail for life for a term of years, or at w l he manifestly cuts down his own interest ir title, and it is not likely that a man intere t than he claimed or stated Nort 192, Peaceable v Watson 4 Taunt 16 R v Exeter (1869) L R 4 B 341 Taule v Miles 27 L K R v Birmingham Blackburn J said 'It is now well settled that a statem n against interest by a decease l per on is with certain limitations adm evidence in proceedings betw show that where a person prima facie evidence of a tena down that interest is admissil against his interest ' Simil declaration of the deceased father of the claimant who had been in the po of the property that he only occupied and managed it for his son was held admissible as being against the interest of the person making it A declara on terest in the land whatever terest in the land whatever ey v Redman 1 Q B D 11 that a person in possess on of the owner thereof in fee Ibid, see Wills Ev 193 Welb v Winwood 7 T R 397 The rule therefore to treating declarations

a question of public way was in issue, the declaration of a deceased land made whilst planting a tree stating that he planted it to show the boundary of road is not evidence of public right, for it is not a statement of gen reputation but of a particular fact. R v Bliss 7 Add & E 550 Cf Chadwick 2 Moo & Rob 507 Assertions that one s estate is a leasehold not a freehold or that one s possess on is merely as agent or as trustee another are admissible Walker v Broadstock, 1 Esp 458 Doe v 5 Esp 4 Doe v Jones 1 Camp 367, Peacable v Watson 1 Taunt 16 Nicoll 1 Bing N C 430, Doe v Longfield, 16 M & W 513 A declara by the person in possession, that his interest was less than a fee his own life only, would be primary evidence that it ceased to exi t at h s death Doe d Welsh v Longfield, 16 M. & W 497 To make a declaration proprietary interest in lands evidence after the death of the declaran have been at the time in actual possession La Touche v Hutton, Ir 166 A declaration or a written entry by a deceased person when occ house that he was tenant at so much rent and had paid it, admis declaration against proprietary interest to prove the fact of the payment of the tenancy Rex v Exeter Guardians, 10 B & S 133 Declarat

S. 3

deceased person, claiming a limited interest under a particular Will of property of which he was in possession, are admissible to prove the fact that the Will had a legal existence, and certain persons were named executors therein Sly v Dedge, 49 L J. P. 63 On an issue as to the right of L to a fishery, entries of a deceased receiver charging himself with the receipt of rent from a sub receiver, due from

he fishery, are
L J. Ex 1. admissible in ons were made mdas v. Aju-

a pecuniary penalty, by wa imprisonment Cocl le Cas decided, in 1844, was neither precedents, so a backward

thout bans was received 1476 So it is plain of procuring fabricated testimony to such an admission of oral This is the ancient rusty weapon that a very strong tendency to make any one out side of a Court of Justice believe

S. 32.

the admissibility of such a confession; the of the two countries do not bind us; case of declarations against interest is well against interest as a confession of murder· than dying declarations, which would ore that there is no

which declarations ts not being agan the declarant to a

against his pecuniary or proprietary interest. Nort Lv 184 But in ord make such statement admissible in evidence, the fact stated in the statement must expose him, to a criminal prosecution or to a suit for damages, at the t it was made Stoke's Anglo. Ind. Code Vol II. 874; see also Nicholas v A the Evident

firmed by th
P. L R 1 forgery one trate died before the commencement of the trial. The by the Session Held that statement was to criminal pro
L R 248
Daolat and to
She then died before the committing Magistrate and t statements of the deceased were relevant un she having witnessed an offence and no officer or Magistrate exposed herself to Emperor, 16 N. L R 30=56 Ind Cas 582=21 Cr L J. 486

Statements of sundry facts against interest. There are many facts which in their ultimate effect be against the proprietary or pecuniary interest, though in their immediate and narrow aspect there may be no such clear character These facts, however, may never the less be facts so decidedly against inter that no one would be inclined falsely to concede their existence If so, on the general principle they should therefore be admitted No more precise te state the terms of the contract with B, was rejected Blackburn J ... have is no more than an admission that he has the care of the three chests which him liable arrived at the office and the possibility that this statement might make show the existence of the Will. In Flood v Russel, 29 L R. Ire.

hich she profited S.
Tyn, (1914) A
a claimant was a
, the deceased's
al Loreborn ng a legal
Wigmore

§ 1461. In R. v Worth, 4 Q B 134 an entry of a hiring at a certain wages in the deceased master's private book with a memorandum of payment, was held to pay conditionally is none the ract is subject to some conditions imposed of a contract liability of any sort is on gmore § 1461

ot merely the
is because the likely to be eate a liability

Preponderance of interest—Credit and debit side—No motive to misrepresent In some cases it has been stated on the analogy of other Hearsay exceptions that there must be no motive to misrepresent and this has been put as an additional requirement Gleadow v Atkins, 3 Tyrw 301; Marks v Lahee, 3 Bing N C 408 "But" says Prof Wigmore 'there is no such additional requirement The real ol a not uncommon situation, interest, there is also a meaning of the entry standing alone must be against the interest of the man who made it Of course, if you can prove ali unde that the man had a particular reason for making it, and that it was for his interest, you may destroy the value of the evidence altogether, but the question of admissibility is not a question of value The entry may be utterly worthless when you get it, if you show any reason to believe that he had a motive for making it, and that though apparently against his interest, yet it was for account in which the receipts creating liability are on the whole [illegible] exceeded by the payments or credits in his favour When, in the [illegible]

S. 32 the entry of payment rece is sought to be used, t of the account together, t appears to have a claim interest This argument, 261, has since been repu

266, by Mr Brougham But [illegible] is not likely to charge himself [illegible] so accounts are evidence though the [illegible] Per Coleridge J in R v Worth, 4 Q B [illegible] see also Williams v Greaves, 8 C & P 592

the pr
the d
the correctness of whatever he may say while under that influence [illegible] words, the statement may be accepted not merely as to the specific fact [illegible] interest, but also as to every fact contained in the same statement. [illegible] 1465 The leading case on this subject is Higham v Ridgway 10 [illegible] (Vide supra) As for the limits which it thus becomes necessary to set, [illegible] must be the phrasing of a [illegible] general [illegible] Judges In [illegible] Nanson, try is limited [illegible] against t it the whole statement In R v [illegible] principle that a declaration against interest was evidence as to all that formed an essential part of it was long since settled' See also Stead v Heaton, 4 T R 690, Doe v C[illegible] wright Ry & M 62, Davies v Humphreys 6 M & W 153, R v Birm[illegible] 1 B & S 763 In Smith v Blakey L R down by Blackburn J where he said of the precise fact which is against interes up with the statement' In Doe v Beviss [illegible] contained on one side items charging on the other side items discharging him by showing how the moneys [illegible] had been disbursed The discharging entries were not admitted [illegible] end "T himself,
ing part [illegible]
ing part, it may be necessary to read the whole So where the [illegible] anything explanatory of the former that may render the whole account [illegible] sible But that is not the case here' In the same case Maule J, said It may which is intelligible case recourse [illegible] charge in the account him, the items of [illegible] necessarily resorted to for the purpose of explaining the charge [illegible] may be evidence" See also Marks v Lahee, 3 Bing N C 408, [illegible] Heaton 4 T R 669, Knight v Waterford, 4 Y & C Ex R [illegible] gate v Emmerson, 10 Q B 326, Per Lord Lyndhurst in Rudd v [illegible] cited 1 Ph Ev 314, 315 Whaley v Carlisle, 17 Ir L R N S Taylor v Witham, 3 Ch D 605, The Swiftsure, 82 L [illegible] Fitzgerald, 11 L R Ir 106, Sita v Khub 5 Pat. 168, Knight v

Waterford 4 Y & C Ex R 283, 291, 295; Leelanund [illegible]
W R 231. The following test is suggested by Prof Wigmore [illegible] back to the living principle, a more useful test appears to be this [illegible] parts of the speech or entry may be admitted which appear to have [illegible] made while the declarant was in the trustworthy condition of mind [illegible] permitted him to state what was against his interest. This being the fund[illegible] principle, any reference to collateral records which amounts to a repetition or an incorporation of them would make them a part of the admissible statement" Entries made at a subsequent occasion, when the original entries are complete, are clearly excluded Doe v Tyler, 4 Moo & P 381, Knight v Waterford 4 Y & C Ex R. 283 (294)

In Reg v Overseer of Birmingham, 1 B & S 763–31 L J M C 63, Cockburn J observed "I should be prepared to say, that as soon as it is established, which it now is on the authority of Higham v Ridgway, supra, and the other cases, that you may receive the declaration of the deceased person as showing, not only something adverse to his interest, but all incidental facts contained in that declaration, so far as they are not foreign to it, it follows as a consequence that those collateral facts may be proved by the declaration' In Davies v Humphreys, 6 M & W 153 Parke J (afterwards Baron Parke) said "The entry of a payment against the interest of the party making it, has been held to have the effect of proving the truth of other statements contained in the

rred to therein provided that the a variety of circumstances If the statement happens to be recorded in a docu it came to be making it or an mplicity in the

It is now, however, well settled that declarations of deceased persons against their interest so much contained in the facts stated in them, at to the declarations, and may be taken to have formed a substantial part of them see per Cockburn
parol declaration
tion of a tenem
pauper s st
Smith's Le

A sta
a property sradh and mortgagee had Held the whole

ormer part alone
admissible Sitaram v Khublal 5 Pat 168=91 Ind Cas 13=7 Pat L T 573=A I R 1926 Pat. 255 But disconnected facts though contained in the same document or statement are inadmissible Doe v Beviss supra Knight v Waterford, 4 Y & Cole 293, Ningaua v Bharmappa, 23 B 63

When the statement must be against interest The fact stated must of early engrafted upon the rule, viz that an admission of a fac. made by a deceased person which is against the interest of a party making it at the time, is evidence of that fact as between third persons. See also Percival v Nanson,

S. 32. 7 Ex 1, per Parke B; Lalor v Lalor, 4 L R Ire 681; Ex parte Edwards in Tollemache, 14 Q B D 415; 416, Smith v Blakey, L R 2 Q B 326, Mc y Allen, 13 Ch D 326 The chief application of this rule was to the creditor endorsement of payment on bonds or notes before the claim was time-barred. The creditor's receipt of payment, in part or in whole, was a fact against his interest, hence his memorandum endorsing upon the instrument the fact of his receipt of payment would be a statement of fact against interest, the fact of payment thus evidenced, would be by implication an acknowledgment (or a promise) by the debtor, and thus would at common law suffice to give a new beginning to the period of the statute of limitations Wigmore § 1466, Stark
Lord Barringt
C J in Addan
a motive for unimpaired

made after the Statute had run was not evidence, and that the note was barred by the Statute See also Turner v Crisp, 2 Str 827; Glyn v Bank of England 2 Ves 43; Short v Lee, 2 Jak & W. 488, Gleadow v. Atkins, 3 Tyrwh Newbold v Smith, 29 Ch D 877

When the declarant
to be prosecuted, and so th sub section (3) were not clause 3 of section 32 Nga Po v King Emperor, 7 L B R 33=20 Ind 90=14 Cr L J 510

Sta
statemen began gation n stated be judge Jur N stances t admissibility of evidence Phip Ev 271

Spontaneity not required No administrative necessity has been perceived for requiring another general safeguard against mistake in or manufacture of evidence, i e, guarantee of spontaneity should also be present, if a statement against interest is to be received Doe v Turford, 3 B & Ad 890, Chamberlayne Ev § 2773

31 L J M C 63 Fenley v Wilkinson, 13 Ch D 283, Farmingham

in the cases" See also Jagnut v Haj

Exeter v Warren, [1844] in whosesoever han[d]writing in latter case it is not necessary to call 190-191.

S. 3

Contemporaneousness of entry Declarations against interest are admissible even when they are not made contemporaneously with the facts Doe v Turford, 3 B & Ad 890, Smith v Blakey, L R 2 Q B 326, Whaley v Masserene 8 Ir Jur N S 281

Personal Knowledge The qualifications of the declarant with reference to the as those of the ordinary witness v Nanson 7 Ex 1, Tay § 669, was held that it was not necessary knowledge of the fact stated —that if the entry charged himself, the whole of it became admissible against all weight, and not manta, 1 B 610
is applicable to are by no means uniform Vide Doe v Robson, 15 East 31, Short v Lee 2 Jac & W 488, Barker v Ray, 2 Russ 76, Middleton v Melton 10 B & C 317 Lloyd v Powell (1913) 2 K B 133, 137 C A Gleadow v Atkin 3 Tyrw 302, Marks v Lahee 3 Bing N C 420, Percival v Nanson 7 Ex 1 In the above cases it was held that the declarant must be shown to have had a competent if not a peculiar ect matter of the declaration Tay § of what the chest, contained Similarly in Doe v Longfield 16 M & W 514 the assertion of an estate by life interest only was regarded as ambiguous and inadmissible See also Plaxton v Dare, 10 B & C 19, Doe v Beston 9 C & P 254

Extrinsic Proof Extrinsic proof must be given of the declarant's death (unless it is presun necessitate the adm be shown to have Short v Lee, 2 Jac & W 467, Plumer M R said In all these cases (of books by bailiffs etc) the first wrote them, if you fail in t Phip Ev 7th Ed 272, s
Curtis 1 Price 228, Bullen v
E 56, Doe v Beviss 7 C hould

Barry
hand were Where
it was authorised or adopted by the deceased Lancum v Lovell 6 C & P 437 Bradley v James, 13 C B 822, Doe v Hawkins 2 Q B 812, Re Fountaine (1909) 2 Ch 382, Phip Ev 7th Ed 272 Where, however, the document is thirty years old or receiver of another, it is necessary, in addition to give some proof that he really occupied an alleged position, except (i) where the agency is a public one, or (ii) perhaps where the entries are ancient produced from proper custody and bear strong internal evidence of genuineness Tay § 653 Phip Ev 211

Declarations against interest and Admissions, distinguished. Declarations against received
and conf trary, are of the deceased declarant, admitted as an exception to the hearsay rule Mackelcy's Ev 316 Such declarations are made, being compelled by truth, and as such they are as trustworthy as if made on the stand under oath and cross-examination Wigmore § 1475 The points of essential difference in main are

32. four (1) The admission is a creature of procedure, the declaration against interest is entirely a matter of evidence, i.e. of reasoning (2) Admissions are primary evidence of the facts stated, the declaration against interest is a secondary grade of proof, received only when shown to be necessary to the case of the proponent, the primary evidence being unavailable (3) The admission is receivable in evidence only when the declarant or some one identified with him in legal interest is a party to the suit and the admission is offered against him; the declaration against interest may be made by any one, and is receivable in suits between third persons and though made in favour of the present proponent or one in privity with the declarant. (4) The admission is received although ... , as being off ... nt must have been ... at it was directly opp... failure to observe the ... to his pec... distinction ... cause confu...

Declarations held admissible under this clause At the trial of an ac... for an injunction for stopping up ancient lights it was proved that the ... year for the use of light and that ... agent of the owner of the alleged d... ient tenement the sum of six pence and made a verbal statement that it was for the lights of the house The agent ... now dead Held, that this was evidence of payment of the rent by the owner of the alleged dominant tenement Beuley v Atkinson, 49 L J Ch 153 13 Ch D 283 Where there is a right of entry given for an assigning or und... if a pe... agains... fact ... favour... the entries in the account from being admissible as entr... person who ... Whaley v Carlisle 17 Ir C L R 792 An entry by deceased person upon knowledge of a fact whereby he charges himself or discharges another upon whom he would otherwise have a claim, is admissible in evidence, even though the party could not have been examined as to the fact in his life time ... Lee, 2 Jac & Walk 489 In an action by executors against a son of the testator to recover money received by him from his father, the debtor's ... of the ... account book containing the receipt of interest from the son, was held to be admissible in support of the plaintiff's contention that the money had been lent and not given although the right of the plaintiff without consent to put in the other side, which contained no entries opposed to the advantage of the writer was doubtful Peck v Peck 21 L T 670 E now dead, was a clerk to the plaintiff ... A book containing entries in the handwriting of E which charged E with the receipt of interest on a sum owing by R and W to the plaintiff was offered in evidence —Held, that evidence could be given of E's so doing, as of parol representation made by him against his interest. Kettlewell v Watson, ... 402 Entries of charges made by an attorney in his books showing the ... when a certain lease prepared for a client of his was executed which ... were shown to have been paid are evidence, after the attorney's death to show ... the lease was executed under a power to lease in possession, and not in ... Doe v Robson 15 East 29 A deceased solicitor's books are evidence ... charges himself therein with receipts on his client's behalf as being ... against his interests whether or not the entries were made in the ordinary ... To prove that ...

though on a full investigation of all the facts the dec... not to have been detrimental to interest The declaration of a d... to the effect that he had destroyed a Will which gave him a life inter... free hold pr... arising from ... examination ... to his advantage, because apart from the existence of a Will, he in fact took no interest in the property. Re Adams, Benton v Powell, (1922) P 240=127 L T.

S.

within the meaning of s 32, Evidence Act and are hence inadmissible Jagadish v Harihar, 78 Ind Cas 219=10 C L J 39 On the death of a member of a joint Hindu family the other members sued the widow of the deceased for possession of certain properties on the ground that she had no right to them, her husband having died an undivided member The widow set up a division and relied inter alia, on a mortgage executed by her deceased husband and attested by the plaintiffs containing possession of the properties acknowledgment that they ha admissible in evidence as a statement against interest under s 32 of the Evidence Act Gnanamuthu v Veilu Kanda, 19 L W 494=79 Ind Cas 2=A I R 1924 the circumstances ith the adoption is under s 32 (3)
of the Evidence Act Danapati v Balsundara, 36 M 19=18 Ind Cas 989 The varaspatra in this case was admissible not only under section 32, clause (3) of the Indian Evidence Act as a declaration made by the widow against her proprietary interest, but also by reason of s 90 of the Act Hari Chintaman v Moro Lakshman, 11 B 89 Recitals in deeds in favour of one party to suit showing nature of some lands are admissible not only under this clause but also under s 13 (b) Tikaram v Motilal, A I R 1930 All 290 In a suit for account by the representatives of A, deceased, evidence was adduced of a document his interest Zaynub v Hadjee, 2 Ind Jur N S 54 Where the question, whether there was partition between the ancestors of the parties or not, is in issue, the statements made by the deceased ancestors of the parties that there was partition are admissible in evidence as they are statements against proprietary interest of the persons making them Jairam v Narottam, A I R 1929 Nag 131 gift in a case covered by s 32. Appasami v Rama Tevar 31 L. W. 776=61 M.

32. L J 881. A statement of a convicted person made about the time of his being hanged that the approver in the case was not involved in the crime may be admissible Shafi v. Emperor, A. I R. 1930 Nag 259=124 Ind Cas 409 Statement in adoption deed that adopter's sons were suffering from leprosy is admissible to decide validity of adoption and attestation by sons being against their interest is admissible Nangammal v Sankarappa, A. I R. 1931 Mad ... sive vendors in sale deeds ... belong to them, but was ... land Tila Ram v ... A. I. R 1930 All. 299; but see Aligm Nayakars v. Perumal, 39 L W 472

Declarations held not admissible under this clause An admission made by a bankrupt in his statement of affairs that a debt is due from his, is not after his death, admis ... existence of the ... after paying the ... 13 Q B D 720 ...

... tement by a ... a deceased ... but not by ... mis ible in evidence, either on the general ground of pecuniary interest, or on the general ground of the audit having been made in the ordinary course of business ... v Moat, 45 L T ... business done by ... creditor account, ... merely because the ... Whaley v ... by a firm ... of the tr... acknowled... on the n...

... himself ...

427=103 Ind Cas. 145=A I R 1927 Bom 133 Statements of ... persons under s 32, Evidence Act, ... conditions specified therein are ... a certain person a statement in the ... more than 20 years before is not admissible under s. 32 ... Hindu w... sible in ... interest, ... long enjoyment of her husband's property Dalbahadur v ... C W N 369=A I R 1930 P C 79 ... 51 C. L. J ...

Held, that neither the ...

as the statements in the Will made by the deceased that he had spent a particular S.

plaintiff, a statemen

The evidence of Act would be ad

rietary interest of the deponent, even in a of title Shyamanand v Rama Kanta, 32

Will of the purchaser of the title title Held that the recital of brahmatter title in the Will was not admissible Satindra v Krishna Kumari 36 Ind Cas 882 A statement by a plaintiff as a witness to the effect that her father told her that he had mortgaged the land in suit to the defendant is inadmissible under this section Mi Nga Ma v Nga Talak, 29 Ind Cas 607 = U B R (1915) 1st Qr 56 A recital in a conveyance not admissible in evidence under this clause. Harihar v Guragranth, 128 Ind Cas 791 = A I R 1930 P C. 610

Statement as regards boundray In Rajah Leelanund v Mt Lakhaputee, 22 W propriet mortgag ment ad founded governe case wa interest

Under t
the prop

prietary interest Karuppanna v Kanja Swami, 107 Ind Cas 293 = A I R 1928

S. 32. It is unnecessary to cite any ...
v. Ridgway, 2 Sm L C 307
under the ...
cases the ...
This case ... discussed and followed in the case ... Lal Iputee, 22
... v Bhaimappa, 23 B 63, which again was followed in the High Court in case of Haji Bibi v. H H Sir Sultan Mahai 11 Bom L R 409 = 2 Ind Cas 847, and in our Court ...
Kunj Behury Lal, 16 C W N ... in Allahabad in th... and all these cases ...
Sidhari Pandey, 1 ... case of Ambar Ali ...
116 = 25 C L J 610 ...

... followed in the case ... A I R 1923 Cal 251, which is purported to ...
Cal 681 and in the case of Radha Krishna v Sarbeswar Nag, A I R ... the question of admissibility of such a document under s 32 of the Evidence ... has not at all been considered " See also ...
44 C L J 587 = 99 Ind Cas 910 = A I R ...
53 Ind Cas 863, Trimbak v Ganesh, 68 Ir...
Cas 329

In R ...

... on b...
... durin...
... by the then zemindar ... The zemindar relied upon a stateme... in the mehal, in which there ... many years pre... question that the original re...
Mr Justice Markby held that ... cannot ...

... does not appear to me to be a sta...
... of course, it would be his ... interest On the contrary so far as regard... possible." It is clear that the view ... consonant with the principle underlyi... guarantee to the trustworthiness of ...
Couch C J and Ainslie J said "We c...
Judge that this statement was not ad... which the interest in the mehal ... it is against ...
cut down the p...

... mount of the original ...
... a document of this kind ...
... rts, and the part which is ...
... interest of the proprietor ... either, taking the doc... which is against his inter... favour. In the circumstances there was nothing to impeach the judgment of Mr. S. 3 63 and

sion on Calcutta
even in Kunj
ing the trans-
s either extin-

and Cas 752,
g any reason
7, it was held
in evidence

land then conveyed was limited by certain boundaries, was an admission that their proprietary interest did not extend over any land outside the boundaries mentioned The entire statement was consequently admissible (Higham v Ridgway, 10 East 109, Connar v Fi Nanson, L R 2 Q B 326, and R v Exe is that the statement is accepted, not interest of the person rpose boundaries may how a statement of that nature can be said to be against the proprietary interest of the person making it, is some what difficult to ascertain ' This view is supported by the following observation of Sir Richard Garth in Brojesuari v Budhanudhi, 6 C 268, where the learned Chief Justice observed ' A recital in a deed or other instruments is in some cases conclusive, and in all cases evidence as against the parties who make it But it is no more evidence as against third persons than any other statement would be " See also Brojomohan v Gaya Prosad, 30 C W N 761, Chooni v Nilmadhab, 41 C L J 374, Radha v Sorbesuar, 29 C W N 469 death as a statement against his proprietary interest. Wills Ev 192 And a fortiori if it shows that he has no interest in the land whatever Ibid This is based on the well known rule of law, that a person in possession of land is presumed, until the contrary appears, to be the owner thereof in fee simple Grey v Redman, 1 therefore is not the land occupied against his interest to deny his possession of one close than it is to assert his

the subject matter of the document cannot be regarded as having been against the pecuniary or proprietary interest of the person making it within the meaning

S. 32 of section 32(3) of the Evidence Act and is consequently inadmissible in ev. Kumud Kumari v Dilsool Roy 101 Ind Cas 512 – 15 C L J 53 Dandajam In re 8 Ind Cas 968, contra Lalu Singh v Sahadeo Singh 36 Cas 610

CLAUSE IV

exposing them to constant contradiction Phip Ev 7th Ev 285

declarations are admissible in ev in ca he Berkeley Peerage Case, 4 Cam Mansj deceased persons who are su to have had a personal knowledge of the facts, and to have stood quite h ed are received in evidence In case of general rights, which depend intervals of time, direct proof of their existence therefore ou required

Administrative requirements Necessity Before secondary evidence unsworn statements can be received as proof of the fact asserted it is es ent here as in other instances of the use of secondary evidence that the pr proof of the oral testimony of the declarant should be shown to be unavail and that in consequence, a sufficient administrative necessity to procure dary evidence has been placed on the proponent A declaration of this is said to be admissible, 'where no better evidence can be had" Chamberlay Ev § 2791

tions
7 A & prove answ
being rightly ascertain conceive the exception reputation c inve tigate t existence of
be given'

sanction or test deemed equivalent for ascertaining the tru in a manner the purpose of cross examination After an ordeal it is reasonably safe to accept the result as an estab Wigmore § 1583 So the guarantee of its credibility consists in the co

of a large number of persons, all interested in and therefore likely to ascertain the truth of an opinion which if untrue, would be surely challenged Wills' Ev 2nd Ed 222; Wright v Doe, 7 A & E 313 in H L 4 Bing N C 489; R v Bedfordshire, 4 E & B 535.

Origin of the Rule "At the time of the definite immergence of the Hearsay rule—that is, by the end of the 1600 S there remained in existence a practice more or less loose, of receiving the repute of the community ... of ... pod ... the jury could in any case have considered, had they otherwise known of it, would be unnatural and improbable But with the final shaping of the Hearsay rule's limits, and the conscious statement of specific exceptions, in the first half of 1700 S and with the progress and final s ... doctrine that the jury could consider ... evidence in Court, the use of common ...

by the

Subjective Relevancy—Adequate knowledge Unless the situation presented to a presiding judge is such that knowledge on the part of a given declarant as ...

... of general ... Barnet, C M ... L R Ir ... een, 75 L J ... with respect ... Ev. ... imu- ... the ... ving that from their situation they probably were conversant with the matter of which they were speaking" Bow v Allenstown, 34 N H, 351, 366 When however, the circumstances show that the declaration is made otherwise than upon the declarant's own knowledge it will, even when relating to a public right, be inadmissible (Devonshire v Neill supra) Phip Ev 286

Scope of the Section 'Evidence is to be admitted from old persons . . of what they have heard other persons ...

... affecting classes of the community cannot be excluded, or relaxation the

S. 32. rule against the admission

If the question were have a right to use and the that evidence of reputation for follo individu
in but t
C J in excludin tion, or c
interest,
in whicl
J in Hall v Mayo 97 Mass 416, Green v Chelsea, 24 Pick 80; Dunraven v Llewellyn, 15 Q B 791, Queen v Bedfordshire, 4 E & B 535 But the d... tion must relate to the general right, and not to particular facts which ... or negative it R v Bliss, 7 A & E, 550; Crease v Barrel, 1 C M & R ... R v Berger (1894) 1 Q B 823, Mercer v. Denne (1905) 2 Ch ... Radcliffe v Marsdon 72 J P 475, Fowke v Berington, (1914) 2 Ch 308, ... 13, Tay § 617 Phip Ev 7th Ed 287

The best way to
as far back as livin regard to the precedin is not however essen
any evidence of moder ... admissibility of such evidence Crease v Barrel, 1 C M & R 919, 930, Dunraven v Llewellyn 1 Q B 791 (804); Wills Ev 229 Facts in issue are relevant facts within the meaning of section 32 of the Evidence Act, and statements made by deceased persons about facts in issue are admissible under the section Raghubhusana v Vidiavarudhi; 34 Ind Cas 875, disapproving Patel v ... 15 B 565

This clause permits proof to be given of a statement of a deceased person that in his family or in the ... of the caste to which he belonged ... and such ... been likely statement b Parbati v C
to give his ...
grounds of that opinion, information derived from deceased persons ... must be the expression of an independent opinion based on hearsay ...

2 L R Ir 159 60, Phip Ed 7th Ev 286

Staten ... of individual ...

was always regarded such is always receival R 14 So also maps are also receivable R v Milton, 1 C. & K. 62; Wigmore ...
Alcock v Cook, cited, 1 Ph Ev 251
The same rule is applicable in Dow 297; Smith v Earl Brownlow ...
2 Ch 303. Maps prepared by o... matter may also be received. Hammond v Bradstreet, 10 ...
Fulcher 1 E & E, 111. Copies of Court rolls can also be ... section Plaxton v Dare, 10 B. & C 17; Att. Gen v. Emerson, ... 649, Roe v Parker, 5 T. R 26. So also deeds and leases, between ...

S.

In Brisco v
it is as goo
certainly dif
reputation, for a jury are summoned from the country at large, and are not themselves likely to know of the matter Yet where the matter has been before went by default Neil v Devonshire, supra Similarly judgments, decrees, and orders of Courts and of similar bodies, if final, are admissible as evidence of reputation Step Dig Ev Art 30 But here also the persons acting as Judges had no knowledge of the ing Rogers v Wooc

v. Villebois, 13 M
8 A & E 198; but s
this section a statem
tion i e the fact that no one in the region had ever heard of the right, custom, or boundary being as alleged should be admissible as a negative reputation Drinkwater v Porter, 2 C & K 182; Anglesey v Hatherton, 10 M & W 239; Wigmore § 1595

Declarations as to public or general interest In proof of public or general rights or customs or matters of public or general interest, statements

s. 32. Hicke, 15 Q B ... General rights are those ... which some class of ... interest, as for example those which are based on the customs of manors (... esston, 12 East, 62, ... Barrett, 1 ... R 919), parishes (Berry v Banner, Pea 106, Evans v Merthyr, (1 ... v Crisp, 4 M & W 320) or which are connected ... (Evans v Rees, 10 A & E 151), hamlets (Thomas Jenkins, ...) and manors and ancient division of manors (Barnes Mawson 1 M & S 77), Wills Ev 2nd Ev 222 For the purpose o... rule, the test what is public is as to whether the subject in question ... general sustained, and, as it were, spirited discus... of a correct opinion Where ... although ... So the ... ts of pri... forms the ... subject matter of the ...

The question next arises, about what ... reputation be received as trustworthy The principle already examined ... the answer —that the ... in its nature one about which a trustworthy community reputation ... an active, constant and intelligent discussion by ... residuum of fairly trustworthy conclusions As a ... say that the matter should be one of public, or general or public ... interest, and this is the common phrasing though it varies loosely But this is still only a rule of thumb To decide difficult cases it is necessary still to seek the living principle and ask anew whether the matter is of such general interest to the community that by the thorough sifting of active, constant and intelligent discussion a fairly trustworthy reputation is likely to arise Wigmore 1586 see also R v Antrobus 2 A & E 793 R v Bedfordshire, 4 E & B 53... Declarations made ante litem motam by persons who are now dead in respect of a question relating to a matter of general or public interest even if they be no more than evidence of reputation or hearsay evidence, are admissible Busoid v Aeuaj, A I. R 1929 Cal 533 ... C W N 439

Interest "The term 'interest' here does not mean that which is interesting from gratifying curiosity or a love of information or amusement, but that in which a class of the community have a pecuniary interest or some interest by which their legal rights or liabilities are affected" Per Lord Campbell, C J in Queen v Bedfordshire, 4 E & B 535 The interest spoken of in the rule is that of ownership or some lesser prope... in the chattels land or franchises to which an individual may prope... being a member of the public more or less extended ... from ownership is no ground for ... assertions regarding it Cham... Ev § ...

Boundaries An extra ... to the position ... boundary, being on a matter of ... to have been made by one posse... an assumption may be made in favour of any ... resident in the community affected by the position of a public ... of actual knowledge may at any time be demanded by the presum... Chamberlayne's Ev § 2793

Public custom Where a house in a village is privately sold, proof of a custom in ... the remainder of the village gets one-fourth of the purchase ... of a similar custom with regard to sales ... 47 (48) F R ... a let ... infor ... to a ... Sivanatha, 17 ... customs ... heads of districts are often accepted as ... 439, ... Ev 190, see also Paul Rai v Ram Hit, 1 N W ... Mahomed, 3 N W P. 204

Opinion What is offered must be in effect a reputation, not the assertion of an individual. But reputation includes and is often learned ...

S.

witness was "What have you heard old men, now deceased, say as to the reputation on this subject?" Thus, though in form the information may be merely what deceased persons have been heard to say about a custom, yet in effect it comes or ought ... putation. Wigmore § 1581, see also ... Porter, 2 C. & K 182, Earl of ... lebank v Thompson, (1903) 2 Ch 3-; ... putation from deceased persons" But "reputation is no other than the hearsay of those who may be supposed to have been acquainted with the fact, handed down from ... ase it is ... heard ... E 679. In Mercer v Denne (1904) 2 Ch 534, the suit was for enforcing fishing rights. ... 1639, under an information by the Attorney- ... ich the sea extended was excluded In rejecting ... at p 543 "I am of opinion that these depositions are not admi... right which the Crow... the depositions of ... on the question to ... witnesses in other actions are admissible against strangers amongst other cases, if they relate to a custom where reputation would be evidence, but then those ... eputation and not of matters of ... iorities .. that reputation as ... also Ireland v Powell, cited in Reg v Bliss, 7 Ad & E 555 In Ireland v Powell, supra, the question was whether a turnpike stood within limits of a town, and though evidence of reputation was received to show that the town extended to a certain point, yet declarations by old people since dead that those houses formerly stood ... he ground that those ... Denne, (1905) 2 Ch

(1914) 2 Ch 308 So the reputation ... "I know the right and custom to ... understand the general acceptance of the custom by the community to be such and such" is admissible The deceased individual declarant is merely the mouthpiece of the reputation Whenever, therefore, individual declarations are

: Birell, 1 C M & R 925, Drinkwater v Porter, 7 C & P 181 But in Barraclough v Johnson, 8 A & E 99 Lord Denman C J said 'I do not agree that it is necessary for persons giving an opinion as to the publicity of a way to state that they found them from reputation although ' reputation The st some extent ' In I establish that althc matters of public an inference of fact allows evidence of opinion in respect of any matter of public or general interest, the test being whether the deceased person expressing the opinion was likely to have had knowledge In the case of Mohants, even if they may have had knowledge by means of oral tradition handed down from Mohant to Chela, the opinion would be relevant but not particular facts. Ram Prasad v Shiv ... 12 Lah 497 = A I R 1931 Lah 16

Opinion must be of competent person. The reputation to be admissible must obviously have been formed among a class of persons who were in a position to have sound sources of information and to constitute intelligently to the formation of the reputation Wigmore § 1591 In Weeks v Sparks 1 M & S 698, Le Blanc J said "And the only evidence of reputation which was received was that from persons connected with the district . The rule generally adopted upon qu after a foundation is one the evidence of reputation what old persons who were in a situation to know what these rights are may have been heard to say concerning them ' "Evidence of reputation upon general points is receivable, because all mankind being interested therein, it is natural that they would discourse together about t information Per Lord Kenyon in More is thus laid down by Parke B in Crease v hood But where the right is really public—a claim of ... ted, it seems difficult to ... which all are concerned ... but of course it would ... are shown to have some ... frequently using the road in dispute See also Duke of Bea... 4 Exch 467 (469), Daniel ...

... influence of bias or of the partisan warmth of feeling developed statement untrust- to the admissibi- , before the dispute has

3 C
B
C
9 P. resp

have had a personal knowledge of the facts, and to have stood quite disinterested are received in evidence In cases of general rights, which depend upon immemorial usage, living witnesses can only speak of their own knowledge to what has passed in their own time, and to supply the deficiency, the law receives the declarations of persons who are dead Therefore, however, the witness is

them would lead to the most dangerous consequences Accordingly, I know no rule better established in practice than this, that such declarations shall be excluded With respect to questions of prescription, I have known many be made before even the existence of any actual controversy, concerning the subject matter of the declaration Davies v Lowndes, 6 M & G 473 (518) So a dispute was . G, 30 L J P eclarations, has otton 3 Camp at eceased persons (are admitted) upon public rights, made ante litem motam, when there was no existing dispute respecting them, is that these declarations are considered as disinterested, dispassionate and made without any intention to serve a cause or mislead posterity, but the case is entirely altered post litem motam, when a con-

has arisen, or might tend to support the declarant's own title will not of itself be sufficient to exclude them Doe v Davies, 10 Q. B 314 Halsbury Vol 13 p 469 So "there must be, not merely facts which lead to a dispute, but a lis mota, or suit,

S. 32. or controversy preparatory to a suit, actually commenced, or dispute arisen, ar that upon the very same pedigree or subject in litigation." Per Lord Denman in Davies v. also Slaney v. Wade, 1 Myl. & Cr. 338, 643; Frederick v. Att. G motam may, however, versy on the subject aros

Statement admissible signature of the settlement prepared on the information of the village, it was held clause (1) as well as under section 35 of the Evidence Act. Baij Nath v. Singh, 12 O. L. J 571 = 2 O. W. N. 872 = L. R. 6 O. 101. Neither clause (4) nor clause (5) of section 32 of the Evidence Act justifies the admission of Hearsay proved under that section. Musammat Parbati v. Ram Chandrapal.

CLAUSES V AND VI.

Ev. p. by a much greater latitude persons from whom the S. T. 1166, 1179, ist. 327n; R. v. Eriswell, [1790] 3 T. R. 707], 1808, little difficulty was made about accepting Soon however, this use of reputation became limited to matters of pedigree and geneology. In King v. The Inhabitants of Erith, 8 East sible only declaration were held in restricted in Johnson v. "But evidence of that kind would namely, family, of relations admissibility of such evidence could before the testimony be admitted, have to the degree of intimacy or confidence that It we look into to the declarations Berkeley Peerage Case, 4 Camp. 401 (1811) that the declaration litem motam. Phip. Ev. p. 298.

Shamlal v Radha, 4 C. L R. 173; Anadi v Nandlal, 46 A 665 So also where Act Sangram Singh v Rajan Bhai, 12 C 219=12 I A 183 (P C) But this clause does not cover statements of facts made by interested parties in denial, in the course of litigation, of pedigrees set up by the opposite parties Narain v. Chandi, 9 A 467=A W N 1887, 118 "The statement declared to be relevant by the 5th clause is a statement relating to the existence of any relationship between persons alive or dead (the language imposes no restriction), ... is special means of ... by the Calcutta and ... corresponding rule ... n which the question ... een certain persons Ram Chandra v Jogesua ...

Oriental G S Company ...
Oudh Select Case 265 ... admission of what for the ... question whether a particular person survived another, and it is obvious that this clause does not justify the ... a man was at the time ... of his family' Parbati v ... ence of relationship, the statements of the deceased relations, servants and dependants every instance, it must be a question of fact as to whether the person who made the statement had special means of knowledge Rama Krishna v Tirunarayana, A. I R 1932 Mad 198=62 M L J 116 The effect of the section is to make a

I. P Code Wahid Bux v. Emperor, A. I. R 1929 Sind 250.

S. 32. Scope of Clause (6).

evidence on questions of rel .

Held, that

vering the

ment
to the 32 of th entries
marrig ledge
the hor
have to decide is not Similarly in a suit tendered in mother and of his marr
ment on it, that the horoscope was not admissible under s 32, cl 6 of the Evidence Ramnarain Kallia v Monu Bibee, 9 C 613 In delivering the judgment J said "The document tendered is not a statement relating to the exi ten of any relationship by blood, marriage, or adoption, between persons decea It only purports on the face of it to be a statement of relationship betwee a deceased person and a livi such a case It is not sup to the affairs of the family age of a person who is al of a family pedigree But I am of opinion that it does not come with words in the sub-section But there is another objection to the admi of the document which is fatal Section 32 says that 'statement written o verb l unreasonable' may be admitted in certain cases On the plainti evidence it appears that he does ... wrote the horoscope, or the endorsement on it, and therefo cannot be found, or become inca opinion that the document is Lal, supra, Pethararn C J observ of relationship,

which any ... n a family pedig tombstone, such statements are usual made" Fa

Pedigr t family records handed down from gener ew member of the family died or was born, but were drawn upon a particular occasion for a specific purpose
... made by the
were

Mathura Prashad, 13 C W N 1 = 10 Bom L R. 1038 = 8 C L ...
Cas. 175 (P C) The point of view with which the decision of the ques as to proof of a certain pedigree should be approached is that if the docu mentary evidence on which the plaintiff relies is found to be reasonable, expli and reliable the oral evidence which consists mainly of the depositions of the members of the family should also be accepted as trustworthy, being consistent with the documentary evidence On the other hand if the docu mentory evidence is not of the character mentioned above the oral eviden

S. 3

Ind Cas
an Evidence lawful by Sadik Ali, 2
O. C 115

English Law. Declarations relating to pedigrees are allowed where they were made, before the commencement of the suit, by a deceased person provided the person making them was related by blood to the person to whom they refer, or was the husband or wife of such person McKelvey's Ev 271, see also Shrewsbury Peerage Case, 7 H L Cas at p 26 Under the term "Pedigree" are eml but when forr , marriage, and others or son v 447 In R. ven on a stri words the declarations of deceased persons respecting the places where their relatives were born, and where they were married resided, went to, or died, cannot be received But in Shields v Boucher, 1 De G & S 40, Sir J L Knight Bruce V C said . 'If the place of birth in Rex v Erith, had been a geneological fact as it was not,—had been material namely for any geneological purpose, which it was 's Bench might possibly have v Beauchamp, Hubl Ev of Monkton v Att Gen, 1 Deg 98 So 'declarations of the affinity only, when the pa in short, which is strictly speaking, matter of pedigree, may be proved as matter relating to the condition of the family by the declarations of deceased ously Per such jected with, the question of pedigree, or when they are not required for some geneological purpose (Haines v Guthrie, 13 Q B D 818) they will be rejected Phip Ev 7th Ed 298

(2) like statement in a deed or will relating to the affairs of the family or in any family pedigree etc when made before the question in dispute was raised Section 50 provides that when the Court has to form an opinion as to relationship of one person to another the opinion expressed by conduct as to the existence of such relationship of any person who, as a member of the family or otherwise, has special means of knowledge on the subject is relevant Per Mullick J in Bibi Fatma v Abdul Kasim, A I R 1928 Pat 539 = 110 Ind Cas 428 In India it is difficult to prove such facts as the date of birth after the lapse of many years, and it would be unreasonable to demand such a class of evidence as would justly be demanded in England But the evidence must be such as to carry conviction to the mind Nawal Sha ba Begam v Nanhi Begam 11 C W N 130 (P C) = 1 M L T 429

(by) requiring the facts from the mouth of the witness who has the knowledge

S. 32. of them In cases of pedigree, therefore, recourse is had to a secondary sort of evidence,—the best the nature of the subject will admit, establishing the descent from Peerage Case, 4 Camp being impossible to prov the declarations of de
the reputation must proceed on particular facts, such as marriages, births and the like, from the necessity of the thing, the hearsay of the family as to these particular facts is not excluded" In the same case Lawrence J observed the family is of which) would In Stark v pose the ground is that they were matters relating to long time past, and that it was necessary to relax the strict rules of evidence for the purpose of doing justice" So declarations under clauses 5 and 6 are admissible when his evidence is not procurable. Vide Ram Narayan v Monee, 9 C. 613; Surjan v Sardar, 5 C W N 19 P. C.

Circumstantial guarantee ness of such a statement is thus Ves 511 "It was not the op tradition, generally, is evidence persons having such a connection natural and likely, from their speaking the truth, and they could that: declarations in the family, descriptions upon monuments, descriptions in Bibles and registry books,—all are admitted upon principle that they are the natural effusions of a party who must know the truth, and who speaks upon an occasion when his mind stands in an even position, without any temptation to exceed or fall short of the truth" In R v Eriswell, 3 T R 720, Ashhurst J said "It is natural for persons to talk of their own situations and of their families The evidence is in its nature of an unsuspicious kind, it is generally ... or even thought them are proved to be dead or incapable of giving evidence ... 63, see ... Mahomed, 84 Ind Cas 927=6 Lah L J 299=A I. R 1925 Lah ... Prohlad v Ramsaran, 38 C. L J 213.

two points to be Illustration
ut differs from of a person vidence is that of things, such as geneological trees, tomb stones etc. Clause (5) refers to relationship between any persons (living or dead) whereas clause (6) refers to

S. 3

ble
er
in
is nt
is not necessary that it should have been made by a person who had special means of knowledge, but it must be contained in a will or deed relating to the affairs of the family to which any such deceased person belonged, or in a family pedigree, or upon tombstone, family portrait or other thing on which statements are usually made" Field's Evidence 6th Ed. p 139, Norton Ev 188

the te consi or by whether the statement offered be an individual's assertion or the family repute. Wigmore § 1195; see also Colbel's Estate, 51 Mont 455, Young v State, 36 Or. 417.

Tr 1166, 1179, 1181,
ion in the neighbour-
Wood, 14 East p
remember the case of plaintiff to J F In delivering his judgment Best C J said "Consanguinity, or affinity by blood, therefore, is not necessary, and for this obvious reason, that o be informed of the state of the family of relation who is distantly connected by deceased persons to have been made made post litem m

Moo & Rob. 28) Similarly in Crispin v Daglion, 3 Sw & Tr 44, Sir Cress-

. 32. ucll Cresuell observed "I can well understan l that where a m tter is l kely to be discus ed and well l nown in a family, a member of the fam ly may b allowed to give evidence of it, but in 'this case the plaintiff according to h own by o
with But
woul
of the fai connectio however the adopt that in
and also of persons who though not related by blood or marriage to the were intimately acquainted with its members and state, shall be admissible evidence after the death of th declarant extent as those of decease l members of t

The law presumes against vice an l strongly in favour of marriage It will ceremony is invariably insisted upon ye irs after it took place to the class to which the parties belong The law therefore relaxes the rules evidence and in the ab presume marriage on p statements of persons behaviour of the cou their general repute
50 of the Evidence Act

Statement mu
during the course of
of trustworthine s must have been made ante litem motam Wigmore § 148? In ... Case, 4 Camp 401, Mansfield C J said 'In the Inglesca Cause m ny declarations of deceased persons were given in evidence, but after an attentive exam nation I can not find that any of these had been made after the dispute had occurred

I am not aware of any other authority upon the subject in our law, but the distinction of declarations ante litem motam and post litem motam is clearly taken in a foreign treatise of great learning, entitled De Probationib s I have now only to notice the observation that to exclude declarations you must show that the lis mota was known to the person who made them There is no such rule The line of distinction is the origin of controversy and not the commencement of the suit After the controversy has originated all declarations are to be excluded, whether it was or was not known to the witness If a enquiry were to be instituted in e controversy was or was not kno would be wasted and great confusi conceive that the deposition now same case the reason for the exclusion, is thus stated by Heath their minds contest has or g nated ... le or the other been by & M 160 Brougham L C observed "If there be lis mota or a ... has precisely the same effect upon a person's mind with litis contestatio what person's declaration ceases to be adm ssible ... It is no longer a strong Lord Eldon calls a natural eff... If he be because

Wigmore § 1483 So where declarations are made post litem not admissible, erest, S. 3 and not to have C J in Doe v Ranla ct of adoption of th which the question of adoption was directly in issue, such statements should not be admitted in evidence in the present suit under subsection 5 section 32, as they are not made before the question is dispute was raised Ramkrishna v Tiru- M L J 116 Declarararations as to the inadmissible in evidence if made post ore the commencement of legal proceed ings, but before even the existence of any actual contoversy concerning the is made in the obvious interest of the Mahomed Ikam v Saiud Mahomed,

he Roman law, but the term lis mota ement of the action, and was not t in our law the term lis is taken controversy, and by this lis mota is oversy, and not the commencement of the suit Tay § 692, see also Berkeley Peerage Case, 4 Camp 417 Monkton v Att Gen 2 Russ & My 161 Gee v Ward, 7 E & B 509 The ground on which evidence of this description is excluded is the supposition that, when a ly to range themselves or to have imbibed their would become tainted at its very source Goodere Camp 417, Mr Justice Lawrence said "W and even good will, tempt many who , to deviate from the truth in the laxity of conversation Can it be presumed that a man stands perfectly indifferent, upon an existing dispute respecting his kindred? His declarations post litem motam—not merely after the commencement of the law suit, but after the dispute has arisen, for that is the primary meaning of the word lis—are evidently more likely to mislead the jury than to direct them to a

by a man who has an interest

It was once said by Baron Alderson in Wallace v Beauchamp 6 C & P 561 that it was sufficient if at the time of the declaration the state of facts existed (for example the birth of a child) as to which the controversy afterwards arose is to the controversy and to Although the dictum of Baron
Scott N R
Att Gen 30
L C said
nce is not the xistence of a v Lowndes,
facts which may lead to a dispute, but a lis mota or suit, or controversy preparatory to a suit actually commenced, or dispute arisen and that upon the very same pedigree or subject matter which constitutes the question in litigation See also Slaney v Wade, 1 Myl & Cr 338 (356), Butler v Mountgarret, 7 H L Cas 633, Fredrick v Att Gen 44 L J P & M 1 In Bahadur Singh v Mohar Singh, 24 A 94 (107) P C the principal oral evidence consisted of statements made by the plaintiff as to their descent the information as to which they had received from their ancestors Objection was taken that such of these statements as were made since 1847 were inadmissible in

S. 32. evidence under clauses 5 and 6 of section 32 of the Evidence Act (I of 1872)

'd that they were a inadmissible, dispute

exclusion would not apply to what was done in prevention of dispute, even were it in support of the title of the declarant; and although in the belief that his title would be affected by the same circumstances as the party seeking to avail himself of the declaration. Thus in Goodright v Moss, Cowper. 591, Lord Mansfield in receiving such evidence said 'I have known advice given to a father and mother to make attested declarations in writing under their hand of the pres... a time of the truth

In Moncton v Att Gen. 2 Russ & My. 161, Lord Brougham ascribed L Mansfield's view of admissibility to the principle that the declaration was— made with a view to their own interest, but to preserve a constat as it were, record of facts peculiarly within their knowledge (which is one of the m grounds of admitting such hearsay evidence); see Lovat Peerage Case, L R App Cas ... ham in Sa v Wade, ... Fitzgerald, 6 Eq R 335 ... by interest parties in ... their opponen Naraini Kuar v Chandi Din, 9 A 467. So also depositions made for th purpose of another suit are inadmissible if the same point was in issue, b otherwise ...
Wills Ti...
(lis mota)
Per Lord
Freeman ...
Devonshir... whose de...
pars jure, ...
open to ...
entitled in ...
the time ... possessor of the ... admissible for a party claiming through her. Doe v Tracer, Ry. & M ...

But he admits that this principle must not be pushed too far. Accor... section 32, clauses (5) and (6) such evidence is admissible although the question ...

some feeling of interest, which will often cast suspicion on the declarat... has never been held to render them inadmissible."

Again, any controversy to exclude must be on the particular subject in issue, controversy in a merely analogous one, but not the issue itself, not necessarily carrying with it the elements of mistrust. Thus in a case respecting copy

S.

where the point in controversy is foreign to that which was before controverted, there never has been, a lis mota, and consequently the objection does not apply."

1 law, that knowledge Russ & M. pressed, that it is given in evidence as hearsay must only respecting the such distinction. the party knew of his own personal knowledge, or as is much more frequently the case, to what he heard from others to whom he gave credit; for they are only adduced as evidence of reputation in the family, and that is the only mode in which the tradition in a family can be proved, and the subject matter of that tradition can

511 (514); Shedden v. Att. Gen., 30 L J. P. M. 217. But if instead of being matters within their personal knowledge Tay. § 639, see also Doe v Randall, 2 M. & P. 20, Slaney v Wade, 7 Sim 611, Robson v Att Gen 10 Cl. & Fin. 500. So also proof by one of a family, that many years before, a younger brother of the person last seised had gone abroad, that the reputation in the family was that he had died there, and that the witness had never heard in the family of his having been married, is presumptive evidence of his death without issue. Doe v. Griffin, 15 East. 293.

not therefore necessary. Monkton v. Att. Gen. 2 Russ. & M. 160; Berkeley

S. 32. Peerage Case, 1 Camp 416. The difficulties, then that arise are concerned with the line between declarants that may fairly be supposed to be thus qualified like? Secondly, shall any li for example, according as the consanguinity or by affinity?

be supposed to be present whenever there are found persons facts' 'having an opportunity to know the facts, or holding a relation rendering it very probable that he would learn them truly' If it is so the line need not be drawn strictly at relatives But in the language of Lord Erskine the interest of the person in knowing the connections of the family (Whitelocke v Young, 13 Ves 140) does require the line to be drawn there, excluding non-relatives" Wigmore §§ 1486, 1487 See also Annesley v Anglesea, 17 How St Tr 1160, Rooms v Wolseley, 2 Lee Eccl, 135; Duchess of Kingston's Trial 20 How St Tr 355, Berkeley Peerage Case, 4 Camp 401; Walker v Wingfield 18 Ves 443; Johnson v Lawson, 2 Bing 86; Casey v O'Shaughnessy, 7 Jur 140, Pohin v Gray, L R 12 Ch D. 126 But "such a narrow test seems too narrow Even in England, where so much of personal advancement and material prosperity for the individual depended upon his family rank and his rights of inheritance, it seems too much to say that only those who have the immediate property interest in learning the family history can possibly have adequate information; for family physicians and chaplains, old servants, and intimate friends may, in cases be equally and sufficiently informed" Wigmore § 1487 The only
Lawson, 2 Bing
the family for rejection said it would be a namely, the con
family, affords such evidence w testimony could of intimacy or confidence that subsisted between the party and the declarant"

"It may be noted," says Prof Wigmore "as to this reasoning, first, that the result is inconsistent with the general language used in the earlier judicial opinions, and is supportable only on the narrow test of Lord Erskine before mentioned, secondly, that the special reason given, namely, the inconvenience of an investigation into sources of knowledge, is anomalous in the law of Evidence, for no Court is allowed to decline to investigate the sources of a witness's qualifications so far as may be necessary, while in each case the Judge's discretion permits, and old would surely be no more found to be" Wigmore § 14

Special means of knowledge ... statement admissible names of persons from whom they ... as to the Devi Kariappa, 6 Mys. L J 375 A ... ledge and existence of relationship, the person having special means of knowledge was called 267=123 Ind. Cas 907. Family bards have special means of knowledge regarding the facts of the relationship between the different members of the families of their jajmans Consequently statements made by them as regards the relationship between members of the family would be admissible in evidence under 32(5). Anandi v Nand Lal, 22 A L J 657=46 A 665 It is the business of a mirasi, who is a hereditary family bard, to acquaint himself recounts in song hearsay does not rel

Abdul Ghafer v 1
L. J. 583 (P C)
Court had special m
cannot be received in evidence and it cannot be accepted as evidence that he had knowledge Proof of special source of knowledge is a pre requisite to the admission of the document in evidence and until the document is received in evidence no presumption can be made from the statement contained in it Bhima v Mt Sender, 9 O L J 186=4 U P L R (O C) 79 Before a pedigree said to have been prepared by a deceased member of family can be admitted in evidence under section 32 (5) it must be proved that it was either prepared by the deceased or that the deceased had that personal knowledge and belief which must be presumed in any statement of the deceased person which is admissible in evidence Mahomed v. Saiyid, A I R 1931 Oudh 1d7=8 O W N 349

Qualifications of the declarant Upon the general principle of testimonial knowledge, the qualifications of the deceased declarant—his relationship, or whatever is relied upon as equipping him with information—must be shown in advance Banbury Peerage Case, 2 Selw N P 764, see also Taylor § 640, Wills Ev 213 214 In India the existence of special means of knowledge in the

e he does not come
It no where appears that he had any other knowledge than as mukhtear acting for these ladies He is not shown to have been a member of the family, to have been intimately connected with it, or to have any special means of knowledge of the family concerns Therefore in their Lordship's opinion he does not come within the description of a person having special means of knowledge ' See also Bijay Bahadur v Bhupendra declarant has sufficier tion is Wigmore § 14 priest as to the relat clause 5 of section 32 Lal v Radha Bibee, 4 ( ment Court is admissible in evidence under s 32, cl 5 of the Evidence Act, was h 10
one efore ence
tion

32 suit, in which she stated, "I have no issue or any near relative Mati unal is related to me as a daughter's son and Khanati Lal is my husband's younger brother These are my relatives on the husband's side" In admitting the evidence Lord Shaw observed 'In this situation their Lordships are of opinion that, in the most solemn form, this lady had declared facts which must have been within the scope of h ... of the facts be sound, there can in their ment appealed from is correct' ntained in his deposition and in affidavits filed by him are admissible in evidence under section 21 (1) read with section 32 (5) of the Evidence Act, made by a person having special means of knowledge, whether personal or hearsay Tanrathim v Maru Goppi, 33 Ind Cas 969 Where the Court below had rejected the evidence of certain witnesses on the ground that it was hearsay only and had not conformed with section 32 of the Evidence Act and on the face of the evidence it was sometimes uncertain whether the witnesses were speaking ... knowledge or from information derived from other it ... which the nor in the latter case to question the manner in which the Courts ... the provisions of section 32 Safiquunnissa v Shaban, 26 A 581=9 C W N 105 P C, So where the witness is speaking from hearsay he must show that his knowledge is derived from the person whose statement is admissible under the section Vide Jugatpal Singh v Rajeshwar Singh, 25 A 43=7 C W N 99

Statements are admissible to prove the facts contained in the statement on any issue In England dec ... relevant only in cases in which the pedigree to whic ... it is only relevant to the issue is only admissible in England not where they are ... of in ... Thus in ... for goods sold ... to prove the plea deceased father in was held that the not admissible Haines v Guthrie, 13 Q B D 818, see also ... bune, 11 L J Q B 46 This rule thus interpreted, says that declarations otherwise satisfactory, can nevertheless be used in those cases only where the issue involves as material a question of pedigree, i e geneology,—and therefore inheritance cases Wigmore § 1503 This view seems to have its origin in the observation of Lord Ellenborough, C J in R v Erith, 8 East 539, where he observed 'This was a case in which the question was, whether the declaration of the father of a bastard child, as the place of his, the bastard's birth was competent of that fact? The only doubt which has been introduced into this case has arisen from improperly considering it as a question of pedigree The controversy was not as in a case of pedigree, from what parents the child has derived its birth but in what place an undisputed birth derived from known and acknowledged parents, has happened The point thus stated turns on a ... and therefore not falling within and is Settl ... Just Pe ... Tuchal, ... to make ... these declarations were first ... England in inheritance cases directly a part of the issue, bu ... litigation ought to have no bearing on the admission of these ... tion A deceased father's entry in a family Bible is equally trustworthy ... trustworthy whether the issue subsequently arising happens to be framed upon a promissory note, or in application S. 3 majority of American jurisdictions are now admitted whatever the general nature of pedigree, or descent, Inhabitants of Warr

of the authorities

pedigree, and when the incidents of cases, whenever they become Similarly in the colonies the ru D. 818, was not followed In section 32(5) of the Indian Evidence Act such evidence is admissible In Dhanumal v Ram Chunder, 1 C W N 270=24 C 265, a plaint in a former suit, verified by a deceased member of a family and as such having special knowledge, was held admissible under section 32(5) of the Evidence Act, to prove the order in which certain persons were born and their ages In delivering the judgment of the Court Petharam C J said It was contended on the part of the plaintiff on the authority of the English cases that as the question at issue in this case did not relate to the existence of any relationship by blood marriage he statements were excluded by the his point the law in India under England, and that the effect of the sons of Sumbho Nath were born and their ages, and when admitted to my mind, satisfactorily proves that the defendant was the son who was born on the 6th June, 1868 Similarly in Ram Chandra v Jogeswar 20 C 758, for the purpose of the decision of a question of limitation it was necessary to prove the date of the plaintiff's birth The plaintiff and one of his witnesses each spoke to statements made to him by relations of the plaintiff who were since deceased relating to the date of the plaintiff's birth The defendant objected to such

Bipin Behary Dey v Sreedam Chunder, 13 C 42 has been practically overruled by Dhunnmal v Ram Chandra, supra among upon

s the
com t and up—as

Stephens, Kent Assizes .
it has been said "Heare when he married, and what children he had, etc, of which it is not reasonable to presume I have better evidence So to prove my father, mother, cousin other relations, beyond the sea, dead; and the common reputation and belief of it in the family gives credit to such evidence" On the authority of R v Frith 8 East 539, the place of birth or death—something more than the fact of birth or death—has by some Courts been thought to be inadmissible But question was finally settled in England in Shields v Boucher, 1 De G & Sm where Knight Bruce said "If the place of birth in Rex v Frith had been genealogical fact, as it was not,—had been material, namely, for any genealogical purpose which it was not Lord Ellenborough and the Court of King's Bench differently" See also Lord & M 156 where he observed ship of consanguinity or of affinity only, are actual pedigree,

the decla
have been previously connected with the family respecting which their declarations are tendered" Moreover since the proof of a particular relationship often depends on the proof of some specific fact, such as birth, marriage or death, the date or place of place of residence history these facts of the rule when
Wills Ev 212, Monkton v Att Gen 2 Russ & Myl 147, 156; Betty v Ir C L 17 A statement as to the age of a member of a family made by his ceased person having special onship within the meaning of section 32 Narasimha Chari, 25 M 183, 209 see also Ram Chandra v Jogeswar Narain, 20 C. 758; Brijmbehari v

13 C 42

Contemporaneousness of the Statement It is not necessary to show that the declarations were contemporaneous with the events to which they relate for as Lord Brougham has well observed such a restriction "would defeat the

Att Gen, 2 Russ & My. 157, 158, Tay Ev § 639

excluded 'In cases
living witnesses of ge only to supp
dead right of way, or fact which would support reputation must proceed on like, from the necessity of the particular facts is not exclu neighbourhood, and family transactions among the relations of Therefore, what is thus dropped in conversation upon such subjects may be presumed to be true." Per Lord Mansfield in Berkeley Peerage Case 4 Camp. 401. S. 3

Cases under clause (5) Very liberal interpretation should be given to the words "when the statement relates to the existence of any relationship by blood family about certain iority of members of ishna Lal v Raj Kuar, 104 Ind Cas 299=1 Luck C 97=A. I R 1927 Oudh. 278 A statement as to the existence of a relationship is admissible even though it was made in a s clause Chandresuar, v mark of the party, appellant in his own

t
s
r
s 11, if not under s 32 (5) whether it is shown that the application was filed by a person who was admittedly the testator's nephew and claimed also to be his adopted son and therefore was in a position to know the date of his death and the a Lachn
T. 891
relatic 532;

any

that his father was
'6 Before a pedigree made by a person

relates to the existence of relationship by adoption Danakoti v Balsundara, 36 M 19=18 Ind Cas 989 A pedigree filed in a Settlement Court for the preparation of Kheuat cannot be put in evidence as a family pedigree under s.

S. 32 32 (6) It can be admitted only under s 32 (5) for which purpose it must be proved that the document represents statement as to the existence of a certain relationship by blood or marriage made by a person who had special means of knowledge in respect of the matters thus stated and made before the question now in dispute was raised Mathura v Bhulan, 15 O C 364, see also S[illegible] v Tilok Chand, 36 Ind Cas 66 A statement in a will made by the father describing his adopted son, aged [illegible] and so as the sole beneficiary is admissible to prove the age of the boy under s 32, cls 5 and 6 of the Evidence Act Krishnamachariar v Veeravalli, (1913) M W N 355 = 13 M L T 350 [illegible] L J 517 = 19 Ind Cas 152 The question for decision was whether the plaintiff was the legitimate daughter of one K and R The respondent contended that R was not the legally married wife of K, and in proof of it produced a compromise and a decree between R and another person by which R obtained only a small amount as maintenance He also relied upon a statement made by R on a certain occasion admitting that she was the concubine and not married wife of K It was held that the statement of R was admissible evidence under section 32 clauses (3) and (5) Parbati v Maharaj Singh [illegible] Cas 188 A statement made by a person before a public officer as to his age is [illegible] v Kondu [illegible] maternal [illegible] age Deb [illegible] Settlemen[illegible] that the [illegible] had a spe[illegible]

199 Hearsay evidence is not admissible under section 32 c[illegible] Evidence Act, to prove the case of fosterage, in as much as, even if it be assumed that connection by fosterage can amount to relationship in any sense of the term the relationship is not by blood, marriage or adoption Prince M[illegible] v Nawab Qudsia 21 Ind Cas 613 The term 'adoption' in clause (5) of section [illegible] of the Evide[illegible] ship betwee[illegible] meaning of t[illegible] other chela [illegible] ing of clause (5) of section 32 Achyutananda v Jagannath 21 C [illegible] Ind Cas 739 = 20 C W N 122 Statements contained in the plaint [illegible] [illegible] as to the existence of relat[illegible] a statement within the mean[illegible]

[illegible] A L J 349 = 39 A 426 Where the question is whether A born on a [illegible] death [illegible] date is of age an entry in a book containing the record of birth, death and marriages in the family kept by his father who is dead that he was born on a particular date, is admissible under this clause Mohamed Syedol v Yeo[illegible] Garl 21 C W N 257 = (191[illegible] 39 Ind Cas 401 (P C) A statement by [illegible] to X, as the sole wife of [illegible] person having special means of knowledge Krishna Theva [illegible] (1917) M W N 201 [illegible]

[illegible]

ment is admis[illegible]ib[illegible] Mr Justice Mooker[illegible] that the section [illegible] should be excluded, first because it relates not to the existence [illegible] non existence of a relationship, and, secondly, because the relationship [illegible]

a Mohunt and his chela is not a relationship by adoption On behalf of the defen- S. 32

13 C 42, Satish Chandra v. Mohendra Lal, 17 C. 849 and Ram Krishna v. Manindra Mohun, 20 C L J 302. It is not necessary for our present purpo e to determine whether the fluctuation of judicial opinion indicated in the two sets of decisions mentioned, is more apparent than real, and whether they may not be reconciled by a recognition of the principle that a statement as to the time of commencement of relationship is so indissolubly associated with the existence itself of the relationship, that it may be rightly regarded, without undue strech of language, as a statement which relates to the existence of that relationship Oriental etc Co Ld v Narasimha 25 M 183, and Patambar Kuru v Raman, 2 that question, it

tion, viz, first, is t

by adoption, and, secondly, is a statement that A has one chela B, and has no other chela, a statement relating to the existence of a relationship? We are of opinion that both these questions should be answered in the affirmative In the first place, there is no reason why the term 'adoption should be interpreted in a restricted sense, that the expression that A has adopted B as his chela is found in judicial decisinos of the highest authority In the second place, the expression 'relates to the existence' is obviously very comprehensive and need not be

The statement was treated as admissible in evidence but was held not to be conclusive' evidence unde

ship by blood,

A document containing a statement of a deceased person as to the mode of succession obtaining in a particular family is also admissible in evidence Patambar Kuru v Raman 24 Ind Cas 519, see also Sheo Lal v Gour Narain, 7 Ind Cas 218

25 A. 236=5 Bom L R 410=30 I A. 91 See al o Kedarnath v Muthumal, 40 C 555 (P C) The legal presumption as to paternity raised by s. 112 of the Evidence Act is applicable only to the offspring of a married couple A person claiming as an illegitimate son must establish his

S. 32.

to be good respecting ...
declaration, the declarations of illegitimate members of the family ... persons who, thoug ... to the family ar intimately acquainte after the death of

Ghureeb Hossain ...
the age of a person, the entry of ... he statements of his deceased father ection 35 Munna Lal v Kameshar
A I R 1929 Oudh 113 A settlement of pedigree is admissible in evidence either under s 32 cl (5) if it be shown that it amounts to the statements of deceased persons, who were members of the family and as such had special means of knowledge and further that these statements were made before there was any controversy as ... said pedigree Sarfaraz v furni

that to w held
Act, but, in the case of an entry in the register in question, there is no ... show by whom the statement entered was made, much less that the person making the statement had any special means of knowledge Mr Collier v Mrs L Baran, 2 N L R 34 In an application for letters of administration the rights of the applicants to be considered the next heirs of the deceased depended on proof that the relationship between their great-great grandfather an ... was that of full brother and ...
sist
of
in or deed of exchange, dated the 17th January, ... The Kursinama as to the relationship were produced by the applicants ... nama was held admissible in evidence Shazadi v Secretary of State for India ... C 1059 P C

Cases under clause (6) Entries made by a parent or relation in Bibles, prayer books, missals, almanacs, or indeed in any other books or in any document or paper, stating the fact and date of the birth, marriage, or death of a child, or other relations are also received as the written declarations of the deceased persons who respectively made them, Tay Ev § 650 These statements may be made by the declarant's own writing, or by assenting to or adopt ... ally true whether the state ... epute Wigmore § 1495 ... said "An entry in a ... r pedigree hung up ... all good evidence" ...

...
formal one—as, a deed or will—does not make the ... Murray v Milner, L R 12 Ch D 845; Doe v. Pembroke, 11 East 504, ... 'Such statements ... deceased them, or did anything that amounts to showing that they recog-

S. 3.

"A pedigree, whether in the shape of a geneological tree or map, or contained in a book, or moral or monumental inscription, if recognised by a deceased member of the same family, is admissible, however early the period from which it purports to have been deduced On what ground is this admitted? It may be that the simple act of recognition of the document, and consequent

bers of the family, is his information may

tated to be relations, or of information received by him from some deceased member of what the latter knew, or heard from other members who lived before his time And if so, it may well be contended, that, if, the facts rebut that presumption, and show that no part of pedigree was derived from proper sources of information, then the whole of it ought to be rejected, and so also if there be some, but an uncertain and undefined part derived from improper sources But when the

to that extent, the statements in the
, and are good evidence of the relation adopted son that statemer the testator Chandressuar book regarding the relationship of parties are admissible under this clause Amrit Sana v Prabh Dial, 89 Ind Cas 989.

wills or deeds are admis-
D 845, Smith v Tebbit, L he principle that they are the natural effusions of a party who must know the truth, and who speaks upon , without any temptation teloche v Baker, 13 Ves e Case 4 Camp 418 But become admissible must 614 A written
has been set aside 10 M 362 So
7) does not render o not purport or it states only past
under section 32,
v Mult in Chand
does not prove 371 But when ma macharriar v Government v
, Subramanian

of parentage is been allowed
d members of e, 11 East, 501 Doe v Ormerod
and signature

S. 32. 16 So recitals of descent, and description of parties in deeds or other family instruments, will be received, provided the deeds come from proper custody and are proved or may from age be presumed, to have been executed by some member of the family to which the statements refer Marmayon Peerage Pr Min 111; Hastings Peerage Pr Min 200; Borthwick Peerage Pr Min 6[illegible] Hungate v Gascoigne, 2 Coop 417; De Roos Peerage, 2 Coop 541, Sales v Davies, 1 Mason 268 cited in Tay Ev § 651 But the execution of the deed by a relation is an inadmissible requisite Slaney v. Wade, 1 Myl & Cr [illegible] Fort v Clarke, 1 Russ 604; Tay Ev § 651 Though a person cannot claim title under an unprobated will he can rely upon a statement contained the[illegible] indicating the relationship of the parties. Hitnarain v Rambaran, 7 Pat 7[illegible] Pat L T 484 = A I R 1928 Pat 159 A statement, in a will left by a deceased person, to the effect that he and his brothers were living, earning and holding property separately, is not admissible in evidence under any clause of sect 32 nor under any other section of that Act Gokuldas v Chandibai, 48 L R 225 = 10 Ind Cas 967.

Fam. [illegible] mansion [illegible]
The word [illegible]
the stand [illegible]

ance tor to [illegible] time it is [illegible] and of the e[illegible] part of [illegible]
living [illegible]
tially, [illegible]
motive for preparing and preserving a record of family traditions [illegible]

as a [illegible]
occr [illegible]
be [illegible]
up [illegible]
observed "Nor do we think that the first portion of the observation [illegible] Lordships is intended to lay down an exhaustive definition of 'family pedigree' as used in cl 6 s 32, Indian Evidence Act 1872 Those two words [illegible] indicate the highest and the best type of family pedigree The decision does not show that a pedigree not conforming to that standard cannot be [illegible] genuineness Jagdeo v Vellabha [illegible] The mention [illegible] and the sons are found to be in joint possession of the property [illegible] shares the presumption is that the common ancestors held the property [illegible] Nur v Juan, A. I R 1928 Lah 964 A family pedigree may be a pedigree kept by a member of the family or by another person on its behalf and it can be admitted in evidence, if it is written by a family bard for the purpose of keeping a record of the family even for its use and the use of the family Such a record can be admitted even though not signed by the person making it

665=A I R 1924 All 575, see also S. 3
Ind Cas 235=24 Bom L R 289

of a Harduar purohit is valuable on a question of a family pedigree Tauga Singh v Allah Ditta, 133 Ind Cas 874=A I R 1931 Lab 722
It is valid to presume after the dea

v Khelat, 21 Ind Cas 274 A pedigree was filed before the Settlement Court in Gulraj, 16 Ind Cas 625 Although a Evidence Act may be made with respect to 32 (5) of the Evidence Act, though the entries in it were not of great value Ram Din v Kayestha Patshala 25 Ind Cas. 823 up were not any of the descriptions in section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act Sorjon v Sardar Singh, 23 A 72=2 Bom L R 492=5 C W N 49=27 I A 183 P C Where the a family governed by the custom of re can be no motive in the prepara of the first born as the first born would b status w eldest s but that Oudh 2

members of the family made ante litem motam before there was anything to

S. 32. throw doubt upon them, are evidence to prove pedigree And such statements by deceased members of the family may be proved not only by showing that they acted upon them or assented to them, or did anything that amounted to showing that they recognized them If any ... who presumably would ... pedigree, that evidence ... stances Abdul Ghaffur ... 58 I A. 188=12 Lah 336=60 M L
J 583 P C

Horoscope—evidentiary value of A horoscope may be tendered under clause 5 or clause 6 of section 32 or under ss 17 18 of the Evidence Act Under clause (6) of section ...

... writer is dead or ... moreover to come within this clause ... horoscope ... dence" ...
Lal, 17 C ... this claus ...
' Then the ...
been admitted as coming within ... reference to the horoscope This horoscope has ... 6 of that section That clause makes entries made by persons, evidence on questions of relationship by blood, marriage, or adoption, where the deceased person had some special means of knowledge As to that it is enough to say that it is not shown that the person who had made this horoscope had any special means of knowledge, and that the question which we have to decide is not one either of relationship by blood ... no special ...
tendered u...
to follow d... point As regards the meaning of the words 'on questions of relationship' the interpretation is also not sound Vide supra, also A C H Evidence Act p 336 I Note A horoscope is receivable in evidence under section 32, clause (5) of the Evidence Act and not under clause (2) of that section but the party making it must have had special means of knowledge Ramanathan v Murugappa 33 Ind Cas 269=1916 M W N ..., see also GopalChuah Hors v ...
Rattan ...

...
stated to ...
could be ...
refreshing ...
So a hor...
under sect...
it was writ...
140 A ...
Goundan, 1 ...

In Amardyal Singh v ... 511=58 Ind Cas 72, a ... one Ram Nandan Ram who ... his son to be in his fathe... scope could be admitted in evidence to ... admitting the horoscope Miller C J ... relationship between any of the parties a...

ments as to age made by deceased persons in the circumstances contemplated in the section were admissible The horoscope however, is merely evidence and is not conclusive and in face of the other conflicting evidence in the case I should have been inclined to remand the case for further consideration on this point the lito of the son s admissible in evidence

a relationship Anna
malai v Annamalai 10 L W 687=52 Ind Cas 496 Horoscopes deeds of adoption or of initiation as chela are admissible if the person writing them or hearing them read soon after their preparation is examined Shankergir v Chinnuji, 71 Ind Cas 140=A I R 1923 Nag 1 Horoscopes containing date of birth and prepared by a person having special means of knowledge and who is dead is admissible to prove date of birth A I R 1927 Pat 271=8 P L J 730=102 Ind Cas 449

Principle of authentication The principle of authentication as applicable to proof of the execution or genuineness of a writing is in general applicable to a writing offered under the present exception Slaney v Wade 1 My & Cr 338 Tracy Peerage 10 C & F 154 No special considerations here need attention except as regards the necessity of proving the handwriting of entries in family Bibles or the like The fundamental idea of authentication der an nly try t a 76

of 16
wn

to the family, and therefore may be presumed to possess that authenticity which is derived from the tacit and common assent of those interested in the facts which they record But such public exposure of the writing is not needed when it contains the signature of a specific member of the family and his signature is authenticated So a signed chart of a family was admitted Monkton v inscription u on a tomb-in the mansion are all ause in all those cases the e existing —the want of e ring or the Bible with presumption is it would nly did not more or less ie case of family Bible, there is no necessity of proving the handwriting of the entries Proof of the handwriting or authorship of the entries is not required when the book is shown to have been the family Bible or Testament for then the entries as evidence derive their weight not more from the fact that they were made by any particular person than that being in that place a family registry they are to be taken as assented to by those in whose custody the book has been kept' Alvey J in Jones v Jones 45 Md 160, Wigmore § 1496 Berkeley Peerage Case 4 Camp 421 per Lords Ellenborough and Redesdale JJ Hubbard v Lees 35 L J Ex 169 Goodright v Moss, 2 Cowp 591 Slaney v Wade, 7 Sim 595, Shrewsbury Peerage, 7 H L 1

Value of statements under clauses (5) and (6) Statements of the kind referred to in section 32, clause (5) of the Evidence Act may be evidence, but

S. 32. they must be received with great caution, since they are always open to the objection that the parties making them are not subject to any cross examination, the caution is all the more needed especially when the parties making them could not have h ... ig which th y ... Part X 6 ... ad man h d ... Lea v Po

County C testimony regarded Bargis, ( deceased
for the subjects is weighed with great caution Moore's Facts on the Weight and ... of Evidence 1150, 1156, Matter of Williams, 128 Cal 553, Wood v Talb... 65 N J Eq 310 Similarly in Smith v Cooper, 16 Beav 101, Sir J Rom... M R said 'It is a trite but just remark, that if one link in a pedigree assumed any two persons may be proved to be related; and it is the ... observation in these cases, that the difficulty consists in properly weighing ... consid the cl
cases,
is evidence of declarations made before any question arose as to the success... to this property but there is no trace that they were remembered or acted up...

do really by attentive and careful recollect or recall the memory of ...

witness should be convicted of perjury for speaking of what ... have been said in a conversation with a deceased person" Nort Ev 190.

CLAUSE VII.

Scope of the clause The "transaction" spoken of in section 13, clause (a) is one by which any right or custom was created, etc. It applies to private as well as public rights. Customs, also, may be private as well as public, as for or rights may be given under clause (4) and not under this clause In England to private titles? How is it possible concerns only these private titles" In rights as well as customs can be prove relate to any such transaction as is mentioned in section 13, clause (a) On principle there is nothing to object to the reception of such evidence Under this clause private boundaries, titles or possession can be proved "If such evidence may be offered to show customs and boundaries of a private manor, boundaries of a parish, tithe duties (Stell v Prickett, 2 Stark 466, per Abott which a number ht is in substan-

S. 3

So in Weeks v

a multitude of per

in England this tendency of extend-to private rights was checked by Q B 809 (1850) and an arbitrary d private property rights was laid down. In that case he said "Reputation is not admissible in the case of such separate rights, each that, because there
We think this positic is to cause number of v Bedford
shire, 4 E & B 535, Doe v Thomas, 14 East, 323

But in America the result is otherwise The earliest English practice had clearly been to admit reputation as to private titles, and it is therefore natural regularly admitted Cas Ev 421 note, of the principle is be so evidenced is conceded Ibid

Old maps and old surveys so far as they have been used and resorted to by the community in dealing with the land, may be taken as representing, after the test of use and criticism, the settled reputation of the community as to the correctness of the tenor of the map or the survey R. v Milton 1 C & K. 62, Hammond v Brad Street, 10 Ex 390, Pipe v Fulcher, 28 L J Q B 12, Daniel v Wilkin, 7 Ex 429, Bullen v Michel, 4 Dow 297, Smith v Earl Brownlow, L R 2 Eqr 252, Fouke v Berrington, (1914) 2 Ch 308, Freeman v Reed, 4

32. M & M 418; Curzon v. Lomax, 5 Esp 60; Doe v Whitcomb, 1 H L C 4[illegible], Carnarton v. Vellebois, 13 M & W 313; Beaufort v. Smith, 4 Ex 450, [illegible] § 1592

In R v Milton, 1 C & K. 58, upon the trial of an indictment against a parish for the non repair of a highway, where, in order to show that the road in question was not within the parish, a map was produced which had been made ... [illegible] surveyor, from information derived from an old ... [illegible] out to him the boundaries, Eskin J held that if ... [illegible] old man's death, the map would be ... [illegible] ... came from the chest of the parish ... [illegible] Nort Ev 190

Clause (7) of section 32 does not declare all reputation to be relevant, but only that which consists of statements contained in a deed, will or other document relating to any transactions [illegible] modified, recognised, asserted [illegible] existence The clause there[illegible] evidence of reputation in th[illegible] are admissible under this clause, judgment and decrees are not in the least important. Field Ev 6th Ed [illegible] 703 But where the question [illegible] or Bhaoli system of rent, and th[illegible] in a hebanama executed by a tenant's deceased grandfather, held that the hebanama was inadmissible in evidence under s 32 (7) read with section 13 (a) of the Evidence Act Bansi v Mir Amir, 11 C W N 703

[illegible] not enough to [illegible]

present plaintiffs and by [illegible] the suit Held that the deed [illegible] though they could themselve[illegible] admissible, the custom as against the defendants must be proved [illegible] Hurronath v Nittanand, 10 B L R 263

Ancient possession In England the rule has always been that p[illegible]

[illegible]

things and the finding them in such a place is a presumption they were in[illegible] honestly obtained, and reserved for use, and are free from suspicion of dishonesty [illegible]

[illegible]

Doe v Pulman, 3 Q B 622 In Malcolmson v. O Dea, 10 H L Cas [illegible] laid down that the true ground for admitting a lease is that it shows an ancient acts of ownership Thus, the production from proper custody of an ancient lease granted by A is evidence of an act of ownership over the locus [illegible] by A at that date, and is presumptive evidence that he was then owner in

lso Blandy- S. 3
› to prove a licences on Rogers v.
prove rights to which they refer Heath v Dane, (1905) 2 Ch 678. Entries in old parish books are admissible as evidence to prove who were the owners or occupiers of the property at a prev ous time Smith v. Andrews, (1891) 2 Ch 678; Powell p 287 So it is clear that the existence of a document of ownership of land (a deed, lease, or license) may be evidence that the maker of the document had occasionally said that the incorrect These docu-s thus explained by Lord is 641, 653, 688; "Old being evidence of facts of at a distant
d a person responsible

law permits ancient documents, either with or without evidence of ancient payment of rent, to be given as evidence from which the jury may properly draw an inference that there was such possession For in the ordinary course of things men do not make leases unless they act on them, and lessees do not payment of rent adds

laid down the reason always attended with e acts of ownership

That rule is, that ancient documents coming out of proper custody, and purporting as a lease or a license, payment of rent under f of possession This at possession is proved to have followed similar documents, or that there is some proof of actual enjoyment in accordance with the title to which the documents relate And certainly in the case of property allowing of continuous enjoyment, without proof of actual exercise of the right any number of mere pieces of paper or parchment purporting to be leases or licenses ought to be of no avail It may be a question whether the absence of proof of enjoyment consistent with such document goes to the admissibility or only to the weight of the evidence,
"

look at this document you find it contains a great deal It shows upon the face of it that Jenkins must have been in possession or else he would not have brought an action of trespass He speaks of trespass the word is used in the document itself. It is not an act of ownership, I agree, but it is a document

S. 32.

pos_e sion againt
id it is evidence of This doctrine, not y adverse po_ _ n cept the docum
Lson v Wood
5 T. R 112; Rogers v. Allen, 1 Camp 309; Doe v. Askew, 10 East 520, Co v Coether, M & M 398; Doe v Pulman, 3 Q B 622 Wigmore § 157

Other cases. A deed of mortgage containing an assertion of title as to from in all the High Courts in Tota, 25 Ind Cas 747 = (1914) M Ind Cas 149 = 14 C L J 467

and with transactions affecti of certain lands as niskar br brahmatter title in the will case, which was not inter partes, to prove will was not admissible in evidence under section 32 (7) of the Evidence read with section 13 (a) and that the recital in the judgment not inter partes was not evidence Saitudra v Krishna, 36 Ind Cas 882; Basi Nath v Jagat Kishore 35 Ind Cas 298 = 23 C L J 583 = 20 C W. N. 643 Where the validity of a leprosy is this clause Nagammal v Sankarappa, 54 M 576 = A I R 1931 Mad settlement deed under which a promissory note is transferred to the plaint admissible as secondary evidence, may be employed to prove the prom note under s 32 (7) read with section 13 (a) since a settlement deed constituted a transaction in which a right was asserted Subba Rayabe v Vengama, A I R 1930 Mad 742 = 123 Ind Cas 107

CLAUSE VIII.

of this clause is that when a number one common statement, which ons made in their minds at the time of by the witnesses and is evidence R v Ram Dutt, 23 W R Cr 35 (38) These statements are admissible on the general principle that they appear to be natural and sincere. Illustration (n) exemplifies this clause This illustration is based on the case of Du Bost v Bresford, 2 Ca picture, the impression pro
on the defence,
other spectators not being themselves put into the witness box of the defendant a brother and the latter very handsome receive the "Beauty and
the
Some n picture the Beas.

S.

impression produced by the picture on their own minds, viz., that it was intended evidence that Cook v Ward,

M & P 99, Phip Ev 332 In Chase v Howell, 151 Mass 422 (Am) notice of the rottenness of a tree's root was in issue, and to show knowledge by the city

H M militar calling statem
different places and afterwards put in second hand before the Court cannot be received as evidence under the clause Queen v Ram Dutt, 23 W R. 35 Cr "It has been held that if a statement is made by several persons and any of them is dead, each of the persons must be taken to have made the statement for himself or herself and therefore the statement of the deceased person will be admissible under this section Chandra Nilmadhab, 26 C 236' Field Ev 7th Ed 234 the by standers, on seeing a caricature called out 'there is X,' and evidence is given of their words, what is relied on is, not their statements, but the fact of recognition; the fact, that is that the caricature at once recalls the person X to the minds of those who see it." Mark Ev p 34.

S. 33. could not be admitted under the section. If they were not known or could not be found, it is not easy to see how the fact that there were many of them is material In the English cases, it does not seem to have been proved that the persons who made the observations could not be called' Cun Ev Ilth Ed p 85

33. Evidence given by a witness in a judicial proceeding, or before any person authorized by law to take it, is relevant for the purpose of proving, in a subsequent judicial proceeding, or in a later stage of the same judicial proceeding, the truth of the facts which it states, wh[en] the witness is dead or cannot be found, or is incapable of giving evidence, or is kept out of the way by the adverse party, or if h[is] presence cannot be obtained without an amount of delay or expense which, under the circumstances of the case, the C[ourt] considers unreasonable:

Relevancy of certain evidence for proving, in subsequent proceeding, the truth of facts therein stated that the proceeding was between the same parties or t[heir] representatives in interest; that the adverse party in the first proceeding had the r[ight] and opportunity to cross-examine;

Provided—

that the questions in issue were substantially the same [in] the first as in the second proceeding.

Explanation—A criminal trial or inquiry shall be deem[ed] to be a proceeding between the prosecutor and the accused with[in] the meaning of this section

Principle The securities which have been devised by municipal law ... Court

... by Betham as confrontation Betham's Rationale of Judicial Evid ... III, Ch XIX This was established long ... "The other side ought not ...

... a test ... and a certa... however ...

In other words, this secondary advantage is a result accidentally ... is ... with the process of confrontation, whose original and fundamental object is ...

S.

It is no essential part of the notion of confrontation; it stands on no better footing than other evidence to which especial value is attached; and just as the party.

attainec
People v
W tion ar fied anc have b

remaining alive and actually examined in the cause" See also R v Chrisopper, 2 C & K 994, 1000 Its weight, however, is of course affected by the loss of the demeanour of the witness Phip Ev 7th Ed 423. Mr Taylor however considers it an exception to the rule excluding secondary evidence of documents, holding that the rule is wide enough to exclude secondary evidence of oral

48 (52), Balgangadhar v. Shrinivas, 39 B 441=19 C W N 729=42 I A 729 (P C)

The rule contained in this section is an administrative expedient for doing justice between litigants in a particular situation as a rational compromise between two well known canons of judicial administration A presiding judge will require that a party within his power to do so be required to cause a witness admissible facts given on a

33. to the particular witness —It is not essential that the proponent also shows that he can prove the fact itself in no other way The evidence being in its nature secondary, i e, inferior in a probative point of view, less decisive and convincing than the face to face testimony of the witness himself, the party tendering the less probative proof must show to the reasonable satisfaction of the judge presiding at the trial that it is impossible for him to procure the attendance of the witness himself This may be for one of several reasons. The witness may be dead, insane, sick or absent from the jurisdiction ' Chamberlayne's Ev § lo l in interest, if criminal must relate person Mc Kelvey's Ev S 164 The chief reason for the exclusion of hearsay evidence are the wan cross-examine the wit judicial proceeding, in the power to cross-ex ordinary test of truth sible, af

parties.
v Beacl
not dea
insane,
have been kept away by th 264, R v Ersuell, 3 T R all the objections which n Wright v Tatham, 1 Ad &
E of Winchelsea, 3 C &
Court new powers, which require to be ... with great caution ... no doubt that it is still necessary every witness at the trial, unless it is p produce him, or to be so difficult unreasonable to insist on its production" Per Macpherson J in ...
Moujan, 20 W R 69 Cr, R v Piyari 4 C L R 511, R v Mutha ...
648 In England the law on the subject is thus stated "Agreed in th case, where a person has been examined in chancery, that in a cause at law between the same parties his deposition may be used in evidence if it can be proved that the witn ... not able to ers what the law ... ied could not be read at law that the witness could not reus v Palmer, 1 Ves & B ... ns taken in a former proceed

It specifies what evidence is
...

receivable This is, whatever is deliver proceeding or (b) before any person Oral evidence therefore is as receivable a deposition Nort Ev 194

The deposition of a witness is not a... under section 33 of the ...
Evidence
The mere of the defe admitting the prior deposition Brajaballav v Akhoy, 30 C W N ... I L R ...
Cas. 115=A I R 1926 Cal 705, Ghulam Haider v Emperor, ...

S.

L J. 205 Deposition in a civil suit is can only an absent v ould be extr

In the vidence Act,

ight and opportunity to cross examine and the questions in issue were substan ially the same in the first as in the second proceedings Chakauri Singh v Suraj Kuar, 2 A L J 91 If that fact is a statement made by a person who is not called or cannot be called, the statement cannot be admitted unless it

78 Ind Cas 178 The Sessions Judge before transferring the deposition of a section a party's deposition in a previous suit can be used against him in a

S. 33. subsequent suit as his admission. Soojan v. Achmat, 21 W. R. 414, Arr Moharaj, 36 C L. J 186; Exp Hall, 19 Ch. D 583.

Relevancy. Even where primary proof is practically unavailable, the secondary actually offered is not necessarily admissible. It must, in addition, be relevant It is essential that the fact tendered in evidence as secondary proof be relevant, both objectively and subjectively, to the existence of some res gestae or constituent fact Morgan v. Nicholl, L R 2 C P 117 Objective relevancy, being in the matter of natural law, of the reality of things, is assumed and but little classified or, indeed, discussed Subjective relevancy is however more carefully secrutinized, in its two essential requisites of adequate knowledge and absence of controlling motive to misrepresent. When these administ ...

... ity and Relevancy are ... introduce secondary evi... ch was not relevant eviden... in the second proceeding ... Small v. Naram, (1849) 13 Q. B 840.

... Waiver A compl...

... nection is that of wa... swer received at a for... , they cannot be exclu... subsequent trial In the same way, wh... l observer, "expert" so called, on a for... it cannot be rejected as improper in to... ...nions, on a subsequent trial. Chamberlayn...

... presiding judge to l... further involved in th...

... Pernona ... ...former trial The effect...

... of his adversary ... It will be remembered that it is frequently ... loss to the cause of justice and the primary evidence is not produced and that ... within reasonable lim... the rights of the opponent should be confi...

... Objections ...

... ds acknowledge the ... his testimony might, upon ... e stand under oath, and ... ... v Welsh, 17 Mass. 160 (167) ... to prove that what he said was a falsehood" ... questions (Small v Nairne, 13 Q B 840); hearsay (R v Cavle, 71 J P Rep.

152); or statements of the contents of unproduced documents (Stein Keller v Newton, 9 C & P. 313; 319; Tufton v Whitmore, 12 A & E 370), Phip Ev, 7th Ed. 425. S.

In order to enable the ground for its ble the High Court to judge its propriety. Mol . I. R 1930 Cal 756=32 Cr L J. 233, It is necessary that under this section the is admissible and fast rule for the application of this section Each case must depend upon its own facts and the matter is essentially one for the exercise of the discretion on the part of the presiding Judge Jati Mali v Emperor, 33 C W N 1215

Affidavit An affidavit of a person who died subsequently and who has not been subjected to cross-examination is not admissible under ss 32 and 33 of the Evidence Act Doraisuami v Balasundaram, 38 M L T (H C) 275=102 Ind Cas 243=A I R 1927 Mad 507=52 M L J. 477, see also Mir Abdul v. Musst Bibi Sona, 8 Ind Cas 897 jointly tried, n B and the ee witnesses not a party to ist, with his as not really witnesses is Abdul Gaffor I R 1929 117, Ponnu am v Umar, consent So admitted in ch witnesses are alive Lakshmi devamma v Krishtiah, 39 M L T 198=104 Ind Cas 518 Any irregularity in the admission of such evidence is cured by consent of the parties Radha Kishen v Kidar Nath, 22 A L J 761=L R 5A 536=46 A 815=80 Ind Cas 874=A I R 1924 All 845, Pannusuami v Shegaram, 41 M. 610 The provisions, of this section are intended for the benefit of a party to a suit and he may waive their benefit at any rate in a civil is involved Jainab Bibi v Hyler T 23=56 Ind Cas 957=1920 M Gopal, 24 B 591=2 Bom L R 924, J 1 But that is not the rule in criminal matters Kottammal In re, 69 Ind Cas. 636, see also Reg v Bernard, 4 Moo P C N S 460, Queen v Bishnath 12 W R Cr 8, Deputy v Upendra, 12 C W N 140; Mokshed v Emperor, A I R 1930 Cal. 756; Ghullum v Crown, A. I R 1929 Lah 512; Annavi v E, 39 M 449

107; R v Bird, 5 Cox 11, Strutt v Bovingdon, 5 Esp. 56 In Lord Palmerston's

33. Case, the evidence was rejected, because the witness could give the effect only and not the words. But it may be doubted whether such minute particularity is requisite, for the very words could seldom be remembered after a lapse of time Where a note has been made by a reporter or a short-hand writer he could of course use the n short-hand writer might

A & T 275" Nort Ev

prove what a deceased

put at the head of a deposition, form no part of it and are no evidence to prove the facts stated Magbulan

N 241=6 Bom L R 238, 1

357; Chalor v Emperor, A.

v Abdul, 50 Ind Cas 431.

sition, the identity of the pc ballav v Akshay, 30 C W N 254 common case proved to the of on But it s

sat treacherous,

of while a written record of what is said abides Litera scripta manet' Some forcible remarks on the superiority of written over oral testimony will be found in the case of Bunwaree Lal v Maharajah Hejnarain, 7 M. I A 156; Nort Ev 191.

Judicial Proceeding The evidence taken in the ejectment proceedings before the revenue authorities

Court to recover possession by pe in the revenue Court Saru Khai

1928 Lah 43 Where certain who had no jurisdiction to conduc

a proceeding is inadmissible on a retrial before a competent Court buta

v Crown, 27 P L R 447=7 Lah 396=97 Ind Cas 752=27 Cr L J 1103=A

3 M 48; see also Empress v

694 The evidence taken in the conditions and for the purposes

33, previous evidence

ce, the person gave the

Nga Pu, 22 Ind Cas. 675= completed The moving party may have abandoned the proceedings Chamberlayne's Ed § 1652

Before any person authorised by law It is not necessary that the evidence should have been given in a judicial proceeding Any deposition taken by a Magistrate in his ministerial capacity could be receivable, if not excluded on any one of the grounds mentioned in the section So a deposition taken before a Coroner (R v Rig, 4 F. & F 1985 : State v Campbell, 1 Rich 124, R v Ba 64 J P. 608; but see R v Cowle, 71 J P. 152), a British consul of Zan

(Empress v Dossaji, 3 B 334), a Special Registrar (Jeketo v Jaifanessa, 18 C W N 605. Jekah v Faifanessa, 20 Ind Cas 661; Lanka v Lanka, 42 M 10C) an arbitrator (R. v. Amanulla, 12 B. L. R. App. 15), or a Comm appointed under Civil Procedure Code to take down evidence (Civil Pro Code, Order XXVI), a revenue officer in a mutation proceeding (Mamtaz v. Wazir, 65 Ind Cas. 308), is admissible in a subsequent case So no ted by a Court which Keraga, 54 M. 561 In n by the Commissioner

Nundo, 3 C W N. 239; C W N 794) but in compel or not in practice employing cross examination as a part of its procedure nd the er its nation

Judge
As
ved is one of the constitution of Courts and their officers Wigmore § 1376 "It is sufficient if the point was investigated in a judicial proceeding of any kind, wherein the party to be affected by such testimony had the right of cross-examination" Chamberlayne's Ev § 1652

law
law.
and 4-17
of Civil Procedure Code lay down the rules which must be observed in taking down depositions in civil cases When any deposition is taken in accordance with law, the Court shall presume that the document is genuine (Vide s 80 of the Evidence Act) See also Dorghai v Emperor, 52 C 499, Emperor v Phaguna, 89 Ind Cas 1043

When the witness is dead Evidence given by a witness in a previous action
procee
Steph
decease eviden

Wigmore § 1403, Gilbert's Ev 60, Lord Morley's Case, Kelying 55, Fry v. Wood

S. 33. 1 Atk 444, R. v Castro (Trichborne Case), charge of Chief Justice, II ... Such depositions cannot be admitted in the subsequent suit when the witnesses are living and their evidence is procurable Hurish v Tara Chand 2 B L R App 4; Chakauri v Suraj, 2 A L J 91 Bhoobun Moyee v Ambica 23 W R 343, Mahomed v Latan, 1
The evidence of witnesses, ... given before a Magistrate, ... fresh charges have been added Emp ...
...
...is well Chamberlayne § 1634

Absence Absence of a witness ... permanent, and such as to prevent th... upon him may be a sufficient justificatio...

...sail "starting to move has ... rule" Chamberlayne's Ev § 16... v Wells, 1 Taunt 461, ... French, 2 C & K 1008 The deposition by a person where he denied on oath that he had presented a certain petition in Court which purported to be from him is held to be inadmissible as evidence when such person might have been brought into Court, but was not Bhoobun Moyee v Umbica, 23 W R 343 Illness Illness, by causing inability to attend has the same effect as death Lord Morley's Case Kelyng 55 ... v Wood, 1 Atk 445 R. v Savage 5 C & P 143, Ro... contra Doe v Evans, 3 C & P ... Beaufort v ... The phrase usually employed as a test is "so ... the application of the principle should be left to the trial Court's discretion Thornton v Britton, 144 Pa 130 ... eed only be in probability such that, ...y, the trial cannot be postponed ...a question for the determination of ... K. B 581, R v Stephenson, L & ... able to travel ...

...mined testimony or deposition, and would probably be much less ... Mathews J in Miller v Russel, 7 Mart N S La 268" Wigmore § 1406 ... also Fry v Wood, 1 Atk 445, R v Savage, 5 C & P 143; R v Harris, 4 Cox C C 440, R. v Harney, 4 Cox C C 441, R v Ullner 4 Cox Cr 441, R v Stephenson 9 Cox Cr 156, R. v Bull, 12 Cox Cr 31, R. v Wellon 9 Cox Cr 1..., ... 296 ... R v Farrell 12 Cox Cr 606 ... R v Thompson 13 Cox Cr ...

... his previous deposition was not admitted R v Thompson 13 Cox ... R. v Farrell 12 Cox Cr 606 A temporary illness will not excuse attendance and examination of a witness Empress v Piyarilal, 4 C L R 504, Empress v Ashgur, 6 C 774 = 8 C L R 124, Harrison v Blade, 3 Camp 457 R. v ... 5 C & P 143, R v Tait 2 F & F 533, R v Wilson, 12 Cox 622 Cannot be found "Inability to find the witness is an equally sufficient reason for non production, by the better opinion (Oate's Trial, 10 How St Tr 1285, Anon, Godbolt 236; Gilbert Evidence, 60, Buller N P 239, The ...

S. 3

State, 33 Ark. ecedents (Lord Scaife, 8 Q B
is usually and If the witness or the purpose
by the party's to recognizing ween party and been no collusion force Wigmore
e dead to him"
on Godbolt, 326 This principle has also been accepted by Jeffreys L. C. J.
Oates Trial, 10 How. St Tr 1227, on the assurance of Oates to the effect, I cannot any cannot when

ent and unsuccessful search
.1, Wiedemann v Walpole,
But in England the above R v Scaife, 17 Q. B 238;
v Austen, 7 Cox 55, R. v Hogan, 8 C & P 167; Phip Ev 7th Ed. 425.
it in India there is no difference between civil and criminal cases.

Insanity I ... nswell,
T R 707; Mor ... 37 A Court
estimony or ir & M 147
ind and the Even tem-
& M 147

also renders Gallaghar,
1 Pa 112, Cent R Co v Murray, 97 Ga 326, Ewing v Dihl, 76 Pa 373; rayton v Wells, 1 N ve the same eff
Pa 378; contra,
6, Greenl. Ev
tisfied of the fact order that this no dispensation
se the deposition or report the testimony as a record of past recollection Vigmore § 1409; State v N O Water Works Co 107 La 1; Jack v. Woods, a 378; contra, Cook v Stout, 47 Ill. 531; Stearns Lumber Co v Howlett, E 217.

Loss of faculties necessary for testimony The same result follows ie witness loses his voice (R. v Cockburn, 7 Cox Cr C 265), hearing ockburn, supra), eye sight, so far as necessary for the examination of Kinsman v Crooke, 2 Ld Raym 1166, Houston v Blythe, 60 Tex 506 iculty essential to the giving of testimony Chamberlayne's Ev Vigmore § 1408. Where evidence was given before a committing

S. 33. but in the Sessions Court the witness proves shy and speechle , this sec does not apply to the case and the evidence cannot ipso facto be treated a evidence at the Sessions Moti Ram v. Emperor, 75 Ind Cas 152= 4 C. L. J 904.

Incapable of giving evidence The capacity to give evidence mentio in section 33 of the Evidence Act need not be a permanent one; someth sh of permanent incapacity might satisfy the words of the section "incapabl of giving evidence" In the matter of the petition of Asgur Hossein, 6 C 774 (L R 124, but see In the matter of Pyari Lal 1 C. L R 504, where it was h that the words "incapable of giving evidence" in section 33, Evidence A denotes an incapability of a permanent kind The Court has no discr if it is proved to be either actually impossible to produce him, or ve difficult to do so, or if it is unreasonable to insist on his production In th matter of Pyari Lal, supra

Kept out of the way by the adverse party If the witness has been

case where three prisoners were indicted for felony, and a witness for the C one of them, the C nst the man who ha against the other tw men R. v Scaife, 2 Den 281=17 Q. B 238=5 Cox 243 S C, Earl Lathom, 1 Arn M & O 403, see also Lord Morley's Case, 6 How St Tr R. v Harrison, 12 How St Tr 851; Green v Gatewick, B N P. R. v Guttridge, 9 C & P 473; Taylor § 478. The proposition that if witness be kept out of the way by the adversary, his former statem on oath will be admissible, rests partly, on the authority of several dec both in civil and criminal Courts, partly on statutory analogy but chiefly on the broad principle of justice which will not allow a party to take advantage of h own wrong Taylor § 478, Greenl Ev § 163(g); U S v Reynolds, 1 L 322 Where it appeared that the witness who was related to the accused bsconding and the Se as part of the evidence in th 3 Abbas Mandal v Emper

131 Ind Cas 855=35 C W N 143=A. I R 1931 Cal. 473

Proof of unavailability ... The ... ponent of the former test mo or the deposition is of course ... ing thereto in consequence o. former testimony is offered, v Tract ... C ... 194 I ... cer

J in Dunn v Dunn, 11 ... process of the Court, his previous deposition is inadmissible. Blagrave v. Blagrave, 1 Deg & Sim 252, 259 Under this section, the ev of an absent witness taken in the Magistrate's Court cannot be received in the Sessions Court without proof of the circumstances which make it admiss Such circumstances should be proved like any other fact by the evidence of witnesses and a mere report that a witness is dead or absent is not ueen Empress v. Nag Po, L B R (1872—1892), 134 Khem Singh v Emperor S.

dia and an argument based on the here Alyan v King-Emperor, 31 C 766=A I R. 1927 Cal 679, R v oakes, (1917) 1 K B 581, but see R v Cohen, 34 L J. 623 A previous eposition can be admitted in evidence only under the provisions of s 3 of the Evidence Act, but before it can be placed on record of a criminal d been made on at in spite of , or that he was icapable of giving evidence, r his presence could not hich, under the circumstance Ghulam v Emperor, A I R 1929 Lah 542; Annavi v Emperor, 39 M 449= e v Emperor, A I R 1929 Mad 32=46 M. 117; n 437=A I R 1925 Lah 418, Emperor v. Cris 161=15 Cr L J 713, Falconer v Hanson pole, 1891 Times, June, 15, Bishan Das v. Ram 06 P R 1915.

Official duty etc Inability on the part of a witness to attend a trial owing to requirements of official duty, will usually be deemed sufficient adminis- ry evidence of his former testimony n of the compel- ing the attendance of the official wi , Wigmore § 1407. But in India such evidence will not be admissible when he can be examined on commission

Presence cannot be obtained without an amount of delay or expense etc It is only in extreme cases of expense or delay that the personal attendance of a wit prisoner

, in the absence of special able Per Phear J in Queen ness is no ground allowed 4 What delay or expense is instances of each case Of the circumstances of the case, one of the chief which the Judge has and ought to exists, or for which witnesses are produced at the trial Per White J in In the matter of Pyari Lall 4 C L R 504 (509—510) But where the absence of the witness is due to temporary causes, his previous deposition cannot be admitted Ibid The mere actually impossible to produce him, or to be so difficult to do so, or if it is unreasonable to insist on his production In the matter of Pyari Lall, 4 C. L. R.

S. 33. 534; see also Asiatic Steam Navigation v. Bengal Coal Co 35 C 751; Nga Ba v Emperor, 104 Ind. Cas 637=A. I. R 1927 Rang 248; R. v Hogg 6 C & P 176; Beaufort v. Crawshay, L. R 1 C P. 699. Empress v Rama Reddi, 3 M ... So where a witness is procurable his subsequent deposition is not admissible Bhoobon v Ambica, 23 W. R 343; Emperor v. Nandu, 2 A L J 509 The whole notion of taking depositions is that they are a provision in advance for obtaining testimony from one who will not be available at the time of the trial, i. e., in the traditional phrase, they are taken de bene esse, conditionally. If the witness is in fact available at the time of the trial, the principle of confrontation requires that he should be examined viva voce on the stand This principle is constantly indicted. Greenl Ev § 163(i) In certain States of the United States of America, such deposition is admitted where the personal attendance of witnesses would involve them in great pecuniary loss and involve a sacrifice of their personal interest without any person ... & A R Co v Bussen, 95 Ga. 584. The notion that any citizen ... his duty to the community ...

Proviso—Para (1) At common law testimony given by a witness in a civil or criminal proceeding is admissible in a subsequent, or in a later stage of the same trial, in proof of the facts stated, provided that the proceedings ... Phip. Ev 4th Ed p 406 ... against a person not a party ... That cannot be done for this reason because such person has it not in his power to cross-examine" Goodright v Moss, Cowper, 592 So "examinations upon oath, except in excepted cases, are of no avail unless they are made in a cause or proceeding depending between the parties to be affected by them and where each has an opportunity of cross-examining the witness" Per Lord Kenyon L C J in R. v Erisuell, 3 T R 707 The law on this subject is thus summarised by Chief Baron Gilbert "When you give in evidence any matter sworn at a former trial, it must be between the same parties, because otherwise you dispossess your adversary of the liberty to cross examine." Gilbert Ev 68. So a deposition cannot be given in evidence against any person that was not a party to the suit; and the reason is because he had not liberty to cross examine the witness, and it is against ... proofs in a cause to which he ...

would have been more accurate if it had been ... interest" Here the effect is the same as that of res judicata and estoppel. In fact they are ... Ev 196 ... ves in interest. ... 101 Ind Cas ... privies ... L T 510=101 Ind Cas ... =A. I ... Nicholl, 2 L R C P ... Willes J ... parties, is really meant persons ... claiming ... trial between different parties having different rights and with whom the plaintiff had no privity, and as he had no opportunity to examine or cross-examine the witness it would be contrary to the ... or in any way affect his interests by the ... Per Hinman C J in Lary v Brainerd, 30 Cox ... rties being the same is thus laid down by Gilchrist J ... "If the testimony be given under oa... adverse litigant was a party and ... calle... want... parti... the ... 343 ... made by an accu... ing against the accused is admissible in evidence in a ...

igh the prosecutor in the second case is the S.
Queen Empress v Bhabhutgar, Rat Un To satisfy the requirements of this section the unst the same parties or their representatives in nterest, at the time when the suits are proceeding and the evidence is given. Sita Nath v. Mohesh Chunder, 12 C 627 ; Queen v Ishri, 8 A. 672=A W. N. 1886, 257.

Where the parties of the present suits were not parties or representatives of the parties of the previous suit, in such a case, a deposition made in the former suit is not admissible in evidence in the present suit Mrinmoyee v. Bhooban Moyce, 15 B. L R 1=23 W. R 42; Queen Empress v. Ishri, 8 A. 672 A W.
. Bom L R 599 (601). a former suit when

The parties may be it may be defendant in atham, 1 A & E 3

ng to the competency of discredit or if Mr W now if B had further well
nent, though nt opponent
has. Ibid

The parties are deemed to be the same when those between whom the evidence is offered were on opposite sides in the former case, and a judgment or may not have an opportunity to cross examine the witness, yet the person in lity could not be used by the defendant therein, "as a man who cannot be prejudiced by a deposition or proceeding in a suit shall never receive any advantage from it." Gibb Ev. 55; Brown v Johnson, 13 Gratt. 641; Burr Jones § 683.

& El 783, Krishna Rao v Raja of Pittapur, 102 Ind Cas 713=A I R Mad 733 The wording of this proviso is perhaps a little defective Instead the suit in which the depositions were taken; and they cannot be ... party unless they can be read against him" So evidence taken on the first trial is admissible in a second trial if although the two trials be not between the same parties the second trial is between persons who generally represent the former parties or are their privies in estate Taylor on Evidence, 11th Ed § 467 The vague expression "representatives in interest" has not been defined in the Evidence Act include privies

for the purpo

tayne's Ev § 1670
for all purposes synonymous with the expression ... in s 11 in C P Code Rama Krishna v Tirunarayana, A I R 193 198=62 M L J 116.

Infant The accused redemption

a representative in interest of the mortgagor Mashwe v Alg ... 26 Ind Cas 111=8 Bur L T 104 A Hindu widow in possession of the estate of her husband completely represents the estate and consequently a reversioner can be said to be the representative of the party (i e the widow) within the meaning Kumari v Nitya Kali, 12 C L J Mookerjee J said "Prima facie, therefore proceedings are between the same parties or their representatives in interest But it has been argued that Monmohini ... Hindu widow in possession of the estate of her husband, completely represented the estate, and consequently the position is the same as if she was a party to contested
9 M I may in th Moyee v pressed the view of evidence

S.

ı both the proceedings Morgan v. Nichol, L R 2 C P 117, see also Fool Kissory v. Nobin, 23 C 441, Patinharkuru v Raman, 24 Ind Cas 519 "The equirement of identity" says Prof. Wigmore" of parties is after all only an ncident or corollary of the requirement as to the identity of issue It ought, hen, to be sufficient to inquire whether the former testimony was given upon such

t
t hough a different person, had the same property interest that the present this hose f the

the former evidence Mutatis Mutandis, the rule is the same where a party whose omission from the record fails to alter the issue or the opposing party's right of cross-examination has been dropped in the second case Chamberlayne's Ev § 1671

t no
of oss-still been satisfied Moore v Triplet, Va, 23 S E 69 So the general principle is that in all cases where the party has without his own fault or concurrence

Greenl. Ev 163(f) The doctrine requiring a testing of testimonial statements by cross examination has always be or be shaken by cross examinati declining, he has had all the be examination of th it Moule, 1 Drew 472,

law is that no evi examination of both examine and has
if he had cross-exan an opportunity of Vaughan, 1 M. & S. 6, Empress v Jhubo, 8 C. 739.

S. 33. "A deposition is considered a partial representation of fact, as to all p[illegible]
who Per
Dr
taken in former suit depends upon the fact that the adverse party, or those [illegible] privity with him, had the opportunity, to cross-examine the witness [illegible] that the deposition was taken without authority, or without the sanction of [illegible] oath or without such chance of cross-examination it should not be [illegible] proceeding provided that the adverse party in the first proceeding had the [illegible] and opportunity to cross examine That the accused had the opportunity [illegible] cross-examining this witness, is I think quite clear He was asked to do so [illegible] he refused to do so But I think it is also clear that at the stage at which the case had arrived he had no right to cross-examine Now as far as I can see [illegible] accused in a warrant case has no right to cross-examine the prosecution witness until after the charge is framed ... No doubt s 256 (Cr Pro Code) d[illegible] prohibit cross-examination at a previous stage but that is not the same as saying that the accused has any right to cross-examine. I am of opinion that until [illegible] 56 is reached the accused has no right [illegible] the present case the accused had no r[illegible]

under s. 33" But in Mangal [illegible] was examined by prosecution [illegible] the charge it was discovered [illegible] unable to answer the [illegible] It was that he [illegible] must also be right to do so Dal Bahadur v. Bijai Bahadur, A [illegible] C F 9—31 C W N 369 In th[illegible] which requires that the adverse party [illegible] is dead and the opposite party had an opportunity of cross-exam[illegible] J 584[illegible] though he did not avail himself of it Tafiz v. Emperor, 50 C L J [illegible] but was not cross-examined by the defence, his deposition is [illegible] under s. 30 in the Session's trial, even when the Sub-Inspector dies [illegible] the Session's trial. Tafiz v. Emperor, 50 C L J. 584=A I R. [illegible] 228. A deposition taken in an ex parte proceeding cannot be used under this section in a subsequent contested proceeding between the same parties even where other conditions of the section are satisfied Raj Mungal v Mathura, 13 A. L J 881.

, if not admitted, must be proved, before 3 The deposition of a witness obtained and forming part of the the Evidence Act, provided Empress v Ram Chandra, 19 B 749, see also Queen Empress v Basvanta, 25 B 168=2 Bom L R 761

In an enquiry under Chapter XVIII of the Criminal Procedure Code, a witness was examined by the prosecution but he was not cross examined by the accused had the opportunity to cross examine a witness examined by the prosecution, where the accused did not cross examine any of the prosecution witnesses, and was not asked by the enquiring Magistrate to exercise his right of cross-examination Ibrahim v King Emperor, 17 C W N 230=18 Ind Cas 406=14 Cr L J 70, see also 2 Weir 755 Deposition of a witness can be taken in the absence of an accused who has absconded When such a deposition is to be used in a subsequent case, it is necessary to establish that when that deposition was taken, the accused had absconded, and after due pursuit could not be arrested Queen v Etwaree, 21 W R Cr 12, Queen Empress v Sahib Singh, A W N 1896, 182, see also Ghurbin v Q E, 10 C 1097

Failure of cross-examination There may have been an adequate opportunity of cross-examination, so far as depends upon the nature of the tribunal or stances preventing adequate cross examination Wigmore § 1390

S. 33.

who Per
Dr
take privi.
that oath, or without such chance of cross-examination, it should not be re although if due notice was given, it is not necessary that any cross-exam should have been actually made. Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald, 3 Swab & T also Lawrence v. Maule, 4 Dr 172; Macomlie v. Anton 6 M & G 27

33, Evidence Act, the statements 3, provides that in certain circum proceeding is relevant in a subsequent proceeding provided that the adverse party in the first proceeding had the and opportunity to cross examine That the accused had the opportun cross-examining this witness, is I think quite clear He was asked to do s he refused to do so But I think it is also clear that at the stage at which case had arrived he had no right to cross-examine Now as far as I can se cross examine the prosecution witn No doubt s 256 (Cr Pro Code) does stage but that is not the same as that the accused has any right to cross-examine. I am of opinion that un stage of the case provided for in s 256 is reached the accused has no right cross examine That being so in the present case the accused had no righ Mr Milne is not admissible in evi A I R 1929 Lahore 540

dur v. Bijai Bahadur, A requires that the adverse par adverse party had both the right and So a deposition of a witness is admissible under this section when is dead and the opposite party had an opportunity of cross-examining though he did not avail himself of it. Tafiz v. Emperor, 50 C L J 584

Ind Cas 743 = A I R
Q E v Ram, 19 B 749

524 = A I R Cr Pro
208 of the Cr Pro
but was not cross-examined by the defence, his deposition is not adm under s 30 in the Session's trial, even when the Sub-Inspector dies the Session's trial. Tafiz v Emperor, 50 C L J 584 = A I R 1930 228 A deposition taken in an ex parte proceeding cannot be used under this section in a subsequent contested proceeding between the same parties opponent is also entitled to cross examine the interpreter so as to test the correctness of the translation, and to call other witnesses to verify the interpretation. Wigmore § 1393

Whether the deposition of a witness who cannot be cross-examined on account of some organic defect, such as defects of speech, hearing or the like, should be admitted in evidence, it is for the trial Judge to decide. Quinn v. Halbert, 55 Vt 228 The same principle also applies when the accused is deaf or dumb or blind Felts v Murphy, 201 U. S. 123; Wigmore § 1393

Sundry insufficiencies of cross examination Where a party is absent from the Court at the time of the cross examination, but his counsel is present, he can [illegible] a witness Still in sc [illegible] 'fo. 429, 133 But such [illegible] a witness taken in his absence is read over to him and liberty is given to him to cross examine the witness R. v Smith, R & R 339; R v Forbes, Holt, 599 In R v Hake, 1 Cox. Cr 226, Earle J said · 'The reading of it in the prisoner's presence is equivalent to the taking of it in his presence The object is to afford to the [illegible]

Ibid Failure to take advantage of a known opportunity for cross examination [illegible] nishes no ground for modifying the [illegible] ion that the party in question had no [illegible] assistance such an opportunity for [illegible] ces, be a very barren privilege Nor is [illegible] was embarrassed by the absence of his lawyer and was not afforded an extended time in which to exercise the option to cross examine personally The existence of such infirmative consideration is not deemed inconsistent with the reception of the evidence upon a subsequent trial Where the party to be affected by the secondary evidence has announced an intention to take no further part in pending proceedings, subsequent tender of opportunity to cross examine is regarded as having been expressly waived

[illegible]

cross examine Where a witness leaves the country after the charge and he [illegible] xpense, his deposition before [illegible] this section Nga Ba On v [illegible] Bur L J 114=A I R 1927 Rang 248

Section 33 whether controlled by s. 350 The general provisions of section 33 of the Indian Evidence Act are not in any way affected by section 350 of the Code of Criminal Procedure Lelal v Crown, 101 Ind Cas 183=28 P. L R 199=28 Cr. L J. 451=A I R 1927 Lah 332=8 Lah 570

[illegible] without an opportunity of examining and cross-examining or the very point on which their evidence is adduced in the subsequent proceeding Though separate proceedings may involve issues, of which some only are common to both, the evidence of those common issues given in the former proceedings may, on the conditions mentioned in s 33 arising, be given in the subsequent proceedings. Ram Reddi v. Seshu Reddi, 3 M 48=2 Weir 756=2 Weir 433. Unless the issues were then the same as they are when the former deposition is offered, the

S. 33. cross-examination would not have been directed to the same material point of investigation, and therefore could not have been an adequate test for exp[illegible] inaccuracies, and falsehoods Wigmore § 1386 It is absolutely necessary that the former statement was sufficiently tested by cross examination upon the point now in issue. It is sufficient if the issues were the same or substantially the [illegible] 8 C L R 273, Wig[illegible]

[illegible]

Doe v Foster, 1 A & E 791; R. v. [illegible] 6 Cox Cr 52; R. v Beeston, 6 Cox Cr 4[illegible] Castro, Trichborne Case; Brown v. Whi[illegible] 2 Cr App. 257, Wigm[illegible] same rule holds in criminal cases thus a deposition on [illegible] grievous bodily harm, [illegible] facts Phip Ev 7th Ed 124 citing, R v Smith, Rus [illegible] 6 Cox 52, R v 4 F & F 63, R v. Beeston, 24 L J M C 5, R. v. Dilmore, 6 Cox 52, R v Williams, 12 Cox 101

In R. v Beeston, 6 Cox Cr 425, deposition of a witness on a charge of [illegible] to do bodily harm, was admitted on a trial for [illegible]

he would not [illegible] same case, and [illegible] has had full oppor[illegible] said. "The question [illegible] circumstances that the [illegible] situation" says Prof [illegible] in the application of the rule, and not a narrow and pedanti[illegible] the whole the judici[illegible] to receive testimony already adequately [illegible] or much improvement Wigmore § 1387 [illegible] issue are substantially the same, it is always a useful test to see whether the same evidence will prove the affirmative of the issue in both Field Ev 6th Ed 149, Wordroffe Ev [illegible] Ed 356, R v Rochia Mohata, 7 C 42=8 C L R. 273, Doe v Foster, 1 A & E 791

Depositions of deceased persons are not admissible under s 33 of the Evidence Act unless the subject-matter of the dispute in the two suits is the same and also the subsequent suit is between the same parties or their representatives in interest [illegible] 34 Ind Cas. 875 [illegible] suit under s 9, Act [illegible] at a former case [illegible] since dead, is admissible [illegible] 23 C 441

[illegible] the purpose of excluding [illegible] case that

Markby Ev p 33. [illegible] and on behalf of F [illegible] own behalf for assau[illegible] these charges F [illegible] of the same house under section [illegible] institution of the civil suit [illegible] was sue[illegible]

Foolkissory v. Nobin Chandra, 23 C. 441.

STATEMENTS MADE UNDER SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES.

34. Entries in books of account, regularly kept in the course of business, are relevant whenever they refer to a matter into which the Court has to inquire, but such statements shall not lone be sufficient evidence to charge any person with liability.

Entries in books of count when relent.

S. :

Illustrations.

A sues B for R be indebted to hin
ent, without other

Principle. "The reasons justifying the admission of this class of statements ntested as they are by cross-examination have not been as clearly defined by e Judges as in other Hearsay exce iore § 1522. It has already been stat an exception to the Hearsay rule, ircumstantial guarantee of trust-
On the face of it, in this class of
In such a case the situation is ne where, even though a desire to state falsely may casually have subsisted, elated motives whic probable trustworthin habit and system o

al inaccuracies and to counteract ince the entries record a regular course of business transactions, and error or mistatement is almost certain to be detected and the result disputed by those dealing with the entrant; mis statements cannot safely be made, if at all, except by a systematic and comprehensive plan of falsification. As a rule, this fact (if no motive of honesty obtained) would

8 Ind. Cas 81 = 13 C. L. J. 139.

"It is recognized that to use a system of regular accounts to sustain a

S. 34. In or[illegible]

[illegible] ar as a party's own [illegible] kind of evidence [illegible] certain class of transactions he was thus totally without [illegible] witness for him evidence obtainable from others, certain past statements of his must be admitted by very necessity. Thus the principle of necessity and the principle of circumstantial guarantee were both recognized [illegible] footing of [illegible]

[illegible] the rule was established before the [illegible] can therefore be understood only by keeping [illegible] Courts in establishing it was precisely [illegible] more § 15[illegible] admissibility [illegible] in the affairs [illegible] cases the book [illegible] it being practi[illegible]

[illegible] § 314[illegible] available of a completed transaction. Ch[illegible]

[illegible] guards for correctness. [illegible] ordinary motives for untruth and adding certain [illegible] Per Tindal C. J. in Poole v. Dicas 1 Bing. N. C. 6[illegible]

[illegible] abuse of this evidence in [illegible] were living or dead." But there was more [illegible] and still suing for the claim; moreover, the whole proceeding was also [illegible] paraged as involving the making of evidence for one's self, for "the rule is [illegible] a man cannot make evidence for himself." In 1609, Stat. Jac. I. C. [illegible] after, reciting these considerations, forbade this use of shop books [illegible] action for any money due for wares hereafter to be delivered or for [illegible] hereafter to be done," except (1) within one year after the delivery of the wares or the doing of the work, (2) where a bill of debt existed (3) between merchant and merchant, merchant and man," for matters within the I C 4 § 22 and 16 Car I that a man cannot make evid complete, by refusing to recognize these books at all, after the expiration of the year. In the lower Courts, where the jurisdiction was limited to small ued (Vide Thayer, Cases on Evidence, the historical material), and a recent (to an extent somewhat indefinite) in the upper Courts (Rule of Court, 1883, Ord 33, R 3; Ord 30, R 7 as amended by Rules of July, 1902) But before the end of the century of the above Statute, where there was such evidence (entries) by a servant known in transacting the ner, such entry, from time to re that servant,

the servant or agent usually employed in such business, was intrusted to make such entries by his master, (and) that it was the course of trade,—on proof that he was dead and that it was his hand-writing, such entry has been read (which was Sir Biby Lake's Case) And that was going a great way, for there it might be objected that such et by reason of the has gone so far."
rty But already Williams, Comb
gory, Peake Add nd, 3 B & Ad 890, the matter was placed e of the exception was understood as since deceased, in the ordinary course of lly unconnected with the parties, or the clerk of a party, or a party himself Greenl Ev § 120b law Cun Ev 11th Ed 99; Field Ev 6th Ed p 151

the books of merchants and tradesmen regularly kept and written from day to day, without any blank, when the tradesman has the reputation of probity constitutes a semi proof and with his supplementary oath are received as full proof to establish his demand. Greenl Ev § 119 cited in Taylor § 712 The same doctrine is familiar in the law of Sc others, kept with a certain reaso Court, may be received in evidence, in supplement of such imperfect proof. It seems however ... or other
ali unde,
probatio, 273—277,
evidence of a debt being due to him by entries, whether by himself or ... in his own books, provided the books have been regularly kept in the course of business Cun Ev 10th Ed 175

therein" So, even by that Act a man was not allowed to make ... himself by what he chooses to write in his own books behind the back of the parties. But where there was other independent evidence of the truth of the transaction to which the accounts referred they were admissible as corroborative evidence, provided the books were first shown to the satisfaction of the Court to have been regularly kept in the course of business Nort Ev 193, see also Dwarka Doss v Jankee Doss, 6 M. I. A 88 But such books could not be used as independent evidence Rai Sri Krishen v Rai Hurri Kishen, 5 M I A ... Dwarka Doss v Darka Doss, 2 Agr 308; Ramkristo v Hurrydos, Marsh 219; Jagun Kooer v Raghoonundun, 10 W R C R 148; Allyat v Jugut Chunder ... W R C R 242, Seth v Seth, 13 W. R (P. C) 36; Sorabjee v Kunnaye ... W. R 29 P C, Gopal Mundal v Nabbo Kishen, 5 W R Act X Rule ... Account books are legal evidence to corroborate oral testimony Rajnarain v Olivia, 5 W R Act X Rule 30, Ram v Hurry, Marsh 219=1 Hay ... Ind Jur N S ... fraud, it must be considered binding upon him Gopee v ... N S 358

Books of accounts as evidnce—American rule "The 'shop book' rule is that by which shop books and tradesmen's books of account, regularly and fairly kept as books o ... oath are admitted as prima facie evidence ... The rule is ... by the ... regard to the admission ... contained is a very old one ...

going into the history of the admissio noted that the origin of the shop-book administered in this country was it seems, but from the law of Holland. .. It has long been the settled ... that entries made in the regular course of business in shop-books by the clerk or agent of a person are, with proper restrictions, admissible in evidence after the ... ting ... It has long been the ... lab ...

... In many of the states statutes have been en... account n...

parties to...
entries to...
may be in...
them, sinc...

...ates that books of accounts regularly

... selves to charge any ... rated they are still ... missible They are ... ooks of accounts are ... rson with liability

It would be more correct to say that though admissible they do not establish the facts required to be proved, i e, that a person owned a certain sum of money, present sectio...

instances ... an entry relevant under section 34 and one relevant under section 32, cl (2) is that in the former case the person who made the entry may be available as a witness while in the latter case he is not. I find it very difficult to appreciate on

Sridhar, 28 B 294 and has been accepted as correct in Daji ... v ... Narayan, 10 Bom L R 811, Dukha Mandal v W N Grant, 16 C L J 24 and Akhouli v Tarak Nath Ghosh, 17 C W N 774=16 C L J 328, and it is perhaps too late to contest it If this other view is adopted it should be held

S. 34. Sen v. Bijoy Chand, supra, see also Jainab Biswas v Siva Kumari Debi, 46 C L J 253 = 101 Ind Cas 733 = A I R 1927 Cal 855, Manickchand v Paralaji, 9 Mys L J 337 It is essential in every case where reliance is placed upon books of acc course of business;
the entries themsel removed by the admission of the opposite party. Bibi Imambandi v Haji Motasuddi, 15 C. L J 621 = 13 Ind Cas 678 Under the Indian Evidence Act entries in books of account regularly kept in the course of business are admissible in evidence, not only for refreshing the memory of the witness, but also as corroborative evidence of the story which he tells Books of account which profess to record facts relating only to the particular transaction in question are less reliable than a book where in the same is recorded in common with other transactions in the or nathan, 29 C 331 P C = 6
It is not necessary in a written and that they were kept in regular course of business. If a gomasta and a member of a firm were examined and depose that the accounts were regularly kept, the accounts may be held to have been proved in the absence of evidence to the contrary Biccha Lal v Jai Pershad, 45 P R 1899 A party who calls for an account book is bound by all the entries contained therein Shib Pershad v Promotho, 10 W R 193; Raneswari v Bal Kishun, 9 A 713 P C

Account books the Privy Council in Jaswant v Sheo Nara 3 are instructive as to the variety in account-book al value, but merely a man's private record, p ordance with his pleasure and convenience "Other accounts may be so kept, and may so tally with external circumstances, as to carry conviction that they are true" "And," their Lordships continue, "the Evidence Act, section 34, therefore, enacts that entries in books of relevant evidence,
The admis
to the general rule laid down in section 34 of the Act"

"The wor paper bound by tearing a p in the sense
portfolio, or clip, or strung together on a piece of twine which is intended But so untied at will, would not in the ordinary English, be called a book narrow a signification would not do in India, where accounts are often kept on sheets of paper laced or threaded together in a manner which allows removal of any sheet at any time by the untying of a knot Of this class are the bahis of practically every Ma in the English Copyright
'every volume, part or div of music, map chart, or for the conve
Act, and w enacting sect
even the Ma not made in intended not to be taken apart at any time for any purpose

however to say what is not a book for the purpose of section 34, ... hesitation in holding that unbound sheets of paper, in whatever quantity, though filled up with one continuous account, are not a book of account within the purview of section 34 ... book of accou

of rel

ing substantive evidence on which reliance may be placed A private diary may be most regularly kept and contain . made, of the utmost value It may be used a witness or refreshing his memory and and others of the Evidence Act; for such user does not make the document itself evidence. (Cf. Ramji v. Rangayya, 1 M. H C R 168) It may also come in under section 32 (2) if the requirements of that section are satisfied But no entry in such a diary can be filed as documentary evidence of the facts stated in it in favour of the person making the entry if he is a party to the suit. It would be excluded by section 21 of the Act, and section 34 provides no exception in favour of it The reason for such differentiation between a private diary and a private account is manifest An account, regularly kept necessarily results in a continuity which makes fraudulent addition extremely difficult and dangerous , it is a chain of forged links into which the subsequent interpolation of a link of forgery without discovery is almost impracticable The man who wishes to defraud his neighbour accounts, or, having kept them, suppresses then hood with truth in regularly kept account popular, because of the mathematical connection running through them But these safe-guards of truth are entirely absent in the most regularly kept of private diaries, and subsequent interpolations, to meet an unexpected demand and facilitate fraud, are generally possible without difficulty and danger of discovery It is clear that the Legislature, which guides itself by human experience, had such considerations before it when it enacted, by section 34, an exception to section 21, in favour of books of account I am therefore of discovery are not admissible under section 34" Per Stanyon A J C. in Mukund Ramv. Dayaram, 23 Ind. Cas. 893 (894, 895)=10 N. L. R. 44.

urse of business ave been kept e and not as in- words 'regularly kept,' and in ows" and not "proves' It is 34 of Ac I of 1872 is not Act II of 1855, and this seems ection 34, indicate that the regularly kept in the course of business—in the first place, making them relevant whenever they refer to a matter into which the Court has to enquire, and nextly, providing that when such entries are sought to be used as statements for a particular purpose—namely, to charge any person with liability, they shall not alone be sufficient evidence for the purpose. Section 32, clause (2) makes relevant a statement consisting of an entry made by a person who is not a witness before this Court, in books not necessarily books of account but—kept in the ordinary course of business. A Per Mookejee J ... the old Act I' ...

regularly kept ...
"proved to have been' have been dropped. In the later Act I of 1872 the w... in the law. The legislature has dispen... This amounts to material altera... that the book ...

... itself and as appears ... such a regular and usual account book as the party against whom it is offered, and not be a memorandum for other purpose...
Burr Jones § 570 The entries in the books of account should relate to the business or occupation of the person whose books they are and not to transac... tions of such person having no relation to his regular busine s or occupation...
But the admissibility of the book in respect to proper items will not be l... because of the fact that the book contains some entries not connected with the regular business of the party The charges ... particular, and should itemize the ... frequently ...

... most elementary ...
407 "Finally, when ... Ganesh, 95 Ind. Cas. ... in evidence, but would of cou...

tenance and general accuracy ... entries therein But, where the fact of regular main... formally proved" Mukundam v Dayaram, 10 N. L R 44=23 Ind Cas. ...
They may be kept in the form of a ledger, if this is general mode in which the party keeps his books, provided the entries are original entries The entries may be made in pencil, or in the form of a time-book ... not only of the labour of the plaint ...

Cash books in which ... the issuance of the checks are not admis... evidenced by them are admissible in evidence were made at the time of the transactions prescribe the form in which books are to be kept, nor the degree of definiteness to be observed in making entries The statutes do not generally general application. They have been so framed as to have a very tho e of a tradesman or a banker are admissible in evidence if within the statutory condition, the purposes of which are to secure authenticity and credibility in respect to the evidence, rather than to prescribe the form of it. Whatever may be its form, it is only evidence prima facie of what is shown by it. Supplementary proof may often be required to make such evidence relevant to particular case. Burr Jones § 570

S.

plaintiff that there were dealings between him and defendant, held, that the dealings were not proved under s. 34, Evidence Act, in the absence of evidence of specific sums having been paid. Buta v Trilok, 100 Ind Cas 862=A I R. 1927 Lah. 903; Narayan v Vithoba, 100 Ind Cas 863=A. I. R. 1927 Nag 177.

not prove anything. account kept in the with liability The Firm of Jodha v Dilta, 84 Ind. Cas. 909=6 Lah L. J 504=A. I R. 1925 Lah. 242 This section does not limit in any way at all the nature of the material tements in a book of account. vouchers, receipts or other Kallu Mal v Bhawani, L. R. 6 A 375=88 Ind. Cas. 383=A I. R 1925 All. 742; see also Yesuvadiyan v. Subba, 52 Ind. Cas. 704; Abdul v Puran, 82 P. R. 1914=277 P. L. R. 1914; Ramaswami v Ramanathan, (1914) M. W. N. 240=22 Ind. Cas. 627 Where a claim based on entries in account books is entirely denied, plaintiff must prove the various items of his account by independent evidence, as the entries cannot in themselves charge any person with liability. Ganeshi v. The Firm of Mangal Ram Atma Ram, 76 Ind. Cas. 157 In a suit for recovery of water cess, bahi entries showing that in previous years the defendant has been paying cess at the rate demanded, are admissible in evidence. Prabhu Dayal v Ram Chander, n slips of paper , the books cannot be rejected on the ground that the entries were not made in them regularly from day to day Mangali Prasad v Mandir Das, 11 Ind. Cas. 95. Where the plaintiffs can easily produce independent and trustworthy evidence in support of entries in their account books, it would be unfair to defendants and wrong in principle to accept as sufficient proof the entries, uncorroborated by any evidence one of the plaintiffs to the effect Ganga Ram v Kala Ram, 53 try in the patmarsh alone is not erty which is denied. Keshavan v. ook, not otherwise suspicious, is supported by prima facie reliable . R. 1909 Entries to be admitted ier testimony must be made in the . to prove that the entries were taken from books which were regularly and correctly kept. Queen Empress v. Sayad Sarfuddin, Rat. Un Cr. C. 344=Cr Rg 37 of 1887. Though certain account books are proved not to have been regularly kept in the course of business, yet if they are proved to have been kept on behalf of a firm of contractors by its servant or agent appointed for that purpose, they are relevant as admissions against the firm. Reg v. Hanmant, 1 B 6, 10. If books are kept in pursuance of some continuous and uniform practice in the current routine of the business of the particular person to whom they belong, they are 'books of that the books were kept up in the regular course of business It is a matter of intrinsic evidence as to whether the books in question were books of account and regularly kept in the regular course of business Emperor v Narbada, A. I R. 1930 All 38 The book should be such a regular and usual account book as explains itself and as appears on its face to create liability in an account with the party against whom it is offered, and not be a memorandum for other purpose Burr. Jones § 570 The entries in the books of account should relate to the business or occupation of the person whose books they are and not to transactions of such person having no relation to his regular business or occupation. But the admissibility of the book in respect to proper items will not be lost because of the fact that the book contains some entries not connected with the regular business of the party The charges in the book must be specific and particular, and should itemize the transactions recorded Such entries have frequently been rejected when they consisted of charges in gross for continued very ces Burr. Jones § 571 have no weight Kesheo Rao v Ganesh 95 Ind Cas 198=A I R 19.. must 407 "Fir see that th

supposed,
usually called the mahajani system Their evidential value ... depend upon their formality and the checks against fraud secured by method of d with admissibility A ...
, will be admissible As regards
...ween the cash books and ledgers of a large bank, and the day-book of a house-keeper. The difference lies in the weight to be given to the entries therein But where the fact of regular ... must be stubs of checks, several days after the issuance of the checks are not ...

Cash-books in which the entries were made at the time of the transactions evidenced by them are admissible in evidence The statutes do not generally ...

respect to the evidence, rather than to prescribe the form of it "

S.

absence of recital in a who is not a party
the case of Ram Persh restricted in the sam L J 621=13 Ind Cas 678; Ali Nasar Khan v Manik Chand, 25 A 90=22 A W N
207; Pragdas v Daualtaram, 11 B 257; Debendra v. Arun, 1925 Cal 65; Tarakumar v Arun, 74 Ind Cas 383; Kasam v Haji, 76 Ind Cas 327; Ganga Ram v Lachmi ram, 19 C. W. N. 611=28 Ind Cas 705; Imambandi v. Haji Mutsaddi, 28 C L J 409=45 C. 878

s of
the ough
other causes they have a suspicious and fraudulent appearance, and are not explained they should be rejected The book may be admitted as to entries which are proved to be original, althought other entries in the same book are not original, unless the two classes of entries cannot be distinguished Irregularities in account-books sufficient to justify their exclusion must be gross and palpable Books of account must, however appear to embrace all of the items of account between the parties which are proper subjects of entry The account book must

the power of
of the book and veracity
give evidence of facts or circum-ok is not fairly and honestly kept as a r routine of business, subject, it is said, to the limitation that the investigation should be confined to a time at or near the period covered by the account in suit Chamberlayne's Ev § 3148

Jama wasil baki papers Where certain entries are admissible under section 32, the position is that there is no statutory obligation to look for anything else in order to found the liability It does not follow that such entries should necessarily, in any event, be regarded as conclusive of the truth of the statements therein made When such entries in the landlord's papers are sought to be used against the tenant, their evidentiary value has got to be carefully evidence to show when and by whom these entries in collection papers were

s. 34. made Held that the collection papers were inadmissible in evidence Mowr v Tarak Nath, 16 C L J 3?8 Jama wasil baki papers have no weight except as corroborative evidence Surnomoyi v Johur Mahomed, 10 C L R 31? Belaet Khan v Rashbehary 22 W R 519, Gopal Mandal v Nabakristo 3 W R (Act X) 83 Kherromonee v Bejoy, 7 W R 533; Umed Ali v Habibullah 47 C 266; Yeshuvadiyan v Subba Naicker, 52 Ind Cas 701; Dwarka Das v Sant Baksh 18 A 92 Mahomed Mahmud v Safar Ali 11 C 407 (409), Fan... v Agnikumar, 71 Ind Cas 300, Jonab v Siva Kumar ... Cas 733=A I R 1927 Cal 855; ... J 68 The fact that ... Evidence ... if the co... ...established Bhaba Sundari v Tara Nas ... entry in a Siaha which is a copy of the accounts ... be admissible in evidence if regularly kept but the law specifically states that of itself it shall not be considered to be sufficient evidence to charge any person with liability Bhagwat v Prasad 15 R D 401

